

RECORD RUSH

K-State sororities welcomed a record number of women to formal Rush.

■ SEE STORY ON PAGE 6

MONDAY
AUGUST 24, 1998

KANSAS STATE UNIVERSITY, MANHATTAN, KAN.
VOLUME 103, NUMBER 1
COLLEGIAN.KSU.EDU

TODAY'S WEATHER

HIGH 102
LOW 68

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Countries disagree on contents of pharmaceutical plant

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

KHARTOUM, Sudan — The mystery surrounding the pharmaceutical plant attacked by the United States remains, perhaps hidden with the melted packets of pain relievers and bottles of antibiotics strewn among the rubble of red brick, splintered wood and white plaster.

Washington says the plant was making precursors for chemical weapons. Sudan says no such work occurred.

But interviews with Sudanese officials, doctors, lawyers and plant employees suggest some of Sudan's claims are true: The plant produced antibiotics and drugs for diseases such as malaria and tuberculosis; it planned to export to Iraq under U.N. approval; it was privately owned and was not a secret installation.

The plant, El Shifa Pharmaceutical Industries Co., was in an industrial area near a relatively upscale neighborhood of Khartoum.

Four main buildings were on the site: three one-story factories and a four-story administration building that is now half-standing. The factories were destroyed, and fires still smoldered Sunday, emitting a stench of burning plastic.

The plant began production in December 1996. It offered a line of 87 products, 12 of them for veterinary use, said Adam Umbadi, a production engineer at the factory who helped install the machinery.

El Shifa was the largest of six pharmaceutical plants in the Sudanese capital, employing 306 people, Umbadi and Khartoum pharmacists said.

Sudan officials deny plant was used for manufacturing of chemical weapons

Its main products were the antibiotic amoxicillin, which can be used to treat malaria, and the pain reliever paracetamol, Umbadi said.

All those products, packaged in El Shifa's blue-and-white cartons, are available at Khartoum pharmacies. So are other El Shifa antibiotics and drugs to treat ulcers and tuberculosis.

"The spectrum of drugs they produce is very wide. No other factory can produce all of it. There will be a loss," said Mona Hamid, a doctor at Khartoum's Radiation and Isotope Center.

Among the plant's products was Shifazole, an antibiotic to treat parasites in animals. In January, the factory won a $199,000 contract to ship 100,000 cartons to Iraq under a U.N. exemption to sanctions imposed in 1990, U.N. documents show.

White cartons of the antibiotic were scattered in the rubble.

The shipment was to be sent to Iraq by October, Alamaddin Al Shibli, the factory's export manager said. The company began exporting medicine this year to nearby Yemen and was scheduled to send a shipment of veterinary medicine to Chad by month's end, he said.

Sunday, National Security Adviser Sandy Berger was asked on CNN's "Late Edition" why no evidence of anything but commercial pharmaceuticals was evident in the wreckage of the plant.

To protect intelligence methods and sources, Berger refused to describe "physical evidence" the government has of a dual role but said, "I have no question, the intelligence community has no question, that that factory was used to manufacture a chemical used in making nerve gas."

The plant was owned by Salah Idris, a Sudanese businessman who has homes in London, Saudi Arabia and Khartoum, his lawyer, Ghazi Suleiman said. Suleiman denies Idris ever met Osama bin Laden, the exiled Saudi millionaire whom the United States says is connected to the bombings of the U.S. embassies in Kenya and Tanzania.

Idris was in London when the attack occurred, said Suleiman, who is one of Sudan's most prominent opposition figures.

"He (Idris) didn't believe it at first, and he thought the news was wrong. He was really taken by surprise," Suleiman said.

Idris, described as charming and apolitical, purchased the plant in March 1998, Suleiman said.

There are no signs of secrecy at the plant. Two prominent signs along the road point to the factory, and foreigners have been allowed to visit the site at all hours. Plant employees deny any components of chemical weapons were made.

"This factory was open to everyone," Shibli said.

Salaries atop Regents list of key issues

BY SHANDA PARKER
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

As it did last year, the Kansas Board of Regents will face issues relating to faculty salaries and the governance of higher education this year. The board also must fill a vacant executive director position after the past director left for a position in Washington, D.C.

"Key issues for this year will be salaries and funding," said Barbara Conant, director of communications for the board.

This year, the board developed a three-year program to increase faculty salaries to compete with peer universities. The report will be sent to the governor's office for review. If the governor approves the report, he will send all or part of it to the Kansas Legislature for inclusion in the state budget.

WEFALD

"Twenty years ago, Kansas was about even with its peer level, but now, it is 11-to-12-percent behind," Conant said.

Universities also are looking at reasons for resignation among their faculty.

"Kansas State University has been documenting professors who have left the university. They have 60 examples of people who have left and gone somewhere else," board member Robert Talkington said.

The report, compiled under the direction of President Jon Wefald, documents salary differences as well as reasons to increase faculty salaries at regents institutions.

"This is probably the best report of documenting the need for faculty salaries that's ever been put together at K-State, ever," Wefald said.

Talkington said higher salaries are a significant factor in resignations.

"There is a threat of losing quality faculty because they have gone to a place that has a higher salary offer," he said. "There is an importance of excellence in faculty. If you do not have good teachers, then you do not attract students."

Conant said keeping quality faculty at regents universities helps Kansas retain its best students.

"Good teachers get our students to stay in the state, and it's a win-win situation," Conant said.

While salaries are a high-profile issue, the board also is seeking leadership on a national level.

A search for an executive director will come up at next month's meeting when the board meets with a representative from the firm Heidrick and Struggles, which is conducting a national search for an executive director.

Thomas W. Bryant of Pittsburg State University has served as interim director since July 1, when the previous director, Stephen M. Jordan, resigned to become president of Eastern Washington University in Cheney, Wash.

"Our goal is to step up interaction with secondary groups and private colleges working together," Conant said.

JEFF COOPER/KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Moore and West Hall residents dance to the sounds of Ruskabank Friday in the courtyard of the Derby Complex. The dance, sponsored by Housing and Dining Services, was part of Wildcat Welcome Week.

WELCOME BACK, WILDCATS

Students survive move-in, enjoy Welcome Week

BY KELLEE MILLER
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

An outdoor dance, movie and barbecue drew many newly settled freshmen out to the basketball courts behind Moore Hall on Friday night for the kickoff event of Wildcat Welcome Week.

Teto Henderson, program adviser for Union Program Council, said the purpose of Wildcat Welcome Week is to make the transition from high school to college easier on new students.

"We want them to feel better about staying here," he said. "The first impression is the lasting impression. We want them to know that they belong here."

Henderson said that for years, UPC sponsored a Wildcat Welcome Week, but when fee payment was switched to a mail-in process, UPC stopped doing it.

"We have always done programs, we just quit calling it Wildcat Welcome Week," he said. "Now we are reinventing it."

Pat Bosco, dean of student life, said he felt that a year ago, the university was not as focused on making a variety of activities available for new students.

Bosco said the reinvention of Wildcat Welcome Week was a direct result from the responses he received from students in classrooms, living groups and students in his focus groups.

Most of the week's planned events happen anyway, Bosco said, so they were just moved up to incorporate them with the Welcome Week.

"We didn't add significant programs," he said. "We just packaged it in a convenient way."

John Dowell, resident assistant at Moore Hall, said he was pumped about the week's activities. He said he would be involved in most of them, for himself as well as his students.

■ OUR OPINION
The Collegian Editorial Board encourages participation in Wildcat Welcome Week. See Page 4.

Dowell said the Department of Housing and Dining Services had been working really hard and was excited about the week's events.

"It looks like people are having fun," he said.

Many students will never get involved if they don't get involved that first week, Dowell said. Activities in Wildcat Welcome Week give them that extra push.

"The first week is the pivotal point. This is where you make 'em or break 'em," he said.

Steven Herzberg, freshman in architecture, said the week seemed like a good idea.

"People I think are still kind of shy, but they might talk to some people," Herzberg said.

Sara Barrientos, junior in mechanical engineering, said she thinks the activities have been good for new and transfer students.

"I feel pretty comfortable and confident here," she said.

WILDCAT WELCOME WEEK

The Collegian will publish a calendar of events for each day's events and the next day's events throughout Wildcat Welcome Week.

TODAY
Will Keim
7 p.m., McCain Auditorium

TUESDAY
Part-Time Job Expo
9 a.m. to 4 p.m.,
Union Courtyard

■

Adult Non-traditional Student Brown Bag Lunch
11 a.m. to 1 p.m., Stateroom #1

■

Job Search and Résumé Registration
7 p.m., Pasley Auditorium

■

Play Fair—
An All NEW Student Event
6 to 8 p.m., Memorial Stadium

TODD STEWART/COLLEGIAN

BULLETIN DEADLINES

To place an item in the Daily Planner, stop by Kedzie 116 and fill out a form or e-mail it to bulletins@spub.ksu.edu by 11 a.m. two days before it should run.

NEWS DIGEST

CALENDAR

The Daily Planner is the Collegian's campus bulletin board service. Items in the planner can be published up to three times. Items might not appear because of space constraints but are guaranteed to appear on the day of the activity. To place an item, stop by Kedzie 116 and fill out a form or e-mail it to collegn@ksu.edu by 11 a.m. two days before it is to run.

■ Applications are being accepted for tutors in the KSU Community Service Program. Students who want more information on helping students in the area should contact the CSP Tutoring office, Edwards 8D, at 532-5701.

■ Intramural entries are being accepted for flag football, soccer, punt/pass/kick and individual sports this week. Sign up in the business office at the Chester E. Peters Recreation Complex by 5 p.m. Thursday.

■ KSU Rodeo Club will meet at 7 p.m. Tuesday in Weber 111.

POLICE REPORTS

Reports are taken directly from the K-State and Riley County police departments' daily logs. We do not list wheel locks or minor traffic violations because of space constraints.

K-STATE POLICE
FRIDAY, AUG. 21

■ No reports of note were made.

RILEY COUNTY POLICE
FRIDAY, AUG. 21

■ At 12:37 a.m., Gina A. Wasinger, 1207 Kearney St., Apt. 5, was issued a notice to appear for unlawful use of a Kansas driver's license and DUI.

■ At 1:49 a.m., Jeremia J. Marks, 809 N. 11th Ave., was issued a notice to appear for unlawful use of a Kansas driver's license.

■ At 3:46 a.m., Derik Wilhelm, 1965 College Heights Road, reported criminal damage to property. Wilhelm reported that a suspect from the Pi Kappa Alpha house damaged the Phi Kappa Theta yard light. K-State police were called to assist with the report.

■ At 10:20 a.m., Chelsea D. Earhart, 904 Garden Way, Apt. 4, reported an attempted burglary to her vehicle.

■ At 10:46 a.m., Christian D. Thompson, 531 Sunset Ave., Apt. 2, was arrested for probation violation, passing a worthless check and contempt of court. Bond was set at $4,394.

■ At 12:37 p.m., April S. Wagnon, 1613 Little Kitten Ave., reported the theft of a compact disc player from her vehicle. Loss was estimated at $250.

■ At 12:41 p.m., Scott Teenor, Briggs East, reported theft of a tan 1995 Nissan Quest.

■ At 11:01 p.m., Andrew D. Sorenson, 3000 Tuttle Creek Blvd., Apt. 423, was arrested for DUI. Bond was set at $500.

■ At 11:43 p.m., Luke A. Perry, Axtell, Kan., was issued a notice to appear for transporting an open container.

SATURDAY, AUG. 22

■ At 12:31 a.m., Jamie D. Farthing, 2215 College Ave., Apt. 322, was issued a notice to appear for unlawful use of a driver's license.

■ At 2:03 a.m., Miguel L. Jaramillo, Kansas City, Mo., was arrested for DUI. Bond was set at $500.

■ At 2:18 a.m., Thaddeus R. Powell, Washington, Kan., was arrested for battery of a law-enforcement officer and disorderly conduct. Bond was set at $1,000.

■ At 2:33 a.m., Vidal Campos Jr., Fort Riley, was arrested for DUI. Bond was set at $500.

■ At 2:58 a.m., Seth B. Olson, 1005 Thurston St., was arrested for DUI. Bond was set at $500.

DAILY REWIND

The Daily Rewind collects the top local, state, national and world news from the past 48 hours. Briefs are compiled from wire and staff reports.

Soldier charged with rape of 13-year-old

A Fort Riley man is awaiting his next court appearance after being charged with raping a 13-year-old girl in a K-State parking lot.

Mickey Simmons Jr., C Company, 70th engineering battalion, was arrested Aug. 8 at 1:03 a.m. after a K-State police officer happened upon the incident.

K-State Police Lt. Richard Herrman said the officer found Simmons and the juvenile victim in Lot A-3 at the intersection of Manhattan Avenue and Vattier Street. According to Riley County Police Department records, Simmons made his first court appearance Aug. 10 and was released on $10,000 bond.

Herrman said Simmons was acquainted with the victim.

At press time, the county attorney's office could not be reached for more information about the case.

RCPD Lt. Herb Crosby said his department has investigated more sexual assault cases than normal in the past few weeks, but most have involved suspects and victims who knew one another.

"The ones that we've had have been acquaintances, and not like we've got a predator out there of any sort that's stalking anybody," Crosby said. "The individuals know the alleged suspects in the incidents."

Crosby said the return of K-State students to Manhattan could have something to do with the increase.

"A lot of that goes back to this time of year," he said. "We have a lot of people moving back into the area that are familiar with each other. In turn, they go out and party and have a good time, and things get out of hand."

—Travis D. Lenkner

Finalists named for WSU president's post

WICHITA — University presidents, provosts and a law-school dean are among the 10 semifinalists to succeed Gene Hughes as president of Wichita State University.

A search committee led by Frank Sabatini on Friday began three days of interviews with the semifinalists at a Kansas City airport hotel.

The list will be trimmed to five after the interviews.

Sabatini said some of the candidates are women, and that one candidate is black.

None of the names will be disclosed until the committee recommends the finalists to the Kansas Board of Regents on Sept. 17.

Privacy is crucial to the candidates' ability to function in their current jobs, Sabatini said.

Committee members will visit the finalists' campuses "to see them in their own setting and to get a feel for their involvement," Barb Conant, regents spokeswoman, said.

The finalists will visit Wichita on Oct. 2-3 to interview with regents, tour the campus and meet with students, faculty and community leaders.

The following week, the board plans to announce the school's new president.

The new president is expected to be on the job when Hughes retires Jan. 1.

PEOPLE

Mommy Spice? Two Spice Girls prgenant

LONDON — And then there were six?

Days after newspapers reported that Posh Spice Victoria Adams is pregnant, the News of the World announced Sunday that a second member of the Spice Girls is expecting.

"I'm not saying 'yes,' and I'm not saying 'no,'" the tabloid quoted Scary Spice Melanie Brown as saying. Her father, when asked for comment by reporters, said, "How did you find out? You're the first."

The News of the World said that Brown, 23, and her fiance, dancer Jimmy Gulzar, plan to marry as soon as the group finishes its U.S. tour this week.

"The pair have already phoned Mel's family in Leeds to tell them about the baby.

Excited Mel has also bought a house and is having builders install a nursery," the newspaper story said.

No one answered calls at the office of the Spice Girls' spokesman, Alan Edwards.

Adams, 24, and her fiance, Manchester United soccer star David Beckham, have not commented on reports that she is pregnant. They plan to marry next year.

Adams reportedly will take time off from her hectic schedule but will not leave the band.

The fifth Spice Girl, Geri Halliwell, also known as Ginger Spice, quit the band in June.

'60 Minutes' reporter intimidated by player

DULUTH, Minn. — Newsman Mike Wallace has stared down world leaders and warlords. It took a 23-year-old female baseball pitcher to intimidate him.

Wallace was in town for a "60 Minutes" story about Ila Borders, the first woman to win a game in a men's league professional game. In their initial encounter Friday, Borders' intense pregame stare sent the veteran reporter into retreat.

"She had her game face on. I saw her in the locker room and I didn't say anything to her. She looked at me like I was a hair in her soup," Wallace said.

Borders, who plays for the minor league Duluth-Superior Dukes, is the first pitcher to take the mound for a men's pro team, the first to start in a men's pro game and the first to win one. She got the win late last month.

The day after Friday's stare-down, Wallace finally got his interview with Borders, who apologized for her intensity the previous night — sort of.

"Things like this make it a little tough to concentrate," Borders said. "If you knew my personality, I'm quiet and I like to keep to myself. (The sudden media attention) has been the tough part."

Wallace might be able to take some consolation in the fact that Borders felt pressure Friday, giving up three two-run homers in the first two innings of a game her team lost 9-5.

Collectors lured by Hitchcock postmark

HITCHCOCK, S.D. — What's in a name? A lot of work for the post office in tiny Hitchcock, which is getting hundreds of requests from stamp collectors to hand-cancel stamps and commemorative envelopes honoring movie director Alfred Hitchcock.

Postmaster Kathy Price hand-cancels the Hitchcock postage stamps with a special ink stamp that prints out the movie director's famous profile and the words "Suspense Station, Hitchcock, S.D. 57348, August 4, 1998."

That was the first day that the U.S. Postal Service offered the Hitchcock stamp to the public.

Many collectors ask whether the master of movie suspense was born in Hitchcock. The late director was born in London in 1899, and died in 1980.

CORRECTION

A list of hours for Hale Library in the Collegian's Preview edition, produced by the summer staff, contained several errors.

The hours are as follows: Monday through Thursday, 7:30 a.m. to 11 p.m.; Friday, 7:30 a.m. to 6 p.m.; Saturday, 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.; and Sunday, 1 p.m. to 11 p.m.

The Collegian regrets the errors.

WEATHER

HIGH 102

LOW 68

Ouch! Continued hot, sunny and breezy today. Clear tonight, but hot and dry through the rest of the week.

CONTACT US

■ NEWSROOM 532-6556
■ ADVERTISING 532-6560
■ CLASSIFIEDS 532-6555

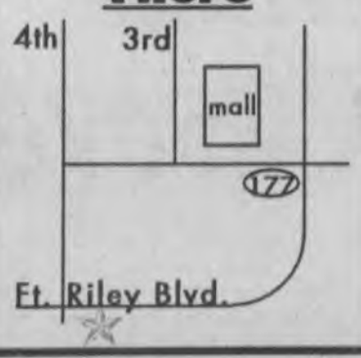
■

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN
KEDZIE 116
KANSAS STATE UNIVERSITY
MANHATTAN, KS 66506

The Kansas State Collegian (USPS 291 020), a student newspaper at Kansas State University, is published by Student Publications Inc., Kedzie 103, Manhattan, Kan. 66506. The Collegian is published weekdays during the school year and twice a week through the summer. Periodical postage is paid at Manhattan, Kan. 66502. POSTMASTER: Send address changes to Kansas State Collegian, circulation desk, Kedzie 103, Manhattan, Kan. 66506-7167.

© KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN, 1997

We've lowered the price of higher learning.



BUY
You want a computer. You don't want to spend a lot. You go to Computer Renaissance. Great selection, great prices and it doesn't resemble a garage sale. You get just the computer you want, warranty included, and you have enough left over for the hula lessons...or whatever.

SELL
You don't need your computer anymore. You bring it to a highly qualified staff member at Computer Renaissance who says, "Looks good, good brand too." They test it. It works great. They say, "Here's your money." You say, "Polly wally doodle all the day," just to be weird.

TRADE
Your present computer is in great shape but you need more. You go to computer Renaissance, give a knowledgeable staff member your used computer plus a little cash & he gets you the perfect upgrade. You're so happy you could sing. But you have a really bad voice so you don't.

SERVICE
If your printer is pooping out or your monitor's got you miffed, call us. If you have a question that only a computer expert can answer, call us. If you want to know if your refrigerator is running....please, don't call us.

How to Get There

LOOKIN' GOOD
You walk into Computer Renaissance. It's clean, bright and well organized. The people who work there really know their computers. This is no garage sale. You're glad because you're not here to buy a used shower curtain.

Computer RENAISSANCE
(Near the corner of 4th and Fort Riley)
315 Fort Riley Blvd. 785-537-4413
We buy, sell trade used and new computer equipment

Wildcat Welcome Week
• schedule of events •

Monday, August 24

5:00 - 11:00 p.m.
Special Presentation - Will Keim - McCain Auditorium - 7:00 p.m.
Everyone Invited • Sponsored by Greek Affairs

Tuesday, August 25

8 a.m. - Noon
Part-time Job Expo - 9:00 a.m. - 4:00 p.m. - Union Courtyard
All Students Invited • Sponsored by Career and Employment Services and the Chamber of Commerce Education Committee
Adult Non-traditional Student Brown Bag Lunch - 11:00 a.m. - 1:00 p.m.
Adult Non-trads Only • Sponsored by Adult Student Services
Noon - 5:00 p.m.
Part-time Job Expo - 9:00 a.m. - 4:00 p.m. - Union Courtyard
All Students Invited • Sponsored by Career and Employment Services and the Chamber of Commerce Education Committee
5:00 p.m. - 11:00 p.m.
Job Search and Internet Resume Registration - 7:00 p.m. - Pasley Aud. - Rathbone Hall
All Students Invited • Sponsored by Career and Employment Services
Play Fair - An All NEW Student Event - 6:00 - 8:00 p.m. - Memorial Stdm.
All NEW Students Invited • Sponsored by Special Events Committee of UPC

Wednesday, August 26

8 a.m. - Noon
Adult Non-traditional Student Brown Bag Lunch - 11:00 a.m. - 1:00 p.m.
Adult Non-trads Only • Sponsored by Adult Student Services
M-4 Simulator (Virtual Reality) - 10:00 a.m. - 4:00 p.m.
Everyone Invited • Sponsored by the Union Programming Council

Thursday, August 27

5:00 p.m. - 11:00 p.m.
Job Search and Internet Resume Registration - 5:00 p.m. - 109 Justin Hall
All Students Invited • Sponsored by Career and Employment Services
"The King and I" - 7:30 p.m. - McCain Auditorium
Anyone May Purchase Tickets at McCain
Leadership Studies Open House - 914 N. Manhattan Avenue - 4:00 - 6:00 p.m.
Everyone Invited • Sponsored by the Office of Leadership Studies

Friday, August 28

5:00 p.m. - 11:00 p.m.
THX 1138 - Kaleidoscope Film Presentation - 7:00 and 9:30 p.m. showings - Forum Hall
Everyone Invited • Sponsored by UPC
Welcome Back Concert - Triangle Park, Aggieville - 8:00 p.m.
Everyone Invited • Co-Sponsored by KSDB 92 and UPC

Saturday, August 29

5:00 p.m. - 11:00 p.m.
THX 1138 - Kaleidoscope Film Presentation - 7:00 and 9:30 p.m. showings - Forum Hall
Everyone Invited • Sponsored by UPC

Sunday, August 30

Noon - 5:00 p.m.
UPC Activities Carnival - Union Courtyard - 4:00 p.m. - 7:00 p.m.
Everyone Invited • Sponsored by UPC
Volunteer Fair - Union 2nd Floor - 4:00 - 7:00 p.m.
Everyone Invited • Sponsored by Career and Employment Services
5:00 p.m. - 11:00 p.m.
UPC Activities Carnival - Union Courtyard - 4:00 p.m. - 7:00 p.m.
Everyone Invited • Sponsored by UPC
Volunteer Fair - Union 2nd Floor - 4:00 - 7:00 p.m.
Everyone Invited • Sponsored by Career and Employment Services

Heather Hobbs, sophomore in music education, gets some much-needed rest after a long Friday of playing the tuba during K-State Marching Band practice at Memorial Stadium.

Band members face heat, competition for spot on field

Tuba player Andrew Best (center), sophomore in electrical engineering, lets out a yell while practicing marching drills during K-State Marching Band practice at Memorial Stadium late Friday afternoon.

While most K-State students scurried about town, pondering last-minute details before school got under way, nearly 300 members of the K-State Marching Band fought the heat of marching in Memorial Stadium to ensure the growing success of the band.

"This is the best band I've seen in six years," Frank Tracz, director of bands, said.

For the past week, hundreds of students have invested 12-hour days trying out for the marching band while still preparing for school to start.

Consecutive days of nearly 100-degree temperatures, coupled with carrying instruments and marching in formation, have been hard on the band members.

During Friday's practice alone, there were two torn ligaments and a broken foot, Tracz said. "We've pushed them real hard."

The band has a standing rule that if a band member needs water or needs to rest, they are allowed to leave the field and take a break, Tracz said.

"We're still having as much fun as last year," said Darla Haines, piccolo player and sophomore in secondary education.

During breaks, the students relaxed briefly by talking to friends, grabbing a snack, heckling the band directors or just taking a big stretch.

The band members said they were impressed with the meal donated Friday night by the Department of Intercollegiate Athletics.

"We had hot dogs, brats, watermelon — you name it," Haines said.

Tracz said it's a joint venture of athletics and music.

"The growing success of the football team has made marching in the band that much more popular," he said.

Many members of the band even are involved in intercollegiate athletics, including track and rowing, Tracz said.

The popularity of the marching band has prompted Tracz to limit its size: 275 marching on the field and 30 alternates.

"The growing interest in the band means we could be more selective," he said.

Not all band members who showed up for the first day of practice made it this far, Tracz said. Some simply quit and didn't come back.

Those not selected to march the field on game days will practice until they are ready to do so, Tracz said.

"Everyone is part of the band. Everyone who auditions," said Luke Peterson, music instructor and senior in mechanical engineering.

Nearly every marching band instrument available is used, including 12 woodwinds, all of the brass and a variety of percussion instruments, Tracz said.

"It takes a special kind of person to do this," he said. "These are great kids. They work real hard, which gives them lots of experience."

PHOTOGRAPHS BY STEVE HEBERT
STORY BY JESSE McCURRY

Education, promotion help freshmen learn advantages of Wildcat ID Card

By MARY RENEE SMITH
Kansas State Collegian

Fading faces and flaking smart chips on ID cards plagued students during the first year of the Wildcat Card, but card-center officials said those problems are a thing of the past.

"They have taken care of that— it was a lamination problem," Campus Card Coordinator Rhonda McCabe said.

New students and students who have lost their ID cards must pay $15 for a new card, which McCabe said is for the overall equipment and running of the card center. Students who still might have an old ID or an ID with the lamination problem can get a new card at no cost, McCabe said.

The Campus Card Center usually is located on the first floor of the K-State Student Union, but last week the center relocated to the Union's second floor to handle a back-to-school rush.

"We have four stations hooked up up there, where normally down here we only have two stations," McCabe said.

Miranda Key, junior in psychology and card-center employee, said she doesn't think many new students know all of the card's uses.

"Some do, but most of them are freshmen and aren't quite apt to ask questions yet," Key said.

Key said she gives them a brochure of explanations when students pick up their ID card.

NEED MORE INFO?
To find more information about the Wildcat Card. Check out the K-State Student Union homepage at www.union.ksu.edu

The brochure says the Wildcat Card can be used for the Union Debit Account, library circulation, university meal plans, residence-hall door access, student voting and athletic ticket sales. The card also can be used as a long-distance calling card.

The Wildcat Card also can be used to access Commerce Bank's Wildcat Checking account, available through Commerce Bank in the Union. The Wildcat Card serves as a debit and ATM card for the checking account.

McCabe said the former Wildcat Account is now called the Union Debit Account. There was too much confusion between the Union's Wildcat Account and the Commerce Bank Wildcat Checking Account, she said.

The Union Debit Account can be used only at the Union and other on-campus locations.

The smart-chip feature of the card can be used for cash-free vending and printing at locations across campus.

"For the most part, students like the new IDs," McCabe said, "They haven't started using all the features yet. We are trying to get all the features promoted."

THE BACK-TO-SCHOOL
ART PRINT & POSTER SALE!!
OVER 2000 IMAGES!!!

Austin Powers

Swingers

Leonardo DiCaprio

Photos

Wisdom of Yoda

MONDAY-FRIDAY, AUGUST 24-28

Bob Marley

K-STATE STUDENT UNION ALCOVE
9AM-5PM

Belushi

The Beatles

Van Gogh's Night Cafe

Kramer

Kiss-Hotel DeVille

UNION PROGRAM COUNCIL

OUR VIEW

Opportunities abound during Welcome Week

Sometimes students take things for granted.

Too often it is the very services that would make life more convenient or enjoyable — sometimes it's programs from the Department of Housing and Dining Services, or sometimes it is the opportunities offered by Union Program Council. Often students don't take full advantage of what the university offers.

This year, K-State has reintroduced Wildcat Welcome Week, a tradition that had been sponsored by UPC, that was halted after fee payment stopped taking place in Ahearn Field House and started taking place by mail.

The programs that made up the week were not discontinued, but disorganized.

Without any mandatory reason to attend these programs, the excitement and activity created by the opening week of classes drowned out many of the opportunities offered. Many of the events were postponed to later weeks, when academic priorities were more pressing. Others — for example, the College of Engineering New Student Orientation and the Greek Affairs orientation program — overlapped other programs, creating schedule conflicts.

When it became apparent that K-State had not offered new students enough to choose from during the first week of classes, the university responded with a combined effort by a number of different campus organizations to reintroduce Wildcat Welcome Week.

A number of cookouts, picnics and dances sponsored by Housing and Dining Services offer new students a chance to connect with one another. UPC is offering movies, concerts, virtual reality and the Activities Carnival. Career and Employment Services is sponsoring a résumé workshop, a part-time job expo and a volunteer fair. Non-traditional students have the opportunity to participate in a brown-bag lunch sponsored by Adult Student Services. Many other events also are planned.

Although many of the activities are geared toward new students, most are available to all students and should be experienced.

Wildcat Welcome Week is a terrific way for all students to get involved early in the semester, before they get too bogged down by other priorities. Many of the activities are both enriching and enlightening for students and would not be available without the contribution of many campus groups.

Because students should be participating in this event, the Collegian is offering daily schedules of different activities. We hope students will take full advantage of what is being offered.

EDITORIAL BOARD

EDITOR-IN-CHIEF
JILL JARSULIC

MANAGING EDITOR/ PRESENTATION
TODD STEWART

NEWS EDITOR
TRAVIS D. LENKNER

PHOTO EDITOR
STEVE HEBERT

CAMPUS EDITOR
KELLEE MILLER

CITY/GOVERNMENT EDITOR
MATT KREPS

SPORTS EDITOR
JEREMY KELLEY

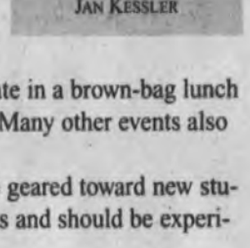
ARTS & ENTERTAINMENT EDITOR
DIANA LEE

OPINION EDITOR
JON KURCHE

COPY CHIEF
JANET COOK

eCOLLEGIAN EDITOR
R.J. DIEPENBROCK

SPECIAL PROJECTS EDITOR
ANGELA KISTNER



ASSISTANT NEWS EDITOR
JAN KESSLER

'Titanic' shows Hollywood at worst

For those of you who enjoyed James Cameron's blockbuster film "Titanic," be warned: I'm going to say a few things that are not for the Titanic fanatics (no rhyme intended).

The film, still in theaters since its Dec. 19, 1997, release date, is one of the greatest examples I have seen of defaming the deceased.

I studied the Titanic intensely in junior high. The idea of such a tragic event interested me. I didn't need a multi-million dollar movie to get hooked. The Titanic tragedy taught me that death knows no class or social status. I'll be the first to admit I was somewhat caught in the trap when the Titanic movie opened, but I only recently realized how this movie, and other tragedies, is disrespecting those who were involved.

Let's face it: We are excited by tragedies and disasters. The sinking of the Titanic received spurts of attention throughout the years, as if it were a recurring fad. Hollywood is cashing in by commercializing the deaths of hundreds of people.

After cruising the Internet, I came across the second way Hollywood can, and has, made a mockery of disaster: merchandising.

Among the more ridiculous items I found were authentic pieces of coal from the Titanic boiler room for $25 and even "Titanic: A Men's Fragrance." Tacky sites included an interactive game called "Sink the Titanic," a Titanic roleplaying site and a matchmaking site called "Romance Aboard the Titanic," a site that had absolutely nothing to do with the Titanic itself, but nonetheless bore the name proudly.

More Internet surfing led me to a homepage titled "Dead Celebrities' Society of Sick, Tacky, and Tasteless Jokes," in which a special section was devoted to the Princess of Wales.

I was appalled even to find one article about a cinnamon bun in the likeness of the Saint of Calcutta. The cinnamon bun sits in a glass case in a coffee shop in Nashville, and at this coffee shop, you even may purchase a "Miracle Bun" T-shirt. According to the manager of the coffee shop, her staff was chosen to receive the bun. I suppose that could be better marketing through both death and religion, but I'll save that topic for another day.

Corbin H. Crable is a sophomore in English. He can be reached by e-mail at chc7669@ksu.edu.

AARON FRUEHLING/COLLEGIAN

SCREAMING TREES

K-State needs its trees, but no one could hear the victims' cries

Did you hear the screaming trees? There were trees lining Anderson Avenue by the parking lot south of the K-State Student Union. Big, old trees that shaded the sidewalk and gave the campus some character and dignity.

They are all gone now. Slaughtered in the name of four-lane traffic.

I'm not a nature freak. I prefer the comfortable confines of my couch to wide-open spaces. The smell of citronella and the thought of peeing in the woods makes my skin crawl, but even I know yanking out trees older than my grandfather is bad.

On the day the trees were slashed down to stumps, you could hear the trees screaming. There was a sad, heavy feeling in the air.

Gone is the shade and sound of rustling leaves. Now, there at the end of the parking lot, is Anderson Avenue with the sound of traffic and the smell of exhaust fumes. So much for character.

Almost worse than the sound of screaming trees are the other effects of the apparent war on grass declared by the city and the university.

A block down Anderson Avenue from the former trees was an open field. On any given day you could stroll by and see rugby players, lacrosse players or dogs with Frisbee disks enjoying themselves against the backdrop of Memorial Stadium.

All there is to see now are orange barrels and big yellow contraptions moving dirt around. An alumni building of some sort is going up, and the grass has got to go.

I wonder how many of the alumni who want that building played on that field? I am sure many of them walked barefoot through the grass or laid in the sun and read a book in that very spot.

I wouldn't go to my sons' school and put up an office building on their playground. Why should alumni put this building on our playground? I guess as you get older you forget how to play.

The K-State powers that be appear to have forgotten their agricultural college roots. They spent most of the summer ripping out everything that grows and replacing it with concrete and orange fences.

The grass that is left on campus has been shackled in for its own protection. Poles and chains have sprouted up along every sidewalk. There are few places on campus where you can slip off your shoes and let your feet experience nature on their own. Don't even think about tiptoeing through the place where the tulips grow.

The feud against flora flourishes from Fairchild Hall to Frank Myers Field.

Even the Union appears to be under siege, a victim in the war on grass. Just about every inch around the Union that was once grass or flowers is now quarantined with orange fencing or sliced out all together. I could swear they just put in new grass and flowers not more than a year ago.

Even more interesting than where there aren't trees or grass is where there are trees or grass.

The greater your donation to the university, the greener the vegetation around your building, it seems.

The Marianna Kistler Beach Museum of Art has trees. Hale Library has sticks planted all around it that I assume someday will be trees. The lawn around Durland and Rathbone halls is always as green as a morning in the Emerald City.

The highest concentration of foliage seems to be around the President's Residence. I guess when you are at the top you don't ever have to hear the trees scream.

Mary Renee Smith is a junior in speech. She can be reached by e-mail at mojo@ksu.edu.

Joys of own apartment outweigh landlord difficulties

I love having my own apartment. I take great joy in knowing that when the mood strikes me to run around naked and sing songs with the word "juxtaposition" in them, I can. It's not that I run around in the buff a lot. I don't think I've ever done that. I don't even know a lot of songs that use the word "juxtaposition." It's the mere fact that I have that kind of privacy that delights me.

I hated living in the dorms. I hated the smell, the complete lack of privacy and eating in the dining halls. My entire dorm experience can be summed up in one, simple word: eww.

Living off campus does have its disadvantages, though. Parking is a big one; buying my own toilet paper and light bulbs is another. I'm a forgetful person who has perfected the art of procrastination, and with my track record, I see living in the dark and being stranded on the toilet part of my not-so-distant future.

According to my friends, however, there is another disadvantage that I wasn't fully aware of before I moved into my apartment, and it is something that is unavoidable — my landlord.

I met my landlord once. Honestly, he seemed as though he would be a really nice man. My friends, however, tell me to look out for an ogre-man persona that will emerge when it is least convenient for me. Initially, I laughed at them. Everyone has a horror story or two about something that's generally good for a laugh.

Unfortunately, I realized that behind each amusing anecdote there is an element of truth. So, in hopes of promoting good landlord-tenant relationships around the Manhattan area, I have thought of a few recommendations for both parties.

LANDLORDS:

1. Knock before entering. Not only is this common courtesy, but it also could avoid a lot of embarrassment if there are other singing streakers out there.

2. When utilities are paid by the tenant, try to avoid using them. This is again a common-courtesy issue that a lot of landlords apparently have trouble understanding.

3. Don't raid the kitchen. College students are poor, and simple algebra tells me that at the amount of money you are paid each month for us to live in our respective rental properties, you're not.

4. If you make a mess, clean it up. Messes are defined as anything that wasn't out or on the floor when you got there.

5. If there is a really big repair that really needs to be fixed, do it promptly.

TENANTS

1. You are living on someone else's property. Granted, you are paying exorbitant amounts, but you should respect it nevertheless.

2. Pay your rent on time. Landlords want you to pay on time, just like you want them to knock before they enter.

3. Clean your apartment or home occasionally. In other words, if the dust bunnies have grown large enough to name them, it's time to clean.

Finally, this tip is for both landlord and tenant: respect each other. I find it hard to believe that all landlords are ogres, and I'm sure all college students aren't complete slobs who could rig a beer bong out of a gym sock and wire hanger. Mutual respect is a good thing that will make the coming year much easier.

Kellie Korb is a sophomore in theater. She can be reached by e-mail at krk7756@ksu.edu.

PRESIDENTIAL UPGRADE

President's home undergoes $160,000 renovation

By TRAVIS D. LENKNER
Kansas State Collegian

President Jon Wefald still will be parking something in his garage, but it won't be his car.

The President's Residence at 100 Wilson Court was renovated this summer to convert the home's two-car garage into a living room. A new garage was added to the east side of the building.

Jerry Carter, director of university planning and university architect, said the $160,000 renovation was funded by private donors. He said the group, the Friends of 100 Wilson Court, led by Manhattan resident Jack Goldstein, should be proud of what their money built.

"It's another example of how private individuals are stepping forward and really helping the campus make so many major changes," he said. "Here we have the Friends of 100 Wilson Court that are going to be able to really see some benefits with the President's Residence."

Carter said the Wefalds had a small amount of private space on the home's first floor before the renovation. Most of the living area was reserved for public entertaining on behalf of the university. In the president's family area, a small dining room and kitchen were the Wefald's only informal rooms.

"The room they were occupying was the size of one of the dorm rooms — Haymaker comes to mind," Carter said. "When (donors) really got a chance to see how Mr. and Mrs. Wefald were living down there, they felt it was necessary that they investigate what could happen."

Wefald's wife, Ruth Ann, said the first-floor area originally was built for servants.

"We've been living in the butler's pantry," she said. "Now we've got a place that's really something."

Carter said his architects were able to make use of the existing two-car garage and its location just east of the dining room.

"It was evident to us ... that we'd be able to make use of the existing garage and renovate that space for the family, and then build a new garage and some new storage space to the home," Carter said.

"We knew that if it was done carefully, we could blend it all in and no one looking at the house now would be able to know that it wasn't original construction," he said.

Ruth Ann Wefald said Carter, his staff and general contractor, Schultz Construction, achieved their goal. She said their use of Kansas limestone on the exterior has fooled some visitors.

"I have some people come over who look at the house and can't tell where it's been added on to," she said. "There are a lot of things they did that pick up on architectural things that were already in the house.

"This just makes it harmonious — it looks like one piece," she said.

Another reason the addition is hard to spot is because of a new roof on the entire residence, Carter said. He said state funds were used to roof the original building, which is owned by the state, but private funds were used for work on the addition.

The new room houses the Wefalds' television, bookshelves and the president's collection of autographed footballs and basketballs from K-State games. The old garage featured a second-story storage area, which allowed architects to give the family room a high ceiling.

Carter said the addition will improve the Wefalds' private and public lives.

"It will definitely provide them with an enhanced area to be able to have space for both the family, in private moments, and will allow for an enhanced capacity for a number of informal gatherings that are very important to be able to have," Carter said.

Jeff Cooper/Kansas State Collegian

The President's Residence at 100 Wilson Court was renovated this summer to convert the home's two-car garage into a family room. Before the renovation, the Wefalds had a small amount of private space on the home's first floor. Most of the space is reserved for public entertaining on behalf of the university.

CORONA & CORONA LIGHT "1". CORONA & CORONA LIGHT "1". CORONA & CORONA LIGHT "1".
Ground Beef -and- Hard Shell
Raoul's Escondido
Mary Sez:
WELCOME BACK STUDENTS
Every Tuesday Enjoy Tacos, Tostadas, and Taco Burgers for 99¢ each!
215 Seth Child Rd. Across from Seth Child Cinema
Manhattan 539-3410

Get your wheels on the right track.
• 4 Wheel Alignment
• Struts & Shocks
• Brake Service
• Frame Straightening
Westgate Wheel Aligning & Balancing
776-4239
610 Hayes Dr. • Behind Wal-Mart
MasterCard VISA DISCOVER

Claflin Books and Copies
1814 Claflin Road • Across from Goodnow Hall
BOOKS
SELF-SERVE COPIES
RESUMES
WORD PROCESSING
NEWSPAPERS
DESKTOP PUBLISHING
FAX SERVICE
GREETING CARDS
Welcome (Back)!
Monday-Thursday: 7am-Midnight
Friday: 7am-6pm
Saturday: 9am-5pm
Sunday: 12pm-Midnight
(785) 776-3771
Fax: (785) 776-1009
E-mail: cbcbkcpy@interkan.net

Students Are Special!
20% Off A Fashion Cut
(With Your Student ID • Expires 9/30/98)
So take your hat off, go back to school in style with...
776-8830
Candlewood
TINA'S Studio 32 FOR HAIR

Stagg Hill Golf Club
Student Membership Rates!
$100 /30 Days
• With KSU Student I.D. •
Play All You Want!
DRIVING RANGE SPECIAL
with this ad,
Buy 2 Buckets,
get 1 FREE!
90 Balls for $3.70 ($5.55 Value)
Expires Sept. 15, 1998
539-1041
3 Miles West of Holidome on K-18

SHOP at WESTLOOP

THE COFFEE DRINK THAT KNOCKS YOU OUT.
Cappuccino Only from Baskin-Robbins
© 1997 Baskin-Robbins Incorporated
ONLY $1.99
16 OZ. SIZE ONLY
Coupon valid only at location(s) listed below. One coupon per item per customer. Void where prohibited or restricted by law. Not valid with any other coupon, discounts or promotions. Valid through: 9/15/98
Baskin-31-Robbins.
1201 Westloop Manhattan, KS
537-3136

BEST VALUE COUPON
MONDAY madness
1 MEDIUM PIZZA WITH PEPPERONI
$3.99 Plus Tax
OFFER VALID THROUGH 9/1/98
Little Caesars
©1998 Little Caesar Enterprises, Inc.
BEST VALUE COUPON
Little Caesars
Two great pizzas! One low price: Always! Always!
MANHATTAN (Westloop Center)
539-3333

Forensics Speech Team
Join Today!
No experience required
Squad Meetings
Mondays at 3:30 p.m., Nichols 311
For more information:
532-6875
craigb@ksu.edu

NO BULL!
$29.95* SINGLE VISION COMPLETE
$49.95* BIFOCALS COMPLETE
-BOTH PRICES INCLUDE-
-ANY FRAME IN STOCK WITH LENSES*!
-OVER 2,000 FRAMES ON DISPLAY!
ALWAYS THE BEST SELECTION
*For Rx limitations see our Optician or read our brochure.
PAYLESS OPTICAL
QUALITY EYEWEAR AT AFFORDABLE PRICES
1316 WEST LOOP • MANHATTAN • 785-537-1574
BRING IN THIS AD FOR A GIFT WITH YOUR PURCHASE!

InterKan.Net, Inc.
Affordable, Reliable
Dial-Up Internet Access
56K & ISDN
Sign up before September 1 and get August & September FREE!
Choose the plan to fit your needs and wallet.
1106 R Laramie --- 565-0991
www.interkan.net
No set-up fee with credit card payment. Not valid with other offers.

Ben Franklin Crafts and Frame Shop
"There's always something new... at Manhattan Ben Franklin Crafts."
• Hemp, Beads and Jewelry Kits
• Visions® Air Painting and Supplies
• Prismacolor® colored pencils (120 colors including metallic and grays)
• Greek paddles and supplies
• Balsa and Basswood woods and dowels
• Grumbacher® Max 2 Water-soluble Oil Paint
Westloop Shopping Center 776-4910
Mon-Fri 9-9, Sat 9-7, Sun 1-6

Betsy Robinson, junior in family & consumer economics, takes roll of the new Kappa Alpha Theta members Wednesday morning in the parking lot of Haymaker Hall during Bid Day.

RECORD-BREAKING RUSH

593 women begin Rush, 530 sign with houses

STORY BY CORY LAFFERTY ■ PHOTOGRAPHS BY CLIF PALMBERG

Hayley Whitton, left, freshman open-option, and Mary Radebaugh, freshman in social work, hug Wednesday morning in the parking lot of Haymaker Hall after learning they were chosen for the same sorority, Chi Omega. Wednesday was bid day, closing out the week of Rush.

This year sorority members will have an even harder time remembering names of their new pledges due to a large increase of new members. The total number of participants in Rush was 593, an increase of 90 from last year.

Greek Affairs Adviser Barb Robel said she was pleased with the increase of participants this year. The expected 500 applications was greatly increased the last two days.

"They came in great masses the last two days we accepted applications," Robel said. "A majority of the increase is due to the large increase in enrollment at K-State, but we also like to believe that the good publicity at enrollment played a part."

The increase in participants and the fact that nearly 90 percent of rushees signed a sorority brought on an large increase in the size of the pledge classes, Robel said. Sororities averaged 48 members in their new pledge classes.

"I was amazed at the number of girls that went through Rush. The quota was higher than any year that I can remember," said Jami Nelson, vice president of development for Kappa Alpha Theta.

Robel said the quota is the maximum number one sorority can pledge derived by number of rushees attending last party divided by the number of houses.

"Our Rush went very well; we have 56 in the new class," Nelson said.

Robel said Rush is a mutual selection process between the sororities and the women involved.

"The sororities' formal Rush has been criticized, but the stats show that the results have been good, pairing the girls with the sorority that they feel most comfortable with," she said. "We have received a really positive evaluation of the process."

The first two days the women visit all 11 sororities, participating in the 30 minute open-house parties.

After open-house parties the sororities choose which rushees to invite back for the next day. When the rushees receive the invitations back, they can accept a maximum of eight.

The third day of Rush Week consists of house tour parties. This day gives the rushees a chance to meet with the members of the sorority a little more and a chance to check out the actual house, Robel said.

On the fourth day, skit day, rushees can accept a maximum of five invitations.

The last night of Rush consists of preference parties. By then, the rushees and sororities have narrowed the rushees' choices down to three.

"They go from eight houses to five to three and then bubble in their top three choices, while the sororities also bubble in their choices," Robel said.

Out of the 593 women who began Rush, 530 signed with a house, and only seven girls didn't get into a house at all, Robel said.

"It was a long week, but very exciting," said Bonnie Wetta, a new member of Kappa Alpha Theta.

"I couldn't wait to get to the end of it."

STREETSIDE RECORDS®
1231 MORO • 776-7373

Sacrifice Isaac Migraine
3.99 CD only

Addict Stones
12.99 CD 3.99 Cass.

Sunz Of Man The Last Shall Be First
12.99 CD 8.99 Cass.

8 1/2 Souvenirs Happy Feet
12.99 CD only

Orgy Candyass
8.99 CD 5.99 Cass.

Kid Rock Devil Without A Cause
8.99 CD 5.99 Cass.

Sale ends 9/14/98

LADIES
WITH CALLNOTES® VOICE MAIL...
THERE'S NEVER A BUSY LINE.
So what are you waiting for?
CallNotes picks up any time your line is busy, so whether you're online or on the line, you'll always get the message. And with the Private Mailbox feature, your personal, private messages stay personal and private. Plus, sign up now, and you'll get two additional Private Mailboxes FREE from Southwestern Bell!
So get CallNotes, and connect your world.
1-888-SWB-4-YOU
www.swbell.com/college
© 1998 Southwestern Bell. CallNotes is provided by Southwestern Bell Messaging Services. Rate for two extra Private Mailboxes waived for students only. Some restrictions may apply.
Southwestern Bell

the BIG MOVE

Freshman battles heat, unfamiliarity in move into residence halls

BY SHALIA SATTER
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Her 5'2" frame struggled to carry the heavy cardboard box nestled in her arms. Dawnyale Harvey, freshman in speech pathology, Atchison, Kan., slowly took the stairs into West Hall to move into her residence-hall room. Her parents followed close behind with more boxes as she stepped onto the elevator that would take her to the third floor.

11:15 a.m. — Dawnyale gets her keys and welcome packet from the staff working in the floor lobby.

11:22 a.m. — Dawnyale gets her first glimpse of the room that will become her home for the next year. Her eyes enlarge as she takes a quick look around.

"It's pretty small, bigger than I thought it would be," Dawnyale said as she sets down a box on her claimed side of the room.

11:24 a.m. — "I'm nervous and kind of excited at the same time. I haven't walked around to see where my classes are, so I'll probably do that this weekend."

11:27 a.m. — After taking another look around the room, Dawnyale notices the separate desks on each side of the room.

"I'm glad I have my own desk. I'm particular about studying."

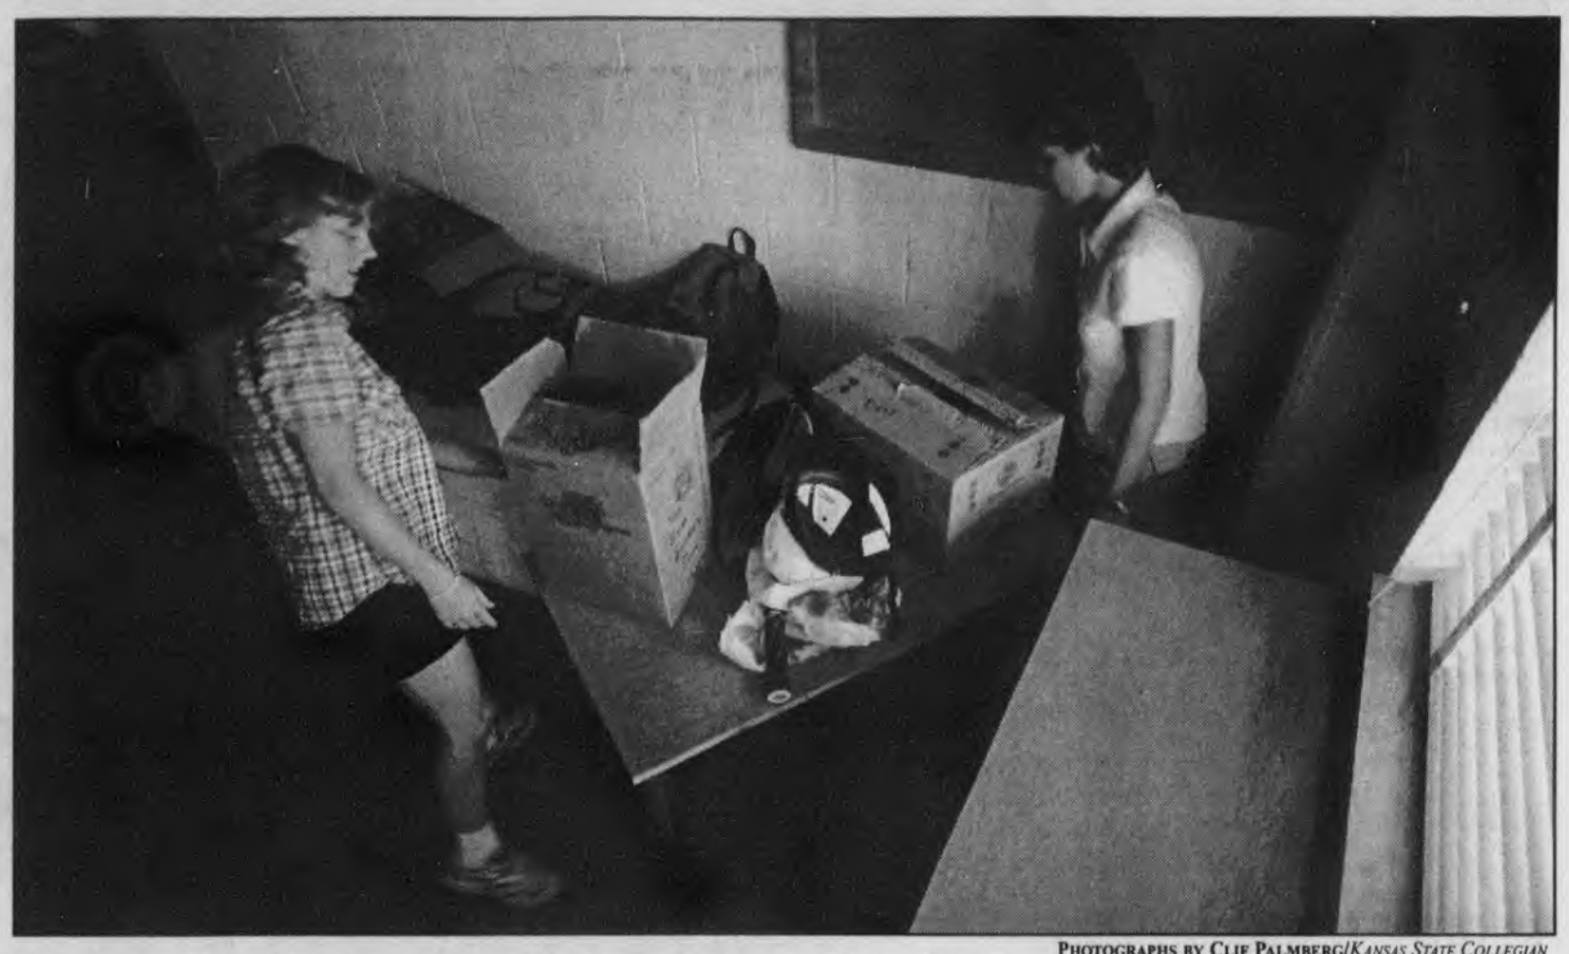
Desaray, Dawnyale's 15-year-old sister, is sitting on the bed, looking through the boxes.

"It'll hit me when we leave. I'll just bawl. I cried about it last night. We're pretty close, and I'm going to miss her a lot," Desaray said, looking out the window as her eyes began to water with emotion.

11:35 a.m. — Dawnyale looks through the welcome packet.

"It took me a week to pack. I took off work and packed. The hardest thing to leave behind was my big stereo. I wanted a little stereo for my dorm room and borrowed my sister's," she said.

While Desaray and Dawnyale wait for their parents to bring up more of her belongings, Dawnyale tells of her trip down from Atchison.



"My mom and dad were following me. We were following another kid from Atchison. We all got behind a slow-moving flatbed truck. This guy behind Mom and Dad got nasty and pulled out to pass, and I was in front of mom and dad," she said.

"I pulled out to pass, and he pulled out to pass mom and dad. He about crunched me. He went off the shoulder of the road and threw rocks at my truck...

"The day can only get better, right?"

11:55 a.m. — Dawnyale's father, Guy Harvey, walks into the room carrying boxes.

"Dawnyale, you have so much stuff, they called another fraternity to help," Guy said. Corey Jones, Dawnyale's boyfriend and senior in pre-veterinary medicine, laughs as he walks in behind Guy.

PHOTOGRAPHS BY CLIF PALMBERG/KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Dawnyale, left, and Desaray Harvey rearrange Dawnyale's third floor West Hall room by moving the desk to the corner of the room. Desaray, 15, helped her freshman sister move into her room Friday.

Dawnyale Harvey, freshman in speech pathology, rests after hauling some boxes to her third floor West Hall room Friday morning. Harvey rested while her parents, Brenda Lust and Guy Harvey, left to move their vehicle and bring another load up to the room.

11:57 a.m. — Dawnyale and Desaray push around the dresser and desk trying to determine where to put everything. With boxes piled in the room, two attempts at placing the desk and dresser end in confusion.

"Where am I going to put everything? If I put the desk and dresser close together, then I won't be able to get into my desk at all. I guess I won't be able to study if I can't get my drawers open." Dawnyale said as she puts her hands on her hips.

"I told you that you're going to have to take some stuff home. You just have too much stuff," Dawnyale's mother, Brenda Lust, said.

"I just can't wait to have everything unpacked and settled in," Dawnyale said as she smiled.

MANPOWER
Accepting applications for area temporary assignments
INDUSTRIAL: Packaging, production, assembly and general labor.
OFFICE: Secretarial, word processing and data entry operators, general clerks.
Manpower offers benefits like paid holidays and vacations, life/health insurance, flexible schedules.
Apply in person
8 a.m. - 4:30 p.m.
555 Poyntz
Suite 245, Colony Square
Serving Manhattan Since 1976

JOBS
Starting at $7.00 per hour
PART-TIME
Help needed to take inventory in retail stores. Average 10-12 hours on weekends. Weekday daytime hours are also available. Averaging 25+ hours.
Apply in person
Landon's Room, Ramada Inn
Friday, Aug. 28
at Noon, 1:30 p.m., 3 p.m., and 4:30 p.m.
Interviews start promptly.
Doors will close after 5 minutes.

Cookie Bouquets
Unique hand decorated cookie arrangements in various sizes and styles.
FREE DELIVERY
L.A. Cakes & Cookie Bouquets
Call 776-8773

Adolph's Nail Parlour
Full Set Acrylics $20!
(reg. $30)
Please mention ad when you come in!
314 Tuttle Creek Plaza, Suite D
Offer exp. 9/30/98 537-6016

LET'S TALK DIRTY.
$1 (LAUNDRY)
Washers
15 min. dry for 25¢
Wednesday Movie Night 5:00, 7:00 & 9:00 p.m.
• Coin Laundry
• Laundry drop-off service
• Professional dry cleaning & alterations
• Drive-up window and door
• Bargain laundry center w/large capacity washers
• Big screen TV • Pool Table • Snacks
3216 Kimball
in Candlewood Center across from Cico Park, near Bobby T's
537-9833
Open 7 a.m.-Midnight
7 days a week
Wash Palace
Kimball | North Cico Park | Seth Childs | Candlewood Center

DO THE MATH RIGHT WITH CASIO CALCULATORS!
YOU COULD WIN $25,000! IN U.S. SAVINGS BONDS*
$20 Rebate!
Enter the Casio "Class of '99 Sweepstakes" to win our Grand Prize, $25,000 in U.S. Savings Bonds!*
25 First Prizes
Casio QV-700 digital camera and DP-8000 printer
"This will change the way teachers share their calculator investigations with their students."
—John Kenelly, Alumni Distinguished Professor, Dept. of Mathematical Sciences, Clemson University; to reference to Casio's CFX-9850G calculator.
At Casio, we're making education easier and more affordable. That's why we've designed our family of Graphing and Scientific Calculators to deliver more power for less money.
And now, in our "Class of '99 Sweepstakes," you could really lower the costs of higher education when you enter to win the Grand Prize, $25,000 in U.S. Savings Bonds!* Use it to pay for tuition, books, housing, loan payments... whatever you need to lighten the load! Plus, 25 First Prize winners will receive their own personal digital photo lab—a Casio QV-700 digital camera and DP-8000 printer!
Simply drop into a participating store and pick up a $20 rebate coupon. While you're there, be sure to check out our innovative 2-Line Calculators, which show formulas and results simultaneously. And our Graphing Calculators, which pack the power of graphite technology into a compact, affordable unit. These Casio Calculators are the best in their class to get you to the top of your class! Sweepstakes ends September 30, 1998. Enter today for your chance to win!
fx-85W fx-300W CFX-9850G fx-7300G
*Value at maturity
Count me in!
☐ Yes, sign me up for a chance to win in the Casio "Class of '99 Sweepstakes!"
Mail entry form to: "Class of '99 Sweepstakes," P.O. Box 747, Sayreville, NJ 08871-0747
Or enter online at: http://www.casio.com/backtoschool
Name _____ Age _____
(Please Print)
Home Address _____
City _____ State _____ Zip _____
Day Telephone _____
Email _____
CASIO
Now, receive $20 cash back on your purchase of selected Casio models! Rebate coupons available at your Casio calculator retailer. See store for details.
No purchase necessary. Void where prohibited. $20 rebate applicable toward Casio models CFX-9850G and CFX-9850G+ only. Subject to official rules available in store. Residents of MI and OH only may submit a self-addressed, stamped envelope to "Class of '99" Rules, P.O. Box 656, Sayreville, NJ 08871-0656. Limit one entry per person. Sweepstakes void in Florida. Mail-in/postcard entry form to: "Class of '99 Sweepstakes," P.O. Box 517, Sayreville, NJ 08871-0517. All sweepstakes entries must be received by 10/31/98. Mechanically reproduced entries will not be accepted. Casio, Inc. and its agencies assume no responsibility for lost, late, misdirected, illegible or postage due entries or mail. Winners required to sign an affidavit of eligibility and release. Entrants release all parties from all claims/liability arising from acceptance of prize. For a list of winners, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to: Casio "Class of '99" Winners, P.O. Box 708, Sayreville, NJ 08871-0708
Having trouble locating a Casio retailer? You can phone your order in by calling 1-800-836-8180 (available from 9 AM to 5 PM CST) or via the internet at http://www.casio.com/backtoschool
Passport for use on the SAT and PSAT/NMSQT
CASIO
casio.com
Casio Scientific Calculators are available at your college bookstore and your local electronic retailer.

Veterinarian, parents receive $150,000 in suit

■ Settlement ends legal battle in Osage County

The Associated Press

LYNDON, Kan. — A drug investigation that left a veterinarian frozen out of her bank accounts and forced to pay $15,000 in administrative costs ended with county officials writing her a check.

Under a confidential agreement recently made public, Osage County agreed to pay $50,000 to Teresa D. Tucker of Carbondale and $100,000 to her parents, Vernie and Elsie Jane Tucker, to settle their civil lawsuits.

According to documents, the Tuckers' problems started when Teresa Tucker was accused of using her veterinary clinic's Drug Enforcement Administration number to order tranquilizers and other prescription drugs for her personal use.

Osage County Deputy Eldon Croucher had been investigating the clinic, and in 1995, he conducted an unannounced audit with the help of DEA agents. A few days later, Croucher filed a report implicating Tucker and her parents. They were included because at one point, she had given her parents tranquilizers for their dogs.

Prosecutors, after reading the report, decided not to press charges, yet the report ended up in the hands of the Kansas Department of Revenue.

Under state law, people suspected of trafficking in illegal narcotics are required to pay taxes based on the drugs' estimated value. If a person is suspected of illegally selling drugs, the tax can be doubled.

Based on discrepancies in Teresa Tucker's records and an estimated 2,700 pills that could not be accounted for, the Department of Revenue issued a $216,000 tax warrant against the Tuckers.

The day the tax warrant was issued, state officials froze the checking and savings accounts of Teresa Tucker and her parents, filed liens on their property, and threatened to take their belongings unless the tax was paid immediately.

The Department of Revenue offered to waive the tax if Teresa Tucker paid a $15,000 administrative fee, which she did.

"That was what it cost for us to get away from the state," said Lee Barnett of Wakarusa, the Tuckers' attorney.

"If you had seen the way they treated this family based on pure suspicion. ... It is the closest thing to Gestapo tactics I've seen in this country."

Osage County officials could not be reached for comment Saturday.

Teresa Tucker was able to keep her Carbondale Pet Clinic open and retained her veterinary license, but her business and reputation already had been damaged, Barnett said.

Tucker told the Topeka Capital-Journal that she had left her staff in charge of the clinic after the birth of her first child in 1985 and had spent little time there through 1994.

Tucker told the paper that she had called the sheriff and Kansas Bureau of Investigation in the past when she saw that some of the drugs that had been ordered were missing.

After resolving the fine, the Tuckers sued, and a settlement was reached in May 1997. The settlement was not released, however, because the county claimed the settlement was between the Tuckers and the private insurer and therefore wasn't considered public record.

The Capital-Journal, contending that the county commission violated the Kansas Open Records Act by delegating its record-keeping responsibilities to the insurer in an effort to keep the public from knowing the amount of the settlements, sued to open the record.

PIZZA SHUTTLE DELIVERS
776-5577
1800 Claflin Road

Stroud Truck Driving Academy
Now enrolling inexperienced OTR drivers. CDL certification in 4 wks., job placement & housing available. Paid training, if you qualify.
1-800-365-1310

Gift Giving

SEE OUR UNIQUE GIFT SELECTION vases votives jewelry watches picture frames candles flatware lamps
Zen Boards china stemware pottery table wares napkins cards books
accessories kid's stuff furniture decor
something for everyone!
free gift wrapping!
in town delivery service available

GEOMETRICS
furnishings and gifts sassy, fun, eclectic, essential
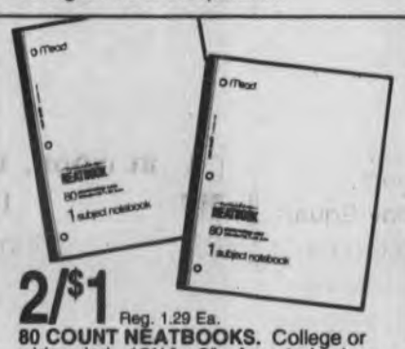
407 POYNTZ MON-FRI 10-6, SAT 10-5

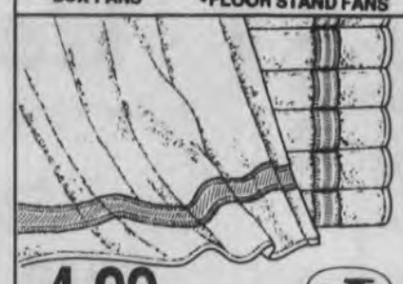
KSU • KSU • KSU • KSU • KSU • KSU • KSU • KSU • KSU • KSU



ALCO

WELCOME BACK COLLEGE STUDENTS!

Prices effective August 24 through August 30, 1998



29.99 #TI-5032 Reg. 39.99 Texas Instruments
SUPERVIEW PRINTER CALCULATOR. 10-digits. AC or DC operation.

2/$1 Reg. 1.29 Ea.
80 COUNT NEATBOOKS. College or wide ruled. 10½" x 8". Assorted colors.

20% OFF Reg. 7.29 To 329.99 Sale 5.83 To 263.99
FANS OR AIR CONDITIONERS.
•WINDOW FANS •TABLE TOP FANS
•BOX FANS •FLOOR STAND FANS

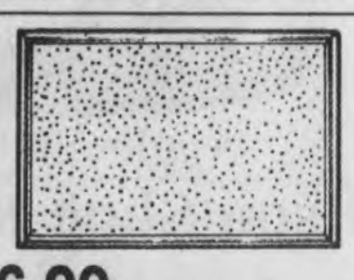
4.99 Reg. 6.99 Ea.
JUMBO BATH SHEETS. 33" x 66". 1½ lb. thirsty towels in fashion colors.

2/$10 #6620 20 Gallon Reg. 6.99 Ea.
HINGED DOME-TOP™ TOTES.
•33 GALLON. #6633. Reg. 14.99..... $10

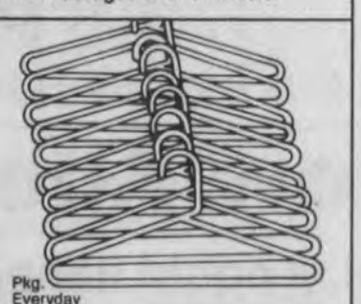
KSU
T-SHIRTS, SHORTS OR SWEATSHIRTS
30% OFF REGULAR PRICE

FLOOR LAMPS YOUR CHOICE...
14.99 Each Reg. 19.99
•HALOGEN FLOOR LAMP. Bulb included.
•3-SPOT POLE LAMP. Bulb not included.

MADE IN USA
SAUDER
19.99
CAMPUS COMPATIBLE FURNITURE
Each Reg. 24.99 Ready To Assemble
•STUDENT DESK. #141.
•TELEPHONE STAND. #103.
•18" 2-DRAWER FILE CABINET w/LOCKS. Hang files sold separately.
•BOOKCASE. #134.
•TV / VCR CART. #145.



$99 1.7 Cu. Ft. Reg. 119.99
COMPACT REFRIGERATOR. Freezer area, full range temperature control.



3.99 100 Oz. Bottle
ERA LIQUID LAUNDRY DETERGENT. Extra stain removing power.

12.99 Reg. 19.99
MAGNIFYING LAMP. Swing arm style. Clamps to table. Great for detail work.

6.99 Reg. 8.99
23" X 35" BULLETIN BOARD. Great for messages and reminders.

$1 Pkg. Everyday Low Price
10-PACK PLASTIC HANGERS. Never rusts. Less wrinkles in clothes.

BUY IT BY THE CASE!
3.96 CASE 12-Can Case
•SWEET PEAS •CORN
•KIDNEY BEANS •GREEN BEANS

Matching Chair $99
Loveseat $139
149.99 Reg. 169.99
SOFA. Multi-tweed upholstery sofa in asst. styles. Blends with most decors.

179.99 Reg. 199.99
METAL FRAME FUTON. Unfolds to full size bed. 7" thick mattress.

2.99 12-Roll Pkg.
12-ROLL KLEENEX BATH ROOM TISSUES. White.

WE HAVE NAME BRANDS AND QUALITY MERCHANDISE AT AFFORDABLE PRICES...
3007 Anderson St. Daily: 9 A.M. to 9 P.M. Sunday: 11 A.M. to 6 P.M.

KSU • KSU • KSU • KSU • KSU • KSU • KSU • KSU • KSU • KSU

Online swap eliminates time spent in long lines

■ Buying and selling textbooks on the Internet reduces hassle.

BY JENN DAVOREN
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Purchasing and selling textbooks has become a little easier because of the creation of a book swap on the Internet.

Bob Fox, senior in information systems, created the online forum as a way for students to save and make money.

"It's also another way to prove the Web is useful," Fox said.

The site's three sections allow users to find, post or remove books from the listings. All textbooks are listed alphabetically by course, so browsing through the titles is easy.

Students who wish to post a book to sell should include book information and have at least two ways of being contacted. Leaving an e-mail address is helpful.

Once a student has sold their book, they can remove the book title from the list. This way, prospective buyers will not be calling all semester for a book that already was sold.

"The system is convenient, and easily accessed by anyone with a computer," Fox said.

■ ON THE WEB
You can find the Book Exchange at www.dce.ksu./edu/~foxr/books

For students tired of the traffic jams at Varney's Book Store and the K-State Student Union Bookstore, shopping from home can be very appealing.

Melissa Fisher, senior in accounting and management information systems, found out about the book exchange from a previous Collegian article. After posting three of her used textbooks for sale, she received e-mails from students interested in her calculus books.

"You can make more money than at Varney's or the (Union) Bookstore," Fisher said.

Many of the prices in the textbook list are negotiable, unlike a regular bookstore.

Because the book exchange is not endorsed by K-State, it cannot be found on the K-State home page. But Fox advertises on his own by posting fliers around campus for those interested in getting involved.

Bob Fox, senior in information systems, created an online site for students to purchase and sell textbooks on the World Wide Web.
STEVE HEBERT
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

PEPPERTREE
The Unique Place To Shop
101 Riley in Ogden
537-0409
Fall Specials
All Designer Sunglasses $39
Oakley Armani Nike Gucci
Tommy & Nike Watches $29.95
Tommy & Nike T-Shirts $19.95
Blue Jeans
$5 each 2/$9 4/$15

Hair Experts Design Team
Welcome Back, Students!
776-4455
Aggieville, USA
$5 off any service
Not valid with any other offers or children's haircut.
expires 10/1/98 #23

TACO HUT
"Where good friends get together since 1969"
Specials
Tacos Burgers 2 for $1.85 (reg. $1.40 ea.)
Burrito Dinner $3.40 (reg. $4.50)
Good Through 8/29/98
Drive thru now open!
OPEN 11 A.M. - 10 P.M.
SUN., MON., TUES., WED., THURS.
11 A.M. - MIDNIGHT FRI. & SAT.
2809 CLAFLIN 539-2091

WELCOME Back Wildcats
Save 5% on your next purchase of $10 or more when you bring in this Ad.
SAVE 5%
Lucky Mac's Liquor Store
1100 Laramie
(In the Handy corner)
537-1050
SAVE 5%

Dr. Paul E. Bullock
Optometrist
$10 Off
Complete Eye Exam
with coupon
Up to $40 cash back, with the purchase of disposable contact lenses.
We fill outside prescriptions
Receive a FREE pair of non-prescription sunglasses with the purchase of any of our complete contact lens or eyeglass packages.
*Most contact lens fittings done same day.
Glasses also available same day in most p escriptions.
Disposable contact lenses starting at $18.95 per box.
1441 Anderson Ave. • Anderson Village • 776-9461 • Toll Free 1-800-432-0036
Adjacent to KSU Expires 9/1/98

Looking for a job?
Bring your résumé
&
attend the Part-Time Job Expo
Tuesday, August 25
9 a.m. - 4 p.m.
K-State Student Union Courtyard Area
Sponsored by Career and Employment Services and the Chamber of Commerce Education Committee
For information contact CES: 100 Holtz, Manhattan, KS 6506
(785) 532-6506 FAX: (785) 532-6802 www.ksu.edu/ es or e-mail: ces@ksu.edu

BIRKENSTOCK®
The original comfort shoe.
Aggieville's
Olson Shoe Repair
•Certified Pedorthist
•Orthopedic Prescriptions Filled
1214-B Moro
Toll Free 888-788-1145 539-8571

Mr. P's Party Outlet
• Purple Tailgate Headquarters
• K-State, KU & Nebraska napkins
• Balloons • Plates
• Party Supplies
• FREE Football Tickets
*register at Mr. P's Party Outlet
KANSAS STATE UNIVERSITY
Wedding Invitations 30% Off
(785)776-7547 • 318 Poyntz • Manhattan, KS 66502
M-W, F, S 9:30-6 p.m. • Sun. Noon-5 p.m.
Thurs. 9:30-8:00

We're Back
Better Than Ever After The Aggieville Fire
$1.00 Wash
Open 24 Hours a Day
New Building with All New Equipment
Speed Wash Laundry
1118 Moro

How About a FREE Computer?
Well, it could happen!
If K-State goes undefeated and wins the Bowl Game, Transcend Technologies is going to give every single customer their money back for any computer system they purchase from us through September 10th, 1998!
Think about it for a moment ... If K-State beats Nebraska and remains unbeaten entering the bowl game, then the team is playing with confidence and who knows if anyone can stop us!
Even if you don't follow football, you should still find our prices to be some of the most competitive around. Either way you win!

Eminence Series
AMD K6 MMX Processor
Super TX Motherboard
32 MB RAM
2.1 GB Ultra DMA Hard Drive
2 MB PCI Video Card
20X CDROM
16-bit Soundcard
33.6K Modem
Mini-Mid Tower Case (230W)
Keyboard and Mouse
80 Watt Speakers
Windows 95 OSR 2.5
Windows 98 (add $36)
Prices include 15" Monitor
with ...
AMD K6 233 MHz $898
AMD K6 266 MHz $905
AMD K6 300 MHz $935
AMD K6-3D 266 MHz $954
AMD K6-3D 300 MHz $1005

Eclipse Series
Intel Pentium II Processor
Pentium II 440LX Motherboard
64 MB SDRAM
4.3 GB Ultra DMA Hard Drive
128-bit 4 MB AGP Video Card
32X CDROM
32-bit PCI Soundcard
56K Modem
Mid-Tower ATX Case (250W)
Keyboard and Mouse
80 Watt Speakers
Windows 95 OSR 2.5
Windows 98 (add $36)
Prices include 15" Monitor
with ...
Celeron 266 MHz $1152
Celeron 300 MHz $1169
Pentium II 266 MHz $1329
Pentium II 300 MHz $1391
Pentium II 333 MHz $1432

Apex Pro Series
Intel Pentium II Processor
Pentium II 440BX Motherboard
64 MB PC100 RAM
6.4 GB Ultra DMA Hard Drive
8 MB AGP Video Card
36X CDROM
Sound Blaster AWE64
56K Modem
Mid-Tower ATX Case (250W)
Keyboard and Mouse
80 Watt Speakers
Windows 95 OSR 2.5
Windows 98 (add $36)
Prices include 17" Monitor
with ...
Pentium II 266 MHz $1543
Pentium II 300 MHz $1605
Pentium II 333 MHz $1646
Pentium II 350 MHz $1807
Pentium II 400 MHz $2063

Transcend Technologies
Located at 1108 Laramie
(Just East of Godfather's Pizza in Aggieville)
Stop by or call us at 539-8538

Varney's Book Store Has Fabulous Prizes!
When you come into Varney's and buy your SUPPLIES and TEXTBOOKS sign-up to win our FREE FABULOUS PRIZES.
We are giving away
Two Mountain Bikes
A 20" Color Television
An RCA Stereo System
Three Radio Boom Boxes
Varney's
Sign-up now until the drawing August 31, 1998 at the Varney's Book Store art table. No purchase necessary. See Varney's for details.

Beer ban might become football tradition at CU

The Associated Press

BOULDER, Colo. — A decision on whether to sell beer at the University of Colorado's home football games will have to ferment a little longer.

Last week the school's governing board delayed a decision on the issue until two days before the team's home opener.

The board of regents will take public testimony at its meeting Sept. 10 from invited alumni, faculty, campus police, parents and students.

The decision followed a resolution by Regent Jerry Rutledge of Colorado Springs to resume beer sales at Folsom Stadium after a sales ban expired this year. CU-Boulder Chancellor Richard Bynny extended a two-year moratorium on that ban.

The beer ban, which is encouraged by the school's student government, was designed to curb alcohol abuse, which often would lead to violence, at football games. Supporters of the ban said there aren't any schools in the Big 12 Conference that sell beer at home football games.

Boulder police, who also support the ban, say arrests at football games have declined to five last year from 20 the year before the ban was introduced. Ejections from the stadium fell to 37 from 121 and there weren't any assaults, compared with nine the year before the ban.

Four of nine regents said Wednesday that they want to continue the ban, and two said they want it lifted. Three were noncommittal.

Beer is sold at 50 indoor sporting events a year at the university's Coors Events Center, Steinhauer said.

Colorado State University cuts off beer sales at half time.

"Selling beer in the stadium is a better alternative than binge drinking before the game," said Lynea Hansen, a co-president of the CU student body. "Now students know they can't drink at the game, so they binge beforehand."

CHEERLEADING TRYOUTS

Clinic-Aug. 27
Tryouts-Aug. 28th

· Attendance at clinic is mandatory.
· Please bring insurance information.

For Information Please Call:
Steve Kirkland at 532-7983

KSU BIG CATS

The KSU BIG CATS is a student entertainment group developed by the KSU athletic department. Students will wear specially designed uniforms and stilts. These students will help provide an entertaining, fun atmosphere at KSU athletic events.

For Information Please Call:
Steve Kirkland at 532-7983
by Aug. 27th

"It's Greek To Me, Inc."
K-State Super Store
GRAND OPENING
August 27th - August 30th
Located at 520 McCall Rd. Manhattan

Special Events:

- All in store stock 15% OFF (reg. price merch. only)
- Refreshment table
- Tour of store on Thursday and Friday 4:00p.m. to 8:00p.m.
- A four day drawing to win a free small neon powercat sign

(785) 537-8822 / (800) 336-4486

STORE HOURS:
M-F 8:30a.m.-6:00p.m.
Sat 9:00a.m.-6:00p.m.
Sun 12:00p.m.-5:00p.m.

THE Palace Cards & Gifts

Welcome Back, Wildcats
Come see all the great gift ideas and greeting cards at
THE PALACE.
Balloons•Candy•Sacks•Yankee Candles•Crabtree & Evelyn•Posters•Prints•Frames•K-State Giftware•T-Shirts

Coupon: 20% OFF Any School Year or 1999 Calendar. No Limit. Exp. 9-15-98

Coupon: BUY 2 Greeting Cards Get 1 FREE. No Limit. Exp. 9-15-98

704 N. Manhattan Ave. • In Aggieville • 539-7654
Mon. - Fri. 8:30-8:30 • Sat. 8:30-5:30 • Sun. 12:00-5:00

georgia

The Ultimate Apparel and Accessories.
Monday - Saturday 10:30-5:30
537-8174 • 1222 Moro • Aggieville

K-STATE Federal CREDIT UNION
"Enroll In Money 101"
TOTALLY FREE Checking
NO Minimum Balance
FREE ATM Usage (at our ATM)
No Service Charge
No Per Check Charge
Two Locations to serve your Needs!
2700 Anderson Ave. (near Westloop Shopping Area)
1455 Anderson Ave. (across from Campus)
785-776-3003
e-mail: creditunion@ksu.edu web page: www.ksu.edu/creditunion

Rose MUFFLER HOUSE
"Our business is exhausting"
MUFFLERS & TAILPIPES
DUAL SYSTEMS
AUTOS (American & Foreign)
RVs LIGHT & HEAVY DUTY TRUCKS
CUSTOM PIPE BENDING
COMPLETE BRAKE SERVICE FOR AMERICAN, FOREIGN, & LIGHT TRUCKS SHOCK ABSORBERS & STRUTS
Rose HOUSE OF TINT
GLASS TINTING SERVICES AVAILABLE FOR YOUR AUTO, HOME OR BUSINESS
DRAWTITE
TRAILER HITCHES - SALES & INSTALLATION
Mon.-Fri. 7:30 a.m.-5:30 p.m.
2049 Ft. Riley Blvd.
776-8955 or 1-800-439-8956
Take advantage of our courtesy van for rides to school and home while your vehicle is being serviced.
ame Location!
FREE ESTIMATES

Welcome Back, K-Staters
Don't miss our back to school sale! Save BIG on the area's largest selection.
Rockford Fosgate · Artistry in Sound ONKYO · KENWOOD · ALPINE · SONY · ADCOM · PrecisionPower · Definitive Technology · VIPER · Infinity CAR AUDIO · PIONEER The Art of Entertainment · MTX · DENON The First Name in Digital Audio · JL AUDIO
No One Dares Come Close!
Home Stereos - Car Stereos & Alarms - installation - TV's - VCR's
AUDIO JUNCTION, INC.
587-4646
307 Ft. Riley Blvd.
Mon.-Fri. 10-7 Sat. 10-5

Paragon Technology Inc.

Our Two New Pre Designed Systems

ATHENA WORKSTATION

Gigabyte GA6BXC Pentium II BX Chipset Motherboard
Intel Pentium-II 400MHzOEM= (1Year Warranty)
High Efficient CPU FAN for Pentium II (Ball Bearing)
100 MHz64MB 4x64-16 (Compatible BX ChipSet)
Matrox Millenium G200 8MB AGP (OEM)
QUANTUM ST6480A 6.4GB U/ATA 10ms 128k
Creative LAbs 32X IDE Internal CD-ROM Drive
Paragon MicroScan 19P (ADI OEM) 1600x1200 75 MHz, 0.22mm
Cretaive Lab Digicom 56K V90w/Voice
Mitsumi 1.44MB Floppy
Cambridge Sound Works SW Speakers
Yamaha 724 Enhanced 3D PCI Card-Software Wavetable
Logitech InteliMouse (First Mouse+) -Combo
Microsoft Elite Natural Keyboard
System Assembly w/1Yr waaranty
Choice of Microsoft Windows95 or 98 Full Version (with system)
Software Package (details included)

THOR WORKSTATION

Gigabyte GA6BXC Pentium II BX Chipset Motherboard
Intel Pentium-II 400MHzOEM= (1Year Warranty)
High Efficient CPU FAN for Pentium II (Ball Bearing)
100 MHz64MB 4x64-8 (Compatible BX ChipSet)
Matrox Millenium G200 8MB AGP (OEM)
QUANTUM ST6480A 6.4GB U/ATA 10ms 128k
Creative Labs 32X IDE Internal CD-ROM Drive
Paragon MicroScan 19P (ADI OEM) 1600x1200 75 MHz, 0.22mm
Cretaive Lab Digicom 56K V90w/Voice
Mitsumi 1.44MB Floppy
Cambridge Sound Works SW Speakers
Yamaha 724 Enhanced 3D PCI Card-Software Wavetable
Logitech InteliMouse (First Mouse+) -Combo
Microsoft Elite Natural Keyboard
System Assembly w/1Yr waaranty
Choice of Microsoft Windows95 or 98 Full Version (with system)
Software Package (details included)

Turtle Beach Montego Sound Card
$104.95

SoundWorks
Retail $149.95
Sale $132.95

ATTENTION! Architecture Students!

Pro II
Gigabyte GA5AX
AMD K6-266
64 MB EDO Memory
Matrox Prodcutiva 6 100 4Mb ACP
IBM 6.4
TEAC 32XCD-Rom
Paragon MicroScan 15" .24mm
Creative Labs Ensong Sound Card
Mitsumi 1.44MB Floppy
Creative Labs Digicom 56k V.90w/Voice
Lexmark 1100 color Printer
Juster AT-95 Speakers
Logitech Intellihouse
Microsoft Windows 95 or 98 Your Choice!
Paragon Software package

Which meets your class needs!
Only $1049.95 + tax

Lexmark 1100 Inkjet Color Printer
$131.95*
*$30 Customer Rebate

EPSON Stylus Color 600 Printer
$185
(Sug. Retail $246.95)

Paragon MicroScan
174.95 15" .24mm
289.98 17" .22mm
554.95 19" .22mm

Hercules Workstation

Abit LX6 (PII-ATX-440LX)
Intel Pentium-II 266MHzOEM= (1Year Warranty)
High Efficient CPU FAN for Pentium II (Ball Bearing)
SDRAM 168Pin 3.3V 10ns 32MB Unbuffered
Matrox Millenium II 4MB AGP Upgradable
IBM DHEA-36480 6.4GB U/AT 9.5ms 128k 5400rpm
Teac 32X CD-ROM
Acer ATX Mid Tower Case w/235W Power Supply
Paragon MicroScan 15P (ADI OEM) 1024X768 85Hz, 0.24mm
Creative Labs Digcom 56K V90 w/Voice
Mitsumi 1.44MB Floppy
Juster AT-95, 200 Watts
Creative Labs Ensoniq PCI Sound Card
LOGITECH Mouseman 3 Button - Combo
Mitsumi 104 Key Windows Keyboard
Lexmark 1100 Color Inkjet Printer
System Assembly
Choice of Microsoft Windows 95 or 98 Full Version (with system)

Zeus Workstation

Abit LX6 (PII-ATX-440LX)
Intel Pentium-II 300MHzOEM= (1Year Warranty)
High Efficient CPU FAN for Pentium II (Ball Bearing)
SDRAM 168Pin 3.3V 10ns 32MB Unbuffered
ATI Xpert@Play 4MB SGRAM PC2TV 1600x1200 AGP
IBM DHEA-36480 6.4GB U/AT 9.5ms 128k 5400rpm
TEAC 32X IDE Internal CD-ROM Drive
Acer ATX Mid Tower Case w/235W Power Supply
Paragon MicroScan 17P+ (ADI OEM) 1280X1024, 0.22mm
Creative Labs Digcom 56K V90 w/Voice
SONY 1.44MB Floppy
Benwin BW980-3Way 70W (4 pieces) Speaker System
Sound Blaster AWE64
LOGITECH InteliMouse (First Mouse+) - Combo
LITE-ON SK-600 Natural Keyboard
Lexmark 1100 Color Inkjet Printer
System Assembly w/ 1 Yr. Warranty
Choice of Microsoft Windows 95 or 98 Full Version (with system)

Cyclops Workstation

ABIT BX6- BX Chipset
Intel Pentium-II 400MHzOEM= (1Year Warranty)
High Efficient CPU FAN for Pentium II (Ball Bearing)
100 MHz32MB 4x64-16 (Compatible BX ChipSet)
DIAMOND VIPER V330 4MG AGP (OEM)
QUANTUM ST6480A 6.4GB U/ATA 10ms 128k
Mitsumi 32X IDE Internal CD-ROM Drive
Paragon MicroScan 17P+(ADI OEM) 1280x1024, 0.22mm
ACER 76C 17in, 0.27 MM
Creative Labs Digicom 56K V90 w/Voice
Mitsumi 1.44MB Floppy
Benwin BW980-3Way 70W (4 pieces) Speaker System
Sound Blaster AWE64
LOGITECH Mouseman, Button Mice-Combo PS/2
KEYTRONICS 3601, PS/2 104 Keyboard
System Assembly w/ 1 Year Warranty
Microsoft Windows 95 Version (with system)

• FREE System Builds • FREE Software Package with System Build
MICROSOFT CERTIFIED IN HOUSE TECHNICIANS

Local Financing • 90 Days Same As Cash • 90 Days Deferred • 6 Months & 9 Month Deferred
• Terms Available • System Upgrades Components Available • 2% Corporate Discount

Paragon Technology ★ Claflin Denison

Visit Us On our Website: http//www.paragoncomp.com

1800 Claflin, Suite 170 • First Bank Center at the Corner of Claflin & Denison,
Manhattan, Ks 66502
785-537-9999 Toll Free: 888.227.7PTI • Fax: 785-537-4141

Quarterback Michael Bishop and the K-State Wildcats have their eyes set on a return trip to the Fiesta Bowl.

ARE YOU READY FOR SOME FOOTBALL?

Just 12 days and counting until the 1998 Wildcats take the field

Syracuse quarterback Donovan McNabb is tackled from behind in K-State's Fiesta Bowl victory.

AP TOP 25

Rank	Record	Pts.	Last
1. Ohio St. (30)	10-3	1,668	12
2. Florida St. (22)	11-1	1,663	3
3. Florida (5)	10-2	1,547	4
4. Nebraska (4)	13-0	1,534	2
5. Michigan (4)	12-0	1,475	1
6. K-STATE (2)	11-1	1,335	8
7. UCLA (1)	10-2	1,331	5
8. Arizona St. (2)	9-3	1,256	14
9. LSU	9-3	1,237	13
10. Tennessee	11-2	1,094	7
11. West Virginia	7-5	985	NR
12. North Carolina	11-1	864	6
13. Penn St.	9-3	804	16
14. Texas A&M	9-4	780	20
15. Colorado St.	11-2	631	17
16. Virginia	7-4	620	NR
17. Syracuse	9-4	608	21
18. Washington	8-4	494	18
19. Georgia	10-2	480	10
20. Wisconsin	8-5	444	NR
21. So. Mississippi	9-3	341	19
22. Notre Dame	7-6	291	NR
23. Michigan St.	7-5	211	NR
24. Arizona	7-5	208	NR
25. Auburn	10-3	201	11

TODD STEWART/COLLEGIAN

BY SAM FELSENFELD
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

If there were a TV show detailing K-State's football history, this might not be a good time to flip through the channels.

After all, nearly 102 years have passed since the opening credits started rolling, and now, the good part could be fewer than two weeks from starting. For the first time in school history, the Wildcats are legitimate national-championship contenders.

"I can appreciate the fact that the expectations are where they are," K-State coach Bill Snyder said. "I want our players to be able to appreciate the fact that so much is expected out of them, but to understand also that it's by other people outside of this team concept and outside of this family. What's really important is what they expect out of themselves and how they're able to live up to their own expectations."

The Cats were ranked as high as No. 2 in some preseason magazines and were sixth in the first release of both The Associated Press media and ESPN/USA Today coaches polls, receiving first-place votes in both polls.

"It's not a bad position to be in," linebacker Mark Simoneau said. "We just know that we've got to take care of business like we've done in the past."

The title talk has fans and players excited, but Snyder isn't yet sold on a return trip to the Tostitos Fiesta Bowl, site of this season's national-championship game.

"I'm not a firm believer in anything about national championships, other than the fact that come November, everybody probably will have a good indication of who's in position to become a national-championship football team," he said. "Those things aren't settled in preseason predictions, in magazines, in media, or with talk, or expectations or anything else. That's all settled on the field."

On paper, the Cats appear talented enough to challenge for the top spot, returning 18 of 22 starters from last year's 11-1 team.

With the exception of the still-vacant left tackle position, there's little question that the Cats should have the necessary physical tools to make a run for No. 1. However, Snyder is concerned with the mental aspects, especially team unity.

"My major priority has to deal with the chemistry of this football team, with the attitude of this football team, with the responsibility and accountability of this football team and with the elimination of distractions to this football team," Snyder said. "Those, I think, are the most important things."

With a Heisman Trophy candidate, an Outland Trophy candidate, three Butkus Award candidates and the defending Lou Groza Award winner among their players, there's a concern the Cats could become a group of individuals instead of a team. But the players realize they can't win the awards without their teammates' help.

"I hope that we develop that attitude, and that approach, and that mentality, that it's all for one and one for all, and we're going to roll up our sleeves and go to work and be a blue-collar football team, even though we know some young guys are going to get far more recognition than others," Snyder said. "Regardless of what they receive in the media, if their attitude is one that they just want to be a part of that group that's rolling up their sleeves and going to work and bringing their lunch pail and all those kinds of things, then I think we've got a chance."

Quarterback Michael Bishop, a Heisman Trophy candidate, seems destined to receive the most national attention throughout the season. The hype started early this spring but has grown consistently as the season approaches. Bishop says he is enjoying the attention but remains focused on doing his job.

"It's all good, but I can't do anything but come out on Saturdays and play my heart out," he said. "It's great that everyone's mentioning my name, but as far as I'm concerned, that's a long way down the road. Right now, I have to concentrate on being the best player I can be."

Although Snyder focuses on the strengths of the team and tries to minimize the awards talk, he said he won't stand in the way of his players picking up individual honors.

"The point is, you still have to do it on Saturday afternoons, and Michael is capable of playing extremely well," Snyder said. "When I think he's a Heisman Trophy candidate, I'll stand up and say that I think he is. I'm not afraid of that. I'd be proud to have a Heisman candidate in our mix."

And although the talk is nice — and new, considering K-State's football past — no trophies or bowl invitations will come to Manhattan without on-field success.

"We've got a lot of football to play," Snyder said.

"I don't have a clue of what's going to take place. Everybody's undefeated right now, so everybody's got a chance."

Even K-State.

COLLEGIAN FILE PHOTOS BY JILL JARSULIC

COACHES TOP 25

Rank	Record	Pts.	Last
1. Ohio St (31)	10-3	1,485	12
2. Florida St. (10)	11-1	1,447	3
3. Nebraska (12)	13-0	1,372	1
4. Florida (1)	10-2	1,346	4
5. Michigan (4)	12-0	1,309	2
6. K-STATE (1)	11-1	1,208	7
7. UCLA (3)	10-2	1,139	5
8. LSU	9-3	1,082	13
9. Arizona St.	9-3	993	14
10. Tennessee	11-2	934	6
11. North Carolina	11-1	775	4
12. West Virginia	7-5	736	NR
13. Penn St.	9-3	725	17
14. Syracuse	9-4	662	20
15. Texas A&M	9-4	600	21
16. Colorado St.	11-2	543	18
17. Washington	8-4	506	16
18. Georgia	10-2	448	10
19. Virginia	7-4	427	NR
20. Wisconsin	8-5	344	NR
21. So. Mississippi	9-3	271	19
22. Auburn	10-3	222	11
23. Michigan St.	7-5	211	NR
24. Notre Dame	7-6	208	NR
25. Arizona	7-5	160	NR

TODD STEWART/COLLEGIAN

K-STATERS IN THE NFL

ELIJAH ALEXANDER
Linebacker, Indianapolis Colts

BARRETT BROOKS
Tackle, Philadelphia Eagles

CHRIS CANTY
Defensive back, New England Patriots

ANDRE COLEMAN
Wide receiver, Pittsburgh Steelers

DESHAWN FOGLE
Linebacker, Philadelphia Eagles

PERCELL GASKINS
Linebacker, Carolina Panthers

KENDYL JACOX
Center, San Diego Chargers

CLYDE JOHNSON
Defensive back, Chicago Bears

JASON JOHNSON
Center, Indianapolis Colts

KEVIN LOCKETT
Wide receiver, Kansas City Chiefs

QUENTIN NEUJAHR
Center, Jacksonville Jaguars

THOMAS RANDOLPH
Defensive back, Cincinnati Bengals

MITCH RUNNING
Wide receiver, Indianapolis Colts

TODD WEINER
Tackle, Seattle Seahawks

TODD STEWART/COLLEGIAN

Chiefs defeat Jaguars, lose Rison to injury

■ Former K-State Wildcat Kevin Lockett shines, could start on opening day.

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

KANSAS CITY, Mo. — The Kansas City Chiefs hardly felt like celebrating their 22-21 NFL exhibition victory Saturday night over Jacksonville, what with Pro Bowl wide receiver Andre Rison on crutches and heading a long, worrisome injury list.

Rison, the Chiefs' most valuable player last season, initially had seemed to be walking all right. However, he later was on crutches because of a strained left hamstring. In addition, the Chiefs also suffered injuries to defensive end John Browning, cornerback James Hasty, guard Will Shields and running back Rashaan Shehee.

"We'll have to see tomorrow where they all are," Coach Marty Schottenheimer said on Saturday. The Chiefs (2-2) broke a 10-quarter touchdown drought when backup quarterback Rich Gannon led the team to two fourth-quarter scores.

"The hamstring with Andre is a big concern. We'll wait and see what tomorrow brings," Schottenheimer said.

Gannon, 5-1 as a starter last year when Elvis Grbac was sidelined because of a broken collarbone, entered the game to cheers in the third quarter after Tavian Banks' seven-yard touchdown run had put the Jaguars on top, 21-6.

On his first possession, Gannon drove the Chiefs 80 yards in 11 plays, capped by Pete Stoyanovich's 25-yard field goal. Then, with 10:17 left, Gannon hit wide-open tight end Willy Tate for 11 yards, making it 21-16. After Melvin Johnson's interception of a pass by Jaguars' rookie quarterback Jonathan Quinn, Gannon led the Chiefs on a seven-play, 59-yard march, capped by his two-yard scoring run around right end with 5:00 left.

The Jaguars (1-2) picked up a Gannon fumble in the final two minutes, but Mike Hollis missed a 58-yard field-goal attempt with 1:57 left.

"We got sloppy in the second half," Jacksonville linebacker Jeff Kopp said. "They came up with the big plays. I don't care who is out there, we don't want to give up big plays any time."

Kevin Lockett, Kansas City's second-year wide receiver from K-State, started in place of the injured Derrick Alexander and caught eight passes for 125 yards, including a 51-yard reception in the first quarter that set up the first of Stoyanovich's three field goals.

"I just wanted to keep the ball rolling," Lockett said. "Derrick was really starting to play well, and I didn't want there to be a dropoff on my part. I felt pretty comfortable and just allowed myself to play."

Grbac hit 17 of 29 passes for 210 yards but was sacked three times and intercepted twice.

Stoyanovich also made a 20-yard field goal in the second quarter.

Mark Brunell, the Jaguars' first-string quarterback, stayed around long enough to complete six of 15 passes for 68 yards and one touchdown, a 12-yard toss to Keenan McCardell, who turned inside and took the ball away from Dale Carter in the corner of the end zone.

> "I just wanted to keep the ball rolling," Lockett said. "Derrick was really starting to play well, and I didn't want there to be a dropoff on my part. I felt pretty comfortable and just allowed myself to play."

"I think that we moved the football," Brunell said. "We ran the ball OK. We weren't as sharp as we'd like to be, but we moved the ball against a very good defense."

With 4:01 left in the second quarter, Carter fell while covering Jimmy Smith, who took Jamie Martin's toss and outran safety Reggie Tongue down the sideline for an 80-yard touchdown.

Overall, Martin hit three passes for 112 yards.

"Jamie did another fine job," Brunell said. "I don't think he's thrown an incomplete pass the entire training camp."

But Jaguars coach Tom Coughlin would not say if Martin, a five-year veteran acquired as a free agent, had made the team.

"Jamie Martin played very well, and I won't say anything else about that," Coughlin said.

"I'll look at the tape and go from there."

Offensive line replacing veterans

BY JOHN BERGGREN
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

With only four starters lost from last season's Tostitos Fiesta Bowl-winning team, there will not be many new faces on K-State's 1998 squad. The area that will experience the most change is the Wildcats' offensive line.

K-State has added Paul Dunn to its coaching staff in the off-season. Dunn has assumed the tight ends/tackles coaching position and brings 16 years of collegiate coaching experience to the Wildcats, after coaching at Vanderbilt from 1996 to 1997.

Dunn will shoulder part of the responsibility of finding replacements for left tackle Todd Weiner, who was a second-round draft pick to the Seattle Seahawks, and center Kendyl Jacox, who is in camp with the San Diego Chargers, along with finding depth for all of the positions. He said it will not be an easy task.

"You don't just go out and replace guys like that," Dunn said. "Those guys are in NFL camps for a reason that speaks for itself. They were excellent players.

"We have some experienced players returning, like Ryan Young, Justin Swift and Jeremy Martin, but obviously the further development we have in fall camp, the more depth we'll have. As far as experienced depth, we don't have a lot of it. We're hoping to find some people in the fall, and we've got some pretty good candidates to chose from."

Randall Cummins tops the depth chart at center entering fall drills, and it looks as if he might have that position locked up. Cummins saw limited playing time in 1997 as a freshman behind Jacox .

MARTIN

"I think Randall is going to be fine at center," Martin said.

"He's not totally green at the position, and he had a good spring camp. Finding a replacement at tackle hasn't cleared itself up yet, though. That's just one of those things we'll have to hammer out this fall."

Red-shirt freshman John Robertson comes into fall drills as the leading candidate for starting left tackle after bulking up in the off-season, but two other players are fighting for significant playing time as well. Junior Ian Moses had some experience playing as a "jumbo" tight end in some running situations as a freshman in 1996, and freshman Thomas Barnett was granted a scholarship after joining the team as a walk-on.

The cornerstone of the offensive line will be its three returning seniors: left guard Brien Hanley; Martin, who will start at right guard; and Young, who received preseason first-team All-Big 12 honors at right tackle.

YOUNG

Young said he is assuming some of the leadership responsibility of bringing along the inexperienced linemen.

"I like the responsibility that comes along with being a senior and being a leader and a teacher," Young said. "Jeremy (Martin) and I have been around long enough that we can help the new guys through any situation that may arise."

Martin, on the other hand, said he wasn't concentrating on being labeled as a leader.

"I'm just one of those guys who goes out and plays every day and tries to be consistent and positive," Martin said.

"I know that when you're a senior, you have to step up a little bit, and if I fall into the role of being a leader then that's great," Martin said.

"But, I'm not going to do anything differently than I have the last three years."

Parks department needs coaches for all fall sports

BY MATT KREPS
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

The Manhattan Department of Parks and Recreation is looking for coaches and officials for boys' and girls' soccer, flag football and volleyball. The sign-up deadline is Wednesday.

With more than 70 teams participating in soccer alone, Karen Perry, recreation supervisor in charge of soccer, said the need for coaches is a primary concern.

Perry said she needs 150 coaches now.

Mike Buchanan, recreation supervisor for football and volleyball, said he needs at least 30 more coaches to fill his roster.

Buchanan said college students are an important source for the department.

■ MORE INFO?
Interested in coaching or officiating for the Manhattan Department Parks and Recreation? Call 587-2757 or visit the department office at 1101 Fremont.

"I don't think we could do it without them," he said.

Neither experience nor equipment are necessary. Inexperienced coaches are paired with an experienced coach, and the department provides the needed equipment.

Perry said college students often share coaching responsibilities between two or three friends. Coaches spend four to six hours a week with their teams during the season. All three sports start in September and finish the first week in November.

Soccer officials are paid $8 per game and can work as many games per week as their schedule allows. They need to be familiar with the sport, Perry said.

Both Buchanan and Perry said the department tries to work around student schedules. Buchanan also said games would not conflict with home football games.

"All of our players want to go to those games, too," he said.

Both coaches and officials attend clinics sponsored by Parks and Recreation to prepare for the season. The first clinic is scheduled for Sept. 3.

Perry said being an official could prove to be a valuable experience for college students.

"It's a really good experience for the college students," Perry said. "The last couple of seasons we've had some really outstanding college kids who took a team."

A SURE SIGN OF SAVINGS

USED BOOKS from

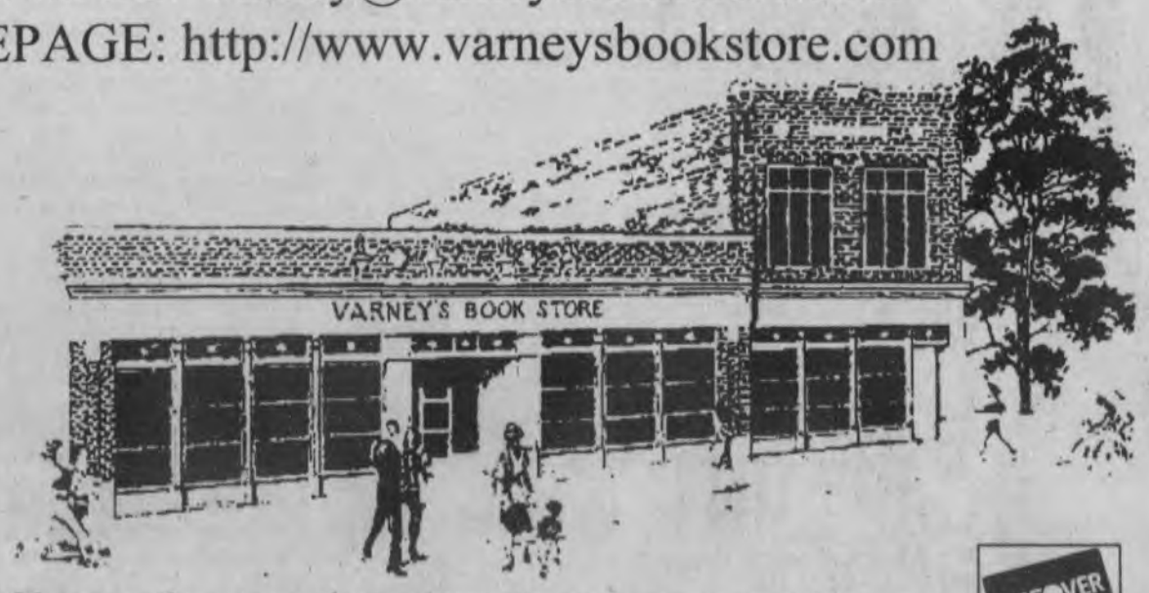
Varney's BOOK STORE IN AGGIEVILLE



THIS STICKER ON A TEXTBOOK HAS MEANT SAVINGS TO K-STATERS SINCE 1890. VARNEY'S BOOK STORE HAS A LARGE SELECTION OF USED BOOKS AND OUR FRIENDLY STAFF IS READY TO HELP YOU WITH ALL YOUR BOOK AND SUPPLY NEEDS.

Open 9 a.m. until 9 p.m. Monday thru Saturday, Noon until 5 p.m. Sunday

Varney's Bookstore carries books for all K-State Fall classes.

Phone 539-0511 E-MAIL: Varney@varneysbookstore.com
Fax 537-2351 HOMEPAGE: http://www.varneysbookstore.com

We gladly accept the Wildcat Card!

VISA MasterCard DISCOVER AMERICAN EXPRESS

Shop at the store that supports your community.

BACK TO SCHOOL

FOOD 4 LESS®

Oscar Mayer FUN PACK LUNCHABLES
10.1 to 13.2 oz., Assorted Varieties
1.79

SMILEY'S SANDWICHES
All Varieties
79¢

JENO'S PIZZAS
6.8 to 7.2 oz., Assorted Varieties
69¢

Select HAMBURGER or HOT DOG BUNS
8 Count Pkg.
2 for $1

Ecko PLASTIC SPONGE MOP 3.59

Ecko CAPTAIN HOOK BROOM 3.98

FOOD 4 LESS COUPON
Kraft 7.25 oz. Box
MACARONI & CHEESE DINNERS
3 for $1
Limit 3 Please With Coupon. Coupon Expires 8-23-98

401 E. Poyntz, 222 N. 6th & 3011 Anderson In Manhattan. Prices Good Aug. 24 thru 29, 1998. Limit Rights Reserved.
Open 24 Hrs. Daily* Open 6 am to Midnight Open 6 am to Midnight

Devan Gulker holds Ashia, a red panda cub, after she helped the cub with one of its daily feedings. Medical problems had forced the cub to be removed from the care of her mother. Gulker, whose husband is curator of Sunset Zoological Park, volunteered to be a surrogate mother to the cub until she can survive on her own. Devan is expecting her first child in September.

STEVE HEBERT/COLLEGIAN

Motherly Instincts

■ Manhattan resident prepares for motherhood by nurturing young panda.

BY M.A. LOROFF
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

The baby is sleeping soundly in the incubator, snuggled close to the stuffed animal which is kept beside her for comfort. It is almost time for her to wake up for her bottle of milk. Ryan Gulker, curator of the Sunset Zoo, puts a bottle on for the baby so his wife, Devan, can feed her. Devan is not only a mother, but a first-time mother-to-be.

The Gulkers are expecting their first child on Sept. 10.

Meanwhile, Devan is getting all of the mothering practice she needs by raising a red panda cub named Ashia.

Due to medical problems, Ashia had to be removed from the care of her mother. Devan volunteered to be Ashia's surrogate mother until the cub can survive on her own.

Ashia's major medical problems have mostly healed, but she cannot be put back in the cage with her mother and sibling.

"If she were put back with her mother, the mother might think the cub is an outsider and kill her," Ryan said.

Until her own baby is born, Devan will take care of Ashia full time. After the baby is born, Devan will keep Ashia during the day and allow the zoo veterinarians to take care of her at night.

"I try not to get attached to her, but I think I've gotten a little protective of her," Devan said.

Ashia is starting to recognize the Gulkers by their scents and the sounds of their voices. Although Ashia may think of Devan as a surrogate mother, it is important that there isn't too much human interaction.

"Some people tell me that I should cuddle the cub all the time because she needs affection. The public doesn't understand that I need to keep my hands off of her," Devan said.

If the panda has too much human contact it will not breed and interact properly with other pandas later on in life.

"An animal can grow up and not know that it's a panda. That is why it is important to bring in the new panda," Ryan said.

A new panda, a cub from Philadelphia, has medical problems like Ashia. Both cubs will be raised together. The cub is scheduled to arrive in September.

Even though the panda is a wild animal, it needs constant attention. The cub is weighed twice a day and fed every four hours with a milk replacer for puppies. Devan cuddles the cub when she is eating but tries not to handle her otherwise.

"She likes to sit up while she eats; that way she can knead her paws. Pandas knead while they eat, like cats," Devan said.

Raising Ashia is giving Devan plenty of practice for taking care of her own baby.

"I'm on a schedule now. I can wake up every three hours and my eyes open before the alarm," Devan said.

The Gulkers said they are excited about raising their baby in the middle of the zoo, but Devan said being pregnant and living in the zoo also has its drawbacks.

"I stay away from the Australian sections and the cats," Devan said.

The animals in both regions are carriers of the bacteria that causes toxoplasmosis, a bacteria that can cause birth defects during pregnancy.

Process allows students to drop, add fall classes

BY KELLY LYNN
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

The beginning of the semester brings a large percentage of the student population to Willard Hall to drop or add classes.

The drop/add process begins when a student meets with an adviser to determine the changes that need to be made. Next, the student needs to fill out a drop/add form and take it to Enrollment Services in Willard 217 to be processed. This automatically generates a change in fees, which is printed onto a statement.

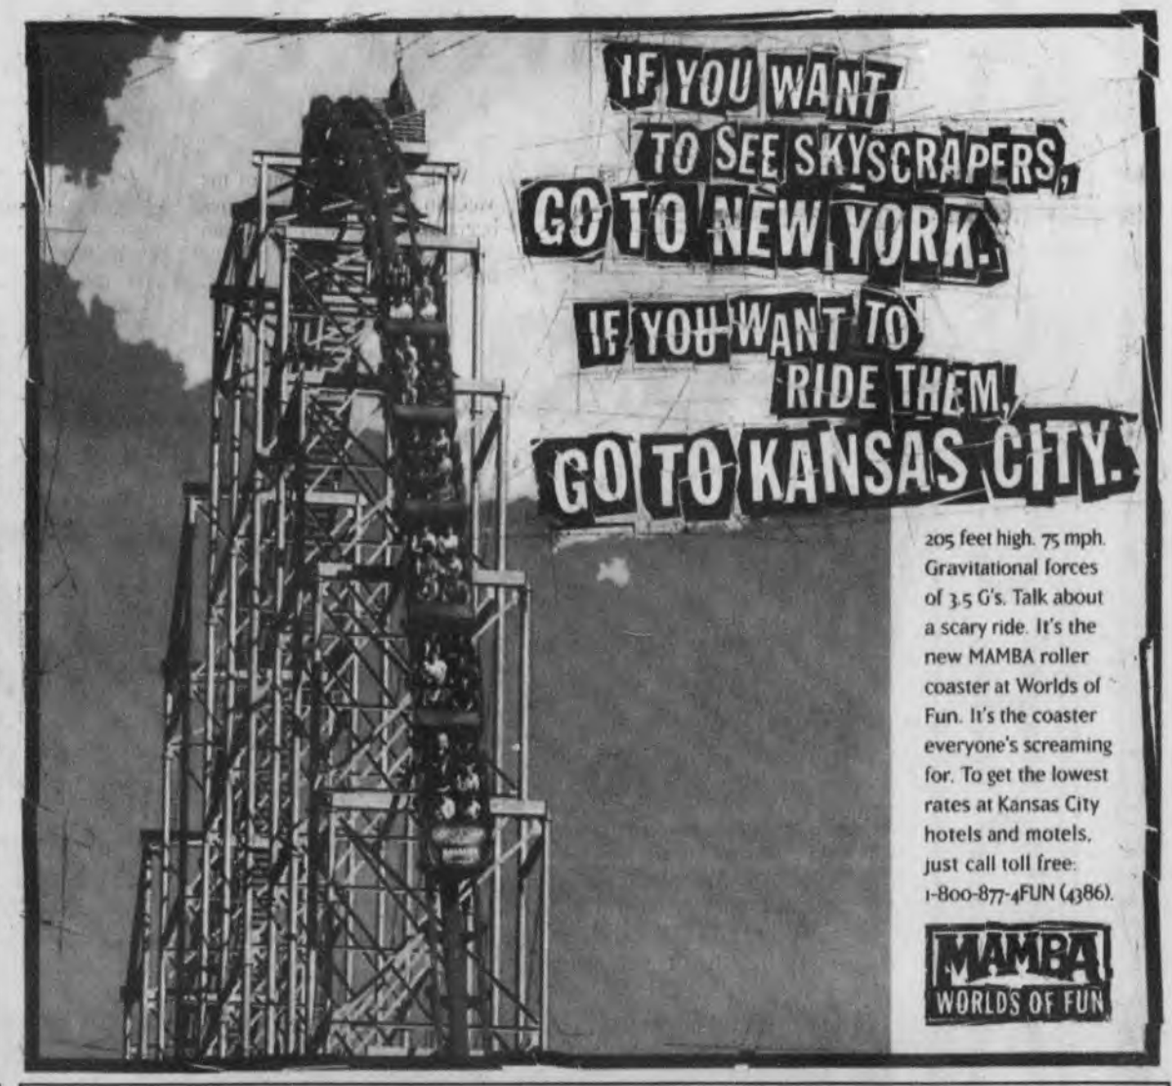
Drop/add forms can be obtained from a dean's or adviser's office or from Enrollment Services.

Classes can be added without an instructor's permission through the first week of classes. After Aug. 28, a student must have permission from the instructor to add the class.

Foster said the instructor-permission permit should be taken with the drop/add form to Enrollment Services in order to add the class.

Chris Cossette, sophomore in open-option, used the drop/add process to enroll in a chemistry lecture that previously had been closed.

"I got a note from the professor to get me in there, hopefully," he said.



Students can drop a class without record of the change on their transcripts until Sept. 28. Between Sept. 29 and Oct. 30, students who drop a class will receive a 'W,' a record of withdrawal, on their transcripts. Oct. 30 is the last day to drop a class.

Classes dropped within the first week of the semester result in a full refund of the respective tuition amount. Ninety percent of the tuition for a dropped class will be refunded during the second week of the semester. Fifty percent will be refunded the following two weeks.

Enrollment Services is open from 8:15-11:45 a.m. and 1- 4:45 p.m., Monday through Friday.

Don't Gamble With Your Money.
AdVeRtIsE in the COLLEGIAN

Did you know?
Manhattan Pawn Shop Has...
•Word Processors •Car Stereos
•Mountain Bikes •Jewelry
•Home Stereos •Video Games
•TV's & VCR's •Firearms
•Guitars •Tools
•CD's •Cameras
317 S. 4th St. • 776-6112 • Mon.-Fri. 9 a.m.-6 p.m. Sat. 9 a.m.-4 p.m.

Comics
Games
Cards
Arcade
Fun
The Gaite Raider
Come see us in Aggieville
1205 Moro
or call us at 539-4539
Manhattan's Comic Book & Game Store

Little Apple Driving School
LEARN TO DRIVE
Adults & Teens
2630 Farm Bureau Rd., Manhattan
539-4881

PUMPS • LOCKS • HELMETS • COMPUTERS • TOOLS
HIKING BOOTS • WHEELS • TIRES • GLOVES
WATER BOTTLES & CAGES • V BRAKE
HIT THE TRAIL SALE

• North Face
• Jansport
• Eagle Creek
Backpacks & Daypacks on Sale!
Sale ends Sept. 5
Padded Backs and Shoulder Straps
Waist Belts • Organizer Pockets
All Models Feature Lifetime Warranty
THE NORTH FACE
the PATHFINDER
OUTDOOR EQUIPMENT SPECIALISTS
304 Poyntz, Downtown Manhattan
539-5639
Established in 1975 • Open Until 7 Mon.-Wed. and Thurs. Until 8 p.m.
BACKPACKS • FANNY PACKS • MOUNTAIN BIKES • U-LOCKS
Come see the Schwinn Bicycle Stunt Show, Sept. 4 at the Purple Power Play on Poyntz!

The TECHNICAL COLLEGE
MANHATTAN AREA TECHNICAL COLLEGE
FALL 1998 MATC CONTINUING EDUCATION COURSE SCHEDULE

CLASS	CLOCK HOURS	CREDIT HOURS	SESSIONS	TIME/DAY	DATES	COST
Business Math	60	2.0	20	6:00-9:00 T, Th	Sep. 8 – Nov. 12	$65
Business English	60	2.0	20	6:00-9:00 M, W	Sep. 9 – Nov. 16	$65
Basic Bookkeeping	60	none	20	6:00-9:00 T, Th	Sep. 15 – Nov. 19	$65
Keyboarding	40	none	16	6:00-8:30 T, Th	Sep. 8 – Oct. 29	$45
Introduction to Computers	30	none	11	6:00-8:30 Fri	Sep. 11 – Nov. 20	$35
Introduction to Computers	30	none	12	6:00-8:30 M, W	Sep. 9 – Oct. 19	$35
Introduction to Internet	20	none	8	6:00-8:30 T, Th	Sep. 8 – Oct. 1	$25
Web Page Design	20	none	6	6:30-9:20 T, Th	Sep. 29 – Oct. 15	$25
Windows 95 Applications	20	none	8	6:00-8:30 M, W	Sep. 14 – Oct. 7	$25
Office 97 Applications	40	none	16	6:00-8:30 T, Th	Sep. 22 – Nov. 12	$45
Beginning MS-Excel	20	none	8	6:00-8:30 M, W	Sep. 14 – Oct. 7	$25
Beginning MS-Word	20	none	8	6:00-8:30 T, Th	Sep. 8 – Oct. 1	$25
Beginning AutoCAD	48	none	12	6:00-10:00 M, Th	Sep. 10 – Oct. 19	$60
Intermediate AutoCAD	48	none	12	6:00-10:00 M, Th	Sep. 10 – Oct. 19	$60
Beginning Welding	54	none	18	6:30-9:30 T, Th	Sep. 15 – Nov. 12	$80
Advanced Welding	54	none	18	6:30-9:30 T, Th	Sep. 15 – Nov. 12	$80
CPR	6	none	2	6:00-9:00 Tues.	Sep. 15 – Sep. 22	$15
CPR	9	none	3	6:00-9:00 Tues.	Sep. 15 – Sep. 29	$18
CPR	12	0.5	4	6:00-9:00 Tues.	Sep. 15 – Oct. 6	$20
EMT (Basic)	220	7.0	48	6:30-10:30 M, Th	Sep. 3 – Mar. 18	$260
Medical Terminology	36	none	12	6:00-9:00 Wed.	Sep. 16 – Dec. 9	$45
Certified Nurse Aide (CNA)	100	none	24	5:30-9:30 T, W, Th	Sep. 24 – Nov. 24	$115

Note: Brochures providing a complete list of fall courses and describing each course are available at MATC, at the Manhattan Town Center mall, and at public libraries in Manhattan and Junction City.

Enroll in these courses at Manhattan Area Technical College, 3136 Dickens Avenue, Manhattan, KS during regular office hours, 7:30 a.m. to 9:00 p.m. Monday through Thursday and 8:00 a.m. to 6:00 p.m. on Friday. For more information, call MATC at (785) 587-2800 in Manhattan or (800) 353-7675 outside Manhattan.

MATC ..... Your Partner in a Productive and Successful Future.

CROSSWORD

FOR RELEASE MONDAY, AUGUST 24, 1998

CROSSWORD By Eugene Sheffer

ACROSS
1 Adhesive
4 Shipworm
9 P.O. abbr.
12 Heston's org.
13 Phantom's territory
14 Earlier than 15 Opened, in a way
17 Ashen
18 "Who am — judge?"
19 Kumquat or shaddock
21 Portions of 31 Across 24 1/3 of a 1970 movie title
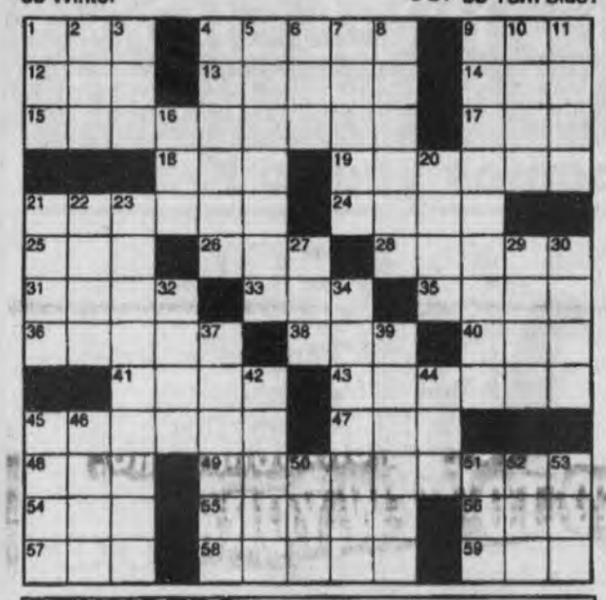
25 Took the prize
26 Flushed
28 Stage extras, for short
31 Play divisions
33 Ump
35 Grand-scale
36 Mush-room type
38 Winter woe
40 Precam-brian, for one
41 Andy's pal
43 Garland
45 Limn
47 Bottom line
48 Dadaism founder
49 Stevenson book
54 Go fast
55 Wiesel et al.
56 Hudson co-star
57 Played the first card
58 Answer
59 "— Sera, Sera"



DOWN
1 Wilde-beest
2 Coffee vessel
3 Bell and Kettle
4 Straw hat
5 Adversary
6 Dem.'s rival
7 Upright
8 Communi-cation devices
9 Changed the packaging
10 Lady of the Haus
11 Hideaways
16 Diarist Anais
20 Verifiable
21 Emulated Summer Sanders
22 Gabrielle Chanel
23 Caught
27 3, on the phone
29 Green land
30 Con game
32 Big rig
34 Warm fabric
37 Storage structure
39 Restless
42 Fence steps
44 Cell's energy source
45 Willy Wonka's creator
46 Ontario's neighbor
50 Quick swim
51 Sans delay
52 Perrier, e.g.
53 Turn blue?

Solution time: 27 min.

R	I	M		S	H	A	D		S	A	N	G
A	D	O		P	E	R	U		A	M	I	R
P	E	A		O	N	E	R		N	I	N	A
S	A	N	F	O	R	D	A	N	D	S	O	N
		E	L	Y		N	A	Y
J	O	N	E	S		S	T	P		G	A	P
A	V	I	D		W	E	E		M	A	N	E
W	A	X		L	O	X		W	A	L	T	Z
		G	O	O		H	A	T
R	Y	A	N	S	D	A	U	G	H	T	E	R
A	U	R	A		R	I	L	E		A	X	E
I	R	E	S		O	D	O	R		O	I	L
D	I	S	H		W	E	T	S		S	T	Y

Saturday's answer

8-24

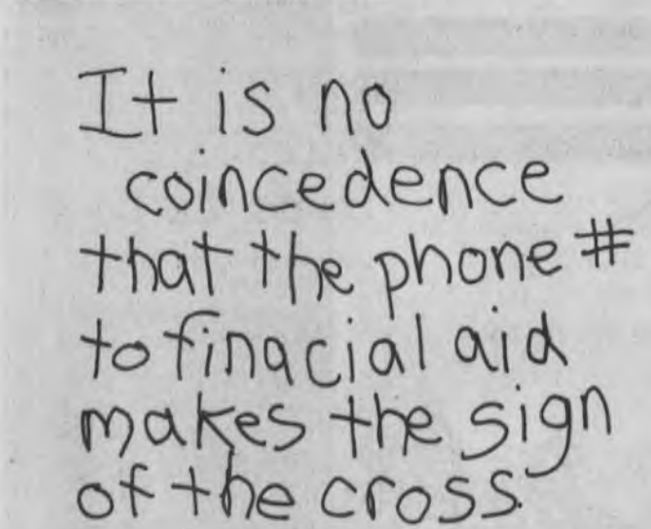
STUMPED? For answers to today's crossword, call 1-900-454-6873 | 99¢ per minute, touch-tone / rotary phones. (18+ only.) A King Features service, NYC.

8-24

CRYPTOQUIP

I S U I L G O D R C U M I M N X R Y I L R J I E N G O X Y O E Y D J T U I N V V N C I S U E L N C T V N N I .

Saturday's Cryptoquip: THE WEIRD CLOD THINKS THAT TO GET NEW NECKWEAR HE HAS TO GO TO THAILAND.



Today's Cryptoquip clue: T equals G

CRYPTOQUIP BOOK 2! Send $4.50 (check/m.o.) to CryptoClassics Book 2, PO Box 6411, Riverton NJ 08077.

The Cryptoquip is a substitution cipher in which one letter stands for another. If you think that X equals O, it will equal O throughout the puzzle. Single letters, short words and words using an apostrophe give you clues to locating vowels. Solution is by trial and error.

CONSPIRACY THEORY

TAYLOR GRIMES

JEFF COOPER/KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Performers rehearse "Man of La Mancha" last semester in McCain Auditorium, and although it is not part of the McCain Performance Series, 10 other shows are planned for this season.

BACK FOR MORE

McCain's Performance Series kicks off with 'The King and I'

BY CORBIN H. CRABLE
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

With the 29th season of the McCain Performance Series beginning this week, McCain director Richard Martin said he thinks this season is sure to have something for everyone.

The McCain Performance Series, which has entertained audiences since the auditorium opened in 1970, includes musicals, ballet, symphony orchestras and drama.

Four shows, the Flying Karamazov Brothers, the Vienna Choir Boys, "Brigadoon" and "The King and I," have been performed at McCain in previous years, but Martin said they will be just as enjoyable this season.

Martin said his main concern this season was the fact that the touring off-Broadway musicals, such as "Brigadoon" and "The King and I" are only being performed for one evening instead of the usual four or more performances on Broadway.

"There are 40,000 people in the immediate community. That's not enough to support a Broadway musical," Martin said. "Since the population isn't bigger, we're limited to one performance. We just don't have a large enough market."

No matter how many or how few seats in McCain are occupied, however, Martin said that isn't an indicator of the show's success.

"I don't measure success by numbers," he said. "One can have an artistic success."

Martin is just as excited about the other shows this season, which include the Russian National Ballet's performance of "Swan Lake," the Netherlands Symphony Orchestra, the instrumental trio of Fleck, Marshall, and Meyer, and the vocal duet of Bolcom and Morris.

"I'm interested in seeing the audience's reaction to 'Swan Lake,'" Martin said. "It's one of the most famous of American ballets in history. It'll be fun to see if the audience will have as good of a time as I think they will."

The performance of the Netherlands Symphony Orchestra is another reason for Martin to be excited.

"This is the first symphony orchestra to perform in McCain in five years," he said. "I'm very anxious to present it."

Fleck, Marshall, and Meyer, a trio of performers from Europe, are known for their variety of music ranging from Bach to bluegrass.

The members of the trio have performed with individual artists such as Bonnie Raitt and Garth Brooks and bands such as Spinal Tap.

William Balcom and Joan Morris, a husband-and-wife vocal duet, are scheduled to perform tunes that celebrate the 100th birthday of songwriter Ira Gershwin.

They will perform in McCain on Sept. 26, exactly 100 years to the day that Gershwin was born. The two have sung together for 25 years.

"They inspire their audiences to feel the emotions in their songs," Martin, who has only heard the duet through a live recording, said. "Their electricity comes alive even in their recordings."

The McCain season will end in April with the Chieftains, an instrumental sextet from Ireland.

MCCAIN PERFORMANCE SERIES 1998-99

The following is a list of upcoming events to be held at McCain Auditorium.

THE KING AND I
Wednesday, 7:30 p.m.

FLYING KARAMAZOV BROTHERS
Sept. 16, 7:30 p.m.

BERGUNZI STRING QUARTET
Sept. 20, 3 p.m.

BOLCOM AND MERRIS
Sept. 26, 8 p.m.

FLECK, MARSHALL, MEYER
Oct. 3, 8 p.m.

LE BALLET NATIONAL DI SENEGAL
Oct. 15, 7:30 p.m.

LA TANIA
Oct. 30, 8 p.m.

VIENNA CHOIR BOYS
Nov. 15, 3 p.m.

ONDEKOZA
Nov. 20, 8 p.m.

A CHRISTMAS CAROL
Dec. 6, 3 p.m.

MIKE ENGELHARDT/COLLEGIAN

"IF YOU PUT THE BIG THINGS FIRST, YOU WILL ALWAYS HAVE ROOM FOR THE LITTLE THINGS."

Organization key for almost any college student

BY JAMI STUMP
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

A new semester brings a fresh start for college students. Experts say the key to starting out on the right foot is staying organized and keeping track of events.

Because tests, meetings and jobs can cause students to feel overwhelmed, time-management experts say staying organized can reduce the amount of stress that individuals put on themselves.

Mary Kane, executive secretary for the Kansas Future Farmers of America Association, said the best way to stay organized is by using a personal planner to keep track of meetings and classes.

"You can really go and spend a lot of money on different types of planners," said Kane. "The key is finding a system that really meets your needs so that you can better keep track of events and classes," said Kane.

Kane has attended numerous time-management seminars and uses a Franklin Day Planner.

Lisa Slagle, senior in marketing and a Boyd Hall resident assistant, said she stresses the benefits of using planners and time management to the women in her hall.

"We suggest at our academic meetings that take place the first or second day of classes that they purchase a planner and write down important items," she said. "This way they know when all test dates are and it will help them keep track of meetings for organizations."

Slagle suggests students write test dates into a planner as soon as they are announced in class.

Slagle said a similar technique works for keeping track of meetings. If meetings normally are scheduled at the same time on certain days of the month, write them down as far in advance as possible.

Another important aspect of having a planner is to prioritize what requires the majority of an individual's time.

Kane said it is helpful to realize there are important things in life in addition to school, whether it be family, friends or jobs. Prioritizing will ensure the completion of important tasks during the day.

It is helpful to picture the important things in life as big rocks. These can be classes, family, jobs and other things that are of priority, she said. The little things can be seen as small stones. These include things that require less time and are of less priority.

Kane said to imagine using those rocks and stones to fill a jar, putting the stones, or the little things, in first. Starting with the stones, the rocks will never all fit inside the jar. However, by putting the rocks, or the big things, in first, there will always be room for the stones. Kane said this principle can be applied to daily life.

"If you put the big things first, you will always have room for the little things," Kane said.

These time-management experts said that, depending on one's personality, a planner might not be necessary.

Those who make to-do lists, however, should only have one list to minimize the risk of forgetting something important.

Sticky-note fanatics also should keep all their notes together in a visible place to reduce the risk of losing one, they said.

Above all, they said it is most helpful to find a system that works and stick with it.

DILBERT

DILBERT

Web site specializes in helping roommate relationships

BY JENN DAVOREN
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Your favorite shirt is missing, her boyfriend is sleeping over again, and that mysterious smell must be coming from her dishes.

Perhaps going potluck for a roommate wasn't such a good idea after all.

This semester's living situation might be set in stone, but check out SWOON, the World Wide Web site for anything "dating, mating and relating" to get some advice on coping. SWOON is a division of Conde Nast Publications, which links magazines such as Glamour and GQ to sites on the Web.

"SWOON is designed to help you meet people you might never have known otherwise," Melissa Weiner, SWOON managing editor, said. "We like to think of it as an online bar of sorts."

Those who visit www.swoon.com can search the personal ads, enter chat rooms and read household hints designed to help find someone who is compatible.

Also available at the SWOON site is the Automated Roommate Contract. This allows potential roommates to discuss matters such as bills, personal and collective property, cleaning, and coed slumber parties.

The contract, which is not legally binding, is a lighthearted way of letting roommates know what things are important to the other members of the household.

K-State's version of the contract, the roommate agreement, can help students endure a mismatched living situation. The agreement, available from resident assistants in the residence halls, allows cohabitants to discuss a varied list of subjects to encourage compromise from the start.

"This way, everyone can effectively communicate their needs and expectations and create guidelines for study time, guests, et cetera" said Shana Meyer, Ford Hall resident life coordinator.

Tenants, landlords need to know, respect rights

BY JAIMIE HARTTER
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

The time of year has come when many students are moving into their rental apartments and houses for the first time. Some students, however, will be taken advantage of because they don't know the ways of the renting world.

Most problems arise because students are afraid of asking questions about contracts for fear of looking ignorant.

"It's not wrong to ask for advice. It's your dollar, and you have the right for quality housing," said Joyce Woodard, president of the Better Business Bureau.

Woodard said many of the problems can be avoided if students take responsibility to check out the area where they will be living. This includes taking the initiative to read contracts, asking how the security deposit will be obtained after termination of the lease and finding out how much notice the tenant has to give before terminating the lease.

MORE INFO?
Need help with a landlord or apartment? Call Consumer and Tenant Affairs at 532-6541 or the Better Business Bureau at (785) 232-0454.

Woodard said it is also a good idea to take photos when checking into the apartment or house and to get references from past tenants. Also, if there is any part of the contract that is not understood, don't sign it.

"If you can't understand it, that is normal. Contracts should be made clear to the students," Woodard said.

Larry Hackney, human relations officer for the city of Manhattan, offered more tips for renting an apartment or home.

"Some of the top tips are to screen your landlord, inspect the premises carefully and always do a check-in sheet with your landlord. Make a copy of the check-in sheet. It's surprising how many people forget to do that," Hackney said.

When checking in with the landlord, students should go around the house and make sure all the mechanical items, plumbing and appliances are in working order.

This includes flushing the toilets, turning on the faucets and seeing if the air conditioner cools and the garbage disposal works.

"Open the cabinets under the sinks and see if there are any leaks," Hackney said.

"Ask the landlord about the utilities and how much they run per month."

The top-three problems that Hackney hears from students are that items don't work, landlords refuse to fix the broken items and disputes arise over amounts withheld from security deposits.

"The state statutes require the landlord to maintain the property in good and safe working order," Hackney said.

This idea varies with the opinion of those who see it, but the city's Code Inspection office, located on the corner of Kimball and Denison avenues, offers a National Property Maintenance code booklet that includes a checklist of items required by city ordinances.

Some of the basic requirements are that the roof shouldn't leak, there must an adequate supply of hot and cold running water, and there should be at least two electrical outlets in every room.

Group promotes I-70 tourism

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

SALINA, Kan. — A new coalition of community and business leaders from across central Kansas is devising ways to tempt tourists off the beaten path of Interstate 70 and into its communities.

It figures the time is right, with a natural history museum in Hays expanding and an animal refuge in Salina due to open next year.

The group calls itself the Amazing 100-Miles Tourism Coalition.

By getting drivers to detour 20 miles north or south of the 100-mile stretch of interstate between Salina and Hays, "we can promote over 4,000 square miles of scenic Kansas — a scenic Kansas that has been invisible to those who drive through on I-70," said Marge Larson, chief executive officer of the Post Rock Opportunities Foundation and manager of Kansas Originals Market in Wilson.

The expanded Sternberg Museum, with its renowned fossil collection, is scheduled to open in March, and the Rolling Hills Refuge and Wildlife Conservation Center west of Salina is due to open the following summer. The refuge was built to protect rare and endangered animal species.

"We have the image of being flat, hot, dusty and dry," said retired farmer J. Jean Mettlen of Lucas. Mettlen is the guiding force behind the new coalition and a tour guide at the Garden of Eden, a longtime attraction in Lucas that features the unusual home and concrete sculptures created by Samuel Perry Dinsmoor.

"Tourists don't realize a few miles from I-70 we have Wilson, Kanopolis and Waconda lakes.

"With the two big attractions coming on, why not try and captivate people and tell them what's going on here?" Mettlen said.

Advertise with the KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN 532-6560

See what a nickel will buy you at 5¢ Claflin Books and Copies 1814 Claflin Road 776-3771

WE TAME THE TOUGH ONES
Life is Hairy Enough. Break Loose. Give Us a Call.
539-TAME (8263)
Walk Ins Welcome
Mon.-Sat., Tues. & Thurs. night till 8 p.m.
Full Service Salon 2028 Tuttle Creek Blvd.

formerly Essentials
GAIA SALON
TO PROMOTE PERSONAL AND PLANETARY WELLNESS REJUVENATION, BALANCE AND BEAUTY
AVEDA concept salon.
539-2622
1-888-539-2622
108 S. 4th
Manhattan

AUDITIONS
Monday, August 24
Tuesday, August 25
Nichols Hall Lobby 7 p.m.
KSU Theatre Mainstage Productions of
ANTIGONE and CABARET
An Ebony Theatre production of Wine in the Wilderness and a Purple Masque production of
The Bald Soprano
No preparation necessary - Reading scripts are available in 129 Nichols Hall
For more information call 532-6875
OPEN TO ALL KSU STUDENTS!

Want A Challenge?
OFFICER TRAINING SCHOOL
Start your career off on the right foot by enrolling in the Air Force Officer Training School. There you will become a commissioned officer in just 12 weeks. From the start you'll enjoy great pay, complete medical and dental care, 30 days of vacation each year, plus the opportunity to travel and see the world. To discover how high a career in the Air Force can take you, call 1-800-423-USAF, or visit our website at www.airforce.com
AIM HIGH AIR FORCE www.airforce.com

Southern Sun
Welcome Back Special
10 Tans for $27.00
Don't Lose That Summer Tan!
776-8060
3232 KIMBALL (NEXT TO BOBBY T'S)
Always Great Bulbs at the Best Prices!

JANDI'S
Gifts and Ceramics
Ceramic K-State Football and Helmet lights--with cut-out powercat design that glows purple.
Footballs $29.95
Helmets $34.95
Exclusive design by JANDI'S
Open Mon.-Fri. 9-6, Sat. 9-5
715 N. 12th Aggieville
CALL 776-0840 or 1-800-645-0840

Domino's Pizza
Welcome Back KSU
776-7788
517 N. 12th
Serving KSU, all of Manhattan
Medium One Topping Pizza and 2 12 oz. Cokes
$5.99 +tax
Make it a large for $2 more
No coupon necessary; no limit.
Please mention special when ordering.
Add $1.00 for Deep Dish.
Additional Toppings Extra
FREE DELIVERY
SUN-THUR 11 AM - MIDNIGHT
FRI & SAT 11 AM - 1 AM
K STATE WILDCAT CARDS

Appleseed Art & Frame
Fine Art Prints/Custom Framing

"Guernica" Picasso
706 North 11th St. • Near Aggieville

IMPRESSIONS
HAIR DESIGN AND NAIL STUDIO
Welcomes you to K-State!

$5 OFF Bring this Ad
• Haircut w/ style
• Highlighting • Nails/Fills
• Body Massage
1129 Moro • Aggieville • 537-1332 REDKEN 5TH AVENUE NYC

ACE'S LIQUOR

2024 TUTTLE CREEK BLVD
MANHATTAN, KS 66502
785-776-4481
(NEXT TO DK DONUTS)
On the right side of Tuttle Creek on the way to the dam & stadium Hours: 9-11, Monday-Saturday
Closed Sunday

McCain
RODGER'S & HAMMERSTEIN'S THE KING & I
ORDER YOUR TICKETS TODAY!
Wednesday, August 26, 7:30 p.m.
Public: $38, $32, $26
Seniors: $36, $30, $24
Students: $19, $16, $13

"Based on a true story." These words often precede motion pictures, but we don't usually link Broadway musicals to real life. The King and I follows the story of Anna, an attractive English widow, who is hired by the King of Siam to teach Western ideas to the royal family. What follows is a mix of attraction and discovery between Anna and the King made famous in the musical that opened in Broadway in 1951 and became a hit motion picture starring Yul Brenner and Deborah Kerr in 1956. Songs include "Getting to Know You" and "Shall We Dance."
CALL MCCAIN AT 785-532-6428
You can charge your tickets to VISA, MasterCard, or Discover. Or stop by the box office, noon to 6 p.m. weekdays.
Corporate Sponsor: Commerce Bank

Tracking Internet pornography keeps KBI busy tracking criminals

The Associated Press

HUTCHINSON — Stumbling onto a pornographic web site on the Internet is one thing. Stock piling the images or befriending a child in a chatroom for a seedy rendezvous is criminal.

The spread of Internet access and affordability is keeping a small task force within the Kansas Bureau of Investigation busy. The team polices the Internet and shadows the activities businessmen, blue-collar workers and even police chiefs suspected of criminal intent.

In 1995, the KBI handled three child pornography cases. In 1996, there were 11, and last year, 19.

"The Internet has allowed ordinary people to have access to this material at an unprecedented level," said Kevin Pfeifer, KBI special agent in charge of the High Technology Crime Unit.

"Years ago they wouldn't dare go into a store and buy it. The Internet allows them anonymity to do it from home. We see that as the primary threat," Pfeifer said.

While people involved in computer child pornography may believe they are hidden in darkened offices and home work rooms, task forces like Pfeifer's have been trained to track the electronic flow of child pornography and the moves of potential predators on line. And they have learned to trap the perpetrators as easily as the perpetrators trap their victims.

The KBI task force uses forensic software to extract the evidence from computers as well, be it buried in files or deleted e-mail.

In one of the task force's most recent cases involving Hoisington Police Chief Phil Taylor, a co-worker told police Taylor had been seen viewing child pornography on a police department computer.

Taylor, who was named citizen of the year in 1996 in Hosington, was suspended with pay after the allegations were made in April. He was arrested in late July and charged with nine felony counts for allegedly possessing child pornography and sending it to others over the Internet. A trial date has not be set.

The KBI seized the computer as evidence, copied the hard drive, then searched it for illicit images. Pfeifer said he confiscated two computers and retrieved nearly four dozen pictures and deleted e-mail messages.

Taylor said the photos he was viewing were evidence in a pornography case being handled by the Hoisington Police Department.

In that sort of case, the computer's automatic record of the user's pattern of deleting files and e-mail messages can be helpful in proving the suspect's intent, Pfeifer said.

"If someone sent you one image and you deleted it, that doesn't necessarily imply criminal intent," Pfeifer said. "We're looking for multiple images that violate the state's sexual-exploitation-of-a-child law. If you sent the images to someone else, that would imply intent.

"Federal laws are pretty specific. To be convicted of possession of child porn, you have to knowingly possess it, there have to be three or more images involved, and it must have traveled within interstate boundaries."

In some larger cities and states, agents go undercover online to track down pedophiles by posing as children in chat rooms. The KBI's task force has not used that tact but is considering it, Pfeifer said.

The FBI started a similar program called Innocent Images to catch pedophiles after a 10-year-old boy was abducted in 1993, apparently by someone he met on the Internet, said Peter Gulotta, an FBI special agent in Baltimore and spokesman for Innocent Images. The boy is still missing.

Agents with Innocent Images go undercover online, usually in the guise of a young boy or girl, and look for pedophiles. Gulotta said it doesn't take long for pedophiles to hit on them.

"There's a bottomless pit out there of people willing to transmit child porn or travel to have sex with a kid," he said.

"To date, we've done 383 searches, arrested 197 people, and we have a 99 percent conviction rate because of the paper and computer trail these people leave."

Yeltsin reinstates former prime minister

■ Russian president fires Sergei Kiriyenko after only 5 months in office.

The Associated Press

MOSCOW — Boris Yeltsin fired Prime Minister Sergei Kiriyenko and the rest of his government on Sunday and said he was reappointing former Prime Minister Viktor Chernomyrdin.

The surprise announcement came as Kiriyenko and the government were struggling to overcome one of Russia's worst economic crises since the Soviet collapse.

The Russian president had fired Chernomyrdin and appointed the 35-year-old Kiriyenko in March, saying Russia needed new ideas and fresh leadership.

Kiriyenko had barely been approved by parliament when Russia's economy went into a tailspin, a victim of plunging world oil prices and the Asian economic crisis.

Since then, the young prime minister had been waging a losing battle to shore up the economy, defend the national currency and push reform measures through a hostile parliament dominated by communists and their allies.

Chernomyrdin, a Soviet-style bureaucrat who once headed the national gas monopoly, Gazprom, has busied himself since being fired by laying the groundwork for a presidential campaign in 2000.

Few political analysts think Chernomyrdin — a relatively bland and conservative figure strongly associated with an unpopular administration — could win, although he could probably count on some support from the business and banking establishment.

Kiriyenko had been busy holding meetings Sunday to work out measures to save Russia's banking system from default.

Yeltsin delivered the news in a terse announcement from his press service. He did not give any reason for the shift, but he has been under increasing pressure from parliament to replace the government.

Yeltsin delivered the news in a terse announcement from his press service. He did not give any reason for the shift, but he has been under inrcreasing pressure from parliament to replace the government.

The lower house of parliament, the State Duma, called Friday for Yeltsin's resignation, and all factions in parliament had also demanded that Kiriyenko step down or be fired.

"We can't afford the luxury of being a popular government," Kiriyenko told the Duma on Friday as he outlined the government's new austerity package.

His comments drew a chorus of boos and jeers.

AMERICAN FAMILY INSURANCE
AUTO HOME BUSINESS HEALTH LIFE
TIM ENGLE
"K-State Grad 88"
"Call Us For A Quote"
3320 Anderson 539-9200

Anthony Gonzales, Happy 22nd B-Day!
From your friends in Concordia, HamiltonNZ, Paola, Wichita, Herington, Osborne, Lawrence, Topeka & Joplin.
We love ya.....Daddio

Pregnancy Testing Center
539-3338
•Free pregnancy testing
•Totally confidential service
•Same day results
•Call for appointment
Located across from campus in Anderson Village
Mon.-Fri. 9 a.m.-5 p.m.

Back to School
All Haircuts $4
All services performed by students are under supervision of instructors.
Crum's beauty college
512 Poyntz Ave. 776-4794

Must purchase CD by August 31, 1998.
SUNFLOWER BANK
Lockett up with a Lockett CD from Sunflower Bank.
"Come in to any Sunflower Bank location during August and register to win a football autographed by me."
Kevin Lockett
Former K-State All American
Lock up a great interest rate on a Sunflower Bank 6-month LOCKETT CD
5.25%* APY
to start, and if the Kansas State Wildcats have a great year, you'll win, too! Lock up the higher rate effective 1/5/99.
Salina 785-827-5584 • Colby 785-462-3313 • Dodge City 316-225-0585
Ellinwood 316-564-2010 • Great Bend 316-792-2181
Hays 785-625-8888 • Junction City 785-238-3177
McPherson 316-241-1220 • Manhattan 785-537-0550
Osborne 785-346-2044 • Russell 785-483-6322
Victoria 785-735-2201 • Wichita 316-685-5441
* This Annual Percentage Yield is available at all Sunflower Bank locations through August 31, is accurate as of publication date and is subject to change. Minimum deposit of $5,000 is required and maximum deposit of $25,000 per household is permitted. Term is eight months and substantial penalty may be required for early withdrawal.
 APY adjusted for remainder of CD term only.
SOUTHWESTERN BELL COTTONBOWL CLASSIC
SUNFLOWER BANK
www.sunflowerbank.com
EQUAL HOUSING LENDER
FDIC

If the Cats win 6 games your Lockett CD's APY jumps to 5.75%
EFFECTIVE 1/5/99
If the Cats win 8 games your Lockett CD's APY rises to 6.00%
EFFECTIVE 1/5/99
If the Cats win a bowl game your Lockett CD's APY soars to 7.00%
EFFECTIVE 1/5/99
If the Cats are National Champs your Lockett CD's APY skyrockets to 8.00%
EFFECTIVE 1/5/99

Laundromat reopens

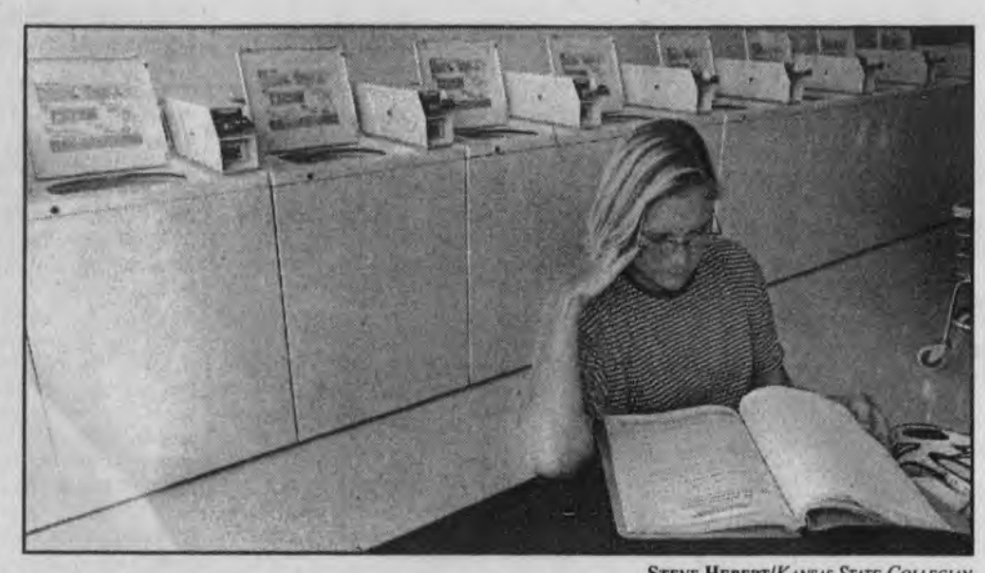
BY MATT KREPS
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

It took six months and more than $200,000, but Speed Wash Laundry in Aggieville is open again.

Owner Bob Fair said the decision to reopen was difficult at first. Debris from the Feb. 14 Aggieville fire damaged the roof of the building, forcing the business to close.

"The first thing I thought about was just going ahead and retiring," Fair said. "Then I wanted to go back. As it went on, I got to missing the customers."

Fair said the building did not suffer any smoke or water damage. However, the roof was destroyed by falling debris from the second story of the building that housed Club Karrington and Adventures International. The west wall also was torn down when the site was razed.



Insurance paid for nearly $120,000 of the renovation. Fair is financing the remainder of the work.

Fair said he turned the fire into an opportunity to upgrade his business. He sold the old washers and dryers to purchase new ones. He also made the building handicapped accessible compliant with the Americans With Disabilities Act compliant.

Fair said one of the hardest parts of rebuilding was ordering supplies. He still is waiting on more chairs for customers. Other items arrived before the building was ready.

"Some stuff comes in way before you want it," he said. "I had the wash machines a month before I was ready for them. I had to put them in the garage and park my car outside."

The most noticeable difference, however, is the front of the building. Fair said he was impressed with the brick front The Futon Store put on its building and wanted to do the same.

STEVE HEBERT/KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Sarah Hastings, Manhattan, catches up on some reading Sunday morning while waiting for her laundry at Speed Wash Laundry in Aggieville. The laundromat was damaged in the Feb. 14 Aggieville fire. After six months and more than $200,000, it has reopened.

"I thought it looked so nice, and it fits in with the character of Aggieville more with the 1920s brick," Fair said.

Fair isn't the only one improving Aggieville's appearance. Other building owners also are upgrading their facilities.

"I think they're changing Aggieville, I really do," Fair said of others who own property in Aggieville. "You've still got your bars, but there's a lot of other stuff, too. I think the area is going to get a lot better. I really do."

Fair said he hopes the students will return to Speed Wash when school starts. He has ordered chairs with desks attached so students can study while they do their laundry.

"A lot of students like to study until 10 or 11, and then they'll come down and have a beer and throw their wash in," Fair said. "They're on a different schedule than us old people."

A rose is a rose even when it's a bargain.
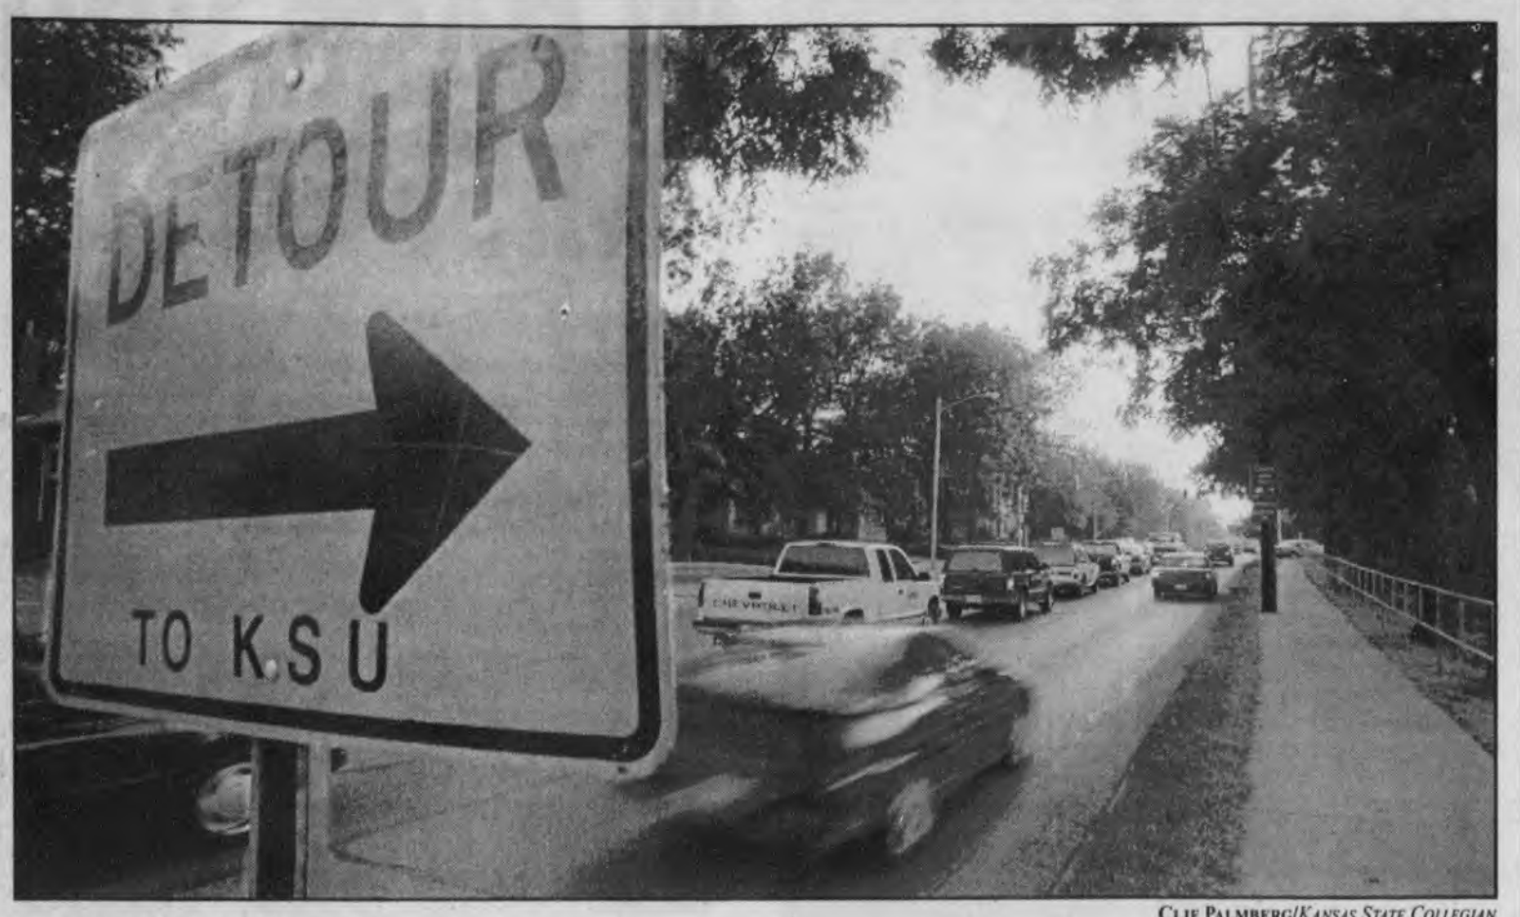
$11.99 per dozen
Westloop Floral
1-800-336-7973 1130 Westport Dr. (785)537-2845
Mon.-Fri. 8 a.m.-6 p.m. • Sat. 8 a.m.-5 p.m.

THE PURPLE PIG
EST. 1886
The Purple Pig
Manhattan's Beer Tavern
424 Houston St. - Downtown
Monday 75¢ Draws
539-7444
OPEN 4 P.M. TILL MIDNIGHT, MON.-SAT.

JOBS
Starting at $7.00 per hour
PART-TIME
Help needed to take inventory in retail stores. Average 10-12 hours on weekends. Weekday daytime hours are also available. Averaging 25+ hours.
Apply in person
Landon's Room, Ramada Inn
Friday, Aug. 28
at Noon, 1:30 p.m., 3 p.m., and 4:30 p.m.
Interviews start promptly.
Doors will close after 5 minutes.

Buying Books Again?
Let Us Help.
new donors:
Earn $75 in 3 donations
return donors:
Earn $15-$20
each donation
Nabi
Manhattan Biomedical Center
1130 Garden Way • Mon. & Thurs.. 9 a.m. - 7 p.m., Tues. & Wed. 9 a.m. - 6:30 p.m., Fri. 9 a.m. - 5 p.m., Sat. 8 a.m. - 1 p.m. • 776-9177



Welcome Back
Students and Faculty
COTTONWOOD RACQUET CLUB
offers:
3 indoor/3 outdoor Tennis Courts•2 Racquetball courts•Free Weights & Machines•Treadmill/ Bicycles/Stepper•Pro-Shop with Racquet Stringing•Whirlpool & Sauna•Sports Massage Therapy•Family, Single and Student Memberships
3615 Claflin 776-6060
(West on Claflin at Hudson)

The Men of ATΩ
would like to welcome everyone back and hope that you all have a fun and sucessful semester!
Alpha Tau Omega • Alpha Tau Omega • Alpha Tau Omega

·Miniature Golf
·Driving Range
·Sand Volleyball
·Arcade Games
*All Facilities lighted.
Batting Cages
Slow Pitch Softball
45, 55, 65, MPH Baseball
9 HOLE GOLF COURSE
Green Fees:
$8 (9 holes)
$12 (18 holes)
Carts available
Mon. & Tues. special!
2 9 hole Greens & a fart $20
*Golf course is not lighted WILDCAT CREEK
sports center
3639 Anderson Ave.
539-PLAY
Sun.-Thur. 7 a.m.-11 p.m. Fri. & Sat. 7 a.m.-12 a.m.

Don't Get Lost in the Mail!
The K-State Office of Student Financial Assistance wants to remind you to KEEP YOUR ADDRESSES UPDATED WITH THE UNIVERSITY. If your LOCAL, PERMANENT, EMERGENCY and BILLING (optional) addresses are not kept current, you may miss your financial aid refund checks ($$$), your grade reports, important financial aid paperwork, your tuition bill (boooo), etc. Your LOCAL, PERMANENT and EMERGENCY addresses are maintained by the Registrar's Office in 118 Anderson Hall. Your BILLING address is maintained by the University Cashiers Office in 212 Anderson Hall.
There are a number of ways to update your addresses:
• Write a letter
• Send it in Morse Code
• Drop it by the Registrars or Cashiers Office
• Hire a plane to write it in the sky
• Go on-line with KATS at http://kats.ksu.edu
• Send a singing telegram
Seriously, keeping your addresses current is VERY IMPORTANT! And it is SO EASY now that you can log onto KATS and get it done. Just think, if mail is returned to the University by the Post Office as undeliverable to your LOCAL address, then it will be sent to your PERMANENT address and it may not be something you want your parents to see!!!

Party on the Patio
Aggieville's Premier Country Bar
LONGHORNS
BAR & GRILL
Doors open at 7 p.m.
Welcome Back Students!
Tuesday LET'S DRAW!
50¢ DRAWS! $1.50 mixed drinks
Wednesday LADIES NIGHT $1 BOTTLES
No cover for the ladies
Thursday DRINK UP! $1 Wells, $1.75 Bottles
Friday TGIF PARTY
No cover 21 & over
$4pitchers
Saturday GAME DAY
Party Headquarters
1115 Moro
Aggieville, USA
18 & Over
776-8770

Clif Palmberg/Kansas State Collegian

ROLLIN' DOWN THE STREET

Traffic along Anderson Avenue has been backed up due to recent improvements to storm sewers along the street. An expansion of the thoroughfare is scheduled to begin next year.

Parking spaces can become hot commodity on campus

■ Fifty new parking stalls bring campus-wide total to 10,600 spaces.

By Andrew D. Wimmer
Kansas State Collegian

The 10,600 stalls that Parking Services maintains will be hot commodities the first few days of the fall semester.

Darwin Abbott, director of Parking Services, said 50 new parking stalls were added south of Marlatt Hall during the summer. All of the lot maintenance has been completed, but traffic flow might be constricted by construction along Anderson Avenue.

Last week, Parking Services sold parking passes in both Kramer and Derby Food Centers and at the K-State Student Union. Abbott said students have plenty of opportunities to buy parking passes at Edwards Hall.

"Students don't have to decide right now whether or not they want to park on campus," he said.

"They can wait for a while and see how things go. We sell them later on at a prorated price, so you can buy whenever."

Parking Services is willing to work with students, Abbott said.

"What students don't realize is that we really want to work with them if they have a special need," Abbott said. "For instance, if they need to park on campus for a couple of days, we can arrange that."

Abbott said all students should read the map that accompanies their parking passes.

"Students sometimes park farther away from their classes then they have to," Abbott said. "They can save themselves a lot of time and frustration by using some of the under-utilized lots on campus."

Abbott said that in the near future, K-State will begin looking into ways to accommodate the anticipated lack of available parking spaces. The university and the city of Manhattan are working with a transportation manager in developing possible solutions to alleviate any potential problems.

Abbott said student input is welcomed by Parking Services. There will be a forum Sept. 16 in McCain Auditorium for students to discuss the creation of an improved campus-parking system with Parking Services and the transportation manager.

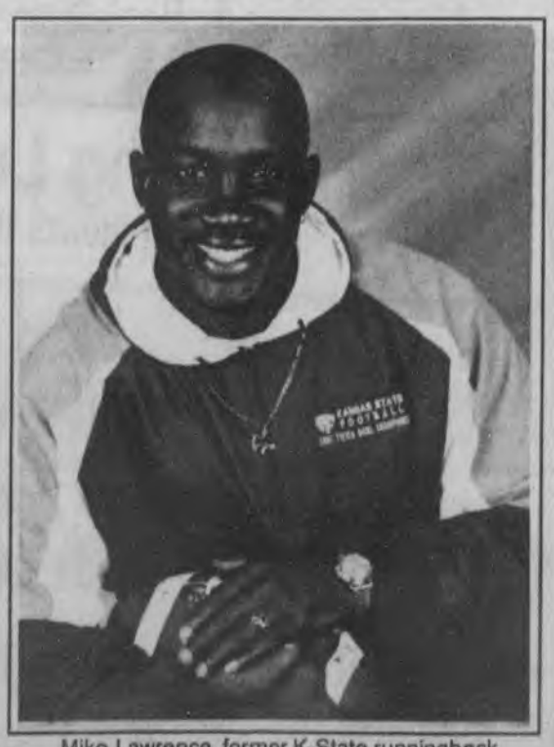
collegian.ksu.edu

Back to School Savings
Come in and receive special savings on all your back to school needs!
NEW!
• cool Art Stuff line
• Antibacterial line
MENTION THIS AD!
Bath & Body Works
Manhattan Town Center

JAVA
Espresso • Bakery
Sandwiches Soups Salads Fresh Baked Goods
Monday–Friday 6:30 a.m.–midnight Saturday 7 a.m.–midnight Sunday 8 a.m.–midnight
1219 Moro • Aggieville • 587.8888

PIZZA SHUTTLE DELIVERS
776-5577
1800 Claflin Road

BIG DAWG MARINA
Tuttle Creek Lake
Spillway
Marina Road
Manhattan, Kansas
776-3113
Pontoon Boat Rentals (2)
Kawasaki Water Bike Rentals



Western Auto
YOUR TOTAL
AUTOMOTIVE HEADQUARTERS!!
*Complete Line of Automotive Accessories and High Performance Parts
*Discount Auto Parts
*Professional Installation Available
*Convenient Store Hours
*Fast, Friendly Service
Western Auto
MANHATTAN, KANSAS
The Auto Supply Company
539-0535
Tuttle Creek Blvd. & Kimball Ave.
Next to Food Pride
LOW DISCOUNT PRICES EVERY DAY OF THE WEEK

"Welcome Student Wildcats"
Save 50% on straw hats: Resistol, Stetson, & Beaver Brands
Levi's starting at $29.95
Cinch jeans $38.50 red & green label
Wrangler jeans for ladies now for $29.88
Wranglers starting at $20.99 & up
Lee jeans
Selected ladies blouses ½ price
Mens long sleeved & short sleeved shirts now 50% off (selected styles)
Rocky Mountain jeans for ladies $34.88 all styles
Your Low Priced Western Store
LEE'S WESTERN WEAR
2 ½ mi. E on 24 Hwy (Next to Manhattan Comm. Co.& Sale Barn Cafe)
8426 E Hwy 24
(785)776-6715
Mon.-Fri. 10 a.m.-6 p.m.
Thurs. 10 a.m.-8 p.m.
Sat. 10 a.m.-5:30 p.m.

Danenberg Jewelers
YOUR HEADQUARTERS FOR OFFICIALLY LICENSED KANSAS STATE FINE JEWELRY Open Monday thru Saturday 9:30-5:30
at 425 Poyntz Avenue
Across from the Courthouse
Downtown Manhattan, KS
785-776-7821

actual size

Mike Lawrence, former K-State runningback

PUMPS • LOCKS • HELMETS • COMPUTERS • TOOLS
HIT THE TRAIL SALE
HIKING BOOTS • WHEELS • TIRES • GLOVES
WATER BOTTLES & CAGES • V BRAKE
• North Face
• Jansport
• Eagle Creek
Padded Backs and Shoulder Straps
Waist Belts • Organizer Pockets
All Models Feature Lifetime Warranty
THE NORTH FACE
the PATHFINDER
OUTDOOR EQUIPMENT SPECIALISTS
304 Poyntz, Downtown Manhattan
539-5639
Established in 1975 • Open Until 7 Mon.-Wed. and Thurs. Until 8 p.m.
BACKPACKS • FANNY PACKS • MOUNTAIN BIKES • U-LOCKS
Come see the Schwinn Bicycle Stunt Show, Sept. 4 at the Purple Power Play on Poyntz!

Kenneth Sloniker (right) and Nancy Wheeler (left), both of Independence, dance to the final song of the country group Ricochet during Country Stampede at Tuttle Creek Lake State Park this summer.

IN CASE YOU MISSED IT

While most of the student population left Manhattan for the summer, news continued to happen in the Little Apple

STORY BY ANGELA KISTNER
COLLEGIAN FILE PHOTOS

FORT RILEY COMES TO THE RESCUE IN ELEVATOR BLAST

Four members of the 82nd Medical Company rescued a man trapped inside the DeBruce Grain Company elevator that exploded June 9 in Haysville.

A member of the crew was lowered 40 feet from a helicopter to rescue the worker.

Fort Riley is the only facility besides the National Guard in Topeka capable of performing this kind of rescue.

Although the rescue might have seemed extraordinary to the public, Chief Warrant Officer Todd Clark downplayed its significance.

"Historically, I think that every crew member in this unit has done more difficult missions than this that don't get the recognition," Clark said.

COLBERT HILLS BREAKS GROUND

Ground was broken June 15 on a golf course named for Jim Colbert, K-State alumnus and a member of the Professional Golfers' Association and Senior PGA tours.

The 18-hole golf course will cover 7,400 yards, have a separate nine-hole teaching course, a clubhouse and a driving range. It also will be the home course for the men's and women's golf teams, and will provide internship opportunities for students in golf course management.

Colbert Hills will be the first collegiate golf course to be managed by the PGA.

The golf course is scheduled to be finished in spring 2000.

NEW BUSINESS BREAKS GROUND

Sykes Enterprises Manhattan Customer Support Center conducted its groundbreaking June 16.

The Customer Support Center is the first of many businesses in the new Manhattan-Riley County Business Park, off Wildcat Creek Road.

Mayor Steve Hall said the Customer Support Center will provide 432 new jobs in Manhattan, create new career opportunities and broaden the community's tax base.

COUNTRY STAMPEDE RETURNS TO MANHATTAN

The third annual Country Stampede brought thousands of country music fans to Tuttle Creek State Park June 25-28.

LeAnn Rimes, Clint Black, Sawyer Brown and Bryan White were just a few of the country music stars who entertained thousands of screaming fans that weekend.

There were no serious problems or injuries at the Stampede, but there were many heat-related problems, Larry Couchman, coordinator for Emergency Medical System, said.

Couchman said his people were prepared for the heat, however.

"I am very pleased with the way things went. Of all three years, this was the smoothest-running year," Couchman said.

STORMS CAUSE DAMAGE TO MANHATTAN

Two severe thunderstorms brought heavy rains and hail to Manhattan, damaging many street lights and cars.

A June 10 storm caused damage between $400,000 and $500,000 to vehicles at Dick Edwards Ford, sales manager Lou Enoch said.

The most significant damage to the city was to 75 street-light globes destroyed by hail.

The K-State Gardens also were hit by hail, damaging many plants and breaking window panes.

A second severe thunderstorm June 29 didn't bring hail, but winds up to 60 mph knocked down several power lines and trees.

CAMPUS THEATRE CLOSES

Students returning to Manhattan for fall classes won't be able to save money at the movies by going to the dollar theater in Aggieville.

Aggieville's Campus Theatre closed its doors July 16. Workers started tearing out the seats and screen the next day.

"It's difficult for single-screen theaters to generate profit," said Fred Vannoy, vice president and general manager of Carmike Cinemas.

The Campus Theatre closed its doors to customers July 16 and started tearing out the seats and screen the next day. The loss of the Campus Theatre leaves residents with no dollar theater options in Manhattan.

Four members of the 82nd Medical Company at Fort Riley rescued a man trapped on top of the DeBruce Grain Company elevator after it exploded on June 9 in Haysville.

Six-year-old Phaunel Stenzel is splashed with water by a passing car while holding her sign that says "Splash us Please" at the corner of Fifth and Osage streets after a summer thunderstorm.

WHAT YOU WORKED ALL SUMMER LONG FOR...
Rad-A-Tat TATTOO & BODY PIERCING

PrimeTime Video
2 for 1 Video Rentals or DVDs!
1122 Laramie
539-4467
Rent ANY movie, get a second of equal or lesser value for FREE!!
Good Mon. - Thurs. Exp. 9-30-98

CLAUSSEN'S CUSTOM DESIGN & REPAIR
One of a kind engagement rings or wedding sets. Custom design matching wedding sets. Shop for the most competitve prices in town.
CLAUSSEN'S
Custom Design & Repair
537-6884 • 410 Poyntz Avenue
Mon.-Fri. 9-6, Saturday by Appointment

Cyclone of the Day
A Different Flavor Everyday!
$1.49
All other flavors, other than the FLAVOR OF THE DAY, are $1.99!
CYCLONE: (ci-klon) noun- The Vistacreme treat. 16 oz. of pure satisfaction, made with 95% fat free VistaCreme (soft serve Ice Creme) and your favorite candy or fruit flavor. Not to be confused with Blizzard which is just cold air in your face and more costly as well.
Vista DRIVE IN
1911 Tuttle Creek Blvd
Manhattan Town Center Food Court

Now Serving Lunch & Dinner
Students 10% off food
TONIGHT 50¢ DOMESTIC DRAWS
TUESDAY STEAK NIGHT 8 oz. $6.95
(served with Rosemary potatoes & corn)
2 FOR 1 WELLS (OR $1.25 EACH)
DUGLAS OUT OF BOUNDS SPORTS BAR & GRILL
1129 Laramie 537-4045

DEADLINES

Classified ads must be placed by noon the day before you want your ad to run. Classified display ads must be placed by 4 p.m. two working days prior to the date you want your ad to run. CALL 532-6555

CLASSIFIEDS

000 BULLETIN BOARD

010

Announcements

ADVANCED FLIGHT TRAINING from 7,500 hour ATP instructor. Private single-engine through ATP multiengine. Hugh Irvin, 539-3128 evenings.

BIG DAWG Marina has Jet skis and pontoon boats for rent. 776-3113.

DISCOVER SCUBA: Complete lessons, low cost, college credit available. Aggie Dive Shop, 539-DIVE

FREE FOOTBALL tickets. Register at Mr. P's Party Outlet, 318 Poyntz Ave.

LEARNTO FLY! K-State Flying Club has five airplanes, lowest rates. For information call 537-8406.

020

Lost and Found

Found ads can be placed free for three days.

LOST: MEN'S gold wedding band on August 17th. Engraved on inside "To infinity" Reward if found. 776-0914.

100 HOUSING/REAL ESTATE

Manhattan City Ordinance 4814 assures every person equal opportunity in housing without distinction on account of race, sex, familial status, military status, disability, religion, age, color, national origin or ancestry. Violations should be reported to the Director of Human Resources at City Hall, 587-2440.

105

For Rent- Apts. Furnished

ONE-BEDROOM BASEMENT, fireplace, walk to campus. Quiet, gas and water paid. No pets, no smoking. Lease, $250 deposit, $325/ month. 537-3737

TWO-BEDROOM BASEMENT apartment. Close to campus, $450, all utilities paid except cable television. 776-1214.

TWO-BEDROOM FURNISHED apartment. New carpet, microwave, close to campus, $550, all utilities paid except cable television. 776-1214.

UNIVERSITY COMMONS. Available: fully furnished, individual leases, washer/ dryer in each unit, roommate matching service, pool, sand vollleyball, lighted tennis and basketball courts, monitored security, reserved parking. No appointment necessary. M-F 9a.m.- 6p.m., 10a.m.- 4p.m., 539-0500.

110

For Rent- Apt. Unfurnished

A THREE-BEDROOM, spacious, one-half block to KSU, central air and heat, pets OK, $540, 776-8455.

ACROSS STREET from campus, four-bedroom, appliances, central air/heat off-street parking. 539-2632.

AUGUST FREE! Two-bedroom, spacious, dishwasher, $395-$425. 776-8455.

Chase Manhattan Apartments

1,2,3, or 4 person occupancy. Short term leases available. Water and Trash paid. Discounted cable package HBO, Encore, and Expanded Basic.

Call us Today 776-3663

AVAILABLE NOW. Studio and one-bedrooms, some furnished. Most utilities paid. Clean and quiet, central locations, some pets accepted. 537-8389.

FOUR-BEDROOM CLOSE to campus, two bath, dishwasher, central air/heat, water/trash paid. Free laundry, good price. 537-2255 or 537-7810.

FOUR-BEDROOM, TWO bath 1300 square feet. Water/ trash paid. Discounted cable with HBO. 776-3663.

NOW LEASING one to four-bedroom apartments/ houses now. Call Alliance Property Management. 539-4357 for current list.

THREE-BEDROOM, AUGUST free, washer/ dryer, huge, $540. 776-8455.

MOVE IN TODAY & 4 Bedrooms All close to campus

ABBOTT management, inc.

all 776-1340

WOODWAY APARTMENTS

STOP!

DO NOT RENT AN APARTMENT UNTIL YOU CONSIDER THIS!

- Sparkling swimming pool
- Spacious decks/patios
- Avail. June 5 Aug. 6
- Kitchen Appliances include microwave and dishwasher
- On site laundry facilities
- Economical gas heat

3 BDRM, 2 BATH $714, $723
4 BDRM, 2 BATH $836, $856

Office: 2400 Kimball Ave. at College Ave. (Across from Bramlage) Call Sara at 537-7007 for an appointment.

THREE-BEDROOM, TWO bath apartment available for August. Very spacious. Dishwasher, microwave, pool, laundry and carports. Call Sara at 537-7007.

TWO, THREE and four-bedroom apartments water/ trash paid, discounted cable with HBO. Going fast. 776-3663.

UNIVERSITY TERRACE APARTMENTS. College Ave. Large three-bedroom apartments with washer, dryer hook-ups. 537-2096.

120

For Rent- Houses

1106 KEARNEY- one and one-half blocks from campus. Three-bedrooms, one bath, kitchen, living room, washer and dryer hookups. Available September 1, 1998, $650/ month. Century 21 Knight Real Estate, 537-2111.

ONE- OR TWO-BEDROOM, living room with hardwood floors. Walk to class. No pets, smoking, drinking. $350 plus utilities. 539-1554.

TWO, TWO-BEDROOM houses available. One located in town and one in country. Stove, refrigerator, air-conditioning. No pets. 539-1975 or (785) 396-4344.

130

For Rent- Mobile Homes

MALE ROOMMATE wanted. Three-bedroom trailer in a quiet neighborhood. No smoking, no pets. $225 a month plus utilities. 776-6147.

135

For Sale- Mobile Homes

1982 OAKBROOK Mobile home. 14'X56', two bedroom, corner lot, all appliances included. Call Jason at 537-3769.

145

Roommate Wanted

FEMALE ROOMMATE sharing a two-bedroom apartment. Non-smoker. Water and trash paid for. $212 rent. Contact Brandi at (785) 387-2206.

FEMALE ROOMMATE to share NICE two-bedroom apartment across from college. $260 a month. 776-4891.

FEMALE ROOMMATE, non-smoker for two-bedroom mobile home. Furnished, $155 plus one-half KPL. 587-0157.

Available Now
Clean Roomy 2 Bedroom, 1½ Bath in 9 plex. No Pets, 1 yr. lease. $400/month. 3032 Kimball Call Kay @ 539-8846

FEMALE ROOMMATE to share newly remodeled three-bedroom house with laundry facilities, close to KSU stadium and rec center; $250/ month plus one-third utilities; 776-1926, ask for Sarah.

MALE AG majors desire roommate. $200/ month plus utilities, August lease available. Close to campus and Aggieville. No smoking/ drinking. Call 770-9072.

MALE NEEDED for furnished basement. Washer/ dryer without meter. No smoking, drinking, or pets. Walk to class. 539-1554

QUIET, RESPONSIBLE graduate student looking for non-smoking, non-drinking roommate for small two-bedroom house just outside of town. Call 539-4135 or 776-5716.

ROOMMATE WANTED- University Terrace Apartments- $175/ month plus one-third utilities, non-smoking. 770-9665.

200 SERVICE DIRECTORY

255

Other Services

YOUNG STUDENT mother wants to get back into shape. Needs someone to help train and motivate. Requires fitness knowledge, must have access to KSU Rec Center/ Natatorium. Please send letter of interest ASAP to Box 1, Collegian.

300 EMPLOYMENT/OPPORTUNITIES

310

Help Wanted

$800 WEEKLY POTENTIAL. Processing Government refunds at home. No experience necessary. 1-800-696-4779- Ext. 1608.

Manhattan City Ordinance 4814 assures every person equal opportunity in securing and holding employment in any field of work or labor for which he/ she is properly qualified regardless of race, sex, military status, disability, religion, age, color, national origin or ancestry. Violations should be reported to the Director of Human Resources at City Hall, 587-2441.

The Collegian cannot verify the financial potential of advertisements in the Employment/Career classification. Readers are advised to approach any such employment opportunity with reasonable caution. The Collegian urges our readers to contact the Better Business Bureau, 501 SE Jefferson, Topeka, KS 66607-1190. (785)232-0454.

BABYSITTER, 4-6 p.m. Monday-Thursday. Must have car. 539-6643.

BABYSITTING OPPORTUNITY. Seeking reliable child care in home for Monday, Wednesday, Friday- 537-9092.

BOCKERS II Catering now hiring immediately for banquet wait staff and bartenders. Evenings and weekends. Apply 2321 Skyvue Lane, or see us at the Job Fair, KSU Union Tuesday 9a.m. - 4p.m.

BREADEAUX PIZZA: Day help, evening and weekend drivers. Breadeaux Pizza, 3033 Anderson. 537-5080.

COMPUTER INFORMATION Specialist, Dept. of Agricultural Economics, KSU– Part-time to Full-time position responsible for providing computer software support on basic PC software applications (spreadsheet, word processing, and database programs) and specialized software programs used in economic and statistical analysis, and creating and maintaining databases. Qualificatons: B.S. degree in economics, computer science, information systems, statistics, business, or other field which involves the manipulation and analysis of quantitative data; demonstrated proficiency in the use of basic PC software applications; and the proven ability to develop and manage large databases. Applicants are requested to submit a letter of application, resume, and arrange for three letters of reference to Dan Bernardo, Dept. of Agricultural Economics, 342 Waters Hall, Kansas State University, Manhattan, KS 66506-4011. Deadline for applications is September 10, 1998. For further information, call (785) 532-6702.

Baskin 31 Robbins

Baskin Robbins is taking applications to fill full & part-time positions. Must be able to work days & nights.

Apply at 1201 Westloop

Baskin 31 Robbins

DELIVERY DRIVERS . Gambino's Pizza now hiring drivers. Must be 18, own dependable car. Apply in person at 2708 Anderson. Base wage, tips and delivery fees.

FAMILY-OPERATED SWINE and crop farm 25 miles northeast of Manhattan needs full or part-time help. (785) 457-2873 days, (785) 457-3562 evenings.

FARM HELP wanted. Experience necessary. Will work around class schedule. (785) 457-3452 or (785) 457-3713 evenings.

Work & Ski in California

SUGAR BOWL

Sugar Bowl Ski Resort, Located on historic Donner Summit, near Lake Tahoe, CA., is now hiring for the 98/99 ski season. Variety of full-time positions available. Come see us at the KSU Job Fair, Tues., Aug. 25 or visit our website at www.sugarbowl.com.

HELP WANTED. Earn up to $375 weekly assembling MEDICAL ID CARDS at home. Immediate openings, your area. Call 1-520-505-4411 Ext. D588.

HELP WANTED: Mr. P's Party Outlet, 318 Poyntz. Please see Pat or Walt.

ITALIAN RESTARUANT: day, night dish washer, kitchen help wanted. 539-9300.

JANITOR NEEDED: Part-time, 5:00 a.m.- 11 a.m. Needs to be self-motivated, dependable and hard-working with an eye for detail. Apply in person Mon-Fri, 8:00 a.m.- 4:00 p.m., Manhattan Country Club, 1531 N. 10th.

KITCHEN HELP wanted. Apply at 1213 Moro, Manhattan, KS.

MOTIVATED OUTGOING individual to help business get off the ground. Set your own hours, work from home. Great experience for marketing majors. Wages based on productivity, no experience required. Please send resume to P.O. Box 28, Sabetha, KS 66534 by September 7th.

PART AND Full-time landscaping jobs. 776-1930.

PART-TIME EMPLOYMENT- Want a GREAT part-time job, working on a GREAT team, in a GREAT on-campus location? Derby, Kramer, and Van Zile Dining Centers are hiring KSU students for service and custodial positions. Beginning pay $5.30 per hour. Raises scheduled. Very flexible, you chose the times you want to work. Morning, noon, evening, and weekend hours available. Apply in person between the hours of 9:00 a.m.-4:00 p.m. at Derby Dining Center(room 129), Kramer Dining Center (hiring office), or Van Zile Dining Center (foodservice office). AA/EOE.

PART-TIME lifeguards needed through October 4. Apply in person, Manhattan Country Club. 1531 N. 10th. Must have up to date certifications.

PROGRAMMER- NETWORKS Plus, the leader in providing business and government computer services has openings for both full and half-time positions. Experience in database environments required. Salary range $25,000 - $50,000 plus bonuses and benefits. E-mail resume to Morgan@networksplus.com in text or MS Word format.

SPRING BREAK '99— Sell Trips, Earn Cash & Go Free! STS is now hiring campus reps. Lowest rates to Jamaica, Mexico and Florida. Call 800-648-4849 or apply online at www.ststravel.com

STORE CLERK: 2 - 3 weeknights 5:30 - 11p.m. Saturday afternoons 12:00 - 5:30 p.m. Cash register experience helpful. Contact Jeff, 537-7229.

STUDENT HELP needed 2a.m.- 6a.m. every other day. Apply Printing Services, 10 Kedzie.

TUTORING HIGH school students for K-State's Upward Bound Math and Science Program. Contact: Lynne Davy at 532-6374 for application.

WE'RE LOOKING for a piano teacher for beginner lessons. Leave a message 537-4667.

320

Volunteers Needed

BE A friend to someone who needs you. Volunteer for Compeer. Call Pawnee Mental Health Services. 587-4333.

340

Fundraisers/ Scholarships

KAUFFMAN ENTREPRENEURSHIP INTERNSHIP PROGRAM—Internships are immediately available for Fall 1998. Interns will: work 15-20 hours/ week with local business, receive 3 hours of undergraduate course credit, earn minimum wage pay, receive scholarship (for tuition reimbursement), and gain excellent opportunity to learn from successful mentor. Send or bring letter of application and resume by August 31 to: Dr. Brian Niehoff or Dr. Donita Whitney-Bammerlin, Department of Management, Calvin Hall Room 101, College of Business Administration, or call 532-6296.

400 OPEN MARKET

410

Items for Sale

ANTIQUES, COLLECTIBLES, tools, books, furniture, estate jewelry, beer signs, thousands of curious goods. Time Machine Antique Maul and Flea Market. 4910 Skyway Dr. between Briggs and airport. 539-4684.

MARY KAY

define Your style

With color cosmetics from Mary Kay, we can create a look that complements your lifestyle and is as individual as you are. It's easy. Just call me today for your free consultation.

Paula Smith
INDEPENDENT BEAUTY CONSULTANT
Toll free 1-877-788-2899
E-mail Psenterp@aol.com
Web page: www.mkinet.com/12/psmith4.html

FOR SALE: Color printer, Java software, answering machine, two tents, Star Trek collectibles, photographer's easel. 537-2497 Russ.

QUEEN SIZE waterbed, 70%, lawnmower 20", coffee/ end tables, electric grill, aquarium with kit, lots of miscellaneous. Desk calculator, printer, deep fryer, answering machine. (785) 494-2190.

500 TRANSPORTATION

510

Automobiles

1993 PONTIAC Grand Am. $4500. Evenings. 537-9019

1995 KSU purple Ford Ranger, excellent condition, CD player, 31,000 miles, 5-speed. Blue Book $12,500 asking $9500. Rochelle- 776-1453, leave message.

Jazz(up) Your Life with the Collegian Classifieds

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN
103 KEDZIE 532-6555

Classes starting to get you down?

Don't sweat it! Find a tutor in the Collegian's Classifieds.

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN
103 KEDZIE 532-6555

Move In Immediately & Pay NO Aug. Rent!

TATTARAX APARTMENTS

- Close to campus & Aggieville
- Hardwood floors
- 4 bedroom - 2 person occupancy avail.
- $700/mo. ($465/mo. for 2 people)

CALL ABOUT OUR MOVE-IN SPECIAL!
CALL 776-3804

Managed by: McCullough Development

http://www.mdiproperties.com

Move In IMMEDIATELY & Pay NO Aug. Rent!

- 2 Bedroom Units 1 & 2 person rates avail.
- Brittany Ridge Townhomes 3 & 4 person rates avail.

Call About Our Move-In Specials!

776-3804

McCullough Development

Drowning in your Sorrows?

Find your lifesaver in the personals.

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN
103 Kedzie 532-6555

ClassifiedRATES

1 DAY
20 words or less $7.15
each word over 20 $.20 per word

2 DAYS
20 words or less $8.40
each word over 20 $.25 per word

3 DAYS
20 words or less $9.45
each word over 20 $.30 per word

4 DAYS
20 words or less $10.20
each word over 20 $.35 per word

5 DAYS
20 words or less $10.70
each word over 20 $.40 per word
(consecutive day rate)

HOW TO PAY
All classifieds must be paid in advance unless you have an account with Student Publications Inc. Cash, check, MasterCard or Visa are accepted. There is a $10 service charge on all returned checks. We reserve the right to edit, reject or properly classify any ad.

FREE FOUND ADS
As a service to you, we run found ads for three days free of charge.

CORRECTIONS
If you find an error in your ad, please call us. We accept responsibility only for the first wrong insertion.

CANCELLATIONS
If you sell your item before your ad has expired, we will refund you for the remaining days. You must call us before noon the day before the ad is to be published.

HEADLINES
For an extra charge, we'll put a headline above your ad to catch the reader's attention.

000 BULLETIN BOARD
100 HOUSING/REAL ESTATE
200 SERVICE DIRECTORY
300 EMPLOYMENT/OPPORTUNITIES
400 OPEN MARKET
500 TRANSPORTATION
600 TRAVEL/TRIPS

TO PLACE AN AD
Go to Kedzie 103 (across from the K-State Student Union). Office hours are Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. The office is open except on holidays.

Alcohol-related fatalities in 1997 a record low

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

WASHINGTON— The percentage of traffic fatalities caused by drunken driving dropped to a record low in 1997 but still made up for more than one-third of automobile deaths, the government said last week.

The Department of Transportation reported 16,189 alcohol-related traffic deaths in 1997, 38.6 percent of the total. That was a decrease of about 1,000 deaths from 1996, when drunken driving was responsible for 40.9 percent of the 42,065 traffic deaths. In 1982, 57.3 percent of the 43,945 fatalities were alcohol-related.

The administration hailed the figures as evidence that measures, such as zero-tolerance laws for young drivers, have helped curb drunken driving.

But officials stressed that more needs to be done.

"This is good news, but we must continue to do more to ensure that this decline continues," President Clinton said.

"A strong message and tough laws are bringing about an important change in society's attitude toward drunken driving, but we must continue our efforts to reduce the number of these tragedies even further," Transportation Secretary Rodney Slater said. The department has set a goal of reducing alcohol-related traffic deaths to 11,000 annually by 2005.

For the first time since record-keeping began in 1975, alcohol-related deaths were below 40 percent of all traffic fatalities. Drunken-driving deaths among teens aged 15 to 20 dropped 5 percent from 2,324 in 1996 to 2,209 in 1997, according to data by the department's National Highway Traffic Safety Administration.

Clinton has encouraged states to lower their drunken-driving threshold to a 0.08 blood-alcohol concentration and authorized $500 million in grants as an incentive for states to adopt the standard. Only 15 states have done so.

Getting all states to lower their limit would be an important step in helping to ensure that the numbers keep decreasing, said Judith Stone, president of Advocates for Highway and Auto Safety.

"We have to keep up these aggressive efforts; otherwise, we'll see the numbers go in the other direction," Stone said. "We can't rest on our laurels."

Activists also credited implementation of zero-tolerance by all 50 states for reducing drunken driving among young drivers. These laws permit suspension of driver's licenses of people under 21 who are found to be driving after drinking.

"By passing tough laws, states are sending a strong message to teen-aged drivers: It's not cool and it's not legal to drink," NHTSA administrator Ricardo Martinez said.

Groups highlighted possible steps that could further reduce the number of drunken-driving deaths. Stone cited laws that would require repeat offenders to pass a breathalyzer test before starting their cars. Some states also have adopted measures that allow them to impound the cars of drunken drivers.

Other findings

Other findings of the fatality analysis report include:

The highest percentage of drunken driving deaths, 49.8 percent, was among 21- to 34-year olds. The lowest, 5.9 percent, was among drivers 75 and older.

Of the 957 drinking drivers under age 21 who were killed in traffic crashes, the majority, 792, were killed in crashes at night..

Nude dancing is tiny town's only industry

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

KAPPA, Ill. — The brightly lit "Adult Dancing" sign outside the Kappa Cabana easily dwarfs the plain green, state-issued road marker declaring the town's population a mere 150.

That seems fitting, considering that as far as industry goes, nude dancing dwarfs anything else Kappa has to offer. The Kappa Cabana is the only employer in town besides Tee-Ser's Lounge, another strip club. There is no pharmacy, no gas station, no coffee shop.

Stripping isn't an industry most Kappa residents want to be known for, though. Neighbors protested when the old Kappa Tap and Grill reopened in July as the Kappa Cabana. They signed petitions and talked about pooling money to buy the property from owner Mark Koch.

"People get upset if they have a funeral home close to their home. They get upset if a school is nearby because of the added traffic," Leo Ghantous, a lawyer for the Kappa Cabana, said. "You're not going to be able to please everybody all of the time."

Kappa is a clutch of homes about a 10-minute highway drive from the grocery stores, car washes and fast-food restaurants in the twin cities of Bloomington and Normal. The only reason anyone would get off the highway here is to go home — or visit a strip bar.

Only a minute down the road from the Cabana is Tee-Ser's, which opened in 1993. The cover charge is $10 — $5 more than its competitor — but the bartender assures "it's worth every penny."

Besides nude dancing, Tee-Ser's offers an indoor putting green for golfers who want to watch the dancers and work on their short game, and $4 sodas. Alcohol is not served in Tee-Ser's, though owner Linda Stroh said the opening of the Kappa Cabana is a reason for her to apply for a liquor license.

"If someone else can have a liquor license and girls dancing, I think we should, too," Stroh said.

In the meantime, patrons bring their own beer. The bartender offers buckets filled with ice, and the men can carry their beer to tables in front of a mirror-lined stage. The strippers dance to music from a jukebox they feed with dollars themselves.

At the Kappa Cabana, where the outside is still painted with pink hills and green cactus left over from its days as a restaurant, a hand-drawn sign directs visitors to the side door. Inside, a stage — with pole — is built into the front wall.

On the night the Cabana opened, police ticketed Koch with violating the village's alcohol, public nudity and adult entertainment statutes. The laws under which Koch was charged date to 1993 and 1994, after Tee-Ser's opened, and were meant to prevent another strip bar from opening by banning the sale of liquor in topless nightclubs.

But Koch and Ghantous believe the laws aren't enforceable — and now village trustees say they will need a judge's order to shut the club down. They have not yet decided whether to seek one.

Koch opened the Cabana after business soured as the Kappa Tap and Grill, which served ribs, steaks, burgers and some Mexican food. He blames the people of Kappa for not frequenting the restaurant.

"They've pushed me into this spot," Koch said. "I put a lot of money into this place for the past four years, and I got no community support."

Outside the Cabana on a recent summer night, Tom Waters fished in his pockets to gather all his $1 bills. Making his second trip to the club, the Normal resident said critics of the Kappa Cabana were being too hard on the strip joint.

"It's not as dirty like some places I've been to," he said. "It's a business. I'm not going to come to some place where there's a bunch of idiots tearing up the place."

Missed the last issue? Check out the e-collegian
http://collegian.ksu.edu

WILDCAT SPIRIT
Wildcat Spirit
FREE GREEK LETTERS
Monogrammed or Sewn-On
YOUR CHOICE!
with purchase of a Charles River Jacket or Sweat Shirt
Wildcat Spirit
716 North Manhattan In Aggieville
(785) 776-5461
Hours Mon - Sat 9:30 to 5:30
Thurs 'til 8:00, Sun 12:00 to 5:00
Good Through 9/30/98
AMERICAN EXPRESS VISA DISCOVER MasterCard

KSU THEATRE AND DANCE 1998-99 SEASON
Great Entertainment at Great Prices!
COMEDY
DRAMA
MUSICAL THEATRE
DANCE

ANTIGONE
Oct. 8-10 & Oct. 14-17
Nichols Theatre 8 p.m.

CABARET
Nov. 12-14
McCain Auditorium 8 p.m.

WINTERDANCE '98
Dec. 3-4 8 p.m.
Dec. 5 2 p.m. & 8 p.m.

A PERFECT GANESH
Feb. 11-13 & Feb. 17-20
Nichols Theatre 8 p.m.

SHOWBOAT
March 2-4
McCain Auditorium 8 p.m.

SPRINGDANCE '98
April 9 & 10
McCain Auditorium 8 p.m.

A STREETCAR NAMED DESIRE
April 15-17 & 21-23 8 p.m.
April 24 at 7 p.m.
Nichols Theatre

Individual ticket prices from $6 to $11. SAVE 20% with season tickets. Call 532-6875 for brochure. Check out our new PICK FIVE option. Tickets available at McCain Box Office - 532-6428 from noon to 6 p.m. weekdays.

GET READY!
KSU CAREER FAIR '98
Tuesday, Sept. 22 • Bramlage Coliseum
Use these services to prepare!

GET REGISTERED...JOB SEARCH '98: Looking for a Career, Intern, Summer or Co-op Job? Attend an Orientation for Career & Employment Services. Learn how to register via WWW Resume, gain 24-hour internet access to JobLine, be referred to employers requesting resumes, participate in In-Campus Interviews, receive email notice of special events and jobs and new WWW pages. Register by noon on Thursday, September 17 (or Wednesday, September 16 for KSU-Salina) and your Resume will distributed on disc to all employers attending the KSU Career Fair.

Tuesday	Aug. 25	7 p.m.	Rathbone 173 (Paslay)
Thursday	Aug. 27	5 p.m.	Justin 109
Monday	Aug. 31	7 p.m.	Justin 109
Thursday	Sept. 3	7 p.m.	Seaton 132

Re-registration is required for '97-'98 registrants (your service expires Aug. 31). To re-register visit the reception desk of Holtz Hall; $10.00 fee payment is required for service period Aug. 1, 1998-Aug. 31, 1999.

RESUME BUILDING: Learn how to inventory your experiences, write statements of result, select a format, edit and evaluate.

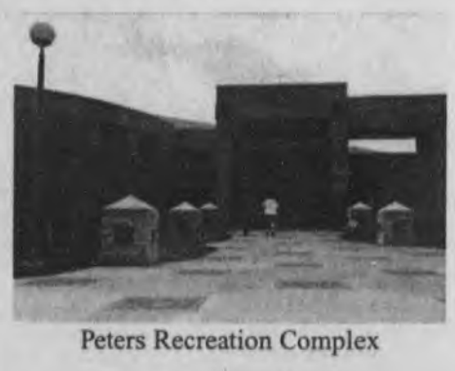
Tuesday	Sept. 1	2 p.m.	Tullis 112 (Salina)
Wednesday	Sept. 2	3:30 p.m.	Student Union 212
Tuesday	Sept. 8	5 p.m.	Student Union 212
Tuesday	Sept. 15	3:30 p.m.	Student Union 212

WINNING INTERVIEWS: Drop by with your resume for review and helpful advice.

Tuesday	Sept. 1	3 p.m.	Tullis 112 (Salina)
Wednesday	Sept. 9	3:30 p.m.	Student Union 212

HOW TO WORK A CAREER FAIR: Learn how to network with prospective employers for internships, co-op experiences and employment.

Tuesday	Sept. 1	3:30 p.m.	Tullis 112 (Salina)
Wednesday	Sept. 16	3:30 p.m.	Student Union 212
Thursday	Sept. 17	5 p.m.	Willard 114



EMPLOYER PANEL: Hear from recruiters in hospitality, apparel marketing, financial services and human services--what do they look for when evaluating potential employees?

Monday	Sept. 21	2:30 p.m.	Student Union Little Theater

FOR MORE INFORMATION: www.ksu.edu/ces ces@ksu.edu
532-1691

KSU Career Fair is sponsored by Agriculture Ambassadors/Ag REPS, College of Agriculture; Dean's Student Advisory Council, College of Architecture, Planning and Design; Arts and Sciences Ambassadors, College of Arts and Sciences; Marketing Club, College of Business Administration; Education Student Ambassadors, College of Human Ecology; Salina Student Government Associations, College of Technology and Aviation; and Career and Employment Services.

REC Shoot Some Hoops!
Take the Plunge!
Make It Burn!
Be Challenged!
Meet Your Friends!
RECREATIONAL SERVICES

Peters Recreation Complex

Swimming at the Natatorium

Cardiovascular & strength equipment

Over 40 Intramural Sports to participate in!

Discover What Recreational Services Has For You!
Recreation Complex: Courts, weights, machines, tracks.
Natatorium: Pools, diving well, sunning deck.
Wildcat Workouts: Aerobic sessions 7 days a week.
Intramurals: Sign up for Flag Football, Soccer, Punt/Pass/Kick plus Individual Sports This Week!
Outdoor Rental Center: Check out a canoe, tent & camping equipment for the weekend!
Outdoor Facilities: lighted playfields, sand volleyball, tennis courts.

Rec Check: 532-6000 www.recservices.ksu.edu Admin Office: 532-6980

KICK IT UP

In case you didn't notice, senior punter James Garcia ranks No. 1 in the K-State record books for career-punting average.

■ SEE STORY ON PAGE 6

TUESDAY
AUGUST 25, 1998

KANSAS STATE UNIVERSITY, MANHATTAN, KAN.
VOLUME 103, NUMBER 2
COLLEGIAN.KSU.EDU

TODAY'S WEATHER

HIGH 93
LOW 70

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Sub. Exp. Date: 00/00
Kansas State Historical Society
Newspaper Section
PO Box 3585
Topeka KS 66601

Residents say traffic circles cause driving headaches

3 new structures are planned this year, despite citizens' complaints

By JAIMIE HARTTER
Kansas State Collegian

Since they were first implemented in 1996, traffic circles and roundabouts have been met with controversy by students and the general public of Manhattan.

Traffic circles are concrete structures that replace stop signs in busy intersections. The circles slow traffic by forcing drivers to maneuver around them.

City Manager Gary Greer said traffic circles were installed to slow traffic at key intersections.

"We installed them because they are environmentally friendly and reduce accidents," Greer said.

The circles are designed to be the width of a regular lane so cars should be able to drive around them.

"We take out test cars to ensure that cars will be able to go around them," Greer said.

Greer said other citizens have complained that accidents have happened because of the circles, people run into the circles and they're difficult to maneuver around.

Justin Arce, freshman in hotel/restaurant management, said he agreed that there is a problem with maneuvering.

"I can drive my car around them, because my car is medium-sized. However, I don't have power steering and that makes it difficult to turn smoothly. I usually end up curb-checking my car," Arce said.

Christopher Wisdom, freshman in speech and rhetoric, said he suggested limiting parking in intersections where vehicles can park on both sides of the streets.

"Cars are parked really close to the traffic circles on some of the busier streets, and I'm afraid one of these days, I'm going to hit a parked car," Wisdom said.

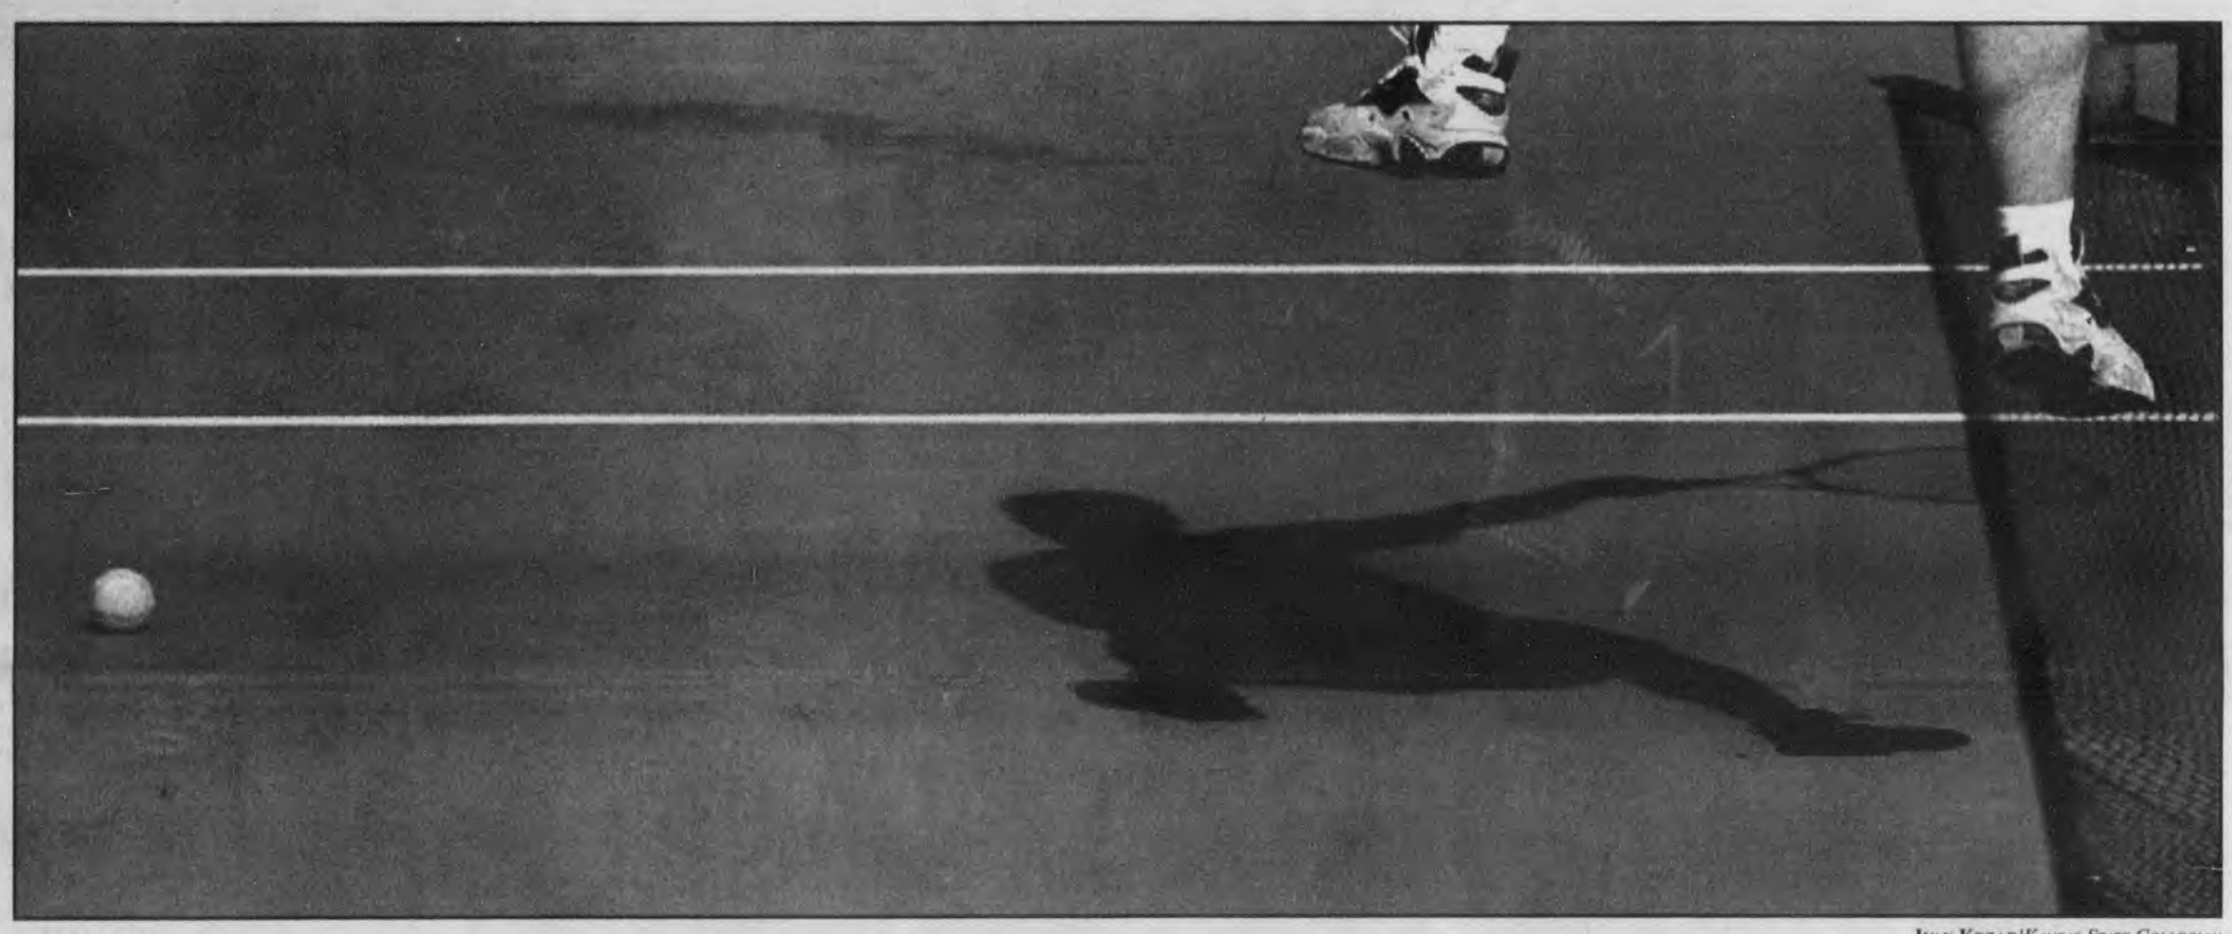
Wisdom also said traffic circles are dangerous to the public.

"People don't obey the rule of the traffic circles. Instead of going all the way around them to turn left, they turn left before the circle. I think they are a waste of taxpayers' money," he said.

Arce said enough notice of a traffic circle would decrease the hazard of driving at night.

"It seems like those things pop up out of nowhere. I don't think the signs, even when you can see them, are helpful anyway," he said.

Greer said there has been discussion about placing roundabouts on the intersections of Manhattan Avenue and Claflin Road and Manhattan and Kimball avenues.



Roundabouts are larger structures that force traffic into a circular pattern in the intersection. They eliminate left turns in intersections.

A roundabout was placed at the intersection of Gary Avenue and Candlewood Drive, but Greer said the city is investigating to see if more roundabouts will be placed at intersections in the future.

Three new traffic circles are scheduled for this year, at 10th and Vattier streets, Fourth and Osage streets and Fourth and Laramie streets, but the plans are now tentative because of public opposition.

"We are on the cutting edge of traffic control. Whenever there is something new in a city, there is always going to be a lot of debate," Greer said.

■ OUR OPINION
The Collegian editorial board says traffic circles are not the answer to Manhattan's traffic problems. See Page 4.

NET GAINS
Mike Grimm, senior in mechanical engineering, takes a swing at a tennis ball Monday afternoon at the Chester E. Peters Recreation Complex.

IVAN KOZAR/Kansas State Collegian

East coast braces for hurricane

By ROGER PETTERSON
The Associated Press

Hurricane Bonnie kicked up pounding surf and deadly riptides along the East Coast on Monday as it churned out in the Atlantic with 115 mph winds. Its course was so erratic that forecasters couldn't say when or if it might hit land.

A hurricane watch was issued Monday afternoon for much of the Southeast coast. The National Weather Service said it might be possible to report on hurricane conditions by Wednesday morning in an area between Savannah, Ga., and the North Carolina/Virginia state line.

With the storm still far out at sea, many vacationers and surfers stayed to enjoy the beach while they could, but permanent coastal residents stocked up on emergency supplies and got ready to head for higher ground.

Emergency management workers at Wilmington, N.C., an area battered by Hurricane Fran in September 1996, tested their generators and stocked up on supplies, including bottles of Maalox and Tums.

Ronna and David Lewis already had rented a trailer in case they needed to move belongings from their home 200 yards from the shore at North Topsail Beach, N.C.

The Lewises stayed on North Topsail Beach, on one of North Carolina's low-lying barrier islands, when Fran struck. "I really don't want that to happen again," Ronna Lewis said. "I saw too many people lose their homes."

There were 15 portable generators in stock at A to Z Rentals in Wilmington,

■ See BONNIE on PAGE 12

Congressional Democrats urge against rushing into impeachment proceedings against Clinton

By LAURIE KELLMAN
The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Congressional Democrats quickly voiced their agreement on Monday with House Speaker Newt Gingrich's suggestion that it might not be a smart idea to rush into any impeachment inquiry against President Clinton.

"Newt and I are on the same page here," said Rep. Barney Frank of Massachusetts, a senior Democrat on the House Judiciary Committee that would review the report Independent Counsel Kenneth Starr is expected to submit.

CLINTON

"It shows the Republicans understand while they have a right wing that wants the president impeached, the country, as a whole, doesn't," Frank said.

Gingrich, in an interview published Monday in The Washington Post, said of the possibility of hearings, "I'm not at all sure that you can get to that this year, and I'm not at all sure that it's a smart idea to try to get to that this year."

At an appearance in Idaho Falls, Idaho, Gingrich refused to answer reporters' questions on the matter. His office later issued a statement saying Congress will investigate any evidence of Clinton misconduct "in a very serious manner."

According to Gingrich, impeachment hearings might not occur at all unless Starr submits evidence that Clinton committed crimes beyond those related to former White House intern Monica Lewinsky.

"I don't think Congress could move forward only on Lewinsky, unless he (Starr) had such a clear case, such an overpowering case," Gingrich told the newspaper.

Gingrich seemed to soften in a statement issued by a spokesman later that Monday.

"The speaker, while withholding any conclusions on the specific allegations against the president, made the obvious statement of fact that a pattern of criminal behavior is worse than a single incident," Andrew Weinstein, spokesman, said.

"Any evidence of presidential illegalities however, whether one incident or many, would clearly have to be investigated and addressed by Congress in a very serious manner," he said.

Democrats spoke favorably of Gingrich's comments on the unlikelihood of hearings this year.

"I think the speaker was indicating how seriously he would take that type of report ... and that's very proper," White House spokesman Mike McCurry said.

One Judiciary Committee Democrat said the speaker's remarks were inspired by public sentiment.

"He's reading polls that say the American people will not tolerate impeachment proceedings against President Clinton if all there is is Monica Lewinsky," Judiciary Committee Democrat Robert Wexler of Florida said.

Lawmakers and aides close to Gingrich and the committee agreed that the election-year calendar, with lawmakers anxious to adjourn and go home to campaign, would be a problem.

With only a month left in the congressional session, senior members of the committee would have little time to review Starr's expected report, which is likely to be massive, and to decide whether to ask the full House for hearings. Actual hearings would be expected to be lengthy.

Starr's four-year investigation also has included the Clintons' Whitewater land deals and FBI files of former government officials, collected by the White House.

Several GOP lawmakers said evidence of any instance in which the president obstructed justice, lied or asked someone else to lie under oath — as has been alleged in the Lewinsky matter — would be enough to warrant an impeachment inquiry.

"I beg to differ with the speaker," said Rep. Bill McCollum of Florida, the third most-senior Republican on the House Judiciary Committee. "If, in fact, what he's saying is we've got to have more than perjury (to launch an impeachment inquiry), I believe having the president lying under oath is something he should be impeached for."

Meanwhile, Newsweek reported Starr believes the public "will want to throw up" after reading his graphic report of the president's sexual encounters in his Oval Office study.

But lawmakers of both parties suggested that probably was irrelevant to questions of perjury and obstruction of justice, now that Clinton has admitted having a sexual relationship with Lewinsky.

"It's irrelevant, and any disclosure in that regard is purely for the hysterical political value," Wexler said.

McCollum said, "My guess is that (Starr) is doing everything every other prosecutor would be doing now, and that is getting as many details as possible on as many matters as possible to determine whether somebody is lying."

Poll results

WASHINGTON, D.C. — While most Americans oppose impeaching President Clinton for any improper actions in the Monica Lewinsky affair, many said Congress should censure or officially reprimand him, several polls suggest.

In an ABC News poll released Monday, 55 percent of those polled said they thought Clinton should be censured or reprimanded, while 40 percent opposed that step. A CNN/USA Today/Gallup poll said 41 percent favored a congressional resolution disapproving of the president's behavior, while 24 percent favored impeachment and 32 percent favored taking no formal action.

In a Newsweek poll taken Thursday and Friday, people were divided about whether Congress should censure or reprimand the president, with 45 percent supporting such a step.

The president's job approval rating remained at more than 60 percent in all three polls.

WILDCAT WELCOME WEEK

The Collegian will publish a calendar of events for that day's events and the next day's events throughout Wildcat Welcome Week.

TODAY

Part-Time Job Expo
9 a.m. to 4 p.m.,
Union Courtyard

Adult Non-traditional Student Brown Bag Lunch
11 a.m. to 1 p.m., Stateroom #1

Job Search and Résumé Registration
7 p.m., Pasley Auditorium

Play Fair—An All NEW Student Event
6 to 8 p.m., Memorial Stadium

WEDNESDAY

Adult Non-traditional Student Brown Bag Lunch
11 a.m. to 1 p.m., Stateroom #2

M-4 Simulator (Virtual Reality)
10 a.m. to 4 p.m., North Entrance of K-State Student Union

"The King and I"
7:30 p.m., McCain Auditorium

TODD STEWART/Collegian

CALENDAR DEADLINES

To place an item in the Calendar, stop by Kedzie 116 and fill out a form or e-mail it to bulletins@spub.ksu.edu by 11 a.m. two days before it is to run.

NEWS DIGEST

CALENDAR

The Calendar is the Collegian's campus bulletin board service. Items in the planner can be published up to three times. Items might not appear because of space constraints but are guaranteed to appear on the day of the activity. To place an item, stop by Kedzie 116 and fill out a form or e-mail it to collegn@ksu.edu by 11 a.m. two days before it is to run.

■ Alpha Phi Omega will meet at 7 tonight in Union Staterooms 1 and 2.

■ Applications are being accepted for tutors in the KSU Community Service Program. Students who want more information on helping students in the area should contact the CSP Tutoring office in Edwards 8D at 532-5701.

■ Intramural entreis are being accepted for flag football, soccer, punt/pass/kick and individual sports this week. Interested parties should sign up in the business office by 5 p.m. Thursday at the Chester E. Peters Recreation Complex.

POLICE REPORTS

Reports are taken directly from the K-State and Riley County police departments' daily logs. We do not list wheel locks or minor traffic violations because of space constraints.

K-STATE POLICE
SATURDAY, AUG. 22

■ No reports of note were made.

SUNDAY, AUG. 23

■ No reports of note were made.

RILEY COUNTY POLICE
SUNDAY, AUG. 23

■ At 12:39 a.m., a noise complaint was filed against Jeffrey Gee, 2215 College Ave., and a crowd of 400 people was dispersed.

■ At 12:53 a.m., Mitchell C. Henry, 1912 Tulip Terrace, was issued a notice to appear for driving on a suspended driver's license.

■ At 3:05 a.m., Henry Pringle, 3012 Sandstone Drive, was arrested for battery and released on $500 bond.

■ At 3:10 a.m., Stephanie Sao, 1918 Hunting Ave., reported a purse stolen. Loss was $92.

■ At 3:46 a.m., Trevor D. Holub, 425 Goodnow Hall, was arrested for DUI. Bond was set at $500.

■ At 10:51 a.m., Karen Seitz, 400 Jardine Terrace, reported an attempted burglary.

■ At 12:44 p.m., Justin R. Davis, 413 Moro St., reported a stereo stolen out of a vehicle. Loss was $420.

■ At 4:07 p.m., Robert Brinkley, 20507 Alecia Drive, was arrested for domestic battery and criminal restraint. Bond was set at $1,000.

■ At 11:07 p.m., Maurice Martin, 3719 Everett Road, was arrested on a Riley County warrant for aggravated battery and aggravated intimidation of a witness.

DAILY REWIND

The Daily Rewind collects the top local, state, national and world news from the past 48 hours. Briefs are compiled from wire and staff reports.

Part-Time Job Expo brings jobs to campus

K-State's students might have an easier time finding a part-time job this year.

K-State and the Manhattan Chamber of Commerce will host the Part-Time Job Expo from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Tuesday in the K-State Student Union Courtyard.

"It's the first year we've done this, and we're really excited about it," said Mary Marston, expo director and assistant director of Career and Employment Services.

Marston said the expo provides an excellent opportunity for students to interact with employers, leave résumés, check out area job openings and even practice interviewing skills with a wide variety of employers.

Ann Harts, director of economic development at the chamber, said community involvement is vital to the success of the expo.

"We're involved in the Part-Time Job Expo because of the significant partnership between Kansas State University and the business community," she said.

Some 40 area businesses will have booths set up in the courtyard, including Pizza Hut, Holiday Inn, Complete Music Professional DJ Service, Army Reserves and Bobby T's Restaurant & Bar.

Sarah Saueressig, the chamber's director of economic development and research, said helping students in their job search is important.

"It is our hope that upon graduation those students will then choose to remain an active part of our community and continue as a part of the Manhattan work force," she said.

—Jesse McCurry

K-State Police change locksmithing policy

The K-State Police Department is no longer the free locksmith on campus.

On July 1, department officials stopped unlocking cars for students.

Captain Robert Mellgren said the issue had become a liability to the department and that officers were risking damage to newer cars with sophisticated car alarms and safety devices.

"Instead of being held accountable, we got out of the business," Mellgren said.

The department did not have the proper equipment to handle unlocking the newer model cars, he said.

Mellgren said the Riley County Police Department stopped unlocking cars 10 years ago, but the campus police decided to continue its free service.

"We carried on with it as long as we felt comfortable," he said. "And we weren't comfortable anymore."

Campus police will unlock a car if there is an emergency, such as a child trapped inside. Otherwise, routine calls will be directed to local locksmiths.

A spokesman for Karsmizki's Locksmiths and Alarms said the average cost of unlocking a car is $25, but any car 1994 or newer averages more.

—Kellee Miller

Boy shot after aiming water pistol at police

NEW YORK — A 16-year-old boy was shot by police who mistook his water pistol for a real weapon, with one of the officers firing all 16 rounds in his gun.

Michael Jones was in critical condition Monday. He was shot early Sunday after encountering police while he rode his bicycle. He was hit six times in the legs.

Police were looking for the boy after an off-duty police officer reported he was pointing a gun at people and cars.

Police said the boy refused to drop his toy, which looked like a submachine gun. But Jermain Congress, who was riding his bike with Jones, said Jones was dropping his pistol when he was shot.

Officer David Gross fired all 16 rounds from his 9mm service revolver at Jones. Sgt. Michael Jacobellis fired once.

Police Commissioner Howard Safir supported his officers.

"Certainly at 2:30 in the morning it would not be unreasonable to believe this was a real weapon," Safir said, holding up Jones' water pistol and a 9mm MP5 submachine gun.

It is illegal in the city to sell or possess a toy gun that looks real or is painted black.

The number of shots fired outraged Jones' family.

They were also perplexed as to why he has been charged with menacing, criminal possession of a weapon and possession of marijuana.

"Sixteen or 17 shots fired against a water pistol sounds more like people at the O.K. Corral than policemen trying to secure public safety," the Rev. Al Sharpton, acting as the Jones family spokesman, said Monday outside Kings County Hospital.

Both officers have been placed on desk duty while the case is investigated, both internally by the police department and by a grand jury.

Cancer patient stuffs cyanide in envelopes

MARINA DEL REY, Calif. — Authorities searched the nation's mail for deadly letters Monday after a cancer patient who might have a grudge against doctors and police was caught stuffing 100 envelopes with cyanide packaged to look like free samples of a nutritional supplement.

Kathryn Schoonover, 50, was arrested outside the Marina del Rey post office Sunday, and sheriff's deputies seized a box containing the letters. They believe she already had sent other people similar-looking letters.

"There's warnings across the country," Postal Service Inspector George Marsh said. "We're not taking any chances."

The FBI also is investigating.

There have been no known deaths recently from cyanide mailings.

Cyanide powder, when swallowed in tiny amounts, can kill a person within minutes by causing asphyxiation.

Schoonover was arrested after a passer-by reported seeing her at the post office counter, wearing protective gloves as she took powder from a container labeled "poison" and placed it into envelopes.

Schoonover was booked for investigation of attempted murder. She denied mailing any cyanide-laden letters, Deputy Bob Killeen, a sheriff's spokesman, said.

PEOPLE

Jackson fans 'experiment, explore' during stage show

NEW YORK — What's Janet Jackson's idea of sexy?

She's on tour with a bevy of female dancers who pick a guy from the audience, tie him to a chair and do a striptease to her new song "Rope Burn."

"To me, there's nothing wrong with being blindfolded and having your hands bound and anticipating your lover's every move," she said in the October issue of Jane magazine.

"To me, that is ... it's very sexy. It's about experimenting and exploring. ... That's what 'Rope Burn' is about."

Student damages painting, streaks in London square

LONDON — A student was convicted Monday of daubing paint on a Rembrandt in the National Gallery and running naked near the Houses of Parliament in a protest against "society's injustices."

Vincent Bethell, 26, admitted streaking at Parliament Square on June 26 and taking off his clothes, then painting a yellow sign for the British pound across a self-portrait of Rembrandt on Aug. 4.

The painting wasn't damaged.

Bethell will be sentenced in mid-September.

Presley fans saddened by loss of performance arena

INDIANAPOLIS — Elvis Presley fans disappointed over the planned demolition of Market Square Arena will have to settle for a plaque commemorating his final live concert.

Mayor Stephen Goldsmith dedicated the plaque Monday at the site of the June 26, 1977, show. Presley died on Aug. 16 that year.

"It is only fitting that an appropriate monument be on display to remember The King's final concert," Goldsmith said in a statement. "His devoted fans deserve to be recognized for their enthusiasm and steadfastness."

The mayor's office received letters from as far away as Spain asking for a tribute.

WEATHER

HIGH 93

LOW 70

Wear your shorts! Still hot today with no chance for rain. Much cooler by Friday with a chance for showers.

CONTACT US

■ NEWSROOM 532-6556
■ ADVERTISING 532-6560
■ CLASSIFIEDS 532-6555

■

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN
KEDZIE 116
KANSAS STATE UNIVERSITY
MANHATTAN, KS 66506

The Kansas State Collegian (USPS 291 020), a student newspaper at Kansas State University, is published by Student Publications Inc., Kedzie 103, Manhattan, Kan. 66506. The Collegian is published weekdays during the school year and twice a week through the summer. Periodical postage is paid at Manhattan, Kan. 66502. POSTMASTER: Send address changes to Kansas State Collegian, circulation desk, Kedzie 103, Manhattan, Kan. 66506-7167.

© KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN, 1997

We're here for you.
Fall 1998 Collegian editorial staff

Jill Jarsulic
Editor in Chief

senior, print journalism/history jjar@ksu.edu

Todd Stewart
Managing Editor/Design

senior, print journalism
toddvs@ksu.edu

Travis D. Lenkner
News Editor

sophomore, print journalism
tdl8677@ksu.edu

Steve Hebert
Photo Editor

senior, sociology shebert@ksu.edu

Kellee Miller
Campus Editor

sophomore, print journalism
klm3239@ksu.edu

Jeremy Kelley
Sports Editor

senior, print journalism
weasal1@ksu.edu

Matt Kreps
City/Government Editor

senior, public relations comfrey@ksu.edu

Diana Lee
Lifestyles Editor

junior, print journalism/pre-law del9065@ksu.edu

Jon Kurche
Opinion Editor

sophomore, physics/biology jsk6609@ksu.edu

Richard J. Diepenbrock
E-Collegian

senior, print journalism
yrbk@ksu.edu

Angela Kistner
Special Projects

junior, print journalism alm4992@ksu.edu

Janet Cook
Copy Chief

Jan Kessler
Assistant News Editor

Summer projects give greek houses FACElifts

As many K-State students left Manhattan for the summer, many greek houses took advantage of the opportunity to remodel.

"We made a lot of improvements," Pi Kappa Phi president Andy Ohmes, senior in biochemistry, said. "The house is looking good, and our recruitment really benefited from it."

Pi Kap used $10,000 to remodel the basement and add a new study room along with a new computer room and data center. The chapter also painted the outside of its house and replaced the porch carpet.

However, the biggest improvement was adding ethernet lines directly from campus to the house, Ohmes said.

"It's great with recruitment. The dorms don't offer anything more than we do in terms of computer systems," he said.

Pi Kap spent $3,000 on the ethernet system that will give the house an internal network without needing to dial-up with modems to access the Internet.

The Acacia fraternity used the summer months to revamp its kitchen with all new equipment and turn the housemother's apartment into a computer room and conference room. After carpeting it, the chapter added four new computers, a scanner, fax machine and copy machine.

Acacia treasurer Tony Prettyman, senior in secondary education, said total renovation costs were $75,000. The chapter did not have a housemother last year, and the members decided to use the extra income money to help update the house.

One of the biggest projects of the summer in greek housing was at the FarmHouse fraternity. Vice President David Hendricks, senior in agricultural economics, said the $1 million renovation remodeled everything in the house except the educational wing.

"We just felt it was a great time to get this place totally in tip-top shape," Hendricks said.

In addition to replacing all of the floors, desks and closets, FarmHouse gutted its kitchen and added central air conditioning to the sleeping dorms. It also brought the plumbing and electrical systems to code. Hendricks said the house began working with the alumni two years ago to begin raising money for the facelift.

The members moved in on Saturday, but renovation will continue for at least four to six weeks. The only projects left are to the front entryway and landscaping.

Another large project this summer was the Delta Chi fraternity's move into the former Phi Delta Theta fraternity house. After living in an apartment complex for the past four years, the Delta Chis purchased the house in October 1997 and have spent $30,000 renovating it.

The Phi Gamma Delta fraternity is in the process of an $800,000 renovation. The Fijis are adding a second floor senior wing expansion above the foyer and housemother's apartment and renovating the rest of the living quarters.

Fiji president David Waters, senior in political science and Spanish, said most of the money raised during the past six years has been through its alumni association and educational foundation.

"It's an overall living improvement project," Waters said.

Alpha Chi Omega is continuing its estimated $676,000 renovation project. House Manager Melissa McDonald, junior in mechanical engineering said the project is not intended to increase capacity but to expand the facilities for the current 66 in-house members.

One of the projects includes switching the formal living room with the recreational room. The chapter also expanded the formal dining room into the former housemother's quarters and is in the process of completing a new housemother's apartment.

Other projects at the Alpha Chi house include adding sleeping dorms above the housemother's quarters, replacing every window in the house, installing a new phone system and replacing the dining room tables and chairs. McDonald said one of the members' favorite additions was the new sun porch installed upstairs to the back of the house.

Construction workers from Central Mechanic, Manhattan, work on the exterior additions to the Phi Gamma Delta fraternity house Monday morning. The house has been raising money for the improvements for the last six years.

Delta Chi moves to house

Usually fraternity members do not move from an apartment building to a house, but in the case of the Delta Chi fraternity, it has been a dream waiting to happen for four years.

Since becoming a chapter at K-State in 1994, Delta Chi members have lived in an apartment complex. Now, the chapter finally has its own house, the former Phi Delta Theta fraternity house.

"It's already been so much easier," Delta Chi president Mike Sarow, senior in civil engineering, said. "Before it was a real hassle. The problem we always had was with communication."

Before moving into the house, the chapter had to arrange its weekly meetings in the K-State Student Union and notify each member individually of any activities.

After buying the Phi Delt house in October, the Delta Chi housing corporation worked with its Alumni Board of Trustees to raise money for renovations and to apply for the house loan.

Since moving in on Aug. 10, the members have completed $30,000 in basic renovations such as paint, furniture, appliances and the housemother's apartment.

Sarow said the members of the house felt welcomed by the neighborhood.

"We're so glad to be in this neighborhood," Sarow said. "Even some of the residential neighbors have been nice enough to stop by."

Because they didn't have a kitchen in the apartment complex, the members talked to other Delta Chi chapters and K-State houses to compile the best system for kitchen duties, house cleaning and parking.

The Delta Chis also have found other benefits to living in a house. They now have their own housemother and cook.

Gayle Spencer, coordinator of student activities in the Office of Student Activities and Services, said she is excited to take on the duty of housemother.

"It's been really neat to watch them restore the house," Spencer said. "They've all worked really hard and so have our alumni."

The chapter is waiting only for living room carpet and an electrician to arrive.

"Most everything is through," Spencer said. "I think this weekend will be the final weekend to get things cleaned up."

PHOTOGRAPH BY CLIF PALMBERG STORIES BY JEFF SUTTON

Student Athletic Ticket Sales

Get Your Combo

Football/Basketball

or Football Season Tickets

Friday and Saturday,

August 28 & 29, 1998

Bramlage Coliseum

THE FOOTBALL BASKETBALL COMBO

Friday, August 28

Combo Football/Basketball Season Ticket Sales ONLY, 8 .am.-6 p.m.—$160

Any student, regardless of class, is eligible to purchase a combo ticket on this day. Students must present a valid KSU ID card. One student may bring in up to four KSU student ID's.

Saturday, August 29
Football Season Tickets—$98
Basketball Season Tickets—$69
Combo Also Available

Priority will be given by student class:
1. Seniors and grad students, 7:30-10 a.m.
2. Juniors, 10 a.m.-noon
3. Sophomores, 1p.m.-3p.m.
4. Freshman, 3 p.m.-5 p.m.

ICAT memberships only $30, and may be purchased either day. You must show your general admission football ticket.

ICAT Benefits:
- Priority seating for football & basketball
- Collectable T-shirt
- Special ICAT discounts

Junior, Sophomore and Freshman student ID's will not be honored until scheduled times on Saturday. All sales will be cash, check (must have Manhattan address, local phone number, and Social Security number on check and no two party checks) or credit card (Visa, Mastercard or the Wildcat Card). Married students may purchase for spouse with proof of marriage or one child with birth certificate. One student may bring in up to four KSU student ID's. All Sales are Final! Availability of tickets is the same as the 1997 season.

To verify your class status, check KATS at www.ksu.edu.

Please call the KSU Athletic Ticket Office at 785-532-7606 with ticket questions.

We are Changing for You!

It's easy to buy a combo or football ticket!
- Students will pay for and pick up tickets and their optional ICAT membership at one place
- There is plenty of free parking at Bramlage Coliseum
- Bramlage Coliseum is air-conditioned

Seven Great Home Football Games

Sept. 5	Indiana State
Sept. 12	Northern Illinois
Sept. 19	Texas
Sept. 26	NE Louisiana
Oct. 17	Oklahoma State
Oct. 24	Iowa State
Nov. 14	Nebraska

Seventeen Home Basketball Games*

17 home games -2 semester break games

15 home games

* basketball ticket price of $69 subject to minimal change upon final 1998-99 schedule approval

OUR VIEW

Traffic circles not answer to problem

Manhattan city planners need to re-evaluate their enthusiasm for traffic circles.

The concrete obstructions, designed to slow traffic in intersections and prevent direct collisions between vehicles, long have been lauded by city officials as an environmentally friendly way of reducing accidents and cross-traffic.

They are designed to fit within the confines of the street and cause drivers to turn in order to go around them. They differ from roundabouts, another traffic-control device primarily used in Europe, which cause all traffic to move in a circular pattern.

At one point, Manhattan city planners had intended to build roundabouts at the intersection of Manhattan Avenue and Claflin Road and at the intersection of Manhattan and Kimball avenues. They currently are re-evaluating the issue after public opposition.

Residents complain the circles are cumbersome to maneuver around, poorly lit and actually increase accidents rather than reduce them.

The rules governing traffic exchange at the circles direct motorists to go around the circle to turn left, but many drivers simply cut the corner and go the shortest route — into oncoming traffic. Often, drivers fail to slow down to enter the circle, causing near-misses and curb checks.

The lighting at Manhattan's traffic circles rarely is sufficient to see them at night. At many intersections, a stop sign would make more sense than a traffic circle, because of the obvious instruction to drivers that such a sign would present.

Though there has been a history of complaints about these circles, the city has been relatively unresponsive.

If the traffic circles prove to be an effective method of safely controlling traffic, they should be employed as much as possible. But without better lighting or instruction, the traffic circles are currently more of a hazard than a safety device.

The city should be prompt in addressing the concerns of its constituents, and pending projects to develop these circles and roundabouts should be frozen until further data is available.

OUR VIEW, an editorial selected and debated by the editorial board, is written after a majority opinion is formed. The editorial board consists of Collegian editors and other staff members. OUR VIEW is the Collegian's official opinion.

EDITORIAL BOARD

EDITOR IN CHIEF
JILL JARSULIC

MANAGING EDITOR/ PRESENTATION
TODD STEWART

NEWS EDITOR
TRAVIS D. LENKNER

PHOTO EDITOR
STEVE HEBERT

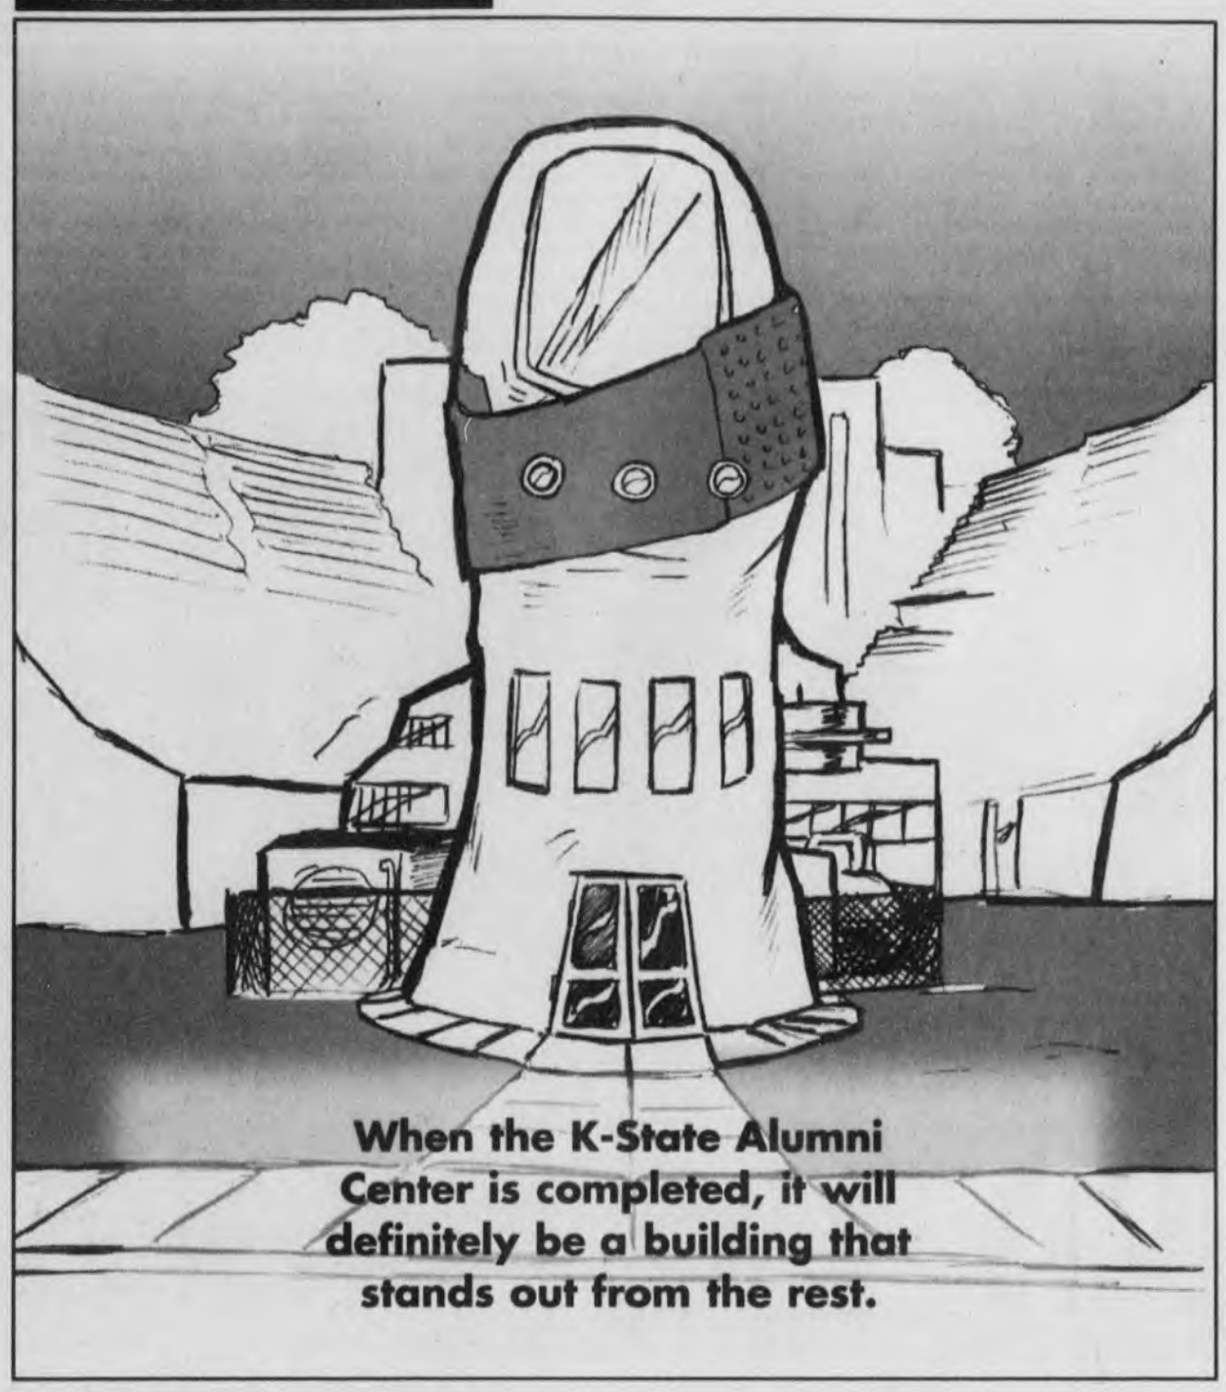
CAMPUS EDITOR
KELLEE MILLER

CITY/GOVERNMENT EDITOR
MATT KREPS

SPORTS EDITOR
JEREMY KELLEY

ARTS & ENTERTAINMENT EDITOR
DIANA LEE

OPINION EDITOR
JON KURCHE



COPY CHIEF
JANET COOK

eCOLLEGIAN EDITOR
R.J. DIEPENBROCK

SPECIAL PROJECTS EDITOR
ANGELA KISTNER

ASSISTANT NEWS EDITOR
JAN KESSLER

AARON FRUEHLING

Even Welles would not like AFI's list

VIEWPOINT

CHRIS PIATT

If Orson Welles were alive, he would be mad as hell.

For that matter, undead moviemakers like the Coen brothers, Woody Allen, and Robert Altman don't have much to be thrilled about, either. After countless contributions to American movies, all these boys have to show for their efforts is an obligatory pat on the head.

In a typically lame summer for movies, the American Film Institute (AFI) managed to attract attention to itself by compiling a list of the 100 Best American Movies Ever Made. Unveiled in a three-hour CBS special and lauded by a weekly series on TNT, the list came from a poll of "more than 1,500 leaders from the American film community."

The good folks at the AFI claimed they hoped the list would incite controversy. They did just that, and angered the most diehard movie lovers in the country.

Sticking almost exclusively to big budget, expensive flicks that are remembered more for their prestige than their quality, the AFI declared Orson Welles's "Citizen Kane" the best movie ever made. It is difficult to argue with that assessment, but if Welles gets top honors, why were his other nasty masterpieces like "Touch of Evil" left out? And why, if only one of his movies was good enough to make the final cut, has the AFI been shamelessly exploiting his image in all its self-congratulatory publicity?

Welles was nearly tarred and feathered by Hollywood in 1941 when "Citizen Kane" was released. Virtually condemned for his work, his movie career was driven into the ground. Like Charlie Chaplin, he was forced out of town, and his work was not recognized until he was too old and bloated to stir up any more creative genius.

Among the leaders from the film community polled were those cinematic geniuses President Clinton and Vice President Al Gore, and yet, nobody in Clinton's cabinet is consulting Steven Spielberg on foreign policy.

The truth is that the list simply included a lot of bad movies. It wouldn't be so irritating if the film celebration weren't so inescapable, but this puppy is everywhere, and video stores are setting up special sections so movie lovers can rush out and gobble down overrated classics.

Of course, you can save yourself the rental fee and just watch the weekly specials on TNT. No more than a collection of plot summaries, the series gives away nearly every secret and plot twist possible, spoiling great moments in "Chinatown," "The Manchurian Candidate," and "Psycho." Even "Citizen Kane"'s big secret is a dead giveaway.

However, the biggest mistake here seems to be the films that were left out. There was no room for race relations movies such as "Do the Right Thing," "Boyz N' the Hood," or "Malcolm X." But "Guess Who's Coming to Dinner," a tame, self-righteous interracial marriage movie, weighed in at 99. And 1915's "Birth of a Nation," a silent epic in which the Ku Klux Klan are the good guys, came in at 44.

Bland, uninspired movies such as "My Fair Lady" and "The Jazz Singer" found a place, while exciting risky musicals such as "The Commitments" and "Nashville" were left out in the cold.

Comedies also were represented poorly, with only 15 total. All of Woody Allen's efforts were neglected, except for "Annie Hall." There was only one Marx Brothers movie. No "Airplane!" or "This Is Spinal Tap." Nothing by Monty Python.

"Forrest Gump," which tried to make us think that maybe Vietnam wasn't so bad for America after all, and "Apocalypse Now," which seemed to last longer than the war itself, were both honored. No "Paths of Glory." No "Empire of the Sun."

To be fair, AFI did include some movies that were too perfect to ignore. No one will argue that "Casablanca," "Some Like It Hot," and "E.T." will outlast us all. But that does not excuse excluding everything from "Freaks" to "Lone Star."

I like to think that Orson Welles is in movie heaven, perhaps watching a Coen brothers film festival with Billy Wilder and Howard Hawks. He knows about the AFI list. And he is content in the knowledge that on judgment day, its creators will be banished to the cutting room floor, forced to share a bed with Howard the Duck and watch "Police Academy" marathons.

Chris Piatt is a sophommore in theater. Send e-mail to him at crp3280@ksu.edu

Get the most out of fresh start that college encourages

VIEWPOINT

MARY VANLEEUWEN

Freshman. Fresh-man. Fresh-woman. Webster says "fresh" equals free from taint: pure." So, freshmen, what are ya gonna do with your "purity," — color it with uniqueness or pimp it out to conformity?

Just think, your parent's grip is loosened. No longer are your high school buddies in all your classes. The label (scholar /jock/nerd/freak/prep) you worked or didn't work so hard for has been erased. Your popularity status is diminished, and now you are simply one of more than 20,000 people enrolled at this campus.

No longer do you need to feel pressured to say the right thing or wear the right clothes to fit into your group, because most of the people you pass on the sidewalk and have in class don't care what you say and don't care what you wear. The group that you belonged to in high school doesn't exist.

You have a fresh start to enhance or recreate your self. As a freshman, I found this entire concept liberating, exhilarating and seductive. I hope you're ready to take the same concept and run with it. A word to the wise — don't run to the nearest person and imitate them. Don't conform in an atmosphere that welcomes individuality. Find your self at K-State.

Perhaps the message that I want to penetrate every freshman mind is (alas) already lost on those who already are conformed — those who already have picked their identity for the next four or more years, those who already have slapped another label on themselves.

A word to the untainted: Don't let conformity happen to you, but don't pick your identity too quickly.

Do you want to be someone who simply dives from one clique to another? If you do, will you ever develop your own personality, your own mannerisms and sayings, your own look, your own statement to the world? I think those who are willing to make the long swim from familiarity to the yacht o' individuality will be glad they did.

Maybe right now you think I'm patronizing you with all my knowledge of individuality. The truth is, I consider myself to be a work in progress. I'm still working on fine-tuning Mary.

Possibly you think you already know who you are, and you wish I would just cut the sappy, inspirational, almighty crap and let you live your college career as you want to live it. Maybe you are one of the few people who really do know what it is to be an individual. Maybe not. Maybe every part of yourself is uniquely your own. Maybe it isn't.

Could be, you think that you still can be an individual if you've already chosen your label. I'm skeptical.

Perhaps I just want you get the most out of your fresh start. Ding! Ding! Ding! Cue the bells and whistles.

Do what you want to do; study what makes you happy; choose a career that you would love, not what will make you the most money. Open yourself to new views, experiences and opportunities; don't be afraid to pick a side; take pride in voicing your opinion; don't say things just to make people happy; wear what you want to wear; and don't let anyone give you any trouble for being an individual.

Enjoy your fresh-man/fresh-woman year.

As Diane Di Prima said, "... what you find out for yourself is what you select out of an infinite sea of possibility. No one can inhabit your world."

Mary VanLeeuwen is a junior in English. Send e-mail to her at mev2383@ksu.edu

ANGRY?
HAPPY?
CONCERNED?

We want to hear about it.
Send us a letter to the editor.

E-mail it to letters@spub.ksu.edu

OR

Drop it off at the Collegian newsroom at 116 Kedzie

EITHER WAY, IT'S TIME TO BE HEARD.

Auditing classes allows students to attend for free

By Scott Aldis-Wilson
Kansas State Collegian

Another school year has begun and, as usual, lecture halls are full of busy note-takers. But look around. Some of these students might not be around on test days, and it's not because they're failing.

Auditing courses, in which a student attends classes just to listen, is a tradition in universities across the nation. K-State is no exception, Registrar Don Foster said. After a temporary fee for auditing was dropped a few years ago, the process is free, Foster said.

However, he said students do not take the tests for the class and receive no credit for attending. Only certain classes apply.

University policy states that students cannot audit labs, continuing education courses or activity courses, Foster said. These courses require more one-on-one instruction from the teacher that the student is not paying for, unlike a lecture that is much the same whether five or 50 students attend, he said.

Auditing is usually informal and the Office of the Registrar rarely is brought in to assure that regulations are being obeyed, Foster said.

"It's really an arrangement between the faculty member involved and the student. It's a space-available kind of thing," Foster said.

In his 33 years with K-State, Foster said the total number of students auditing stays around 40 to 50 a semester and they are usually upperclassmen interested in just getting information.

"Really, there's no particular advantage unless a student has a particularly heavy credit load, and this way they can still get exposure to the area," Foster said.

Michael Oldfather, associate professor of economics, said many undergraduate students simply attend the lectures without announcing their presence.

"It's possible I've had people and never knew it," Oldfather said.

Many of these students rarely stay in a class that won't show up on their transcripts, though, he said.

"Most people decide to either take the class or do something else," Oldfather said.

Graduate students are more likely to audit classes than their undergraduate counterparts to prepare for their own exams on subjects.

This auditing is usually more formal, Oldfather said.

"It's really important to get the instructor's take on a subject. You just wouldn't dream of doing it without an instructor's permission," Oldfather said.

Another significant group of auditors is international students who attend to brush up on the material or just to get used to English in the classroom.

Mary Wood, director of the English Language Program, said classes such as Advanced Listening encourage students to attend a lecture at least once during the semester with the lecturer's permission.

"The purpose of the visitation is it gives them experience listening to lectures, taking notes and finding out what an American classroom is like and the expectations of the American professors," Wood said.

Because students in this class are usually graduate students, Wood said they frequently already have contacts in departments with lecture classes.

"They usually pick something in their field," Wood said.

Unemployment rate continues decline as Kansas stays below national average

The Associated Press

TOPEKA Kan. — The state received more good news about the strength of its economy when unemployment decreased to 3.5 percent in July.

The rate was 3.7 percent in June. The Department of Human Resources reported Monday that nearly 4,800 more people had jobs in July than in June, while the number of unemployed persons dropped by more than 3,000.

The department said it normally expects the unemployment rate to remain constant during the summer, after increasing in June. College and high school students who do not have classes enter the job market, increasing the number of people who are looking for work.

In recent months, unemployment rates have dropped to their lowest levels since the late 1970s.

"Kansans have had a remarkable year," Wayne Franklin, secretary of human resources, said. "Our economy continues to be fueled by more jobs and increased wages."

"Kansans have had a remarkable year. Our economy continues to be fueled by more jobs and increased wages."

– Wayne Franklin
Secretary of Human Resources

The department said the state's civilian labor force had more than 1.44 million people in July, up slightly from June.

Nearly 1.39 million of them had jobs, the agency reported.

Nearly 50,000 Kansans were unemployed in July, compared with more than 53,000 during June.

The unemployment rate in July matched the figure for July 1997. However, nearly 51,000 fewer people were employed last year.

Lt. Gov. Gary Sherrer, secretary of commerce and housing, said businesses continue to expand in Kansas and might be drawing some people from outside the state.

"Even though internationally and nationally there are some signs of a slowdown, we have not seen it in Kansas," Sherrer said. "We have not seen a weakening."

The unemployment rate for three of the state's four largest metropolitan areas followed the state trend.

The exception was the state's portion of the Kansas City metro area, where unemployment remained constant at 3.9 percent in July. However, nearly 5,000 more people had jobs.

In the Wichita area, the unemployment rate decreased from 3.1 percent in June to 2.8 percent in July; in the Topeka area, it dropped from 3.8 percent to 3.5 percent; and in the Lawrence area, it decreased from 5 percent to 4.5 percent.

Comics
Games
Cards
Arcade
Fun
The Gate Keeper
Holding The Key to Imagination's Gate
Come see us in Aggieville
1205 Moro
or call us at 539-4539
Manhattan's Comic Book & Game Store

MANPOWER
Accepting applications for area temporary assignments
INDUSTRIAL: Packaging, production, assembly and general labor.
OFFICE: Secretarial, word processing and data entry operators, general clerks.
Manpower offers benefits like paid holidays and vacations, life/health insurance, flexible schedules.
Apply in person
8 a.m. - 4:30 p.m.
555 Poyntz
Suite 245, Colony Square
Serving Manhattan Since 1976

PIZZA SHUTTLE DELIVERS
776-5577
1800 Claflin Road

TONIGHT... KJ's DANCE CLUB WELCOME BACK STUDENTS!
GREEK NITE
$1 PITCHERS / $1 CAPTAINS
The Greek Challenge is On!
The house with the most members wins a FREE PARTY!
YOUR GREEK HEADQUARTERS 1215 MORO 539-1646

Claflin Books and Copies
1814 Claflin Road • Across from Goodnow Hall
BOOKS
SELF-SERVE COPIES
RESUMES
WORD PROCESSING
NEWSPAPERS
DESKTOP PUBLISHING
FAX SERVICE
GREETING CARDS
Welcome (Back)!
Monday-Thursday: 7am-Midnight
Friday: 7am-6pm
Saturday: 9am-5pm
Sunday: 12pm-Midnight
(785) 776-3771
Fax: (785) 776-1009
E-mail: cbcbkcpy@interkan.net

WILDCAT SPIRIT
Wildcat Spirit
FREE GREEK LETTERS
Monogrammed or Sewn-On
YOUR CHOICE!
with purchase of a Charles River Jacket or Sweat Shirt
AMERICAN EXPRESS DISCOVER VISA MasterCard
Wildcat Spirit
716 North Manhattan In Aggieville
(785) 776-5461
Hours Mon - Sat 9:30 to 5:30
Thurs 'til 8:00, Sun 12:00 to 5:00
Good Through 9/30/98

RUN to Bramlage Coliseum, don't walk.
August 28-29

Purchase your copy of the 1999 Royal Purple yearbook for $24.95 and get your portrait picture taken at Bramlage Coliseum.
Order your copy of the 1999 Royal Purple through the Student Publications Business Office located in Kedzie Hall 103, 532-6555.

Rustys LAST CHANCE SALOON
FREE Live Concert
TUESDAY!
National Act
Recording Band
Dash Rip Rock with special guest
ShiKHKKERS
• Ice Cold $1.50 Coronas
• $2.50 Captain Morgans
• $1 Taco Bar, 5 till 7
• $1.50 Sour Ball
Your Live Music
Headquarters

Try all you can but you can't escape the fever

Pssst...Hey, freshman. Let me guess. I bet you're still bug-eyed from your arrival to the Little Apple a little more than a week ago. This is your first or second day of class, and you're understandably a little nervous. That's OK.

You took several unplanned tours around campus trying to find Throckmorton Hall (Hint: It's not by Calvin Hall). You absent-mindedly discarded your breakfast tray that contained the last of your meter money into a Union Stateroom trash can. You carried $314.54 worth of textbooks in a bathroom stall with you (so you wouldn't forget them, of course), and forgot them, but discovered four feet of toilet paper dangling from the rear of your tucked-in T-shirt as you scrambled to biology class.

And all that happened before noon.

Dejected, you threw in the towel, forgot about biology — a wise move — and counted orange barrels while walking down Anderson Avenue when you spotted this quaint restaurant called Rock-A-Belly Deli.

And right now, you're resting in one of those cushy, red booths, admiring the antique decor, and this goateed bartender named Rich has just sent a Bob's Special your way — the drink, he says, that cures all ailments.

And you've turned to your right and discovered this goateed sportswriter inside the sports page staring at you. The headline is something about K-State football. And your eyes widen to memories of your 275-pound cousin, Jed, who played a few years back and used you as a practice tackling dummy and the memories flow and your backside suddenly aches and...

Snap out of it, freshman.

I'm here to tell you three things I guarantee you'll discover this semester: 1) Orange barrels will dictate your path around Manhattan's Maze. 2) Biology 198 will be the worst college course you'll take. 3) K-State football will take you hostage.

It's simple, really. The fever starts when you least expect it, like right now when I want to jump out of the page, scream and kick and holler and tell you to go home and hide in your bed and pull the sheets over your head until Jan. 5, when the fever subsides.

Take it from me. This is my sixth K-State football season. Even my family doctor, Dr. Keith Wright, who knows K-State football and wears either a purple tie or shirt or socks to work every day, doesn't know what to prescribe. "All you can do is wait it out," he'll say.

A few days from now, you're going to stand in a long line to buy your season tickets.

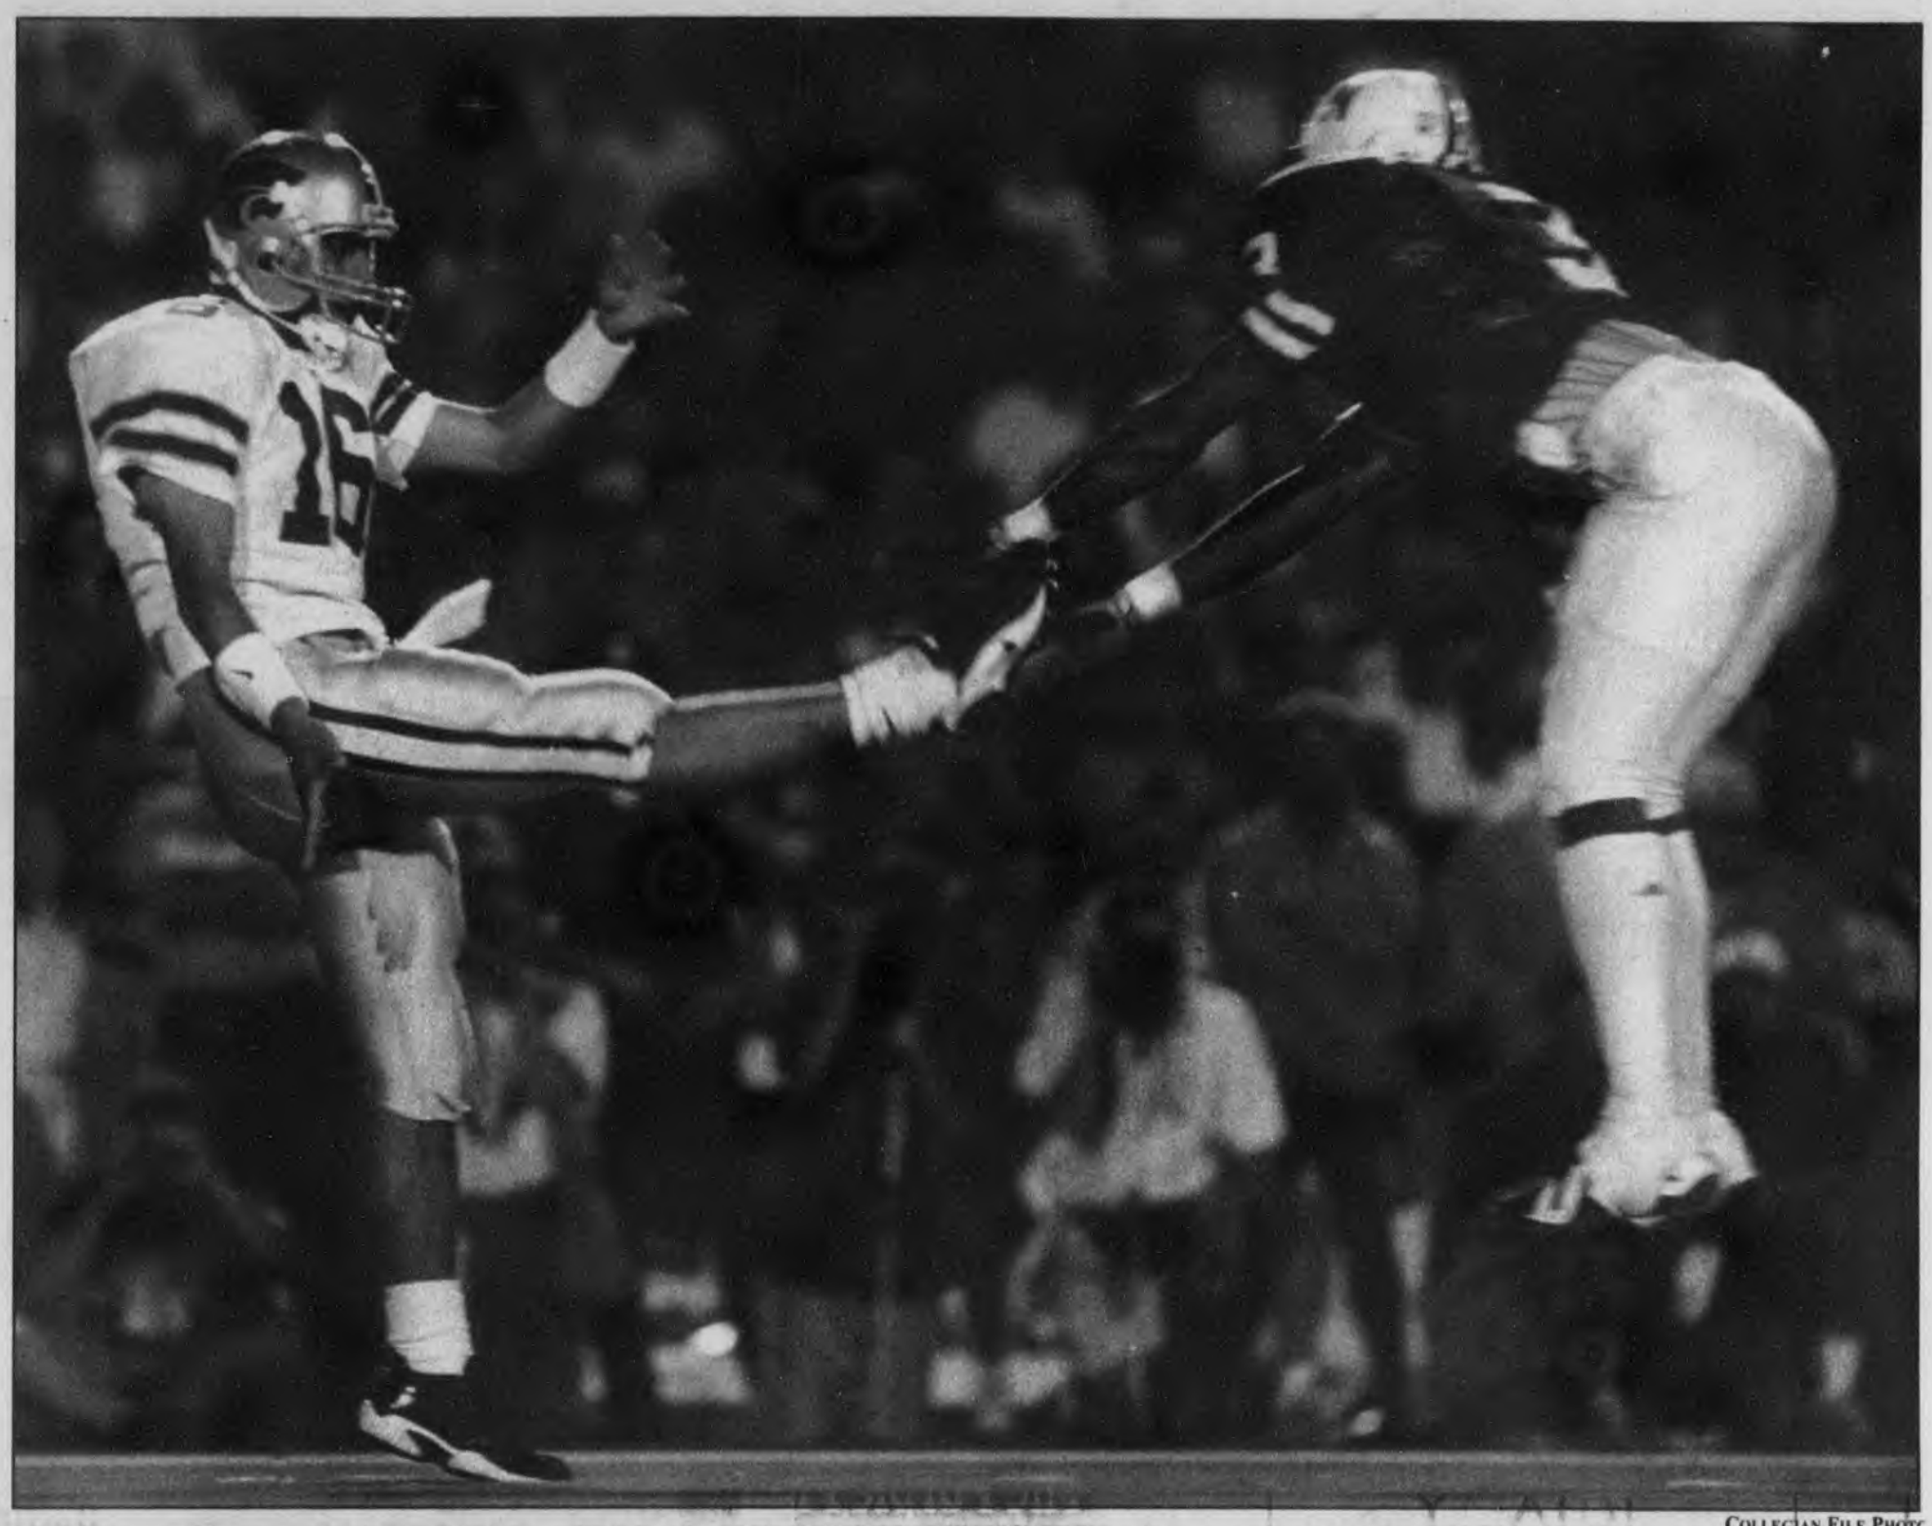
It spreads through your body like an unknown virus. For the most severe cases — and there are many — it begins at birth and multiplies its intensity every September. It takes red and white blood cells and turns them purple. Pleasure, fear and happiness spin in your stomach to the cadence of, "Jayhawks and Huskers and Tigers, oh my!"

This season, especially, purple adrenaline will flow like a freshly pumped keg. It will reach your limbic system and replace your memory with numerous statistics and terms such as "undefeated," "champions" and "Heisman."

After cruising countless laps around Kimball and College avenues and Claflin Road, just to feel the chills of passing KSU Stadium, you'll stop at Dara's Fast Lane to refuel. You'll spot the premiere issue of Powercat Illustrated. You'll purchase 10 copies and enter its subscription number, 1-888-4KSU-CAT, on phone memory.

And you won't know why.

See, it takes you hostage, this unknown virus, yet there's been 1,234,661 fellow sufferers who have filled KSU Stadium since 1993. Another combined 286,283 sickos have attended K-State bowl games, and spend the season predicting where they're going to spend Christmas.



I'm one of those sickos.

And no doubt, you'll follow in the footsteps of those students who filled KSU Stadium before you. You'll enter your first game an innocent fan and leave a raging, purple-faced loon.

That's when you know it's really invaded your body, taken you hostage for good. It's OK, really. Ask Dr. Wright.

Jan. 5 isn't that far away. Really.

Scott is a senior in mass communications. Send e-mail to him at dsf7477@ksu.edu

COLLEGIAN FILE PHOTO

Entering his senior season, punter James Garcia is at the top of K-State's all-time career punting list but has been somewhat overshadowed by Lou Groza Award-winning kicker Martin Gramatica.

KICKING PUNTS & TAKING NAMES

Senior punter lets kicking do his talking for him, doesn't mind life out of headlines

BY JOHN BERGGREN
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

James Garcia has seen little in the way of headlines during his career at K-State. Entering his senior season, Garcia tops the all-time career punting list, averaging 43.3 yards per kick during his three years, but still he has not received much attention from the news media.

Of course, there could be many reasons for that. One of which could be the fact that despite Garcia's excellent numbers, he has finished third in the Big 12 each of his three seasons in the average-yards-per-kick race. Garcia may have also been overshadowed because he belongs to a program that in the past few seasons has produced players for such awards as the Butkus Award and, this season, even a possible Heisman candidate.

But, Garcia said he doesn't feel like he has been forgotten by everyone.

"I know that this team doesn't take me for granted, and really they've been real good to me in my four years here," Garcia said. "I don't even feel like I've been overlooked at all.

"It would be great for the Big 12 and the rest of the country to acknowledge me, but it's more important that my team sees my worth."

GARCIA

As some might remember, Garcia didn't start out last season posting all-time career numbers. In fact, he struggled through the first two games of the season but was able to finish strong through the heart of the Big 12 schedule, including a career-long boot of 76 yards against Missouri. To combat his sluggish start a year ago, Garcia has worked hard in the off-season.

"I've been working hard to make myself more consistent this summer," Garcia said.

"At the beginning of last year, I didn't kick the ball as well as I would have liked, but I progressed during the season and finished on a strong note. I've worked in the off-season to keep my consistency going and not have those one or two games where I didn't kick that well."

Specifically, Garcia said he has been working on kicking with better hang time, along with reducing his hand-to-foot time.

"I've been working on getting my hand-to-foot time down so that there is almost no possibility of getting a kick blocked," Garcia said. "I've also been working on getting the ball up and concentrating more on having a higher net average. If I can improve my hang time, there will almost be no chance of anyone getting a return."

In any matter, it is evident that sitting on top of the all-time career list isn't bothering Garcia, neither is the lack of news media attention.

"I don't really even think about the statistics, because that's all they really are," Garcia said. "My main goal is to pen in an offense. Whether it is from my own 20 or their own 30, I just want to put our defense in the best place that I can."

Arbitrator who ruled on Sprewell case to decide fate of guaranteed contracts

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

NEW YORK — The arbitrator who ruled in the Latrell Sprewell case is back in the forefront of the league's labor strife at a hearing on whether players with guaranteed contracts should be paid during the lockout.

The hearing before John Feerick could be pivotal in the stalemate between owners and players, which threatens to last into the fall and could force the NBA to cancel games for the first time in its history.

If the players win, the owners would have to go to court to avoid paying nearly $800 million in salaries for some 220 players who have guaranteed contracts for the 1998-99 season.

The union is expected to argue that owners should have protected themselves by inserting lockout language into individual player contracts, as baseball owners routinely do.

"These players are supposed to be paid under those contracts in virtually all circumstances," said a source close to the union, who asked not to be identified.

"It (the standard player contract) says you can't test positive for cocaine, you can't be out of shape. It says all kinds of things that can get the owners out of their obligation to pay. But it never says anything about a lockout."

The players filed the grievance with Feerick on June 30, a few hours before the lockout commenced, claiming the owners committed an anticipatory breach of contract by announcing June 29 that they would not pay players during the lockout.

Most players are not due to receive their first paychecks until Nov. 15, but a handful were supposed to be paid this summer.

Feerick ruled against the NBA in the Sprewell case by reinstating the final three years of the player's contract and reducing his suspension by 5 1/2 months after he attacked and choked Golden State Warriors coach P.J. Carlesimo at practice last December.

There is no precedent for locked-out athletes demanding to be paid, so there will be no professional sports precedent for Feerick to seize upon.

"It's not our policy to comment on matters of pending litigation, but we have said before that the law is very clear that employees don't get paid during a lockout. That's our view," NBA chief legal officer Jeffrey Mishkin said Sunday.

There is no precedent for locked-out athletes demanding to be paid, so there will be no professional sports precedent for Feerick to seize upon.

During the summer-long NBA lockout of 1995, players who missed paychecks did not file a grievance, nor did NHL players who were locked out for the first three months of the 1994-95 season.

The hearing is scheduled to last two days, and Feerick's ruling should come in early September.

If the players were to win, there's still a chance that Feerick's verdict would not be the final word. The league has sued the union over this matter in federal court, so any award could be put on hold.

Still, the winning side should have an increase in leverage when talks resume on a collective bargaining agreement to replace the one that expired July 1 — the day the lockout began.

Lawyers for the league had at least one thing going for them as arguments were set to begin. Rather than having the hearing in the "Sprewell Room" at the offices of the union's lawyers, it will be a few blocks downtown at the offices of the league's firm.

The "Sprewell Room" was the conference room used for the Sprewell hearing.

It was used again last month during the last formal bargaining session when Stern and the owners, after being amused by Karl Malone's bargaining etiquette (he shouted down everyone in the room so Suns owner Jerry Colangelo could be heard), walked out upon hearing the latest proposal from the union.

No new talks are scheduled, and none are expected until after Feerick has ruled.

The season is scheduled to start Nov. 4, so a new agreement would be needed by mid-October to prevent the NBA from canceling games.

Clinton criticized for bombing

■ Sudan's president calls factory bombing 'ugly crime'

By JAMAL HALABY
Associated Press

KHARTOUM, Sudan — Sudan's leader accused President Clinton on Monday of being "a war criminal of the first degree" for an attack on a Khartoum factory, an establishment that the United States said made chemical weapons.

President Omar Hassan el-Bashir said that if the United States truly believed the factory manufactured chemical weapons, it committed "an ugly crime" by bombing it in the midst of a city, thus endangering thousands of lives.

Because deadly gas apparently wasn't released into the atmosphere, el-Bashir told The Associated Press, it proves the Sudanese claim that the plant made only medicine.

"The American president has violated international law, and he meant to destroy a civilian establishment and to kill innocent people. He is a war criminal of the first degree," el-Bashir said.

Despite the angry words, the Sudanese president said he would consider resuming relations with the United States if the U.S. compensates all those who were harmed in the factory attack and it publicly apologizes.

At an earlier news conference, el-Bashir said the United States recently asked to open security cooperation with Sudan and assured it, through a third party, that the government was "not targeted in the attack, but terrorism."

He would not name the third party or elaborate on the U.S. proposal.

In Washington, D.C., State Department spokesman James Foley said he had no information about security cooperation.

El-Bashir also said he was recalling Sudan's ambassador to Britain and would ask London to withdraw its ambassador from Khartoum in response to Britain's support for the U.S. missile strike on the factory Thursday night.

Last week, Sudan recalled its diplomats from Washington. On Monday, el-Bashir said American diplomats, who have been working out of neighboring Kenya and Egypt since 1996, "will not be allowed to return to their work in Khartoum."

He said ambassadors from European countries that supported the missile strike would be summoned "to inform them of our strong protest for their positions."

At least a half-dozen U.S. missiles struck the Al-Shifa Pharmaceutical Industries Co. factory on Thursday, largely destroying it.

President Clinton tied the factory to Osama bin Laden, the Saudi dissident blamed for the bombings of U.S. embassies in Kenya and Tanzania on Aug. 7 that killed 257 people. Another U.S. attack was carried out Thursday against bin Laden's bases in Afghanistan.

U.S. officials said the factory made precursors for the deadly VX chemical.

El-Bashir denied this, saying U.S. officials "know that Sudan has no capabilities to manufacture chemical weapons." Sudan insists it made only pharmaceutical products and supplied half the nation's needs with these products.

At the news conference, el-Bashir repeated an invitation to have a U.N. fact-finding mission inspect the factory.

The United States accused Sudan of being a terrorist-sponsoring state, but did not tie it directly to the targeted factory.

El-Bashir said bin Laden has no shares in the factory, adding that bin Laden left Sudan before the factory was opened in 1996. Bin Laden lived in Sudan in the early 1990s but was forced out under Western pressure in 1995.

In a personal jab at Clinton, el-Bashir said the attack was carried out "to cover up for the Monica scandal," a reference to the grand jury investigation into Clinton's relationship with former White House intern Monica Lewinsky.

Manhattan Head Start to receive new funding

By SHALIA SATTER
Kansas State Collegian

A $5 million grant awarded to the Kansas Early Head Start program will provide 14 child-care agencies with funds to begin new programs. The Manhattan Head Start program is one of those agencies.

With the grant, Kansas becomes the first state to establish a federal-state partnership for early childhood advancement.

Head Start helps parents with limited income by providing them with daycare and giving the children an early start in education.

The grant allows Manhattan's Head Start office to make more locations available for parents to drop off their children. The grant money also will be used to improve the quality of the Head Start's other programs.

John Garlinger, public information officer, said research on early childhood shows that children thrive in a quality environment, both early and later in life.

"Head Start has a heavy emphasis on social development," said Sally Frick, director of Manhattan's Head Start program. She said the organization wants to improve the skills for children in the classroom so they are able to share and get along.

The Manhattan chapter of the Head Start program was established in 1965 and was the first in the community to create the program. There are now 150 families participating in the Head Start program in Manhattan. The Manhattan site serves more than 170 children.

"We all know how important childcare is," Garlinger said. "Anything we can do to increase childcare services benefits everyone. No one loses in this situation."

In-depth training for all workers makes the program successful, Garlinger said. Child-care providers receive 120 hours of training in three key programs: Healthy Start, Parents as Teachers and Healthy Families.

Frick said Head Start designs its training programs to challenge staff members. Training can be done either at a national or local level. She also said teachers are well-trained when they come into the program and can continue their training as they work.

"I just fell in love with the goal of Head Start," Frick said. "I see it as the best we can offer to families who need support from the community."

Cut your costs in half with these coupons!

YUNAM Restaurant
1304 Westloop
539-8888 · 539-0888
One coupon per person
$1.50 off
Evening Buffet 5-8:30 p.m.
Free Delivery (minimum $9 purchase)
(not valid with any other offer) exp. 9/1/98

LUNCH BUFFET
Featuring enchiladas, tacos, tostadas, and much more including desserts.
Mon.-Fri. 11-2 p.m.
Only $3.99
Reg. $4.95 Save $$
present coupon prior to ordering • one coupon per person please
Raoul's Escondido Mexican Restaurant
215 Seth Child Rd. Across from Seth Child Cinema
Manhattan 539-3410 exp. 10/30/98

50¢ TACOS
chicken or beef, hard or soft shell
4:30 p.m. - 9:30 p.m.
$2 Coronas
$1 Margaritas (Reg. or Strawberry)
$1 Draws
Taco Tuesday
Bobby T's
OPEN 11am-2am
3510 Kimball Ave 537-8383

K-STATE Federal CREDIT UNION
"Enroll In Money 101"
TOTALLY FREE Checking
NO Minimum Balance
FREE ATM Usage (at our ATM)
No Service Charge
No Per Check Charge
Two Locations to serve your Needs!
2700 Anderson Ave. (near Westloop Shopping Area)
1455 Anderson Ave. (across from Campus)
785-776-3003
e-mail: creditunion@ksu.edu web page: www.ksu.edu/creditunion

THE PURPLE PIG EST. 1886
The Purple Pig
Manhattan's Beer Tavern
$2.25 Pig Beers 32oz.
539-7444
424 Houston St. - Downtown
OPEN 4 P.M. TILL MIDNIGHT, MON.-SAT.

WILDCAT CREEK sports center
9 Hole Golf Course
Miniature Golf
Sand Volleyball
Driving Range
Batting Cages
Video Games
Sun.-Thurs.: 7a.m.-11p.m. • Fri.&Sat.:7a.m.-Midnight
3639 W. Anderson • 539-7529

Congrats to New Members!

Delta Delta Delta

Erica Armacost
Carissa Barry
Lin Blair
Natalie Blick
Camille Boisseau
Sara Brown
Jackie Bryant
Emily Burkindine
Sarahann Burnett
Amber Byrd
Lindsey Cannon
Betsy Chilen
Lesley Cooper
Megan Daily
Colleen Foote
Kari Freymuth
Amanda Hempy
Michelle Hiss
Nancy Hull
Elizabeth Johnson
Carrie Kafka
Jana Kalusha
Kara Keener
Sarah Keltner
Jamie Kepler
Jill Kettler
Nicole Kiernan
Kim Klenner
Morgan Knipp
Paige Knudson
Teri Kreps
Mo Laux
Shelly Lewis
Katie Lippold
Shannon McCarthy
Jolie McGraw
Katie Meyer
Annie Morrow
Sarah Olsen
Jessica Parker
Amber Plumb
Jamie Robben
Jill Rodriguez
Lindsay Saylor
Krista Sperry
Robyn Steinlage
Kelly Taylor
Kelly Warren
Averie Windsor
Julie York
Katie Young

Kansas State Rowing
Informational Meeting for the MEN'S & WOMEN'S TEAMS
Date: August 27th
Where: Little Theatre (Student Union)
When: 6:30 p.m.
Looking for Athletes
NO EXPERIENCE NEEDED
This meeting is mandantory for all interested candidates.

Back to School Specials

"Your Official KSU Bookstore"
August 16 thru Sept. 4
Bookstore 532-6583
•20% OFF All Regular Priced Clothing
•10% OFF All Regular Priced Gift Items
•FREE 20 oz. Mug with Backpack Purchase
•25% OFF Reference Books, Dictionaries, Study Aides
•15% OFF 500 count Engineering Paper
•15% OFF Artbins
•15% OFF Cloth & Fiberstok Art Portfolios
•20% OFF 500 count Filler Paper
•$1.95 Clickster 4 Pack of Pencils (Reg. $2.39)
•$5 OFF TI-83 Calculators
•20% OFF Purple Powercat Mouse
•10% OFF Reserve-a-Copy Must be picked up within 24 hours of Notification. Applies to books not in stock. Special runs thru Oct. 1
Limited to stock on hand.

GREEK 101

IVAN KOZAR/KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Will Keim delivers an hour-long speech to members of the K-State greek community Monday night at McCain Auditorium.

BY JENNIFER LUCKE
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

For the second year in a row, Will Keim visited K-State to educate greeks about how to serve themselves and others better.

Keim, a Delta Upsilon alumnus, returned to K-State to speak at the second all-greek chapter, which brought members from all fraternities and sororities together.

Keim referred to fraternities and sororities as the "greatest student organization in the history of American higher education."

Keim said he thought it's harder now to get a job after graduation than when he was in college.

Keim said greek life is about networking and having life-long connections, and students need to take advantage of those opportunities.

"This isn't a four-year thing we do. We are greeks now and for the rest of our lives," he said.

Keim said he wanted the audience members to graduate with a diploma in one hand and their self-esteem in the other.

In order to do that, fraternities and sororities need to make some changes and begin to practice what they preach, he said.

"This isn't a four-year thing we do. We are greeks now and for the rest of our lives."

The No. 1 change greeks need to make is to become scholars, rather than drinkers, Keim said. Keim urged students to go to class, sit in the front row and to keep the all-greek G.P.A. above the all-men's and all-women's average.

Keim also reminded greeks to be community servants.

"Nobody does more community service than us," Keim said. "I want you to wear it like a badge of courage that you're out there helping the communities."

Keim asked that fraternity and sorority members be men and women of character.

"Say what you mean and mean what you say," Keim said.

Keim also addressed the issue of sexual responsibility. It's no longer safe to be sexually indiscriminate — sex can kill, he said.

"Somebody's got to lead, and it's going to be you and me," Keim said. "You can't lead if you're dead."

Keim asked his audience to be men and women of spirit.

He recommended exercising for 30 minutes every day, followed by 30 minutes of prayer.

Keim said greeks need to stand up for what they know to be right, including no-hazing policies.

In the last four years, 61 people have died from hazing incidents. He said greeks can no longer allow themselves to be hazed.

"Why? Because our brothers and sisters can't take it anymore," he said.

Keim challenged greeks to examine the way their lives are progressing and to use the time they have left to make a masterpiece.

"One-fourth of your life is over," Keim said. "How's it going?"

He urged the audience to make the best of their lives.

"Do not take your life for granted. It's not a dress rehearsal — we don't have a net," he said.

COLLEGIAN.KSU.EDU

NOTICE
KSU RODEO CLUB MEETING
Tuesday, Aug. 25
7 p.m.
Weber Hall Room 111
For more information call 539-8585

TUESDAY crawl
25¢ DRAWS starting at 3 p.m.
day
ALL NIGHT IF YOU CAN HANG
Rowdy Trouty's
776-2424

AUDITIONS
Monday, August 24
Tuesday, August 25
Nichols Hall Lobby 7 p.m.
KSU Theatre Mainstage Productions of
ANTIGONE and CABARET
An Ebony Theatre production of Wine in the Wilderness
and a Purple Masque production of
The Bald Soprano
No preparation necessary - Reading scripts are available in 129 Nichols Hall
For more information call 532-6875
OPEN TO ALL KSU STUDENTS!

McCain
RODGER'S & HAMMERSTEIN'S
THE KING & I
ORDER YOUR TICKETS TODAY!
Wednesday, August 26, 7:30 p.m.
Public: $38, $32, $26
Seniors: $36, $30, $24
Students: $19, $16, $13
"Based on a true story." These words often precede motion pictures, but we don't usually link Broadway musicals to real life. The King and I follows the story of Anna, an attractive English widow, who is hired by the King of Siam to teach Western ideas to the royal family. What follows is a mix of attraction and discovery between Anna and the King made famous in the musical that opened in Broadway in 1951 and became a hit motion picture starring Yul Brenner and Deborah Kerr in 1956. Songs include "Getting to Know You" and "Shall We Dance."
CALL MCCAIN AT 785-532-6428
You can charge your tickets to VISA, MasterCard, or Discover. Or stop by the box office, noon to 6 p.m. weekdays.
Corporate Sponsor Commerce Bank

JOBS
Starting at $7.00 per hour
PART-TIME
Help needed to take inventory in retail stores. Average 10-12 hours on weekends. Weekday daytime hours are also available. Averaging 25+ hours.
Apply in person
Landon's Room, Ramada Inn
Friday, Aug. 28
at Noon, 1:30 p.m., 3 p.m., and 4:30 p.m.
Interviews start promptly.
Doors will close after 5 minutes.

How About a FREE Computer?
Well, it could happen!
If K-State goes undefeated and wins the Bowl Game, Transcend Technologies is going to give every single customer their money back for any computer system they purchase from us through September 10th, 1998!
Think about it for a moment ... If K-State beats Nebraska and remains unbeaten entering the bowl game, then the team is playing with confidence and who knows if anyone can stop us!
Even if you don't follow football, you should still find our prices to be some of the most competitive around. Either way you win!

Eminence Series
AMD K6 MMX Processor Super TX Motherboard 32 MB RAM 2.1 GB Ultra DMA Hard Drive 2 MB PCI Video Card 20X CDROM 16-bit Soundcard 33.6K Modem Mini-Mid Tower Case (230W) Keyboard and Mouse 80 Watt Speakers Windows 95 OSR 2.5 Windows 98 (add $36) Prices include 15" Monitor
with ...
AMD K6 233 MHz	$898
AMD K6 266 MHz	$905
AMD K6 300 MHz	$935
AMD K6-3D 266 MHz	$954
AMD K6-3D 300 MHz	$1005

Eclipse Series
Intel Pentium II Processor Pentium II 440LX Motherboard 64 MB SDRAM 4.3 GB Ultra DMA Hard Drive 128-bit 4 MB AGP Video Card 32X CDROM 32-bit PCI Soundcard 56K Modem Mid-Tower ATX Case (250W) Keyboard and Mouse 80 Watt Speakers Windows 95 OSR 2.5 Windows 98 (add $36) Prices include 15" Monitor
with ...
Celeron 266 MHz	$1152
Celeron 300 MHz	$1169
Pentium II 266 MHz	$1329
Pentium II 300 MHz	$1391
Pentium II 333 MHz	$1432

Apex Pro Series
Intel Pentium II Processor Pentium II 440BX Motherboard 64 MB PC100 RAM 6.4 GB Ultra DMA Hard Drive 8 MB AGP Video Card 36X CDROM Sound Blaster AWE64 56K Modem Mid-Tower ATX Case (250W) Keyboard and Mouse 80 Watt Speakers Windows 95 OSR 2.5 Windows 98 (add $36) Prices include 17" Monitor
with ...
Pentium II 266 MHz	$1543
Pentium II 300 MHz	$1605
Pentium II 333 MHz	$1646
Pentium II 350 MHz	$1807
Pentium II 400 MHz	$2063

Transcend Technologies
Located at 1108 Laramie
(Just East of Godfather's Pizza in Aggieville)
Stop by or call us at 539-8538

CROSSWORD

FOR RELEASE TUESDAY, AUGUST 25, 1998

CROSSWORD By Eugene Sheffer

ACROSS
1 Standard
5 Mongrel
8 Type size
12 Verdi masterwork
13 Gorilla
14 Leading man?
15 One using a comp
17 "Je te plumerai le —"
18 Trap
19 Molest
21 Lost ruddiness
24 Letterman rival
25 Monad
26 MAN BITES DOG, for one
30 Charlie's ride, in song
31 Set
32 Adams or Ameche
33 Scatterbrains
35 Lumber
36 Probability 37 Saunters
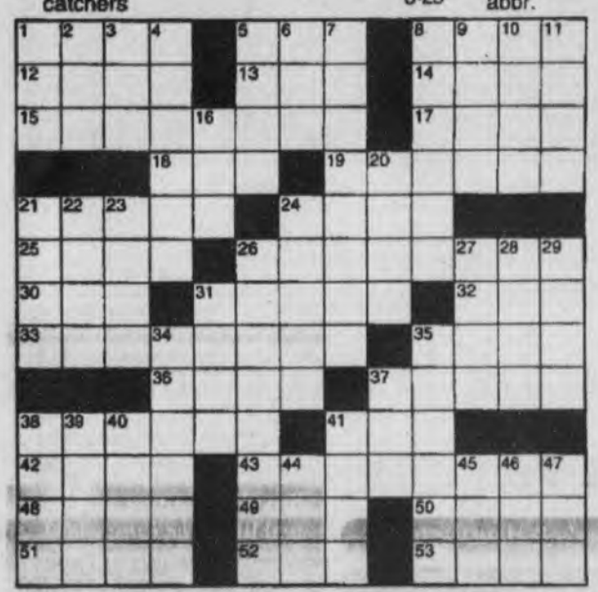
38 Cow catchers
41 First name of 24 Across
42 News item, for short
43 Wrestling hold
48 Movie house
49 Possess
50 Ox of puzzledom
51 Hull piece
52 Ball-bearing gizmo
53 Exhibit ennui



DOWN
1 Beanie Babies, e.g.
2 Perjure oneself
3 Boise's county
4 Doo-hickey
5 Columnist Herb
6 — tree (cornered)
7 Lucy and others
8 Walk a beat
9 Thought
10 Broadway record-holder
11 Iowa city
16 Stashed
20 Mayberry marshal
21 Cougar
22 Opposi-tionist
23 Make-up artist?
24 Shows the way
26 Close-up photo of a sort
27 Pedestal occupant
28 Corner
29 Tackles' teammates
31 Start over
34 Inn
35 Ambush
37 Bankroll
38 Tress
39 Rose's beau
40 Trig function
41 Tarzan's missus
44 Farm female
45 "Comin' In — Wing..."
46 Intimidate
47 Dorothy's home: abbr.

Solution time: 24 mins.

G	U	M		B	O	R	E	R		R	F	D
N	R	A		O	P	E	R	A		E	R	E
U	N	S	N	A	P	P	E	D		W	A	N
			I	T	O		C	I	T	R	U	S
S	C	E	N	E	S		T	O	R	A
W	O	N		R	E	D		S	U	P	E	S
A	C	T	S		R	E	F		E	P	I	C
M	O	R	E	L		F	L	U		E	R	A
		A	M	O	S		A	N	A	D	E	M
D	E	P	I	C	T		N	E	T
A	R	P		K	I	D	N	A	P	P	E	D
H	I	E		E	L	I	E	S		D	A	Y
L	E	D		R	E	P	L	Y		Q	U	E

Yesterday's answer

8-25

STUMPED? For answers to today's crossword, call 1-900-454-6873 | 99¢ per minute, touch-tone / rotary phones. (18+ only.) A King Features service, NYC.

8-25 CRYPTOQUIP

S V U V B L P G M Q O G Q D V L Y D G X D V K N V U A G H P A V L P K O G Q X Y G N X P Q V O V H A P G H V B M S ?

Yesterday's Cryptoquip: THE TRULY INEPT PODIATRIST WOULD ALWAYS GET OFF ON THE WRONG FOOT.

Today's Cryptoquip clue: B equals U

CRYPTOQUIP BOOK 2! Send $4.50 (check/m.o.) to CryptoClassics Book 2, PO Box 6411, Riverton NJ 08077.

The Cryptoquip is a substitution cipher in which one letter stands for another. If you think that X equals O, it will equal O throughout the puzzle. Single letters, short words and words using an apostrophe give you clues to locating vowels. Solution is by trial and error.

© 1998 by King Features Syndicate, Inc.

HAPPINESS TODAY

BRAD GOOD AND TYLER LANGDOWN

BARGAIN shopper

■ Student finds bargains of all kinds at Manhattan garage sales.

BY AMY MILLER
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Most students still were asleep at 8 a.m. Saturday.

But Angela DeRossi, senior in interior design, was awake and cruising Manhattan's main drags, searching for garage sales.

DeRossi said she doesn't see many other students at garage sales, but she said they're a great way to furnish an apartment. In fact, the majority of her possessions came from these sales.

Some of her favorite finds include a $15 Kenwood receiver that works like new, a spiraling seven-plant plant stand she found for $1 and a metal wall sconce she said she intends to repaint. Sometimes she buys artwork for the frames, painting new pictures over the old.

"I don't usually leave anything the way it is. It's very rare," she said. "You have to be willing to be creative"

Another favorite buy is fabric, which she uses to make curtains, pillows and slip covers, or drapes over old furniture, like the zebra-stripe runner on her desk she found for 50 cents.

On Saturday, she found two-yard fabric bundles for 50 cents each. She also bought a bag filled with seven pillar candles for 75 cents. She said she will use the candles as they are or melt them down and make new ones.

"I laugh when I hear someone say they spent $15 on a new candle," DeRossi said.

Audrey Michaelis, senior in apparel design, said she's been a garage sale junkie since she was in kindergarten.

Michaelis, who estimated 70 percent of everything she owns came from a yard sale or flea market, said she has two reasons for going.

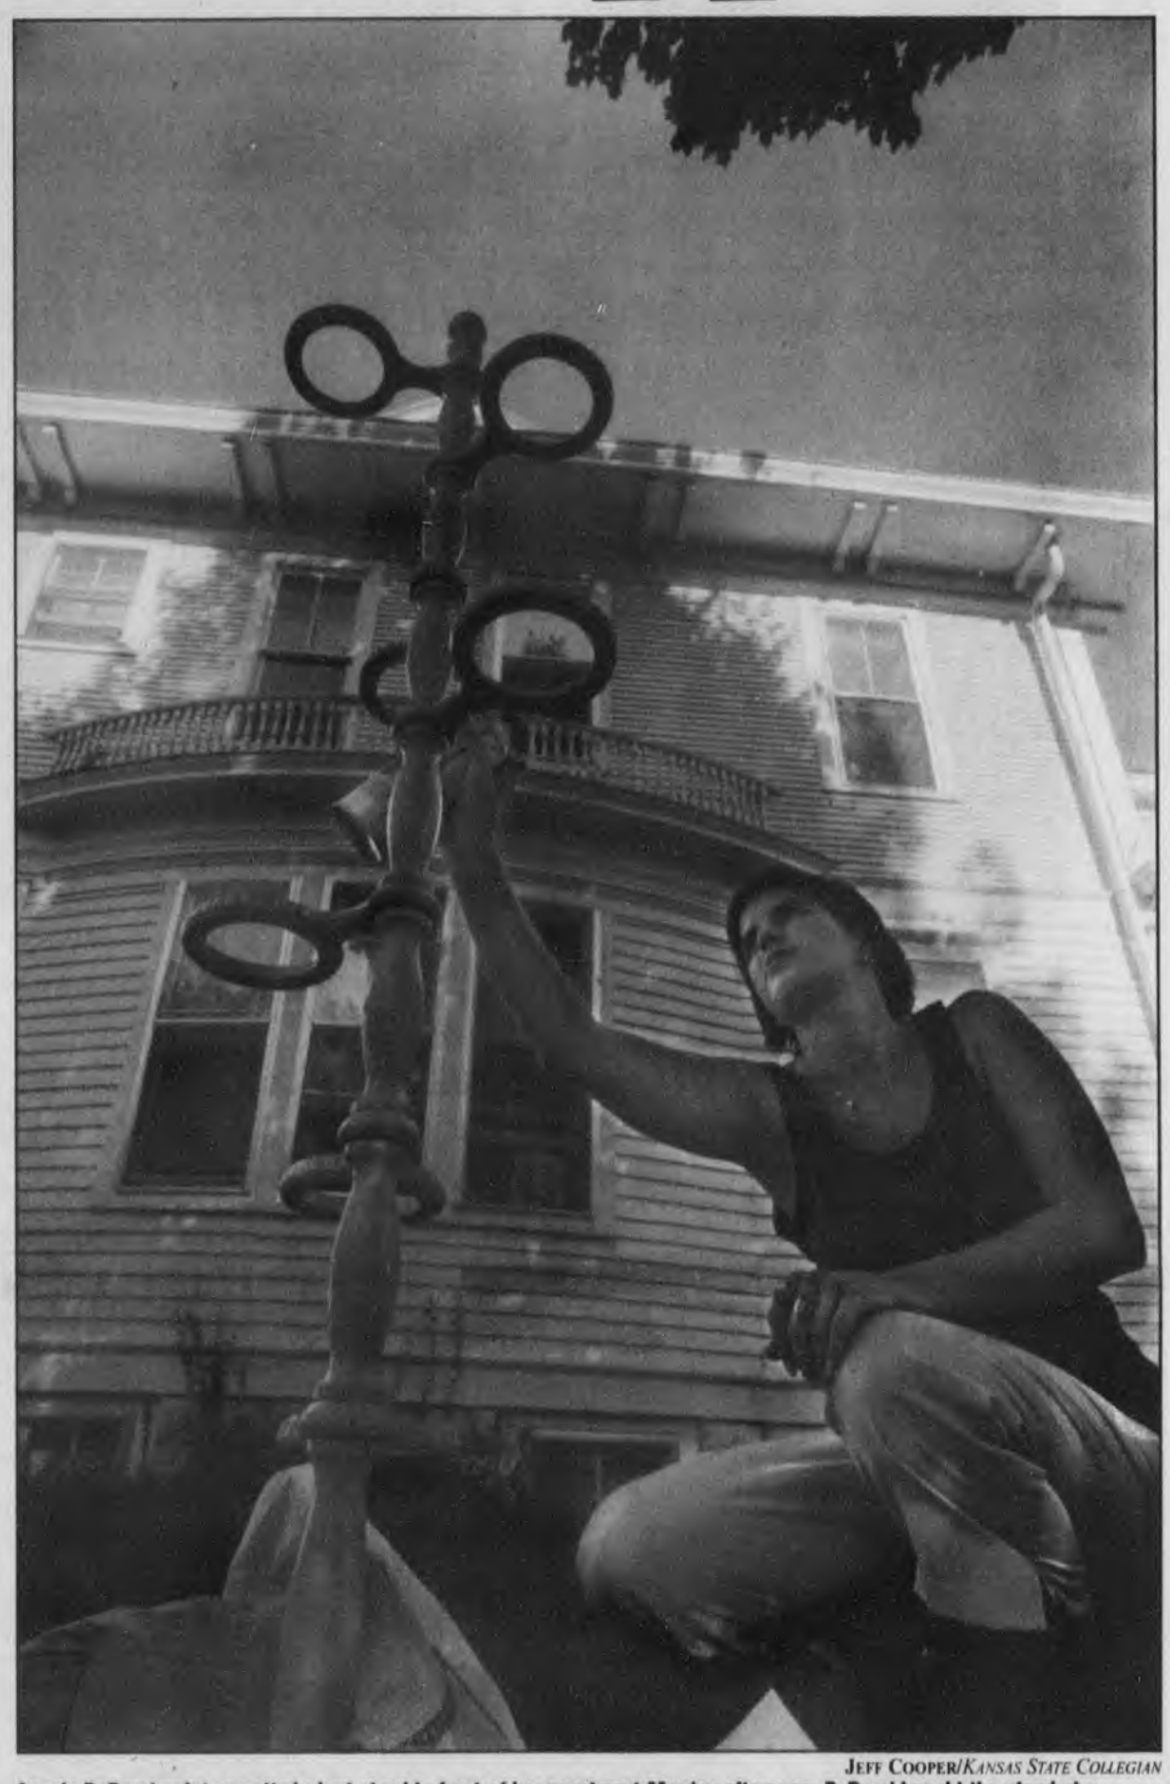
"Good prices and unique things," she said, like her mosaic table, or the shot glass that has drink recipes on it. Michaelis said she enjoys finding conversation pieces.

DeRossi and Michaelis have both developed strategies for finding the best goods.

Michaelis said she usually checks the classified ads in the Manhattan Mercury and then maps out her route. She said it's also a good idea to take small bills, be the first person at a sale and look for sales put on by large groups or organizations.

"Those are the best of all," she said. "It saves you lots of time."

DeRossi said she avoids sales in areas surrounding campus, where students typically live.



"The best people to buy from are older ladies," she said.

DeRossi also said she leaves home by 8 a.m. on Saturdays, and she isn't afraid to haggle.

"I'll always bargain with people," she said. "If they want too much money I tell them 'You've got to be kidding!'"

DeRossi has a box of extra wall sconces and candle holders on her living room floor. In the corner of the room is a stack of artwork that needs to be hung. But even with all her treasures, she said she still spends as many Saturday mornings at garage sales as she can.

"If I could go every weekend, I would," DeRossi said.

JEFF COOPER/KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Angela DeRossi paints a potted-plant stand in front of her apartment Monday afternoon. DeRossi bought the stand at a garage sale. "I don't usually leave anything the way it is," DeRossi said. "You have to be willing to be creative."

'King and I' begins Wednesday

BY CORBIN H. CRABLE
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Ten years after its last performance at K-State, "The King And I" returns to Manhattan at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday, kicking off the 1998-99 McCain Performance Series.

The musical, by Rodgers and Hammerstein, whose credits include "Oklahoma!" and "South Pacific," was last performed in McCain Auditorium in April 1988.

In "The King And I," a young English widow is hired to instruct the children of the King of Siam on the ways of Western civilization. Along the way, the King and the young widow, Anna, learn much about each other, and their friendship soon blossoms into genuine affection.

The musical made its debut on Broadway in 1951, won a Tony Award the following year and was made into a motion picture starring Yul Brenner and Deborah Kerr in 1956.

From 1956 until his death in 1995, Brenner had portrayed the King of Siam more than 4,600 times onstage.

McCain director Richard Martin said McCain normally doesn't present shows more than once unless they are extremely popular, as is the case with "The King And I."

"I don't want to repeat shows unless they're in demand," Martin said. "And this production certainly is."

While "The King And I" tour coming to McCain doesn't include stars like Brenner or Kerr, Martin said he still was eager to add the show to this season's performance series. He said he believes the touring musical is being done just as well as its Broadway counterpart.

"College students should have the chance to see Broadway musicals done professionally," he said.

Martin said he doesn't consider how famous or well-known the actors in a musical are when he schedules the performances; he said it is more the name of the musical itself that will attract audiences.

"Just because the show doesn't have big stars in them doesn't mean I'll reject them from performing," he said.

Martin said that since the performance is live, there will be changes from what audiences might expect if they are well-acquainted with the movie.

"There are some things you can do on television that you can't do onstage," Martin said, "but this performance will be live, and to me that's the magic of theater. It's not canned. Seeing things live makes the difference."

'The Full Monty' kicks off film series

BY CORBIN H. CRABLE
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

"The Full Monty" ushered in a new season of films from the Union Program Council on Monday night.

"The Full Monty," sponsored by the UPC Satellite Theatre Committee, was shown in K-State Student Union's Forum Hall. As a "welcome back" to the students, admission to the event was free.

In "The Full Monty," six men who are down on their luck decide to make a few dollars working as male strippers. It was nominated for best picture at the Academy Awards in March.

An organization called the Network Event Theatre chose this feature as its welcome-back event. The Satellite Theatre Committee usually shows NET's events for free, UPC adviser Heide McBride said.

She said there is another benefit for students who attend Satellite Theatre events.

"Satellite Theatre features films that haven't been released yet, while Feature and Kaleidoscope films are second-run," she said. "In the past, we've also premiered HBO specials. For instance, we showed HBO's 'Stomp' last year."

While McBride said she is proud of the Satellite Theatre Committee, she said she also is interested in what the Feature and Kaleidoscope film committees have planned for this year.

One of the movies that already has been decided on is James Cameron's 1997 box-office hit, "Titanic." It will be presented on Sept. 18 and 19, although no times have been decided yet. McBride said that at each showing of "Titanic" there will be a free drawing to win a "Titanic" movie posters.

DILBERT

MANN HATTEN

AARON FRUEHLING

A hot day turned into a hot night. waves of heat penetrated my office through closed windows. B.B. King sang about Lucille on the radio as the cars below splashed through pothole ponds.

A POWERCAT REFLECTION

A mirrored Powercat license plate reflects a Powercat shadow on the ground Wednesday morning. The tag was on a Ford pickup in the parking lot of Haymaker Hall.

CLIF PALMBERG/KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Lawyers negotiating settlement between Dole, radio talk-show host

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

KANSAS CITY, Mo. — A trial concerning a radio talk-show host's allegations that Bob Dole helped an Overland Park, Kan., woman get an abortion was canceled Monday, and lawyers said they are negotiating a settlement.

In 1997, Phyllis Wells Smith sued KMBZ radio talk-show host Steve Glorioso and station owner Bonneville International Corp., claiming defamation of character.

The claim stemmed from a September 1996 broadcast of Glorioso's "Friendly Fire" show.

Glorioso was discussing Dole, the Republican presidential nominee at the time and former Kansas senator. According to the lawsuit, Glorioso said Dole had an affair with a woman named Phyllis Wells in the early 1970s.

The lawsuit quoted Glorioso as saying, in part: "It's right here in Kansas City, that he had an affair that was well-known with another woman named Phyllis Wells. She got pregnant. ... Had an abortion."

Bonneville no longer owns KMBZ, and Glorioso has since moved.

Lawyers for Bonneville and Wells declined to give any details about the settlement negotiations Monday.

The negotiations are likely to be resolved without the need for judicial intervention or further pursuit of legal action, said Steve Gorny, who represents Wells.

Bonneville lawyer Sam Colville said the two sides were fairly close to a settlement.

Dole and Wells have acknowledged they had an intimate relationship in the early 1970s. In a deposition Dole gave in April, he replied "absolutely not" when asked if Wells became pregnant during that relationship, if he had arranged an abortion for her, or if he had ever arranged an abortion for anyone.

Libyan intelligence agents to be tried overseas

BY GEORGE GEDDA
THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

WASHINGTON, D.C. — In a bid to end a 10-year impasse, the United States and Britain agreed Monday to allow two Libyan intelligence agents wanted in the bombing of Pan Am flight 103 to be tried in a Scottish court sitting in the Netherlands.

If Libya agrees, U.N. sanctions against Libya imposed in 1992 would be suspended, administration officials said. The sanctions would be lifted altogether if Libya cooperates completely with the judicial proceeding.

But if Libyan leader Moammar Gadhafi rejects the offer, the Clinton administration would seek to tighten existing U.N. sanctions and also add unilateral measures to those the United States already has applied.

The Dec. 21, 1988, bombing of the Pan Am flight over Lockerbie, Scotland, claimed the lives of 259 on board, including 189 Americans. Many victims on the London-to-New York flight were heading home for the religious holidays. Eleven people on the ground also were killed.

Previously, the United States and Britain had insisted the two Libyans be tried in the United States or Scotland, but Libya refused, arguing the men could not get a fair trial in either location.

Noting that Libya itself has suggested it is willing to deliver the suspects for trial by a Scottish court sitting in the third country, Secretary of State Madeleine Albright said the new plan is a way "to call the Libyan government's bluff."

"We now challenge Libya to turn promises into deeds," Albright said in a brief statement to reporters, calling the proposal a take-it-or-leave-it proposition that is not subject to negotiation or change. The trial would be conducted by a three-judge panel.

In London, British Foreign Secretary Robin Cook urged Libya to cooperate quickly and without equivocation, and asked U.N. Secretary-General Kofi Annan to inform Libya of the agreement and to seek arrangements for the transfer of the two accused men.

There was no immediate response from Libya.

However, Esmat Abdel-Meguid, secretary-general of the Arab League, told The Associated Press, "This is a positive development, but we have to wait to see the substance and contents of their offer." Abdel-Meguid said he has attempted to find a compromise in the Pan Am case for several years.

But Frank Rubino of Miami, a U.S. attorney on a six-member international defense team for the accused, said he believes Libya will reject the proposal. Libya contends that any jury convened in a third country should be impaneled with international jurists, he said.

The Anglo-American proposal contemplates an all-Scottish show: the court, the prosecutor, the law and the judges. The maximum sentence would be 30 years.

U.N. Security Council resolutions hold Libya accountable not only for Pan Am 103 but also for the September 1989 bombing of a French airliner over Niger that killed 170 people.

American officials, said they believe the Pan Am bombing was in retaliation for the U.S. bombing of Tripoli and Banghazi in April 1986. President Reagan had ordered that attack in retaliation for the murder, allegedly by Libyan agents, of two American soldiers at a Berlin disco.

Monday's announcement came four days after the U.S. bombing of sites in Sudan and Afghanistan in retaliation for the Aug. 7 terrorist attacks at U.S. Embassies in Tanzania and Kenya. In London, Cook said there was no linkage between Thursday's attacks and the announcement.

Libya was not among the initial suspects after the Pan Am bombing. It was not until June 1991 that the Bush administration alleged the operation was directed by Libyan intelligence officers Abdel Basset Ali Megrahi and Lamen Khalifa Fhimah.

collegian Explore it! http://collegian.ksu.edu

5¢ Self-serve copying, 8½"x11", single side, white paper
Claflin Books and Copies
1814 Claflin Road 776-3771

Let's Draw!!!
$1.50 Mixed Drinks
50¢ DRAWS
LONGHORNS BAR & GRILL
1115 Moro 776-8770
Aggieville, USA
18 & over

Gambino's Pizza®
Free 6 pack of Coke with any medium or large pizza purchased at menu price
*Tuesdays Only
Open late Friday and Saturday nights.
537-9090

Back to School
complete auto detail only $45!
NO EXPIRATION DATE
Budget Car Care
717 S. 6th St.
537-1496

Pregnancy Testing Center
539-3338
•Free pregnancy testing
•Totally confidential service
•Same day results
•Call for appointment
Located across from campus in Anderson Village
Mon.-Fri. 9 a.m.-5 p.m.

PIZZA SHUTTLE DELIVERS
776-5577
1800 Claflin Road

Want A Challenge?
OFFICER TRAINING SCHOOL
Start your career off on the right foot by enrolling in the Air Force Officer Training School. There you will become a commissioned officer in just 12 weeks. From the start you'll enjoy great pay, complete medical and dental care, 30 days of vacation each year, plus the opportunity to travel and see the world. To discover how high a career in the Air Force can take you, call 1-800-423-USAF, or visit our website at www.airforce.com
AIM HIGH AIR FORCE
www.airforce.com

Looking for a job?
Bring your résumé
&
attend the Part-Time Job Expo
Tuesday, August 25
9 a.m. - 4 p.m.
K-State Student Union Courtyard Area
Sponsored by Career and Employment Services and the Chamber of Commerce Education Committee
For information contact CES: 100 Holtz, Manhattan, KS 66506
(785) 532-6506 FAX: (785) 532-6802 www.ksu.edu/ces or e-mail: ces@ksu.edu

Varney's Book Store Has
Fabulous Prizes!
When you come into Varney's and buy your SUPPLIES and TEXTBOOKS sign-up to win our FREE FABULOUS PRIZES.
We are giving away
Two Mountain Bikes
A 20" Color Television
An RCA Stereo System
Three Radio Boom Boxes
Sign-up now until the drawing August 31, 1998 at the Varney's Book Store art table. No purchase necessary. See Varney's for details.

CLASSIFIEDS

DEADLINES

Classified ads must be placed by noon the day before you want your ad to run. Classified display ads must be placed by 4 p.m. two working days prior to the date you want your ad to run. CALL 532-6555

000 BULLETIN BOARD

010

Announcements

ADVANCED FLIGHT TRAINING from 7,500-hour ATP instructor. Private single-engine through ATP multiengine. Hugh Irvin, 539-3128 evenings.

BIG DAWG Marina has Jet skis and pontoon boats for rent. 776-3113.

DISCOVER SCUBA: Complete lessons, low cost, college credit available. Aggie Dive Shop, 539-DIVE.

MARY KAY®
define Your style
With color cosmetics from Mary Kay, we can create a look that complements your lifestyle and is as individual as you are. It's easy. Just call me today for your free consultation.
Paula Smith
INDEPENDENT BEAUTY CONSULTANT
Toll free 1-877-788-2899
E-mail Psenterp@aol.com
Web page: www.mkinet.com/12/psmith1.html

FREE FOOTBALL tickets. Register at Mr. P's Party Outlet, 318 Poyntz Ave.

LEARN TO FLY! K-State Flying Club has five airplanes, lowest rates. For information call 537-8406.

020

Lost and Found

Found ads can be placed free for three days.

LOST: MEN'S gold wedding band on August 17th. Engraved on inside "To infinity" Reward if found. 776-0914.

100 HOUSING/REAL ESTATE

Manhattan City Ordinance 4814 assures every person equal opportunity in housing without distinction on account of race, sex, familial status, military status, disability, religion, age, color, national origin or ancestry. Violations should be reported to the Director of Human Resources at City Hall, 587-2440.

105

For Rent-Apts. Furnished

ABSOLUTELY AS good a deal as you'll find. Two-bedroom basement, central air, washer/ dryer. Beautiful house, above reasonable. 539-9345.

ONE-BEDROOM BASEMENT, fireplace, walk to campus. Quiet, gas and water paid. No pets, no smoking. Lease, $250 deposit, $325/ month. 537-3737

TWO-BEDROOM BASEMENT apartment. Close to campus, $450, all utilities paid except cable television. 776-1214.

TWO-BEDROOM FURNISHED apartment. New carpet, microwave, close to campus, $550, all utilities paid except cable television. 776-1214.

UNIVERSITY COMMONS. Available: fully furnished, individual leases, washer/ dryer in each unit, roommate matching service, pool, sand vollleyball, lighted tennis and basketball courts, monitored security, reserved parking. No appointment necessary. M-F 9a.m.- 6p.m., 10a.m.- 4p.m., 539-0500.

110

For Rent-Apt. Unfurnished

ATHREE-BEDROOM, spacious, one-half block to KSU, central air and heat, pets OK, $540, 776-8465.

ACROSS STREET from campus, four-bedroom, appliances, central air/heat off-street parking. 539-2632.

AUGUST FREE! Two-bedroom, spacious, dishwasher, $395-$425. 776-8455.

AVAILABLE NOW. Studio and one-bedrooms, some furnished. Most utilities paid. Clean and quiet, central locations, some pets accepted. 537-8389.

MOVE IN TODAY
1 & 4 Bedrooms All close to campus
ABBOTT
ABBOTT management,inc.
Call 776-1340

FOUR-BEDROOM CLOSE to campus, two bath, dishwasher, central air/heat, water/trash paid. Free laundry, good price. 537-2255 or 537-7810.

FOUR-BEDROOM, TWO bath 1300 square feet. Water/ trash paid. Discounted cable with HBO. 776-3663.

NOW LEASING one to four-bedroom apartments/ houses. Call Alliance Property Management. 539-4357 for current list.

Chase Manhattan Apartments
1,2,3, or 4 person occupancy. Short term leases available. Water and Trash paid. Discounted cable package HBO, Encore, and Expanded Basic.
Call us Today 776-3663

Now Available!
Large 2-Bedrooms
Sandstone Apts.
Cambridge Sq. Apts.
Hill Investments
537-9064

THREE-BEDROOM, AUGUST free, washer/ dryer, huge, $540. 776-8455.

THREE-BEDROOM, TWO bath apartment available for August. Very spacious. Dishwasher, microwave, pool, laundry and carports. Call Sara at 537-7007.

Spacious 1 & 2 Bedrooms
Available Now!
1 block from Campus
Laundry Water/Trash Paid
Lee Crest Apartments
539-7961

WOODWAY APARTMENTS
STOP!
DO NOT RENT AN APARTMENT UNTIL YOU CONSIDER THIS!
•Sparkling swimming pool
•Spacious decks/patios
•Avail. June 5 Aug. 6
•Kitchen Appliances include microwave and dishwasher
•On site laundry facilities
•Economical gas heat
3 BDRM, 2 BATH $714, $723
4 BDRM, 2 BATH $836, $856
Office: 2400 Kimball Ave. at College Ave. (Across from Bramlage) Call Sara at 537-7007 for an appointment.

TWO, THREE and four-bedroom apartments water/ trash paid, discounted cable with HBO. Going fast. 776-3663.

TWO-BEDROOM DUPLEX very nice, clean, gas, window air, carpet, close to campus. Big bargain, $400. 537-2289.

UNIVERSITY TERRACE APARTMENTS. College Ave. Large three-bedroom apartments with washer, dryer hook-ups. 537-2096.

120

For Rent-Houses

1106 KEARNEY- one and one-half blocks from campus. Three-bedrooms, one bath, kitchen, living room, washer and dryer hookups. Available September 1, 1998, $650/ month. Century 21 Knight Real Estate, 537-2111.

KSU THREE BLOCKS. Three-bedroom, one bath, central air, laundry hookups, garage, small pets considered, 1517 Pipher. 539-4087, leave message.

ONE- OR TWO-BEDROOM, living room with hardwood floors. Walk to class. No pets, smoking, drinking. $350 plus utilities. 539-1554.

THREE-BEDROOM, CLOSE to campus, attached garage. Stove, refrigerator. Available immediately. (765)463-5014.

TWO, TWO-BEDROOM houses available. One located in town and one in country. Stove, refrigerator, air-conditioning. No pets. 539-1975 or (785) 396-4344.

130

For Rent-Mobile Homes

MALE ROOMMATE wanted. Three-bedroom trailer in a quiet neighborhood. No smoking, no pets. $225 a month plus utilities. 776-6147.

135

For Sale-Mobile Homes

1972 HILLCREST trailer, 12'X50', two-bedroom, (316) 442-3450.

DON'T WASTE your money on rent, when you could own: 16'x70' 1986 Schult. Sunken living room, vaulted ceiling, built-in china hutch, lots of cabinet space, large kitchen, dining room, two large bedrooms, one bath, refrigerator, stove, dishwaser, 8'x8' deck, fenced yard, swing set, new paint, new shingled roof, great location, Bergman school. Must see to appreciate. Call for showing 776-3226.

145

Roommate Wanted

FEMALE ROOMMATE to share newly remodeled three-bedroom house with laundry facilities, close to KSU stadium and rec center; $250/ month plus one-third utilities; 776-1926, ask for Sarah.

FEMALE ROOMMATE sharing a two-bedroom apartment. Non-smoker. Water and trash paid for. $212 rent. Contact Brandi at (785) 387-2206.

Available Now
Clean Roomy 2 Bedroom, 1½ Bath in 9 plex. No Pets, 1 yr. lease. $400/month. 3032 Kimball Call Kay @ 539-3846

FEMALE ROOMMATE to share NICE two-bedroom apartment across from college. $260 a month. 776-4891.

FEMALE ROOMMATE, non-smoker for two-bedroom mobile home. Furnished, $155 plus one-half KPL. 587-0157.

MALE AG majors desire roommate. $200/ month plus utilities, August lease available. Close to campus and Aggieville. No smoking/ drinking. Call 770-9072.

MALE NEEDED for furnished basement. Washer/ dryer without meter. No smoking, drinking, or pets. Walk to class. 539-1554

MALE/ FEMALE to share four-bedroom house- half mile to campus and Aggieville. Call 537-5109.

QUIET, RESPONSIBLE graduate student looking for non-smoking, non-drinking roommate for small two-bedroom house just outside of town. Call 539-4135 or 776-5716.

ROOMMATE WANTED- University Terrace Apartments- $175/ month plus one-third utilities, non-smoking. 770-9665.

SERIOUS STUDENT and two cats must share nice two-bedroom apartment close to campus. $225/ month plus one-half utilities. Kim 776-4491, leave message.

165

Storage Space

STORAGE CITY. Share storage space and cost with a friend, four miles east of Manhattan on Hwy 24. Call 776-1976.

200 SERVICE DIRECTORY

255

Other Services

YOUNG STUDENT mother wants to get back into shape. Needs someone to help train and motivate. Requires fitness knowledge, must have access to KSU Rec Center/ Natatorium. Please send letter of interest ASAP to Box 1, Collegian.

300 EMPLOYMENT/OPPORTUNITIES

310

Help Wanted

$800 WEEKLY POTENTIAL. Processing Government refunds at home. No experience necessary. 1-800-696-4779- Ext. 1608.

Manhattan City Ordinance 4814 assures every person equal opportunity in securing and holding employment in any field of work or labor for which he/ she is properly qualified regardless of race, sex, military status, disability, religion, age, color, national origin or ancestry. Violations should be reported to the Director of Human Resources at City Hall, 587-2441.

The Collegian cannot verify the financial potential of advertisements in the Employment/Career classification. Readers are advised to approach any such employment opportunity with reasonable caution. The Collegian urges our readers to contact the Better Business Bureau, 501 SE Jefferson, Topeka, KS 66607-1190. (785)232-0454.

Baskin 31 Robbins
Baskin Robbins is taking applications to fill full & part-time positions. Must be able to work days & nights.
Apply at 1201 Westloop
Baskin 31 Robbins

$7- $8/ HOUR. Just Roses is accepting applications for part-time weekend/ evening sales help. Must be 18 years old, have transportation, and enjoy working with the public. Call Rosemary at 776-7123.

BABYSITTING OPPORTUNITY. Seeking reliable child care in home for Monday, Wednesday, Friday- 537-9092.

BOCKERS II Catering now hiring immediately for banquet wait staff and bartenders. Evenings and weekends. Apply 2321 Skyvue Lane, or see us at the Job Fair, KSU Union Tuesday 9a.m. - 4p.m.

BREADEAUX PIZZA: Day help, evening and weekend drivers. Breadeaux Pizza, 3033 Anderson. 537-5080.

COMPUTER INFORMATION Specialist, Dept. of Agricultural Economics, KSU– Part-time to Full-time position responsible for providing computer software support on basic PC software applications (spreadsheet, word processing, and database programs) and specialized software programs used in economic and statistical analysis, and creating and maintaining databases. Qualificatons: B.S. degree in economics, computer science, information systems, statistics, business, or other field which involves the manipulation and analysis of quantitative data; demonstrated proficiency in the use of basic PC software applications; and the proven ability to develop and manage large databases. Applicants are requested to submit a letter of application, resume, and arrange for three letters of reference to Dan Bernardo, Dept. of Agricultural Economics, 342 Waters Hall, Kansas State University, Manhattan, KS 66506-4011. Deadline for applications is September 10, 1998. For further information, call (785) 532-6702.

DELIVERY DRIVERS . Gambino's Pizza now hiring drivers. Must be 18, own dependable car. Apply in person at 2708 Anderson. Base wage, tips and delivery fees.

FAMILY-OPERATED SWINE and crop farm 25 miles northeast of Manhattan needs full or part-time help. (785) 457-2873 days, (785) 457-3562 evenings.

FARM HELP wanted. Experience necessary. Will work around class schedule. (785) 457-3452 or (785) 457-3713 evenings.

FISH SALESPERSON needed. Must be available 20 hours including weekends. Must have knowledge and experience with a variety of tropical fish and marine, pet store experience preferred. Apply in person at Pets-N-Stuff, 1105 Waters St.

HELP WANTED. Earn up to $375 weekly assembling MEDICAL ID CARDS at home. Immediate openings, your area. Call 1-520-505-4411 Ext. D588.

HELP WANTED: Mr. P's Party Outlet, 318 Poyntz. Please see Pat or Walt.

ITALIAN RESTAURANT: day, night dish washer, kitchen help wanted. 539-9300.

JANITOR NEEDED: Part-time, 5:00 a.m.- 11 a.m. Needs to be self-motivated, dependable and hard-working with an eye for detail. Apply in person Mon-Fri, 8:00 a.m.- 4:00 p.m., Manhattan Country Club, 1531 N. 10th.

KITCHEN HELP wanted. Apply at 1213 Moro, Manhattan, KS.

MOTIVATED OUTGOING individual to help business get off the ground. Set your own hours, work from home. Great experience for marketing majors. Wages based on productivity, no experience required. Please send resume to P.O. Box 28, Sabetha, KS 66534 by September 7th.

PART AND Full-time landscaping jobs. 776-1930.

PART-TIME EMPLOYMENT- Want a GREAT part-time job, working on a GREAT team, in a GREAT on-campus location? Derby, Kramer, and Van Zile Dining centers are hiring KSU students for service and custodial positions. Beginning pay $5.30 per hour. Raises scheduled. Very flexible, you chose the times you want to work. Morning, noon, evening, and weekend hours available. Apply in person between the hours of 9:00 a.m.-4:00 p.m. at Derby Dining Center(room 129), Kramer Dining Center (hiring office), or Van Zile Dining Center (foodservice office). AA/EOE.

PART-TIME lifeguards needed through October 4. Apply in person, Manhattan Country Club. 1531 N. 10th. Must have up to date certifications.

SPRING BREAK '99-- Sell Trips, Earn Cash & Go Free! STS is now hiring campus reps. Lowest rates to Jamaica, Mexico and Florida. Call 800-648-4849 or apply online at www.ststravel.com

STORE CLERK: 2 - 3 weeknights 5:30 - 11p.m. Saturday afternoons 12:00 - 5:30 p.m. Cash register experience helpful. Contact Jeff, 537-7229.

STUDENT HELP needed 2a.m.- 6a.m. every other day. Apply Printing Services, 10 Kedzie.

TUTORING HIGH school students for K-State's Upward Bound Math and Science Program. Contact: Lynne Davy at 532-6374 for application.

WE'RE LOOKING for a piano teacher for beginner lessons. Leave a message 537-4667.

WRITER. K-State News Services has an opening for a student news writer who can produce articles quickly and accurately. Work 12-15 hours per week. Flexible schedules. High school or college journalism experience required. Pick up an application in 9 Anderson Hall.

340

Fundraisers/ Scholarships

KAUFFMAN ENTREPRENEURSHIP INTERNSHIP PROGRAM–Internships are immediately available for Fall 1998. Interns will: work 15-20 hours/ week with local business, receive 3 hours of undergraduate course credit, earn minimum wage pay, receive scholarship (for tuition reimbursement), and gain excellent opportunity to learn from successful mentor. Send or bring letter of application and resume by August 31 to: Dr. Brian Niehoff or Dr. Donita Whitney-Bammerlin, Department of Management, Calvin Hall Room 101, College of Business Administration, or call 532-6296.

400 OPEN MARKET

410

Items for Sale

ANTIQUES, COLLECTIBLES, tools, books, furniture, estate jewelry, beer signs, thousands of curious goods. Time Machine Antique Maul and Flea Market. 4910 Skyway Dr. between Briggs and airport. 539-4684.

FOR SALE: Color printer, Java software, answering machine, two tents, Star Trek collectibles, photographer's easel. 537-2497 Russ.

GIANT MOUNTAIN Bike and Silver Trumpet for sale. Must sell soon. Please call 776-7028.

KING SIZE waterbed with six drawers. Good condition. 776-2047.

QUEEN SIZE futon, twin futon and frame, good condition, $50 each or negotiable, call 539-7683.

QUEEN SIZE waterbed, 70%, lawnmower 20", coffee/ end tables, electric grill, aquarium with kit, lots of miscellaneous. Desk calculator, printer, deep fryer, answering machine. (785) 494-2190.

SEALY FULL size box springs and mattress, $125. 776-9313.

SINGLE BED loft $50, includes delivery. (785)632-6496.

415

Furniture to Buy/Sell

615 NORTH 3rd. Wohler's Used Furniture, antiques, appliances, beer signs, miscellaneous. Check it out.

435

Computers

MACINTOSH PERFORMA 636CD with monitor, laser printer, and numerous programs and games. $700 or best offer. Call 776-8315 after 5.

445

Music Instruments

WELCOME TO The Music Co.! Our business is making you sound the best you can, and leaving a little gas money in your pocket. In-store right now: Artley, Ampeg, Alvarez, Marshall, Fernandes, Sovtek, Takamine, Fender, Dean, Peavey, Tama, Ludwig, Mapex, Crate, Audio- Centron, Sans- Amp, and more! Still the best deal on the planet! The Music Co., the story continues. 523 S 17th Street in Manhattan. 539-1958.

500 TRANSPORTATION

510

Automobiles

1988 CHEVY Silverado 350, automatic. 776-9705.

1991 TAURUS GL V6, cruise, power windows, locks, four-door, good condition. $3500 or best offer. 776-3606.

1993 FORD Ranger XLT. Extended cab, 4.0 liter V6, five-speed, 76K miles. Excellent condition. $8700 or best offer. 537-3516.

1993 PONTIAC Grand Am. $4500. Evenings. 537-9019

1995 KSU purple Ford Ranger, excellent condition, CD player, 31,000 miles, 5-speed. Blue Book $12,500 asking $9500. Rochelle- 776-1453, leave message.

1995 NISSAN pick-up, blue. 54,000 miles, contact Augy or Kara after 5:30p.m. (785)456-2740.

530

Motorcycles

1989 KAWASAKI EX 500 red/ black. Very good condition, $1400 or best offer. 537-2289.

Collegian Classifieds will REEL in your customers
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN
532-6555

Worry about your baby while you're gone? The Collegian can help you.
A classified ad in the Collegian can help you find the right babysitter for your baby. Give us call at 532-6555 or come see us in 103 Kedzie.
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN
103 Kedzie (east of Union) 532-6555

Move In Immediately & Pay NO Aug. Rent!
TATTARAX APARTMENTS
• Close to campus & Aggieville
• Hardwood floors
• 4 bedroom - 2 person occupancy avail.
• $700/mo. ($465/mo. for 2 people)
CALL ABOUT OUR MOVE-IN SPECIAL!
CALL 776-3804
Managed by: McCullough Development
http://www.mfproperties.com

Move In IMMEDIATELY & Pay NO Aug. Rent!
- 2 Bedroom Units
1 & 2 person rates avail.
- Brittany Ridge Townhomes
3 & 4 person rates avail.
Call About Our Move-In Specials!
776-3804
McCullough Development 2700 Amherst

ClassifiedRATES

1 DAY
20 words or less $7.15
each word over 20 $.20 per word

2 DAYS
20 words or less $8.40
each word over 20 $.25 per word

3 DAYS
20 words or less $9.55
each word over 20 $.30 per word

4 DAYS
20 words or less $10.60
each word over 20 $.35 per word

5 DAYS
20 words or less $11.55
each word over 20 $.40 per word
(consecutive day rate)

HOW TO PAY
All classifieds must be paid in advance unless you have an account with Student Publications Inc. Cash, check, MasterCard or Visa are accepted. There is a $10 service charge on all returned checks. We reserve the right to edit, reject or properly classify any ad.

FREE FOUND ADS
As a service to you, we run found ads for three days free of charge.

CORRECTIONS
If you find an error in your ad, please call us. We accept responsibility only for the first wrong insertion.

CANCELLATIONS
If you sell your item before your ad has expired, we will refund you for the remaining days. You must call us before noon the day before the ad is to be published.

HEADLINES
For an extra charge, we'll put a headline above your ad to catch the reader's attention.

000 BULLETIN BOARD
100 HOUSING/REAL ESTATE
200 SERVICE DIRECTORY
300 EMPLOYMENT/OPPORTUNITIES
400 OPEN MARKET
500 TRANSPORTATION
600 TRAVEL/TRIPS

TO PLACE AN AD
Go to Kedzie 103 (across from the K-State Student Union). Office hours are Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. The office is open except on holidays.

BONNIE

■ continued from page 1

N.C., when Vernon Taft opened the business Monday morning. In 15 minutes, they were all gone.

"Everything we've got is committed," he said. "Some people are cutting trees down with chain saws. Trees that might fall on their houses.

By evening, Bonnie was skirting the northeastern side of the Bahamas. The 400-mile-wide storm was centered about 615 miles southeast of Savannah, its storm clouds not even reaching the mainland yet. The hurricane was wobbling toward the northwest at nearly 6 miles per hour.

"We're very much concerned about the coast, primarily Georgia and the Carolinas, but it could still be even as far west as northern Florida," Jarrell said.

The state of Virginia and other coastal communities banned swimming because of riptides, strong currents near the beaches that were blamed for two drownings over the weekend in South Carolina and Delaware. Hundreds of bathers had to be rescued at New Jersey beaches.

"People were getting sucked out left and right," Mark Palmer, a lifeguard at Margate Beach, said.

Beachgoers at Point Pleasant Beach, N.J., only were allowed into ankle-deep water Monday as waves 4 to 5 feet high crashed onto the sand.

"It just kind of ruins the beach day, as far as going in the water to cool off," said Ron Krysan, 42, of Downingtown, Pa., vacationing at Margate Beach with his wife and sons, ages 7 and 11. "You've got to keep an eye on the kids all the time, but more so today."

South Carolina Gov. David Beasley told 1,000 National Guardsmen to get ready in case the storm takes aim at that state's coast. Officials estimated there were 125,000 tourists in the state's beach towns.

Almost a decade ago, South Carolina was battered by Hurricane Hugo.

At Cape Canaveral, Fla., the inaugural launch of Boeing's newest rocket, the Delta III, was postponed until Wednesday because of the storm.

At Norfolk, Va., the Navy had not yet sent any of its ships out to the relative safety of the open sea. "We're sort of in a holding pattern, at least for another day," said Norfolk Naval Base spokeswoman Beth Baker.

Flooding devastating south Texas, Mexico

By KELLEY SHANNON
The Associated Press

DEL RIO, Texas — The remnants of Tropical Storm Charley caused flooding that washed away blocks of homes and killed 21 people in drought-stricken south Texas and Mexico. As many as 30 others were reported missing Monday in Del Rio.

Entire neighborhoods of this Texas border town of 34,000 were submerged as the floodwaters rolled across the parched land.

Del Rio, whose center is three miles from the Rio Grande, got nearly 18 inches of rain in the 24 hours that ended Monday morning.

"The flood wave is about a mile wide coming down the Rio Grande," Tom Millwee, state coordinator for the Texas Division of Emergency Management, said.

Police officer John Wilson said 20 to 30 people were still missing.

"We're still recovering bodies and all the low crossings, the creeks, have flooded," Wilson said.

Gov. George W. Bush sent 150 National Guardsmen, 25 trucks and nine Blackhawk helicopters to join the rescue effort.

Pools of water gleamed across the vast cactus-studded brush country surrounding the city. Creeks, gullies and rivers flowed out of their banks.

Fields of crops were covered with water.

In one area, large chunks of asphalt were strewn a block away from a parking lot that had been ripped up by raging floodwaters.

At Laughlin Air Force Base, a pilot training installation outside the city, rows of aircraft stood idle alongside lakes of water, which partially covered a runway.

There were seven flooding deaths in Del Rio, said U.S. Border Patrol spokeswoman Patty Mancha. They included Border Patrol trainee David Pyatte, who died while searching for family members in the Del Rio area, Mancha said.

"It's very bad," she said. "It doesn't seem like the same place we're accustomed to. It's pretty devastating."

Elsewhere in Texas, at least four people, including two children, died Sunday when a pickup truck was swept into a creek in Real County about 100 miles northwest of San Antonio. The driver, who had tried to go through 4 feet of water, was missing.

Along the Frio River, a 65-year-old man died Sunday of a heart attack while being evacuated because of rising water.

The Mexican news agency Notimex reported nine people died in neighboring Ciudad Acuna, Mexico, after they were washed away while trying to cross a normally dry gully while holding a rope.

In Del Rio, with rivers surging beyond their banks, law-enforcement agencies closed nearly every highway leading into the town about 145 miles west of San Antonio.

Neighborhoods around the flooded creeks were submerged, and several blocks of homes were washed away, along with mobile homes, Wilson said. The northern and southernmost ends of the city were without power. Hundreds of people were evacuated to shelters and churches.

Tess Casarez and her family were evacuated from their home through the kitchen window and spent the night at the Del Rio Civic Center.

"I remembered that the water was up to the door, and I called my mom and she told me to call 911 to get us out of there. Shortly after that it rose very quickly," Casarez said.

"I had other people's furniture in my yard that was stuck on what was left of my fence, and the car was moved from one side of the carport to the other."

Attention May 2000 Graduates

How would you like up to $7,000 to help pay for your last two years of school?

Interested?

Call Reid at 532-6600 to find out how.

AIR FORCE ROTC
LEADERSHIP EXCELLENCE STARTS HERE

InterKan.Net, Inc.

www.interkan.net

Dial-Up Internet Access
Fast, Reliable, Affordable

Sign up before September 1 and Get September FREE

1106 R Laramie
10-6 Monday-Friday
12-5 Saturday
Phone 565-0991

Monthly Rates
Unlimited Hours—$19.95
100 Hours—$12.50
30 Hours—$10.00
10 Hours—$7.50

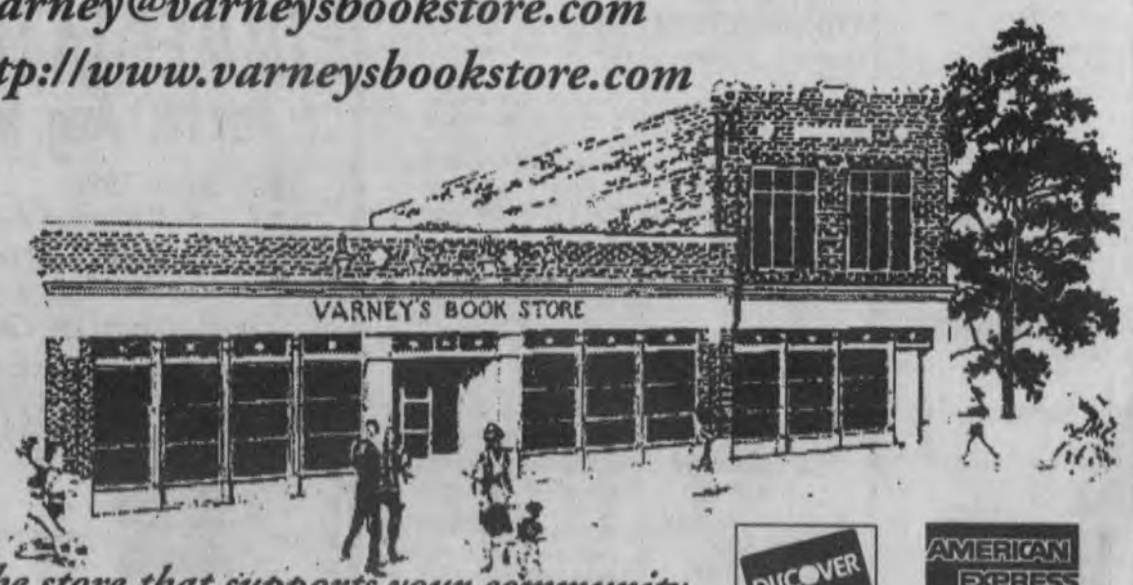
Not valid with other offers. No set-up fee with credit card payment

A SURE SIGN OF SAVINGS

USED BOOKS from

Varney's BOOK STORE IN AGGIEVILLE

THIS STICKER ON A TEXTBOOK HAS MEANT SAVINGS TO K-STATERS SINCE 1890. VARNEY'S BOOK STORE HAS A LARGE SELECTION OF USED BOOKS AND OUR FRIENDLY STAFF IS READY TO HELP YOU WITH ALL YOUR BOOK AND SUPPLY NEEDS.



Open 9 a.m. until 9 p.m. Monday thru Saturday, Noon until 5 p.m. Sunday

Varney's Bookstore carries books for all K-State Fall classes.

Phone 539-0511 E-MAIL: Varney@varneysbookstore.com
Fax 537-2351 HOMEPAGE: http://www.varneysbookstore.com

We gladly accept the Wildcat Card!

VISA MasterCard

Shop at the store that supports your community.

DISCOVER AMERICAN EXPRESS

RENOVATIONS UNDERWAY

The $1.5 million renovation to Frank Myers Field is hitting full stride.

■ SEE STORY ON PAGE 11

WEDNESDAY
AUGUST 26, 1998

KANSAS STATE UNIVERSITY, MANHATTAN, KAN.
VOLUME 103, NUMBER 3
COLLEGIAN.KSU.EDU

TODAY'S WEATHER

HIGH 90
LOW 68

Sub. Exp. Date: 00/00
Kansas State Historical Society
Newspaper Section
PO Box 3585
Topeka KS 66601

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Agents issue 61 alcohol citations in Manhattan

Liquor-enforcement effort targets Kansas college towns

BY TRAVIS D. LENKNER
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Alcoholic Beverage Control agents gave 61 citations and issued five license violations in Manhattan last weekend as part of a statewide liquor-enforcement effort in college towns.

Agents traveled to Emporia, as well, but gave only four citations, according to information released Tuesday by the agency.

Last week in Lawrence, 38 arrests were made.

Spokeswoman Sheila Walker said ABC agents typically travel to Kansas' college towns during enrollment periods to make their presence known.

"The effort in college towns is ongoing. It doesn't end," Walker said. "We step up the effort at the start of each semester to let students know that we do have a presence there."

Last year, in a similar enforcement effort, ABC made only 27 arrests in Manhattan — the most of any college-enforcement effort last year.

Twenty-two minors were found drinking in Aggieville bars, and Walker said ABC will issue license violations to five bars that were found serving to minors last weekend. The names of the bars won't be released until citations are issued, which Walker said should be in about four weeks.

Enforcement Manager Dean Reynoldson said six agents spent the weekend in Manhattan, checking bars and catered parties and running a cops-in-shops operation in 10 local liquor stores.

"We had an enforcement officer who stood inside the store as a customer. When a person who appeared to be underage attempted to purchase liquor, the agent asked the person for identification," Reynoldson said. "If they were underage or had a false ID, the officer identified themselves and explained that they were under arrest for attempting to purchase liquor."

Reynoldson said agents also positioned themselves outside the stores to see if legal drinkers were providing alcohol to minors. They were.

"Part of our increase was because of the furnished cases that we detected. Those were higher than normal," he said.

Agents caught 14 underage people attempting to buy alcohol; eight adults were arrested outside the liquor stores for furnishing alcohol to minors.

Reynoldson said pairs of agents work throughout the year, stopping all over the state to enforce Kansas alcohol statutes.

Efforts like the one last weekend aren't so common, but he said that could change this year because of the high number of Aggieville violations.

"We probably do that three or four times a year," Reynoldson said. "But we're probably going to spend a little more time there this year.

"It's the level of compliance among licensees in Aggieville — we need to improve that rate of compliance," he said.

ABC also made eight arrests at catered events in Manhattan, such as fraternity parties where independent caterers are hired to serve alcohol.

Those catering firms also receive their licenses from ABC and must notify the agency when they are scheduled to serve liquor.

Riley County District Court documents released Tuesday list violations at the addresses of the Delta Tau Delta and Sigma Nu fraternity houses. Eight violations also were listed for the 1900 block of Grandview Drive, a vacant lot abutting Sunset Avenue.

The addresses pinpoint the location where the violations occurred, not the offenders' home addresses.

Four violations were found at the address of Delta Tau Delta. When asked if the fraternity had been host to a party Saturday night, no one at the house would comment.

A Sigma Nu member said he couldn't comment on whether the house had been host to a party. The address was listed with five violations. The Sigma Nu social chair could not be reached for comment.

Walker said the names of the catering firms who worked at parties with violations won't be released for a few weeks.

North Carolina residents race inland to safety

BY ESTES THOMPSON
THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

NAGS HEAD, N.C. — More than a half-million tourists and residents were ordered to leave North Carolina's coastal islands Tuesday as Hurricane Bonnie closed in with gathering speed.

Hurricane-force winds could hit the coast by daybreak today.

By early Tuesday afternoon, traffic was bumper-to-bumper on roads leading inland from North Carolina's Outer Banks as people tried to get out of the way of Bonnie, a behemoth of a storm with winds of 115 mph.

Many residents were unwilling to take the chance that the first hurricane of the Atlantic season would follow the path of some previous storms and take a last-minute turn out to sea.

"This is a big sucker," said Sterling Webster, a resident of coastal Dare County on the Outer Banks.

"It's very, very frustrating. We're eating some serious rent," Jane Hanley said as she, her husband and two children were about to cut short their long-planned vacation in Nags Head and go back home to Sparks, Md.

On Monday, Bonnie's path was so slow and wobbly forecasters were unsure when or even if it might hit land. But by Tuesday night, the storm was centered about 250 miles south of Cape Lookout and was pushing toward the northwest at 16 mph — three times faster than a day earlier.

Hurricane warnings were posted from

By early Tuesday afternoon, traffic was bumper-to-bumper leading inland from North Carolina's Outer Banks as people tried to get out of the way of Bonnie, a behemoth of a storm with winds of 115 mph.

Chincoteague, Va., to Cape Romain, S.C. Swimming was banned at beaches as far north as New York's Long Island as Bonnie kicked up dangerously rough surf up and down the East Coast. Four New Jersey lifeguards had to be rescued Tuesday after being overpowered by rough surf in Point Pleasant Beach.

More than 330,000 people were ordered off North Carolina's coastal islands. Nearly 200,000 more, including 120,000 tourists, were instructed to leave South Carolina's two northernmost coastal counties.

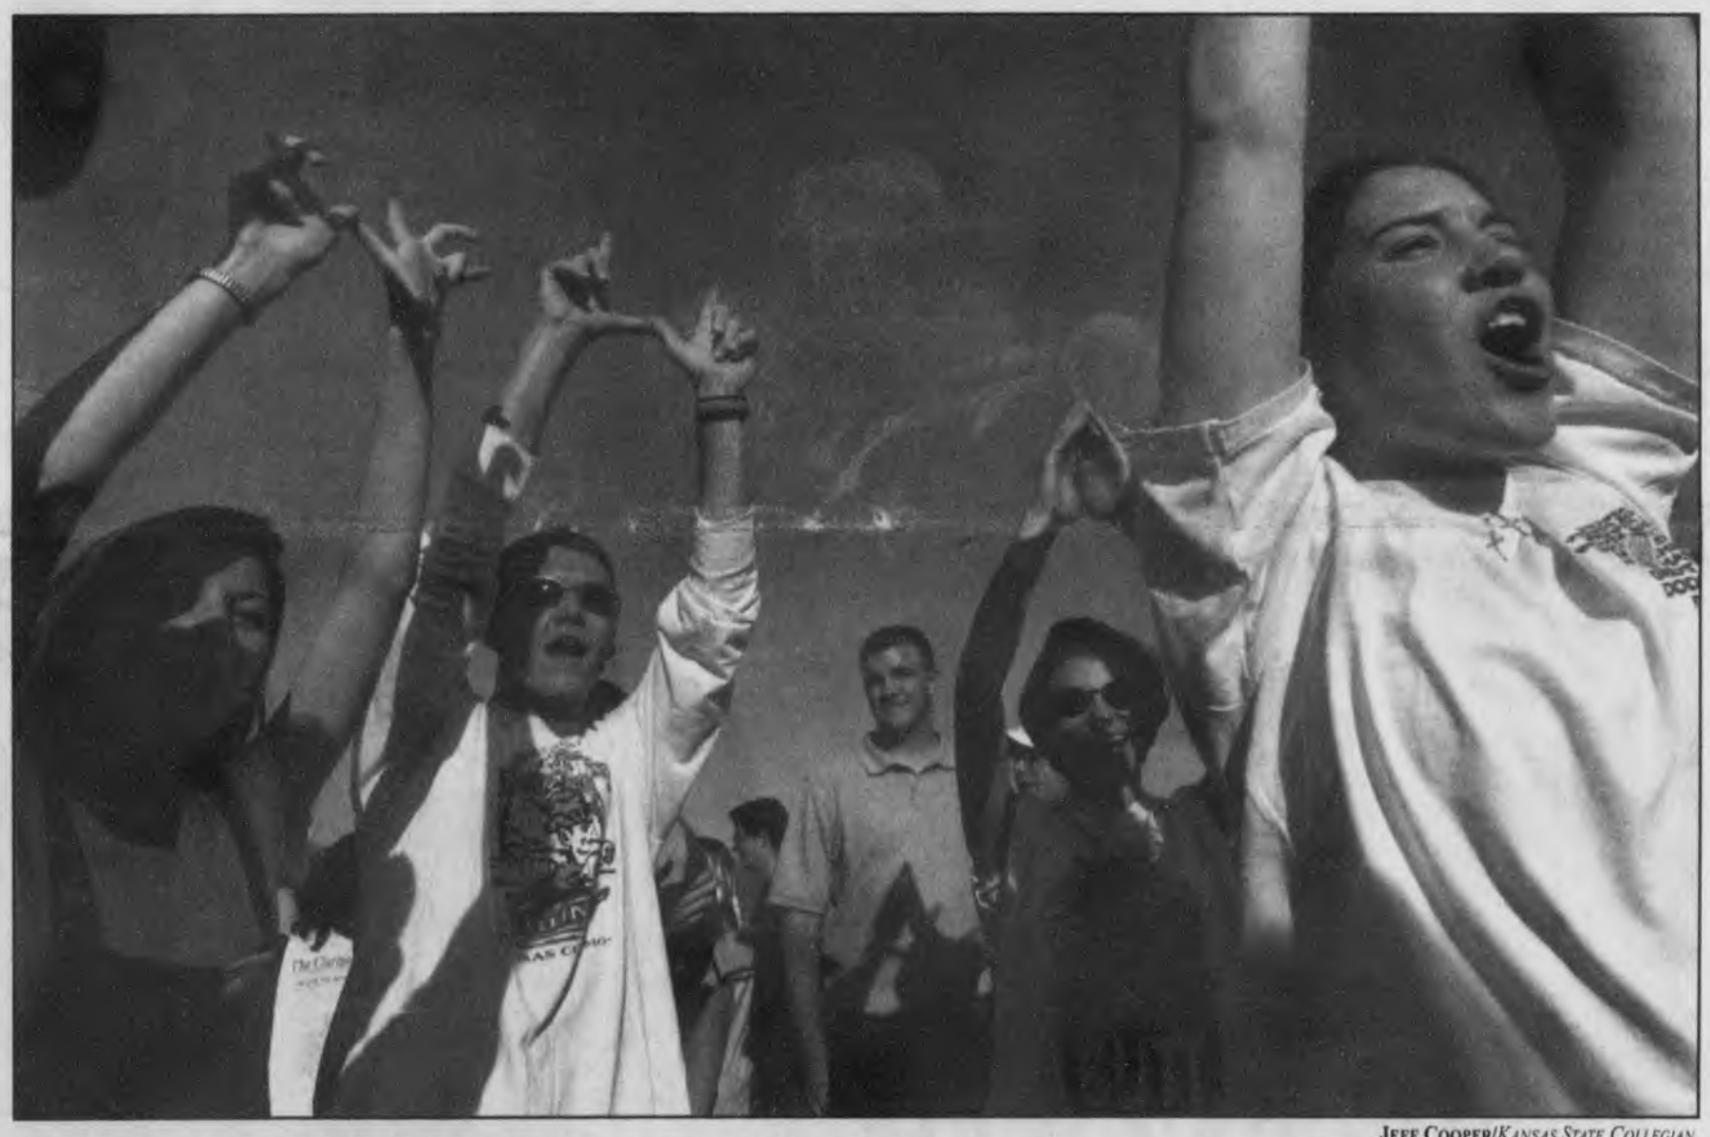
"Anybody who does not abide by the mandatory evacuation, our law enforcement has been instructed to ask them their next of kin," South Carolina Gov. David Beasley said.

Virginia Gov. Jim Gilmore declared a state of emergency, authorizing communities to order evacuations. But none had done so by early Tuesday afternoon.

About 60 Navy ships at Norfolk, Va., were instructed to leave port and ride out the storm 300 miles at sea. Other ships were being moved to inland waterways.

At Pope Air Force Base, N.C., every plane that is flyable is leaving, said Lt. Tisha McGarry, a spokeswoman at the base. Fighter jets also were leaving Seymour Johnson Air Force Base in North Carolina.

Dave Davidge of Downington, Pa., was fishing on the beach just south of Nags Head when a park ranger sent him packing.



"I'm going out of here and heading to Charleston (S.C.). I was getting a little scared, especially getting evacuated off the beach," he said.

It was Davidge's second warning of trouble from the storm. On Sunday, his 7-year-old son was caught in one of the riptides caused by Bonnie as the storm churned the ocean hundreds of miles away. Davidge and a stranger saved the boy from being swept out to sea.

Many people were staying just long enough to protect their property.

At Surf City, Chris Medlin used a circular saw to cut plywood to cover the windows of his fishing store. "We've done this too many times to stick around," he said. "Mother Nature tells you when it's time to split."

Farther out in the Atlantic, Hurricane Danielle moved toward the U.S. Virgin Islands with 80 mph winds, and forecasters expect the storm to be as strong as Bonnie within days.

JEFF COOPER/KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Playfair participants cheer for facilitator Catherin McLellen in Memorial Stadium on Tuesday evening. The event, sponsored by Union Program Council, was designed to help freshman make friends quickly.

MAKING friends, HAVING fun

Playfair offers students new, old chance to make new friends

BY JOE HURLA
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

One concern many freshmen have when they first go to college is whether they'll be able to make new friends quickly. Playfair, sponsored Tuesday night by Union Program Council, was designed to help them do just that.

"Playfair inspires freshmen," facilitator Catherin McLellan said. "It's an icebreaker. We want to get them out to enjoy themselves, be playful and create a fun-loving environment."

The environment Playfair created at Memorial Stadium on Tuesday night was indeed fun loving, said Anne Revere, sophomore in pre-art therapy.

"My friend's a freshman, so we came out to see what was going on, and we had a lot of fun. It was pretty crazy," Revere said.

Teto Henderson, UPC program adviser, said it was important that freshmen get out early in their college days and meet people.

"It makes the transition easier for new students," Henderson said. "They get to know other people, and it keeps them from feeling so isolated."

Helping freshmen avoid this isolation has been the goal of Playfair for its 21 years of existence, McLellan said.

"We travel to campuses all over North America, about 300 in all, putting on shows much like this one," she said. "Playfair does an awesome job of inspiring freshmen."

Though Playfair has been going on for 21 years, this is the first time it has come to K-State, attracting nearly 40 people to the event. Henderson said he was somewhat disappointed with the low attendance, but was not losing hope that it would do better in the future.

"We had visions of grandeur," Henderson said. "We were hoping to have three or four, maybe 500 people out here, but you've gotta start somewhere. It'll be better next year."

Henderson said he thinks word of mouth should help the program when it returns next year, since word of mouth should give it such good reviews.

"There aren't as many people as we'd hoped for, but

■ See PLAYFAIR on PAGE 10

WILDCAT WELCOME WEEK

The Collegian will publish a calendar of events for that day's events and the next day's events throughout Wildcat Welcome Week.

TODAY

Adult Non-traditional Student Brown Bag Lunch
11 a.m. to 1 p.m., Stateroom 2

■

M-4 Simulator (Virtual Reality)
10 a.m. to 4 p.m., North Entrance of K-State Student Union

■

"The King and I"
7:30 p.m., McCain Auditorium

THURSDAY

Job Search and Internet Résumé Registration
5 p.m., Justin 109

■

Leadership Studies Open House
4 to 6 p.m., 914 N. Manhattan Ave.

TODD STEWART/COLLEGIAN

NEWS DIGEST

CALENDAR DEADLINES

To place an item in the Calendar, stop by Kedzie 116 and fill out a form or e-mail it to bulletins@spub.ksu.edu by 11 a.m. two days before it is to run.

CALENDAR

The Calendar is the Collegian's campus bulletin board service. Items in the calendar can be published up to three times. Items might not appear because of space constraints but are guaranteed to appear on the day of the activity. To place an item, stop by Kedzie 116 and fill out a form or e-mail it to collegn@ksu.edu by 11 a.m. two days before it is to run.

■ The Introduction to Leadership Concepts class, scholar section, will meet Wednesdays in the K-State Student Union Little Theatre from 2:30 to 4:20 p.m., not in Cardwell 103, as was listed in the line schedule.

■ Intramural entries are being accepted for flag football, soccer, punt/pass/kick and individual sports this week. Interested parties should sign up in the business office by 5 p.m. Thursday at the Chester E. Peters Recreation Complex.

■ Applications are being accepted for tutors in the Community Service Program. Students who want more information on helping students in the area should contact the CSP Tutoring office in Edwards 8D at 532-5701.

POLICE REPORTS

Reports are taken directly from the K-State and Riley County police departments' daily logs. We do not list wheel locks or minor traffic violations because of space constraints.

K-STATE POLICE
MONDAY, AUG. 24

■ No reports of note were made.

RILEY COUNTY POLICE
MONDAY, AUG. 24

■ At 1:47 a.m., Craig W. Asebedo, 1719 Anderson Ave., was issued a notice to appear for transporting an open container.

■ At 8:05 a.m., Kenneth Holliwell, 1024 Houston St., was arrested for domestic battery.

■ At 1:58 p.m., Michael Reed, Lawrence, was arrested on a Riley County criminal warrant. Bail was set at $500.

■ At 2:57 p.m., Andrew Roufa, address unknown, was arrested on a Riley County warrant for theft. Bail was set at $2,000.

■ At 3:25 p.m., Timothy Focke, 811 El Paso Lane, was arrested for a parole violation. Bail was set at $1,500.

■ At 7:30 p.m., Carl Burton, 1101 Woodland St., was issued a notice to appear for disorderly conduct.

DAILY REWIND

The Daily Rewind collects the top local, state, national and world news from the past 48 hours. Briefs are compiled from wire and staff reports.

PETA says fisherman not worthy of Wheaties

SPRINGFIELD, Mo. — People for the Ethical Treatment of Animals has asked that General Mills give the hook to its latest Wheaties box champion, a bass fisherman from the Ozarks.

Denny Brauer of Camdenton, who has won a record $1.35 million in prize money over the years, is to begin appearing on the cereal boxes in October.

"Anglers have no place next to real sportsmen like Michael Jordan and Tiger Woods, who better represent the breakfast of champions," PETA president Ingrid Newkirk said in a statement Tuesday.

In a letter to General Mills president Charles Gaillard, the animal-rights group said fishing is cruel not only to fish but also to birds and other animals injured by discarded hooks and tackle.

"In June, Wheaties snubbed Sen. John Glenn, astronaut and American hero, denying him the box front on the basis that he is not an athlete," Newkirk said.

"But ... tricking small animals into impaling themselves on hooks and ripping them from their homes — from the comfort of an expensive boat — requires no athletic skill whatsoever."

A person who answered the phone Tuesday at General Mills headquarters in Golden Valley, Minn., said a Wheaties spokesman wasn't available to comment.

Brauer didn't return a call for comment.

Brauer, 49, captured the BASS Masters Classic championship earlier this month in High Rock, N.C., and is the biggest money winner in Bass Anglers Sportsman Society history.

Ohio man pleads guilty to theft in toy scam

MEDINA, Ohio — A man accused of operating a Beanie Babies scam that cheated people in 19 states has pleaded guilty to theft.

Eldred Proctor, 58, and his wife received between $80,000 and $100,000 by advertising to sell rare and retired versions of the popular beanbag toys, David Sheldon, a Medina County assistant prosecutor, said Tuesday.

Proctor took the orders — including $5,356 from a Nebraska man and $980 from a Florida resident — but never sent the toys. The couple returned all but about $15,000.

Proctor said he had cancer and needed money for medical treatments.

He pleaded guilty Monday to three counts of theft involving the scam. He also pleaded guilty to theft of welfare benefits and illegal use of food stamps.

His wife, Arlene Proctor, 55, pleaded guilty to the same charges in April, Sheldon said.

Both are to be sentenced Sept. 28 in Medina County Common Pleas Court and face a maximum penalty of 2 1/2 years in prison.

The investigation into the Beanie Babies case led to the welfare charges. The Proctors were accused of hiding assets while collecting thousands of dollars in welfare money and food stamps.

Sheldon said there were nearly 90 victims in 19 states.

Charges to be brought against woman accused of plotting to mail cyanide

LOS ANGELES — A woman accused of plotting to mail cyanide to dozens of doctors and police officers had two hit lists, one of which included a nurse who once treated her and became ill after tasting a white powder mailed to her, authorities said Tuesday.

Federal attempted-murder charges were being prepared against Kathryn Schoonover, 50, a cancer patient who lived in a van and was arrested outside a Marina del Rey post office Sunday as she allegedly placed cyanide packets in envelopes disguised as a nutritional supplements.

Prosecutors said they expect to file a criminal complaint against her today, and have asked that Schoonover, now in federal custody, be denied bond.

Authorities said they believe Schoonover, who had been treated at mental hospitals, mailed poison packs to at least eight people, including four in the New York area over the last few months.

There have been no known deaths from cyanide mailings.

Schoonover told deputies at the post office that the white powder was a safe salt substitute and she was an independent salesperson for a chemical company, according to a statement filed in federal court by Joseph Taranto, a U.S. postal inspector.

She led deputies to a trash can inside the post office where she dumped a small white container marked sodium cyanide, and pointed to a mail slot where she said she mailed some packages.

Tests showed the substance was sodium potassium cyanide, which is lethal even in small amounts, Taranto said.

Kathleen Elbrecht, a nurse manager at the Capital District Psychiatric Center in Albany, N.Y., told federal investigators she received a package containing a nutrition brochure and a small plastic bag filled with a "white, clumpy, crystalline powdery substance" that she thought was a vitamin supplement.

"She dipped her finger into the substance and tasted it. The substance tasted extremely bitter and produced an immediate and severe headache," Taranto said.

Elbrecht said she remembered treating Schoonover in 1994. She was described as a "very difficult patient" because she refused medication and was uncooperative with staff. The statement does not disclose Schoonover's condition.

Reached late Tuesday at her home in Schenectady, N.Y., Elbrecht said she could not comment on Schoonover because of confidentiality laws. She also denied making statements to investigators about her being difficult. "That would have gotten me in trouble," she said.

She said she received the mailing 2 1/2 months ago.

Schoonover spent several weeks in 1994 at the Albany center, said Roger Klingman, spokesman of the New York state Office of Mental Health. She was committed after being picked up by police on a highway, the Times Union of Albany said.

For the past three years, Schoonover has been sending the newspaper copies of documents outlining alleged abuse in the psychiatric center.

She claimed medications made her lose a baby, but medical officials told the Times Union that Schoonover wasn't pregnant.

PEOPLE

Gary Coleman pleads innocent to assault

INGLEWOOD, Calif. — Gary Coleman, who starred as the lovable Arnold on "Diff'rent Strokes," pleaded innocent Tuesday to misdemeanor assault after allegedly punching an autograph seeker in the eye last month.

Coleman, 30, was not in court for the arraignment, and the plea was entered by his attorney. The judge set a pretrial hearing for Oct. 20.

Tracy Fields, a Metropolitan Transportation Authority driver, said the July 30 attack caused her headaches and muscle spasms. She has filed a $1 million lawsuit against Coleman, who works as a security guard at a mall outside Los Angeles.

Fields said Coleman agreed to sign an autograph after she saw him in a uniform store, but he became angry when she asked him to personalize it for her son, the lawsuit claims.

Fields claimed Coleman punched her in the eye and continued hitting her after she fell onto a gumball machine. An off-duty airport police officer stopped the fight, she said.

Adam London, Coleman's attorney, has claimed that Fields is trying to exploit his client's stardom to gain fame and fortune.

Coleman, most known for delivering the line "What you talking 'bout?" on "Diff'rent Strokes," starred in the show from 1978 to 1986.

CORRECTION

A Web site was identified incorrectly in a story in Monday's Collegian. The correct address for the online book exchange is www.dce.ksu.edu/~foxr/books.

The Collegian regrets the error.

■

A photo caption on Page 22 of Monday's Collegian contained a misidentification.

The girl in the summer water photo was Phaunel Smith.

The Collegian regrets the error.

WEATHER

HIGH 90

LOW 68

Thirty-percent chance of thunderstorms in the late afternoon. Expect cooler temperatures the rest of the week.

CONTACT US

■ NEWSROOM 532-6556
■ ADVERTISING 532-6560
■ CLASSIFIEDS 532-6555

■

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN
KEDZIE 116
KANSAS STATE UNIVERSITY
MANHATTAN, KS 66506

The Kansas State Collegian (USPS 291 020), a student newspaper at Kansas State University, is published by Student Publications Inc., Kedzie 103, Manhattan, Kan. 66506. The Collegian is published weekdays during the school year and twice a week through the summer. Periodical postage is paid at Manhattan, Kan. 66502. POSTMASTER: Send address changes to Kansas State Collegian, circulation desk, Kedzie 103, Manhattan, Kan. 66506-7167.

© KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN, 1997

Rusty's
LAST CHANCE SALOON

WEDNESDAY
WELCOME BACK BLOWOUT!

2 LIVE DJs

BACK PATIO
PARTY WITH THE DU-WOMEN OF K-STATE
1998-99 CALENDAR CREW
FROM 9-1 AND HAVE THESE BEAUTIFUL WOMEN SIGN YOUR NEW CALENDAR!!
CHECK THEM OUT IN RUSTY'S DUNK TANK!

ALL YOU CAN EAT 5-7pm
FRIED CHICKEN BUFFET
(includes hushpuppies & mashed potatoes)
BRAND NEW!
ONLY $2.99!

$1.50 RUSTY'S SOUVENIR MUGS
99¢ REFILLS

Party with the DELTA UPSILON WOMEN and RUSTY'S OF KSU!

RUN to Bramlage Coliseum, don't walk.
August 28-29

Purchase your copy of the 1999 ROYAL PURPLE yearbook for $24.95 and get your portrait picture taken at Bramlage Coliseum.

Order your copy of the 1999 Royal Purple through the Student Publications Business Office located in Kedzie Hall 103, 532-6555.

The new building of the Office Leadership Studies and Programs, located at 914 Manhattan Ave., is being rented with donated proceeds from the new book "Leadership Lessons from Bill Snyder."

Ivan Kozar/Kansas State Collegian

Proceeds from book help program rent house

By Cory Lafferty
Kansas State Collegian

K-State football coach Bill Snyder's leadership lessons have provided a new home for the Office of Leadership Studies and Programs.

A donation of the proceeds from the book "Leadership Lessons from Bill Snyder" will be used to rent a house at 914 N. Manhattan Ave. that will house the leadership studies program. The book, written by Susan M. Scott, director of leadership studies and programs, and Robert J. Shoop, professor of educational administration, goes on sale around Sept. 12.

"Bill Snyder, Bob Shoop and I worked on the book," Scott said. "Bill Snyder donating the money from the profits is the only reason that we have the house."

A year ago, leadership studies opened an office in Holton Hall that didn't provide adequate work space for the program, Scott said.

"At first we were fortunate to have the Women's Center let us camp-out at their office," Scott said.

The new house will provide the program with more space, including its own living room, seminar room, offices and even a kitchen, so students have a place to work and study.

Blue Key Senior Honorary also has obtained an office on the second level of the house, and the Leadership Studies Advisory Board works out of the house.

OUR OPINION
The Collegian editorial board says K-State is lucky to have its Leadership Studies and Programs. See Page 4.

"We think this is a great location to come relax and study. It's also a great place for leaders to get together and discuss issues," Blue Key President Jason Heinrich said. "It feels like a home away from home."

The advisory board for leadership studies was created recently . There are 12 members on the board, who serve as advisers for their peers. They try to help with whatever problems arise concerning the program, Scott said.

"We advise on the academic aspects of the leadership minor, such as what classes should be in the leadership minor and the different types of extracurricular activities that are involved with it," Advisory Board Chair Kim Peschka said.

The leadership studies minor program was developed a year ago. The requirements for the minor are 18 semester hours, of which three are core classes that must be taken. The other class requirements must be taken from three specified areas. These electives can be incorporated with requirements from outside majors.

"We have one classroom in the house. It's a type of seminar setup. Since there are three core classes and two of them are seminars, we are teaching those at the house," Scott said.

The program is having an open house as part of Wildcat Welcome Week from 4 to 6 p.m. on Thursday.

"I like to see students come to K-State and study leadership," said Aubrey Abbott, Leadership Studies Advisory Board adviser. "This is an exciting place to be."

Dancing through all your problems

By Lauren Posladek
Kansas State Collegian

Traditional couch therapy is not the only option anymore.

Catherine Ostroe, senior in dance and theater, in conjunction with University Counseling Services, has created a workshop titled "Moving Through Your Problems" to help K-State students learn to use movement and dance to work through a variety of issues.

The program is based on using movement in abstract ways to reveal greater self-confidence and self-awareness.

"Body language cannot lie," Ostroe said. "It reveals a lot within us and takes away defense mechanisms. We can't manipulate movement."

The workshop is open to anyone with issues they would like to discuss. Participants could be dealing with stress, having difficulties in relationships, struggling with parents, suffering from grief, fighting against alcoholism or be victims of domestic violence.

Group discussion will be important, Ostroe said, with six to 10 members in the group. The workshop consists of eight to 12 sessions throughout the semester.

Free writing, drawing and other improvisational-type work also will be incorporated into the workshop. Fairy tales will be used to create metaphors and explore group members' own life stories.

"As therapists, we work with people's life stories. We help people to look for ways to tell their own story," University Counseling Services psychologist Dorothy Farrand said.

Farrand said human qualities in fairy tales such as "Cinderella" can be related to true life problems.

"People can create their own wants, find their own solutions, and discover other ways to bring the magic found in fairy tales to their lives," she said.

Even though the workshop uses expressive techniques, Ostroe said it is a non-threatening environment.

The Alumni and The Alumni Corporations of Delta Theta Chapter of The Alpha Tau Omega Fraternity

Congratulate the Members of Alpha Tau Omega at Kansas State University for Being Awarded

The Top Chapter in the Nation

At the ATΩ National Congress in Orlando, Florida

Celebrating the Action
73rd Congress

And For Receiving the Following Awards From the National Fraternity:
The True Merit Award (Outstanding Overall Excellence)
The Joseph R. Anderson Gold Award (Top Communications in Nation)
The Community Awareness Award (National Honorable Mention)
The Thomas Arkle Clark Award (National Honorable Mention: Jon Freeman)
The National Undergraduate Scholarship Award (National At Large Recipient: Rob Bensman)
The National Graduate Scholarship Award (National Winners: Jon Freeman and Guy Gross)

From Chapter Advisors William L. Muir and Allan D. Holiday, Jr. and The Delta Theta Board of Trustees and Delta Theta Chapter of Alpha Tau Omega Alumni Association
Delta Theta Chapter of Alpha Tau Omega Building Corporation
Kansas State Alpha Tau Omega Students' Aid Endowment Fund

OUR VIEW

K-State lucky to have leadership program

Having acquired a residence off campus, the Leadership Studies Program has become a standout at K-State.

The juggernaut program has seen such growth in the year since its inception that it outgrew its office in Holton Hall and required another residence. It began last year with 40 students and since has grown to 125 students.

In the program, leadership gurus impart their knowledge of working in group situations through a combined process of mentoring and taking classes.

The curriculum includes three classes specifically designed for leadership majors. At the same time it incorporates other choices that can be tailored to the individual's area of study. Topics such as ethics, leadership skills, organizational applications of leadership, and theories of leadership and organizational behavior are addressed by the curriculum.

A leadership minor tells a potential employer that the person has gained sufficient knowledge on the theories of strong leadership and has taken that background and incorporated it within their own leadership style. Graduates with leadership minors have a fundamental understanding of the ways in which they can motivate people and get the job done.

The program, was spearheaded by two individuals, Susan Scott, associate dean of student life, and Robert Shoop, professor of educational administration and leadership. Over the course of the past year, they have made tremendous contributions to the program, including writing a book highlighting K-State football coach Bill Snyder's leadership qualities. Proceeds from the book are helping to fund the course.

Scott and Shoop's dedication to the program has helped facilitate its rapid growth, and we believe the program is a valuable part of the K-State academic environment.

It is apparent, as well, that Bill Snyder agrees.

While Scott and Shoop might have helped to write the book, it is Snyder who chose to donate the proceeds to the leadership studies program. By doing this, Snyder sends a clear message that he is as committed to the academic environment at K-State as he is to the football program.

We thank Snyder for taking a step in what we hope will become a future of cooperation between the football program and the academic environment at K-State. In doing so, he shows us that leadership is as important off the field as it is on.

OUR VIEW, an editorial selected and debated by the editorial board, is written after a majority opinion is formed. The editorial board consists of Collegian editors and other staff members. OUR VIEW is the Collegian's official opinion.

EDITORIAL BOARD

EDITOR IN CHIEF
JILL JARSULIC

MANAGING EDITOR/ PRESENTATION
TODD STEWART

NEWS EDITOR
TRAVIS D. LENKNER

PHOTO EDITOR
STEVE HEBERT

CAMPUS EDITOR
KELLEE MILLER

CITY/GOVERNMENT EDITOR
MATT KREPS

SPORTS EDITOR
JEREMY KELLEY

ARTS & ENTERTAINMENT EDITOR
DIANA LEE

OPINION EDITOR
JON KURCHE

COPY CHIEF
JANET COOK

eCOLLEGIAN EDITOR
R.J. DIEPENBROCK

SPECIAL PROJECTS EDITOR
ANGELA KISTNER

Battling the MAYHEM

KELLIE FARRELL/KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Getting past first few weeks most difficult part for freshmen

VIEWPOINT

JASON RUCKER

Classes have started, and everything has gone without a hitch. Or has it? Particularly for those people in the realm of Housing and Dining who had so much time to get ready this year.

Moving in Friday at noon should have left plenty of time to get moved in, run out and buy the things you forgot, unpack, talk to the people at financial aid, find your adviser, go through drop/add, familiarize yourself with campus and look for a job. This leaves you with two whole days to meet people and adjust to campus life before the mental grind begins.

To what do we owe all of this free time? Give-and-take. K-State has given us the luxury of mail-in fee payment, sparing us the tedium of standing in lines at Ahearn Field House. In the process, they have taken away the necessary time students need to get settled in.

Prior to mail-in fee payment, students would have been allowed to move into the dorms last Wednesday at noon, thus leaving them with three days to fill in the gaps that their freshman orientation didn't, such as the ever-popular freshman activity of finding all of your classrooms before classes start. Upperclassmen will scoff at the people roaming around campus, map in hand, but we all did it once.

In discussing this matter with my adviser, I found out that we are on the short side of preparing our new students for what's to come. We do have a fine orientation during the summer, and the people who conduct it work hard, but new student orientation is less than a day long, which limits what can be covered.

One example of a school on the other end of the spectrum is Texas A&M. They are host to a four-day long camp for new students. It's called "Fish Camp" because freshman are referred to as fish at A&M.

The camp counselors are students who are active on the campus. New students are treated like adults and are taught what to expect as well as what is expected of them at the university. They also learn the history and traditions of the school through songs, cheers, films and mixers. They find out what it means to be an "Aggie," and there is plenty of ribbing aimed at the University of Texas (kind of like our K-State, KU banter).

The camp is popular with new students, and when they leave they can't wait for school to start. After all, they already know the ins and outs and have met a lot of people they will see around campus. For the administration out there pondering why a school would spend the money to do such a thing, they need only look to the loyalty generated by the camp and the alumni donations that follow.

While having such an orientation would be nice, for those of you reading this, it's a bit too late. If you're new to campus and have run into nothing but problems, you probably could have benefited from a bit more instruction or at least more time to figure things out. Every year there are horror stories of dropped schedules and lost financial aid, the problems of which are compounded when trying to settle the matters between classes.

The only way to get the school year on track is for students to use the time they have wisely. If you don't know where to go to drop/add or where an office is located, ask an upperclassman. That's what RAs, greek brothers and sisters, and neighbors are for.

If you haven't met a lot of people because classes kicked in as soon as you arrived, don't go home the first weekend. Too many new students make that mistake. They don't know anyone, so they go home for the weekends and miss all the social opportunities. Students do need more time at the beginning of the school year to finalize preparations for classes. A more extensive orientation would help new students adjust to campus life faster and more successfully. However, for current students, it's too late. To compensate for lack of time, students must use their time wisely. Don't be afraid to ask for help and hit the books.

Jason Rucker is a senior in animal science. He can be reached by e-mail at anubis@ksu.edu.

WE WANT TO HEAR WHAT YOU HAVE TO SAY.

Send your letters to the editor to letters@spub.ksu.edu.

TOMORROW YOUR LETTER COULD BE HERE.

Finally, K-State might get its Bill Clinton visit

VIEWPOINT

RUSSELL FORTMEYER

A source close to the K-State administration has been spreading the word in town this past weekend that the President of the United States, William J. Clinton, will deliver the first Landon Lecture of the year.

The source, who wished to remain anonymous, also said the lecture will focus on foreign policy, as opposed to the earlier leaked topic of whoring policy, which later proved to be a joke on the part of News Services.

The news of the lecture has spread like a sexually transmitted disease throughout the country, with the Matt Drudge report on the World Wide Web taking credit for breaking the news officially. However, according to reports by The Washington Post, early word suggests next month's Brill's Content will dissect just why Matt Drudge is a big liar and he smells.

Time magazine, on the other hand, issued a statement claiming "we at Time did not check our facts. Kansas State is not a community college, like we printed in our last issue; rather, it is a vo-tech. Our readers can rest assured that those who made this error will be reprimanded, fired, or both, or neither or maybe we'll just wait for more public outcry."

How K-State managed this coup d'etat — and kept it a secret for as much as two hours — is a revelation in Sunflower State politics.

It is well-known in certain circles that President Jon Wefald's administration has made several attempts to secure Clinton as a lecturer in the past. Most of those dates did not work out due to Clinton's overall lack of interest in Kansas, the pathetic organization of Kansas Democrats and the appeal of other such vacation destinations as Martha's Vineyard and Malibu.

However, a source in the White House who refused to be named said that since Aug. 17, Clinton's schedule amazingly has cleared. The source also revealed that if you look very closely at the four-minute video speech the president gave that same day, a small Willie the Wildcat insignia can be spotted on the grassy knoll behind him.

Apparently, once K-State administration officials got wind of reports that our president was a party-loving sex fiend, they increased their lobbying efforts to secure him as a lecturer who surely would seduce K-State students. This was especially important, a senior K-State political adviser said, since the Landon Lectures have not been selling as well lately and overall merchandising tie-ins have been falling off. Even McDonald's canceled the controversial "Alf Landon Happy Meal" campaign and replaced it with the less controversial "We Will All Die Action Playset: Based on the movie 'Armageddon.'"

Since the news of the lecture has leaked, Sudanese newspapers have carried stories about our humble little university and the ramifications of bringing Clinton to town for a speaking engagement. Among such articles, one referred to K-State's campus climate as "like Libya, but less scenic" and to our beloved administration as "nearly as open-minded as the Iranian government."

The students of K-State have been denounced by a radical Sudanese student organization currently calling itself "Monica's Sons of Wag the Dog." The Sons have, according to the Cable News Network, called K-State students "evil walking children of Satan" for expressing interest in hearing Clinton, whom the Sons refer to as "The New Scud Stud."

A confidential source close to the Wefald administration called the attacks "wholly welcome," adding that "the friends and family of K-State are overjoyed that our prestigious school finally is getting some credit on the international scene. This has been at least ten years in the making, and I can say President Wefald is so happy about the news that his two dogs about had puppies, if you know what I mean."

An exact date has not been set, but administration sources are confident it will happen before an impeachment or resignation occurs. Some early signs suggest Clinton's lecture could focus on why he should not be impeached and why the American people should save his sorry butt. One senior White House official hinted that Clinton's speech will likely discuss the "Albanian crisis" and the hopeful release of "Good Old Shoe," a current political prisoner.

A source who requested not to be called a source said the speech is more likely to target the large campus greek population, a group Clinton reportedly has in the past referred to as "kindred spirits." The source said he'll also meet with a group from Student Senate, a K-State organization with its own past sex scandals. It was a Senate scandal, involving one senator getting his kicks in a window in plain sight of neighbors, that reportedly piqued the president's initial interest in K-State.

"You can rest easy knowing the president's speech will likely be inappropriate and hurtful to many," the source said. "This will be ratings heaven."

Russell Fortmeyer is a fifth-year senior in architectural engineering. He can be reached by e-mail at rmf@ksu.edu.

GETTING THE JOB DONE

K-State campus undergoing heavy fall construction

By JOE HURLA
Kansas State Collegian

K-State doesn't have a chess team, but if it did, one prospective coach for the team might be Director of Facilities Planning and University Architect Jerry Carter.

Carter is overseeing the current barrage of construction and renovations taking place at K-State, while making plans for even more changes in the upcoming months. He likens all of this to a chess match.

"We're trying to move people from one building to another, freeing up that building for subsequent renovations. It's sort of like a large chess game," Carter said.

One building he said he hopes to be able to move people into eventually is Fiedler Hall, the planned addition to what are currently Durland and Rathbone halls.

Carter said bidding for the construction of Fiedler Hall will begin in about six weeks, and it will take about 1-1/2 years to construct. Carter said it will be well worth the wait, especially for those who will use the facilities upon their completion.

"The addition will have a new auditorium, an engineering library, distance learning classrooms, labs and offices for faculties," Carter said. "The Department of Civil Engineering will be moving out of Seaton and into Fiedler Hall, which we will then begin some renovations on. It will be a good change for the civil engineering department."

Stuart Swartz, head of the department of civil engineering, said he agreed with Carter that the move would be beneficial for his department.

"The amount of space we'll have will be about the same as we have in Seaton," Swartz said. "But the quality of the space will be greatly improved."

The Fiedler Hall addition was made possible largely through the donation of $5 million by Alice Fiedler in memory of her late husband, K-State graduate George Fiedler.

Donations also have made other planned renovations possible, including those at the International Student Center.

The center is being expanded to accommodate the growing number of international students on campus, Carter said. This expansion is being funded primarily by contributions from K-State alumni in Taiwan.

Crumbling classroom funds made available by the state also are helping to fund these and other projects.

Another future addition will be to Ackert Hall. The addition will be in the space between the existing Ackert Hall and the Military Science Building.

"The addition to Ackert Hall will house the biology, biochemistry and cancer research departments," Carter said.

Carter said other significant changes are planned for the near future, including expansion of the Hoeflin Stone House, a Child Care Center, and renovation of the Nichols Hall basement, which then will be used by the K-State dance and theater departments.

While these plans are the ones closest to taking place, Carter said they are by no means the only plans in the works.

"There are already plans for another addition to the Durland Hall building, as well as others around campus," Carter said. "It's sort of a continuous process, and there's no telling how much we'll end up doing."

Jeff Cooper/Kansas State Collegian

Shane Fingalsen, an employee of Schultz Construction, creates a window in the wall of the International Student Center on Tuesday afternoon. Schultz Construction does not require its employees to wear long pants on the job.

August heat causes facilities directors to take precautions

By AMANDA EWING
Kansas State Collegian

With recent temperatures climbing above the century mark, outdoor safety takes on crucial importance, but K-State Division of Facilities directors said they're making sure their crews stay safe.

Facilities employees include construction workers, grounds crews, custodial services and painters. Many of these jobs require work in the direct sun for the majority of the day.

Trying to stay cool in the extreme heat can be a problem, especially with the facilities' dress code that requires long pants to ensure safety.

"Safety of employees is foremost," said Jerry Carter, director of facilities planning and university architect. "The best way to ensure that safety, even when hot, is to wear the safety equipment prescribed by the job."

To help make the outdoor work more bearable, Facilities has several options available to its employees. Director of Facilities Resources Vickie DeWitt said employees are encouraged to work flex hours, which allow them to come to work at 6 a.m. rather than 8 a.m. and work until early afternoon.

Facilities employees also are encouraged to take frequent breaks.

"Employees usually work four-hour blocks with 15 minute breaks," DeWitt said.

"When it's hot, we encourage them to take more breaks, get in the shade and drink plenty of liquids."

Carter said Facilities is not responsible for the safety of contract construction workers.

For many construction workers on campus, finding relief from the heat also can be difficult.

"We encourage them to work different shifts, take more breaks and use their best judgment," she said.

Carter said facilities is not responsible for the safety of contract construction workers. Facilities also has no control over when they work or how they dress.

"They have asked to start work earlier in the day, finish in the evenings and take the afternoon off," Carter said. "They also have a looser dress code, such as not wearing shirts and being allowed to wear shorts. But that is an issue between employee and employer."

Facilities also provides information and resources to educate workers about possible heat dangers.

Safety bulletin boards and voluntary classes inform workers about standard first aid, the warning signs of heat exhaustion and heat cramps and how to eat balanced meals to help with heat acclimation.

DeWitt said there have been no heat-related health problems or injuries of which she is aware.

Lewinsky controversy follows Clinton on vacation

By SANDRA SOBIERAJ
The Associated Press

EDGARTOWN, Mass. — President Clinton sailed wind-whipped waters with his wife and daughter near their island vacation quarters Tuesday and plotted a mainland return to combat talk that the Monica Lewinsky controversy has crippled him politically.

As if he had turned a corner, the president — who, for days, confined himself to private meals with close friends and let his golf clubs grow dusty — put a new, public face on his family vacation.

The Clintons sailed for 90 minutes near Martha's Vineyard, an island off the Massachusetts mainland, with the man once known as "the most trusted man in America," veteran TV newsman Walter Cronkite, aboard Cronkite's blue-hulled Wyntje.

All three Clintons grinned, waving to news cameras and a crowd on the wharf.

The president's spokesman announced that Clinton also would venture to Worcester, Mass., on Thursday to address school safety and juvenile crime, two spending issues on which congressional Republicans have given him no ground.

"The president intends to fight very, very vigorously, as he has every year, for his initiatives," deputy press secretary Barry Toiv said.

The Lewinsky investigation — and Clinton's recent admission of an inappropriate relationship with the former White House intern — have put the president on the defensive about his ability to accomplish anything abroad or with Congress.

CLINTON

"He has the leverage he has always had," Toiv said. "First of all, the American people support him on these issues. And secondly, he carries a very big (veto) pen."

Already on Tuesday, the White House was tossing out pebbles of news and projecting the personally embattled Clinton as professionally engaged.

He signed an executive order creating a food-safety council and spent 30 minutes on the phone with Russian President Boris Yeltsin. Clinton outlined U.S. priorities for next week's Moscow summit and stressed, Toiv said, that the first priority of Yeltsin's new government must be to stabilize Russia's economic turmoil.

Back in Washington, D.C., White House aides discussed organizing a special team to manage Clinton's defense in any congressional inquiry into an expected report on the Lewinsky matter by Whitewater Independent Counsel Kenneth Starr.

There was no consensus yet on whether that team should bring in outside experts to augment Clinton's cadre of White House aides, one official said.

The Worcester detour, coming near the close of Clinton's 12-day respite outside Washington, was scheduled after Clinton decided Monday night to accept a long-standing invitation from the city's Democratic congressman, Rep. Jim McGovern.

McGovern, whose race has been targeted by the Republican National Committee, described himself as both hopeful and surprised by the hastily scheduled Clinton trip.

"People in this district and in this city are hungry to talk about issues," McGovern said in a telephone interview.

"I, for one, am disappointed in the president's personal behavior," said McGovern, who represents the 3rd district.

"But I do support the president's policies and I want this country to move forward."

Don't Get Lost in the Mail!

The K-State Office of Student Financial Assistance wants to remind you to KEEP YOUR ADDRESSES UPDATED WITH THE UNIVERSITY. If your LOCAL, PERMANENT, EMERGENCY and BILLING (optional) addresses are not kept current, you may miss your financial aid refund checks (), your grade reports, important financial aid paperwork, your tuition bill (boooo!), etc. Your LOCAL, PERMANENT and EMERGENCY addresses are maintained by the Registrar's Office in 118 Anderson Hall. Your BILLING address is maintained by the University Cashiers Office in 212 Anderson Hall.

There are a number of ways to update your addresses:

- Write a letter
- Send it in Morse Code
- Drop it by the Registrars or Cashiers Office
- Hire a plane to write it in the sky
- Go on-line with KATS at http://kats.ksu.edu
- Send a singing telegram

Seriously, keeping your addresses current is VERY IMPORTANT! And it is SO EASY now that you can log onto KATS and get it done. Just think, if mail is returned to the University by the Post Office as undeliverable to your LOCAL address, then it will be sent to your PERMANENT address and it may not be something you want your parents to see!!!

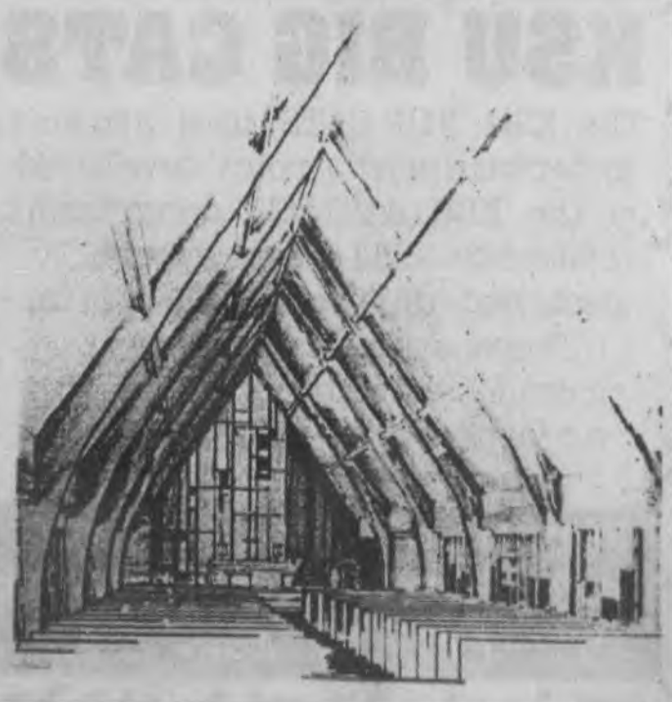
St. Luke's Evangelical Lutheran Church Welcomes Students to Manhattan!

Join us for a Contemporary Worship Service and Picnic, August 30, 11:00 am at Tuttle Creek Lake, Shelter House #4.



Need directions or a ride, call the church at 539-2604

330 North Sunset

Traditional Worship
Saturday at 6:00 pm
or Sunday at 8:30 am,

Contemporary Worship
Sunday at 11:00am.

College Bible Study
Sunday at 9:45 am.

Manhattan offers much to relieve stress

BY M.A. LOROFF
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

The beer is flat, the chips are soggy and class assignments are piling up. Sometimes students just need a break, and sometimes the best way to get away from it all is to stay in Manhattan. Manhattan offers several options for getting away from campus life without going far from home.

The Konza Prairie Research Natural Area

The 8,616-acre Konza Prairie is the largest untouched native tallgrass prairie in the world. Those who feel like learning the history of the prairie can take a guided tour, and the adventurous can hike any of three trails ranging from 2.8 to 4.7 miles.

"It has a really beautiful lookout site. There is nothing around you except prairie, so it is a good place to get away from it all," Geneva Phillips, junior in open-option, said.

The Konza Prairie is owned by the Nature Conservancy and is leased to K-State for ecological research. A new overlook was completed last year along Kansas Highway 177 south of Manhattan for viewing a large expanse of the reserve.

Tuttle Creek State Park/Tuttle Creek Dam and Reservoir

There is more to Tuttle Creek than Country Stampede. Cool off by swimming, water skiing, boating or fishing. The park also offers a variety of camping and walking opportunities, as well as scenic views of Kansas' second-largest body of water.

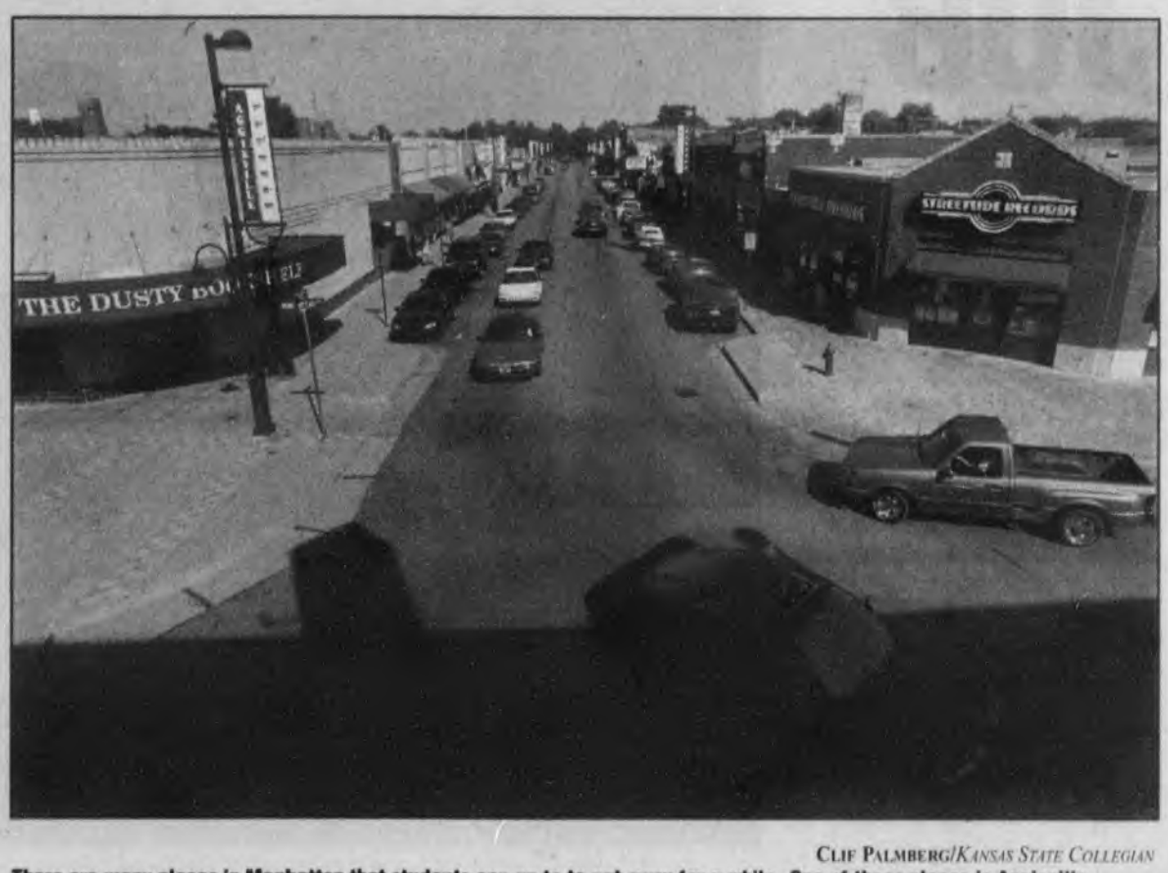
The spillway east of the dam also offers hiking and fossil-hunting opportunities. A mile-long chasm was formed in 1993 when the floodgates were opened for the only time in the reservoir's history.

"I like to spend time at the lake because there is a lot to do. It provides a good way to cool down when it is hot," Jeremy Bambara, freshman in agribusiness, said.

Sunset Zoological Park

Manhattan's zoo is one place in town where size and opportunity aren't related. Sunset Zoo offers variety and an animal collection many larger zoos can't match. The zoo is open seven days a week from 10 a.m. to 5:30 p.m., until December 1, when the zoo goes to shorter hours for the winter season.

"I love the zoo. When I get tired and stressed out, I go to the zoo and walk around," said Beth Braaten, junior in marketing and international business. "It makes me feel like a little kid again. I'll never be too old for the zoo."



A few of the zoo's features include an Australian walk-about trail, a big cat house, an African Forest Trail, an Asian Forest Trail, a children's zoo with a hands-on contact area and a prairie dog exhibit.

Wildcat Creek Sports Center

Wildcat Creek, located in western Manhattan on Anderson Avenue, offers a nine-hole golf course, miniature golf, a driving range, batting cages, sand volleyball and an arcade. It also offers picnic opportunities and athletic fields in nearby Frank Anneberg Park.

"I like to go to the driving range," Michael Grogan, junior in accounting, said.

"My friends and I each buy huge baskets of golf balls and head out to the range like 'Happy Gilmore.' It's funny to see the people who are golf fanatics concentrate while we are trying to hit the ball."

CLIF PALMBERG/KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

There are many places in Manhattan that students can go to to get away for a while. One of those places is Aggieville, which dates back to the late 1800s.

Marianna Kistler Beach Museum of Art

The Beach Art Museum features 20th-century American art. The museum includes selections from its permanent collection as well as rotating exhibits.

The Kansas Artist Craftsman Association's exhibition will be the featured exhibit beginning Oct. 16 through the end of the year.

The museum is one of the newest buildings at K-State, featuring an architectural approach different from the more traditional buildings on campus.

The museum is open Tuesday through Friday from 10 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. On Thursdays, it's open until 8:30 p.m., and on weekends it's open from 1 to 4:40 p.m.

K-Hill/Bluemont Hill

The K-Hill lookout site, built on land belonging to the Kansas State Board of Regents southeast of Manhattan, is maintained by Tau Beta Pi engineering honorary.

"Each fall, the letters are whitewashed with lime and cement as a service project for prospective members," said Eddie Fowler, professor of electrical and computer engineering and the group's adviser.

Due to age and weather, the 'S' is beginning to crumble. Fowler said a professional engineer will make a plan to repair it.

Northwest of K-Hill is Bluemont Hill. The Manhattan Department of Parks and Recreation recently updated the area with picnic tables and better parking. The letters spelling 'Manhattan' are accessible to those wanting to get into the trees around the hill. Manhattan Hill provides a great view of south Manhattan and the K-State campus.

Aggieville

Aggieville has a long history with K-State's students, starting in the late 1800s when the first store was built. The region, originally a cornfield, is now the centerpiece for student life in Manhattan. The site of K-State's first student bookstore is still standing but is now the Dusty Bookshelf. The original bookstore sign chiseled into the building's limestone exterior is still visible on the side of the building above the store's awning.

The area offers food, alcohol, shopping and a variety of other services and attractions.

Downtown Manhattan

Until Manhattan Town Center was completed in 1986, downtown Manhattan and Aggieville shared Manhattan's retail trade. Now the downtown area features specialty shops, including jewelers, antique stores and florists. It is in the process of renovation and revitalization.

Historic structures include the Wareham Opera House and the Riley County Courthouse.

For those who like to walk, downtown leads to City Park a few blocks to the west.

Students can enjoy walking, biking, the city pool and other attractions throughout the year. During the winter months, an ice rink is also open in City Park.

InterKan.Net, Inc.
Dial-Up Internet Access
Friendly & Affordable
No Busy Signals!
Sign up before September 1 and get August & September FREE!
Choose the plan to fit your needs and wallet.
1106 R Laramie
565-0991
www.interkan.net
No set-up fee with credit card payment. Not valid with other offers.

CHEERLEADING TRYOUTS
Clinic-Aug. 27
Tryouts-Aug. 28th
Attendance at clinic is mandatory.
Please bring insurance information.
For Information Please Call:
Steve Kirkland at 532-7983

KSU BIG CATS
The KSU BIG CATS is a student entertainment group developed by the KSU athletic department. Students will wear specially designed uniforms and stilts. These students will help provide an entertaining, fun atmosphere at KSU athletic events.
For Information Please Call: Steve Kirkland at 532-7983 by Aug. 27th

Back to School Specials
"Your Official KSU Bookstore"
August 16 thru Sept. 4
Bookstore 532-6583
•20% OFF All Regular Priced Clothing
•10% OFF All Regular Priced Gift Items
•FREE 20 oz. Mug with Backpack Purchase
•25% OFF Reference Books, Dictionaries, Study Aides
•15% OFF 500 count Engineering Paper
•15% OFF Artbins
•15% OFF Cloth & Fiberstok Art Portfolios
•20% OFF 500 count Filler Paper
•$1.95 Clickster 4 Pack of Pencils (Reg. $2.39)
•$5 OFF TI-83 Calculators
•20% OFF Purple Powercat Mouse
•10% OFF Reserve-a-Copy Must be picked up within 24 hours of Notification. Applies to books not in stock. Special runs thru Oct. 1
Limited to stock on hand.

Welcome Back, K-Staters
Don't miss our back to school sale! Save BIG on the area's largest selection.
Rockford Fosgate · Artistry in Sound ONKYO · KENWOOD · ALPINE · SONY · ADCOM · PrecisionPower · Definitive Technology · Infinity · VIPER · PIONEER · MTX · DENON · JL AUDIO
Stop by Saturday Aug 30 and see the Alpine Factory Show Car
AUDIO JUNCTION, INC.
587-4646
307 Ft. Riley Blvd.
Mon.-Fri. 10-7 Sat. 10-5
We accept: Visa, American Express, Mastercard, Discover

U.S. officials link Sudan, Iraq

Chemical in soil at bombing site found to be unique to Iraq's nerve-gas recipe

By JOHN DIAMOND
The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Drawing a fresh link to an old American foe, U.S. intelligence officials said they believe the Sudanese plant destroyed in last week's missile strike was working with Iraq to make deadly nerve gas.

Under increasing pressure to explain why the United States attacked the Shifa Pharmaceutical Plant known for making pain killers and malaria medicine, U.S. officials added the Iraqi connection to previously cited findings because a chemical in the soil at the plant is unique to Iraq's nerve gas recipe.

The assessment is based in part on intelligence interceptions of phone calls, a U.S. official said Tuesday.

U.S. officials now concede their initial justification for the raid — evidence linking the plant to Osama bin Laden, a Saudi multimillionaire accused of organizing the Aug. 7 bombings of two U.S. embassies in Africa — is less concrete than initially claimed.

The U.S. intelligence official, who spoke Tuesday on condition of anonymity, said there is no direct financial relationship between the plant and bin Laden.

The embassy bombings in Kenya and Tanzania killed 257 people, including 12 Americans.

The Clinton administration had some intelligence indicating contact between a senior Shifa official and individuals associated with bin Laden's suspected terrorist network.

"We knew there were fuzzy ties between him and the plant but strong ties between him and Sudan and strong ties between the plant and Sudan and strong ties between the plant and Iraq," the intelligence official said.

U.S. officials said they have intelligence indicating scientists in Baghdad worked with counterparts at the plant in Khartoum, the capital of Sudan, on a formula — unique to Iraq — for making the deadly nerve agent VX.

A CIA clandestine operation netted a soil sample from the plant grounds containing traces of the man-made chemical EMPTA, officials have said.

"Iraq is the only country we're aware of" that uses EMPTA in making VX, the intelligence official said.

"There are a variety of ways of making VX, a variety of recipes, and EMPTA is fairly unique."

Intelligence officials are leaning toward the theory that Iraq was spreading its knowledge of chemical-weapons production to other Muslim countries. Iraq has some 200 tons of VX hidden in the desert, more than enough to meet its needs, according to chief U.N. weapons inspector Richard Butler.

Last fall, the Arabic-language, Paris-based publication Al-Watan al-'Arabi reported on the agenda of a secret meeting in Khartoum led by a former Sudanese leader and attended by representatives of fundamentalist Islamic groups, including bin Laden.

The participants at that meeting discussed the urgency of beginning operations at a new chemical and bacteriological factory in the Khartoum suburb of Kubar, according to the report.

The factory project, according to the meeting agenda, was being done in cooperation with the Iraqi government. Jane's Intelligence Review also reported on the meeting.

The Pentagon decided not to strike this facility in last Thursday's surprise missile attack because of its proximity to residential neighborhoods, including a diplomatic enclave.

Instead, strike planning focused on the Shifa plant in an industrial section of Khartoum.

U.S. intelligence developed several pieces of evidence — inconclusive individually — that together persuaded the administration to bomb the site, said senior intelligence and defense officials:

—The soil sample strongly indicated the plant was being used to manufacture, store or handle EMPTA, a precursor to VX.

—The Shifa plant, while privately owned, had close ties to the Sudanese government and to Sudan's weapons development infrastructure.

—Bin Laden, though expelled from Sudan in 1996 for alleged terrorist activity, retained close ties to the Sudanese government.

—Bin Laden had worked with Sudan in testing and developing chemical weapons and was known to be seeking chemical weapons capability for the fundamentalist Islamic groups he financed.

—Iraq was a customer of the Shifa plant, buying medicine under a U.N. approved exception to the sanctions imposed on Iraq. Those contacts formed a pretext for Iraqi officials linked to that country's chemical weapons program to travel to Khartoum and help start up the plant.

—Telephone intercepts collected by the U.S. National Security Agency included contacts between senior Shifa officials and Emad Al Ani, known as the father of Iraq's chemical weapons program.

New online calendar available for students

By JAMI STUMP
Kansas State Collegian

K-State students now have a new reference available on the K-State homepage.

The Office of Student Activities and Services is updating an online calender of K-State events at (www.ksu.edu/events). A spokeswoman for the office said the calender is functional on the homepage and it is working on keeping it maintained.

"This Web site will have campus events for student organizations and departments. Anyone hosting K-State student activities can put their event on our site," OSAS coordinator Gayle Spencer said.

Spencer said dates can be brought to the office on the lower floor of the K-State Student Union.

The online calender was created to supplement the less-timely wall calender produced in April.

Dean of Student Life Pat Bosco said the wall calendar has been produced for several years, and it requires early planning by the departments on campus.

"This calender requires the different departments at K-State in April to set their fall schedule," Bosco said.

He said many dates aren't set by April for the upcoming year, and the new Internet calender will combat this problem as an updated calendar of events for students.

"This is an all-university calendar Web site that will be continually updated," Bosco said. "It gives students a great way to stay up-to-date on what is going on."

Important dates and frequently dialed telephone numbers still are provided on this year's K-State wall calendar.

Need something to do? A schedule of K-State and Manhattan events is now available on the K-State home page at www.ksu.edu/events.

Produced by K-State's institutional advancement office, the poster-sized wall calendar is a quick reference for students and is available in Anderson 122.

Deans, directors and department heads on campus receive the calendar, but its main purpose is as a tool for incoming freshmen.

"We distributed the calendars to freshmen and their parents during June orientation," said Susan Hansen, director of summer orientation and enrollment.

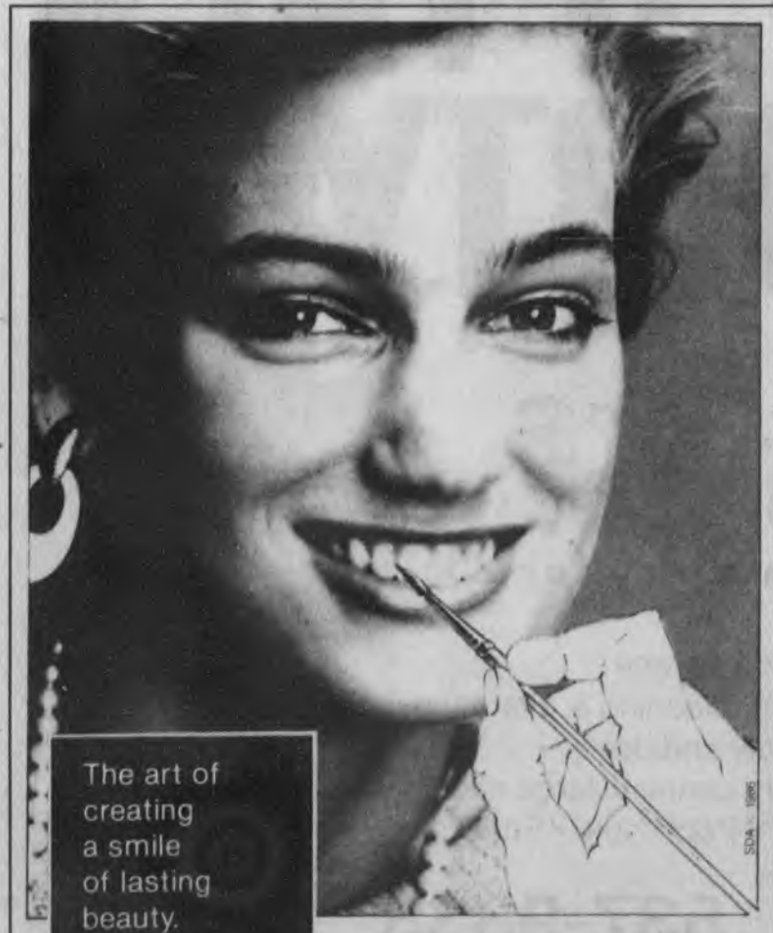
Bosco said the calender is a good reference for students.

Peggy Lind, who collected the calendar data for the vice president's office, said the calendar gives dates for sports, greek activities, student government, special events and important student deadlines.

"It is a good reference for students at K-State, and it tells them what is going on," she said.

McCain

Rodger's & Hammerstein's
The King & I
Order your tickets today!



Wednesday, August 26, 7:30 p.m.
Public: $38, $32, $26
Seniors: $36, $30, $24
Students: $19, $16, $13

"Based on a true story." These words often precede motion pictures, but we don't usually link Broadway musicals to real life. The King and I follows the story of Anna, an attractive English widow, who is hired by the King of Siam to teach Western ideas to the royal family. What follows is a mix of attraction and discovery between Anna and the King made famous in the musical that opened in Broadway in 1951 and became a hit motion picture starring Yul Brenner and Deborah Kerr in 1956. Songs include "Getting to Know You" and "Shall We Dance."

Call McCain at 785-532-6428
You can charge your tickets to VISA, MasterCard, or Discover. Or stop by the box office, noon to 6 p.m. weekdays.

Corporate Sponsor: Commerce Bank

C It s A T S Payback Time 98!

Join Varney's
"It's Payback Time"
Promotion
August 31st - September 6th

Here's How:

1. Buy Great Stuff At Varney's August 31st-September 6th
2. The Wildcats Win 13 Games This Season (Includes the Big 12 Championship and Bowl Game)
3. Varney's Gives You A Full Refund

• Excludes Textbooks, Kansas Cellular, and Class Rings. Inquire at Varney's for official rules. •

STEVE HEBERT/KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Insituform employees Travis Johnson (left) and Calvin Johnson work on installing new sewer pipe in the 300 block between Pierre and Colorado streets Tuesday afternoon. The company uses a new technology to insert resin sleeves into existing pipes, which creates a solid but flexible pipe inside the existing pipe.

CUTTING EDGE

Sewer pipe being installed with brand-new technology

BY MATT KREPS
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

The smell of resin and the rumble of generators and pumps greeted motorists in southeast Manhattan on Tuesday.

The city of Manhattan was installing a new sewer pipe along the alley between the 300 blocks of Pierre and Colorado streets. But the usual digging and disruption for sewer repairs were absent from this construction scene.

The city used a new technology from Insituform, a St. Louis-based company, to insert resin sleeves into existing pipes. The new sleeves create a solid yet flexible pipe inside the existing pipe. By using the insertion process, the city avoids the digging and expense normally associated with sewer repairs.

"It patches, reinforces and puts a new pipe inside without digging up streets, yards and all that for months and months," said Harold Collins, an Insituform worker on site.

This is the first use of Insituform in Manhattan, according to a report from the Manhattan Utilities Department. Further applications of Insituform are planned along the Anderson Avenue corridor.

Utilities Director Jack Messer said digging is still less expensive in open areas. But in residential and commercial areas, he said Insituform is an attractive option because it prevents problems with traffic, other utilities and other inconveniences.

The process uses a more flexible sleeve than traditional sewer pipes made from concrete, cast iron or clay materials. Made of resin saturated with chemicals, the sleeve is pushed into the existing pipe using water pressure. When the pipe is treated with water heated to 180 degrees, the resin hardens into a solid pipe.

Because the pipe is flexible, it can bend without breaking when the ground shifts or tree roots grow around it.

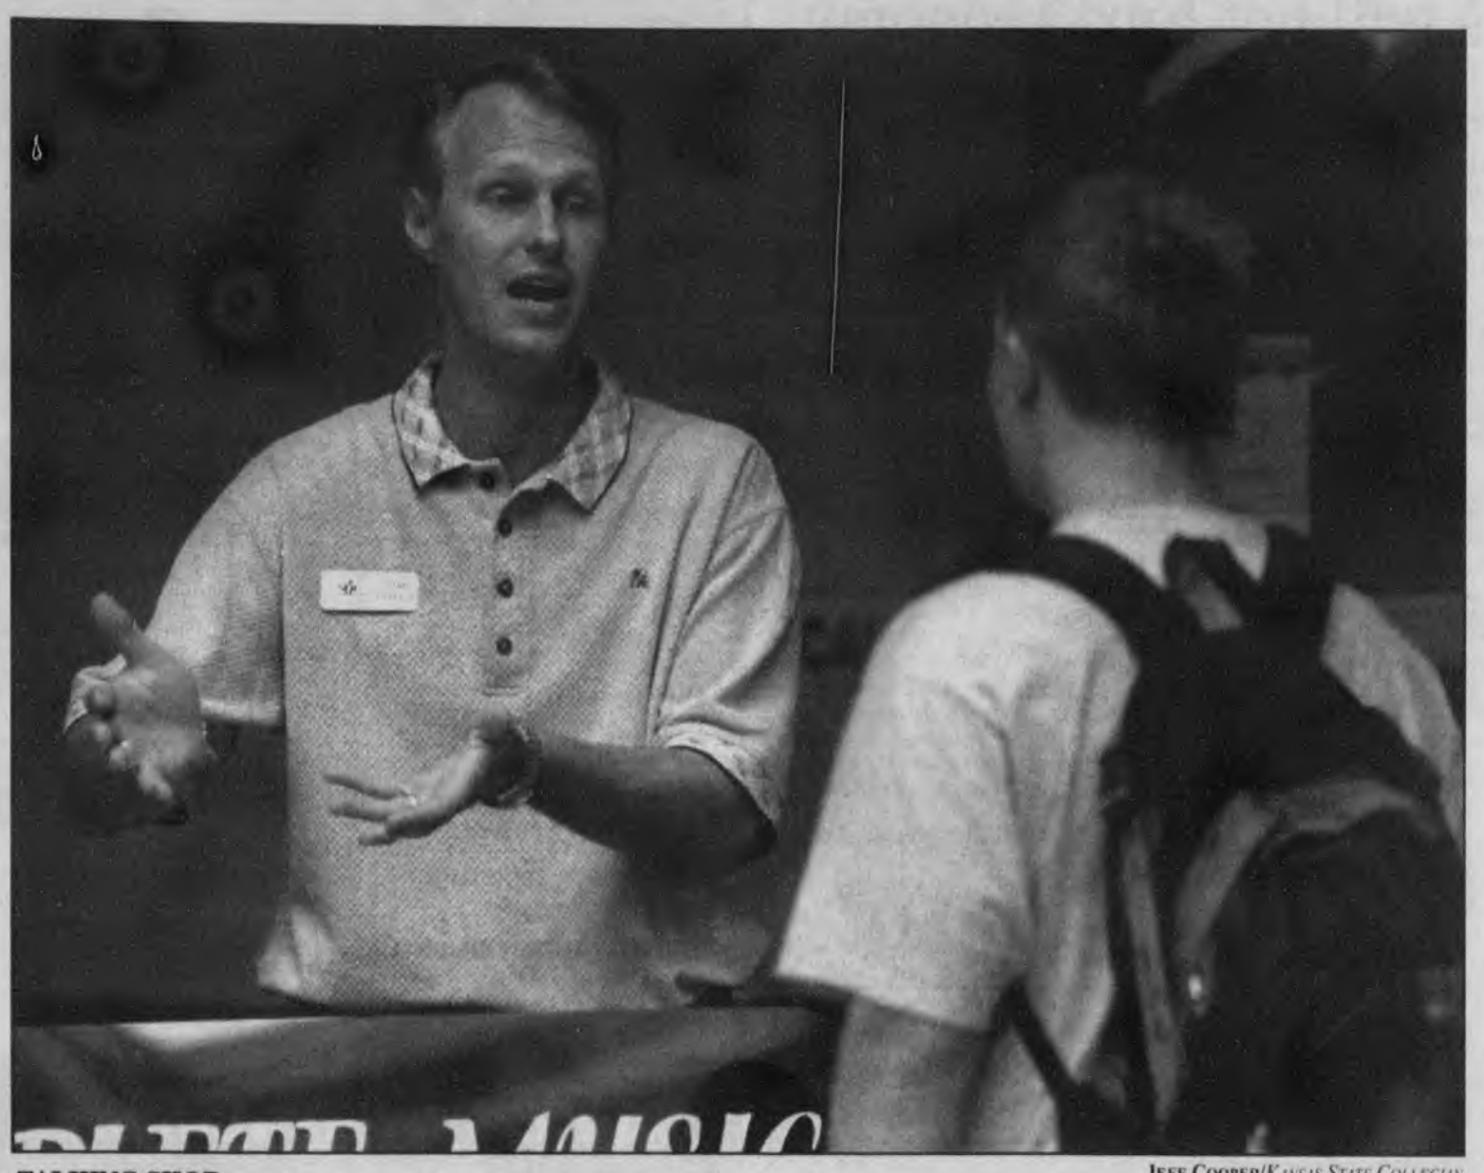
"If there's a tree growing near that [sewer] main, in 20 years it's going to get down to that main and get into it," Collins said.

Messer said he expects the Insituform product to have a lifespan comparable to other sewer-line options.

"Some of the sewers that are functioning now are close to 100 years old in some older parts of town," Messer said.

See what a nickel will buy you at
5¢ Claflin Books and Copies
1834 Claflin Road 776-3771

PIZZA SHUTTLE DELIVERS
776-5577
1800 Claflin Road



Stagg Hill Golf Club
Student Membership Rates!
$100/30 Days
• With KSU Student I.D. •
Play All You Want!
DRIVING RANGE SPECIAL
with this ad,
Buy 2 Buckets,
get 1 FREE!
90 Balls for $3.70 ($5.55 Value)
Expires Sept. 15, 1998
539-1041
3 Miles West of Holidome on K-18

Attention May 2000 Graduates
How would you like up to $7,000 to help pay for your last two years of school?
Interested?
Call Reid at 532-6600 to find out how.
AIR FORCE ROTC
LEADERSHIP EXCELLENCE STARTS HERE

Our Insurance Agent is REALLY Nervous!
Why? Well, if the Cats finish the football season undefeated and win their bowl game, we will give EVERY SINGLE CUSTOMER their money back for every computer system they purchase from us through September 10th. That could cost him a lot of money!
Stop by to register for a chance to win a 19" ADI monitor and three $100 gift certificates.
No purchase necessary to win!
Good Luck Wildcats
WE KNOW YOU CAN DO IT!
Transcend Technologies
Located at 1108 Laramie
Just East of Godfather's Pizza in Aggieville
Stop by or call us at 539-8538

LET'S TALK DIRTY.
$1 (LAUNDRY)
Washers
15 min. dry for 25¢
Wednesday Movie Night 5:00, 7:00 & 9:00 p.m.
• Coin Laundry
• Laundry drop-off service
• Professional dry cleaning & alterations
• Drive-up window and door
• Bargain laundry center w/large capacity washers
• Big screen TV • Pool Table • Snacks
3216 Kimball
in Candlewood Center
537-9833
across from Cico Park, near Bobby T's pen 7 a.m.-Midnight
7 days a week
Washo PALACE
Kimball | North Cico Park | Seth Childs | Candlewood Center

Intramural
Sign Up This Week
Flag Football Soccer, Individual Sports and Punt, Pass & Kick
Intramural Entry Deadline
Thursday, August 27 at 5 p.m.
Recreational Services Office
Captains'/Managers' Meeting
Wednesday, September 2 at 5 p.m.
K-State Union, Forum Hall
Flag Football schedules will be distributed at this meeting only.
All Capatians'/Managers' must attend!
Flag Football Officials' Clinic
August 31- September 2
5 p.m. at Recreation Complex
Mandatory attendance at all three meetings
Soccer Officials' Clinic
September 8-9
5 p.m. at Recreation Complex
Mandatory attendance at both meetings.
Recreational Services Office 532-6980

TALKING SHOP

Jeff Cooper/Kansas State Collegian

Mark Kuecker, left, of Complete Music talks with Korben Konrady, freshman in landscape architecture, about the opportunities for employment with the company. Some 40 area businesses had booths set up in the K-State Student Union Courtyard.

Chiefs owner withdraws bid to buy baseball team

By CRAIG HORST
The Associated Press

KANSAS CITY, Mo. — Kansas City Chiefs owner Lamar Hunt announced Tuesday he was withdrawing from the bidding for the Royals, apparently clearing the way further for New York lawyer Miles Prentice to buy the team.

Hunt had bid on the Royals with Western Resources Inc., the utility based in Topeka, zzzbut the bid fell far short of the $75 million set by the baseball team's board of directors.

Royals president Mike Herman last week said Prentice had made "the superior bid."

The group led by Hunt bid $25 million for the Royals — who have become perennial money-losers — with another $27 million to be paid after improvements are made to Kauffman Stadium.

Prentice's bid is believed to be close to the minimum by the board, which is trying to juggle the twin priorities of ensuring the team remains in Kansas City under its new owners while getting as much as possible from the sale.

Hunt had said as late as Saturday night after an exhibition game between his Chiefs and Jacksonville that he still was interested in the Royals.

But on Tuesday, Hunt said the Royals had clearly indicated "they are now going in a different direction, and we respect that decision."

"We made an offer that we believe made financial sense, and we are appreciative that it was considered and certainly understand that the Royals board has its own set of objectives and time considerations to meet," Hunt said in a brief statement.

In throwing its support behind Prentice, the Royals told him he needed an ownership group that included 50-percent local investors.

That requirement apparently surprised Prentice, but he has been in the city since Thursday trying to line up local investors.

Under the unique succession plan devised by Kauffman, all money from the sale will go to area charities.

Hunt was clearly a fan favorite to become Royals owner. Former Royals star George Brett, now a vice president with the team, was also a local favorite, but acknowledged recently that the bid from the group led was not considered seriously.

The board's emphasis on local ownership was based on the wishes of Ewing Kauffman, who absorbed large losses from the franchise before he died and insisted the team remain in Kansas City at almost any cost.

That was never a serious question for Hunt, whose Chiefs have grown into the city's top sports draw — replacing the Royals — and regularly sell out Arrowhead Stadium.

Hunt makes his home in Dallas, but he is a widely respected sportsman and has local business interests, including a large and popular amusement park, and coupling his bid with the Topeka utility only strengthened the feeling of local ties.

But the low bid disturbed the Royals board.

John Hayes, chairman of Western Resources, has said the utility was interested in owning the Royals because of the importance of having a major-league team in Kansas City.

"Our community interest in keeping the Royals continues today, and we wish the future owners of the Royals the best of luck," Hayes said in the statement Tuesday.

Pregnancy Testing Center
539-3338
- Free pregnancy testing
- Totally confidential service
- Same day results
- Call for appointment

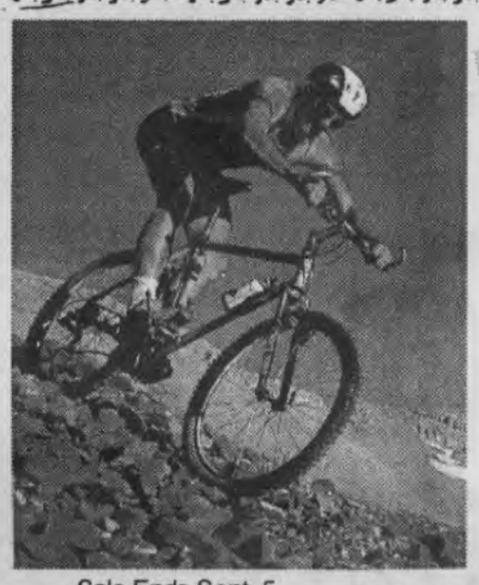
Located across from campus in Anderson Village

Mon.-Fri. 9 a.m.-5 p.m.

A Smart Financial Plan Begins With Just 7 Numbers.
537-4505

Waddell & Reed
FINANCIAL SERVICES
The people with a plan for you.

Mark A. Kline
Financial Advisor
555 Poyntz, Ste. 280
Manhattan, KS
785/537-4505
www.waddell.com



Hair Experts Design Team
NEW CLIENT
"SPECIAL"
$10 OFF ANY SERVICE!
First Visit Only
$10 Off Any Service
Not valid with any other offer, children's haircuts, or waxing.
#23 Exp. 10/1/98
776-4455
AGGIVILLE, USA

Fall College Courses
WAMEGO, KANSAS
CONTACT: Ed Brennan, 785-456-6006

Art Appreciation	Creative Writing
Crafts I	World Regional Geography
Drawing I	Nutrition
Soils & Soils Lab	United States History I and II
Crop Science w/Lab	History of Western Civ. I
Crop Production	Spanish I
General Anthropology	Children's Literature
College Biology w/Lab	Beginning Algebra
Human Physiology w/Lab	Plane Trigonometry
Medical Terminology	Calculus w/ Analytic Geometry I
Microbiology w/Lab	Basic Statistics
Intro. to Accounting	Intro. to Philosophy
Keyboarding	Intro. to Ethics
Microcomputer App. I	United States Government
Economics I and II	State & Local Government
Marketing	College Physical Science
Business Communications	General Geology
Managerial Accounting	College Chemistry I w/ Lab
Intro. to Investigation	General College Physics I
Police Patrol Procedure	General Psychology
Criminal Investigations	Human Growth & Development
Fundamentals of English	General Sociology
College English I and II	Marriage and the Family
American Literature I	Public Speaking
Intro. to the Short Story

HIGHLAND COMMUNITY COLLEGE
606 W. Main • Highland, KS 66035-4165
Call coordinator for additional course information

PUMPS • LOCKS • HELMETS • COMPUTERS • TOOLS
HIKING BOOTS • WHEELS • TIRES • GLOVES
WATER BOTTLES & CAGES • V BRAKE
HIT THE TRAIL SALE

MOUNTAIN BIKES AS LOW AS $199.95
U-LOCKS STARTING AT $9.99
Over 50 Models of Bikes on sale from
• SCHWINN • RALEIGH •
• BIANCHI • SPECIALIZED • • CANNONDALE • FISHER •
the PATHFINDER
OUTDOOR EQUIPMENT SPECIALISTS
304 Poyntz, Downtown Manhattan
Sale Ends Sept. 5
Quantities Are Limited
539-5639
Established in 1975 • Open Until 7 Mon.-Wed. and Thurs. Until 8 p.m.
BACKPACKS • FANNY PACKS • MOUNTAIN BIKES • U-LOCKS
Come see the Schwinn Bicycle Stunt Show, Sept. 4 at the Purple Power Play on Poyntz!

Your Only Chance To
MEET THE PLAYERS
Of The Top 10 Ranked
K-State Wildcats
KMAN 1350 am & KRBK 101.5 & B104.7 Today's Hot New Country
Invites You to Fan Appreciation Day
Thursday, August 27
East Side of KSU Stadium
Parking Lot opens at 4:30
Stadium Gates Open at 5:30
so you, the fans can SEE the Wildcats at practice, listen to the Coaches then go down onto the field where you can MEET the Wildcats to get their autographs and pictures.
Free Hot Dogs while they last.

THE MEN OF ΑΤΩ
WOULD LIKE TO WELCOME OUR NEW PLEDGES FOR THE THIS FALL...

Kyle Brewer	Brian Lull
Justin Kastanek	Jeremy Glenn
Evan Keyser	Ben Taddiken
T.J. Stack	Justin Morgan
Ben Porter	Collin Yoachim
Lance Jones	Tony Long
Eric Richer	Travis Wymer
Mike Rodgers	Grant Bunton
Chad Green	Jeff Severino
Bob Harrison	John Evans
Justin Stein	John Lucht
Kevin Oehme	Matt Keller

Chinese president says floods will not hurt economy

By WILLIAM E. AHEARN
ASSOCIATED PRESS WRITER

BEIJING — President Jiang Zemin said Tuesday the floods that have devastated vast regions of China will not have a significant effect on the nation's growing economy.

Jiang spoke during a two-hour conversation with current and former members of The Associated Press board of directors and senior news executives, led by board chairman Donald E. Newhouse and president and chief executive officer Louis D. Boccardi. The group is on a fact-finding tour of China.

The Chinese president touched on many topics, including terrorism, Taiwan, President Clinton and human rights.

But throughout the discussion he frequently returned to the flooding, interspersing details on the 250 million people affected and the size of China's relief efforts with emotional and philosophical comments on the disaster.

He recalled how residents of his hometown of Yangzhou, in southern China, used tubs as makeshift rafts during floods in 1931, when he was 5.

Frequently alluding to his scientific training, he almost wistfully lamented nature's ability to overwhelm technology:

"We can predict the rainfall, but can't stop it from falling from the skies," he said.

The Chinese government has raised its estimate of the death toll from the floods from more than 2,000 but it is not expected to surpass 4,000.

In discussing the economic effect of the floods, Jiang said crops are growing well and life goes on as usual in areas just beyond the flooding.

He said he didn't think the floods would have a significant negative impact on China's economic growth, which is projected at 8 percent, a slight drop from last year's 8.8 percent.

"I hope China will achieve it, but if it is somewhat lower, I don't think people should be worried," he said.

He said some areas wiped out by flooding will have to be rebuilt, and the capital investment required will help stimulate the economy.

"This is an example of how a serious disaster can turn into a kind of good," he said.

The meeting with the AP delegation was at the State Guest House in a large room with a glass wall overlooking a lake. At one point, Jiang interrupted his comments to point to three swans swimming by.

Jiang spoke through an interpreter but occasionally interjected English comments. His mood ranged from intense to jovial.

He jabbed his hand toward the ceiling as he talked about Taiwan, calling it "an inalienable province of China," and "the most sensitive issue in China-U.S. relations."

The 72-year-old Jiang, an electrical engineer by training, frequently referred to his background but added that he has a deep interest in literature. He cited Mark Twain, Henry Wadsworth Longfellow, Confucius and several Chinese poets. He quoted Song dynasty poet Wang Anshi as saying, "I do not fear that the floating clouds might obscure my view because I stand at the top of the mountain."

Asked what advice he would give to Clinton on his current personal problems, Jiang said: "Frankly, it is very difficult to answer. It is a personal question for Clinton. But with the democratic traditions and wisdom of the American people, I'm sure that in the end people will put the situation in the right way."

He added: "Political struggles are very complex. Things are easier when personal issues are separated from political ones."

In commenting on himself, he recalled that during his visit to the United States last year, some protesters held up signs describing him as a tyrant and the head of a dictatorship.

"I have met quite a lot of other leaders," he said, "and I don't believe I've given them the impression that I am a tyrant or a dictator."

On reunification with Taiwan, Jiang said China wants a peaceful reconciliation but that the question should not remain unsettled for too long.

"Our policy is clear cut. It is a peaceful one on the basis of one country, two systems" — the same formula that was used in the recovery of Hong Kong.

But he reiterated China's right to use force if necessary.

"We do not commit not to use force," he said, "and our intention in not disavowing the right to use force is directed at separatists who are promoting independence ... ."

When asked about the terrorist strikes at American embassies in East Africa and the U.S. missile attacks in Afghanistan and the Sudan, Jiang said: "We are unequivocally opposed to terrorism in any form.

"Our viewpoint is consistent. We believe these matters need to be resolved based on the U.N. Charter and normal international law," he said. The United States referred in part to the charter to justify the attacks.

On other topics, Jiang:

—Restated China's commitment to keep its currency, the yuan, stable amid the Asian financial turmoil, while conceding that policy "carries a certain price and a certain risk."

—Said that although some dark clouds have covered U.S.-China relations since 1993, "on the whole, both sides are working toward building a strategic constructive partnership."

—Acknowledged China and the United States sometimes disagree on human rights but said, "In a democratic atmosphere we can put the issues on the table and talk on the principle of noninterference in each other's affairs."

PLAYFAIR

■ continued from page 1

those that are here will have a great time," Henderson said.

McLellan said she agreed that those present seemed to be having fun, and that she was looking forward to a better turnout next year.

"This one's just beginning, but for such a small group, this is an incredible Play Fair," McLellan said. "Hopefully next year we'll attract a few hundred, or even a thousand people."

Revere said she was one person who thought it would be worthwhile for students next year to attend.

"If you're looking for something fun to do, you'll definitely have a crazy time here," Revere said.

Southern Sun
Welcome Back Special
10 Tans for $27.00
Don't Lose That Summer Tan!
776-8060
3232 KIMBALL (NEXT TO BOBBY T'S)
Always Great Bulbs at the Best Prices!

Internet Access
NO BUSY SIGNALS!
• 56K X2 MODEMS
• 64K ISDN
• 20MB WEB SPACE
• 16GB NEWS SERVER
• EXTENDED SUPPORT HOURS
• UNLIMITED INTERACTIVE USAGE
$14.95 per month
NETWORKS PLUS + 587-4121

Stroud Truck Driving Academy
Now enrolling inexperienced OTR drivers. CDL certification in 4 wks., job placement & housing available. Paid training, if you qualify.
1-800-365-1310

Are You Overswamped With Bills?
Let Us Help.
Earn at least $15
each time you donate plasma
Nabi
Manhattan Biomedical Center
1130 Garden Way • Mon & Thurs 9am - 7pm, Tues & Wed 9 am-6:30 pm, Fri 9 am-5 pm, Sat 8am - 1pm • 776-9177

Wednesday Specials
Mon. 4PM-2AM
Tues.-Sun. 11AM-2AM
1129 Laramie
537-4045
Big Screen TV
2 FOOSBALL TABLES
1 DART BOARD
$1 Domestic Bottles
$2 Micros and Imports

Back to School
All Haircuts $4
All services performed by students are under supervision of instructors.
Crum's beauty college
512 Poyntz Ave. 776-4794

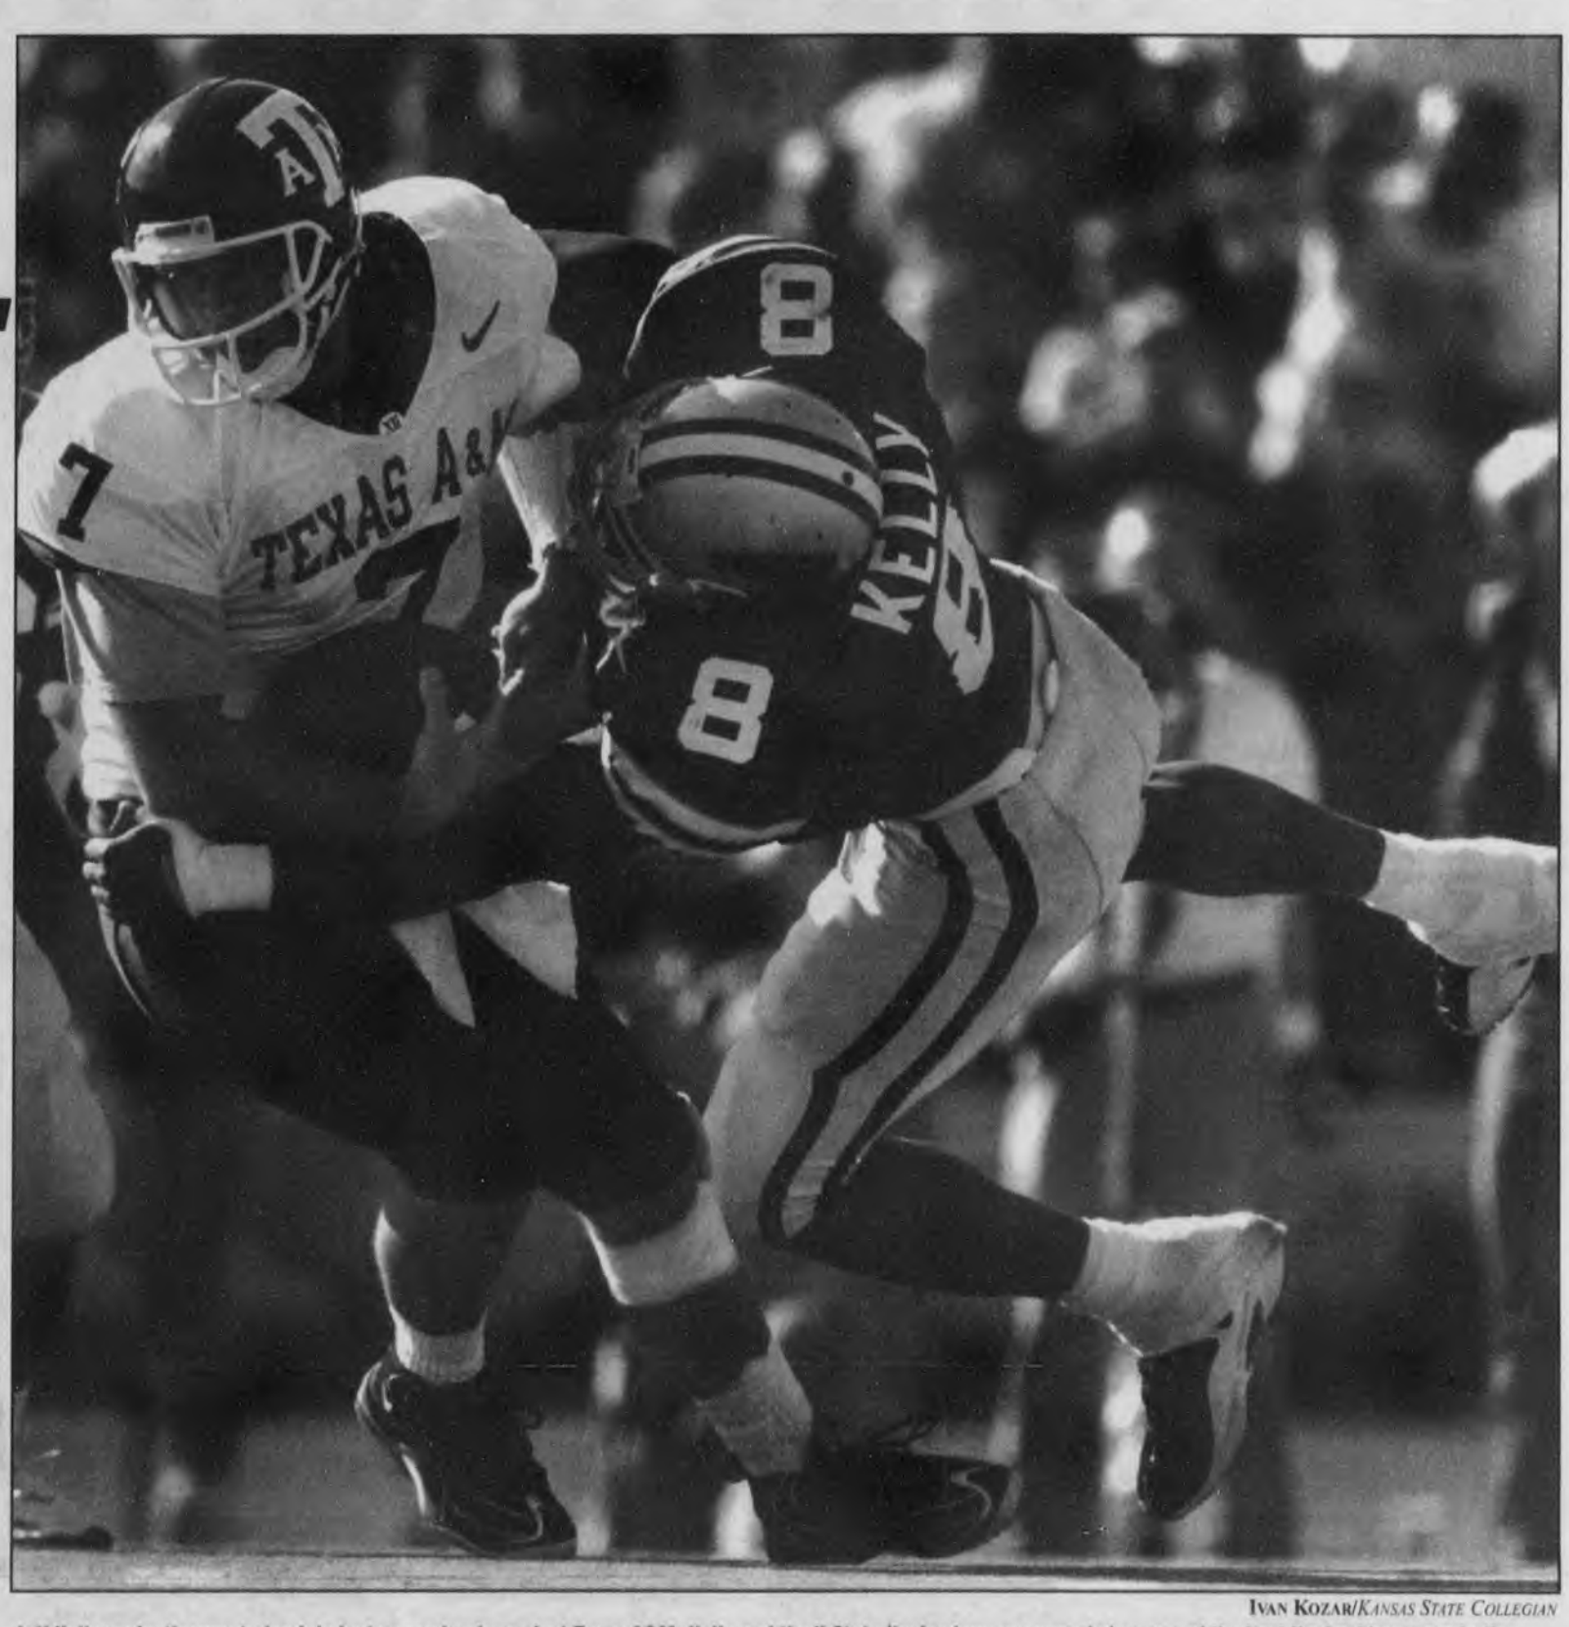
PIZZA SHUTTLE DELIVERS
776-5577
1800 Claflin Road

Play on Cedar Hills Golf Course at University Park.
Take Tuttle Creek Blvd. about 23 miles NW of Manhattan, 3 miles N of Riley turn-off to County Road 390, turn right 1.5 miles to Hi-View Road, then turn left for 1.5 miles–Club House on the right.
Half Year Membership:
Family–$25.00
Single–$22.00
For More Information Call 785/293-5802
GOLF!
Cedar Hills University Park
9 Hole Sand Greens Course.
ALL DAY PLAY for $3.00!

HOME BANKING
YES! You can go on-line with Kansas State Bank and conduct your banking business.
AROUND THE CORNER
Account Transfers • Balance Inquiries
KANSAS STATE BANK
Bill Paying • Loan Payments • Loan Inquiries
AROUND THE WORLD
Downtown Aggieville Westloop
Your Hometown Quality Bank
KANSAS STATE BANK
http://www.kansasstatebank.com
FDIC 785-587-4000

THE PURPLE PIG
EST. 1986
The Purple Pig
Manhattan's Beer Tavern
Wednesday $3 Pitchers
539-7444
424 Houston St. - Downtown
OPEN 4 P.M. TILL MIDNIGHT, MON.-SAT.

Claflin Books and Copies
1814 Claflin Road • Across from Goodnow Hall
BOOKS
SELF-SERVE COPIES
RESUMES
WORD PROCESSING
NEWSPAPERS
DESKTOP PUBLISHING
FAX SERVICE
GREETING CARDS
Welcome (Back)!
Monday-Thursday: 7am-Midnight
Friday: 7am-6pm
Saturday: 9am-5pm
Sunday: 12pm-Midnight
(785) 776-3771
Fax: (785) 776-1009
E-mail: cbcbkcpy@interkan.net



K-STATE Federal CREDIT UNION
"Enroll In Money 101"
TOTALLY FREE Checking
NO Minimum Balance
FREE ATM Usage (at our ATM)
No Service Charge
No Per Check Charge
Two Locations to serve your Needs!
2700 Anderson Ave. (near Westloop Shopping Area)
1455 Anderson Ave. (across from Campus)
785-776-3003
e-mail: creditunion@ksu.edu web page: www.ksu.edu/creditunion

1998 CUT FOR KIDS' SAKE
Portion of the days' receipts go to Big Brothers/Big Sisters
Register for prize giveaways all day!
BIG BROTHERS BIG SISTERS OF MANHATTAN
SAT., AUG. 29 FROM 8 A.M.-4 P.M. AT Shear Dynamics
CREW
Matrix ESSENTIALS
REDKEN 5TH AVENUE NYC
SYSTÈME BIOLAGE
BUY ONE GET ONE HALF-PRICE OFF REGULAR PRICED RETAIL $10.95 LITERS OF SHAMPOO OR CONDITIONER
NOON
1125 Laramie in Aggieville • 776-9100

JOBS
Starting at $7.00 per hour
PART-TIME
Help needed to take inventory in retail stores. Average 10-12 hours on weekends. Weekday daytime hours are also available. Averaging 25+ hours.
Apply in person
Landon's Room, Ramada Inn
Friday, Aug. 28
at Noon, 1:30 p.m., 3 p.m., and 4:30 p.m.
Interviews start promptly.
Doors will close after 5 minutes.

TRIPLE THREAT

3 Linebackers lead defense on, off field

IVAN KOZAR/KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Jeff Kelly sacks the quarterback in last season's win against Texas A&M. Kelly and the K-State linebackers are regarded as one of the best linebacking corps in the nation.

BY JON BALMER
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

As Wildcat fans eagerly await the return of K-State football, hype about the upcoming season has been circulating at a rapid pace.

Certain members of the media have dubbed the Cats the best team in the nation, while others believe Manhattan might possess a Heisman Trophy winner come December.

OCHS

But for all the hype, the most impressive weapon in K-State's arsenal might prove to be the defense, which ranked fourth nationally in 1997 and has nine starters returning.

Leading this dangerous unit are the notorious three, linebackers Travis Ochs, Jeff Kelly and Mark Simoneau. Each player contributed heavily to K-State's success in 1997, and each has been mentioned as possible All-America candidates.

Travis Ochs capped off an impressive season that concluded with a Defensive MVP Award in the Tostitos Fiesta Bowl. Regarded as the most consistent player, Ochs was named an honorable mention All-Big 12 selection.

Jeff Kelly arrived in Manhattan with a bang. The community-college transfer was awarded the 1997 Big 12 Defensive-Newcomer of the Year after leading K-State with 110 tackles.

Not to be left off the list, Mark Simoneau led the Cats with 64 solo tackles and had 15 tackles for losses. Returning for his junior season, Simoneau was selected as a preseason All-Big 12 selection, along with Kelly.

While each player brings an impressive resume to the field, the bond between the three linebackers might lead to the Cats' overall success.

"We get along well, and if we mess up, we confess to each other," Kelly said.

SIMONEAU

After arriving in Manhattan a year ago, Kelly said the three clicked immediately and began a solid friendship on and off the field.

"I'm a real outgoing person, and I get along with everybody," Kelly said. "(Ochs and Simoneau) accepted me, they're both like brothers to me and they taught me things. I think that's why we get along so well."

The strong bond between the three has resulted in an even stronger bond of leadership on the field, according to Kelly.

"If someone gets down, we have to pick it up, because we are the leaders of the defense," Kelly said.

While the strength of the defense has been recognized nationally, the individual performers have not been ignored. Kelly, Ochs and Simoneau have been nominated for the Butkus Award, and many publications have mentioned one, if not all three of the players, as All-America candidates.

Even with the impressive preseason press, the three players have tried to remain low-key about the hype.

"I don't even think about it," Kelly said. "I didn't even know about it (The Butkus nomination) until a friend told me."

This focus on team goals first has reflected in the players' approach to the upcoming schedule.

When asked which team he looked forward to playing the most, Kelly answered, "All of them," and said going undefeated was most important, regardless of the team played.

The bond between Kelly, Ochs and Simoneau might form the foundation for another solid defense in 1998. And with the unit looking to form one soul, a nickname can help toward building an identity.

Based on the success of last year's squad, Kelly said "The Lynch Mob" might return as the defense's title.

"There's been a little controversy about the name in the past, but we try to come out and have fun every time," Kelly said.

"And regardless, we're still steady mobbin'."

"IF SOMEONE GETS DOWN, WE HAVE TO PICK IT UP, BECAUSE WE ARE THE LEADERS OF THE DEFENSE," SENIOR LINEBACKER JEFF KELLY

IVAN KOZAR/KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Renovations at Frank Myers Field are currently underway for a $1.5 million project set to conclude in Feburary.

Renovations continue on Franks Myers Field

BY MIKE VIETTI
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Renovations to Frank Myers Field are about to go into full swing, just as fall practice is nearing for K-State baseball.

The bulk of the $1.5 million facelift to Frank Myers Field began on Monday when the press box was torn down.

"There really isn't a schedule or time line for the construction," K-State baseball coach Mike Clark said. "But the construction company that is renovating the field has also been working on the golf course (Colbert Hills), so we've had to wait for them to get finished on that."

Clark said after the press box is taken down, the construction company will arrive Wednesday, and they will start the actual digging of the field.

"They're going to take out three feet of dirt from the outfield fence to the backstop," he said. "After that, they will begin to reconstruct the field with a new sprinkler system and a new sand-based drainage system that will greatly improve the drainage all over the field."

Perhaps the worst aspect of the old Frank Myers Field was the playing surface itself, which many of the players had grown to dislike.

"The surface was just terrible," senior Andy Silva said. "Anytime it rained the field was very soggy, which added another obstacle to playing. I doubt if the old field even had a drainage system."

The new stadium is expected to enhance the stature of K-State baseball.

"It will be one of the best Big 12 stadiums," Clark said.

The promise of a new stadium is what lured many players to K-State.

"The new stadium is the reason why I came here," Silva said. "It can't get any worse than last year, we had to change our clothes in the parking lot."

As far as recruiting goes, Clark said the renovations didn't attract many new players because those visiting on a recruiting trip wanted to see this new stadium, but, of course, he had nothing to show.

The stadium was designed by HOK — the same architecture firm that designed baseball stadiums such as Camden Yards, home of the Baltimore Orioles, and Coors Field, home of the Colorado Rockies.

"There really isn't any other stadium like it, but parts have been designed from other stadiums," Clark said. "Our dugouts are basically the same as the Colorado Rockies. Our locker room is almost tile for tile identical to that of Mississippi State, whom we considered to have the best locker room in college baseball."

Perhaps the most important aspect to the new stadium is that it will no longer be a chore for fans to watch a game.

"You really had to be a baseball fan to watch our games in the past. The old facility was fan antagonist rather than fan friendly," Clark said.

Players say they think the new stadium will help lure more people to see K-State baseball and Clark shares his player's optimism.

"I think the fans will be very happy with the new facility," he said. "It has a great atmosphere, and the caliber of ball we play is excellent. Hopefully we'll have bigger crowds next year."

National pastime, McGwire watch keeps columnist entertained during summer break from school

June, July, August. If you're a college student, these three months can equal academic freedom from all forms of higher education. With this sudden block of free time, many look to escape the Kansas confines for sun-drenched beaches or adopt a strict beer-swilling diet to quickly rid their brains of that pesky education K-State professors tried to teach.

However, while I dabbled in a little of the above-mentioned activities, my dedication during the break boiled down to one thing: summer sports.

Call it an inner weakness, but three months off helped me satisfy my sports craving like never before. And while I eagerly await the college-football season like the rest of my Powercat brethren, summertime provided the chance to view events from all ends of the sports world.

Even before my last final was complete, I was primed for the 1998 baseball season. The main interest throughout the season has been whether someone will surpass Roger Maris' home-run mark, but there has been more within the game to draw my attention.

While the Yankees have climbed steadily to the best record in baseball this year, the wild-card race could provide a significant challenge to the Bronx Bombers. If Boston pulls through the last month unscathed, an East Coast showdown with the Yankees could be possible.

In the National League, who can't help but cheer for the Chicago Cubs and their leader, "Slammin'" Sammy Sosa? The Cubbies haven't won a World Series since the dawn of man, so a return to the big show in honor of Harry Carry would be something special for the baseball world.

As beautiful as baseball is, another event captured my interest over America's game: The World Cup. Before I'm branded a traitor and deported, let me defend myself.

Baseball has much to offer, but where else can you find a sport where the fans are nearly as entertaining as the athletes? While the soccer players are displaying their skills of grace and agility, the fans are busy displaying skills of drinking and camaraderie.

Nowhere is this more evident than in British soccer fans. Known affectionately as "hooligans," this group wreaks more havoc than Billy Idol in his prime. Throughout the tournament, the hooligans made their mark by throwing back pints of beer before throwing punches at rival fans. When England's run ended in the Cup, the entire nation of France breathed a little easier.

Outside of a poor showing by the United States, World Cup '98 was worthy of a toast. Each nation competing had an interesting story to tell, and the final between France and Brazil was brilliant, unless you were a Brazil fan (France won 3-0). Regardless, the skills on display were epic and hopefully won over new fans in the United States.

Before I could end the summer, I had the chance to watch what can only be described as strangely intriguing. This, my friends, is professional wrestling. Never before have I witnessed an event so bizarre and yet so entertaining.

While all the ladies probably are confused by the concept, allow me to explain. Pro wrestling is comparable to a soap opera in spandex. Each event has more plot twists and backstabs than Shakespeare could ever conjure up, and within each match lies the possibility of seeing something beyond imagination.

Throughout the summer, I witnessed both sides of the wrestling circuit: World Class Wrestling and the World Wrestling Federation. Each league offered characters ranging from "Stone Cold" Steve Austin, a man akin to dining on rattlesnake, to "the Macho Man" Randy Savage, spokesman for Slim Jim beef jerky and by far the most entertaining when delivering long-winded rants.

Although you might think this "sport" would be regulated to trailer parks and National Rifle Association meetings deep in the south, think again. During the summer I witnessed celebrities such as Jay Leno, Karl Malone and Dennis Rodman participate in the wrestling revelry. As white trash as it might be, pro wrestling remains a cheap source for entertainment.

As I begin to shift my attention to the overwhelming amount of football that lies ahead, I have to look back at the summer that was and bask in the glow of summer sports. From the thrills of the ballpark to the sheer mayhem of the wrestling ring, this summer was just too sweet.

Jon is a junior in business administration and can be reached at jkb2004@ksu.edu.

MOVING IT ALL into that tiny room

STORY BY SHALIA SATTER
PHOTOGRAPHS BY JEFF COOPER

As incoming students move into their residence-hall rooms, their minds race with possibilities of where to put their favorite poster and where to build a loft.

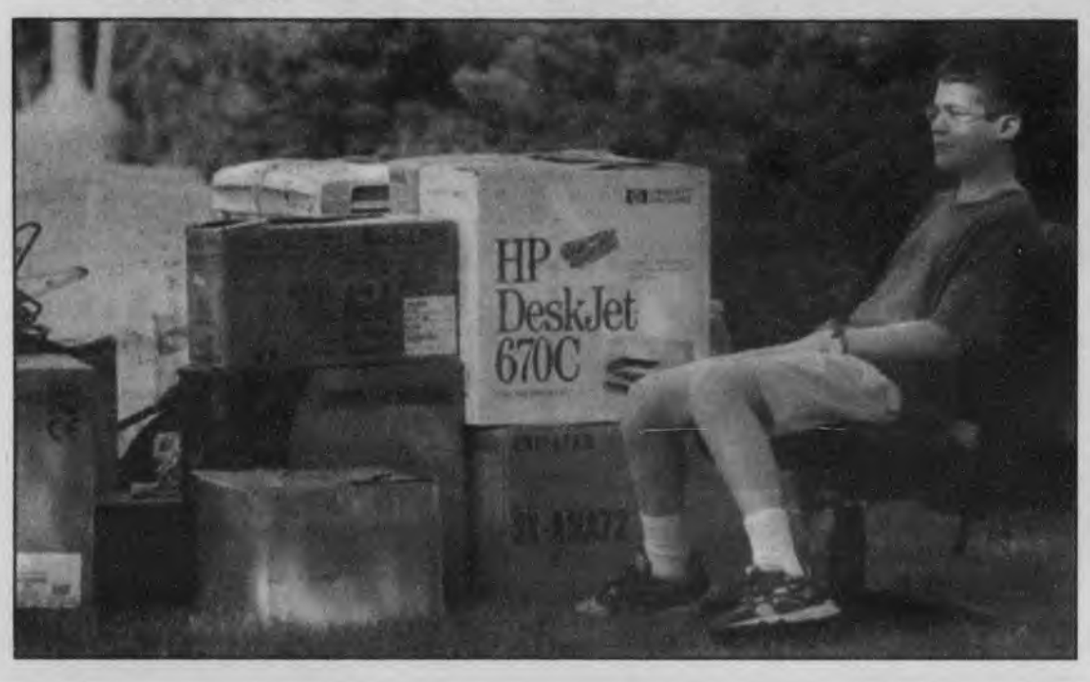
But residence-hall guidelines and rules stop some students from decorating their rooms to top form.

"You can't bring anything big like the luxury recliners or the huge refrigerators," John Eddy, Marlatt Hall community assistant, said.

Guidelines restrict students from some types of construction in the rooms. Each room must be left in the same condition it was in prior to move-in day.

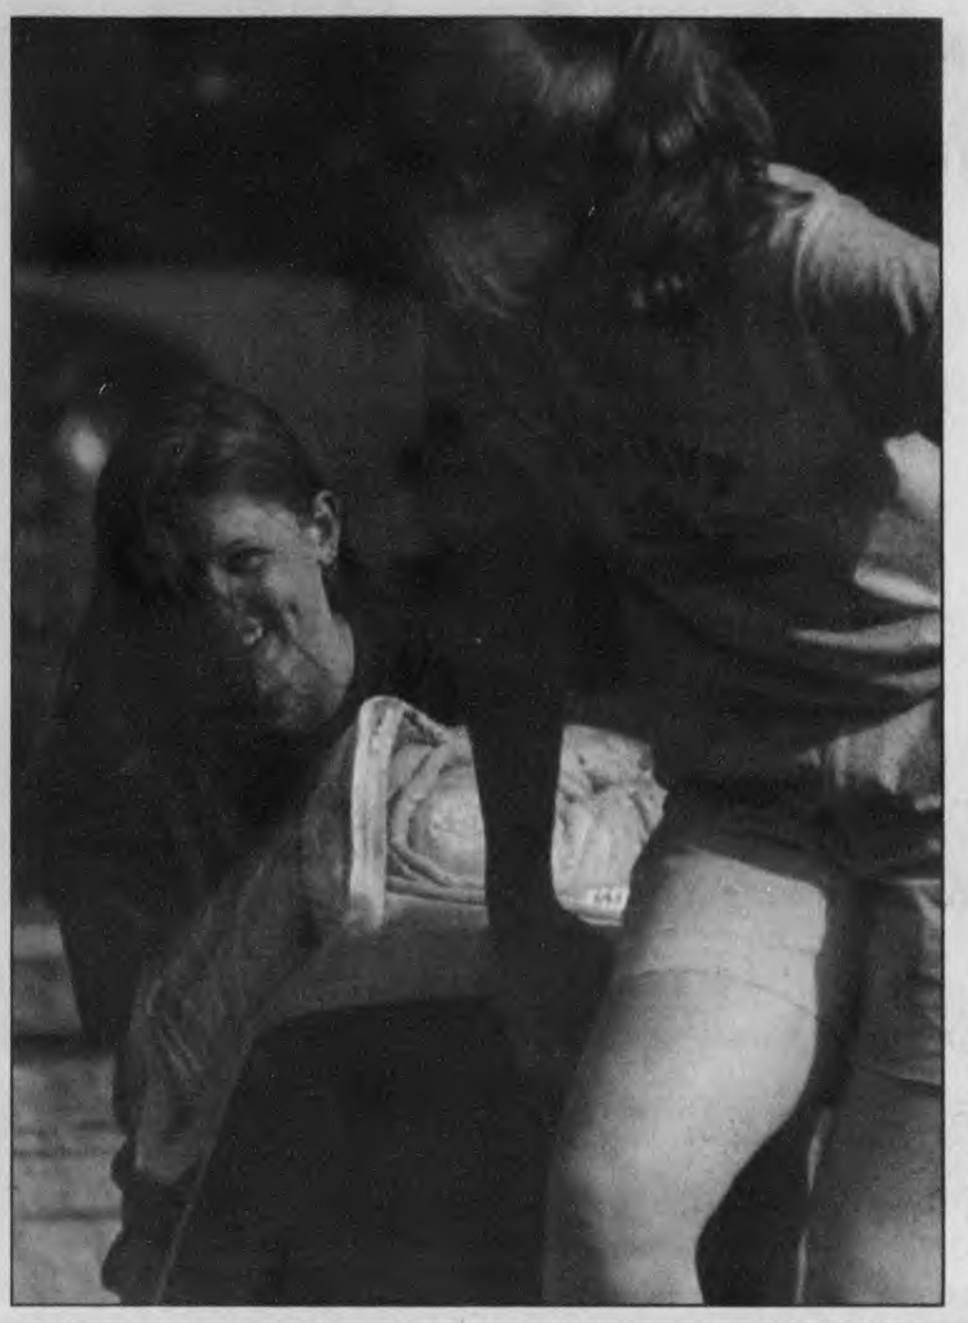
There also are numerous apartments around Manhattan suitable for students. The rules and regulations for apartment complexes are basic and are tailored to each apartment complex.

If a student rents, the landlord is not responsible for personal belongings if there is a fire or burglary. It is the students' responsibility to protect everything they own.



Whether students choose an apartment or a residence hall to reside in, there are decorating ideas for each limited space.

"I've seen somebody bring a fire hydrant for decoration," Jen Smith, West Hall community assistant, said. "And also a loft made from doors."



Julie Strecker, of Strecker Gallery and Design Studio, suggests using neutral colors to make the room look larger and to keep clutter to a minimum by putting everything into storage units.

Smith said sentimental items make people feel at home in their dorm. Possessions, from a white snake and bubbles to toys and coloring books, fill apartments and residence hall rooms.

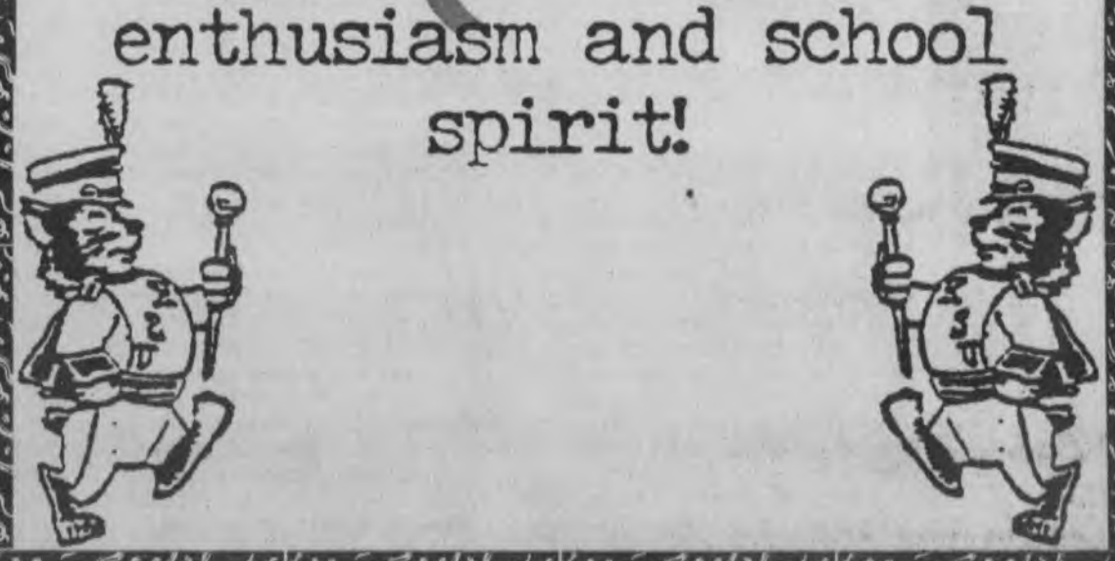
"You can bring about anything you want from home to decorate your room to make it your own," said Summer Brown, resident assistant for fourth-floor West Hall and junior in music education.

Dan Grove, 12, from Topeka, guards his brother's possessions outside Moore Hall Friday. Grove's brother Matt, junior open-option, had help from his brother and mother on move-in day.

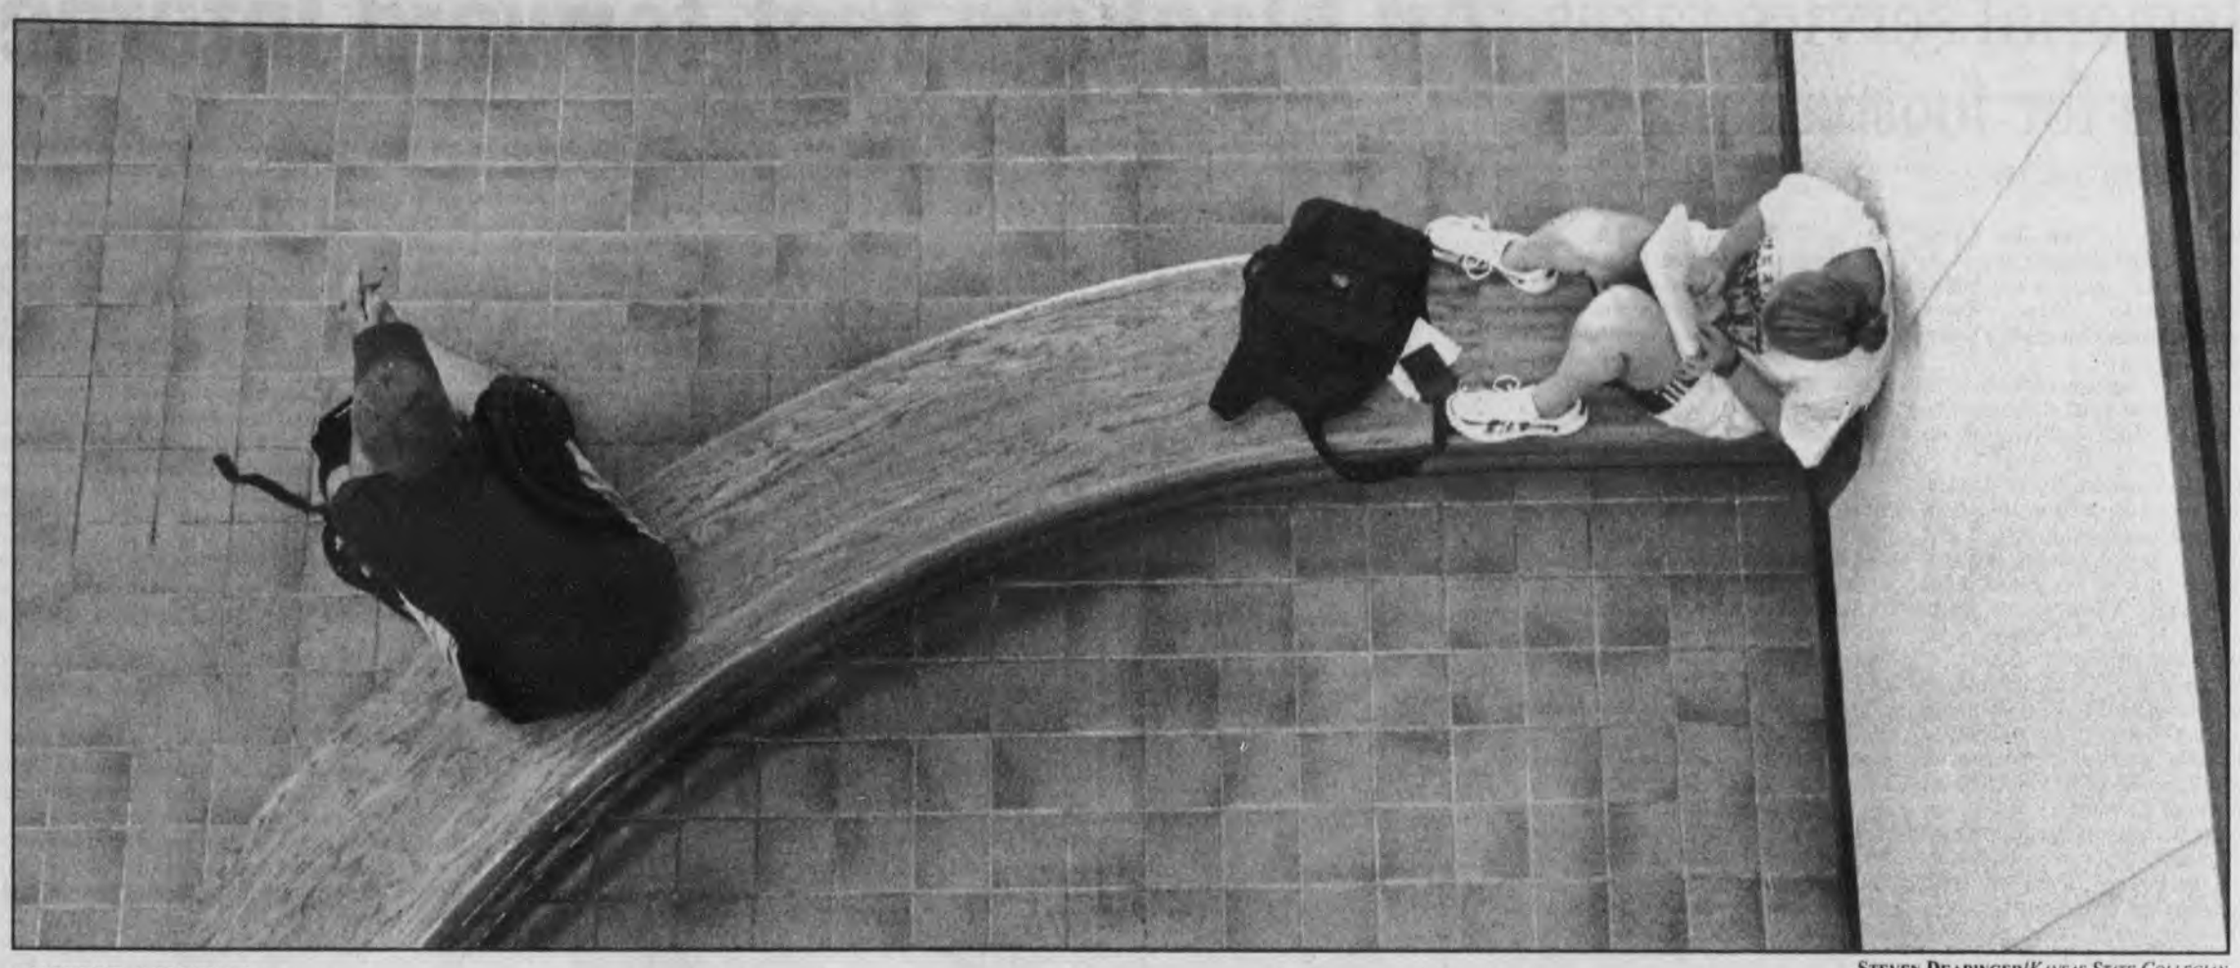
Stacy Krueger (left), freshman in milling science, and Laura Donley, freshman in elementary education, carry a trunk into West Hall on Friday. Students used Friday and Saturday to move into the residence halls.

Don't be just another face in the Crowd.

Make a difference!



Apply to be a Student Governing Association Intern!



For more information, stop by the Office of Student Activities and Services on the ground floor of the K-State Union. (785) 532-6541
Application deadline: Wednesday, September 9th

Rustys LAST CHANCE SALOON

KJ's

Rusty's Last Chance
&
KJ's Dance Club
would like to send a special thank you to the KSU Marching Band for the street performance in Aggiville last Friday night, Aug. 21. We appreciate your enthusiasm and school spirit!

TAKING A BREAK

Steven Dearinger/Kansas State Collegian

Jeff Wetta (left), sophomore open-option, and Sherry Thalmann, freshman open-option, relax on a bench in Durland Hall between classes Tuesday afternoon.

Beanie Baby Bonanza scheduled for Sept. 5

By MATT KREPS
Kansas State Collegian

The Beanie Baby fever sweeping the nation is coming to Manhattan.

The Gamma Lambda chapter of Epsilon Sigma Alpha service sorority will have a Beanie Baby Bonanza from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. on Sept. 5 at Manhattan Town Center Lower Plaza near Pier 1 Imports.

The event is a fund-raiser for Mercy Health Center, Heartspring of Wichita and St. Jude Children's Research Hospital in Memphis, Tenn.

All proceeds from the event will be distributed between the three organizations.

Sherry Wheeler, coordinator for the event, said the group wanted to take advantage of the demand for Beanie Babies to help its philanthropies. The bonanza will be the first of its kind in Manhattan.

"We haven't seen one here, and the town has just gone crazy," Wheeler said. "We decided that we wanted to cash in on that for our philanthropies."

The bonanza will feature dealers from Oklahoma, Missouri and Kansas who have been collecting for years. Wheeler said several rare Beanie Babies will be available for collectors to purchase. Gamma Lambda chapter also will give away several Beanie Babies it purchases with its own funds, Wheeler said.

One of the giveaways will be a Glory Beanie Baby.

"Glory is very difficult to get, and it's the one right now that is very desirable," Wheeler said.

Adding to the anticipation of the event is the fact that 15 to 20 Beanie Babies are expected to be retired from production just before or just after the event, Wheeler said.

Wheeler said she hopes students will take advantage of the event.

Epsilon Sigma Alpha is a philanthropic sorority open to women of all ages. Past philanthropies have included the Flint Hills Breadbasket, the Manhattan Seniors' Service Center and other Manhattan organizations.

Women interested in joining should contact Gamma Lambda President Marilyn Goebel at (785) 537-4368.

Lottery ticket sales climb to record high

By SAMANTHA SANDOW
Kansas State Collegian

More and more Kansans took a gamble this year as lottery ticket sales climbed to record numbers.

The Kansas Lottery raked in $192 million this past fiscal year, which ended June 30 — a $7 million increase from last year's sales. These sales generate revenue for economic development, prison construction and juvenile detention facilities.

The lottery also set three more records. Ticket sales rose 7.3 percent last year, state spokesperson Pam Evans said.

The Kansas Lottery is a self-funded and self-sustained agency in which no tax money is used to support operations. But profits from lottery operations are channeled into state funds supporting public works programs.

For each dollar spent on a Kansas Lottery ticket, 30.75 cents is transferred to the state of Kansas. The State Gaming Revenues Fund receives transfers from all sales generated by the Kansas Lottery and the Kansas Racing and Gaming Commission.

The maximum $50 million in yearly transfers from the gaming fund is divided among three state funds. The Economic Development Initiatives Fund receives 85 percent of the transfers. The remaining 15 percent is split between two programs. The Correctional Institutions Building Fund receives 10 percent, and the Juvenile Detention Facilities Fund receives the remaining 5 percent.

Transfers for these funds are limited to $50 million in a given fiscal year. Receipts above that amount transfer to the state's general fund.

Distribution of lottery proceeds are determined by the Kansas Legislature, state spokeswoman Jane Elliott said. After the funds are distributed among the four funds, lottery officials are not informed about how the funds are used.

"The Lottery does not track how funds are used," Elliot said.

Twenty-two Kansas Cash Lotto players won a combined total of more than $9.7 million when they hit the jackpot during the 1998 fiscal year. In addition, 29 Kansas Powerball winners each

The Men of Alpha Tau Omega would like to congratulate the following new initiates

Pete Molitor
Danny Cooper
Greg Smith
Jason Pechar
John Sells
Josh McCarn
Craig Augustine
Geremy Owen
Mike Brown

ΑΤΩ

In loving memory of Michael J. Brown

Don't Get Lost in the Mail!

The K-State Office of Student Financial Assistance wants to remind you to KEEP YOUR ADDRESSES UPDATED WITH THE UNIVERSITY. If your LOCAL, PERMANENT, EMERGENCY and BILLING (optional) addresses are not kept current, you may miss your financial aid refund checks (yes!), your grade reports, important financial aid paperwork, your tuition bill (booo!), etc. Your LOCAL, PERMANENT and EMERGENCY addresses are maintained by the Registrar's Office in 118 Anderson Hall. Your BILLING address is maintained by the University Cashiers Office in 212 Anderson Hall.

There are a number of ways to update your addresses:

- Write a letter
- Send it in Morse Code
- Drop it by the Registrars or Cashiers Office
- Hire a plane to write it in the sky
- Go on-line with KATS at http://kats.ksu.edu
- Send a singing telegram

Seriously, keeping your addresses current is VERY IMPORTANT! And it is SO EASY now that you can log onto KATS and get it done. Just think, if mail is returned to the University by the Post Office as undeliverable to your LOCAL address, then it will be sent to your PERMANENT address and it may not be something you want your parents to see!!!

Hey, Student Organizations!

UAB Registration Deadline:
Friday, September 25th

Registration forms are available in the Office of Student Activities and Services (Ground Floor, K-State Union). 532-6541

⚠ Why be registered? ⚠

Registered groups can:
1. Reserve university meeting rooms and facilities
2. Request funds from Student Governing Association
3. Obtain approval of fund-raising activities

Learn more about the benefits of being registered at the Program Planning and University Resources Workshop Tuesday, September 22nd at 7 pm in Room 212 of the K-State Student Union.

Memorial service takes place for football player

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

WICHITA — A week after Robert Alexander Barrett collapsed at his first football practice, relatives and friends packed Greater Saint Mary's Missionary Baptist Church for a tearful memorial service.

Barrett, 17, was one of two Wichita area high school football players who died Aug. 17 after collapsing in the heat.

Barrett's teammate, Larry Randall, fought tears as he tried to talk of his friend at Monday's service.

"The first impression you always got of him was that he was a nice, polite guy," he said. "And after you got to know him, he was still a nice, polite guy. He wasn't putting on a front."

Barrett always had been a member of the band at Wichita Southeast High School, but he wanted to give football a try his senior year, and Randall was one of those from whom he sought advice about joining the team.

Pastor Willis Thomas urged Barrett's family members not to wonder whether they could have prevented his death, attributed to heat stroke.

"You cannot believe you could have kept him off the football field last Monday," he said. "And you can't say if he hadn't played football he'd still be here. That's not true. It's not in our hands.

"You can't get angry, because God wants the very best, and Alex was the very best."

Thomas remembered Barrett as a talented saxophone player, a dedicated church member since childhood and a young businessman who completed an entrepreneurial course and opened his own vending machine service.

Barrett had a warm personality, Thomas said, and everyone wanted to be around him.

"Seventeen years is short for us, but 90 is long if you don't do nothing," Thomas said. "Here's a young man who crowded more into 17 years than most of us put in a lifetime."

Throughout the service, quiet crying was heard from the crowd of family, friends, students, teachers and school administrators.

A young soloist from the church youth choir, to which Barrett belonged, sang only three words of the hymn "Thank You Lord" before beginning to cry. She took her seat, unable to go on.

Letters of condolence were read at the service from other area churches, the Wichita school system and the Circle school district in nearby Towanda. Circle High sophomore Matthew Whittredge died Aug. 18 after also collapsing from heat exhaustion at football practice on Aug. 17. His funeral took place Saturday.

Ad blockers fast-forward Internet

BY TED BRIDIS
THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

WASHINGTON, D.C. — At almost every Web page Chris Tooley visits on the Internet, the first image he sees is an advertisement.

Animated characters dance across some ads. Other ads, called "pop-ups," spawn small windows on the screen that block part of the underlying Web page.

But even as Madison Avenue spends an estimated $1 billion this year to attract the roughly 71 million Americans on the Internet, some high-tech users are turning to relatively new free or inexpensive software utilities, called "ad blockers."

Working with an Internet browser, the programs prevent ads from appearing on a Web page but generally display all the other text and images. Sometimes, the software leaves just a blank space where the ad was. Other times, there's no trace where it would have been.

It's the software equivalent of fast-forwarding through TV commercials during a sitcom.

"Everybody wants more speed, and the ads do slow down a Web page," said Tooley, a 20-year-old computer science major at Northwest Missouri State. "When you're loading a lot of graphics, it causes a problem."

Endorsed by some privacy advocates, ad-blockers also often stop "cookies," tiny files that advertisers use to invisibly collect personal details about consumers, such as how often they visit a site and which pages they read.

Internet user Chris Johnson of Perth, Australia, uses a $17 blocker called AdWipe and runs a "Fighting Internet Ads" site on the Web. He says the latest ads are especially aggravating because their complexity — with flashing, animated logos — causes longer waits, especially over slower connections. Often, the rest of a Web page won't load until the ad does.

And the most complex ads are likely to become more common: Advertisers contend that consumers remember pop-up ads about twice as well as typical banner ads on a Web site.

"The user feels as though he's watching a TV show where the commercials occupy the majority of the time," complained Jason Catlett, who runs New Jersey-based JunkBusters Corp., which offers free blocking software.

But, in a dilemma for the fledgling medium, the Internet's growing commercialization is also fueling its growth — with online ads subsidizing the content of some Web sites.

"This is now a mass medium, and I tell you, who's going to pay for it?" asked Bob Colvin, who runs Interactive Media Partners, an ad consulting firm in Los Angeles. "It's not subscription fees, and it sure isn't going to be the government. It's got to be the advertising."

"Because they're getting it free, are they obligated?" said Beth Snyder, who writes about online ads for Advertising Age magazine. "That's kind of a philosophical question. Do you owe anybody anything?"

The point isn't lost on some Internet users.

"It's kind of like a necessary evil," said Tooley, the college student, who doesn't block ads. "Nobody wants to look at them, but no one wants to pay out of their pocket for something. Everyone watches "Seinfeld," but it wouldn't be there without the commercials."

Supporters of ad-blockers aren't apologizing. Craig Schmidt of Seattle-based WRQ Inc., whose company makes a new $20 blocking software called AtGuard, defends his product as "giving the user the freedom of choice to decide."

"I'm not into this guilt trip," agreed Johnson of Australia. "If you record a TV show, don't you fast-forward through the ads? If people can possibly avoid ads, they do."

The ad industry isn't exactly quaking in its boots. Catlett estimates less than 1 percent of people on the Internet use ad-blockers, mostly because they've never heard of them or don't want the trouble of downloading the software.

And as faster Internet connections become more widely available, one major draw of ad-blockers will vanish, said Colvin, the ad consultant. When all Web sites download in a flash, who will worry about animated ads taking an extra fraction of a second?

But Barry Jaspan of Internet Mute Inc. said he believes ad-blockers will always find an audience.

"Advertising is a fine thing," said Jaspan, who sells a new $20 blocker called InterMute. "Some companies will do it, others will try to block it."

And how will Jaspan market his own software?

"I intend to advertise," he said.

Area farmers in need of storage for fall crops

BY ROXANA HEGEMAN
THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

WICHITA, Kan. — Wanted: airplane hangars, armories, any big building.

Will even settle for paved ground.

That"s the plea state agriculture officials have sent across the state.

On the verge of harvest, Kansas farmers are desperately looking for any place to pile anticipated bumper fall crops at a time when grain elevators are already bulging with winter wheat.

Last week, the Kansas Department of Agriculture sent surveys to businesses around the state looking for nontraditional storage for what already promise to be bountiful harvests of corn, soybeans, milo and sunflowers this fall.

The culprit behind the storage crisis is low grain prices. Reluctant to sell at a loss, wheat farmers across the state have opted to store two back-to-back record wheat harvests.

As of Tuesday, the state still had 430,200 bushels of wheat either piled on the ground or in temporary storage, said Carole Jordan, spokeswoman for the state agriculture department.

Kansas farmers are expected to pile between 75 million and 100 million bushels of grain of several kinds on the ground or in temporary storage this fall, Jordan said. That is more than three times the amount dumped on the ground last year, when the storage shortage was 31 million bushels.

"Everybody is very nervous," Jordan said.

Already, some elevators have told farmers they will be turned away if their crops are of low quality. Some elevators plan to impose new requirements on pounds per bushel, moisture or trash in their crop, said Kevin Lickteig, research program coordinator for the Kansas Corn Growers Association.

Corn growers in northeastern Kansas have more to worry about, because fall is wetter there. In southeast Kansas, farmers are concerned about lower yields because the weather has been drier in that area, Lickteig said.

"You hear them talking about storage, but it is the price. They realize if the demand is up they wouldn"t have a storage problem," Lickteig said.

Fall harvest begins in less than a month.

"They are thinking about getting into the field in the next week or two. I haven"t heard anybody actually doing it, but I heard some strong thinking," Lickteig said.

Mike Guetterman, who grows corn south of Kansas City, said he has added storage on his farm and cleaned out other bins. He also plans to sell his corn on a forward contract for pickup later.

"We are going to have a good crop, but be barely able to pay our bills," he said.

Clay County Extension agent Greg McLure has heard the concerns about the low commodity prices.

"The (corn) crop looks good, but there is very little optimism because of the low prices," McLure said. "I normally try to counterbalance because farmers in general tend to be pessimists, so I try to be the optimist. But even I can"t do that this year."

Researchers speculate origin of life on Mars

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

WASHINGTON, D.C. — While scientists speculate about the possibility of life on Mars, a team of researchers has calculated that the Red Planet probably had enough energy for life to begin but not to create an Earth-like abundance.

Even over billions of years, the energy available from volcanic activity and geothermal vents would support much less life than on Earth, the scientists report in the Aug. 25 edition of the Journal of Geophysical Research.

There probably "was sufficient energy available to support the origin of life on Mars but not sufficient energy to create a ubiquitous and lush biosphere," Bruce M. Jakosky of the University of Colorado, Boulder, and Everett L. Shock of Washington University in St. Louis speculate in their paper.

Two years ago, NASA scientists made the startling announcement that they had found a rock in Antarctica that originally had formed on Mars and showed evidence of tiny, bacteria-like life. Their interpretation remains subject to controversy, however.

Interest in the possibility of life on Mars has increased in recent years with the discovery that life can exist under the harshest, most extreme conditions deep inside the Earth — conditions similar to those on Mars and Jupiter's moon Europa.

In those cases, microbes managed to extract the energy to live from chemical reactions, rather than from the sun as most life forms do on Earth.

But when the researchers studied conditions on Mars, they concluded the amount of volcanic rock that has erupted on Mars over its lifetime is several hundred times less than that on early Earth.

Therefore, the energy accessible through hydrothermal vents probably would have been proportionately less on Mars as well.

Thanks to photosynthesis, which takes energy from the sun, Earth's rate of producing life is as much as 1,000 times more than that of Mars.

Even if life did form on Mars, with its low potential density, there might not have been enough time for photosynthesis to develop there, the paper concludes.

The new research also is funded by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, which hopes in the next decade to bring back Mars samples to study for the possibility of life.

Kansas farmers donate hay to Texas ranchers

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

WICHITA — Enough Kansas hay to fill 50 tractor-trailers has been hauled in from farms across the state as the Kansas National Guard prepares to ship the donations to drought-stricken Texas ranchers.

The response from Kansas farmers has been so great it has overwhelmed the transportation resources of the National Guard, and organizers of the hay relief project say they might need to hire commercial tractor-trailers to complete the shipment.

"Kansas has been wonderful in their donations," said Sedgwick County rancher Leslie Hale, who along with her husband, Jack, organized the relief effort.

National Guard troops plan to load the first seven trailers on Friday and drive the hay to Rusk, Texas, the following day.

The troops plan to return on Saturday for a second run.

The shipments from the Kansas farmers will be added to hay donations from at least nine other states in what Texas officials are calling Project Haylift.

The donated hay started arriving at various staging areas throughout Texas this month.

Any Texas farmer or rancher in need of assistance is allowed one large bale or 20 square bales on a first-come, first-served basis.

Damage in Texas from the drought of 1998 has been declared the worst since the legendary seven-year dry stretch of the 1950s, and university researchers in Texas last week estimated the state's agricultural losses at more than $2.1 billion.

The donation efforts from Kansas began earlier this month after the Hales were returning home from checking on their cattle grazing in the lush Flint Hills and heard a radio report about hungry herds in parched Texas.

Hale suggested donating 100 bales of hay to Texas farmers, and his wife suggested getting the rest of the state involved.

All of the Kansas hay bound for Texas was donated or was purchased with money donated for the cause.

Lt. Col. Mike Miller said the $25,000 transportation cost for the National Guard's assistance was expected to come from federal funds because it is considered a training mission.

GET JIGGY WITH US.
☆
READ THE COLLEGIAN.

$899 SYSTEM
Pentium 200 MMX or AMD K6-233 w/MMX
- 32MB DIMM Memory
- 4.3GB Hard Drive
- 2MG Video Card
- 1.44 Floppy Drive
- Sound Card w/Speakers
- 56 V.90 Fax/Modem
- 24X CD-ROM
- Mini-Tower Case
- Mouse / Keyboard
- Windows '95
- 15" Monitor
- 3 Year Parts and Labor Warranty

STOP IN FOR YOUR INTERNET ACCESS ACCESSORIES
25' PATCH CABLE $7 SMALLER /LARGER SIZES AVAILABLE
$899
NETWORK INTERFACE CARDS (NIC) $25
"TECHNOLOGY FOR THE 21ST CENTURY"

STATE FARM INSURANCE
Like a good neighbor, State Farm is there.®
See your State Farm Agent:
LaDonna Junghans, Agent
463 E. Poyntz, Near K-Mart
776-8754
Auto • Home • Life • Health
State Farm Insurance Companies • Home Offices: Bloomington, Illinois

BIRKENSTOCK®
The original comfort shoe.
Aggieville's
Olson Shoe Repair
•Certified Pedorthist
•Orthopedic Prescriptions Filled
1214-B Moro
Toll Free 888-788-1145 539-8571

Forensics Speech Team
Join Today!
No experience required
Squad Meetings
Mondays at 3:30 p.m., Nichols 311
For more information:
532-6875
craigb@ksu.edu

Welcome Back
Students and Faculty
COTTONWOOD RACQUET CLUB
OFFERS:
3 indoor/3 outdoor Tennis Courts•2 Racquetball courts•Free Weights & Machines•Treadmill/Bicycles/Stepper•Pro-Shop with Racquet Stringing•Whirlpool & Sauna•Sports Massage Therapy•Family, Single and Student Memberships
3615 Claflin 776-6060
(West on Claflin at Hudson)

JOBS
Starting at $7.00 per hour
PART-TIME
Help needed to take inventory in retail stores. Average 10-12 hours on weekends. Weekday daytime hours are also available. Averaging 25+ hours.
Apply in person
Landon's Room, Ramada Inn
Friday, Aug. 28
at Noon, 1:30 p.m., 3 p.m., and 4:30 p.m.
Interviews start promptly.
Doors will close after 5 minutes.

CROSSWORD

CROSSWORD By Eugene Sheffer

ACROSS
1 Moist
5 "— appetit!"
8 First victim
12 Wings
13 Wish undone
14 Circle dance
15 Theater accommodations
17 Highway offramp
18 Biz execs
19 Quenches
21 Departed; or, still there
24 — Amin
25 Paint container
28 Indian prince
30 Tango quorum
33 "Equi-"
34 Bulldog's cousin
35 Listening device
36 Nth degree
37 Shakespearean septet
38 Cold War contender
39 Le Carre character
41 Period
43 Point a finger at 46 Watch's place
50 Exemplar of craziness
51 Packaged meal
54 Grime
55 Journalist Nellie 56 Luminary
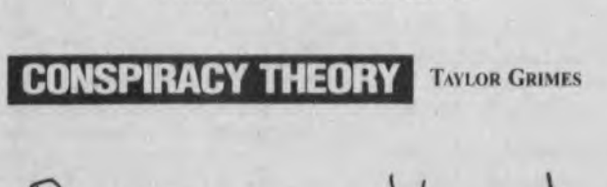
57 Halves of eleven?
58 "Oh yeah? — who?"
59 Vagrant



DOWN
1 Brylcreem dosages
2 Fraternal fielder
3 Skirt length
4 Mortar mate
5 Bikini part
6 Chic no more
7 Capone foe
8 Onward
9 Rectangular flyers
10 Pennsylvania port
11 Back muscles
16 Language suffix
20 Jim Carrey movie persona
22 Slight hoarseness
23 April responsibility
25 Conway or Curry
26 Dream Team's logo
27 Game summary
29 Witticism
31 Existed
32 Stick figure?
34 Serenades the moon
38 Abrupt increase
40 Drop-kicks
42 Pussycat's partner
43 Late-show actor Ray
44 Invent
45 Undergoes recession
47 Quite involved with 48 Wound reminder
49 From one end to t'other
52 Corrida cheer
53 Talleyrand's agents

Solution time: 21 mins.

F	L	A	G		C	U	R		P	I	C	A
A	I	D	A		A	P	E		A	D	A	M
D	E	A	D	H	E	A	D		T	E	T	E
			G	I	N		H	A	R	A	S	S
P	A	L	E	D		L	E	N	O
U	N	I	T		H	E	A	D	L	I	N	E
M	T	A		R	E	A	D	Y		D	O	N
A	I	R	H	E	A	D	S		W	O	O	D
			O	D	D	S		W	A	L	K	S
L	A	S	S	O	S		J	A	Y
O	B	I	T		H	E	A	D	L	O	C	K
C	I	N	E		O	W	N		A	N	O	A
K	E	E	L		T	E	E		Y	A	W	N

Yesterday's answer

8-26

STUMPED? For answers to today's crossword, call 1-900-454-6873 99¢ per minute, touch-tone / rotary phones. (18+ only.) A King Features service, NYC.

8-26 CRYPTOQUIP

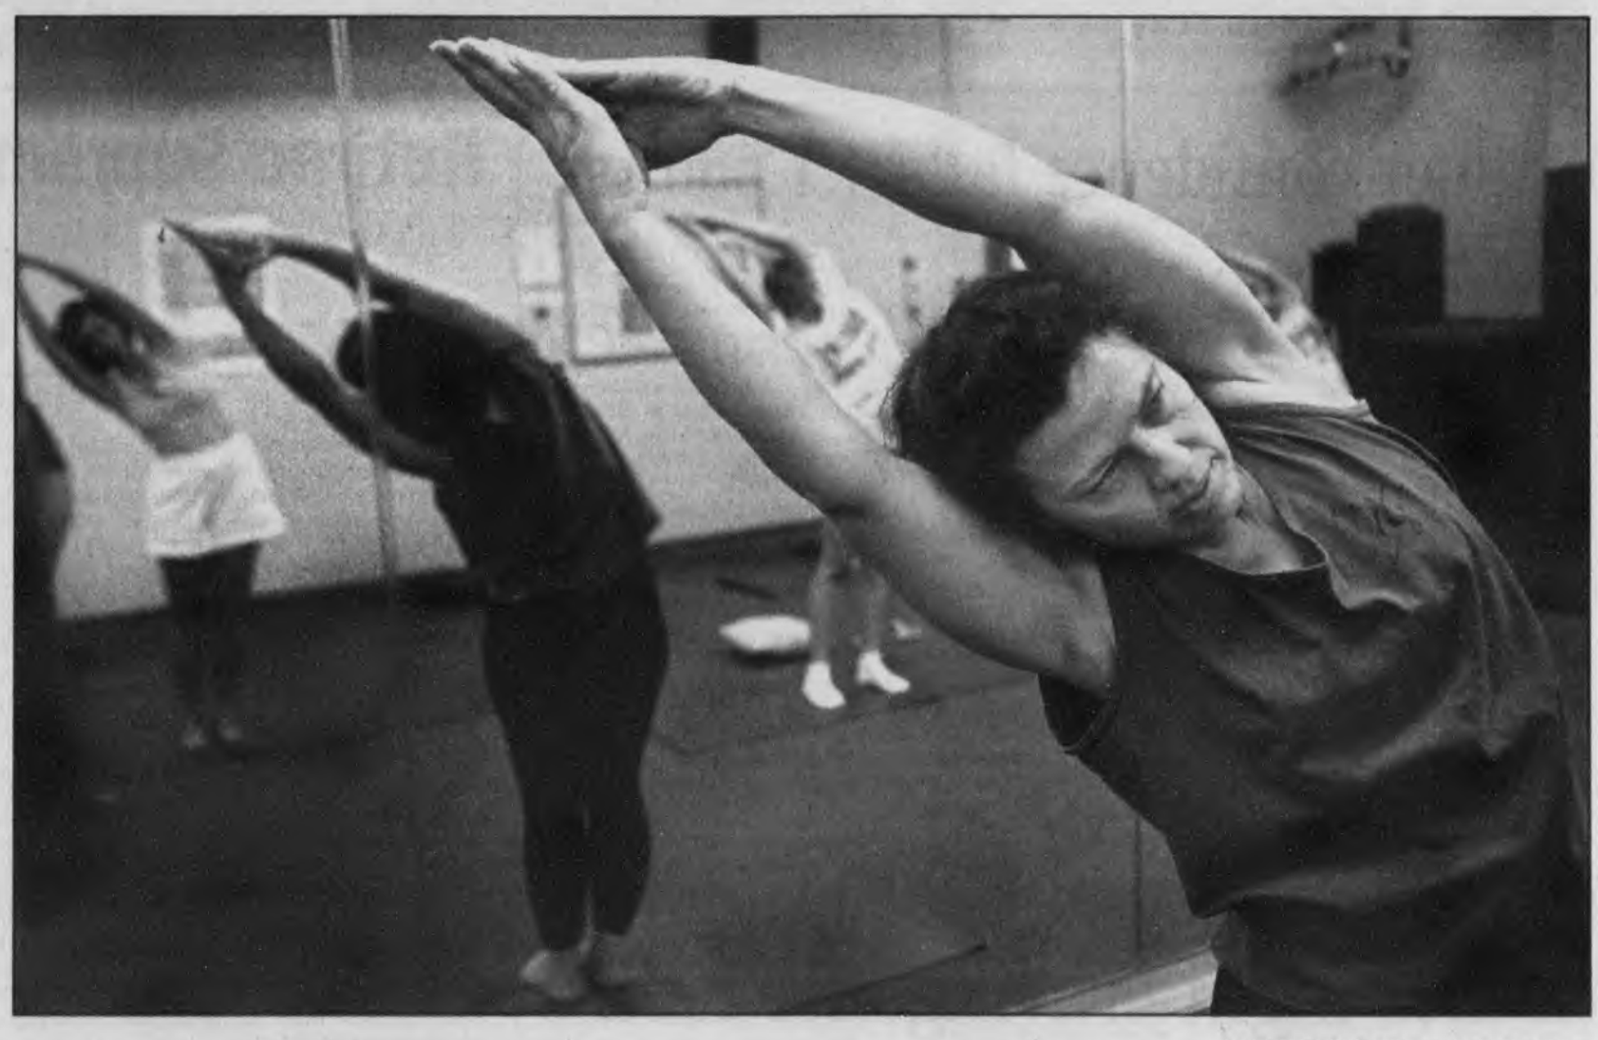
K'E NRCRXDOOL ERQVXKIR WD'NCRG QDORQWRC DQ IRKCN PRXL DGGXDVGKPR.

Yesterday's Cryptoquip: DO YOU MEAN THAT COMICAL COWBOYS ARE SOMEWHAT LIABLE TO HORSE AROUND?

Today's Cryptoquip clue: W equals M

CRYPTOQUIP BOOK 2! Send $4.50 (check/m.o.) to CryptoClassics Book 2, PO Box 6411, Riverton NJ 08077.

The Cryptoquip is a substitution cipher in which one letter stands for another. If you think that X equals O, it will equal O throughout the puzzle. Single letters, short words and words using an apostrophe give you clues to locating vowels. Solution is by trial and error.



© 1998 by King Features Syndicate, Inc.

CONSPIRACY THEORY

TAYLOR GRIMES

Yoga

can help ward off potential health problems

STEVE HEBERT/KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Marty Reed leads her class in stretches during a yoga class at Mercy Health Center on Sunset Avenue Tuesday afternoon. Reed has been teaching yoga for four years.

BY AMY MILLER
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

About 15 people have gathered for yoga class in an exercise room at Mercy Health Center on Sunset Avenue. As they hold themselves in a deep forward lunge, soothing music plays quietly.

Yoga instructor Marty Reed tells her students this position is called "warrior" and reminds them to breathe deeply.

Reed, who has practiced yoga for five years and taught it for four, said concentrating on one's breathing clears the mind.

"Yoga is about learning to quiet the chatter in the head," she said. "We do this by paying attention to the breath. When the mind becomes quiet, the body can relax, and when the body relaxes, then healing can occur."

Reed said Mercy has offered public yoga classes for two years as part of its commitment to primary prevention — improving fitness to ward off serious health problems.

The hospital has five yoga classes a week, exercise class coordinator Barbie Anderson said. The purpose is to exercise both mind and body, teaching people to relax as well as to get in shape.

"It's a great stress reliever as well as a physical exercise," Anderson said. "There are a lot of different kinds of yoga, but what we teach is more for health and fitness."

Reed said although yoga isn't for everyone, many people consider its flexing, relaxing and stretching of muscles a valuable tool in relieving stress.

"Our bodies' stress response is 'fight or flight,'" Reed said. "Our pumps are primed all the time. When you slow the breath, you slow down the whole system."

Erica Mulryan, junior in social work, said she started taking yoga classes at Mercy in June, and she immediately noticed physical and mental changes in herself.

"I got a lot of flexibility," Mulryan said. "It's also really relaxing and helped me relieve some stress from work and class. I'd recommend it to anyone."

She said her favorite part of the class was the last 10 minutes, when Reed dimmed the lights and told her students to relax and lie still.

Anderson said people can take as many of Mercy's 42 weekly fitness classes as they want, including yoga, aerobics and boxing, for $20 a month. The first class is free, she said.

Reed said the center offers many classes to make it convenient for people to take care of themselves.

"The whole focus of the exercise classes is to get people moving," she said. "They can find a time that's good for them."

Mercy offers a men-only yoga class once a week, Anderson said, because men typically are not as flexible as women, which can be intimidating.

"Some of the men were curious and wanted to try it," she said, "but they were shy about coming in and not knowing what to expect."

Highs and lows highlight summer's big albums

BY DAVID PANJADA
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Many believe the music industry has reached an all-time low, churning out too many bands, too many songs and watered-down talent. The summer of 1998 showed a few bright spots but also had its share of bombs.

Music Review

This summer's biggest hit has been the Beastie Boys' "Hello Nasty." Abandoning the punk rock that dominated "Ill Communication," the Beasties have returned to the New York-style hip hop roots that dominated their classic earlier albums: "License To Ill" and "Paul's Boutique."

The Beastie Boy's fifth album shows the same bratty, snot-nosed MCs spouting non-sensible lyrics over masterfully executed beats.

Although "Hello Nasty" is not particularly groundbreaking, the Beastie Boys have maintained the ability to create a sound not in any way serious, yet remains oddly satisfying.

My only complaint is the annoying filler that graces every Beastie Boys album. By slashing the album to 15 tracks full of good songs (such as the slamming "Super Disco Breakin'" and the first single, "Intergalactic,") "Hello Nasty" would have been unbelievable. But then again, sampling Spanish and 3-year-olds is just the Beastie Boys being themselves.

Another release receiving quite different commercial results is Smashing Pumpkin's "Adore."

"Adore" is an album that, unlike the Beastie Boys, takes drastic steps away from the traditional formula that has proven successful for the band. The guitar-driven rock that fueled earlier Pumpkin's albums is replaced by a dark, moody aura unlike anything they have revealed before.

The album begins with "To Sheila," a ballad so soft the distant Moby-like beats only add to the solitary sense. The album hits its high points with "Pug," a track that most completely spells the Pumpkin's graduation from the past. Complete with a laser gun solo, "Pug" perpetuates Billy Corgan's goal completely — to create a sound that remains light years ahead of other "alternative" bands yet adheres to the Pumpkin's tradition of creating interesting, often misunderstood, songs.

Another album proving to be quite successful, unfortunately, is "Godzilla: The Album." Since when does a collection of songs inspired by a movie replace a good album?

Commercialism rules on this record and one only can imagine what kind of songs can be inspired by such a lame movie. What is truly revealed from this soundtrack is a collection of mishaps and forgettable covers.

The Wallflowers successfully ruin David Bowie's classic "Heroes," by injecting the typical bleary, blue-eyed sap that drives every Wallflowers song. Rage Against The Machine continues a string of disappointments with "No Shelter." It seems Rage is finding it difficult to express fury over the same topics time and again.

The biggest flaw of "Godzilla: The Album," however, is Puff Daddy's desecration of Led Zeppelin's "Kashmir." To make matters worse, guitar legend Jimmy Page is credited with taking part in the destruction.

Although a few nice songs by Foo Fighters and Ben Folds Five liven things up a bit, they can't save "Godzilla: The Album" from what it is: another commercialized attempt to milk money from naive teen-agers. But what other "inspiration" can be gleaned by a gimmick such as "Godzilla?"

Another album that made waves this summer was the Brian Setzer Orchestra's "The Dirty Boogie."

The hit single "Jump, Jive an' Wail" was all over the radio this summer and for good reason: The song almost single-handedly made swing popular again.

Those skeptical of another one-hit-wonder band need not fear because "The Dirty Boogie" is chock-full of sweet-sounding swing just like "Jump, Jive an' Wail." From the first track, "This Cat's on a Hot Tin Roof," to the final "As Long As I'm Singin'," the album flows brilliantly, leaving no indication that half the songs were written more than 30 years ago. The reworking of the old songs swing right along with Setzer's updated version of swing to create a sound as fun and fresh as when your grandparents first danced to it.

DILBERT

MANN HATTEN

AARON FRUEHLING

7 indicted on charges of plotting assassination

BY MICHELLE FAUL
THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico — The U.S. government on Tuesday announced the indictment of seven aging Cuban exiles, including a director of Miami's influential Cuban American National Foundation, on charges of plotting to assassinate Fidel Castro.

While there have been numerous plots and claims of plots to kill Cuba's communist leader since he seized power in 1959, the indictment was believed to be the first such accusation in a court of law.

The seven accused "did knowingly and unlawfully conspire, combine and agree together ... to kill, with malice aforethought, Fidel Castro ...," the indictment said. It suggests more people could be charged, saying the plotters conspired "with other persons known and unknown to the grand jury."

It alleged the defendants planned for four years to kill the 72-year-old Castro outside the United States, in particular during his trip to a Latin American summit on Margarita island off the Venezuelan coast in November 1997.

If convicted, they face up to life in prison, the Justice Department in Washington, D.C. said.

At least one of the defendants, Jose Antonio Llama, 67, is a director of the Cuban American National Foundation, one of the most influential lobbying groups in the United States, which Castro has accused for years of plotting to kill him. The foundation publicly advocates political pressure to spur change in Cuba.

The foundation's president, Francisco "Pepe" Hernandez, was investigated in the case but not indicted. Lawyers for both men had predicted in Miami last week that they would be charged with such a plot this week. The lawyers said their clients were not guilty, though they admitted that Llama owned a boat used in the alleged plot and Hernandez a sniper rifle.

In Miami, the foundation issued a statement calling the allegations "politically motivated" and expressed its confidence that Llama was innocent of the charges.

Tuesday's indictment stems from an ongoing FBI investigation that began when the U.S. Coast Guard got a radio call for help on Oct. 27 from the 46-foot yacht La Esperanza, which was in international waters off Puerto Rico. The yacht is owned by Llama's Florida company, Nautical Sports Inc., which also was indicted Tuesday.

The Coast Guard boarded the boat and became suspicious when the men gave contradictory answers, one saying they were returning to Miami and another that they were going on a fishing trip to St. Lucia, according to an initial complaint.

A search of the boat uncovered two hidden .50 caliber sniper rifles, 70 rounds of .50 caliber ammunition and an array of military-type equipment including night-vision goggles, radios and Global Positioning Units, customs spokeswoman Awilda Pereira said.

When the weapons were found, one of the men, Angel Manuel Alfonso, 58, blurted out that he alone had smuggled the weapons aboard because he planned to kill Castro on Isla Margarita, according to the original complaint.

Alfonso was indicted Tuesday along with the three other men on the boat — Angel Hernandez Rojo, 65, Juan Bautista Marquez, 62, and Francisco Secundino Cordova, 51.

Also indicted Tuesday were Jose Rodriguez, 59, and Alfredo Domingo Otero, 68.

Since February, Assistant U.S. Attorney Miguel Pereira has been presenting evidence to the grand jury in a bid to win conspiracy charges. Previously, a judge had turned him down and, until Tuesday, the only charges in the case were minor ones of smuggling weapons and giving false information about them.

The Cuban American National Foundation chairman, Jorge Mas Canosa, who died last November, had White House access to presidents Reagan, Bush and Clinton.

Mas was seen as the man principally responsible for the hard-line U.S. policies toward Cuba.

With his ability to raise campaign funds, he was able to maintain a formidable influence over members of Congress.

Professor Damian Fernandez of Florida International University predicted the foundation's allies, including members of Congress, would now start distancing themselves from the troubled group.

Castro has been a target of murder plots in the past.

In the mid-1970s, a Senate committee documented eight instances in which U.S. agencies attempted to assassinate Castro. Castro himself has said the figure is closer to 25.

An executive order has been on the books for years outlawing government-sponsored assassinations in foreign countries, and there have been no known violations.

Harry Brandon, a former FBI official who followed the activities of Cuban exiles in South Florida for years, said in a recent interview that there were some attempts at prosecuting exiles believed to have launched attacks against Cuba. He was unaware of any prosecutions.

The Neutrality Act bars use of U.S. soil to launch attacks against foreign countries.

Consumer confidence falls 4.1 points

BY RACHEL BECK
THE ASSOICATED PRESS

NEW YORK — Consumer confidence fell for the second straight month in August, shaken by turmoil in the world's financial markets and political tensions stemming from the U.S. embassy bombings in Africa.

The Conference Board reported Tuesday that its index of consumer confidence fell 4.1 points to 133.1 in August. The drop was bigger than Wall Street analysts expected.

"There are so many world events going on, people are looking for something to happen and I think it will," said Stefanie Schneck, who works at a law firm in New York. "This economy can't stay as stable as it's been."

Even with the two-month drop, consumer confidence is still the highest it has been since 1969. The index hit a 29-year high in June.

Also, it was clear from a separate report Tuesday that consumers were not discouraged from making big investments early this summer.

The National Association of Realtors reported that sales of existing single-family homes jumped 4 percent in July to 4.93 million units, surpassing the previous record set in March of 4.89 million.

And stocks, which have been on the skids since hitting record heights in July, are regaining some lost ground. The Dow Jones industrial average, which on Friday was flirting with a decline of more than 1,000 points from the record 9,337.97 reached July 17, has cut that loss to 735 points. It rose 36.04 to 8,602.65 on Tuesday.

Consumer confidence is important because consumer spending accounts for two-thirds of the nation's economic activity.

Confidence vaulted to record levels this year, as Americans enjoyed low inflation and low interest rates, a solid job market and surging stock prices.

But now there are fears that Asia's economic crisis, as well as financial troubles in Russia and Latin America, will drag down the U.S. economy and hurt corporate profits.

There are also political tensions surrounding the bombing of two U.S. embassies in Africa and the U.S. missile attacks on suspected terrorist bases in Afghanistan and Sudan.

"People are concerned that things are going out of control," said Anthony Chan, chief economist at Banc One Investment Advisors in Columbus, Ohio.

"They think we haven't seen the bottom yet and that the cancer is still growing."

Retired Supreme Court justice dies

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Lewis F. Powell stepped into a job he didn't much want and left a big footprint.

The retired Supreme Court justice, who died Tuesday at age 90, was an often decisive voice in U.S. law. Slight and bespectacled, he crowned his legacy with a decision that upheld the concept of affirmative action while limiting its scope — a delicate but so-far durable balance.

Powell also cast the deciding vote in a decision rejecting claims of a constitutional right to homosexual relationships.

He "approached each case without an ideological agenda, carefully applying the Constitution, the law, and Supreme Court precedent regardless of his own personal views," President Clinton said. "His opinions were a model of balance and judiciousness."

Powell died of pneumonia in his sleep at 4:30 a.m. EDT at his home in Richmond, Va., the court said in a statement. His health had been poor recently. In January 1997, he closed the Supreme Court office he had used since his retirement 10 years earlier. The two-hour commute from Richmond had become too difficult.

Nominated by President Nixon, Powell had a reputation as a conservative when he came to an ideologically divided court. But to many who watched his 15 years as a justice, he proved himself a captive only of the law.

"He was a traditional lawyer ... he reasoned from the bottom up," John C. Jeffries, his biographer and former law clerk, said Tuesday. "He developed a habit of listening and tried to make up his mind slowly."

Chief Justice William Rehnquist called Powell the embodiment of judicial temperament, "receptive to the ideas of his colleagues, fair to the parties to the case, but ultimately relying on his own seasoned judgment."

Powell spoke for the court when, in 1982, it ruled for the first time that retarded people in state institutions have a right to be safe and free from bodily restraints.

In 5-4 votes in which he was pivotal for the majority, Powell held:

—During the Nixon administration, that presidents enjoy "absolute immunity" from being sued for monetary damages if their misconduct in office was within their official duties.

—That consenting adults have no constitutional right to private homosexual conduct. Powell said after his retirement that he "probably made a mistake" with his vote in that 1986 Georgia sodomy case.

—That medical school applicant Allan Bakke suffered unlawful discrimination because he was white. "Preferring members of any one race group for no other reason than race or ethnic origin is discrimination for its own sake," Powell wrote in the 1978 opinion. "This the Constitution forbids."

But while forbidding discrimination based solely on race, the decision also upheld the use of some race-conscious criteria in medical school admission policies. That became the legal basis for racially sensitive affirmative action programs that were more widely applied in society and continue to be challenged.

"He thought it ought to be done as carefully as possible, as an interim measure looking toward a truly color-blind society," said Jeffries.

A wealthy Virginian, Powell accepted his 1971 court nomination reluctantly, saying he was too old, at 64. And he expressed "deep personal misgivings about whether I will like it. I rather suppose I won't." Nixon told him he had a duty to serve and Powell relented.

"He was probably the last of the courtly, Southern gentlemen who served as justices, (who) saw himself as part of that social group which had a certain kind of noblesse oblige," said Mark Tushnet, a Georgetown University associate law dean who clerked for Justice Thurgood Marshall when Powell was on the court.

Several options exist for students with late-night cravings for food

LATE NIGHT MUNCHIES

Here are a few suggestions for those late night cravings.

BOB'S DINER
1103 N. Third St.
Open 24 hours

BURGER KING DRIVE-THRU
1328 Laramie St.
Open until 2:30 a.m. Sun-Thu
Open until 3 a.m. Fri & Sat

PIZZA SHUTTLE
1800 Claflin Road
Open until 2 a.m.

TACO BELL DRIVE-THRU
1155 Westport Road
Open until 1 a.m. Sun-Thu
Open until 3 a.m. Fri & Sat

VILLAGE INN RESTAURANT
204 Tuttle Creek Blvd.
Open 24 hours

MIKE ENGELHARDT/COLLEGIAN

BY SARA MARTIN
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

It's 1:30 a.m., and the thought of spending the rest of the night plagued with hunger pangs is unbearable. For those still able to count to five, finding a place to eat in the middle of the night isn't too difficult of a task.

Anyone unwilling to leave the house can call on Pizza Shuttle until 2 a.m., and those ready to be out on the town can make a run to Taco Bell, Burger King, Bob's Diner or Village Inn Restaurant.

"There's a tremendous market out there, but you do have to work it well," said Burger King general manager Mike Pray, of late-night hours.

"When 1:45 rolls around we have a tremendous number of people come in. Mainly college kids that have been in Aggieville enjoying themselves. It's wild."

Burger King's drive-thru closes at 1 a.m. during the week and 3:30 a.m. on weekends, but Pray said a busy night can mean staying open even later than scheduled.

On the other side of town, near the Westloop Shopping Center, Taco Bell shift manager Nicole Alaniz doesn't see as much business in the later hours, but she said the nights are still pretty busy.

"Business really depends on how many drunk people there are," Alaniz said. "Being on this side of town is sometimes an inconvenience, but drunk people just want their Taco Bell."

The Taco Bell drive-thru stays open for business until 1 a.m. during the week and 3 a.m. weekends.

Those wanting some atmosphere and a sit-down meal have a choice between Village Inn Restaurant and Bob's Diner, the only restaurants in Manhattan open 24 hours a day.

Jerry Hickey, senior in agribusiness and animal science, spends one or two nights a week with friends at Bob's Diner for breakfast. He said the meal has become a legacy that started his freshman year when a friend of his offered to buy everyone some biscuits and gravy in exchange for a ride to the diner.

"So many different people come here, from sorority girls and fraternity guys to people from no group at all," Hickey said. "You can't really narrow the crowd down. There's a lot of good food, a lot of people and a lot of smoke by about 2:30 in the morning."

Anthony Lira, sophomore in construction science, said he frequents Bob's Diner because of the biscuits and gravy, the great service and the atmosphere.

"It's the kind of atmosphere like a greasy spoon. The kind of place you want to go," said Lira, who likes how small the diner is, with tables close together so meeting new people is fairly easy. "It's not over the show. You come here, laugh at other drunk people and have a good time. You spend 45 minutes eating and then you go home."

Restaurant explosion in South Africa kills 1; man claims revenge for U.S. attacks as motive

BY PAUL HARRIS
THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

CAPE TOWN, South Africa — A bomb exploded inside a crowded Planet Hollywood restaurant Tuesday, killing one person and injuring 24. A man claiming responsibility said it was revenge for U.S. attacks on targets in Sudan and Afghanistan.

The caller to the radio station Cape Talk claimed responsibility on behalf of a group called Muslims Against Global Oppression, according to Marianne Merten, a journalist at the station. Police refused to comment on the call.

Little is known about the group. Some members were among the 40 or so people who protested U.S. policies on Iraq and Israel during President Clinton"s visit to Cape Town last March.

Police Senior Superintendent John Sterrenberg said the device exploded at 7:20 p.m. inside Planet Hollywood as it was packed with diners. He confirmed one woman was killed. Her nationality and those of the injured were not immediately known.

"Decor on the ceiling came crashing down, and crashed onto people, tables and chairs."

A witness who had been at the ground-floor bar in the two-story Hollywood-theme restaurant described a horrific scene.

"I saw people without limbs," Bertie Liebenberg, who was visiting from Johannesburg, told the South African Press Association. "Decor on the ceiling came crashing down, and crashed onto people, tables and chairs."

Roger Sedres, a local photographer, said he heard the explosion as he drove past the restaurant, then saw the wounded come streaming out.

One woman sat outside the restaurant, her head in her hands, screaming: "'Oh God, please tell me my legs are still there," Sedres said. The woman's legs were intact.

Rescue workers brought out another woman who was motionless, her legs mangled.

Police cordoned off the restaurant in the trendy Victoria and Albert Waterfront and were reinforced with armored cars.

Ambulances with sirens wailing rushed to the scene.

Nico Smuts, spokesman for Leisurenet, the franchise holders of Planet Hollywood, said the Cape Town branch was wholly South African-owned.

However, there was speculation that an attack on a target identified with the United States could be a sequel to the bombings of the American embassies in Kenya and Tanzania that killed 257 people on Aug. 7 — or an answer to America's retaliatory cruise-missile attacks on targets in Afghanistan and Sudan.

A spokesman for Planet Hollywood, which is based in Orlando, Fla., said the company was attempting to gather information from local authorities.

"Our hearts and prayers go out to all the injured and their families," said Matt Hallman, director of national public relations.

See what a nickel will buy you at 5¢ Claflin Books and Copies
1814 Claflin Road 776-3771

Comics Games Cards Arcade Fun
The Gatekeeper
Come see us in Aggieville
1205 Moro
or call us at 539-4539
Manhattan's Comic Book & Game Store

AMERICAN FAMILY INSURANCE
AUTO HOME BUSINESS HEALTH LIFE
TIM ENGLE
"K-State Grad 88"
"Call Us For A Quote"
3320 Anderson 539-9200

MANPOWER
Accepting applications for area temporary assignments
INDUSTRIAL: Packaging, production, assembly and general labor.
OFFICE: Secretarial, word processing and data entry operators, general clerks.
Manpower offers benefits like paid holidays and vacations, life/health insurance, flexible schedules.
Apply in person
8 a.m. - 4:30 p.m.
555 Poyntz
Suite 245, Colony Square
Serving Manhattan Since 1976

KJ's DANCE CLUB
Welcome Back Blowout
$1.50 Coors Light Bud Light Founders
$1 Wells
Swing Contest 11:30 p.m. $50 cash to winner
College Discount in effect!

LADIES NIGHT
$1 BOTTLES
No Cover for the Ladies
LONGHORNS BAR & GRILL
1115 Moro Aggieville, USA
776-8870 18 & over

Multi-Engine Flight Training
• Twin Comanche w/HSI, RMI, GPS
• 6,500-Hour ATP Instructor
• Reasonable Rates
• Hugh Irvin
539-3128

CLAUSSEN'S CUSTOM DESIGN & REPAIR
One of a kind engagement rings or wedding sets. Custom design matching wedding sets. Shop for the most competitve prices in town.
CLAUSSEN'S
Custom Design & Repair
537-6884 • 410 Poyntz Avenue
Mon.-Fri. 9-6, Saturday by Appointment

DEADLINES

Classified ads must be placed by noon the day before you want your ad to run. Classified display ads must be placed by 4 p.m. two working days prior to the date you want your ad to run. CALL 532-6555

CLASSIFIEDS

000 BULLETIN BOARD

Announcements

ADVANCED FLIGHT TRAINING from 7,500-hour ATP instructor. Private single-engine through ATP multiengine. Hugh Irvin, 539-3128 evenings.

BIG DAWG Marina has Jet skis and pontoon boats for rent. 776-3113.

DISCOVER SCUBA: Complete lessons, low cost, college credit available. Aggie Dive Shop, 539-DIVE.

MARY KAY®
define Your style
With color cosmetics from Mary Kay, we can create a look that complements your lifestyle and is as individual as you are. It's easy. Just call me today for your free consultation.
Paula Smith
INDEPENDENT BEAUTY CONSULTANT
Toll free 1-877-788-2899
E-mail Psenterp@aol.com
Web page: www.mkinet.com/12/psmith4.html

FREE FOOTBALL tickets. Register at Mr. P's Party Outlet, 318 Poyntz Ave.

LEARN TO FLY! K-State Flying Club has five airplanes, lowest rates. For information call 537-8406.

020

Lost and Found

LOST: WALLET and checkbook August 24. Reward if found. Please call (785)761-7481, ask for Vaughn.

LOST: MEN'S gold wedding band on August 17th. Engraved on inside "To infinity" Reward if found. 776-0914.

100 HOUSING/REAL ESTATE

105

For Rent- Apts. Furnished

ABSOLUTELY AS good a deal as you'll find. Two-bedroom basement, central air, washer/ dryer. Beautiful house, above reasonable. 539-9345.

LIVING QUARTERS furnished, with the use of a Kiln and a Wheel. Utilities provided $250 a month. 587-0648, 1601 Baltimore.

ONE-BEDROOM BASEMENT apartment, five minute walk from Union. Non-smoker/ drinker. Call 539-4159, leave message.

ONE-BEDROOM BASEMENT, fireplace, walk to campus. Quiet, gas and water paid. No pets, no smoking. Lease, $250 deposit, $325/ month. 537-3737

TWO-BEDROOM BASEMENT apartment. Close to campus, $410, all utilities paid except cable television. 776-1214.

TWO-BEDROOM FURNISHED apartment. New carpet, microwave, close to campus, $450, all utilities paid except cable television. 776-1214.

UNIVERSITY COMMONS. Available: fully furnished, individual leases, washer/ dryer in each unit, roommate matching service, pool, sand vollleyball, lighted tennis and basketball courts, monitored security, reserved parking. No appointment necessary. M-F 9a.m.- 6p.m., 10a.m.- 4p.m., 539-0500.

110

For Rent- Apt. Unfurnished

A THREE-BEDROOM, spacious, one-half block to KSU, central air and heat, pets OK, $540, 776-8455.

ACROSS STREET from campus, four-bedroom, appliances, central air/heat off-street parking. 539-2632.

AUGUST FREE! Two-bedroom, spacious, dishwasher, $395-$425. 776-8455.

Chase Manhattan Apartments
1,2,3, or 4 person occupancy. Short term leases available. Water and Trash paid. Discounted cable package HBO, Encore, and Expanded Basic.
Call us Today 776-3663

Spacious 1 & 2 Bedrooms Available Now!
1 block from Campus
Laundry
Water/Trash Paid
Lee Crest Apartments
539-7961

AVAILABLE NOW. Studio and one-bedrooms, some furnished. Most utilities paid. Clean and quiet, central locations, some pets accepted. 537-8389.

AVAILABLE NOW. Two-bedroom apartment, all appliances including washer/ dryer. Good access to campus! Call 537-1918.

MOVE IN TODAY
1 & 4 Bedrooms All close to campus
ABBOTT
ABBOTT management, inc.
Call 776-1340

WOODWAY APARTMENTS
STOP!
DO NOT RENT AN APARTMENT UNTIL YOU CONSIDER THIS!
•Sparkling swimming pool
•Spacious decks/patios
•Avail. June 5 Aug. 6
•Kitchen Appliances include microwave and dishwasher
•On site laundry facilities
•Economical gas heat
3 BDRM, 2 BATH $714, $723
4 BDRM, 2 BATH $836, $856
Office: 2400 Kimball Ave. at College Ave. (Across from Bramlage)
Call Sara at 537-7007 for an appointment.

FOUR-BEDROOM CLOSE to campus, two bath, dishwasher, central air/heat, water/trash paid. Free laundry, good price. 537-2255 or 537-7810.

FOUR-BEDROOM, TWO bath 1300 square feet. Water/ trash paid. Discounted cable with HBO. 776-3663.

LARGE THREE-BEDROOM well lit basement, close to campus, 1729 Laramie, new stove and refrigerator, washer/ dryer hookups, heat/ water/ trash paid. $570. 537-2099, 539-8052.

NOW LEASING one to four-bedroom apartments/ houses. Call Alliance Property Management. 539-4357 for current list.

ONE- OR TWO-BEDROOM. No pets, smoking, drinking. 539-1554.

ONE-BEDROOM APARTMENT available immediately. $250/ month. One block from campus. Two blocks from Aggieville. Call Jamie at 770-8395 or (913)596-1061.

THREE-BEDROOM, AUGUST free, washer/ dryer, huge, $540. 776-8455.

THREE-BEDROOM, TWO bath apartment available for August. Very spacious. Dishwasher, microwave, pool, laundry and carports. Call Sara at 537-7007.

TWO, THREE and four-bedroom apartments water/ trash paid, discounted cable with HBO. Going fast. 776-3663.

TWO-BEDROOM DUPLEX very nice, clean, gas, window air, carpet, close to campus. Big bargain, $400. 537-2289.

UNIVERSITY TERRACE APARTMENTS. College Ave. Large three-bedroom apartments with washer, dryer hook-ups. 537-2096.

120

For Rent- Houses

Available Now
Clean Roomy 2 Bedroom, 1½ Bath in 9 plex. No Pets, 1 yr. lease. $400/month. 3032 Kimball Call Kay @ 539-6846

1106 KEARNEY- one and one-half blocks from campus. Three-bedrooms, one bath, kitchen, living room, washer and dryer hookups. Available September 1, 1998, $650/ month. Century 21 Knight Real Estate, 537-2111.

A PLEASANT house two blocks from campus. Fireplace, washer/ dryer, dishwasher. Please call 537-7848 or 776-6225.

FOUR-BEDROOM HOUSE newly remodeled close to campus. Washer/ dryer, central air, 539-4949.

KSU THREE BLOCKS. Three-bedroom, one bath, central air, laundry hookups, garage, small pets considered, 1517 Pipher. 539-4087, leave message.

THREE-BEDROOM, CLOSE to campus, attached garage. Stove, refrigerator. Available immediately. (765)463-5014.

TWO, TWO-BEDROOM houses available. One located in town and one in country. Stove, refrigerator, air-conditioning. No pets. 539-1975 or (785) 396-4344.

130

For Rent- Mobile Homes

MALE ROOMMATE wanted. Three-bedroom trailer in a quiet neighborhood. No smoking, no pets. $225 a month plus utilities. 776-6147.

135

For Sale- Mobile Homes

1972 HILLCREST trailer, 12'X50', two-bedroom, (316) 442-3450.

DON'T WASTE your money on rent, when you could own: 16'x70' 1986 Schult. Sunken living room, vaulted ceiling, built-in china hutch, lots of cabinet space, large kitchen, dining room, two large bedrooms, one bath, refrigerator, stove, dishwaser, 8'x8' deck, fenced yard, swing set, new paint, new shingled roof, great location, Bergman school. Must see to appreciate. Call for showing 776-3226.

145

Roommate Wanted

FEMALE ROOMMATE to share newly remodeled three-bedroom house with laundry facilities, close to KSU stadium and rec center; $250/ month plus one-third utilities; 776-1926, ask for Sarah.

FEMALE ROOMMATE sharing a two-bedroom apartment. Non-smoker. Water and trash paid for. $212 rent. Contact Brandi at (785) 387-2206.

FEMALE ROOMMATE to share NICE two-bedroom apartment across from college. $260 a month. 776-4891.

FEMALE ROOMMATE wanted. Move in now, September and October rent paid for. Cambridge Square Apartments. Deposit paid, $270/ month. (316) 773-1627.

FEMALE ROOMMATE, non-smoker for two-bedroom mobile home. Furnished, $155 plus one-half KPL. 587-0157.

MALE AG majors desire roommate. $200/ month plus utilities, August lease available. Close to campus and Aggieville. No smoking/ drinking. Call 770-9072.

MALE NEEDED for furnished basement. Washer/ dryer without meter. No smoking, drinking, or pets. Walk to class. 539-1554

MALE/ FEMALE to share four-bedroom house- half mile to campus and Aggieville. Call 537-5109.

PHD STUDENT/ GTA is looking for socially responsible housemates. $350/ month, utilities included/ not phone. Contact: renner@ksu.edu or 770-8309 (h) 1-888-ESL-KNOW (w).

QUIET, RESPONSIBLE graduate student looking for non-smoking, non-drinking roommate for small two-bedroom house just outside of town. Call 539-4135 or 776-5716.

ROOMMATE WANTED for farm house. Place for horse, $130/ month plus share of utilities. 539-2029.

ROOMMATE WANTED- University Terrace Apartments- $175/ month plus one-third utilities, non-smoking. 770-9665.

ROOMMATES NEEDED to share four-bedroom house at 610 Laramie. $200 plus one-fourth utilities. 776-3108, leave message.

SERIOUS STUDENT and two cats must share nice two-bedroom apartment close to campus. $225/ month plus one-half utilities. Kim 776-4491, leave message.

165

Storage Space

STORAGE CITY. Share storage space and cost with a friend, four miles east of Manhattan on Hwy 24. Call 776-1976.

200 SERVICE DIRECTORY

255

Other Services

YOUNG STUDENT mother wants to get back into shape. Needs someone to help train and motivate. Requires fitness knowledge, must have access to KSU Rec Center/ Natatorium. Please send letter of interest ASAP to Box 1, Collegian.

300 EMPLOYMENT/OPPORTUNITIES

310

Help Wanted

Manhattan City Ordinance 4814 assures every person equal opportunity in securing and holding employment in any field of work or labor for which he/ she is properly qualified regardless of race, sex, military status, disability, religion, age, color, national origin or ancestry. Violations should be reported to the Director of Human Resources at City Hall, 587-2441.

The Collegian cannot verify the financial potential of advertisements in the Employment/Career classification. Readers are advised to approach any such employment opportunity with reasonable caution. The Collegian urges our readers to contact the Better Business Bureau, 501 SE Jefferson, Topeka, KS 66607-1190. (785)232-0454.

$800 WEEKLY POTENTIAL. Processing Government refunds at home. No experience necessary. 1-800-696-4779- Ext. 1608.

BABYSITTING OPPORTUNITY. Seeking reliable child care in home for Monday, Wednesday, Friday- 537-9092.

BOCKERS II Catering now hiring immediately for banquet wait staff and bartenders. Evenings and weekends. Apply 2321 Skyvue Lane, or see us at the Job Fair, KSU Union Tuesday 9a.m. - 4p.m.

BREADEAUX PIZZA: Day help, evening and weekend drivers. Breadeaux Pizza, 3033 Anderson. 537-5080.

COMPUTER INFORMATION Specialist, Dept. of Agricultural Economics, KSU— Part-time to Full-time position responsible for providing computer software support on basic PC software applications (spreadsheet, word processing, and database programs) and specialized software programs used in economic and statistical analysis, and creating and maintaining databases. Qualificatons: B.S. degree in economics, computer science, information systems, statistics, business, or other field which involves the manipulation and analysis of quantitative data; demonstrated proficiency in the use of basic PC software applications; and the proven ability to develop and manage large databases. Applicants are requested to submit a letter of application, resume, and arrange for three letters of reference to Dan Bernardo, Dept. of Agricultural Economics, 342 Waters Hall, Kansas State University, Manhattan, KS 66506-4011. Deadline for applications is September 10, 1998. For further information, call (785) 532-6702.

DELIVERY DRIVERS . Gambino's Pizza now hiring drivers. Must be 18, own dependable car. Apply in person at 2708 Anderson. Base wage, tips and delivery fees. $6- $9/ hour.

Baskin 31 Robbins
Baskin Robbins is taking applications to fill full & part-time positions. Must be able to work days & nights.
Apply at 1201 Westloop
Baskin 31 Robbins

Ambitious, energetic people needed for full and part-time. Apply in person at Vista Drive Inn
911 Tuttle Creek Blvd.

FAMILY-OPERATED SWINE and crop farm 25 miles northeast of Manhattan needs full or part-time help. (785) 457-2873 days, (785) 457-3562 evenings.

FARM HELP wanted. Experience necessary. Will work around class schedule. (785) 457-3452 or (785) 457-3713 evenings.

FISH SALESPERSON needed. Must be available 20 hours including weekends. Must have knowledge and experience with a variety of tropical fish and marine, pet store experience preferred. Apply in person at Pets-N-Stuff, 1105 Waters St.

HELP WANTED. Earn up to $375 weekly assembling MEDICAL ID CARDS at home. Immediate openings, your area. Call 1-520-505-4411 Ext. D588.

ITALIAN RESTAURANT: day, night dish washer, kitchen help wanted. 539-9300.

JANITOR NEEDED: Part-time, 5:00 a.m.- 11 a.m. Needs to be self-motivated, dependable and hard-working with an eye for detail. Apply in person Mon-Fri, 8:00 a.m.- 4:00 p.m., Manhattan Country Club, 1531 N. 10th.

KITCHEN HELP wanted. Apply at 1213 Moro, Manhattan, KS.

MOTIVATED OUTGOING individual to help business get off the ground. Set your own hours, work from home. Great experience for marketing majors. Wages based on productivity, no experience required. Please send resume to P.O. Box 28, Sabetha, KS 66534 by September 7th.

PART AND Full-time landscaping jobs. 776-1930.

PART-TIME EMPLOYMENT- Want a GREAT part-time job, working on a GREAT team, in a GREAT on-campus location? Derby, Kramer, and Van Zile Dining centers are hiring KSU students for service and custodial positions. Beginning pay $5.30 per hour. Raises scheduled. Very flexible, you chose the times you want to work. Morning, noon, evening, and weekend hours available. Apply in person between the hours of 9:00 a.m.-4:00 p.m. at Derby Dining Center(room 129), Kramer Dining Center (hiring office), or Van Zile Dining Center (foodservice office). AA/EOE.

PART-TIME lifeguards needed through October 4. Apply in person, Manhattan Country Club. 1531 N. 10th. Must have up to date certifications.

PROGRAMMER- NETWORKS Plus, the leader in providing business and government computer services has openings for both full and half-time positions. Experience in database environments required. Salary range $25,000 - $50,000 plus bonuses and benefits. E-mail resume to Morgan@networksplus.com in text or MS Word format.

SPRING BREAK '99— Sell Trips, Earn Cash & Go Free! STS is now hiring campus reps. Lowest rates to Jamaica, Mexico and Florida. Call 800-648-4849 or apply online at www.ststravel.com

STORE CLERK: 2 - 3 weeknights 5:30 - 11p.m. Saturday afternoons 12:00 - 5:30 p.m. Cash register experience helpful. Contact Jeff, 537-7229.

STUDENT HELP needed 2a.m.- 6a.m. every other day. Apply Printing Services, 10 Kedzie.

TUTORING HIGH school students for K-State's Upward Bound Math and Science Program. Contact: Lynne Davy at 532-6374 for application.

WRITER. K-State News Services has an opening for a student news writer who can produce articles quickly and accurately. Work 12-15 hours per week. Flexible schedules. High school or college journalism experience required. Pick up an application in 9 Anderson Hall.

320

Volunteers Needed

BE A friend to someone who needs you. Volunteer for Compeer. Call Pawnee Mental Health Services. 587-4333.

WE KICK ADS!
WE KICK ADS!
WE KICK ADS!

Move In IMMEDIATELY & Pay NO Aug. Rent!
- 2 Bedroom Units
1 & 2 person rates avail.
- Brittany Ridge Townhomes
3 & 4 person rates avail.
Call About Our Move-In Specials!
776-3804
McCullough Development

340

Fundraisers/ Scholarships

KAUFFMAN ENTREPRENEURSHIP INTERNSHIP PROGRAM—Internships are immediately available for Fall 1998. Interns will: work 15-20 hours/ week with local business, receive 3 hours of undergraduate course credit, earn minimum wage pay, receive scholarship (for tuition reimbursement), and gain excellent opportunity to learn from successful mentor. Send or bring letter of application and resume by August 31 to: Dr. Brian Niehoff or Dr. Donita Whitney-Bammerlin, Department of Management, Calvin Hall Room 101, College of Business Administration, or call 532-6296. 13" RCA color television with remote, $99. (785)485-2703 after 5p.m.

400 OPEN MARKET

405

Wanted to Buy

YOU NEED A NEW GAME!!
OR SOFTWARE FOR
SONY PLAYSTATION, COMPUTER CD ROM, N64, NINTENDO, ETC.
BUY SELL TRADE VIDEO GAMES
GAME BUY
709 N. 12th
Aggieville
537-0989

410

Items for Sale

ANTIQUES, COLLECTIBLES, tools, books, furniture, estate jewelry, beer signs, thousands of curious goods. Time Machine Antique Maul and Flea Market. 4910 Skyway Dr. between Briggs and airport. 539-4684.

FOR SALE: Color printer, Java software, answering machine, two tents, Star Trek collectibles, photographer's easel. 537-2497 Russ.

GIANT MOUNTAIN Bike and Silver Trumpet for sale. Must sell soon. Please call 776-7028.

KENMORE LARGE washer and dryer set. $189 or best offer, 776-7217.

KING SIZE waterbed with six drawers. Good condition. 776-2047.

QUEEN SIZE futon, twin futon and frame, good condition, $50 each or negotiable, call 539-7683.

Something for Everyone
Buy - Sell - Trade - Swap - Give Away!
Whatever your needs, COLLEGIAN Classified Ads are for you!
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN
103 Kedzie 532-6555

SEALY FULL size box springs and mattress, $125. 776-9313.

415

Furniture to Buy/Sell

615 NORTH 3rd. Wohler's Used Furniture, antiques, appliances, beer signs, miscellanous. Check it out.

435

Computers

MACINTOSH PERFORMA 636CD with monitor, laser printer, and numerous programs and games. $700 or best offer. Call 776-8315 after 5.

445

Music Instruments

WELCOME TO The Music Co.! Our business is making you sound the best you can, and leaving a little gas money in your pocket. In-store right now: Artley, Ampeg, Alvarez, Marshall, Fernandes, Sovtek, Takamine, Fender, Dean, Peavey, Tama, Ludwig, Mapex, Crate, Audio- Centron, Sans- Amp, and more! Still the best deal on the planet! The Music Co., the story continues. 523 S 17th Street in Manhattan. 539-1958.

500 TRANSPORTATION

510

Automobiles

1987 BUICK Centry Limited, loaded, $1700, new paint job. 1987 Acura Legend, two-door, high miles, $2800 or best offer. Leave message, 395-7447.

1988 CHEVY Silverado 350, automatic. 776-9705.

1991 TAURUS GL V6, cruise, power windows, locks, four-door, good condition. $3500 or best offer. 776-3606.

1993 FORD Ranger XLT. Extended cab, 4.0 liter V6, five-speed, 76K miles. Excellent condition. $8700 or best offer. 537-3516.

1993 PONTIAC Grand Am. $4500. Evenings. 537-9019

1995 KSU purple Ford Ranger, excellent condition, CD player, 31,000 miles, 5-speed. Blue Book $12,500 asking $9500. Rochelle- 776-1453, leave message.

1995 NISSAN pick-up, blue. 54,000 miles, contact Augy or Kara after 5:30p.m. (785)456-2740.

HONDA ACCORD, 1984, low mileage, ugly, $700. 776-3589.

MUST SELL: 1993 Mazda MX-3 GS, five-speed, $6000 or best offer. Call 587-8509, 7p.m.-9p.m.

530

Motorcycles

1989 KAWASAKI EX 500 red/ black. Very good condition, $1400 or best offer. 537-2289.

1992 CBR 600 FZ. Purple/ black/ white. 537-2158.

If Advertising Isn't Your De-Pod-Ment!
Let it be ours!
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN
103 KEDZIE 532-6555

Move In Immediately & Pay NO Aug. Rent!
TATTARAX APARTMENTS
• Close to campus & Aggieville
• Hardwood floors
• 4 bedroom - 2 person occupancy avail.
• $700/mo. ($465/mo. for 2 people)
CALL ABOUT OUR MOVE-IN SPECIAL!
CALL 776-3804
Managed by: McCullough Development
http://www.mdiproperties.com

Classified RATES

1 DAY
20 words or less $7.15
each word over 20 $.20 per word

2 DAYS
20 words or less $8.40
each word over 20 $.25 per word

3 DAYS
20 words or less $9.55
each word over 20 $.30 per word

4 DAYS
20 words or less $10.60
each word over 20 $.35 per word

5 DAYS
20 words or less $11.55
each word over 20 $.40 per word
(consecutive day rate)

HOW TO PAY
All classifieds must be paid in advance unless you have an account with Student Publications Inc. Cash, check, MasterCard or Visa are accepted. There is a $10 service charge on all returned checks. We reserve the right to edit, reject or properly classify any ad.

FREE FOUND ADS
As a service to you, we run found ads for three days free of charge.

CORRECTIONS
If you find an error in your ad, please call us. We accept responsibility only for the first wrong insertion.

CANCELLATIONS
If you sell your item before your ad has expired, we will refund you for the remaining days. You must call us before noon the day before the ad is to be published.

HEADLINES
For an extra charge, we'll put a headline above your ad to catch the reader's attention.

000 BULLETIN BOARD
100 HOUSING/REAL ESTATE
200 SERVICE DIRECTORY
300 EMPLOYMENT/OPPORTUNITIES
400 OPEN MARKET
500 TRANSPORTATION
600 TRAVEL/TRIPS

TO PLACE AN AD
Go to Kedzie 103 (across from the K-State Student Union). Office hours are Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. The office is open except on holidays.

Paragon Technology Inc.

Our Two New Pre Designed Systems

ATHENA WORKSTATION

Gigabyte GA6BXC Pentium II BX Chipset Motherboard
Intel Pentium-II 400MHzOEM= (1 Year Warranty)
High Efficient CPU FAN for Pentium II (Ball Bearing)
100 MHz 64MB 4x64-16 (Compatible BX ChipSet)
Matrox Millennium G200 8MB AGP (OEM)
QUANTUM ST6480A 6.4GB U/ATA 10ms 128k
Creative Labs 32X IDE Internal CD-ROM Drive
Paragon MicroScan 19P (ADI OEM) 1600x1200 75 MHz, 0.22mm
Creative Lab Digicom 56K V90w/Voice
Mitsumi 1.44MB Floppy
Cambridge Sound Works SW Speakers
Yamaha 724 Enhanced 3D PCI Card-Software Wavetable
Logitech InteliMouse (First Mouse+) -Combo
Microsoft Elite Natural Keyboard
System Assembly w/1Yr warranty
Choice of Microsoft Windows95 or 98 Full Version (with system)
Software Package (details included)

$2199.95

THOR WORKSTATION

Gigabyte GA6BXC Pentium II BX Chipset Motherboard
Intel Pentium-II 400MHzOEM= (1 Year Warranty)
High Efficient CPU FAN for Pentium II (Ball Bearing)
100 MHz 64MB 4x64-8 (Compatible BX ChipSet)
Matrox Millennium G200 8MB AGP (OEM)
QUANTUM ST6480A 6.4GB U/ATA 10ms 128k
Creative Labs 32X IDE Internal CD-ROM Drive
Paragon MicroScan 19P (ADI OEM) 1600x1200 75 MHz, 0.22mm
Creative Lab Digicom 56K V90w/Voice
Mitsumi 1.44MB Floppy
Cambridge Sound Works SW Speakers
Yamaha 724 Enhanced 3D PCI Card-Software Wavetable
Logitech InteliMouse (First Mouse+) -Combo
Microsoft Elite Natural Keyboard
System Assembly w/1Yr warranty
Choice of Microsoft Windows95 or 98 Full Version (with system)
Software Package (details included)

$2479.95

Turtle Beach Montego Sound Card
$104.95

SoundWorks
Retail $149.95
Sale $132.95

ATTENTION! Architecture Students!

Pro II
Gigabyte GA5AX
AMD K6-266
64 MB EDO Memory
Matrox Prodcutiva 6 100 4Mb ACP
IBM 6.4
TEAC 32XCD-Rom
Paragon MicroScan 15" .24mm
Creative Labs Ensong Sound Card
Mitsumi 1.44MB Floppy
Creative Labs Digicom 56k V.90w/Voice
Lexmark 1100 color Printer
Juster AT-95 Speakers
Logitech Intellihouse
Microsoft Windows 95 or 98 Your Choice!
Paragon Software package

Which meets your class needs!
Only $1079.95 + tax

Lexmark 1100 Inkjet Color Printer
$131.95*
$30 Customer Rebate

EPSON Stylus Color 600 Printer
$185
(Sug. Retail $246.95)

Paragon MicroScan
$174.95 15" .24mm
$289.98 17" .22mm
$554.95 19" .22mm

Dorm Residents Need Network Cards
D-LINK TP/BNC $23.95
ACCTON 310TX $36.95

Hercules Workstation

Abit LX6 (PII-ATX-440LX)
Intel Pentium-II 266MHzOEM= (1 Year Warranty)
High Efficient CPU FAN for Pentium II (Ball Bearing)
SDRAM 168Pin 3.3V 10ns 32MB Unbuffered
Matrox Millennium II 4MB AGP Upgradable
IBM DHEA-36480 6.4GB U/AT 9.5ms 128k 5400rpm
Teac 32X CD-ROM
Acer ATX Mid Tower Case w/235W Power Supply
Paragon MicroScan 15P (ADI OEM) 1024X768 85Hz, 0.24mm
Creative Labs Digcom 56K V90 w/Voice
Mitsumi 1.44MB Floppy
Juster AT-95, 200 Watts
Creative Labs Ensoniq PCI Sound Card
LOGITECH Mouseman 3 Button - Combo
Mitsumi 104 Key Windows Keyboard
Lexmark 1100 Color Inkjet Printer
System Assembly
Choice of Microsoft Windows 95 or 98 Full Version (with system)

$1339.95

Zeus Workstation

Abit LX6 (PII-ATX-440LX)
Intel Pentium-II 300MHzOEM= (1 Year Warranty)
High Efficient CPU FAN for Pentium II (Ball Bearing)
SDRAM 168Pin 3.3V 10ns 32MB Unbuffered
ATI Xpert@Play 4MB SGRAM PC2TV 1600x1200 AGP
IBM DHEA-36480 6.4GB U/AT 9.5ms 128k 5400rpm
TEAC 32X IDE Internal CD-ROM Drive
Acer ATX Mid Tower Case w/235W Power Supply
Paragon MicroScan 17P+ (ADI OEM) 1280X1024, 0.22mm
Creative Labs Digcom 56K V90 w/Voice
SONY 1.44MB Floppy
Benwin BW980-3Way 70W (4 pieces) Speaker System
Sound Blaster AWE64
LOGITECH InteliMouse (First Mouse+) - Combo
LITE-ON SK-600 Natural Keyboard
Lexmark 1100 Color Inkjet Printer
System Assembly w/ 1 Yr. Warranty
Choice of Microsoft Windows 95 or 98 Full Version (with system)

$1849.95

Cyclops Workstation

ABIT BX6- BX Chipset
Intel Pentium-II 400MHzOEM= (1 Year Warranty)
High Efficient CPU FAN for Pentium II (Ball Bearing)
100 MHz32MB 4x64-16 (Compatible BX ChipSet)
DIAMOND VIPER V330 4MG AGP (OEM)
QUANTUM ST6480A 6.4GB U/ATA 10ms 128k
Mitsumi 32X IDE Internal CD-ROM Drive
Paragon MicroScan 17P+(ADI OEM) 1280x1024, 0.22mm
ACER 76C 17in, 0.27 MM
Creative Labs Digicom 56K V90 w/Voice
Mitsumi 1.44MB Floppy
Benwin BW980-3Way 70W (4 pieces) Speaker System
Sound Blaster AWE64
LOGITECH Mouseman, Button Mice-Combo PS/2
KEYTRONICS 3601, PS/2 104 Keyboard
System Assembly w/ 1 Year Warranty
Microsoft Windows 95 Version (with system)

$1999.95

• FREE System Builds • FREE Software Package with System Build
MICROSOFT CERTIFIED IN HOUSE TECHNICIANS

Local Financing • 90 Days Same As Cash • 90 Days Deferred • 6 Months & 9 Month Deferred
• Terms Available • System Upgrades Components Available • 2% Corporate Discount

Visit Us On our Website: http//www.paragoncomp.com

Paragon Technology ★ Claflin Denison

1800 Claflin, Suite 170 • First Bank Center at the Corner of Claflin & Denison,
Manhattan, Ks 66502
785-537-9999 Toll Free: 888.227.7PTI • Fax: 785-537-4141

BIG SCREEN ACTION

A K-State student displays his talent on the Jumbotron at KSU Stadium

■ SEE STORY ON PAGE 3

THURSDAY
AUGUST 27, 1998

KANSAS STATE UNIVERSITY, MANHATTAN, KAN.
VOLUME 103, NUMBER 4
COLLEGIAN.KSU.EDU

TODAY'S WEATHER

HIGH 88
LOW 67

Sub. Exp. Date: 00/00
Kansas State Historical Society
Newspaper Section
PO Box 3585
Topeka KS 66601

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

3

Hurricane Bonnie attacks North Carolina coast

Storm brings 100-mph winds, possibly 20 inches of rain to area

By ALLEN G. BREED
The Associated Press

WILMINGTON, N.C. — Taking one of history's busiest storm routes, Hurricane Bonnie blew ashore Wednesday and began a slow crawl up the Carolina coast with stinging rain and howling winds of more than 100 mph.

Forecasters said the storm could linger over North Carolina for a day or more and bring up to 20 inches of rain. Winds were 115 mph when Bonnie hit land but dropped to 105 mph after nightfall.

Arriving hours after a half-million people had fled inland, the storm swamped roads, knocked out power to at least 240,000 and peeled part of a roof from a hospital. There were no immediate reports of death or serious injuries.

There were preliminary reports that the storm created new inlets that cut two small barrier islands in half, authorities said.

Andrew Tawes was among the few who remained on North Carolina's Outer Banks as the storm hit, staying to look after his house and cabinet shop. His wife and two children fled the island to stay with relatives.

"I've got thousands of dollars in wood and materials in my shop right now," he said. "I'm scared to death."

The storm reached land at 2 p.m. at Cape Fear, near the South Carolina state line. It slowed from 16 mph to 8 mph as it eased ashore before slowing further.

Six hours later, Bonnie had moved only about 20 miles to the north and was centered near Wrightsville Beach, just east of Wilmington.

Four to five inches of rain already had fallen in the Wilmington area by mid-afternoon.

"I suspect it's going to be raining very heavy for a long period of time and as it winds down," said Jerry Jarrell, director of the National Hurricane Center in Miami.

Bonnie was expected to reach Greenville, 100 miles north of Wilmington and much farther inland than earlier expected, by Thursday afternoon.

"That means a slow, constant battering of the area from Wilmington to Greenville," state public safety director Richard Moore said. "Rainfall along the I-95 corridor could reach 2 to 3 inches an hour."

The storm was expected eventually to veer to the northeast and move out to sea near the North Carolina-Virginia line, but possibly not until Friday — a day later than expected.

Officials said Bonnie could raise water levels in some areas by 9 to 11 feet. Tide levels 9 feet above normal were reported in some areas Wednesday afternoon.

"We're not talking about one burst of water, like a tidal wave," Moore said. "We're talking about the water being backed up in our sounds by the winds for as long as the hurricane lingers."

The Carolina coast has had countless hurricanes, including three in 1955 alone that killed more than 200 people, because it juts out into the Atlantic near the Gulf Stream, a route often followed by storms.

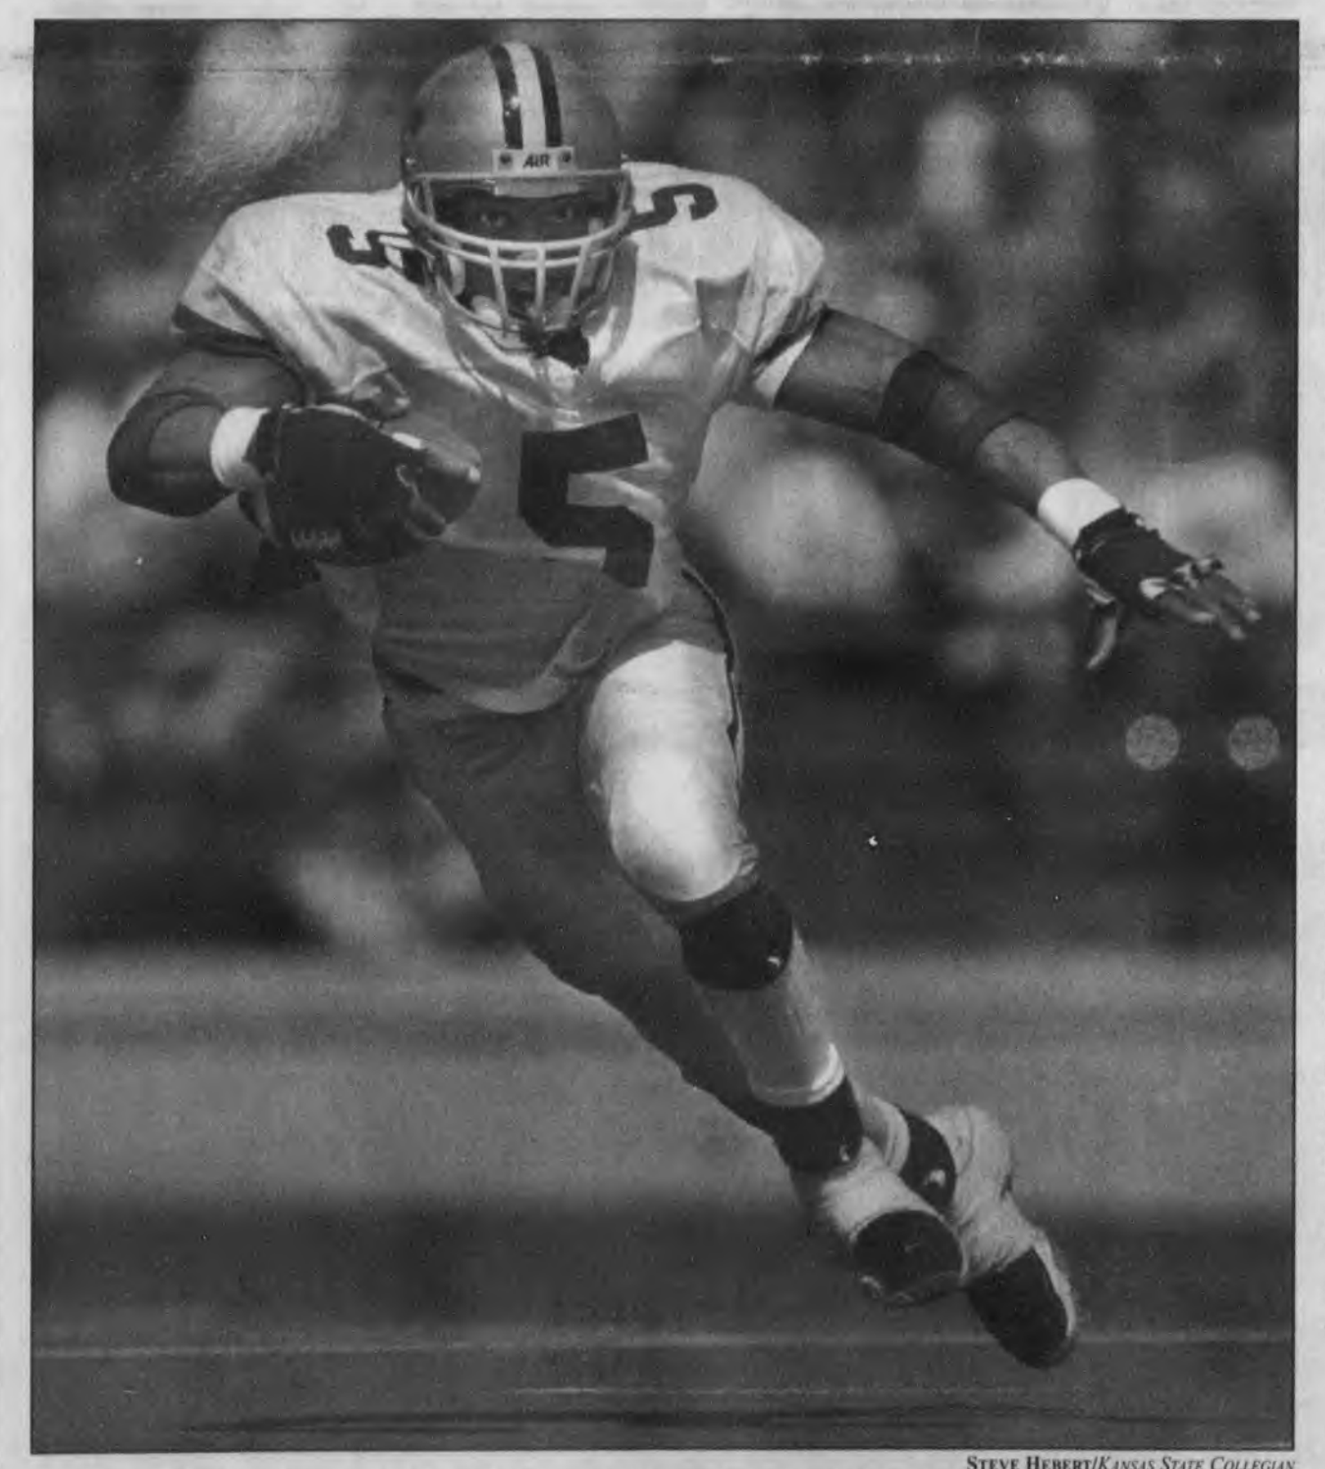
With its pace and vast, 400-mile breadth, Bonnie could inflict more damage than Fran, the last major hurricane to hit the North Carolina coast. Fran plowed ashore in September 1996 in the same area Bonnie hit, killing 24 people in North Carolina, 34 overall and causing $5.2 billion in damage.

Even as Bonnie slowly moved to the north, South Carolina Gov. David Beasley would not lift the entire evacuation orders he had issued a day earlier for two coastal areas. Parts of South Carolina were battered by storms throughout the day.

"Bonnie hasn't done what we expected she would do, but she hasn't done that for three days, so why should we expect that now? ... I don't want people thinking that this storm is over," Beasley said. "There is still potential for major rain, major flooding and major wind damage that we hope will not happen. But we can't be sure."

Beasley did lift the mandatory-evacuation order for part of southern Georgetown County.

Bonnie ripped a roof from a small community hospital in Brunswick County, north of Cape Fear. Plans to move the patients were on hold until storm conditions eased.



Bonnie moved over the Brunswick Nuclear Power plant, where reactors were shut down Tuesday.

Southport postmaster Marvin Watson regretted not getting off Oak Island before the only bridge closed Tuesday night.

"I'll tell you one thing — it's scary out there," he said as the wind pushed sheets of water across the island. "If I had my choice right now, I'd be sitting over in Wilmington somewhere.

Months after K-State reported possible rules violations, the verdict finally came down

MURPHY TO MISS 4 GAMES

STEVE HEBERT/KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

K-State running back Frank Murphy turns up-field trying to gain yardage during the 1998 K-State Spring Football Game at KSU Stadium.

By SAM FELSENFELD
Kansas State Collegian

Running back Frank Murphy will miss the first four games of the season after accepting gifts to purchase an automobile in March, K-State announced Wednesday.

The NCAA Division I Subcommittee on Student Athlete Reinstatement ruled that Murphy's offense was a major infraction and that his eligibility won't be restored until after he is withheld from the Wildcats' first four games.

The penalty is not what the university expected after self-imposing a two-game suspension on Murphy earlier in the summer for what it deemed a secondary infraction.

"We had hoped for a two-game sanction — four we thought didn't quite fit all the cases," K-State coach Bill Snyder said. "But this is the first time I've dealt with anything like this, and that's true for all the rest of us. The NCAA and the people who serve on those committees have been involved with these things time and time again, so I can appreciate their position."

■ OUR OPINION
The Collegian Editorial Board says K-State did the right thing in reporting the infractions.
See Page 4.

Murphy, the 1997 National Junior College Athletic Association Player of the Year, came to K-State after rushing for 1,370 yards and 26 touchdowns on 210 carries for Garden City Community College last season.

He gained attention this spring when he ran a 4.21-second 40-yard dash but now will miss non-conference games against Indiana State, Northern Illinois and Northeast Louisiana, as well as the Cats' Big 12 opener against Texas. His debut in a K-State uniform will come at Colorado on Oct. 10.

"After visiting with my coaches and other athletics department officials, I have come to understand that I made a serious error in judgment by accepting what is considered an unauthorized benefit," Murphy said in a statement released through K-State's Sports Information Department.

"As a result, I have received a substantial penalty. I willingly accept this discipline and view it as an important lesson in personal responsibility."

While the four-game suspension is likely all the punishment Murphy will receive, the university

■ See MURPHY on PAGE 10

Documents released by K-State Sports Information on Wednesday outlined the circumstances surrounding the rules violations.

K-State head football coach Bill Snyder talks with reporters Wednesday evening at Vanier Football Complex. Snyder gave a statement concerning Frank Murphy's four-game suspension.

IVAN KOZAR/COLLEGIAN

KSU leads Kansas in production of wheat

By SCOTT ALDIS-WILSON
Kansas State Collegian

One billion bushels are a lot of wheat.

But David Frey, Kansas Wheat Commission administrator, said that's just what the state produced in the past two years, and nearly 700 million of those bushels were tied directly to K-State.

Two-thirds of the 1997 and 1998 crop yields were from varieties developed through the K-State wheat-breeding program in the Department of Agronomy, making it the most effective program in the country, Frey said.

"There's no question of it. The genetics of the wheat are better every year," Frey said.

Joe Martin, wheat breeder at K-State's Hays, Kan., agricultural station, said the program is conducted from research stations in Hays and Manhattan, as well as experimental stations across the rest of the state.

Martin said creating a new variety of wheat begins with crossing two existing varieties in the research greenhouse, allowing the resulting seed to produce several generations, then testing those later generations against a collection of wheat diseases and insects.

"Basically, we're trying to throw out the genes we don't want," Martin said.

The whole process takes an average of 12 years, he said.

The Manhattan and Hays stations exist separately to create region-specific wheat varieties prepared to resist specific pests and diseases varying from one end of Kansas to the other, Martin said.

■ See WHEAT on PAGE 10

WILDCAT WELCOME WEEK

The Collegian will publish a calendar of events for that day's events and the next day's events throughout Wildcat Welcome Week.

TODAY

Job Search and Internet Résumé Registration
5 p.m., Justin 109

■

Leadership Studies Open House
4 to 6 p.m., 914 N. Manhattan Ave.

FRIDAY

THX 1138 — Kaleidoscope Film Presentation
7 p.m. and 9:30 p.m. showing, Union Forum Hall

■

Welcome Back Concert
8 p.m., Triangle Park

TODD STEWART/COLLEGIAN

NEWS DIGEST

CALENDAR DEADLINES

To place an item in the Calendar, stop by Kedzie 116 and fill out a form or e-mail it to bulletins@spub.ksu.edu by 11 a.m. two days before it is to run.

CALENDAR

Calendar is the Collegian's campus bulletin board service. Items in the calendar can be published up to three times. Items might not appear because of space constraints but are guaranteed to appear on the day of the activity. To place an item, stop by Kedzie 116 and fill out a form or e-mail it to collegn@ksu.edu by 11 a.m. two days before it is to run.

■ The graduate school announces the final oral defense of the doctoral dissertation of Kirk Pappan at 2:30 p.m. Friday in Willard 120. The title is "Enzymology and Regulation of Multiple Isoforms of Plant Phospholipase D."

■ Agriculture Council and Alpha Zeta will be host to the College of Agriculture watermelon feed and Ag Club activities fair at 6:15 p.m. Sept. 1 on the front lawn of Waters Hall.

■ Intramural entries are being accepted for flag football, soccer, punt/pass/kick and individual sports this week. Interested parties should sign up in the business office by 5 p.m. today at the Chester E. Peters Recreation Complex.

■ Applications are being accepted for tutors in the Community Service Program. Students who want more information on helping students in the area should contact the CSP Tutoring office in Edwards 8D at 532-5701.

■ KSU Hillel in conjunction with Manhattan Jewish Congregation will be host to a welcome-back service at 7:30 p.m. Friday at 1509 Wreath Ave. Students who want more information should call 776-3299 or 539-7947.

POLICE REPORTS

Reports are taken directly from the K-State and Riley County police departments' daily logs. We do not list wheel locks or minor traffic violations because of space constraints.

K-STATE POLICE
TUESDAY, AUG. 25

■ At 4:05 p.m., the theft of a portable compact disc player was reported from Marlatt Hall 504. Loss was estimated at $76.

RILEY COUNTY POLICE
TUESDAY, AUG. 25

■ At 12:57 a.m., Troy Williams, 1802 Rockhill Road, was arrested for parole violation.

■ At 2:25 a.m., Danny T. Britt, 1010 Humboldt St., was arrested on a municipal warrant for theft. Bail was set at $500.

■ At 3:46 p.m., Lawrence D. Johnson, address unlisted, was arrested on a Riley County warrant. Bail was set at $500.

■ At 8:51 p.m., Sky E. Stevenson, Council Grove, was arrested for DUI. Bail was set at $500.

■ At 10:13 p.m., Evelyne R. Salay, Ogden, was arrested on a Riley County warrant. Bail was set at $250.

DAILY REWIND

Daily Rewind collects the top local, state, national and world news from the past 24 hours. Briefs are compiled from wire and staff reports.

Accused child killer receives compassion

PHILADELPHIA — The elderly woman accused of killing eight of her babies more than 30 years ago is receiving support from around the world, with doctors, lawyers and others rallying to her defense.

Dozens of people have called with offers of help for Marie Noe, many of them outraged at what they see as unjust prosecution, her lawyer said. She has received offers of money, expert witnesses and legal defenses, lawyer David Rudenstein said.

"What compelled me to call is ... from everything I've read and seen at work, it doesn't seem abnormal to me for one family to lose more than one child," said Nancy Miller, a child social worker in Glendale, Calif. "This case could set a precedent of blaming the victim."

At 70, Noe stands accused as a multiple murderer, a dramatic turnaround from the sympathy she and her husband received in the 1960s when they were portrayed nationally as a couple ravaged by sudden infant death syndrome, also known as SIDS.

The diabetic and arthritic woman was denied bail earlier this month after a prosecutor called her "as much a mass murderer as Ted Bundy." She was scheduled for a second bail hearing Wednesday .

Noe is charged with eight counts of first-degree murder for her babies' deaths, which occurred from 1949 to 1968. She faces life in prison if convicted. Rudenstein has said Noe will plead innocent.

Noe had 10 children. Not one lived to see a second birthday. In all except two of the deaths, Noe said the babies had died while sleeping when she was home alone with them. Eventually the deaths were blamed on SIDS.

One of Noe's children was stillborn and the other died at the hospital shortly after birth.

In March, Noe was questioned about the eight deaths, in part due to new findings suggesting SIDS might be rarer than suspected and sometimes mistakenly diagnosed in cases of homicide.

During an 11-hour interrogation, police said, Noe confessed to killing four of the children. She said she could not remember how the other four died, police said.

Most of the people who have called offering support for Noe don't know her but were touched by her story, Rudenstein said. She and her husband, Arthur, are retired with no extra income. She is allowed one eight-minute call each day to Arthur, who has said he has considered suicide.

Study says Tums help ease PMS symptoms

NEW YORK — Women can dramatically reduce the symptoms of premenstrual syndrome simply by taking some Tums tablets, according to a new study.

Conducted by researchers at St. Lukes-Roosevelt Hospital Center, the study of 497 women showed that daily 1,200-milligram doses of calcium supplements slashed the symptoms by 54 percent.

The large study backs up several smaller ones that found a link between calcium deficiencies and PMS. The results of the study, sponsored in part by SmithKline Beecham Consumer Healthcare, the maker of Tums, are to be published this week in the American Journal of Obstetrics and Gynecology.

The earlier studies were so small that many scientists were skeptical, said nutritionist Connie M. Weaver of Purdue University, a nationally recognized expert on calcium issues. "This one, they did it right," she said.

PMS symptoms include bloating, pain, irritability, food cravings, apathy, migraines and mood swings. It affects millions of women of childbearing age — as many as 40 percent.

In the study, half the women were given four chewable calcium carbonate tablets a day, for a total of 1,200 milligrams of calcium. The other half received tablets without calcium.

The study showed a drop in symptoms among those who took the calcium supplements.

Feminine faces score high with both sexes

Given a choice between a dewy-looking Leonardo DiCaprio type and a rugged Sean Connery sort of guy, women may be naturally attracted to the man with the more feminine face, researchers say.

A group of Scottish psychologists studying sexual behavior reports that women tend to prefer the faces of men with more feminine features because they are perceived as more trustworthy.

The researchers theorize this preference is not just a 1990s concept of beauty but something that is hard-wired into us by evolution: Evolution has seen to it that women choose men who are likely to be more loyal mates and better fathers to their children.

"We speculate that the preference has been around for a long time," said Ian Penton-Voak of the University of St. Andrews in Fife, Scotland. "If you look at the evolutionary record, we've moved from a more robust form to a more gracile form as a species" in overall features.

In separate experiments in Scotland and Japan, researchers created a composite average face for a man and a woman from about 30 digital photos. The faces then were altered at key points, including the eyes, lips, nose and eyebrows, to make them more feminine or more masculine.

Ninety-two volunteers — college students and staff members, ages 18 to 44, including 44 women — were asked to rate the faces according to such factors as warmth, emotionality, honesty, intelligence and dominance.

Both men and women preferred more feminine faces.

The researchers said the results also reflect the natural tendency to favor youth when seeking a mate. The masculine faces tended to look older to the volunteers, even though the photo composites were identical in age.

It expands on earlier work by Lori Roggman of Utah State University and Judith Langlois at the University of Texas, whose 1990 study suggested that a computer combination of average facial features produces the most attractive face. Roggman and Langlois said the new research doesn't necessarily conflict with theirs.

"In the real world, people would find both Leonardo DiCaprio and Sean Connery attractive. You have to use some common sense about this," Langlois said.

Roggman suggested that the latest findings may reflect "simple social pressure at a time in human history when we can afford the luxury of sweet men."

But the researchers involved with the study said similar test results with different cultures in South Africa and the Amazon indicate there is a strong biological basis to the preference for feminized male faces.

Meanwhile, David Perrett, the University of St. Andrews psychologist who led the study, said men with more masculine faces should not despair. He said even rugged film stars can project qualities such as warmth and compassion with a smile.

"What counts in our situation is personality," he said. "And Sean Connery seems to have gotten by with a pretty nice personality."

Grand jury to review Ramsey murder case

BOULDER, Colo. — A grand jury will begin hearing evidence in the JonBenet Ramsey murder case sometime next month, The Denver Post reported Wednesday .

Police have asked District Attorney Alex Hunter to take the case to a grand jury in hopes of gaining an indictment in the 20-month-old case. Grand juries can compel witness testimony and force evidence to be produced, a power that police and prosecutors do not have.

Hunter has said the time and location of the proceedings will be kept secret.

No suspects have been named since the 6-year-old girl was found beaten and strangled in her family's basement Dec. 26, 1996. Her parents, John and Patsy Ramsey, have maintained their innocence, but investigators consider them "under the umbrella of suspicion."

JonBenet's slaying would be the first case to go before the seven women and five men who were seated on the grand jury earlier this year.

WEATHER

HIGH 88

LOW 67

More rain? Maybe, with a 30-percent chance for showers today continuing throughout the evening. Grab your umbrella and be on the safe side.

CONTACT US

■ NEWSROOM 532-6556
■ ADVERTISING 532-6560
■ CLASSIFIEDS 532-6555

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN
KEDZIE 116
KANSAS STATE UNIVERSITY
MANHATTAN, KS 66506

The Kansas State Collegian (USPS 291 020), a student newspaper at Kansas State University, is published by Student Publications Inc., Kedzie 103, Manhattan, Kan. 66506. The Collegian is published weekdays during the school year and twice a week through the summer. Periodical postage is paid at Manhattan, Kan. 66502. POSTMASTER: Send address changes to Kansas State Collegian, circulation desk, Kedzie 103, Manhattan, Kan. 66506-7167.

© KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN, 1997

Student Athletic Ticket Sales

Get Your Combo

Football/Basketball

or Football Season Tickets

Friday and Saturday,

August 28 & 29, 1998

Bramlage Coliseum

THE FOOTBALL BASKETBALL COMBO

Friday, August 28

Combo Football/Basketball Season Ticket Sales ONLY, 8 .am.-6 p.m.—$160

Any student, regardless of class, is eligible to purchase a combo ticket on this day. Students must present a valid KSU ID card. One student may bring in up to four KSU student ID's.

Saturday, August 29
Football Season Tickets—$98
Basketball Season Tickets—$69
Combo Also Available

Priority will be given by student class:
1. Seniors and grad students, 7:30-10 a.m.
2. Juniors, 10 a.m.-noon
3. Sophomores, 1p.m.-3p.m.
4. Freshman, 3 p.m.-5 p.m.

ICAT memberships only $30, and may be purchased either day. You must show your general admission football ticket.

ICAT Benefits:
• Priority seating for football & basketball
• Collectable t-shirt
• Special ICAT discounts

Junior, Sophomore and Freshman student ID's will not be honored until scheduled times on Saturday. All sales will be cash, check (must have Manhattan address, local phone number, and Social Security number on check and no two party checks) or credit card (Visa, Mastercard or the Wildcat Card). Married students may purchase for spouse with proof of marriage or one child with birth certificate. One student may bring in up to four KSU student ID's. All Sales are Final! Availability of tickets is the same as the 1997 season.

To verify your class status, check KATS at www.ksu.edu.

Please call the KSU Athletic Ticket Office at 785-532-7606 with ticket questions.

We are Changing for You!

It's easy to buy a combo or football ticket!
• Students will pay for and pick up tickets and their optional ICAT membership at one place
• There is plenty of free parking at Bramlage Coliseum
• Bramlage Coliseum is air-conditioned

Seven Great Home Football Games

Sept. 5	Indiana State
Sept. 12	Northern Illinois
Sept. 19	Texas
Sept. 26	NE Louisiana
Oct. 17	Oklahoma State
Oct. 24	Iowa State
Nov. 14	Nebraska

Seventeen Home Basketball Games*

17 home games -2 semester break games

15 home games

* basketball ticket price of $69 subject to minimal change upon final 1998-99 schedule approval

Making Cats go Wild

Courtesy of Casey O'Connor

Student loves to hear fans' reaction to his Jumbotron animation on game days

By Nick Bratkovic
Kansas State Collegian

K-State student Casey O'Connor is always nervous before the Jumbotron lights up — and he has reason to be.

The graphics and animation on the screen are created by O'Connor, senior in graphic design.

"The part that I like most is being in the student section when the animations are playing on the Jumbotron," O'Connor said. "It's kind of nice to see the rest of the crowd go nuts and have them not know that it is the guy next to them that designed it."

O'Connor judges his work through the crowd responses.

"I am always nervous about whether or not the crowd is going to like the animations or not," O'Connor said.

Intercollegiate Athletic Agency Director Ben Boyle said O'Connor became involved with the Jumbotron theatrics around the middle of the 1997 football season.

"We met with Casey last year and liked the stuff he had done," Boyle said. "We have been working with him ever since."

O'Connor was introduced to animation as part of a class he took as a freshman at K-State. Since then O'Connor has been studying on his own because K-State doesn't offer an animation major.

He said he has spent the last three years reading and learning the different programs. He works with two different computers and four different programs, sculpting in the three-dimensional realm and shaping the graphics that appear on the Jumbotron.

He said he also is producing the opening for Coach Bill Snyder's television show.

O'Connor has recently started his own business, Studio 22. He said operating his own business can be difficult, but still he prefers working alone.

"The quality is better that way," he said. "I want the work done right and by doing it myself, I can make sure that it's done right."

Boyle said he had received a lot of positive feedback on the animation, and he he said he feels it adds to the game.

"We want to give the fans not only a great game, but also a great show. The band and the Jumbotron are a part of that," Boyle said.

This year more graphics will be used in-between plays, Boyle said.

"I don't want to give away too many surprises, but we have a lot more planned," he said.

He wants to get the fans a little more excited during the games, he said.

One fan agreed, and said he felt the Jumbotron animations were a nice feature.

"It's cool to have, but the commercials kind of got old," said Brendan Hogan, junior in marketing.

Local Oprah house scheduled for completion, dedication in October

By Nancy Grathmohl
Kansas State Collegian

Pi Beta Phi's Habitat for Humanity project earned them a new name—Oprah's Pi Phi Angels.

Two members of the Pi Phis, Lindsey De La Torre, junior in kinesiology, and Aimee Jackson, fifth-year senior in interior design, said they are big Oprah Winfrey fans.

When Winfrey launched her Angel Network, its goal was to build a house in every viewing area across the country.

De La Torre and Jackson knew they wanted to help.

"We were inspired by what Oprah had to say," Jackson said. "She was encouraging her viewers to extend themselves out and make a difference in someone else's life."

The sorority contacted Winfrey to tell her they wanted to build the house in the KSNT viewing area. In three months, the sorority raised more than $32,000 for construction on the house at 504 South Manhattan Ave., De La Torre said.

The ground-breaking ceremony for the house was June 6.

"We were inspired by what Oprah had to say."

It only will take about four months for the house to be completed. After the landscaping and some interior painting, the house will be ready for dedication on Oct. 3.

A single mother, her father and her three children will be living in the house when it is completed. For members of the sorority, helping a single mother was satisfying.

"I thought it was the most rewarding thing I have ever done," Jackson said. "Since we are a women's organization, helping a single mother was especially rewarding."

The sorority worked with members of Manhattan Habitat for Humanity to get its goal accomplished.

Manhattan Habitat for Humanity is responsible for building the house, coordinating the construction and selecting the homeowner. They usually also are in charge of raising the money to get the job completed. However, the Pi Phis did that for them.

"The Pi Phis put their mind to it and raised the money to build the house. They allowed this family to get a home they have been dreaming of," said Shelley Norris, executive director of Manhattan Habitat for Humanity.

On April 7 at a dinner with Winfrey, De La Torre was presented an award for the sorority house. The next day both De La Torre and Jackson were audience members at a Winfrey taping.

Winfrey also showed pictures of De La Torre accepting the award, the Pi Phi sorority house and the ground-breaking ceremony on her show this summer.

The Pi Phi Oprah House is the fifth Habitat for Humanity house built in Manhattan.

attention students of
K-STATE

Purchase your copy of the 1999 Royal Purple
for the low price of $24.95 and get your portrait picture taken at Bramlage.
When: Aug. 28-29
Where: Bramlage Coliseum

Tonight
Rustys LAST CHANCE SALOON
Welcome Back Week Celebration Continues...

3 FREE LIVE BANDS!
Sufferbus 7-11 p.m.
Back Patio
with special guest T.B.A.
Soul Preachers
11-close Front Bar
$1.50 Rolling Rocks
$2 Gold Rush Shots
$2 Captain Morgan
Enjoy LIVE Music
No Cover No Cover

OUR VIEW

Murphy situation handled with class

K-Staters everywhere are proud of what Coach Bill Snyder has done for our football program, taking it from the basement of college football to a program of national prominence, but there is much more to him.

We can be proud of Snyder because of his integrity.

Snyder instills character and discipline in his players. Granted, incidents that can compromise that integrity might arise, but when they do, Snyder handles them with finesse.

Snyder decided to report possible infractions to the NCAA this summer when questions surfaced concerning junior-college transfer Frank Murphy.

This was a gamble for the athletic department, Snyder and the entire football program. Murphy, who broke the K-State record for the 40-yard-dash this week, has been suspended for four games. That's a substantial chunk of the season, considering some believe it will end with a national championship.

The possible cost of losing Murphy for those four games is small when compared with penalties that could have been levied by the NCAA had the infractions not been self-reported. Scholarships could have been yanked. As our football program improves, recruiting becomes easier for Snyder and his staff. Losing any scholarships would begin to crumble what he has built thus far.

Surely, the story of Texas Tech University helped make Snyder's decision to step forward a little easier. Things left unsaid or unreported can snowball until a program buries itself. Tech was forced to forfeit every victory in sports when ineligible athletes participated. Playing to win is hard when those wins don't mean anything.

The national recognition so many K-State fans have longed for brings increased scrutiny. Everyone's heard jokes about the criminal activities of some Nebraska football team members, and at the professional level, the Dallas Cowboys have had their share of trouble.

Buying a car from an athletic booster doesn't make Frank Murphy a criminal in the eyes of the law, but it is against the NCAA's rules. Snyder realized this, and he decided to own up.

Snyder and the athletic department made the right decision.

OUR VIEW, an editorial selected and debated by the editorial board, is written after a majority opinion is formed. The editorial board consists of Collegian editors and other staff members. OUR VIEW is the Collegian's official opinion.

EDITORIAL BOARD

EDITOR IN CHIEF
JILL JARSULIC

MANAGING EDITOR/ PRESENTATION
TODD STEWART

NEWS EDITOR
TRAVIS D. LENKNER

PHOTO EDITOR
STEVE HEBERT

CAMPUS EDITOR
KELLEE MILLER

CITY/GOVERNMENT EDITOR
MATT KREPS

SPORTS EDITOR
JEREMY KELLEY

ARTS & ENTERTAINMENT EDITOR
DIANA LEE

OPINION EDITOR
JON KURCHE

COPY CHIEF
JANET COOK

eCOLLEGIAN EDITOR
R.J. DIEPENBROCK

SPECIAL PROJECTS EDITOR
ANGELA KISTNER

READERS WRITE

WE WANT TO HEAR WHAT YOU HAVE TO SAY.

Send your letters to the editor to letters@spub.ksu.edu.

TOMORROW YOUR LETTER COULD BE HERE.

K-STATE'S UNWRITTEN RULES

Campus, city not like anything you have seen before

VIEWPOINT

BEN WELLS

Hi. Welcome back. Good to see you. (Yes, I'm still here; long story, I'm sorry for misleading you in May.)

That may sound facetious. It's tempting to curse all newcomers while trying to maneuver through this locust-like influx of students. But I'm a firm believer that the differences make us stronger, and new blood's a good thing, even if it does clog up the traffic arteries of Manhattan (which picked a really smart time to reconstruct Anderson Avenue, the jugular of the city).

And I know you newcomers have no lack of ill will toward something or other here at the university. Maybe it's the ever-helpful financial aid system, which seems to have eaten your student loan, or will give you an "emergency" student loan on Monday (after applying for it on Thursday). This financial triage makes you skeptical of the "emergency" designation; waiting over a weekend doesn't give you the mental impression of sirens and strobe lights while you collect pennies to buy Kool-Aid and struggle to feed yourself until Monday comes.

Or maybe the computers went down. News flash: the computers are only up until they are down. If you get a cursor, dialogue box or smiling Mac, drop to your hands and knees and bless the cybergods, then waste no time and use the computer before it shuffles off its digital coil. Every computer system here will crash at least once in the near future. That's just the law of averages, with our gentle August heat taken into account.

If you're from cities larger than Manhattan, I'd like to take time to acquaint you with an option on some vehicles: blinkers. The drivers of this city are not telepathic. It's generally incumbent upon drivers to make some indication of where they are going before bolting into that lane. Signal before you completely cross the line, please. Call it a personal favor.

If you're from cities smaller than Manhattan, when the light turns green, that's as green as it's gonna get. Go. Accelerate. If a pedestrian is off campus, crossing the street with no crosswalk in sight, don't feel obliged to run them over. That's rude in some contexts. Do feel free to give the pedestrian a little scare, though. Not all drivers will be as courteous. I've got a steel-and-evil tank, not one of those plastic-and-hamster-wheel cars, and I can turn unwary walkers to chunky salsa without missing a beat.

Obviously, you pedestrians should be aware people like me (and cars like mine) exist. Theoretically, you have the right-of-way on campus. That is no comfort when you're in traction. Fear cars, all cars, and when you cross the street, move, don't crawl. Sometimes we'll even let you cross.

Are you frightened yet? Don't be. You have an unlikely ally here: the people of K-State.

If you've gone through financial aid, you've probably found the system perplexing and annoying but the people always charming and willing to help. Ditto with the graduate school: while negotiating with other colleges, the personnel were always nothing less than polite, often extremely reassuring. Ask personnel at the library for help and watch them rush to help. Or wait until the new-student rush dies down and stare in disbelief as a car stops and its driver waves to let you cross the street.

The circumstances of this university are overwhelming. The people ease the pain.

The squirrels, however, are another, darker story. . . .

Ken is a graduate student in English. You can send him e-mail at sigma7@ksu.edu

Inner ugliness apparent in some, others cautioned

VIEWPOINT

SACKETT

I spent the better part of my summer as an intern in the codes department for the city of Fort Scott, Kan. I found myself thrust into an element of local government that deals primarily with people who have violated one, or in most cases, several, city ordinances. One of the primary purposes of this department is to ensure the public's general well-being and decency by citing people for such nuisances as inoperable vehicles parked in yards, high weeds, trash, litter, junk, et cetera.

During the course of each day, I would drive past houses that were reported to be in violation of some ordinance. After confirming the problem, I then aided in the process of mailing certified letters informing the individuals that the nuisance needed to be abated. Within a period of ten days, if the violation was not corrected, our department issued a citation requiring the violators to appear before the judge in municipal court.

Many people we took to court would be considered lower class. In addition, they lived in poverty. I speak not of a financial poverty, although the two often are linked, but entirely of a mental, spiritual and emotional lack thereof. I observed that there exists an absence of motivation and a lack of desire to compel themselves into an active state whereby they become productive members of society. The violations I assisted in citing were related directly, I am convinced, to the individual's lack of purpose and unwillingness to make moral and wholesome decisions.

Beginning from the innermost chambers of the heart, they lack a completeness, almost as if there was a void. The intelligentsia sometimes tend to view such individuals as being without much hope for recovery from their state-of-being.

But I firmly believe that many of our socially ignorant and depraved exist because they have vitiated themselves. Therefore, in the opposite practice, they are able to reverse the process. These people tend to be recalcitrant to decency and cleanliness. It is this inner agitation that eventually manifests itself in the shabby conditions of property. Thus, we see the result of the inner decisions.

Chances are high that if you are reading this article, you are not one of those I have described. My purpose for writing, however, was not to impart understanding to you about some group of people who are different.

I issue a warning to you, the people who are apt to think and understand. You are not far from those who outwardly are in need of help. You are always a few decisions away from inwardly developing the ugliness these people fail to hide. It is your predicament that is all the more dangerous, because you would be bright enough to go through college, a career and eventually death fooling everyone around you. No one then would ever be able to see clearly the inner poverty in which you lived. It would be fenced up and hidden from outside exposure — known only to you.

The virulent inner life you can choose to live in secret would be more desolate than the one who outwardly lives in filth and misery. At least with the latter, we know there is a problem.

I offer two suggestions to ensure yourself from becoming poverty-stricken in the deepest sense.

The first is admirable and accomplishes much in the sense of human interaction and socialization. This solution is to act like you genuinely care about people until you do genuinely care about people in your heart. Do in kindness what you would want done to you. From this comes the betterment of your inner self, which leads to the betterment of those around you.

The second suggestion accomplishes what the first does but adds to it a fulfillment and purpose. Entirely, it is Jesus Christ.

Sam Sackett is a junior in public relations. You can e-mail him at sjs8645@ksu.edu.

Option can help GPAs

Pass/fail makes some difficult electives more appealing

By DESIREE LAMBERSON
Kansas State Collegian

As students return to Manhattan, many are eager for a fresh start for the fall semester. Although students can't predict how the semester will turn out, there is an option for those who are worried about their grades.

Undergraduates, except those on academic warning or first-semester freshmen, may opt to take a class with the A/Pass/Fail option. Under this policy, students earning a grade of B, C or D will receive a P, or passing grade. Students earning an A or F will receive that grade on their transcript.

Provost James Coffman said each instructor determines what is passing or failing.

"Some believe in a set of learning objectives, and if you fulfill them, then you deserve to pass," Coffman said.

No more than one-sixteenth of a student's total required hours for graduation may be taken as A/Pass/Fail

Each department or division specifies which classes may be taken under the A/Pass/Fail policy. However, a student must use the option solely for free electives, not for any required class in their program of study.

Also, no more than one-sixteenth of a student's total required hours for graduation may be taken as A/Pass/Fail.

Coffman said that if a student is interested in taking a class under the A/Pass/Fail policy, he or she should first ask the instructor. The option is available until the fourth week of classes.

Tom Grimes, associate professor in the A.Q. Miller School of Journalism and Mass Communications, said he agreed with the policy and had used it as an undergraduate."

"I took advantage of it myself as an undergraduate," he said. "It gave me the courage to take harder classes that I normally wouldn't have taken."

Speaking as an adviser, Grimes said that students should take advantage of the A/Pass/Fail option.

"It's an excellent option for students who want to take risky courses that they know they could at least pass, without worrying about a letter grade," he said.

Post office says moving mailboxes to curbside will increase efficiency

By TIM RICHARDSON
Kansas State Collegian

Through rain, sleet and snow, mail carriers would rather drive than deliver on foot.

The Manhattan post office is asking residents to relocate their mailboxes to the curb in an effort to become more efficient. Curbside mailboxes mean quicker delivery times and save the post office money.

"It's more efficient mail delivery," Postmaster Marvin Roth said. "It takes less time than walking up to the house."

The post office has asked residents for nearly a decade to move mailboxes located near the house to the curb. Saving money allows the post office to keep postage prices low.

"If we don't have to spend so much, we don't have to charge so much," Roth said.

New residential areas in the Manhattan area are required to have curbside mailboxes — the option is voluntary for existing homes.

The post office has notified some customers that a change in location is requested.

"They would receive a letter first indicating a need to talk about the location of their mailbox," Roth said.

If the post office receives no response, it might decide to hold a customer's mail until the individual schedules a time to speak about the situation. Roth said this practice is used in about one percent of cases.

He said he rarely receives complaints from customers.

"Most of the people understand, once I have the opportunity to talk to people about it," Roth said. "I've had some complaints, but it's been very minimal."

The Junction City post office has been paying for mailboxes and installing them for free in order to encourage customers to comply with the new locations.

"We're getting a favorable response from the people we target to put up curbside mailboxes," said Harry Gifford, supervisor of customer services at the Junction City post office.

Gifford said complaints have been limited to one letter to the editor in the Junction City Daily-Union.

In addition to cutting costs, safety is a primary reason in the push to use curbside mailboxes. Gifford said potential dangers such as dogs or tripping over a hose can create hazards.

"It's like running an obstacle course," he said. "I'm not sure how many miles people walk, but over the years, it wears on your body."

The Junction City post office bought 77 curbside mailboxes about a month ago to set up at customers' homes and received a positive response. The post office ran out of the mailboxes.

Roth estimates that about one-third of Manhattan's postal routes are walking routes. He is not trying to do away with walking routes completely.

Houses near campus often create difficulties for mail carriers who drive, because Students often park in front of the mailbox, Roth said.

The Manhattan post office has considered purchasing mailboxes for customers, but it probably will not do so.

"We have so much of the town already converted that that probably won't happen," Roth said.

Gifford said enforcing a rule that everyone must install curbside mailboxes is not likely.

"There are a lot of reasons why we wouldn't," he said. "It would have to be a national thing. I don't think it would ever become required."

Unnecessary trips to emergency room costly to both patient, care provider

■ Primary care provider could handle some cases

By GABE ECKERT
Kansas State Collegian

A trip to the emergency room, in addition to offering treatment, also can be a source of frustration and high costs, local medical officials say.

"Ten to 15 percent of emergency-room care costs could be resolved through a primary-care provider," said Larry Couchman, director of Emergency Services and Riley County EMS for Mercy Health Center.

Officials say these trips to the emergency room cost both the patient and the hospital.

"The cost to the hospital in situations like that is our staff is inappropriately used," said Julie Lea, Mercy's director of community relations. "Ultimately, it drives up the cost of health care because we must provide staff, time and resources."

The base cost of emergency room care is approximately $75 and is two to three times more expensive than care provided at a scheduled appointment, Couchman said.

The base cost of emergency room care is approximately $75, and is two times more expensive than care provided at a scheduled appointment.

To avoid unnecessary trips, he suggests that students first learn what services are provided by Lafene Health Center. By seeking relevant treatment at Lafene, students can save both time and money.

He also recommends securing a primary-care physician who can provide non-emergency medical services.

Students also should become familiar with the emergency medical services provided by Mercy Health Center.

Familiarity with health-care services and providers in Manhattan will help students make informed decisions on where and when they seek health care.

"A good first step is to contact your primary-health provider and ask him questions," Couchman said. "Determining if emergency medical care is needed can sometimes be difficult. That's why it is important to have a working relationship with a primary-care physician."

However, Couchman said, some medical needs still warrant a trip to the emergency room.

"If the symptoms are severe, emergency medical treatment should be sought first," he said.

Our Insurance Agent is REALLY Nervous!

Why? Well, if the Cats finish the football season undefeated and win their bowl game, we will give EVERY SINGLE CUSTOMER their money back for every computer system they purchase from us through September 10th. That could cost him a lot of money!

Stop by to register for a chance to win a 19" ADI monitor and three $100 gift certificates. No purchase necessary to win!

Good Luck Wildcats
WE KNOW YOU CAN DO IT!

Transcend Technologies
Located at 1108 Laramie
Just East of Goldfield's Pizza in Aggieville
Stop by or call us at 539-8538

Mercy Health Center ■ Beginning Sept. 1
Exercise Classes

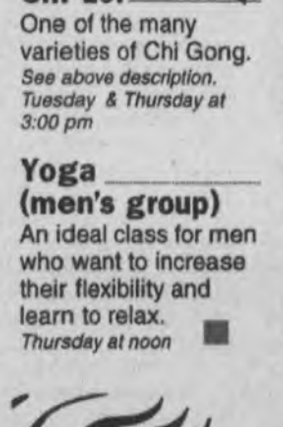
Gentle Exercise
Slow, gentle stretching and range of motion exercises to help participants stay active and independent. Ideal for people with balance problems, or for those who have difficulty walking.
Monday, Wednesday & Friday at 11:00 am

Sit & Be Fit
Cardiovascular aerobic movements all done in a seated position. Lessen the impact on your joints as you condition your cardiovascular system. Resistance training and stretching conclude this energetic class.
Monday, Wednesday & Friday at 10:00 am

Cardio Express
A 45-minute class of just cardiovascular conditioning. Low-impact and step aerobics are mixed to give you maximum calorie-burning activity. A short workout with BIG results!
Tuesday & Thursday, 7:30 pm

Aerobics & Step Aerobics
A combination of low-impact aerobics and step aerobics. Learn the basics of aerobics, as our instructors teach modifications for beginners, as well as advanced exercisers.
Monday, Wednesday & Friday at 4:30 pm, Tuesday & Thursday at 9:00 am & 4:00 pm, Wednesday at 5:30 pm, Saturday at 9:30 am

Seniorcise
Low-impact aerobics performed to music will condition your heart, followed by resistance training to strengthen. Geared toward "seniors" but all ages are welcome.
Monday, Wednesday & Friday at 9:00 am



Body Sculpting
Tone and strengthen your muscles using weights, bands, tubing, and balls. This class is an excellent addition to Aerobics & Step.
Monday, Wednesday & Friday at 4:00 pm, Tuesday & Thursday at 5:00 pm

Strengthen & Stretch
Strengthen and stretch your muscles using weights, bands and rubber tubing. Most exercises are done sitting down.
Monday & Wednesday at 2:00 pm, Tuesday & Thursday at 10:00 am

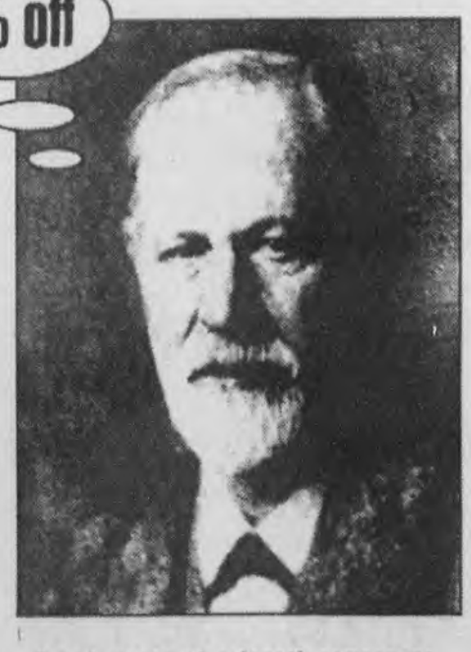
Chi Gong
An ancient Chinese health practice that consists of combining soft, gentle movements with slow, deep breathing. This class is for all ages, and a great stress reliever. The simple movements are an effective method of preventive as well as restorative healthcare.
Tuesday at 11:15 am

Chi Lel
One of the many varieties of Chi Gong.
See above description. Tuesday & Thursday at 3:00 pm

Yoga (men's group)
An ideal class for men who want to increase their flexibility and learn to relax.
Thursday at noon

Yoga
Yoga is a great exercise to strengthen your muscles, improve your flexibility, and relieve stress. Learn yoga postures, as well as meditation, deep breathing, and relaxation.
Monday at 3:00 pm, Tuesday at 5:30 pm, Thursday at 11:00 am & 5:30 pm

Moms in Motion
This class is for pregnant and postpartum women and consists of low-impact aerobics, resistance training, and stretching - all geared toward the pregnant woman's changing body. A physician's referral is required.
Tuesday & Thursday at 6:30 pm



Boxing Aerobics
An energetic upper and lower body workout that combines boxing movements with aerobics. Jab, punch, and kick your way to fitness!
Monday at 5:30 pm, Wednesday at 6:30 pm

MERCY HEALTH CENTER OF MANHATTAN

Mercy Health Center offers a variety of exercise classes for all ages and fitness levels. Meet our friendly, knowledgeable instructors who can help you safely meet your fitness goals. For more information or to register for classes call Mercy Health Center Wellness Department at 776-2837.

MAURICES

15% off

Freud wrote of a fourth component of the psyche in student minds which could only be gratified by saving at Maurices.

15% OFF WITH COLLEGE STUDENT ID CARD.
Manhattan Town

Not valid in conjunction with other coupons or total store discounts. Select brands excluded from this offer. Offer valid now through October 10, 1998. Must present college ID.

Passing of idol saddens senior sportswriter

Every Little League player pretends to be Ken Griffey Jr.

Eight-year-old entrepreneurs operating lemonade stands look up to Bill Gates.

Young student leaders imagine themselves sitting in the Oval Office.

I, one semester from graduating with a degree in print journalism, want to be a sportswriter. And with another 60 years of growth, learning and experience, I dream someday I can be a measurable fraction of Jim Murray.

Murray isn't too well-known in this part of the country. But among sports media and the literate population of Los Angeles, Murray is the greatest columnist in the history of writing. And since Aug. 16, he's been sitting in front of the great typewriter in the sky after suffering a heart attack.

I grew up in southern California and have read his columns for the past 15 years. I've always dreamed of meeting him, but I never got the chance. I would like to write a tribute to him but since I never met him, the best I can do is try (and fail) to write in the style of one of his final great columns.

It was called "Nobody asked me, but ..." and it was a collection of random thoughts about sports and reality.

So, nobody asked me, but ...

First Harry Caray, then Jack Brickhouse, now Jim Murray. I'm glad I haven't achieved greatness yet.

If I was building a franchise around one player in the history of the NBA, it would be Magic Johnson.

I'm 6-foot-2, 235 pounds. I could still walk on to the K-State football team as a linebacker. I don't like to run, though. And I wouldn't want to hit against Jeff Kelly every day in practice.

I wonder what gas station former Nebraska running back Lawrence Phillips will be working at on Nov. 14.

Would you rather be Michael Bishop or Bill Snyder? I'd probably have to choose Bishop. Snyder's office has a great view of KSU Stadium, but probably he never will get the chance to make a run at the Heisman Trophy.

I'd pay $100 to watch a pay-per-view one-on-one basketball game between Kobe Bryant and Michael Jordan. I could make the money back by placing a bet on Bryant in Las Vegas.

Speaking of Jordan, I wish the NBA lockout would end so Jordan would shut up, retire and go away.

Which is better for its level: the Chiefs' defense in the NFL, or the Cats' defense in the NCAA?

If K-State running back Frank Murphy is half as good on the field as he is on NCAA Football '99 for Sony PlayStation, I'll be happy.

If expansion pitching is the reason for all the home runs this year, why isn't Tony Gwynn hitting .400?

I'd like to see K-State fullback Brian Goolsby play baseball, run the bases and try to take out the catcher.

I also wouldn't mind seeing left tackle Ryan Young play catcher and block the plate. I guarantee Pete Rose wouldn't barrel around third and lower his shoulder like he did against Ray Fosse in the 1970 All-Star Game.

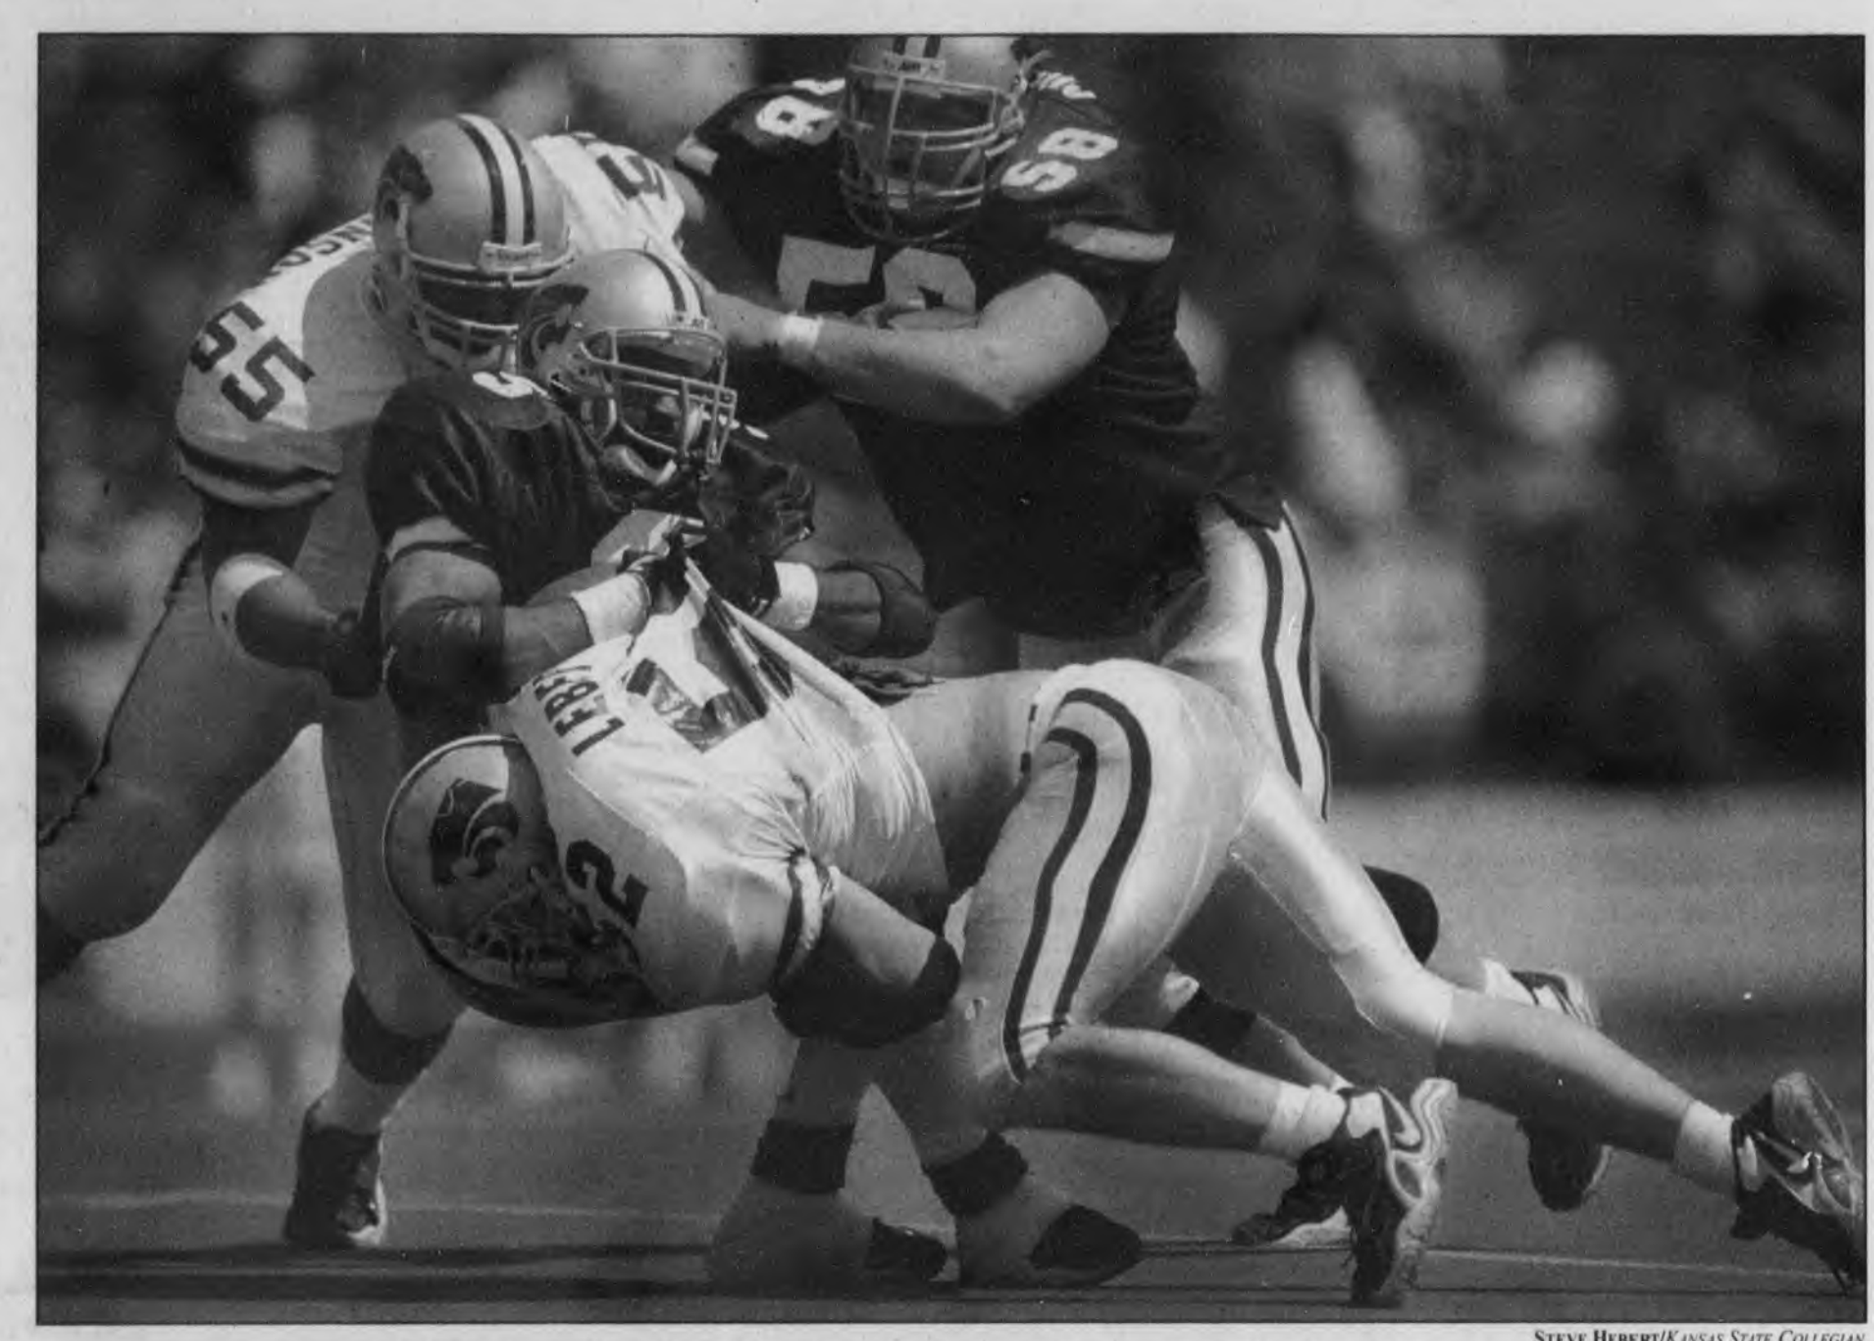
Rose, by the way, belongs in the Hall of Fame.

I'm not the least bit surprised that "baseball commissioner" Bud Selig made his fortune selling used cars.

Why doesn't anybody trust the college football coaches' poll as much as the sportswriters' poll? Coaches know football. Sportswriters know how to get quotes.

I don't think playing football games against Texas, Colorado, Oklahoma State, Missouri and Nebraska makes your schedule any easier.

With K-State's recent football success, it sometimes gets tough to remember the lean years here. But to help you realize what you have to be thankful for, I'll remind you that the Cats once lost three games in a single season.



I think the new season-ticket system for K-State football is absolutely horrible.

Everybody likes to knock the Cats' football schedule but nobody seems too bothered that Florida is opening the season against The Citadel.

I think next year during spring ball, Snyder should test his players' speed with a radar gun instead of a stopwatch.

K-State's playbook against Indiana State will be more vanilla than the one we used on my seventh-grade team.

I'm happy to be graduating Dec. 12, but oh, how I wish I could be a freshman again.

STEVE HEBERT/KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Center Randall Cummins (58) is set to be part of K-State's offensive line for the 1998-99 season. The offensive line is one of the few areas where K-State is looking to replace starters.

the BIG UNIT

K-State looking to fill gaps in its offensive line

Last year, the excitement leading up to K-State's season-opening football game at Northern Illinois surrounded the race for the starting quarterback job.

Who would it be — Michael Bishop, Jonathan Beasley or Adam Helm?

Again this season, the competition for a vacant position is dominating the first few weeks of practice.

This competition, though, isn't nearly as exciting. Many K-State fans have probably never heard of the combatants, the winner will probably never touch the ball, and he will be even less likely ever to score.

However, the man who gets the nod at left tackle will have done so after winning a fierce battle and will be responsible for protecting Bishop's blind side.

"I'll be honest with you, it's a competition, and we're not sure who's gonna play there. It's just a fight every day," right guard Jeremy Martin said. "It's tough when you don't have five like last year, when we had five guys who knew where they were gonna play, and we went out there and we just got things done."

Two freshmen, Thomas Barnett (6-foot-5, 300 pounds) and John Robertson (6-4, 285) and sophomore Milford Stephenson (6-2, 275) are fighting for the job. But the race is more complex than three horses running straight to the finish line.

Four of the five spots on the line are set — maybe. Ryan Young (6-6, 330) will start at right tackle, and Martin (6-4, 305) will stand next to him at right guard while Randall Cummins (6-3, 285) is set to line up at center. Brien Hanley (6-2, 325) is slated at left guard, but he too is working out at left tackle.

In case Hanley gets the nod, the fight for left guard is on, too. Andy Eby (6-3, 280), David McIntyre (6-2, 305) and Ian Moses (6-3, 290) are trying to prove they are worthy of starting.

Simple enough? To top things off, Robertson also is working to back up at center, as is Stephenson.

"We are continuing the process of looking at a number of players, and that will take place through the end of this week," Coach Bill Snyder said.

While Hanley is the fourth candidate for the left tackle slot, chances are he'll probably stay at guard. Not only is he familiar with the position after starting the Wildcats' last 10 games there last season, but moving starters around isn't something that seems to appeal to the coaching staff.

Young, with prototypical left tackle size, tried to play left tackle during spring ball, but the position change didn't go as easy as it seemed it would on paper.

"He's just better on the right side," Snyder said. "You don't want to lessen yourselves at two positions. We're comfortable with him where he is and his experience there has been very positive, and when he tried to make the transition, it wasn't quite as easy for him."

So, if Snyder leaves Hanley at guard, the only race shifts back to Barnett, Robertson and Stephenson. And who will it be?

That depends on who you ask.

Running back Eric Hickson benefits from the holes created in practice every day. He said he expects Barnett to get the nod, with Hanley at guard, although not solely for physical reasons.

"They get along well," Hickson said of the Barnett-Hanley duo. "They communicate well."

But starting defensive tackle Andrae Rowe, who battles against the offensive line every day and can tell when there's blocking problems, said he hasn't noticed major differences in the various combinations. He's not paying much attention, though.

"When we're out there, we're just getting after the ball," he said.

Martin said he also can tell how things are going. Even though he's on the opposite side of the line, he knows when things break down. He said he hasn't noticed any major differences, and he isn't worried about who gets the call.

"We have three guys who are fighting their butts off right now to try to take that spot, and that's great," he said. "That helps us have some guys who are competitive there — it makes everybody better."

Bishop probably should be the most concerned. After all, poor play by a left tackle will give him more bruises to deal with on Sunday mornings. But he said he's not worried about who will be his first line of on-field bodyguards.

"I'm not really worried about it," he said. "If there's problems, I feel like I'm a player who can make something happen."

Although the competition has been a tough battle, Robertson said that regardless of the outcome, it has been friendly. Snyder always tries to develop team unity, and so far, that cohesiveness has carried over into the competition.

"It's been a tough race. You never really know how things are gonna work out," Robertson said. "You can have one thought in your mind, that something's gonna happen and then the next day the complete opposite happens. You can never really predict. We just help each other out and try to see how things work out."

Of course, he's hoping to play on Sept. 5. If it doesn't happen, though, he doesn't have a preference of backing up at left tackle or center.

"I'm just really interested in playing. Either spot, whichever one would get me on the field quicker. I'll go out there where they need somebody. That's where I'll be," he said. "I'll have to understand that it's not normal for freshmen to start. I've got four years left. I think I'll get my share of playing time."

However, Barnett's a freshman, too. He's hopeful, but he's just concentrating on playing hard and getting better.

"I just tried to get better in the summer and during the spring. I think I've improved some," Barnett said.

"I like to look to my coaches. I've put a lot of faith in the coaches, I believe in what they say and what they tell me. I go out there and just try to do what they say and improve daily."

So, what's the bottom line?

"Basically, what we're trying to do is to take who we determine to be the five best offensive linemen that we have and see that they get on the field," Snyder said.

And that determination, which will likely come by the end of the week, can't seem to come quick enough for the players.

"I'd like to see some sort of decision made, but it's up to the coaches and I respect the decision that's being made," Robertson said. "I think they're feeling a little bit of anxiety, and I think they'd like to be able to make a decision, too."

Cats battle each other, August heat

K-State's first football game isn't until Sept. 5 against Indiana State. But the Wildcats already have battled their first opponent — the blazing heat and humidity.

With triple-digit temperatures, the first two weeks of practice took a tough toll on the Cats.

"The heat got to us this year. I think anybody who was out there will admit to it," offensive guard Jeremy Martin said. "I don't think anybody was quite ready for it. Now we're used to it, we're ready, and we're just gonna keep on plugging away."

However, things could have been worse. The coaching staff took precautionary measures to ensure safe practices.

"We're conscious of the fact that we're gonna have heat-related problems, and our trainers do a wonderful job," K-State coach Bill Snyder said.

The trainers and coaches concentrate on keeping the players hydrated, not only during practices but throughout the day as well. During two-a-days, Snyder had practices relatively early in the morning to avoid the heat, and afternoon practices have started at 5 p.m., also missing the peak temperatures.

Moving practice indoors isn't an option; the practice facility is even warmer because it isn't air conditioned. However, breezes on the practice field have helped keep things cool.

"It hasn't really been that hot," running back Eric Hickson said. "We're just drinking our fluids, trying to keep everyone from cramping up."

Still, Martin disagrees with Hickson.

"Those little guys, they've only got 180 pounds to carry around. We've got 300," Martin said. "I'm losing 15 pounds a day and trying to put it back on. It gets tough."

STORIES BY SAM FELSENFELD

Playboy ranks K-State No. 1

By SAM FELSENFELD
Kansas State Collegian

K-State students make it into Playboy magazine every time there's a "Women of the Big 12 Conference" issue.

And now, K-State's finest are in it again. This time, though, it's not the women with the big chests — it's the men.

The K-State football team is featured in the latest issue as the magazine's preseason No. 1 college football team, the latest in a series of preseason hype surrounding the Wildcats.

"I can appreciate anyone that would feel that we were that good," Coach Bill Snyder said.

However, he said he doesn't think football is necessarily the magazine's specialty.

"It tells me that they haven't studied our situation thoroughly, but we appreciate it," he said.

During the summer, most preseason publications ranked the Cats between No. 2 and No. 9. Playboy was the first to give the Cats top billing. Snyder normally posts those magazines for the team to see. This time, though, he'll keep the issue out of sight.

He won't be taking any home as souvenirs, either.

"No, I don't think I'll go out and buy a copy," he said, laughing. "My wife wouldn't let me do it."

Defensive tackle Andrae Rowe also said he won't go pick up a copy. But his reasons are different.

"I've already got my subscription," he said.

While earning the No. 1 spot in Playboy isn't necessarily as prestigious as the same ranking in the initial Associated Press poll, it is a positive form of national respect and recognition. Unfortunately for the Cats, readers have to be at least 18 years old.

"We will highly recommend that every recruit gets permission from their mothers to go out and buy Playboy magazine," Snyder joked. "We're sending out permission slips."

McGwire, Sosa hit home runs

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

ST. LOUIS — Mark McGwire moved closer to Roger Maris' home run record and stayed two long balls ahead of Chicago's Sammy Sosa Wednesday night, hitting his 54th of the season against the Florida Marlins.

After Sosa hit his 52nd homer Wednesday afternoon, McGwire connected in the eighth inning off Justin Speier with a drive that landed just above the wall used for background beyond center field at Busch Stadium.

He warmed up for the effort with eight homers in 15 batting-practice swings, including one that banged off the scoreboard beyond the left-field wall. He had been 0-for-2, hitting two towering pop-ups and taking a called third strike, before homering on an 0-1 pinch.

McGwire has 30 games to reach Maris' record of 61 homers in 1961. Nineteen of those games are at home, where McGwire has obliterated the stadium record with 28 homers already this season.

The previous mark was 18.

McGwire is also within two homers of matching the NL record for homers, 56 by Hack Wilson in 1930.

Schottenheimer still searching for respect

By DAVE GOLDBERG
The Associated Press

RIVER FALLS, Wis. — Here's why Marty Schottenheimer doesn't get the praise he deserves:

His .644 winning percentage is best among active NFL coaches with at least 100 wins and is seventh best all time. He's made the playoffs in 11 of his 13 seasons and won more regular-season games than Joe Gibbs, Hank Stram, Weeb Ewbank, Bill Parcells, Mike Ditka, John Madden, George Seifert and Vince Lombardi..

One major difference: Those eight have 17 NFL championships among them. Schottenheimer has none.

"What can I argue? I'm 5-11 in the playoffs. That's the bottom line," Schottenheimer said as he stood in front of the Kansas City Chiefs' training camp locker room, holding off autograph seekers who care nothing about his reputation for not winning the big one.

"Maybe I deserve the criticism."

If it weren't for John Elway, the critics probably would be silent. One of Schottenheimer's running lines used to start: "John Elway must have a Marty Schottenheimer doll he sticks pins in ..."

Maybe the voo doo will end this year. The Chiefs, who lost little and added a lot in the off season, are one of the favorites to win the AFC title and advance to the Super Bowl for the first time since Stram's team beat the Vikings behind quarterback Len Dawson 29 years ago.

But he still has to contend with Elway, who almost single-handedly led the Denver Broncos to wins over Schottenheimer's Cleveland Browns in the 1986 and 1987 AFC title games and helped the Broncos knock the Chiefs out again last season.

And he still has to contend with critics who say, "The Chiefs? Marty can't win in the playoffs."

That rap may have been long gone had it not come down to one unfortunate bounce for the Browns in the AFC championship game 11 years ago.

With 1 minute, 47 seconds left in regulation, Elway had moved the Broncos from their two-yard line to the Cleveland 48, where it was third-and-18.

The Broncos lined up in the shotgun, and Steve Watson went in motion. But the ball was snapped a count early and hit Watson as he crossed in front of Elway. It bounced high into the air. Elway leapt, snagged the ball with one hand and found Mark Jackson for a 20-yard completion and a first down.

Denver went on to tie the game, won in overtime and reached the Super Bowl, the first of four for Elway.

"I still can't get that play out of my mind," Schottenheimer said. "The ball could have bounced down, or back, we could have recovered and the drive is over. But those 'could have, would have, should have' things don't cut it."

Ask Chiefs fans about Schottenheimer, and usually they'll say something favorable.

After all, before he became coach in 1989, the Chiefs had been 86-137-1 over 15 years and reached the playoffs only once.

In his nine years as coach of the Chiefs, he's missed the playoffs just once.

But the perception is also that he becomes too conservative when he reaches the playoffs.

If he wins in the regular season by keeping his teams at an even keel, he can't get them up high enough in the playoffs.

And observers suggest that after each playoff loss, he's too quick to change offensive systems and assistant coaches (unless the coach is a Schottenheimer — son Brian joined brother Kurt on Marty's staff this year).

"This isn't the NBA, where you can lose three games and still win a series. One loss and you're out," St. Louis coach Dick Vermeil said. "Marty's just had some bad luck."

Belcher dominated Blue Jays, Royals win 7-2

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

TORONTO — Tim Belcher showed Toronto his own definition of dominance.

Belcher pitched a three-hitter and Dean Palmer hit a three-run homer Wednesday night, lifting the Kansas City Royals to a 7-2 win over the Toronto Blue Jays.

"I didn't have particularly dominating stuff by any means," Belcher said. "A dominant game for me is to get in on some hands and get some weak pop ups and fly balls, mix in a couple punch outs and not walk too many."

A day after Toronto's Roger Clemens struck out 18 against Kansas City, Belcher (12-10) retired the final 17 straight to win for the first time in four starts. He struck out two and walked two in his first complete game this season.

"I was lucky enough to have them hit a couple well-hit balls right at people, and then the six and seventh innings came along and I felt like I was gaining some strength," Belcher said.

The 36-year-old right-hander has pitched at least six innings in 18-straight starts.

Palmer's 30th homer gave the Royals a 4-0 lead in the third inning against Chris Carpenter (9-7). Palmer went 3-for-5 with four RBIs.

"I was thinking he was going to throw me a fastball, but he threw a slider, and he left it up a little bit," Palmer said.

Jermaine Dye opened the inning with a single and scored on Larry Sutton's two-out single. Jose Offerman followed with a single before Palmer homered to right field.

Sutton and Terry Pendleton each went 3-for-5 for the Royals.

Carpenter had his career-best three-game winning streak snapped. The right-hander gave up five earned runs and 11 hits in eight innings.

"I put my team in a hole early, and it was tough to come back," Carpenter said. "I didn't make my pitches in key situations. I put myself in that situation. I went 3-1 on Palmer, who's a good hitter, and hung a slider to him."

The Blue Jays cut it to 4-2 on Shawn Green's RBI sacrifice fly in the third and Darrin Fletcher's sacrifice fly in the fourth.

Jeff Conine's RBI single in the eighth made it 5-2.

The Royals scored two in the ninth on Offerman's RBI grounder and Palmer's RBI single.

Comics
Games
Cards
Arcade
Fun

The GateKeeper
Holding The Key to Tomorrow's Gate
Come see us in Aggieville
1205 Moro
or call us at 539-4539
Manhattan's Comic Book & Game Store

PIZZA SHUTTLE DELIVERS
776-5577
1800 Claflin Road

Pregnancy Testing Center
539-3338
•Free pregnancy testing
•Totally confidential service
•Same day results
•Call for appointment
Located across from campus in Anderson Village
Mon.-Fri. 9 a.m.-5 p.m.

MANPOWER
Accepting applications for area temporary assignments
INDUSTRIAL: Packaging, production, assembly and general labor.
OFFICE: Secretarial, word processing and data entry operators, general clerks.
Manpower offers benefits like paid holidays and vacations, life/health insurance, flexible schedules.
Apply in person
8 a.m. - 4:30 p.m.
555 Poyntz
Suite 245, Colony Square
Serving Manhattan Since 1976

FBI agents investigate antigovernment group behind anthrax threats

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

WICHITA — An antigovernment group whose bogus anthrax scare prompted the evacuation of a state office building in Wichita has sent a second letter to a small Nevada radio station, again extorting money and threatening similar acts if demands are not met, the FBI said Wednesday.

"We don't know it is a hoax until it is over with, and we will work leads from the get-go as aggressively as possible," said Larry McCormick, special agent in charge of the FBI investigation.

FBI officials said they have followed 160 leads so far, with more than 20 FBI agents working on the case as well as local and state law enforcement officials.

A second letter, accompanied by a photocopy of the original note found in the building, was sent to radio personality Art Bell in Tahrump, Nev., McCormick said.

The radio station is known for its coverage of offbeat topics such as extraterrestrials and the supernatural, McCormick said. The letter, identical to that sent to television station KWCH in Wichita, apparently also was mailed the same day of the evacuation.

Officials said security has been stepped up at Wichita area public buildings.

"There are other threats that there will be continued acts similar to the one that took place last Tuesday," McCormick said.

A white powdery substance led to the evacuation of about 200 people from the downtown Finney Office Building on Aug. 18. FBI officials later determined the powder was not the deadly biological agent anthrax, as a note accompanying the substance claimed.

McCormick said Tuesday the FBI lab identified the powder as a common household material found in any home, but declined to publicly identify the material further for evidentiary reasons.

The powdery substance was found in a brown envelope in a stairwell and elevator control panels where it had been spread. An accompanying note claimed that the building had been contaminated with the deadly biological agent.

"This is a deadly situation, that is why we brought agents in from out of town," McCormick said, "and they will stay here until we can bring it to a logical conclusion or the leads dry out."

Both letters were postmarked in Wichita, and were signed Brothers for the Freedom of America and the Christian Identity Movement.

The letters contained antigovernment rhetoric and made three demands, including money. FBI officials refused to disclose the specific demands and said the group was unknown to them.

Both contained a deadline referred to in the letters only as "today," McCormick said, adding the deadline appeared "somewhat fluid." The letters threatened similar chemical or biological threats.

The Finney State Office Building houses offices of the state revenue department, social service departments and other agencies. McCormick said the FBI did not know if a specific agency was being targeted.

FBI officials said they have followed 160 leads so far, with more than 20 FBI agents working on the case as well as local and state law enforcement officials.

The agency again appealed to the public to contact local Crimestoppers hotlines or the FBI office. Crimestoppers is offering its usual reward, however, the FBI would also consider a reward.

"Money is negotiable, we'd love to solve this thing," McCormick said.

Campus phones give greeks access

BY KELLY EVEVSON
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Now, dialing an on-campus number will not necessarily connect to an on-campus location.

Traditionally, sororities and fraternities have had off-campus numbers, but under a new project created by Vice Provost Beth Unger, they have access to on-campus phone numbers. The project was created to allow the greek community access to the K-State ethernet.

During the summer, the Alpha Delta Pi sorority was one of the houses whose off-campus number was changed to an on-campus one.

"It was the cheapest way to Internet access," said Cara Knutson, ADPi assistant executive vice president. "By going through something like America Online, it became very expensive."

Unger said she thought the change, which took two years to complete, was necessary.

"I have felt for quite some time that the off-campus housing needed to be connected to an on-campus network," she said.

"IT WILL BE LIKE BEING AT A K-STATE COMPUTER LAB, BUT AT THE HOUSE."

-CARA KNUTSON
ALPHA DELTA PI ASSISTANT EXECUTIVE VICE PRESIDENT

Unger said there were several obstacles to overcome in the process.

"There were a number of regulatory things to be dealt with on the legal level first, as well as concerns with the technological resources within the house," Unger said.

Fred Damkroger, director of K-State Telecommunications, said a meeting was called during the summer by sorority and fraternity members to discuss the ethernet access.

Throughout the summer, many sorority and fraternity houses became interested in setting up the ethernet program through the on-campus numbers.

"We had a tremendous response from both the sororities and fraternities, as well as the Panhellenic and Interfraternity Councils," Unger said.

This fall there are six experimental situations with the on-campus phone numbers, including Acacia, Pi Kappa Phi, and ADPi.

"Each situation is slightly different, depending on the capability or what kind of (computer) talent each house has," Unger said.

As the program grows within the greek community, further expansion will be necessary, said Unger.

"In the future, we will have to put networks in the houses so that each will have access to all of the computer programs," Unger said.

ADPi's ethernet connection is not yet available in the house, Knutson said, because the room being renovated does not have electricity. But, she said, it will be worth the wait.

"It will be like being at a K-State computer lab, but at the house," Knutson said.

collegian Explore it!
http://collegian.ksu.edu

5¢ Self-serve copying, 8½"x11", single side, white paper
Claflin Books and Copies
1814 Claflin Road 776-3771

JOBS
Starting at $7.00 per hour

PART-TIME
Help needed to take inventory in retail stores. Average 10-12 hours on weekends. Weekday daytime hours are also available. Averaging 25+ hours.
Apply in person
Landon's Room, Ramada Inn
Friday, Aug. 28
at Noon, 1:30 p.m., 3 p.m., and 4:30 p.m.
Interviews start promptly.
Doors will close after 5 minutes.

Fall College Courses
WAMEGO, KANSAS
CONTACT: Ed Brennan, 785-456-6006

Art Appreciation	Creative Writing
Crafts I	World Regional Geography
Drawing I	Nutrition
Soils & Soils Lab	United States History I and II
Crop Science w/Lab	History of Western Civ. I
Crop Production	Spanish I
General Anthropology	Children's Literature
College Biology w/Lab	Beginning Algebra
Human Physiology w/Lab	Plane Trigonometry
Medical Terminology	Calculus w/ Analytic Geometry I
Microbiology w/Lab	Basic Statistics
Intro. to Accounting	Intro. to Philosophy
Keyboarding	Intro. to Ethics
Microcomputer App. I	United States Government
Economics I and II	State & Local Government
Marketing	College Physical Science
Business Communications	General Geology
Managerial Accounting	College Chemistry I w/ Lab
Intro. to Investigation	General College Physics I
Police Patrol Procedure	General Psychology
Criminal Investigations	Human Growth & Development
Fundamentals of English	General Sociology
College English I and II	Marriage and the Family
American Literature I	Public Speaking
Intro. to the Short Story

HIGHLAND COMMUNITY COLLEGE
606 W. Main • Highland, KS 66035-4165
Call coordinator for additional course information

FIND the FACTS
collegian.ksu.edu

RUN to Bramlage Coliseum, don't walk.
August 28-29

Purchase your copy of the 1999 ROYAL PURPLE yearbook for $24.95 and get your portrait picture taken at Bramlage Coliseum.

Order your copy of the 1999 Royal Purple through the Student Publications Business Office located in Kedzie Hall 103, 532-6555.

GET READY!
KSU CAREER FAIR '98
Tuesday, Sept. 22 • Bramlage Coliseum
Use these services to prepare!

GET REGISTERED...JOB SEARCH '98: Looking for a Career, Intern, Summer or Co-op Job? Attend an Orientation for Career & Employment Services. Learn how to register via WWW Resume, gain 24-hour internet access to JobLine, be referred to employers requesting resumes, participate in In-Campus Interviews, receive email notice of special events and jobs and new WWW pages. Register by noon on Thursday, September 17 (or Wednesday, September 16 for KSU-Salina) and your Resume will distributed on disc to all employers attending the KSU Career Fair.

Tuesday	Aug. 25	7 p.m.	Rathbone 173 (Paslay)
Thursday	Aug. 27	5 p.m.	Justin 109
Monday	Aug. 31	7 p.m.	Justin 109
Thursday	Sept. 3	7 p.m.	Seaton 132

Re-registration is required for '97-'98 registrants (your service expires Aug. 31). To re-register visit the reception desk of Holtz Hall; $10.00 fee payment is required for service period Aug. 1, 1998-Aug. 31, 1999.

RESUME BUILDING: Learn how to inventory your experiences, write statements of result, select a format, edit and evaluate.

Tuesday	Sept. 1	2 p.m.	Tullis 112 (Salina)
Wednesday	Sept. 2	3:30 p.m.	Student Union 212
Tuesday	Sept. 8	5 p.m.	Student Union 212
Tuesday	Sept. 15	3:30 p.m.	Student Union 212

WINNING INTERVIEWS. Drop by with your resume for review and helpful advice.

Tuesday	Sept. 1	3 p.m.	Tullis 112 (Salina)
Wednesday	Sept. 9	3:30 p.m.	Student Union 212

HOW TO WORK A CAREER FAIR: Learn how to network with prospective employers for internships, co-op experiences and employment.

Tuesday	Sept. 1	3:30 p.m.	Tullis 112 (Salina)
Wednesday	Sept. 16	3:30 p.m.	Student Union 212
Thursday	Sept. 17	5 p.m.	Willard 114

EMPLOYER PANEL: Hear from recruiters in hospitality, apparel marketing, financial services and human services--what do they look for when evaluating potential employees?

Monday Sept. 21 2:30 p.m. Student Union Little Theater

FOR MORE INFORMATION: www.ksu.edu/ces
ces@ksu.edu
532-1691

KSU Career Fair is sponsored by Agriculture Ambassadors/Ag REPS, College of Agriculture; Dean's Student Advisory Council, College of Architecture, Planning and Design; Arts and Sciences Ambassadors, College of Arts and Sciences; Marketing Club, College of Business Administration; Education Student Ambassadors, College of Human Ecology; Salina Student Government Associations, College of Technology and Aviation; and Career and Employment Services.

Scandia farmer leaves money to K-State

$445,826.66 will go to endowed scholarship fund

By T.L. Meyer
Kansas State Collegian

Thanks to a man who never attended K-State, the KSU Foundation scholarship fund is nearly a half-million dollars richer.

When Charles N. Tuley died Oct. 24, 1997, he left money in his will for three Kansas schools: North Central Kansas Technical College in Beloit, Kan., Cloud County Community College in Concordia, Kan., and K-State, which will receive $445,826.66 from Tuley's estate.

Tuley farmed in the city of Scandia, and the Republic County area all his life, only leaving for a short stint in the Marine Corps during the Korean War.

He never attended K-State.

"I believe he attended KU, but he did not graduate," Douglas Simms, Tuley's lawyer, said.

Tuley donated the money because of his strong support of K-State's agricultural department, Foundation spokeswoman Trish Oakley said.

"He felt farming was the best profession around," she said.

Simms said Tuley felt K-State had a good reputation as an agriculture school, plus many Scandia-area students attend it.

This kind of donation generally is a surprise, Oakley said. Because Tuley was not an alumnus and had never donated money to K-State, the Foundation had no record of his donation or other ties to the school.

The money will be placed in an endowed scholarship fund by the Foundation. The interest earned from the endowment will be used for scholarships.

Fifteen scholarships of $750 a semester are expected to be generated from the interest. These scholarships will become available in 2000 for students in any curriculum, not just agriculture.

College, company profit from course

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

TOPEKA — Dodge City Community College and two meat-processing companies profited handsomely at state expense from specialized training courses the college and state Board of Education sanctioned at the two firms, an audit report showed Wednesday.

The audit, reviewed by the Legislature's Joint Economic Development Committee, prompted sharp questioning by some members, who wondered why the state would subsidize training for private corporations in the first place and why the firms got paid extra to boot — from taxpayer money.

DCCC associate dean Richard Burke oversaw the programs; he taught marketing and management at K-State before moving to Dodge City, Kan., one year ago.

"That's a sweetheart deal, no matter how you figure it," said Rep. John Edmonds, R-Great Bend, an accountant. He said he was disappointed officials of the college didn't provide a specific accounting of what the money went for.

Edmonds said it appeared to him that payments between the college and the companies constituted "irregularities" that raise questions whether "laws have been observed."

By collecting state aid for the companies' employees who took the customized training courses, Dodge City Community College made $1 million in fiscal year 1997, while Excel and National Beef were paid nearly $600,000 by the college under a payback arrangement that was legal but questionable, the audit said.

Under the arrangement, the classes were taught by company employees at the meat-processing plants using the companies' equipment. The companies were supposed to pay tuition for each worker, then charge the college the same amount for use of its equipment and facilities — providing free training for the companies but without making a profit.

In actuality, the audit showed, DCCC received more than $900,000 from Excel and National Beef in tuition payments but paid the companies $1.5 million for instructor fees and rent — a gain of $600,000 for the two firms.

In turn, Dodge City collected $1.6 million in state aid for a net gain of $1 million.

A member of the college's board of trustees, Terry Malone, submitted a letter to the committee in which he used words such as "imposters," "sham" and "funding scheme" to describe the financial arrangement that has existed between DCCC and the two-packing companies since 1995.

"Why was Excel paid a $600,000 bonus?" Sen. Pat Ranson, R-Wichita, chairwoman of the Joint Committee on Economic Development, asked DCCC President Richard Drum. She called it "unbelievable" that what the college charged in tuition and fees to the companies' employees would precisely match what the college in turn paid the firms.

"Why haven't you implemented changes?" Sen. Jim Barone, D-Frontenac, demanded to know. Drum said he expected the DCCC Board of Trustees to make changes in the financial arrangement within 30 days.

Rep. Ethel Peterson, D-Dodge City, who first called attention to the unusual financial arrangement last fall, came to the defense of Drum and Burke, who oversees the customized training courses for Excel and National Beef.

"This situation developed before either of these men was on board," she said. "They've got the task of fixing it.

"In the process of fixing it, we have to be careful we don't throw out the college and we don't throw out these two gentlemen, because we need them."

Drum said the college is eager to cooperate with the state to change the funding mechanism for customized courses, which have been offered by 16 of Kansas' 19 public community colleges.

Burke insisted DCCC has "followed the rules to the letter," and has never been cited in an audit of doing anything wrong under guidelines set by the Board of Education for providing the specialized training courses for business.

Russian financial troubles continue

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

MOSCOW — The Russian government failed to restore confidence in its collapsing banking sector Wednesday, with the ruble sinking even lower and the Central Bank canceling dollar sales after they had been agreed upon.

There were signs the country's financial crisis was escalating. The ruble plunged almost 40 percent against the German mark after the Central Bank voided trading against the dollar on the Moscow Interbank Currency Exchange, and banks reported the government had failed to make some payments on its longer-term debt.

Acting Prime Minister Viktor Chernomyrdin rushed to Ukraine to have an emergency meeting with International Monetary Fund head, Michel Camdessus. He was expected to plead with the IMF not to delay the next installment of a multibillion-dollar loan that Russia has been using to shore up its Central Bank reserves — eroded by the effort to support the ruble.

But while some Russians were angry that they could withdraw bank deposits only in rubles, not dollars, panic had yet to swell in the streets of the capital.

"I've got no confidence left in the government, of course. You can't even buy hard currency now," said a woman identifying herself only as Julia, who waited outside a branch of the troubled SBS-Agro bank.

The financial crisis so far has had little effect on ordinary Russians, who don't own stocks or bonds or mutual funds. The anxiety some are beginning to feel comes largely from fear of inflation, which many expect to rise in the wake of the government's decision to devalue the ruble.

The devaluation, announced 10 days ago, has increased demand for dollars both among banks and the public.

Banks with inadequate hard currency reserves are expected to collapse; the first, the Imperial Bank, went belly up Wednesday. Like many in Russia, the small commercial bank concentrates on money speculation instead of customer deposits.

Anatoly Chubais, a former top Kremlin policy maker, highly regarded in the West, said the government is in a tight spot.

"On the one hand, the banking system should be prevented from complete collapse, but on the other hand, declare the bankrupt banks bankrupt," he said.

Traders and investors expressed dismay with a government debt-repayment plan announced Tuesday, and their disappointment dragged down the stock market even farther — closing at 76.26 points, down 8 percent from Tuesday in feeble trading.

"Many thought the debt-swap conditions were just unacceptable," said Mikhail Koltsov, trader at the Moscow-based investment bank MFK-Renaissance.

Foreign investors already have begun withdrawing from Russia in droves, and the losses they will sustain under the plan to restructure the country's massive debts — in some cases receiving just 17 cents on the dollar, according to analysts — will discourage many from returning any time soon.

In a further worrisome sign, a number of major-Western banks reported the Russian government had also defaulted on payments on long-term government debt not covered under the restructuring plan.

The ruble dropped another 5 percent, ending at 8.26 rubles to the dollar, or 12.1 cents. It plummeted even more — nearly 40 percent — against the German mark as banks went after marks.

The Central Bank, afraid to spend more of its reserves on propping up the currency, instead decided to cancel the dollar transactions — the first time it took such a step since Russia began its free-market reforms in 1992.

The move suggested the government was giving up efforts to stem the fall of the ruble, leading analysts to suggest the government should consider imposing currency controls — in effect, taking the ruble off the open market.

In an interview late Wednesday on Echo Moscow radio, Central Bank spokeswoman Irina Yasina denied that currency controls were in the works, saying the country is not yet ready to switch to a different economic model.

Claflin Books and Copies
New in college and need a dictionary or other reference book? We have a wide selection for you to choose from.
1814 Claflin Road 776-3771

PIZZA SHUTTLE DELIVERS
776-5577
1800 Claflin Road

Did you know?
Manhattan Pawn Shop Has...
•Word Processors •Car Stereos
•Mountain Bikes •Jewelry
•Home Stereos •Video Games
•TV's & VCR's •Firearms
•Guitars •Tools
•CD's •Cameras
317 S. 4th St. • 776-6112 • Mon.-Fri. 9 a.m.-6 p.m. Sat. 9 a.m.-4 p.m.

Hair Experts Design Team

Welcome Back, Students!
776-4455
Aggieville, USA
$5 off any service
Not valid with any other offers or children's haircut.
expires 10/1/98 #23

Don't Get Lost in the Mail!
The K-State Office of Student Financial Assistance wants to remind you to KEEP YOUR ADDRESSES UPDATED WITH THE UNIVERSITY. If your LOCAL, PERMANENT, EMERGENCY and BILLING (optional) addresses are not kept current, you may miss your financial aid refund checks (!!!), your grade reports, important financial aid paperwork, your tuition bill (boooo!), etc. Your LOCAL, PERMANENT and EMERGENCY addresses are maintained by the Registrar's Office in 118 Anderson Hall. Your BILLING address is maintained by the University Cashiers Office in 212 Anderson Hall.
There are a number of ways to update your addresses:
• Write a letter
• Send it in Morse Code
• Drop it by the Registrars or Cashiers Office
• Hire a plane to write it in the sky
• Go on-line with KATS at http://kats.ksu.edu
• Send a singing telegram
Seriously, keeping your addresses current is VERY IMPORTANT! And it is SO EASY now that you can log onto KATS and get it done. Just think, if mail is returned to the University by the Post Office as undeliverable to your LOCAL address, then it will be sent to your PERMANENT address and it may not be something you want your parents to see!!!

Recreational Services Intramurals
Sign Up This Week
Flag Football Soccer, Individual Sports and Punt, Pass & Kick
Intramural Entry Deadline
Thursday, August 27 at 5 p.m.
Recreational Services Office
Captains'/Managers' Meeting
Wednesday, September 2 at 5 p.m.
K-State Union, Forum Hall
Flag Football schedules will be distributed at this meeting only.
All Capatians'/Managers' must attend!
Flag Football Officials' Clinic
August 31- September 2
5 p.m. at Recreation Complex
Mandatory attendance at all three meetings
Soccer Officials' Clinic
September 8-9
5 p.m. at Recreation Complex
Mandatory attendance at both meetings.
Recreational Services Office 532-6980

PUMPS • LOCKS • HELMETS • COMPUTERS • TOOLS
HIT THE TRAIL SALE

• North Face
• Jansport
• Eagle Creek
Backpacks & Daypacks on Sale!
Sale ends Sept. 5
Padded Backs and Shoulder Straps
Waist Belts • Organizer Pockets
All Models Feature Lifetime Warranty
THE NORTH FACE
the PATHFINDER
OUTDOOR EQUIPMENT SPECIALISTS
304 Poyntz, Downtown Manhattan
539-5639
Established in 1975 • Open Until 7 Mon.-Wed. and Thurs. Until 8 p.m.
HIKING BOOTS • WHEELS • TIRES • GLOVES
WATER BOTTLES & CAGES • V BRAKE
BACKPACKS • FANNY PACKS • MOUNTAIN BIKES • U-LOCKS
Come see the Schwinn Bicycle Stunt Show, Sept. 4 at the Purple Power Play on Poyntz!

Attention May 2000 Graduates
How would you like up to $7,000 to help pay for your last two years of school?
Interested?
Call Reid at 532-6600 to find out how.
AIR FORCE ROTC
Leadership Excellence Starts Here

MURPHY

■ continued from page 1

could receive sanctions for the major violation.

In a series of written correspondence with the NCAA, Athletics Director Max Urick argued that the offense was a secondary violation, which is defined by NCAA Bylaw 19.02.2.1 as "one that provides only a limited recruiting or competitive advantage and that is isolated or inadvertent in nature ... "

Urick said in a July 7 letter to the NCAA that the incident met all three criteria and should be classified as secondary. The NCAA disagreed, though, and the university could face consequences of its own.

Snyder is optimistic that the four-game suspension is all that will come from the incident, though.

"I can't speak for the NCAA, but it's my understanding that the projections are that it would not create sanctions for our football program," he said.

The suspension stems from a gift Murphy received while attending GCCC and a 1985 BMW 318i Murphy himself purchased on March 25.

At the beginning of the fall 1997 semester, Garden City, Kan., resident Luke Schwieterman — who was a representative of K-State's athletics interests, as defined by the NCAA for his previous contributions to the university, provided Murphy with $200 to help him with his finances. At the time, Schwieterman and Murphy were acquaintances, and K-State had not begun actively recruiting Murphy.

Schwieterman could not be reached for comment.

The BMW was purchased with money raised by Mel Riemann, who was also a representative of K-State's athletics interests, according to NCAA regulations. Riemann, who refused comment, solicited donations from as many as 10 other individuals who were also considered representatives of K-State's athletics interests.

According to documents released by K-State Sports Information on Wednesday, Murphy needed the car for transportation around Manhattan after his girlfriend had to give her car back to her parents. The two were living together, and he relied on her for transportation. When she had to give the car back, he was stuck.

MURPHY

During K-State's spring break, he took a planned trip to Garden City to visit friends. During that weekend, Riemann and Schwieterman became aware of Murphy's need for a car. Without Murphy's knowledge, Riemann initiated a strategy to raise money to help Murphy buy the car.

According to the released documents, Murphy took the money, not knowing he was violating rules or that boosters had contributed it and purchased the car. He had been told, and believed, that he was allowed to take the money because it wasn't coming from a K-State booster. He also wasn't told the actual source of the money.

K-State athletics administrators learned of the incident on April 3. During the next few weeks, the university spent nearly $18,000 conducting an investigation that totaled more than 50 interviews of 22 people. Investigators took trips to Garden City and a trip to Florida to interview Murphy's parents.

When K-State completed its investigation, it took away all privileges from and disassociated itself with the individuals who contributed the money. Those individuals were notified in letters from Urick of the disassociation and were required to pay a percentage of the $18,000 in investigation expenses, ranging from five to 20 percent, in order to be considered for future reinstatement.

The university then imposed a two-game suspension on Murphy and made him return the BMW to the dealer. Murphy received $3,000 for the car, $300 less than he paid for it even though he spent $600 to put new wheels on it.

K-State required him to donate the $3,000, along with an additional $200, to a charity of his choice. Murphy selected a local church.

"I deeply regret any burden which I have brought to my family, to Kansas State University, to the community of Manhattan, to our football program and its great fans and to my teammates and coaches," Murphy said in the statement. "Therefore, I want to publicly apologize for any embarrassment I may have caused them."

K-State thought the self-imposed penalties would suffice, but the NCAA ruled differently, and the Cats will be without Murphy for two additional games.

"Obviously, it's disappointing. As I said before, I'm angered by it," Snyder said. "And when I say 'it,' it's the incident.

"We had hoped that the NCAA would understand Frank's situation. It was a mistake, it was the wrong thing to do. We're quite confident that when the incident took place that the individual who provided the money for the automobile for Frank is someone that he had known long before he was here at Kansas State, before we were recruiting him."

Although most of the individuals are from the Garden City area, they are not members or even associated with the Finney County Catbackers, Alan Fankhauser, Finney County Catbackers President, said.

"The only ties they have is that they knew Frank when he was out here," Fankhauser said.

WHEAT

■ continued from page 1

Although the Manhattan station focuses on wheat for use in central and eastern Kansas, Martin said his station deals with needs in western Kansas. A variety of wheat that might be good in the west because it didn't "shatter," or lose grains, in the high wind and low humidity might still give a poor yield in the east's low wind and high humidity, he said.

Jim Shroyer, extension specialist in crop production, said that because of more resistant wheats, the average yield has risen from 18 bushels an acre in 1900 to 49 an acre in 1998.

Knowing the characteristics of the strains being crossed has allowed the program to make varieties specific to regions without the concessions previously expected.

The current goal of the program is eventually to replace the hard red winter wheats commonly used throughout the state with the white variety, Shroyer said.

Brought to Kansas in the 1870s by Mennonite groups, Turkey Red wheat was a hardy-winter wheat so effective that it is almost always an "ancestor" in current varieties.

But the white-winter wheats, differing from the red by only three genes, are preferred by the global markets because of the less-bitter taste and more-attractive products, he said.

Looking 10 to 15 years into the future, Shroyer said goals will probably center on using the white wheats to make a better noodle to attract the Pacific rim market.

Such is the nature of the profession, as the breeders, geneticists and other staff work on new varieties to keep up with the times, Shroyer said.

"There's a tremendous number of people involved," he said. "It's not just a one-person show. Still, there's no perfect wheat. Breeders have the best job security in the world."

Bobby T's!!
Thursday
Calling All Musicians, Comedians & Singers to Open Mike Nite 9 p.m. - 1 a.m.
Burgers and Beer
Any 6 oz. Burgers, Fries, Frosty Beer or Coke
4:30 - 10 p.m. only $3.50
Friday
T.G.I.F. Buffet 4:30 - 7 p.m.
ALL U Can Eat $7
Every Friday & Saturday
9 p.m. - 1 a.m.
LIVE ENTERTAINMENT
$1.50 Shot & Drink Specials
Bobby T's • Candlewood Shopping Center • 537-8383

HOME BANKING
YES! You can go on-line with Kansas State Bank and conduct your banking business.
AROUND THE CORNER
Account Transfers • Balance Inquiries
KANSAS STATE BANK
Bill Paying • Loan Payments • Loan Inquiries
AROUND THE WORLD
Downtown Aggieville Westloop
Your Hometown Quality Bank
KANSAS STATE BANK
http://www.kansasstatebank.com
FDIC 785-587-4000

THE PURPLE PIG
EST. 1986
The Purple Pig
Manhattan's Beer Tavern
$1.50 Bottles
539-7444
424 Houston St. - Downtown
OPEN 4 P.M. TILL MIDNIGHT, MON.-SAT.

Rose MUFFLER HOUSE
"Our business is exhausting"
MUFFLERS & TAILPIPES
DUAL SYSTEMS
AUTOS (American & Foreign)
RVs LIGHT & HEAVY DUTY TRUCKS
CUSTOM PIPE BENDING
COMPLETE BRAKE SERVICE FOR AMERICAN, FOREIGN, & LIGHT TRUCKS
SHOCK ABSORBERS & STRUTS
Rose HOUSE OF TINT
GLASS TINTING SERVICES AVAILABLE
FOR YOUR AUTO, HOME OR BUSINESS
DRAW-TITE
TRAILER HITCHES - SALES & INSTALLATION
Mon.-Fri. 7:30 a.m.-5:30 p.m.
2049 Ft. Riley Blvd.
776-8955 or 1-800-439-8956
Take advantage of our courtesy van for rides to school and home while your vehicle is being serviced.
Same Location!
FREE ESTIMATES
DISCOVER VISA MasterCard AMERICAN EXPRESS

JOBS
Starting at $7.00 per hour
PART-TIME
Help needed to take inventory in retail stores. Average 10-12 hours on weekends. Weekday daytime hours are also available. Averaging 25+ hours.
Apply in person
Landon's Room, Ramada Inn
Friday, Aug. 28
at Noon, 1:30 p.m., 3 p.m., and 4:30 p.m.
Interviews start promptly.
Doors will close after 5 minutes.

HAIRY'S
WE TAME THE TOUGH ONES
Life is Hairy Enough.
Break Loose.
Give Us a Call.
539-TAME (8263)
Walk Ins Welcome
Mon.-Sat., Tues. & Thurs. night till 8 p.m.
Full Service Salon 2026 Tuttle Creek Blvd.

TONIGHT

Kansas State Rowing
Informational Meeting for the MEN'S & WOMEN'S TEAMS
Date: August 27th
Where: Little Theatre (Student Union)
When: 6:30 p.m.
Looking for Athletes
NO EXPERIENCE NEEDED
This meeting is mandantory for all interested candidates.

Your Only Chance To
MEET THE PLAYERS
Of The Top 10 Ranked
K-State Wildcats
KMAN 1350 am & K-Rock 101.5 & B-104.7 TODAY'S HOT NEW COUNTRY!
Invites You to Fan Appreciation Day
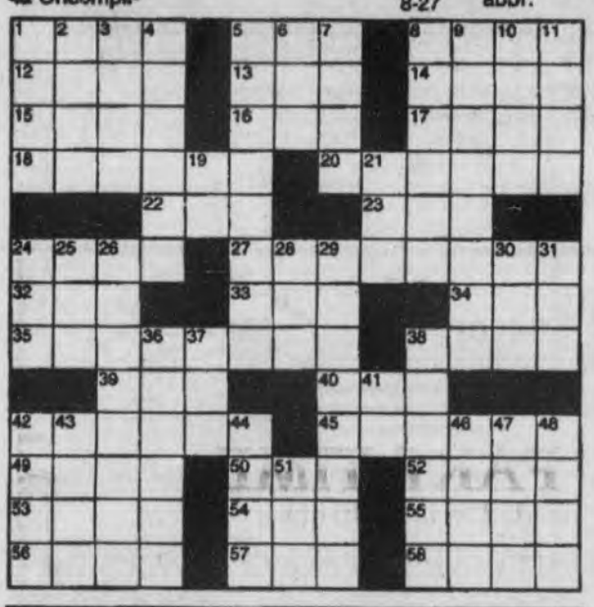
Thursday, August 27
East Side of KSU Stadium
Parking Lot opens at 4:30
Stadium Gates Open at 5:30
so you, the fans can SEE the Wildcats at practice, listen to the Coaches then go down onto the field where you can MEET the Wildcats to get their autographs and pictures.
Free Hot Dogs while they last.

CHEERLEADING TRYOUTS
Clinic-Aug. 27
Tryouts-Aug. 28th
Attendance at clinic is mandatory.
Please bring insurance information.
For Information Please Call:
Steve Kirkland at 532-7983
KSU BIG CATS
The KSU BIG CATS is a student entertainment group developed by the KSU athletic department. Students will wear specially designed uniforms and stilts. These students will help provide an entertaining, fun atmosphere at KSU athletic events.
For Information Please Call: Steve Kirkland at 532-7983 by Aug. 27th

CROSSWORD

CROSSWORD By Eugene Sheffer

ACROSS
1 Approached home plate the hard way
5 Corpulent
8 Court proceedings
12 Memo
13 Prior night
14 Roger Rabbit, for one
15 Laudatory verses
16 It'll get you moving
17 Skip
18 Nun's headcloth
20 Hole in the head?
22 Scull need
23 Carnival setting
24 Treaty
27 Hardly confident
32 Past
33 — generis
34 Fresh
35 Pleasures
38 Between jobs
39 Actress Thurman
40 Singer Sumac
42 Uncompli-cated
45 Zit
49 Place to "gyre and gimble"
50 Blonde shade
52 Ring battle
53 Not "fer"
54 Old French coin
55 Erstwhile Peruvian
56 "Wind in the Willows" character
57 Living room sets?
58 Overlay with plaster



DOWN
1 Skier's need
2 California city
3 Particular
4 Czar
5 Exceeding 98.6 degrees
6 Ms. Gardner
7 Take care of
8 Infinitesimal
9 In two or more parts
10 Drudgery
11 Chip in a chip
19 "A note to follow so"
21 Anger
24 Launch site
25 Candle count
26 "The Gem of the Ocean"
28 Eccentric
29 Rock and roll legend?
30 Cath. or Prot.
31 She sheep
36 Threaten
37 Guy's companion
38 Short-long, short-long, etc.
41 Third before 19 Down
42 Bat a gnat
43 Shakespearean bad guy
44 Bridge position
46 Corn concoction
47 One of Lady Bird's daughters
48 List-ending abbr.
51 Monarch: abbr.

Solution time: 23 mins.

D	A	M	P		B	O	N		A	B	E	L
A	L	A	E		R	U	E		H	O	R	A
B	O	X	S	E	A	T	S		E	X	I	T
S	U	I	T	S			S	L	A	K	E	S
			L	E	F	T		I	D	I
T	U	B	E		R	A	J	A		T	W	O
I	S	O		B	O	X	E	R		E	A	R
M	A	X		A	G	E	S		U	S	S	R
		S	P	Y		S	T	O	P
A	C	C	U	S	E			W	R	I	S	T
L	O	O	N		B	O	X	L	U	N	C	H
D	I	R	T		B	L	Y		S	T	A	R
O	N	E	S		S	E	Z		H	O	B	O

Yesterday's answer

8-27

STUMPED? For answers to today's crossword, call 1-900-454-6873 | 99¢ per minute, touch-tone / rotary phones. (18+ only.) A King Features service, NYC.

8-27 CRYPTOQUIP

AYPX ZYP YTJ EDOSPO'G TUL GTA ODX TEE, FTI SVJYZ GDF YP ADG LVGJOIXZUPL.

Yesterday's Cryptoquip: I'D GENERALLY DESCRIBE MAGNET SALESMEN AS BEING VERY ATTRACTIVE.

Today's Cryptoquip clue: J equals G

CRYPTOQUIP BOOK 2! Send $4.50 (check/m.o.) to CryptoClassics Book 2, PO Box 6411, Riverton NJ 08077.

The Cryptoquip is a substitution cipher in which one letter stands for another. If you think that X equals O, it will equal O throughout the puzzle. Single letters, short words and words using an apostrophe give you clues to locating vowels. Solution is by trial and error.

© 1998 by King Features Syndicate, Inc.

HAPPINESS TODAY

BRAD GOOD AND TAYLOR LANGDOWN

Brad and Tyler's four steps to getting rich quick.

1. Marry a billionaire.
2. Ask for 4.2 million dollars for groceries.
3. Go to store, purchase only milk, destroy receipt.
4. Deposit change in bank account repeat till rich.

Traveling for inspiration

TERESA SCHMIDT'S ART EXHIBIT, "SOLO EXHIBIT: 1998 WORKS ON PAPER," WILL BE ON DISPLAY IN THE UNION ART GALLERY UNTIL SEPT. 4. SCHMIDT IS AN ASSISTANT PROFESSOR OF ART AT K-STATE.

STEVE HEBERT/KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Art professor uses travel as opportunity to fully develop ideas

BY AMY MILLER
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Teresa Schmidt, assistant professor of art, said her exhibit at the K-State Student Union Art Gallery is mostly the result of a retreat last winter that gave her the opportunity to spend a month with 25 writers and 25 artists at the Vermont Studio Center in Johnson, Vt.

Schmidt said she's traveled extensively in the last year, both teaching and visiting art museums, and she only had time to sketch out her inspirations. The retreat gave her time to fully develop them, and the works are now on display in "Solo Exhibit: 1998 Works on Paper."

"Arbroath Series #2" is a view from her window in Arbroath, Scotland, where she and Rosella Ogg, assistant professor of art, toured with nine K-State students this summer. Schmidt said the way the light hit an outdoor statue was the graphite drawing's inspiration.

Also completed in Vermont, and included in the exhibit, are drawings from her teaching exchange with the Norwich School of Design, in Norwich, England.

She said for the last few years, three or four K-State art students have participated in a student exchange, but she was the first K-State faculty member to participate.

Jennifer Farris, graduate student in graphic design and a 1997 participant in the Norwich student-exchange program, said she liked the energy captured in Schmidt's exhibit.

"She's an energetic person," she said, "and her work is emotionally drawn. I'm a big fan."

Farris said she agreed that travel enhances an artist's work. She said even visiting a foreign country where the language is the same, such as England, gives the artist new inspiration.

"It boosts your creative juices," Farris said. "You think about things in a different way."

Included in Schmidt's exhibit are drawings of other creative people who were at the Vermont retreat, such as a writer reading poetry in "Hermine's Readings," and a sculptor from New York, depicted in "Catching Sonia." Schmidt said this is one of her favorite works in the exhibit because she had to work quickly, without the subject noticing, since the woman really didn't want to be drawn.

"I caught it spur of the moment," she said.

The title of "Dining Hall Landscape," another piece in her collection, has a double meaning, because the graphite drawing depicts both the evergreen trees outside the room's window as well as the reflection of the diners inside.

"It was a landscape inside," she said. "It was so interesting to look at all those people."

Schmidt said the travel that inspired her exhibited works was crucial because teaching and creating aren't always compatible.

"I can't do any of my own work when I'm teaching," she said. "but I continue to try. I have to have mental space, as well as physical space."

Schedule: "Solo Exhibit: 1998 Works on Paper" will be in the Union Gallery until Sept. 4.

Fat substitute might not be right for everyone

BY JENN DAVOREN
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

One K-State professor who follows research on a new-fat substitute says fat-free snacks are not necessarily free of problems.

Fadi Aramouni, associate professor and extension specialist of food science, studies and develops products with reduced fat and calories. In his studies, Aramouni follows the research of Olestra, the fat substitute first introduced to the public in 1996.

Chemically, Olestra is a sucrose polyester. Sucrose is a sugar and polyesters are the parts taken mostly from soybean and cottonseed oils.

"Olestra is a large molecule, which allows it to pass through the gastrointestinal tract undigested," Aramouni said.

Aramouni said the human body does not have an enzyme to break it down.

Olestra was first approved by the Food and Drug Administration in 1996 to be used in certain snack foods. The original Olestra report given to the FDA contained more than 150,000 pages filled with results of studies on humans and animals.

Today, Olestra is manufactured by Procter & Gamble under the brand name Olean. The Frito-Lay Company is one of its major supporters, using it in its line of WOW! chips.

"The FDA felt that snack foods were a good place to start, because they are a source of high fat," Aramouni said.

Although fat-free foods are always welcomed by the public, Olestra seems to cause certain side effects in some people.

The FDA requires that all products containing Olestra to carry a warning label that states the product might cause abdominal cramps and other digestive problems. Aramouni says that in this way, Olestra is much like fiber.

"If you eat too much fiber, it will affect your gastrointestinal tract, too," Aramouni said. "There can be sensitivity to it if you over-consume Olestra."

Unlike fiber, Olestra is believed to strip fat-soluble vitamins from the body, mostly vitamins A, D, E and K. Because the time duration of most Olestra studies ranged from 14-18 days, the long-term effects of vitamin and nutrient depletion were not seen. However, the FDA now requires Olestra products to contain added vitamins.

"There is no stripping problem once the Olestra products are fortified," said Rob Brannan, coordinator of the Rapid Response Center, an extension of Food Science. "The Olestra can only carry a certain amount of fat-soluble vitamins out of the body."

Brannan said Olestra will only take out the vitamins it brought in.

It is also believed that Olestra might be robbing the body of antioxidants such as carotenoids, which could protect the body from heart disease and cancer. Because the benefits of carotenoids have not been proven scientifically, Olestra products are not required to add them.

MORE INFO? Those experiencing problems with Olestra products can call Procter & Gamble toll-free for information at (800) 483-7486.

Fired Globe columnist trades newsroom for poetry reading

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

AUSTIN, Texas — Standing before friends and fellow poets, safe in a world where invention is a gift and not a betrayal, Patricia Smith had the room in tears.

"You were my breath when I did not feel like breathing," she read. "You are the reason I'm here."

Smith, the former Boston Globe columnist, was here last weekend for the annual National Poetry Slam. She was reading at the Book People bookstore, pacing and pointing, working herself up from controlled tears to uncontrolled sobs. An audience of about 75 stood and clapped and sobbed with her.

In the newspaper business, Smith is known as the columnist forced to resign for writing about people who didn't exist.

In the slam-poetry community, she is known for speaking truths in verse. She is a four-time winner of the individual competition.

"She's my favorite slam poet," Susan Somers-Willett, an Austin poet, said. "She's a part of the family."

Danny Solis, a slam veteran and a member of the Albuquerque, N.M., team, said there were three reactions to Smith's resignation. Some, jealous of Smith's success, were happy to see her suffer. Others were simply shocked. The majority, were immediately supportive.

The 43-year-old Smith had thought about not coming to the slam but changed her mind after many wrote and called. She did not compete this year, but em ceed several events and was invited to read.

After going through some older work, she announced she had new material and read a series of bitter, emotional but triumphant poems.

She remembered the "canine claws" of the media and counted the times, "at least 21," she had been labeled "unrepentant." She confessed to wanting to kill herself, "knowing that this is the only cleansing the world will accept."

Again and again, she blessed the community of fellow poets. "You pronounced me human and forgave," she read. "No one understands us, so thank God we have each other."

One poem was an angry chant of words, uttered to reclaim her right, as a writer, simply to use them: "lullaby," "glory," "blame." Any word. "Trapezoid," she said.

"Man did not give this gift to me," she concluded, her hoarse voice cracking, the paper in her hand falling to the floor. "Man cannot take it away."

DILBERT

MANN HATTEN

AARON FRUEHLING

Kassebaum says Clinton should resign

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

TOPEKA — President Clinton could achieve a valuable legacy if he would acknowledge fully his responsibility for the Monica Lewinsky episode and resign, former Sen. Nancy Kassebaum Baker said.

However, Kassebaum Baker said she wouldn't expect Clinton to do that "because it's not in his nature."

"I really, truly believe his legacy should be his resignation," Kassebaum Baker said in a telephone interview from her farm near Burdick in southwest Morris County. She has spent the past month there with her youngest son, Bill, who runs the farm, and his family.

"I feel it's become a story that is so tawdry and sordid in it's telling that I just believe he should put an end to it," she said of Clinton.

"I'm not screaming for his scalp. I just wish he'd do the right thing and resign. But I don't think it's in his nature."

Kassebaum Baker, who served for 18 years in the Senate before choosing not to seek re-election in 1996 and married former Sen. Howard Baker of Tennessee in December 1996, said she expects Clinton to resist stepping down, "So we'll see this play out."

She said she expects the House of Representatives to conduct hearings on special prosecutor Ken Starr's report, expected in about a month, but declined to predict whether the House would return a bill of impeachment. If it did, the Senate would decide whether to conduct an impeachment trial.

"It will continue to drag on, with the press and TV continuing to pick at every little bit of information," she said.

Kassebaum Baker said she and most Americans are weary of the entire episode.

"If I see one more picture of the FBI agent carrying off the blue dress ... " she said, without finishing her thought.

Kassebaum Baker said she believes strongly in the right of privacy for all Americans, including the president. But, she said, Clinton made the issue public himself.

"When he said in January or February that he would be forthright with the American public, he made it a public matter himself," she said.

"Then he completely violated his trust with the American people.

"It is more sad than anything to gloat about."

Elected officials have a bond with the public, Kassebaum Baker said, "and he totally violated that bond."

"I just feel his real legacy would be his leaving and his acceptance of the responsibility for what has happened."

She didn't exonerate Starr, saying, "I haven't particularly considered Ken Starr as any role model, either. I don't think I can take another picture of him carrying his coffee cup to his car and wearing that big smile."

Kassebaum Baker said the Clinton-Lewinsky matter is an example "of what we've kind of come to accept in this country, and that is sad."

"The public just sort of shrugs and says, 'Well, that's the way it is.' And a lot of them don't think anything will happen."

WELCOME TO HALE REBECCA PARTIN/KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

K-STATE STUDENTS WALK THROUGH THE LOBBY OF HALE LIBRARY TUESDAY AFTERNOON. MANY NEW STUDENTS CAME TO THE LIBRARY TO OPEN E-MAIL ACCOUNTS.

Clinton weighing new comment on Lewinsky controversy

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Worried that he remains in political peril, President Clinton is weighing whether, when and how he should address lingering questions about his affair with Monica Lewinsky, officials said Wednesday.

Democrats pushing for a stronger statement than Clinton's address last week include the party's national chairman, Colorado Gov. Roy Romer, who said, "The issue is still unsettled in some people's mind. It got scrambled."

But the White House believes most Americans feel Clinton has apologized sufficiently and don't want to hear more — even though congressmen and columnists are still clamoring. "You don't have a single audience," said one senior aide, speaking on condition of anonymity.

From his vacation retreat on Martha's Vineyard, Clinton has reached out for advice in telephone calls to friends and political advisers, officials said. Back in Washington, White House chief of staff Erskine Bowles has assembled recommendations from a wide range of sources.

Many Democrats lament that Clinton's televised address last week struck the wrong note, opening with an admission of guilt and regret but then veering into an angry attack on Independent Counsel Ken Starr.

Uncertain of the truth and facing midterm elections in November, many congressional Democrats have distanced themselves from Clinton, refusing to defend him against talk of impeachment or resignation.

Clinton will interrupt his vacation briefly Thursday to speak on school safety and juvenile crime initiatives in Worcester, Mass. Aides said he did not plan to talk about the Lewinsky matter then, even as they struggled to line up a show of support from local Democrats.

In one setback, city councilwoman Konstantina Lukes refused to greet Clinton at the airport. "The president has shamed himself, his family, the country and the presidency and I don't want to validate that behavior," she said.

The Lewinsky issue also is likely to dog Clinton in Russia next week, when he is certain to be hit with embarrassing questions at a Wednesday news conference with Boris Yeltsin.

Romer said it's obvious Clinton must take another stab at public contrition. "The speech didn't quite set it right. The speech did not communicate what the president intended to communicate."

"He needs to say what he said in the first half of that speech: 'I did something wrong, my behavior was wrong,'" Romer said in an interview. "It got overshadowed by the second half of the speech. His reference should be: 'I did it. ... I admit that. I take full responsibility for it. I regret it. I want to get it behind me, and I want to get on with the work of the nation.' The first 2-1/2 minutes got covered up with his further comments on Starr. I think that was unfortunate."

White House press secretary Mike McCurry said Romer's "political instincts are pretty good," and Clinton may come to the same conclusion as the governor.

"But I don't know for sure it's going to happen," McCurry said. "The president's got to do some serious thinking about that. He may in fact want to talk to his wife and daughter about it for all I know. This is where a very private matter collides with his public responsibilities."

"He's getting a lot of advice, and he's got to sort that advice out himself," spokesman Barry Toiv said in Edgartown, Mass.

Presidential counselor Rahm Emanuel said Clinton was "making the turn back" to domestic policy matters with his appearance Thursday. "On the personal stuff, there is no decision on whether he should say something more and, if yes, when and where."

Romer said he differs with House Minority Leader Dick Gephardt, D-Mo., who said he was reserving judgment about impeachment.

"I don't think impeachment is an option or resignation is an option," Romer said. "We need his leadership. This election is going to turn on the issues and the president needs to get back and focus on the issues, as he was before."

He said Clinton should speak candidly about Lewinsky and then not dwell on the subject. "He needs to get it behind him as soon as he can and then say, 'I'm not going to talk about it.'"

collegian Explore it! http://collegian.ksu.edu

We stay open late at Claflin Books and Copies 1814 Claflin Road 776-3771

Wildcat Soccer

Informational Men's Soccer Meeting
Monday, August 31st at 7:30pm
K-State Student Union, Room 207

Get your wheels on the right track.
• 4 Wheel Alignment
• Struts & Shocks
• Brake Service
• Frame Straightening
Westgate Wheel Aligning & Balancing 776-4239
610 Hayes Dr. • Behind Wal-Mart
MasterCard VISA DISCOVER

DRINK UP
$1 WELLS $1.75 BOTTLES
NO COVER 21 & OVER
LONGHORNS BAR & GRILL
1115 Moro Aggieville, USA 776-8870 18 & over

KJ's Welcomes Back All the KSU Students
tonight
OUR MEXICAN BLOWOUT!
$1.50 Margaritas lime or strawberry
Ladies Night!
$1.50 Coronas
College Discount in Effect!!
Get Jiggy on Aggieville's #1 Dance Floor!
kj's

Alpha Gamma Rho
New Initiates
Adam Baldwin, Brian Becker, Tylor Boggs, Weylon Bosse, Matt Dill, Scott Doering, Lance Donley, Aaron Dunbar, Jim Farnsworth, Nick Frankenberry, Matt Kerr, John Kueser, Mike Maris, Kevin Meyer, Justin Newland, Nathan Oleen, Chad Reichenberger, Gabe Schlickau, Kory Strasser, Jason Strickler, Cody Stuber, Joel Sutherland, Matt Van Allen, Jeff Winter

THURSDAY
Bud Light Out of Bounds Sports Bar & Grill
10¢ WINGS 5-9pm dine-in only
$2 CAPTAIN MORGANS
$1.50 POUND BURGERS
1129 Laramie 537-4843

WILDCAT SPIRIT
Wildcat Spirit
FREE GREEK LETTERS
Monogrammed or Sewn-On
YOUR CHOICE!
with purchase of a Charles River Jacket or Sweat Shirt
Wildcat Spirit
716 North Manhattan In Aggieville
(785) 776-5461
Hours Mon - Sat 9:30 to 5:30
Thurs 'til 8:00, Sun 12:00 to 5:00
Good Through 9/30/98
MasterCard AMERICAN EXPRESS VISA DISCOVER

InterKan.Net, Inc.
Fast, Affordable, Reliable
Dial-Up Internet Access
No Busy Signals!
Sign up before September 1 and get August & September FREE!
Monthly Rates:
Unlimited hrs -- $19.95
100 hrs -- $12.50
30 hrs -- $10.00
10 hrs -- $7.50
1106 R Laramie
565-0991
www.interkan.net
No set-up fee with credit card payment. Not valid with other offers.

MANHATTAN JEWISH CONGREGATION
1509 WREATH AVE. • 539-8462
invites faculty and students to a
WELCOME BACK SERVICE
Fri. Aug. 28 at 7:30p.m.
HILLEL
For information about rides to services and about HILLEL, call:
Sara: 776-3299
Deborah: 539-7947
The High Holiday Services schedule will be announced shortly.

DEADLINES

Classified ads must be placed by noon the day before you want your ad to run. Classified display ads must be placed by 4 p.m. two working days prior to the date you want your ad to run. CALL 532-6555

CLASSIFIEDS

000 BULLETIN BOARD

010

Announcements

ADVANCED FLIGHT TRAINING from 7,500-hour ATP instructor. Private single-engine through ATP multiengine. Hugh Irvin, 539–3128 evenings.

BIG DAWG Marina has Jet skis and pontoon boats for rent. 776-3113.

DISCOVER SCUBA: Complete lessons, low cost, college credit available. Aggie Dive Shop, 539-DIVE.

FREE FOOTBALL tickets. Register at Mr. P's Party Outlet, 318 Poyntz Ave.

LEARN TO FLY! K-State Flying Club has five airplanes, lowest rates. For information call 537-8406.

SCUBA learn to dive at the only PADI approved dive center in the area, full line of equipment in stock, two instructors, earn college credit. Classes forming weekly. Call Creative Travel and Scuba. 539-0531.

020

Lost and Found

Found ads can be placed free for three days.

LOST: WALLET and checkbook August 24. Reward if found. Please call (785)761–7481, ask for Vaughn.

LOST: MEN'S gold wedding band on August 17th. Engraved on inside "To infinity" Reward if found. 776-0914.

100 HOUSING/REAL ESTATE

105

For Rent- Apts. Furnished

ABSOLUTELY AS good a deal as you'll find. Two-bedroom basement, central air, washer/ dryer. Beautiful house, above reasonable. 539–9345.

FOR RENT. Two-bedroom, one and one-half bath furnished apartment. Directly across from campus. No pets. Call Laura. 587-8969.

LIVING QUARTERS furnished, with the use of a Kiln and a Wheel. Utilities provided $250 a month. 587–0648, 1601 Baltimore.

ONE-BEDROOM BASEMENT apartment, five minute walk from Union. Non-smoker/ drinker. Call 539–4159, leave message.

ONE-BEDROOM BASEMENT, fireplace, walk to campus. Quiet, gas and water paid. No pets, no smoking. Lease, $250 deposit, $325/ month. 537-3737

TWO-BEDROOM BASEMENT apartment. Close to campus, $410, all utilities paid except cable television. 776–1214.

TWO-BEDROOM FURNISHED apartment. New carpet, microwave, close to campus, $450, all utilities paid except cable television. 776–1214.

UNIVERSITY COMMONS. Available: fully furnished, individual leases, washer/ dryer in each unit, roommate matching service, pool, sand volleyball, lighted tennis and basketball courts, monitored security, reserved parking. No appointment necessary. M-F 9a.m.- 6p.m., 10a.m.- 4p.m., 539-0500.

110

For Rent- Apt. Unfurnished

A THREE-BEDROOM, spacious, one-half block to KSU, central air and heat, pets OK, $540, 776-8455.

ACROSS STREET from campus, four-bedroom, appliances, central air/heat off-street parking. 539-2632.

AUGUST FREE! Two-bedroom, spacious, dishwasher, $395-$425. 776-8455.

AVAILABLE NOW. Studio and one-bedrooms, some furnished. Most utilities paid. Clean and quiet, central locations, some pets accepted. 537-8389.

AVAILABLE NOW. Two-bedroom apartment, all appliances including washer/ dryer. Good access to campus! Call 537–1918.

FOUR-BEDROOM CLOSE to campus, two bath, dishwasher, central air/heat, water/trash paid. Free laundry, good price. 537-2255 or 537-7810.

FOUR-BEDROOM, TWO bath 1300 square feet. Water/ trash paid. Discounted cable with HBO. 776–3663.

LARGE THREE-BEDROOM well lit basement, close to campus, 1729 Laramie, new stove and refrigerator, washer/ dryer hook-ups, heat/ water/ trash paid. $570. 537–2099, 539–8052.

NOW LEASING one to four-bedroom apartments/ houses. Call Alliance Property Management. 539–4357 for current list.

ONE- OR TWO-BEDROOM. No pets, smoking, drinking. 539–1554.

ONE-BEDROOM APARTMENT available immediately. $250/ month. One block from campus. Two blocks from Aggieville. Call Jamie at 770–8395 or (913)596–1061.

ONE-BEDROOM, $290. 539-8401.

STUDIO, $280, air-conditioning, bills paid. 539-8401.

THREE-BEDROOM, $390. 539-8401.

THREE-BEDROOM, AUGUST free, washer/ dryer, huge, $540. 776-8455.

THREE-BEDROOM, TWO bath apartment available for August. Very spacious. Dishwasher, microwave, pool, laundry and carports. Call Sara at 537–7007.

TWO, THREE and four-bedroom apartments water/ trash paid, discounted cable with HBO. Going fast. 776–3663.

TWO-BEDROOM, $320. 539-8401.

TWO-BEDROOM DUPLEX very nice, clean, gas, window air, carpet, close to campus. Big bargain, $400. 537–2289.

UNIVERSITY TERRACE APARTMENTS. College Ave. Large three-bedroom apartments with washer, dryer hook-ups. 537-2096.

115

Rooms Available

THIRD ROOMMATE needed. One-bedroom in three-bedroom house, minutes from campus. Call 539-9426.

120

For Rent- Houses

1106 KEARNEY- one and one-half blocks from campus. Three-bedrooms, one bath, kitchen, living room, washer and dryer hookups. Available September 1, 1998, $650/ month. Century 21 Knight Real Estate, 537-2111.

A PLEASANT house two blocks from campus. Fireplace, washer/ dryer, dishwasher. Please call 537–7848 or 776-6225.

FOUR-BEDROOM HOUSE newly remodeled close to campus. Washer/ dryer, central air, 539–4949.

KSU THREE BLOCKS. Three-bedroom, one bath, central air, laundry hookups, garage, small pets considered, 1517 Pipher. 539-4087, leave message.

THREE-BEDROOM, AIR-CONDITIONING, $510. 539-8401.

THREE-BEDROOM, CLOSE to campus, attached garage. Stove, refrigerator. Available immediately. (765)463–5014.

TWO, TWO-BEDROOM houses available. One located in town and one in country. Stove, refrigerator, air-conditioning. No pets. 539-1975 or (785) 396-4344.

125

For Sale- Houses

FOUR LARGE bedrooms, two bath, washer/dryer. Near KSU. Redecoration just being completed. No pets. 539-8580.

130

For Rent- Mobile Homes

MALE ROOMMATE wanted. Three-bedroom trailer in a quiet neighborhood. No smoking, no pets. $225 a month plus utilities. 776-6147.

135

For Sale- Mobile Homes

1972 HILLCREST trailer, 12'X50', two-bedroom, (316) 442–3450.

DON'T WASTE your money on rent, when you could own: 16'x70' 1986 Schult. Sunken living room, vaulted ceiling, built-in china hutch, lots of cabinet space, large kitchen, dining room, two large bedrooms, one bath, refrigerator, stove, dishwaser, 8'x8' deck, fenced yard, swing set, new paint, new shingled roof, great location, Bergman school. Must see to appreciate. Call for showing 776–3226.

145

Roommate Wanted

FEMALE ROOMMATE to share newly remodeled three-bedroom house with laundry facilities, close to KSU stadium and rec center; $250/ month plus one-third utilities; 776-1926, ask for Sarah.

FEMALE ROOMMATE sharing a two-bedroom apartment. Non-smoker. Water and trash paid for. $212 rent. Contact Brandi at (785) 387-2206.

FEMALE ROOMMATE to share NICE two-bedroom apartment across from college. $260 a month. 776-4891.

FEMALE ROOMMATE wanted. Move in now, September and October rent paid for. Cambridge Square Apartments. Deposit paid, $270/ month. (316) 773–1627.

FEMALE ROOMMATE, non-smoker for two-bedroom mobile home. Furnished, $155 plus one-half KPL. 587-0157.

MALE NEEDED for furnished basement. Washer/ dryer without meter. No smoking, drinking, or pets. Walk to class. 539–1554

MALE/ FEMALE to share four-bedroom house- half mile to campus and Aggieville. Call 537–5109.

PHD STUDENT/ GTA is looking for socially responsible housemates. $350/ month, utilities included/ not phone. Contact: renner@ksu.edu or 770–8309 (h) 1-888-ESL-KNOW (w).

QUIET, RESPONSIBLE graduate student looking for non-smoking, non-drinking roommate for small two-bedroom house just outside of town. Call 539-4135 or 776-5716.

ROOMMATE WANTED for farm house. Place for horse, $130/ month plus share of utilities. 539–2029.

ROOMMATES NEEDED to share four-bedroom house at 610 Laramie. $200 plus one-fourth utilities. 776–3108, leave message.

SERIOUS STUDENT and two cats must share nice two-bedroom apartment close to campus. $225/ month plus one-half utilities. Kim 776–4491, leave message.

165

Storage Space

STORAGE CITY. Share storage space and cost with a friend, four miles east of Manhattan on Hwy 24. Call 776–1976.

200 SERVICE DIRECTORY

255

Other Services

YOUNG STUDENT mother wants to get back into shape. Needs someone to help train and motivate. Requires fitness knowledge, must have access to KSU Rec Center/ Natatorium. Please send letter of interest ASAP to Box 1, Collegian.

300 EMPLOYMENT/OPPORTUNITIES

310

Help Wanted

$800 WEEKLY POTENTIAL. Processing Government refunds at home. No experience necessary. 1-800-696-4779- Ext. 1608.

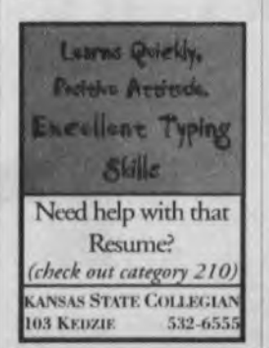
BABYSITTER(S) NEEDED in our home for a happy one year old. Two shifts available 8 a.m. to noon and 1 p.m. to 5 p.m. weekends. (785) 395-3115.

BABYSITTING OPPORTUNITY. Seeking reliable child care in home for Monday, Wednesday, Friday- 537–9092.

BOCKERS II Catering now hiring immediately for banquet wait staff and bartenders. Evenings and weekends. Apply 2321 Skyvue Lane, or see us at the Job Fair, KSU Union Tuesday 9a.m. - 4p.m.

BREADEAUX PIZZA: Day help, evening and weekend drivers. Breadeaux Pizza, 3033 Anderson. 537-5080.

COMPUTER INFORMATION Specialist, Dept. of Agricultural Economics, KSU– Part-time to Full-time position responsible for providing computer software support on basic PC software applications (spreadsheet, word processing, and database programs) and specialized software programs used in economic and statistical analysis, and creating and maintaining databases. Qualificatons: B.S. degree in economics, computer science, information systems, statistics, business, or other field which involves the manipulation and analysis of quantitative data; demonstrated proficiency in the use of basic PC software applications; and the proven ability to develop and manage large databases. Applicants are requested to submit a letter of application, resume, and arrange for three letters of reference to Dan Bernardo, Dept. of Agricultural Economics, 342 Waters Hall, Kansas State University, Manhattan, KS 66506-4011. Deadline for applications is September 10, 1998. For further information, call (785) 532-6702.



DELIVERY DRIVERS . Gambino's Pizza now hiring drivers. Must be 18, own dependable car. Apply in person at 2708 Anderson. Base wage, tips and delivery fees. $6- $9/ hour.

Dishwasher Needed! Evening shift. Manhattan Country Club. Apply in person, 1531 N. 10th Street.

FAMILY-OPERATED SWINE and crop farm 25 miles northeast of Manhattan needs full or part-time help. (785) 457-2873 days, (785) 457-3562 evenings.

FISH SALESPERSON needed. Must be available 20 hours including weekends. Must have knowledge and experience with a variety of tropical fish and marine, pet store experience preferred. Apply in person at Pets-N-Stuff, 1105 Waters St.

HELP WANTED. Earn up to $375 weekly assembling MEDICAL ID CARDS at home. Immediate openings, your area. Call 1-520-505–4411 Ext. D588.

ITALIAN RESTAURANT: day, night dish washer, kitchen help wanted. 539-9300.

JANITOR NEEDED: Part-time, 5:00 a.m.- 11 a.m. Needs to be self-motivated, dependable and hard-working with an eye for detail. Apply in person Mon-Fri, 8:00 a.m.- 4:00 p.m., Manhattan Country Club, 1531 N. 10th.

KITCHEN HELP wanted. Apply at 1213 Moro, Manhattan, KS.

MOTIVATED OUTGOING individual to help business get off the ground. Set your own hours, work from home. Great experience for marketing majors. Wages based on productivity, no experience required. Please send resume to P.O. Box 28, Sabetha, KS 66534 by September 7th.

PART AND Full-time landscaping jobs. 776-1930.

PART-TIME lifeguards needed through October 4. Apply in person, Manhattan Country Club. 1531 N. 10th. Must have up to date certifications.

RILEY COUNTY has a position available for a computer intern. Knowledge of installation and setup of computer software (Windows 95, Windows 3.11, and Microsoft Office) is required. Experience in installing computer hardware components (network cards, CD roms, moderns, and hard drives) is required. Some knowlegde of networks a plus. Appplications may be obtained from Riley County Clerk'sOffice, 110 Courthouse Plaza, Manhattan, KS 66502 until the postition is filled.

SPRING BREAK '99– Sell Trips, Earn Cash & Go Free! STS is now hiring campus reps. Lowest rates to Jamaica, Mexico and Florida. Call 800-648-4849 or apply online at www.ststravel.com

STORE CLERK: 2 - 3 weeknights 5:30 - 11p.m. Saturday afternoons 12:00 - 5:30 p.m. Cash register experience helpful. Contact Jeff, 537-7229.

STUDENT HELP needed 2a.m.- 6a.m. every other day. Apply Printing Services, 10 Kedzie.

TUTORING HIGH school students for K-State's Upward Bound Math and Science Program. Contact: Lynne Davy at 532-6374 for application.

330

Business Opportunities

The Collegian cannot verify the financial potential of advertisements in the Employment/Career classification. Readers are advised to approach any such business opportunity with reasonable caution. The Collegian urges our readers to contact the Better Business Bureau, 501 SE Jefferson, Topeka, KS 66607-1190. (785)232–0454.

400 OPEN MARKET

405

Wanted to Buy

USED OLYMPIC weights, any brand. (785) 494-2938. Must be in good condition.

410

Items for Sale

13" RCA color television with remote, $99. (785)485–2703 after 5p.m.

ANTIQUES, COLLECTIBLES, tools, books, furniture, estate jewelry, beer signs, thousands of curious goods. Time Machine Antique Maul and Flea Market. 4910 Skyway Dr. between Briggs and airport. 539–4684.

FOR SALE: Color printer, Java software, two tents, StarTrek collectibles, photographer's easel. 537-2497 Russ.

GIANT MOUNTAIN Bike and Silver Trumpet for sale. Must sell soon. Please call 776–7028.

KENMORE LARGE washer and dryer set. $189 or best offer, 776–7217.

KING SIZE waterbed with six drawers. Good condition. 776–2047.

SEALY FULL size box springs and mattress, $125. 776–9313.

415

Furniture to Buy/Sell

615 NORTH 3rd. Wohler's Used Furniture, antiques, appliances, beer signs, miscellanous. Check it out.

420

Garage/Yard Sales

ANNUAL GARAGE Sale. Nevada St., Indiana Ln., Montana Ct. Fri. Aug. 28- 9 a.m.-1 p.m. Sat. Aug. 29- 8 a.m. -12:30 p.m. Sony stereo, TV's, typewriter, lawnmower, garbage disposal (new), microwave, beige sofa-bed, chest of drawers, entertainment center, weight bench, bikes, flute, tires, wall mirror, nice plus size women's clothes, toys, games, children's clothes, and more. No early sales.

435

Computers

MAC PERFORMA 6400/180. 56 MB RAM, 1.6 GB HD, modem, CD ROM, $850 without monitor, $1300 with monitor. 565-9612.

MACINTOSH PERFORMA 636CD with monitor, laser printer, and numerous programs and games. $700 or best offer. Call 776–8315 after 5.

445

Music Instruments

WELCOME TO The Music Co.! Our business is making you sound the best you can, and leaving a little gas money in your pocket. In-store right now: Artley, Ampeg, Alvarez, Marshall, Fernandes, Sovtek, Takamine, Fender, Dean, Peavey, Tama, Ludwig, Mapex, Crate, Audio- Centron, Sans- Amp, and more! Still the best deal on the planet! The Music Co., the story continues. 523 S 17th Street in Manhattan. 539–1958.

450

Pets and Supplies

LOVING, FEMALE 15 month old AKC yellow labrador for sale. Call 537-2059 to make offer.

REPTILES GALORE! Ball python sale! Only $45.99 each. Corn snakes $36.99. Lowest prices around. Pets-N-Stuff, 1105 Waters.

SEE OUR precious Himalayan and Maine Coon kittes at Pets-N-Stuff. 1105 Waters. 539-9494.

TWO WHITE kittens need a home. Ten weeks old. Please call 539-6805.

465

Tickets to Buy/Sell

IF YOU are a K-State student, and are not buying season football tickets and would like to make some quick cash, call Rance at a (316) 942-8029.

500 TRANSPORTATION

510

Automobiles

1986 Mercury Sable $975. High mileage both runs and looks great. 1988 Ford Festiva, 4-speed $1050 serious inquiries only. 395-7451.

1987 BUICK Century Limited, loaded, $1700, new paint job. 1987 Acura Legend, two-door, high miles, $2800 or best offer. Leave message, 395–7447.

1988 CHEVY Silverado 350, automatic. 776-9705.

1988 HONDA Civic, 4-door Sedan DX, 5-speed, air-conditioning, 140K, runs great. $1700. Call 565-9625.

1991 TAURUS GL V6, cruise, power windows, locks, four-door, good condition. $3500 or best offer. 776–3606.

1993 FORD Ranger XLT. Extended cab, 4.0 liter V6, five-speed, 76K miles. Excellent condition. $8700 or best offer. 537–3516.

1993 PONTIAC Grand Am. $4500. Evenings. 537-9019

1995 KSU purple Ford Ranger, excellent condition, CD player, 31,000 miles, 5-speed. Blue Book $12,500 asking $9500. Rochelle- 776–1453, leave message.

1995 NISSAN pick-up, blue. 54,000 miles, contact Augy or Kara after 5:30p.m. (785)456-2740.

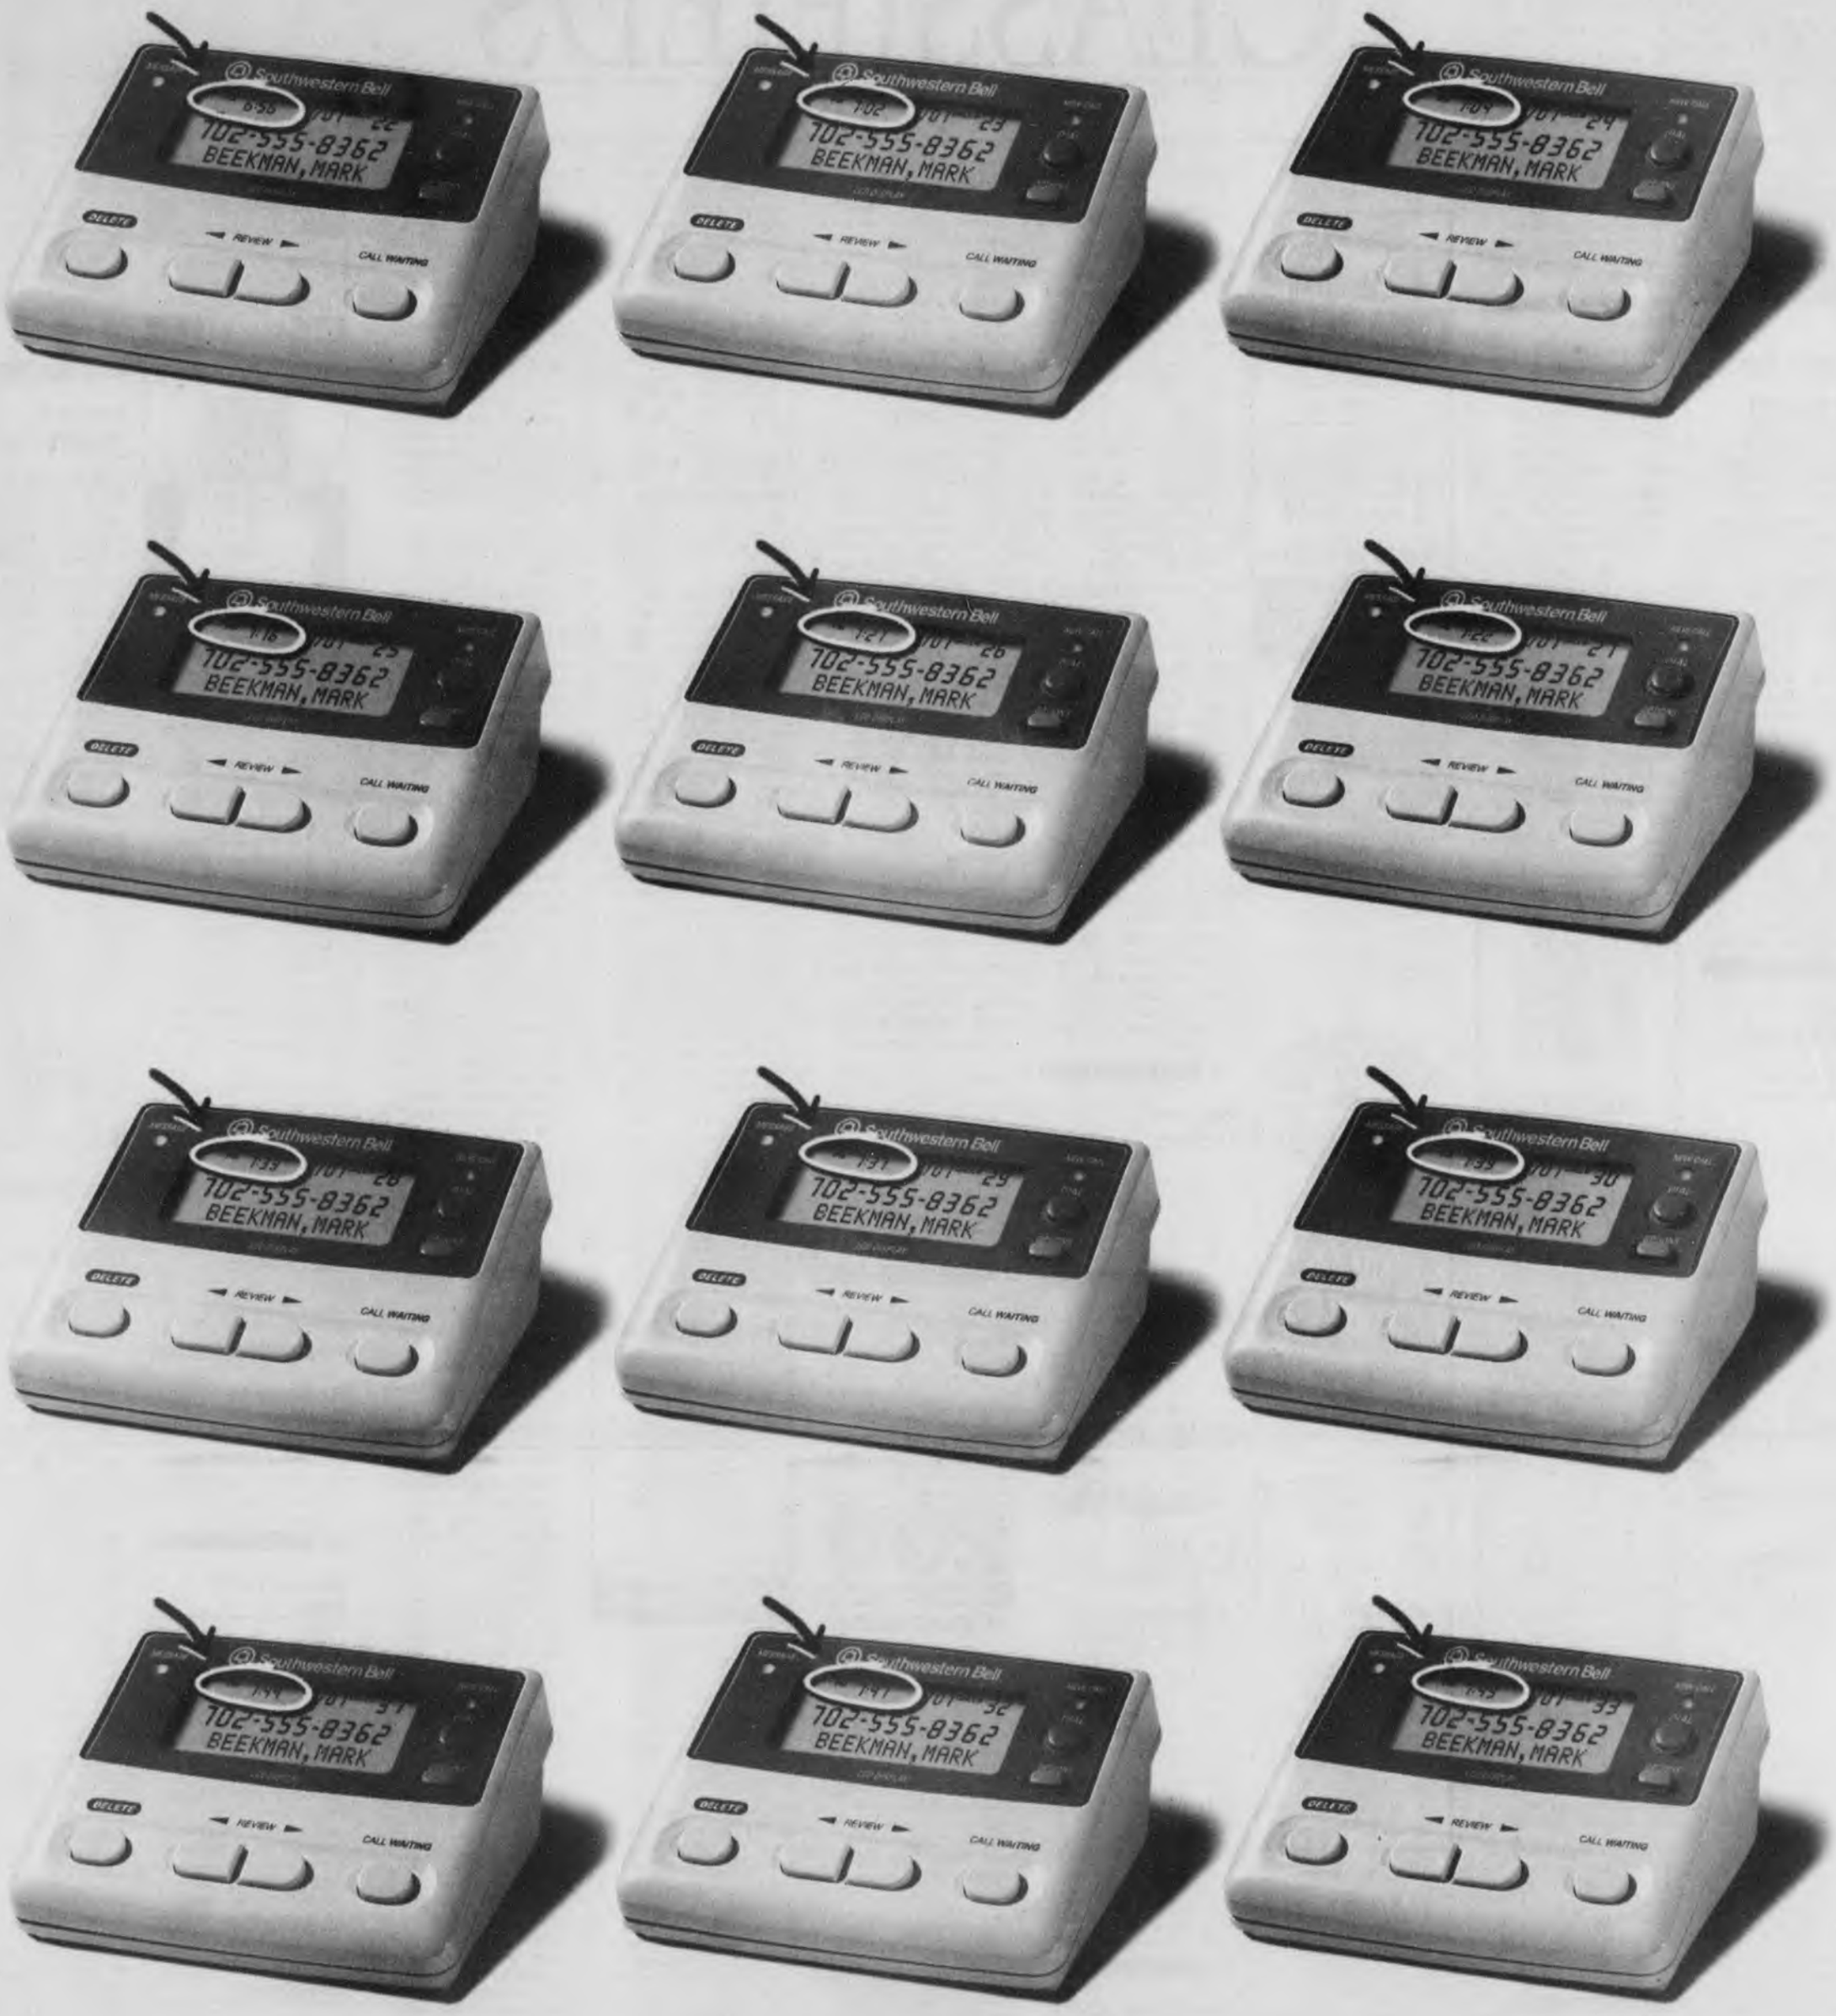
HONDA ACCORD, 1984, low mileage, ugly, $700. 776–3589.

MUST SELL: 1993 Mazda MX-3 GS, five-speed, $6000 or best offer. Call 587–8509, 7p.m.-9p.m.

530

Motorcycles

1989 KAWASAKI EX 500 red/ black. Very good condition, $1450 or best offer. 537–2289.



1992 CBR 600 FZ. Purple/ black/ white. 537–2158.

And he thought he didn't leave a message.

HA!

Sometimes what they don't say says it all.

Whether you want to screen calls while you're in or keep track of who called while you're out, Caller ID has got you covered. It stores the details - name, number, and time - whenever someone dials your digits. So even if they don't leave a message, you'll still get one (or more). So get Caller ID, and connect your world.

1-888-SWB-4-YOU
www.swbell.com/college

©1998 Southwestern Bell. Caller ID is provided by Southwestern Bell Telephone. Special equipment is required to display Caller ID information. Service not available in all areas on all calls. Thanks for reading the fine print!

Southwestern Bell

STUDENT TICKETS ON SALE

The combo package for football and men's basketball tickets go on sale today.

SEE STORY ON PAGE 9

FRIDAY
AUGUST 28, 1998

KANSAS STATE UNIVERSITY, MANHATTAN, KAN.
VOLUME 103, NUMBER 5
COLLEGIAN.KSU.EDU

TODAY'S WEATHER

HIGH 88
LOW 65

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

$7 million Union construction project continuing

Construction should be fully completed and ready for use by summer 2000.

BY JOE HURLA
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

While renovations to the K-State Student Union might continue to inconvenience students, the $7 million construction project will still move ahead — and it will be worthwhile to students, Union officials said.

But Mike Mayo, architect for the Union project, said the renovations under way at the Union are simply opening a pathway for future changes, which students will appreciate more.

"What we've got is a great big orchestration that's being put together here," Mayo said. "We've created a critical path with several steps. We're still in phase one, which is the longest phase.

"Once this phase is completed, we'll concentrate on the areas that students are more interested in," Mayo said.

Union Director Bernard Pitts said the focus of the first phase is to improve the life-safety aspect of the building. From there, renovations will continue throughout the building, having as little effect on day-to-day student activities as possible.

Mayo said he agreed that reducing the effect of the renovations on students was one of the biggest concerns during the planning stages.

"The whole process is set up to minimize the impact on the users," Mayo said. "If we could close the Union down, we would be done in nine to 12 months. Instead, we're doing it in a systematic, controlled fashion."

Mayo said because the work was being done in such a fashion, it will take essentially two years to complete. He said he expects to see everything finished by summer 2000.

In the next several months, though, Mayo said major renovations, which students probably will find more exciting, will begin to take place.

"The south end of the concourse will become temporary dining space," Mayo said.

Mayo said he expects the construction on the new food court to begin around the beginning of the year and to conclude late second semester, perhaps opening up in May.

From there, Mayo said the renovations on the rest of the building should fall into place.

Associate Director of Facilities Planning Abe Fattaey said the work has been going as well as can be expected.

"This is one of the most complex projects on campus, and so far it has been working like a clock," he said.

Though he is pleased with the project's progress, Mayo said it has fallen slightly behind schedule.

"We're a couple of days behind, but that's because we've added a little bit of work," Mayo said.

Pitts said he would be taking several steps to keep students informed and prepared for the confusion caused by the renovation.

"We'll have a Union web site, a quarterly newsletter, ads in the school newspaper and signs in the building giving students information about what areas are under construction," Pitts said.

Several areas already are completed or nearing completion. Renovations are nearly finished that will provide disabled access to the bowling facility, Pitts said.

"We're just putting the finishing touches on them now," he said.

Mayo said in order to spend the student money as wisely as possible, he must plan his next step long before it actually happens.

"As much as we're moving around, it's like a huge chess game," Mayo said. "Only sometimes, it seems like we have more pieces than we have squares, so the game moves very slowly."

CLIF PALMBERG/KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Construction on the east side of the K-State Student Union is keeping the east entrance unusable for now. The renovations to the building are a $7 million project.

FOR THE FANS

Fan Appreciation Day gets fans up close and personal with '98 Wildcats

BY ANGELA KISTNER
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Someone other than the K-State Department of Intercollegiate Athletics was showing appreciation for the K-State football fans when the rains cleared and the sun came out Thursday evening.

Despite the threat of more rain, hundreds of fans attended the fifth-annual Fan Appreciation Day. Fans had a chance to watch the team practice, listen to Coach Bill Snyder and the football captains speak and get their autographs.

Snyder showed his appreciation for the fans' support when he said K-State had the greatest band, pep squad and cheerleaders in the world.

"I think everybody around the nation understands that we have the best fans across the world," he said.

Quarterback Michael Bishop told fans to keep supporting the team.

"Hopefully we'll pull through and give you something to cheer about," he said.

Melissa Emley, who has been attending football games for four years, bought her son a miniature K-State football with the hope of getting Bishop and other team members to sign it.

Her son was one of the hundreds of children who swarmed around football players with their footballs, K-State posters and other momentos waiting for a chance to get an autograph from their idols.

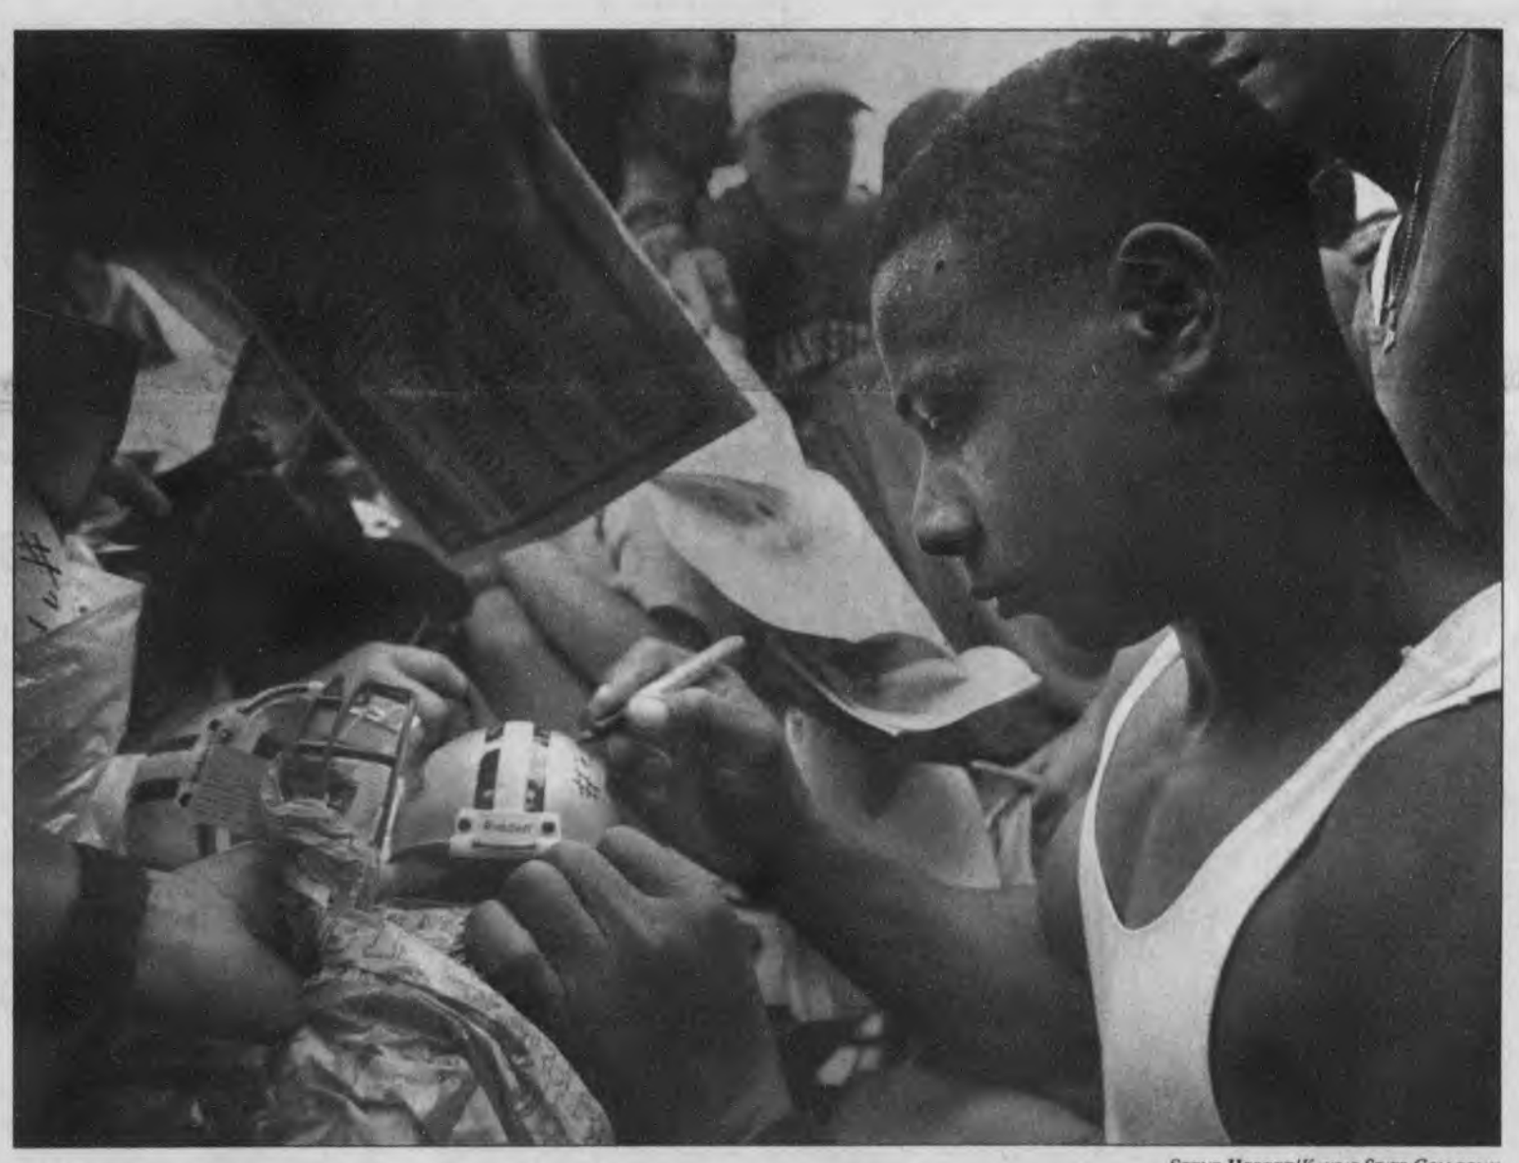
Emley said she thinks K-State has a good chance to return to the Tostitos Fiesta Bowl.

"Nebraska seems to be our only hold-up," she said.

Emley said fans have been and will be an important factor in the football team's continued success.

"Fans bring in a lot of their support and excitement. The fans being excited helps encourage the team," she said.

Emley isn't the only person who thinks the fans are an important part of the game. Apryl Williams, sophomore in accounting, said the team helps fans get excited as well.



"They get us pumped up. We pump them up," she said.

Cory Downing, K-State alumnus, was attending his first Fan Appreciation Day, even though this is his third year to have season tickets. He also said he agreed that fans are part of the game.

"I think they can get a pretty good advantage when they're at home," he said. "I think they can play a pretty important role," he said.

Mike Mikos of Eskridge, Kan., said there is a lot of talent on the

See FANS on PAGE 5

STEVE HEBERT/KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

K-State quarterback Michael Bishop is mobbed by hundreds of fans seeking his autograph during Thursday afternoon's K-State football Fan Appreciation Day at KSU Stadium. Fans swarmed Bishop to get his autograph on everything from helmets to shirts and posters.

WILDCAT WELCOME WEEK

The Collegian will publish a calendar of events for that day's events and the next day's events throughout Wildcat Welcome Week.

TODAY

THX 1138 — Kaleidoscope Film Presentation
7 p.m. and 9:30 p.m. showings, Union Forum Hall

Welcome Back Concert
8 p.m., Triangle Park

SATURDAY

THX 1138 — Kaleidoscope Film Presentation
7 p.m. and 9:30 p.m. showings, Union Forum Hall

SUNDAY

UPC Activities Carnival
4 p.m. to 7 p.m., Union Courtyard

Volunteer Fair
4 p.m. to 7 p.m., 2nd floor of K-State Student Union

TODD STEWART/COLLEGIAN

Stadium expansion to begin Nov. 14

$12.8 million project will begin with removal of upper deck from stadium.

BY SAMANTHA SANDOW
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

The upper deck of KSU Stadium will be the first thing to go in the stadium-expansion project.

The $12.8 million expansion project deadline is August 1999, and the upper deck will be torn out on Nov. 14.

"It's a tight timeline, but a realistic timeline," said Max Urick, director of athletics. "We'll need good luck on the weather and good luck on delivery."

Permanent seating will increase from 39,200 to 45,200. Another 2,800 chairs can be added in the end zone and bleachers add up to 1,300 more seats. This extra seating, combined with 1,500 press box and auxiliary seats brings the total seating for the stadium to more than 50,000.

Last fall, students voted down a referendum that would have used student fees to help finance the expansion. The Department of Intercollegiate Athletics had to find alternative means to pay for the construction.

Most of the funding will come from ticket sales. Tickets for suites and chairs with backs will provide $1.5 million a year for the next 15 years. There are 26 new suites costing nearly $32,000 each and 1,100 chairbacks selling for $700 each. All of the new construction will be on the east side to keep costs down.

"People think that the tickets are going to pay for this expansion, and they're not," Urick said. "It's people that pay $700 in addition to the cost of tickets and the 26 suites would be committed toward that."

So far, 22 suites and 250 chairbacks have been sold. Urick said he's not worried about the remaining 850 chairbacks left to sell.

"There's a demand for them. Once we get the pickup in tickets and people can see where their seats are, it will be tremendous. They are great, great seats," Urick said.

Along with this purchase of the east-side chairbacks, fans will have the option of purchasing a parking pass for a reserved spot in the east parking lot.

Michael O'Brien, assistant director of fund raising for the athletics department, said the east side construction will help offset the west side.

"It will really give a nice balance to our stadium," he said. "The stadium is a key element when it comes to recruiting."

Athletic Department Business Manager Bob Cavello said he also is pleased with the size of the expansion.

"It's going to be a first-class structure for a first-class team," he said.

Financing the debt from expansion depends on selling the added seats. Unlike other schools in the Big 12 Conference, K-State does not have a large athletics budget. K-State is ninth out of the Big 12, with only $14.7 million compared to Nebraska, which has a Big 12-leading $32 million budget.

"We are competing with these teams that have so much at their disposal. We don't, and we still find a way to get it done," he said.

Cavello said it's a testament from the athletes, the coaches and the administrative staff, and it makes the project more challenging and rewarding.

"The team is ready to expand. The players are ready for expansion," Cavello said. "Big-time college football is here to stay at K-State."

Russian economy crisis spurs Dow to fall more than 340 points

BY RUSSELL FORTMEYER
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Reacting to the deepening crisis of the Russian economy, the Dow Jones industrial average fell more than 340 points Thursday.

K-State political and economic analysts said they see the slowing economy as signaling uncertainty in world markets and with political leadership, namely President Bill Clinton and Russian President Boris Yeltsin. The two leaders are scheduled to meet next week at a summit in Moscow.

The analysts also question if a weak Russia, unaided by a weakened U.S. presidency, will begin to hurt the U.S. economy and could hurt students looking for jobs in the near future.

Dale Herspring, head of the Department of Political Science and a member of the Foreign Service for 23 years, said Yeltsin is serving no purpose for Russia right now, and that Americans should not expect any surprise U.S. bailout for Russia at next week's summit.

"Clinton's too weak for anything like that," said Herspring, who spent two years working at the U.S. Embassy in Russia. "Yeltsin just wants Clinton there to show his old buddy Bill still likes him."

As to whether Clinton's Aug. 17 announcement of his affair with former White House intern Monica Lewinsky has weakened his ability to take care of U.S. policy matters, Herspring said he doubts Clinton could get any support for a Russian bail-out plan.

"If he's going to do anything with Russia, he needs Congress's support — and who believes him?" Herspring said.

Herspring said that with people as moderate as former Sen. Nancy Kassebaum Baker saying it's time for Clinton to go, he should know he's in trouble. He said he predicts Clinton won't resign or be impeached but will finish the final two years of his second term accomplishing nothing.

Also Thursday, Russian lawmakers asked Yeltsin to surrender some powers over Cabinet appointments and government policies. Yeltsin, who was falsely rumored yesterday to be considering resignation, replaced Prime Minister Sergei Kiriyenko on Sunday with former Prime Minister Viktor Chernomyrdin, who had been ousted by Yeltsin last March.

Herspring said he sees the return of Chernomyrdin as a backward step that

See RUSSIA on PAGE 5

CALENDAR DEADLINES

To place an item in the Calendar, stop by Kedzie 116 and fill out a form or e-mail it to bulletins@spub.ksu.edu by 11 a.m. two days before it is to run.

NEWS DIGEST

CALENDAR

Calendar is the Collegian's campus bulletin board service. Items in the calendar can be published up to three times. Items might not appear because of space constraints but are guaranteed to appear on the day of the activity. To place an item, stop by Kedzie 116 and fill out a form or e-mail it to collegn@ksu.edu by 11 a.m. two days before it is to run.

■ The Union Program Council will sponsor promotions on Saturday from 4 to 7 p.m. on the first and ground floors of the K-State Student Union.

■ The KSU Karate Club will have an introductory meeting and demonstration at 8:30 p.m. Monday in Ahearn Field House.

■ The K-State Orthodox Christian Fellowship will have an organizational meeting at 9:30 a.m. Saturday at the Manhattan Mennonite Meetinghouse annex.

■ The Finance Club will meet at 7 p.m. Monday in Union 212.

■ The graduate school announces the final oral defense of the doctoral dissertation of Kirk Pappan, "Enzymology and Regulation of Multiple Isoforms of Plans Phospholipase D," for 2:30 p.m. today in Willard 120.

■ Applications are being accepted for tutors in the Community Service Program. Students who want more information on helping students in the area should contact the CSP Tutoring office in Edwards 8D at 532-5701.

POLICE REPORTS

Reports are taken directly from the K-State and Riley County police departments' daily logs. We do not list wheel locks or minor traffic violations because of space constraints.

K-STATE POLICE
WEDNESDAY, AUG. 26

No reports of note were made.

RILEY COUNTY POLICE
WEDNESDAY, AUG. 26

■ At 12:42 a.m., Jill E. Rodriguez, Ford 516, was issued a notice to appear for minor in possession.

■ At 2:07 a.m., Leonard S. Stogsdill, 200 Bevard Green, was arrested for possession of marijuana with intent to sell, possession of methamphetamines, possession of drug paraphernalia and criminal use of a weapon.

■ At 1:28 p.m., Robin Currie, 1026 Pierre St., was arrested for domestic battery. Bond was set at $500.

■ At 4:17 p.m., Ralyp Vinson, Riley, Kan., was arrested on two Riley County warrants for failure to appear. Bond was set at $550.

■ At 6:27 p.m., Shawn E. Sutton, 703 Elm St., Lot 15, was arrested on a Riley County warrant for parole violation. Bond was set at $1,000.

■ At 6:29 p.m., Peter J. Mitchell, 325 Yuma St., was arrested for military desertion of the U.S. Navy. He was detained without bond.

■ At 9:22 p.m., Sarah D. Graves, 808 N. 12th St., Apt. B, was arrested on a Manhattan municipal warrant for failure to appear. Bond was set at $81.

■ At 10:17 p.m., Jill R. Larson, 1709 Vaughn Drive, was arrested on a Riley County warrant for aggravated battery. Bond was set at $1,500.

■ At 11:36 p.m., Kari L. Bott, 601 Fairchild Ave., was issued a notice to appear for minor in possession and unlawful use of a driver's license.

■ At 11:42 p.m., Cayce L. Cobb, 601 Fairchild Ave., was issued a notice to appear for minor in possession.

DAILY REWIND

Daily Rewind collects the top local, state, national and world news from the past 48 hours. Briefs are compiled from wire and staff reports.

Higher ed task force to have first meeting

TOPEKA — A task force established to review state oversight of universities, community colleges and other institutions of higher education will have its first meeting Monday.

The meeting is scheduled at 10 a.m. in Room 123 of the Statehouse. The 19-member Task Force on Higher Education Structure for Excellence was appointed in July by Gov. Bill Graves.

The task force's co-chairmen are Lt. Gov. Gary Sherrer, secretary of commerce and housing, and Gene Bicknell, a Pittsburg businessman who ran unsuccessfully for the Republican nomination for governor in both 1986 and 1994.

The task force is supposed to finish a report on the governance of higher education by Jan. 15.

The State Board of Education oversees the 19 community colleges and 16 area vocational-technical schools, as well as trade schools. The Board of Regents oversees the six state universities.

Critics say the joint oversight results in duplicated programs and higher costs for taxpayers.

The House approved a proposal to create a single, 11-member Council on Higher Education, but it died in committee in the Senate without a vote. Graves had expressed strong reservations about the plan.

TCU says its team can't handle Huskers

LINCOLN, Neb. — Texas Christian University has backed out of a three-game series with Nebraska, saying it's not healthy for a struggling program to face a perennial national power.

Texas Christian formerly had agreed to play at Lincoln for Nebraska's 2000 season-opener, in the 2001 opener at Fort Worth, and early in the 2002 season at Lincoln.

Nebraska athletics director Bill Byrne said Wednesday that he agreed to waive a $100,000 forfeit fee on the TCU contract because the Horned Frogs indicated they would play the Huskers sometime later in the next decade.

"We're going to honor that contract," TCU athletics director Eric Hyman said. "We have a program that has a lot of room for growth, and right now we want to play teams that allow us to grow."

The Horned Frogs went 1-10 last season under former coach Pat Sullivan. Charley North, TCU's director of football operations, said playing Nebraska would do more harm than good.

"Three things go into building a program — recruiting players, coaching them and getting a schedule together conducive to what you're trying to get accomplished," North said. "For us to play Nebraska early in the season was not in our best interests."

TCU has a new coach in Dennis Franchione and a new athletics director in Hyman.

In six seasons at New Mexico, Franchione took the lowly Lobos to the Insight.com Bowl last year. In the process, he dumped games against national powers to play schools like Northern Arizona and Idaho State.

"Don't get any ideas that we're afraid of anyone," North said. "We're just trying to do what's in the best interests of this school."

Meanwhile, Byrne is once again scrambling to fill schedules. During the 1990s, Nevada-Las Vegas, Temple, Houston, Utah State and Northern Illinois have backed out of contracts to play Nebraska.

Byrne said he has had preliminary talks with at least four schools, all of which he declined to name, that might fill the dates vacated by TCU.

Juveniles arrested after allegedly killing camp counselor

BIG CYPRESS NATIONAL PRESERVE, Fla. — Two juvenile boot camp inmates allegedly used a pickax to kill a camp counselor, rolled his body into a lake, then stole his car in an attempted escape.

Jermaine Jones, 16, and Mazer Jean, 17, were arrested a half-hour after the Tuesday attack and accused of murdering Mike Sierra, 40.

Investigators said Jean has admitted that he watched Jones hit Sierra several times in the head Tuesday.

After rolling his body into a lake, the teens took Sierra's Hyundai and drove off, authorities said. Collier County deputies arrested them, following a chase that reached speeds of 95 mph.

Sierra was supervising Jones, Jean and a third inmate while the trio cleared woods by the Big Cypress Wilderness Institute, located 30 miles east of Naples near the Everglades, camp spokeswoman Magie Valdes said. The camp has no fences and staff members are not armed.

Jean and Jones had been at the camp fewer than four months.

"They had the usual problems," Valdes said, "accepting being in a lock-up kind of place and not being able to go home. The staff said they weren't doing great, but they weren't doing badly."

Safety concerns force Ford to recall vehicles

DETROIT — Ford Motor Co. said Thursday that it will recall more than a half-million cars and pickup trucks to replace defective suspension parts that could pose safety problems.

Nearly 310,000 1993 Ford Taurus and Mercury Sable sedans and station wagons are being recalled to replace their front coil springs. Ford said the springs could break due to cracks and corrosion, which could damage the tires.

The cars being recalled are in 21 states, mostly in the North and Canada, where corrosion is more of a problem.

Ford also said some 1997 and 1998 F-150 four-wheel-drive pickups were being recalled because of a problem with the rear leaf springs. If the truck is overloaded, the springs might break and strike the fuel tank, the company said. Nearly 247,000 pickups are being recalled.

The F-150 is the top-selling vehicle in the United States.

Toddler dies in fire

KANSAS CITY, Kan. — A 1-year-old boy died in a house fire that left two other people hospitalized with burns.

The child was identified as Collin R. Catron, the Kansas City, Kan., Fire Department said. His mother, Samantha Scheiterle, 22, and another child, Kilby A. Catron, 3, were both in fair condition Thursday at an area hospital.

An adult male also in the house was not injured. All are Kansas City, Kan., residents.

The fire was reported about 8:20 a.m. Thursday. When firefighters arrived, the house was engulfed in flames, and the two adults and the 3-year-old were standing outside. Firefighters found the younger child's body inside the house.

CORRECTION

Due to a reporter's mistake, a police report in Tuesday's Collegian contained an error.

Jeffrey Gee, 2215 College Ave., Apt. 366, reported a noise complaint about a party to the Riley County Police Department.

The Collegian regrets the error.

WEATHER

HIGH 88

LOW 65

A bit cooler today, but still hot enough for shorts. You'll break a sweat on your run to Bramlage for football tickets. The weekend? Sunny and warm.

CONTACT US

■ NEWSROOM 532-6556
■ ADVERTISING 532-6560
■ CLASSIFIEDS 532-6555

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN
KEDZIE 116
KANSAS STATE UNIVERSITY
MANHATTAN, KS 66506

The Kansas State Collegian (USPS 291 020), a student newspaper at Kansas State University, is published by Student Publications Inc., Kedzie 103, Manhattan, Kan. 66506. The Collegian is published weekdays during the school year and twice a week through the summer. Periodical postage is paid at Manhattan, Kan. 66502. POSTMASTER: Send address changes to Kansas State Collegian, circulation desk, Kedzie 103, Manhattan, Kan. 66506-7167.

© KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN, 1997

RUN to Bramlage Coliseum, don't walk.
August 28-29

Buy your tickets and
See the action
Buy your Royal Purple and
Be part of the action

ROYAL PURPLE - $24.95
SPIRIT PACKS - $35
SPIRIT PACKS INCLUDE: K-State mug, bumper sticker, programmar, phonebook, yearbook, and CD ROM

Mercy Health Center ■ Beginning Sept. 1

Exercise Classes

Gentle Exercise
Slow, gentle stretching and range of motion exercises to help participants stay active and independent. Ideal for people with balance problems, or for those who have difficulty walking.
Monday, Wednesday & Friday at 11:00 am

Sit & Be Fit
Cardiovascular aerobic movements all done in a seated position. Lessen the impact on your joints as you condition your cardiovascular system. Resistance training and stretching conclude this energetic class.
Monday, Wednesday & Friday at 10:00 am

Cardio Express
A 45-minute class of just cardiovascular conditioning. Low-impact and step aerobics are mixed to give you maximum calorie-burning activity. A short workout with BIG results!
Tuesday & Thursday, 7:30 pm

Aerobics & Step Aerobics
A combination of low-impact aerobics and step aerobics. Learn the basics of aerobics, as our instructors teach modifications for beginners, as well as advanced exercisers.
Monday, Wednesday & Friday at 4:30 pm, Tuesday & Thursday at 9:00 am & 4:00 pm, Wednesday at 5:30 pm, Saturday at 9:30 am

Seniorcise
Low-impact aerobics performed to music will condition your heart, followed by resistance training to strengthen. Geared toward "seniors" but all ages are welcome.
Monday, Wednesday & Friday at 9:00 am

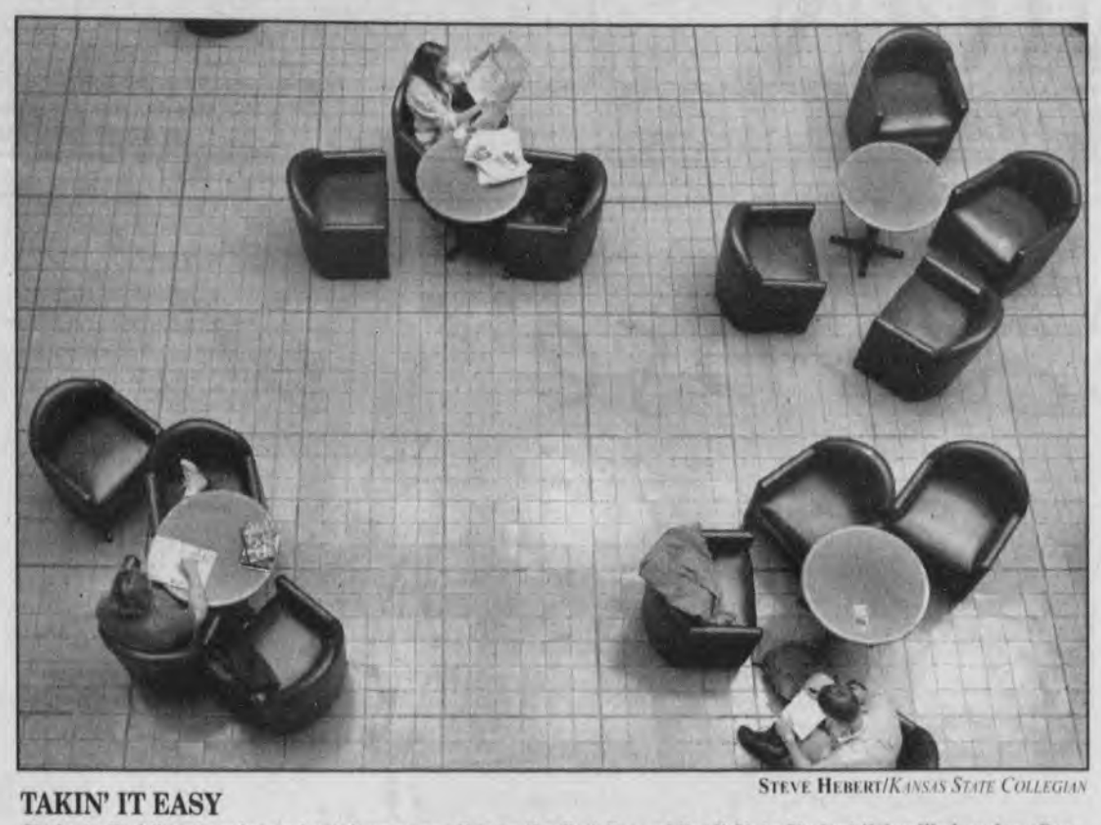
Body Sculpting
Tone and strengthen your muscles using weights, bands, tubing, and balls. This class is an excellent addition to Aerobics & Step.
Monday, Wednesday & Friday at 4:00 pm, Tuesday & Thursday at 5:00 pm

Strengthen & Stretch
Strengthen and stretch your muscles using weights, bands and rubber tubing. Most exercises are done sitting down.
Monday & Wednesday at 2:00 pm, Tuesday & Thursday at 10:00 am

Chi Gong
An ancient Chinese health practice that consists of combining soft, gentle movements with slow, deep breathing. This class is for all ages, and a great stress reliever. The simple movements are an effective method of preventive as well as restorative healthcare.
Tuesday at 11:15 am

Chi Lel
One of the many varieties of Chi Gong.
See above description. Tuesday & Thursday at 3:00 pm

Yoga (men's group)
An ideal class for men who want to increase their flexibility and learn to relax.
Thursday at noon



Yoga
Yoga is a great exercise to strengthen your muscles, improve your flexibility, and relieve stress. Learn yoga postures, as well as meditation, deep breathing, and relaxation.
Monday at 3:00 pm, Tuesday at 5:30 pm, Thursday at 11:00 am & 5:30 pm

Moms in Motion
This class is for pregnant and postpartum women and consists of low-impact aerobics, resistance training, and stretching - all geared toward the pregnant woman's changing body. A physician's referral is required.
Tuesday & Thursday at 6:30 pm

Boxing Aerobics
An energetic upper and lower body workout that combines boxing movements with aerobics. Jab, punch, and kick your way to fitness!
Monday at 5:30 pm, Wednesday at 6:30 pm

MERCY HEALTH CENTER OF MANHATTAN

Mercy Health Center offers a variety of exercise classes for all ages and fitness levels. Meet our friendly, knowledgeable instructors who can help you safely meet your fitness goals. For more information or to register for classes call Mercy Health Center Wellness Department at 776-2837.

Steve Hebert/Kansas State Collegian

TAKIN' IT EASY
Students find time to relax and catch up on reading on the first floor of the K-State Student Union Wednesday afternoon.

Changes bring new deans

By KELLY LYNN
Kansas State University

Changes in administration have brought new deans to the College of Arts and Sciences.

While the duties of previous Assistant Dean William Feyerharm have been expanded in order to emphasize diversity at K-State, no other significant changes to the deans' responsibilities have been made, arts and sciences Dean Peter Nicholls said.

Gerald Reeck, professor of biochemistry, assumed the position of associate dean. Gina Sylvester and Dennis Wilson are new interim assistant deans.

Feyerharm's recent retirement and the decision by Associate Dean Judith Zivanovic to return to her faculty position with the Department of Speech Communication, Theatre and Dance created these opportunities for change within the department.

Brad Sterrett, previously a major gifts officer at St. Lawrence University in New York, replaced Patricia Moline as director of development. Moline accepted a development position at Iowa State University.

While maintaining a half-time appointment with the Department of Biochemistry, Reeck is taking on many of the responsibilities that Zivanovic previously had. He supervises the honors program and teaches the honors seminar for freshmen.

Reeck, who has been at K-State since 1974, said he doesn't have extensive plans for change in the program.

"I believe things are in good shape," Reeck said.

Reeck also is serving as the college's representative on the Course Curriculum Committee and will be a liaison to the general education task force, Nicholls said. Through his involvement with the Course Curriculum Committee, Reeck will work with departments and faculty to evaluate and approve proposed courses.

Sylvester took her position as an interim assistant dean after serving as an adviser and philosophy instructor at K-State. She is handling a majority of the duties for which Feyerharm was responsible. Her responsibilities include handling individual student problems and concerns, particularly academic probation. She also interacts with many high schools and community colleges.

Wilson's responsibilities are also similar to Feyerharm's previous duties, though he emphasizes the importance of minorities and diversity at K-State through his work with student recruitment and retention, Nicholls said.

Wilson, assistant professor of music and director of jazz, works with the admissions office and will be traveling a lot, Nicholls said.

"I will be visiting a lot of the schools that are heavily populated with minorities," Wilson said.

Wilson said he gives presentations and establishes a relationship with students and counselors, which encourages students to consider K-State.

"What's important about having diversity is that many of the classes need a better mix of students," Wilson said.

It is also important to stress attendance at freshman-orientation sessions, Wilson said.

Sterrett's duties as director of development are primarily fund-raising activities, Nicholls said. He promotes the college, visits potential donors, attends alumni events and travels extensively in order to raise money for the college's academic programs.

Forensics Speech Team
Join Today!
No experience required
Squad Meetings
Mondays at 3:30 p.m., Nichols 311
For more information:
532-6875
craigb@ksu.edu

formerly Essentials
GAIA SALON
TO PROMOTE PERSONAL AND PLANETARY WELLNESS REJUVENATION, BALANCE AND BEAUTY
AVEDA concept salon.
539-2622
1-888-539-2622
108 S. 4th
Manhattan

Dr. Paul E. Bullock
Optometrist
$10 Off
Complete Eye Exam
with coupon
Up to $40 cash back, with the purchase of disposable contact lenses.
We fill outside prescriptions
Receive a FREE pair of non-prescription sunglasses with the purchase of any of our complete contact lens or eyeglass packages.
*Most contact lens fittings done same day.
Glasses also available same day in most prescriptions.
Disposable contact lenses starting at $18.95 per box.
1441 Anderson Ave. • Anderson Village • 776-9461 • Toll Free 1-800-432-0036
Adjacent to KSU Expires 9/1/98

SKYDIVE!
Learn how with the K-State Parachute Club
Fall Class Schedule:
Sept. 11-12, 18-19
Oct. 2-3, 16-17, 30-31
Informational Meeting
Sept. 1, 7:30 p.m.
in the Union Little Theatre
For more info contact
ksupc@ksu.edu
www.ksu.edu/ksupc

InterKan.Net, Inc.
Don't Miss Out!!!
Offer Ends Monday--
Sign up before September 1 and get September FREE!
Monthly Rates:
Unlimited hrs -$19.95
100 hrs - $12.50
30 hrs - $10.00
10 hrs - $7.50
1106 R Laramie
10-6 Mon-Fri
12-5 Sat
565-0991
www.interkan.net
No set-up fee with credit card payment. Not valid with other offers.

Ben Franklin Crafts® and Frame Shop
FABRIC SALE
Flat Fold Fabric $1.99/yd.
(Regularly Priced at $2.99/yd.)
NO LIMIT on number of yards
Friday, Saturday, Sunday
(Not valid with any other discounts)
Westloop Shopping Center
Manhattan • 776-4910
Mon.-Fri. 9-9; Sat. 9-7; Sun. 1-6

SHOWING THIS WEEKEND
FIRST MOVIE OF THE SEMESTER
THX 1138
GEORGE LUCAS'S FIRST FILM.
FRIDAY AUGUST 28
SATURDAY AUGUST 29
7:00 pm & 9:30 pm
$1.75 FORUM HALL
K-STATE STUDENT UNION
Sponsored by Kaleidoscope Films

UPC EVENTS

42nd Annual Activities Carnival
Sponsored by Promotions in conjunction with KSU Volunteer Fair
Sponsored by KSU's Career and Employment Services
Sunday, Aug. 30
4–7 pm
K-State Student Union
Organizations sign up in UPC office due by Friday
Free Food Free Food Free Food

WELCOME BACK CONCERT
Where: Triangle Park Aggieville
When: Friday, Aug. 28, 8:30 pm
Rain Site: Main Ballroom K-State Student Union
Opening Band: Little Blue Crunchy Things
Headliner: Freshwater Collins
Sponsored by Eclectic Entertainment and DB92

BUFFALO RIVER CANOE TRIP
SEPT. 5 - 7
COST $60
SIGN UP NOW IN THE UPC OFFICE
SPONSORED BY OUTDOOR ADVENTURES

COUNTRY DANCE LESSONS
Every Wednesday
Session 1: Sept. 2 - Sept. 23
Session 2: Sept. 30 - Oct. 21
7:30 - 9 p.m.
Union Station, Student Union
Each Session: $10 / person $15 / Couple
Save $$$ on both and Sign up now in the UPC Office
Sponsored by Multicultural

Union Program Council
Third Floor K-State Student Union
For Questions Call 532-6571

OUR VIEW

Sides differ on affect of Wendy's settlement

The Collegian Editorial Board meets daily to discuss relevant issues and to reach a consensus of opinion among the editors on topics that appear in this column. Some issues, however, have multiple sides, and on occasion, the editorial board becomes divided. When this happens, we present the sides to the reader, allowing each individual to make their own, fully informed choice.

POINT

People with disabilities should have the same freedoms as those who do not.

Private industry, however, has the right to make decisions on the basis of what it deems to be in its own best interest.

In a settlement Thursday with the U.S. Department of Justice and the attorneys general of nine states, including Kansas, Wendy's restaurants agreed to widen or remove the zig-zag lane that leads to the counter in many of their restaurants.

The concern was that the line was inaccessible to wheelchairs, and that the lane designed for handicapped patrons was demeaning, perpetuating the stereotype that people with disabilities need special treatment. The settlement dictates the line should either be removed or widened.

There are 54-million disabled people in this country, many of whom cannot eat at Wendy's. If the company chooses to throw away the revenues from that population, that is its right. Allowing the federal government to come down on a private industry because its practices reportedly perpetuate a stereotype about disabled people is ludicrous.

There is no evidence that the method previously used by Wendy's was in any way oppressive to its disabled patrons. Even the word "disabled" implies that handicapped individuals will have special needs and face certain obstacles. While they should be accommodated, private industry should not be forced to go out of its way when adequate means are available.

EDITORIAL BOARD

EDITOR-IN-CHIEF
JILL JARSULIC

MANAGING EDITOR/ PRESENTATION
TODD STEWART

NEWS EDITOR
TRAVIS D. LENKNER

PHOTO EDITOR
STEVE HEBERT

CAMPUS EDITOR
KELLEE MILLER

CITY/GOVERNMENT EDITOR
MATT KREPS

SPORTS EDITOR
JEREMY KELLEY

ARTS & ENTERTAINMENT EDITOR
DIANA LEE

OPINION EDITOR
JON KURCHE

COPY CHIEF
JANET COOK

eCOLLEGIAN EDITOR
R.J. DIEPENBROCK

SPECIAL PROJECTS EDITOR
ANGELA KISTNER

COUNTERPOINT

The Americans with Disabilities Act, signed into law July 26, 1990, has improved equality in all areas of life for a large group of Americans whose needs were ignored previously.

Eight years later, organizations, like the Wendy's restaurant chain that haven't brought their buildings into compliance with the act remain as hinderances for people living with disabilities.

The Department of Justice took an important stance Thursday ordering the chain to comply with the act and accommodate its patrons in wheelchairs by updating the restaurants they have not yet made adequately accessible.

The ADA deserves strict enforcement not only because it makes buildings accessible to the disabled, but also because it ensures people will be treated with dignity. Organizations failing to comply with the act reinforce stereotypes about disabled people by stripping them of the self-reliance the ADA assures them.

The government needs to enforce these regulations, even if enforcement includes making businesses in the private sector compliant.

Americans with disabilities are not asking for special treatment or unreasonable accommodations. Businesses owe their disabled patrons more than to deny their need to be treated with the same courtesies enjoyed by other patrons.

READERS WRITE

E-MAIL US TODAY. YOUR LETTER COULD BE RIGHT HERE MONDAY.

Send your letters to the editor to letters@spub.ksu.edu

AARON FRUEHLING/COLLEGIAN

It's the end of the world as we know it and I don't feel fine

VIEWPOINT

MICHAEL NEFF

This story was inspired by a journey to the grocery store a couple of months ago.

I was standing in line with my gallon of orange juice and a six pack of beer at the checkout counter behind a 6-foot-3-inch, 300-pound, tobacco-chewing woman with at least fifty packages of diapers. After nearly 10 minutes of waiting, I grew bored and started browsing the tabloids at the register when a bizarre story caught my eye.

According to the story, a man was swabbing his ears with an ordinary, run-of-the-mill cotton swab when his telephone rang. He moseyed over to his telephone, still cleaning his ears, and promptly tripped over his dog who was asleep on the floor. He fell on his head, and the cotton swab rammed into his brain, killing him instantly.

I thought to myself, "Wow, that lady in front of me just spit her tobacco chew on the floor." But as for the "cotton swab incident," as I call it, what kind of a twisted world do we live in that poor, innocent people die at the hands of their simple cleaning supplies?

What's next, I ask you? People ramming their toothbrushes too far down their throats and choking to death? Guess what? It's happened. College students accidentally slitting their wrists on their notebook paper while taking notes at a feverish pace in class?

Well, it hasn't happened yet, but there's a first time for everything.

Is a new epidemic sweeping the nation where we must live in fear of merely maintaining our own cleanliness? Meanwhile, this beast of a woman in front of me in line obviously is prospering enough to be able to afford so many diapers. Ladies and gentlemen, doomsday is approaching. The apocalypse has begun; no one is safe. Board your windows, lock your doors, beware of anything and everything, no matter how simple it may seem. Heed my warning, fellow students, I rant not for a grade or a paycheck, although the money is nice. No, I merely am concerned with each of your well-beings.

Now, I know what you're going to ask me. You're going to ask, "Hey Michael, what can I do to help?"

I was hoping someone would ask. What we need to do to resolve the issue at hand is warning labels. Why stop with warnings just on cigarette packages and alcohol? We already know those are dangerous, and gauging from all the smokers and drinkers out there, we don't care. Let's go the whole nine yards.

Write your congressman and insist warnings be printed on everything from milk cartons to shoelaces. We are the world, we are the future, and it is up to us to protect society from tragic accidents like the "cotton swab incident." Before we know it, something else could happen. Who knows, it could even affect you.

For instance, if we keep driving cars in the opposite direction of the Earth's rotation, it will bring us closer and closer to an eventual standstill. Do cars come with a warning about THAT printed on them? I should think not. Is it important? Of course. Without rotation, everything on Earth will be hurled off into deep space. Doesn't sound pretty, eh? Well then, we must bolt everything down and act fast.

Michael Neff is a sophomore in English. You can e-mail him at man5976@ksu.edu.

Mother shows true courage in fight against cancer

VIEWPOINT

JAKE PALENSKE

Summer vacation. Time for fun in the sun, barbecues and other carefree activities.

But not everyone spent the past three months engaging in such carefree activities.

This summer, I witnessed the bravest individual I know fight a battle that ultimately could have cost her her life.

Last August, my mother was diagnosed with breast cancer. The doctors told her the [illegible] originated in her breast, but it [illegible] breeding ground [illegible] very efficient at spreading [illegible] the rest of the body. Because of this, her diagnosis was particularly grim.

The day she found out, our family's life was turned upside down. We had gone from having a healthy, vibrant mother and wife to having a loved one who was being told she could die within a matter of months if action wasn't taken to treat the disease.

My mother was shocked by the whole situation. She wasn't someone who was "supposed" to get breast cancer. She doesn't smoke. She doesn't work in a job that involves cancer-causing substances. The disease doesn't run in her family. She had regular mammograms.

But the fact remained that she still had cancer.

She had two options. She could give up, run away from the problem and die quietly. Or, she could fight.

She chose to fight.

A weaker person would not have been able to survive the battle she chose to wage. First, she underwent a radical mastectomy, which removed not only her breast but most of the tissue under her arm and on her side. Next, she endured months of high-intensity chemotherapy. Her hair fell out. She lost a great deal of weight. She was sick all the time, so sick at times that she couldn't even [illegible] the easy part.

[illegible] checked into the [illegible] Center for a [illegible] placement. For four days, she was given the most chemotherapy a body can handle without dying. This killed her immune system and all the bone marrow in her body, which is a [illegible] breeding ground for cancer cells. The doctors then injected new, clean marrow into her bones, effectively giving her a new immune system.

I was never allowed to see her during this treatment. Only my father and a friend of the family were allowed in her room because without an immune system, a common cold could kill her. She has told me that she has never been so sick in all her life, and that she was basically grasping to life for a few days.

She was supposed to be in seclusion at KU Medical Center for up to 90 days.

But she chose to fight.

She returned home in an amazing 19 days, and her immune system returned soon after that.

Since then, she has endured radiation treatments that have burned her skin. She has been poked, prodded, cut and tested until she couldn't stand it anymore. There were many rough days for Mom. But instead of letting the disease kill her, she kept a positive attitude. I was amazed that someone who had been subjected to so much pain and sickness still could smile at little things, like watching her niece play with her favorite doll.

Mom is doing very well, and her prognosis is excellent. Her hair is growing back, and she slowly is returning to a normal life. All because she was brave enough to make the choice to fight.

Mom, I have never had so much respect and pride for a person as I have for you now. You could have chosen to die and take the easy road, but you endured your treatments and graced us with your continued presence.

I love you, and I am glad you chose the hard path.

Jake Palenske is a sophomore in mass communications. send e-mail to him at jep6245@ksu.edu

Student Senate begins '98-'99 session

By JAIMIE HARTTER
Kansas State Collegian

After a ice cream social sponsored by Pat Bosco, dean of student life, Student Governing Association began the first Student Senate meeting of fall 1998.

Student Body President Tracey Mann said he was concerned with communication between SGA and the student body. Mann said he wants to define SGA's goals clearly and clarify his priorities regarding student policies.

"I want to clearly articulate to the student body the goals that I plan for this year," Mann said.

One of Mann's top priorities is a parking permit for the Chester E. Peters Recreation Complex, which would cost students approximately $30 for parking privileges in the Rec Complex parking lot. The permit is targeted to students who use the Rec Complex's facilities but do not need other campus parking.

An SGA hotline also will be available for students who want to call and express opinions they have about campus issues.

"I'd like to see students have an avenue to contact us about a problem," Mann said.

Jake Worcester, senate vice chair, said there will be voicemail available on the SGA hotline.

"We will make sure that the voicemail is answered in a timely fashion," Worcester said.

Bosco took the opportunity to update senators on the progress of several K-State initiatives.

Bosco said KATS was moving into its last phase. KATS is a new online service that allows students to access enrollment and grade information through a secure Internet connection. The final phase will explore phone-in registration as a possibility for future enrollment.

The new registration process will be tested in October with a small sample of the student body.

There might be a charge for the dial-in registration, but Bosco said groups have been positive about the user-fee option.

Bosco also made several general comments about K-State. Over the summer, K-State was recognized in Best College Buys and was in the Top 100 Colleges.

"This means we are ranked with quality as well as affordability," Bosco said.

Bosco also said K-State had the largest number of freshman and transfer students at orientation in the last 12 years.

In other business, Kelly Furnas was approved to fill a vacant Arts and Sciences Senate seat by unanimous consent.

Also, Dr. S. Kaleem Quadri, a former associate professor of veterinary medicine who died of a heart attack last March, was honored for his dedication and service to K-State.

RUSSIA

■ continued from page 1

could usher in more Communist control of Russian policies.

In response to the Russian crisis, world markets closed significantly lower Thursday. The Dow Jones closed at 8181.18, down 342.17 points for a four-percent drop.

Tokyo's Nikkei stock average fell three percent, responding to both the Russian crisis and the continuing uncertainty toward cleaning up Japan's banking system.

The Central Bank has stopped selling dollars to Russian banks in an attempt to keep its hard currency reserves from dwindling further. The Bank now has reserves of $13.4 billion and has spent $8.8 billion since July trying to prop up the Russian ruble.

Roger Trenary, instructor of economics, said that if the economy continues to grow slower or even decline, the amount of jobs available for students will decline.

"Political stability is the real issue," Trenary said.

"Military spending is at a 20- or 30-year low as a percentage of the national economy. If we have to re-arm, in some sense, that involves another shift in the economy. Any time you have to change it's not good."

However, Trenary said recent market events do not signal a catastrophe and that, even with a 340 point slide, the market is still up for the year.

"In general, I don't think people like uncertainty. People will pull back until they see what happens," Trenary said.

The Associated Press contributed to this story.

FANS

■ continued from page 1

team, but they need fans to bring out that talent.

"Without them, I don't care how talented you are," he said.

Mikos said he was afraid he wasn't going to get tickets this year because of the high prices, and that he remained loyal to the team even through the tough times.

"I always came during the depression years," he said.

Former K-State wide receiver J.W. White said fans are important to the players on the field.

"It's just amazing when you're down there tired, and you see all the screaming fans," he said. "If they're still able to do it, you ought to be able to go a little bit longer."

White said that, even when compared to Nebraska's fans, K-State's are the best.

"We've got the purple sea," he said.

Willie the Wildcat pretends to eat the shoe of a young K-State football fan during Fan Appreciation Day on Thursday at KSU Stadium.

Steve Dearinger/Collegian

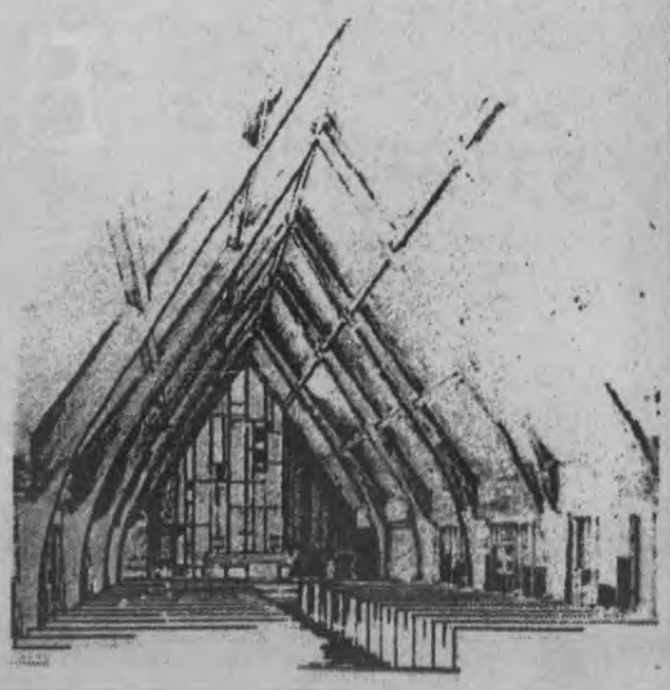
LIKE FOOTBALL?
YOU CAME TO THE RIGHT PLACE.

COLLEGIAN SPORTS.
IN YOUR FACE EVERYDAY.

PIZZA SHUTTLE DELIVERS
776-5577
1800 Claflin Road

St. Luke's Evangelical Lutheran Church Welcomes Students to Manhattan!

Join us for a Contemporary Worship Service and Picnic, August 30, 11:00 am at Tuttle Creek Lake, Shelter House #4.



Need directions or a ride, call the church at 539-2604

330 North Sunset

Traditional Worship
Saturday at 6:00 pm
or Sunday at 8:30 am,

Contemporary Worship
Sunday at 11:00am.

College Bible Study
Sunday at 9:45 am.

Religion Directory

First Lutheran
10th Poyntz 537-8532
Worship
Sat. 5:30 p.m., Sun. 8:30 & 11 a.m.
Sunday School all ages 9:40 a.m. anhattan Mennonite Church

Sunday School 9:30 a.m., Worship 10:45 a.m.
Richard & Barbara Gehring, Co-Pastors
10th and Fremont 539-4079
Welcome Students and Staff!

First Presbyterian Church
Sunday Schedule
8:30 a.m.
Contemporary Worship
9:15 a.m.
Sunday School for all ages
10:30 a.m.
Traditional Worship
7:30 p.m.
Special Service for College Students
801 Leavenworth St. (785) 537-0518

Manhattan FRIENDS Meeting
1509 Wreath Ave.
(Manhattan Jewish Congregation)
Silent Meeting for Worship & Meditation
Sundays 7-8 p.m.
Discussion following
539-3733 or 539-2636

Westview Community Church
Contemporary Morning Worship
8:30 & 10:45 a.m.
Sunday school 9:45 a.m.
College Career Classes Offered
Wed. Evening Activities @ 7p.m.
Sunday Evening Worship 6 p.m.
One Sunday a month
(as announced)
CARE CELLS (Home Groups)
6 p.m., Other Sunday evenings
www.networksplus.com/westview
3001 Ft. Riley Blvd. 537-7173

Christ Evangelical Lutheran Church
Missouri Synod
776-2227
9 a.m. Sunday School
& Bible Class
10:30 a.m. Divine Worship
KSU - DANFORTH CHAPEL

Grace Baptist Church
2901 Dickens - 2 blks. E. of Seth Child)
◆ Sunday ◆
Morning Worship
8:15 & 10:45 a.m.
Bible Classes For All Ages 9:30 a.m.
Body Life or Care Cells 6 p.m.
776-0424

First Congregational Church
700 Poyntz (Poyntz and Juliette) 537-7006
Sunday School and Adult Ed. Class at 9:30 a.m.
Worship at 10:45 a.m.
Sunday, Sept. 7th
Rev. Donald Longbottom

St. Isidore's Catholic Student Center
MASS SCHEDULE
Tuesday-Thursday 10:00 p.m.
Friday 12:10 p.m.
Saturday 5 p.m.
Sunday 9:30 a.m., 11 a.m.
Sun. 4:30 p.m., 6 p.m.
Father Keith Weber, Chaplain
711 Denison 539-7496

Welcome KSU students, faculty, & staff!
College Ave. United Methodist Church
Sunday School 9:30 a.m.
Worship 10:45 a.m.
1609 College Ave.
539-4191

First Baptist Church
Sunday Worship 11 a.m.
Church School 9:45 a.m.
For free transportation within city limits, call the church.
Pastors Karen & Alan Selig
2121 Blue Hills Rd.
539-8691
An American Baptist Congregation

The Assembly
Manhattan's first Assembly of God
2310 Candlewood
537-7633
Sunday School 9:30 a.m.
College Sunday School Class 9:30 a.m.
Hispanic Sunday Service at 2 p.m.
Worship Service 10:30 a.m.
Evening Praise 6 p.m.
Prayer Meeting 7 p.m.
- Youth Group
-Royal Rangers
- Missionettes
Nursery Provided For All Services

St. Francis Canterbury Episcopal Church
Eucharist & Guitar
in Danforth Chapel
Every Sunday at 5 p.m.
Rev. Cathy Chittenden-Bascom
532-9099
Part of world wide Anglican Communion

First Christian Church
(Disciples of Christ)
5th & Humboldt
776-8790
Sunday
8:30 a.m. - Contemporary Worship
9:45 a.m. - College/Young Adult Bible Class
10:55 a.m. - Traditional Worship
11:30 a.m. - Live Broadcast 95.3 FM
Wednesday
5:30 p.m. - Pizza and Bible Study

MANHATTAN JEWISH CONGREGATION
1509 WREATH AVE. • 539-8462
invites faculty and students to a
WELCOME BACK SERVICE
Fri. Aug. 28 at 7:30p.m.
HILLEL
For information about rides to services and about HILLEL, call:
Sara: 776-3299
Deborah: 539-7947
The High Holiday Services schedule will be announced shortly.

Restaurant ordered to change service lines

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

WASHINGTON, D.C. — A sweeping out-of-court settlement with Wendy's restaurants sends a message that disabled people cannot be literally pushed to one side at fast-food restaurants or elsewhere, Attorney General Janet Reno said Thursday.

The agreement that either will widen or remove the zigzag lanes at many Wendy's counters follows agreements to improve access at other establishments as the latest example of the Clinton administration's aggressive enforcement of the Americans with Disabilities Act.

Fourteen Wendy's restaurants in the Kansas City area are affected by Thursday's agreement specifically.

Mary Tritsch, spokeswoman for Kansas Attorney General Carla Stovall, said the 14 were cited in the settlement because a team of investigators came only to Kansas City to check on conditions in the restaurants.

The 14 Wendy's, which are corporate-owned, include three in Kansas City, Kan., Overland Park and Olathe, two in Shawnee and one each in Lenexa, Merriam and Mission.

The agreement should be a model for banks and other businesses where customers line up for service, Reno said.

OUR OPINION
The Collegian editorial board is split on this issue. See Page 4.

The barriers for customers standing in line at Wendy's and other businesses are often so close together that wheelchairs cannot pass or create corners too tight for wheelchairs.

"I haven't been a regular patron of Wendy's for that very reason," said Trish Day, of Bowie, Md., who settled a suit last year with local Burger King restaurants after her wheelchair got stuck in a metal barrier.

"It's such a relief to be able to do something as simple as buy a hamburger and fries like everybody else," said Day, 33, who has cerebral palsy and has used a wheelchair most of her life.

"And it's nice to see that major corporations recognize that there are 54 million disabled people ... and our money is just as green."

Kansas was one of nine states whose attorneys general brought the case against Wendy's — the first case initiated to force restaurants to make their queue lines accessible to the handicapped.

"We're pleased that Wendy's has agreed to correct this situation, which forced those in wheelchairs to be treated differently than other customers," Stovall said in a statement.

Typically, Wendy's used separate wheelchair lanes at its approximately 1,700 company-owned or -leased restaurants to comply with the 8-year-old law.

Shunting people in wheelchairs around the line merely reinforces stereotypes about the disabled, Reno said.

"Before today, customers in wheelchairs had to cut in line or wait for an employee to notice them, and that only added to the stereotype that people with disabilities need special treatment," Reno said.

Dave Thomas, founder of the restaurant chain named for his daughter, said the company-controlled stores will comply with the agreement within 18 months.

The agreement does not directly affect 2,900 Wendy's restaurants owned by franchisees, but the company agreed to notify its franchise operators of the agreement and of the chain's wider obligations under the ADA. Wendy's International Inc., based in Dublin, Ohio, had more than $6 billion in sales last year.

The agreement stemmed from a two-year investigation by the Justice Department and the attorneys general of nine states.

It is the first such joint attempt to force better compliance with the ADA and the first national effort to target lane barriers.

"Banks, retail stores and other restaurants should follow Wendy's example and see if they too can become even more accessible," Reno said.

Last year, in what was then the largest ADA enforcement action against a restaurant chain, 704 Friendly's restaurants agreed to eliminate steps and modify entrances that are too narrow for wheelchairs, among other changes.

Franchises unsure of effect of ruling

BY NICK BRATKOVIC
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Local Wendy's officials couldn't say whether their restaurants will be affected by Thursday's Justice Department ruling.

Pat Holman, assistant manager of the Wendy's at 3004 Anderson Ave., declined to comment on the local aspect of the ruling, but said the restaurant hadn't received any big complaints from disabled customers.

Holman said his restaurant has services that accommodate disabled customers.

"We try to prioritize these customers, whether they are in a wheelchair or on crutches," Holman said.

He said his restaurant has a handicapped-accessible chain at the front of the customer queue that allows disabled customers to order their food. After the food is ordered, Holman said disabled customers are allowed to wait at their table where an employee will serve them.

"I usually let them take a seat, and have a hostess take their food out to them," Holman said.

Wendy's District Manager Mark Goodwin declined to comment on the ruling and referred questions to the chain's corporate office.

Officials at the office were unavailable for comment.

collegian.ksu.edu

Adolph's Nail Parlour
Full Set Acrylics $20!
(reg. $30)
Please mention ad when you come in!
314 Tuttle Creek Plaza, Suite D
Offer exp. 9/30/98 537-6016

1 9 9 8
CUT FOR KIDS' SAKE
Portion of the days' receipts go to Big Brothers/Big Sisters
Register for prize giveaways all day!
BIG BROTHERS BIG SISTERS OF MANHATTAN
SAT., AUG. 29 FROM 8 A.M.-4 P.M. AT Shear Dynamics
AMERICAN CREW
Matrix ESSENTIALS
BUY ONE GET ONE HALF-PRICE OFF REGULAR PRICED RETAIL $10.95 LITERS OF SHAMPOO OR CONDITIONER
REDKEN 5TH AVENUE NYC
SYSTÈME BIOLAGE
NIOXIN
1125 Laramie in Aggieville • 776-9100

JOBS
Starting at $7.00 per hour
PART-TIME
Help needed to take inventory in retail stores. Average 10-12 hours on weekends. Weekday daytime hours are also available.
Averaging 25+ hours.
Apply in person
Landon's Room, Ramada Inn
Friday, Aug. 28
at Noon, 1:30 p.m., 3 p.m., and 4:30 p.m.
Interviews start promptly.
Doors will close after 5 minutes.

Wildcat Soccer
Informational Men's Soccer Meeting
Monday, Aug. 31 at 7:30 p.m.
K-State Student Union, Room 207
For more information contact Eric Glover
776-7331

See what a nickel will buy you at
5¢ Claflin Books and Copies
1814 Claflin Road 776-3771

Kansas River Outfitters
Call
Charlie or Kathy
(785) 456-6680

Comics
Games
Cards
Arcade
Fun
The Gate Keeper
Come see us in Aggieville
1205 Moro
or call us at 539-4539
Manhattan's Comic Book & Game Store

JANDI'S
Gifts and Ceramics
Ceramic K-State Football and Helmet lights--with cut-out powercat design that glows purple.
Footballs $29.95
Helmets $34.95
Exclusive design by JANDI'S
715 N. 12th Aggieville
Open Mon.-Fri. 9-6, Sat. 9-5
ALL
776-0840 or 1-800-645-0840

Don't Gamble With Your Money.
AdVeRtIsE in the COLLEGIAN

Kickoff
Rustys LAST CHANCE SALOON
your weekend on Rusty's
World Famous Patios
FREE 18 foot buffet 5-7 p.m.
All you can eat for free!!
Live DJ getting JIGGY 9 p.m.
Don't miss Saturday's BASH
2 Free Live Bands on the Back Patio:
Pomeroy 6-8p.m.
Se7en 8-11p.m.
2 Free Excellent Bands
NO COVER CHARGE!

Interested in assisting with the implementation of KSU's Honor Code?

Student Governing Association is accepting applications for the Honor Council

Qualifications: Must have completed two semesters at KSU.

Appointments are 1 or 2 year and based on college.

Deadline: Friday, Sept. 4th

Applications available in the Office of Student Activities and Services, Ground Floor, K-State Student Union.
Call 532-6541 for more information.

Fort Riley soldiers to act as mentors for kids

By M.A. LOROFF
Kansas State Collegian

Fort Riley soldiers are once again answering the call to serve their country. The soldiers, as well as civilian employees and military family members, will serve as mentors for the Fort Riley Kids 2000 program during the academic year.

Kids 2000 is a cooperative effort by Junction City-Fort Riley USD 475 schools to improve the education experience of all children in the district.

"It's like a Big Brothers-Big Sisters program in an educational way," said Mike Lacer, education counselor at Fort Riley.

The program consists of three components: the mentor program, adopt-a-school and parent participation.

The Fort Riley mentors must complete a six-hour training course provided by the chaplain's office, as well as a background check by the military police.

From October until the end of the school year, mentors commit to one hour a week with the child.

"We try to provide soldiers with remarkable skills in academics and listening to schools," said Gordon Farmer, director of Fort Riley's Education Center. "By placing at-risk children with volunteers, we can improve their education and their self-esteem."

Each school is assigned to a unit or a group of units at Fort Riley. The units provide support for special schoolwide activities such as a post fun-run and a haunted house.

First Lt. Lita Hardwick, a mentor for more than a year, said the principals of the schools have been supportive of the project.

"When the unit is assigned to the school, the group will meet with the principal to work out a plan for the year," Hardwick said. "It really makes you feel like you are doing something."

Lacer, who is also a mentor, said he enjoys the children's smiles when he walks into the classroom.

"The beam on the kids' faces and excited attitudes makes me feel like I am really a part of something good," Lacer said.

Another goal of Kids 2000 is to get military parents involved with their children's academic progress. The parental-involvement program ensures that military parents actively participate in parent-teacher conferences and PTA meetings.

The drawback of the program is that the mentors aren't always able to keep in touch with the children after the school year is finished.

"We don't have the opportunities to keep in touch because of the military. The parents may have to change post and we won't see the kids again," Lacer said.

Now in its second year, the Kids 2000 program has provided training for nearly 450 individuals, ranking from privates to lieutenant colonels.

Farmer said the program expects to have the same number of mentors this year.

"We have all ages, from 18-year old privates to 40-year-old master sergeants," he said.

Steven Dearinger/Kansas State Collegian

WRESTLING AROUND
Mike Pfannenstiel, senior in biology and pre-medicine, wrestles with Abby Elser, sophomore in elementary education, during a sand-volleyball game Wednesday evening in front of Goodnow Hall.

Use of cellular phones offer advantages for students

By ANGELA MOMON
Kansas State Collegian

It is common for students to hear cellular phones ringing as they walk to class, during class and almost anywhere else on the campus and in the city.

Low pricing and competitive calling options make cellular phones an attractive choice for students.

"They offer toll-free calling, which eliminates long distance to places they call the most, which is home," said Kevin Turner, communications consultant at Kansas Cellular.

Turner estimated that as many as 8,000 K-State students use cellular service. He said the portability and long-distance options are especially suited for students.

For those students thinking about purchasing a cellular phone, choosing from Manhattan's three providers can be a difficult process.

Cellular One, Kansas Cellular and Radio Shack all offer different service plans for the Manhattan area. The three providers offer a wide range of features and additional options from which students can choose.

Cellular One, located in the Westloop Shopping Center, offers a basic plan starting at $29.95 a month. The plan includes 90 minutes of free airtime with additional local airtime at a rate of 34 cents a minute, anytime.

This plan also includes call forwarding, three-way calling, detailed billing and a statewide toll-free service that allows a customer to make in-state long-distance calls at no extra charge, as long as the minutes are part of those included in the service plan.

Cellular One offers several other plans with prices ranging from $29.95 to $99.99. It also offers cellular phones ranging from $9.99 to $1,000. There is a one-time activation fee of $35.

Another local company offering cellular phone service is Kansas Cellular, located on East Poyntz Avenue.

Kansas Cellular offers a basic plan starting at $24.95 a month. The plan includes 40 minutes of free airtime and additional airtime at a rate of 45 cents a minute during the day and 35 cents a minute at night.

In addition to the basic plan, it offers a package that includes 1,000 minutes of airtime for $10.95 a month. Those minutes are night and weekend times, but Turner said these are ideal for students calling home or talking to friends.

Kansas Cellular offers other plans, with prices ranging from $24.95 to $264 a month. All plans come with a one-year obligation.

The Collegian. Your source for K-State sports news.

Hair Experts Design Team
Shampoo Sale
Reg. $17 to $20
Liters $10.95
Enough for the semester!
$5 off Any Service
Not valid with any other offer, children's haircut or waxing.
#23 expires 9/1/98
776-4455
Aggieville, USA

See what a nickel will buy you at
5¢ Claflin Books and Copies
1814 Claflin Road 776-3771

MANPOWER
Accepting applications for area temporary assignments
INDUSTRIAL: Packaging, production, assembly and general labor.
OFFICE: Secretarial, word processing and data entry operators, general clerks.
Manpower offers benefits like paid holidays and vacations, life/health insurance, flexible schedules.
Apply in person
8 a.m. - 4:30 p.m.
555 Poyntz
Suite 245, Colony Square
Serving Manhattan Since 1976

"It's Greek To Me, Inc."
K-State Super Store
GRAND OPENING
August 27th - August 30th
Located at 520 McCall Rd. Manhattan
Special Events:
All in store stock 15% OFF (reg. price merch. only)
Refreshment table
Tour of store on Thursday and Friday 4:00p.m. to 8:00p.m.
A four day drawing to win a free small neon powercat sign
(785) 537-8822 / (800) 336-4486
STORE HOURS:
M-F 8:30a.m.-6:00p.m.
Sat 9:00a.m.-6:00p.m.
Sun 12:00p.m.-5:00p.m.

K-STATE Federal CREDIT UNION
"Enroll In Money 101"
TOTALLY FREE Checking
NO Minimum Balance
FREE ATM Usage (at our ATM)
No Service Charge
No Per Check Charge
Two Locations to serve your Needs!
2700 Anderson Ave. (near Westloop Shopping Area)
1455 Anderson Ave. (across from Campus)
785-776-3003
e-mail: creditunion@kcu.edu web page: www.kcu.edu/creditunion

PUMPS • LOCKS • HELMETS • COMPUTERS • TOOLS
HIT THE TRAIL SALE
HIKING BOOTS • WHEELS • TIRES • GLOVES
WATER BOTTLES & CAGES • V BRAKE
MOUNTAIN BIKES AS LOW AS $199.95
U-LOCKS STARTING AT $9.99
Over 50 Models of Bikes on sale from
• SCHWINN • RALEIGH •
• BIANCHI • SPECIALIZED • • CANNONDALE • FISHER •
the PATHFINDER
OUTDOOR EQUIPMENT SPECIALISTS
304 Poyntz, Downtown Manhattan
Sale Ends Sept. 5
Quantities Are Limited
539-5639
Established in 1975 • Open Until 7 Mon.-Wed. and Thurs. Until 8 p.m.
BACKPACKS • FANNY PACKS • MOUNTAIN BIKES • U-LOCKS
Come see the Schwinn Bicycle Stunt Show, Sept. 4 at the Purple Power Play on Poyntz!

Call 395-SAFE For Free Campus Escort, because God only knows what those Squirrels are capable of.
A team of two Wildcat Walk volunteers will meet you and escort you anywhere within six blocks of campus, anytime between 6 p.m. - 6 a.m.
Wildcat Walk
It's The Safe Thing To Do.
So Call. 395-SAFE.
http://www.ksu.edu/wildcatwalk
Call, too, for information on volunteering.

Paragon Technology Inc.

Our Two Newest Pre-Designed Systems
Athena & Thor...

Athena
- Gigabyte GA6BXC Pentium II BX Chipset Motherboard
- Intel Pentium-II 400MHzOEM= (1 Year Warranty)
- High Efficient CPU FAN for Pentium II (Ball Bearing)
- 100 MHz 64MB 4x64-16 (Compatible BX ChipSet)
- Matrox Millennium G200 8MB AGP (OEM)
- QUANTUM ST6480A 6.4GB U/ATA 10ms 128k
- Creative Labs 32X IDE Internal CD-ROM Drive
- Paragon MicroScan 19P (ADI OEM) 1600x1200 75 MHz, 0.22mm
- Creative Lab Digicom 56K V90w/Voice
- Mitsumi 1.44MB Floppy
- Cambridge Sound Works SW Speakers
- Yamaha 724 Enhanced 3D PCI Card-Software Wavetable
- Logitech IntelliMouse (First Mouse+) -Combo
- Microsoft Elite Natural Keyboard
- System Assembly w/1Yr warranty
- Choice of Microsoft Windows95 or 98 Full Version (with system)
- Software Package (details included)

DORM RESIDENTS
Need
Network Cards
D-Link TP/BNC PCI
$23.95
ACER ALN 310 TX
$36.95

Thor
- Gigabyte GA6BXC Pentium II BX Chipset Motherboard
- Intel Pentium-II 400MHzOEM= (1 Year Warranty)
- High Efficient CPU FAN for Pentium II (Ball Bearing)
- 100 MHz 64MB 4x64-8 (Compatible BX ChipSet)
- Matrox Millennium G200 8MB AGP (OEM)
- QUANTUM ST6480A 6.4GB U/ATA 10ms 128k
- Creative Labs 32X IDE Internal CD-ROM Drive
- Paragon MicroScan 19P (ADI OEM) 1600x1200 75 MHz, 0.22mm
- Creative Lab Digicom 56K V90w/Voice
- Mitsumi 1.44MB Floppy
- Cambridge Sound Works SW Speakers
- Yamaha 724 Enhanced 3D PCI Card-Software Wavetable
- Logitech IntelliMouse (First Mouse+) -Combo
- Microsoft Elite Natural Keyboard
- System Assembly w/1Yr warranty
- Choice of Microsoft Windows95 or 98 Full Version (with system)
- Software Package (details included)

TURTLE BEACH MONTEGO
is currently the best sound card on the market
game GOTTA HAVE IT! ★★★★★ $104.95

CAMBRIDGE SOUNDWORKS
SOUNDWORKS
BY HENRY KLOSS
SoundWorks® is the critically acclaimed PC speaker system designed by the legendary Henry Kloss. Compatible with TVs and portable stereos, the SoundWorks system consists of a pair of compact satellite speakers and a powerful, amplified subwoofer that encloses a 3-channel amplifier and cross-over electronics that are all frequency matched for exceptional tonal balance.
Editors' Choice
Retail $149.95
SALE $132.95

ATTENTION!
Architecture Students!
Pro II
- Gigabyte GA-5AX
- And K6-266
- 64MB EDO Memory
- Matrox Productiva G100 4MB AGP
- IBM 6.4
- Teac 32x CD-ROM
- Paragon Micro Scan 15" .24MM
- Creative Labs Ensong Sound Card
- Mitsumi 1.44 Floppy Drive
- Creative Labs Digicom 56k V.90w/Voice
- Lexmark 1100 Color Printer
- Juster AT-95 Speakers
- Logitech IntelliMouse
- Microsoft Windows 95 or 98 - Your Choice!
- Paragon Software Package

$1079.95

COLOR PRINTERS
LEXMARK 1100 $131.95
EPSON Stylus $185.00

PARAGON MONITORS
- 15" .24mm— $174.95
- 17" .22mm— $289.95
- 19" .22mm— $554.95

Hercules
- Abit LX6 (PII-ATX-440LX)
- Intel Pentium-II 266MHzOEM= (1 Year Warranty)
- High Efficient CPU FAN for Pentium II (Ball Bearing)
- SDRAM 168Pin 3.3V 10ns 32MB Unbuffered
- Matrox Millennium II 4MB AGP Upgradable
- IBM DHEA-36480 6.4GB U/AT 9.5ms 128k 5400rpm
- Teac 32X CD-ROM
- Acer ATX Mid Tower Case w/235W Power Supply
- Paragon MicroScan 15P (ADI OEM) 1024X768 85Hz, 0.24mm
- Creative Labs Digcom 56K V90 w/Voice
- Mitsumi 1.44MB Floppy
- Juster AT-95, 200 Watts
- Creative Labs Ensoniq PCI Sound Card
- LOGITECH Mouseman 3 Button - Combo
- Mitsumi 104 Key Windows Keyboard
- Lexmark 1100 Color Inkjet Printer
- System Assembly
- Choice of Microsoft Windows 95 or 98 Full Version (with system)

$1,339.95

Zeus
- Abit LX6 (PII-ATX-440LX)
- Intel Pentium-II 300MHzOEM= (1 Year Warranty)
- High Efficient CPU FAN for Pentium II (Ball Bearing)
- SDRAM 168Pin 3.3V 10ns 32MB Unbuffered
- ATI Xpert@Play 4MB SGRAM PC2TV 1600x1200 AGP
- IBM DHEA-36480 6.4GB U/AT 9.5ms 128k 5400rpm
- TEAC 32X IDE Internal CD-ROM Drive
- Acer ATX Mid Tower Case w/235W Power Supply
- Paragon MicroScan 17P+ (ADI OEM) 1280X1024, 0.22mm
- Creative Labs Digcom 56K V90 w/Voice
- SONY 1.44MB Floppy
- Benwin BW980-3Way 70W (4 pieces) Speaker System
- Sound Blaster AWE64
- LOGITECH InteliMouse (First Mouse+) - Combo
- LITE-ON SK-600 Natural Keyboard
- Lexmark 1100 Color Inkjet Printer
- System Assembly w/ 1 Yr. Warranty
- Choice of Microsoft Windows 95 or 98 Full Version (with system)

$1,849.00

Cyclops
- ABIT BX6- BX Chipset
- Intel Pentium-II 400MHzOEM= (1 Year Warranty)
- High Efficient CPU FAN for Pentium II (Ball Bearing)
- 100 MHz32MB 4x64-16 (Compatible BX ChipSet)
- DIAMOND VIPER V330 4MG AGP (OEM)
- QUANTUM ST6480A 6.4GB U/ATA 10ms 128k
- Mitsumi 32X IDE Internal CD-ROM Drive
- Paragon MicroScan 17P+(ADI OEM) 1280x1024, 0.22mm
- ACER 76C 17in, 0.27 MM
- Creative Labs Digicom 56K V90 w/Voice
- Mitsumi 1.44MB Floppy
- Benwin BW980-3Way 70W (4 pieces) Speaker System
- Sound Blaster AWE64
- LOGITECH Mouseman, Button Mice-Combo PS/2
- KEYTRONICS 3601, PS/2 104 Keyboard
- System Assembly w/ 1 Year Warranty
- Microsoft Windows 95 Version (with system)

$1,999.95

• FREE System Builds • FREE Software Package with System Build

MICROSOFT CERTIFIED IN HOUSE TECHNICIANS • Systems Components Subject To Change Due To Availability

Local Financing • 90 Days Same As Cash • 90 Days Deferred • 6 Months • Terms Available • System Upgrades Components Available • 2% Cash

Paragon Technology ★
Claflin | Denison

Visit Us On our Website: http//www.paragoncomp.com

1800 Claflin, Suite 170 • First Bank Center at the Corner of Claflin & Denison,
Manhattan, Ks 66502
785-537-9999 Toll Free: 888.227.7PTI • Fax: 785-537-4141

McLaughlin, netters face pivotal '98 campaign

The argument can be made that every year is pivotal for young and emerging programs. Perhaps there is no season more pivotal than this one for the K-State volleyball program.

K-State volleyball is not young in the fact that it celebrates its 25th year of existence in 1998, but it is not accustomed to the success it has enjoyed over the past three seasons.

From 1974 to 1994, K-State posted a dismal 371-382-12 record, only earning 20-plus win seasons five times. Yet, in 1995, things began to turn around for the Wildcats under then-coach Jim Moore. In 1995, the Cats finished 21-12 to win 20 games for the first time in 10 years.

Moore then took K-State volleyball to its first NCAA Tournament in school history, ending with a 26-9 record and a first-round win over Cal-State Northridge in 1996. Moore left K-State at the end of that season to take a coaching job at Big 12 rival Texas. Many people, maybe rightfully so, thought the winning was over.

After all, two of K-State's most promising freshmen players left at the end of that season. Also gone were the blue-chip recruits Moore had drawn to K-State.

But the winning didn't stop there. Jim McLaughlin took over last season, and not missing a beat, led K-State to a 20-13 record, earning the Wildcats their second-straight NCAA Tournament berth.

The success of the past three seasons has not gone unnoticed. K-State finished 1997 ranked 13th in the nation in attendance averaging 1,586 fans per game, including a school-record crowd of 5,035 at home against Nebraska. Maybe more impressive than the numbers that have filed into Ahearn Field House is the level of enthusiasm the fans have carried in with them, enthusiasm that hasn't surrounded the K-State basketball program for nearly a decade.

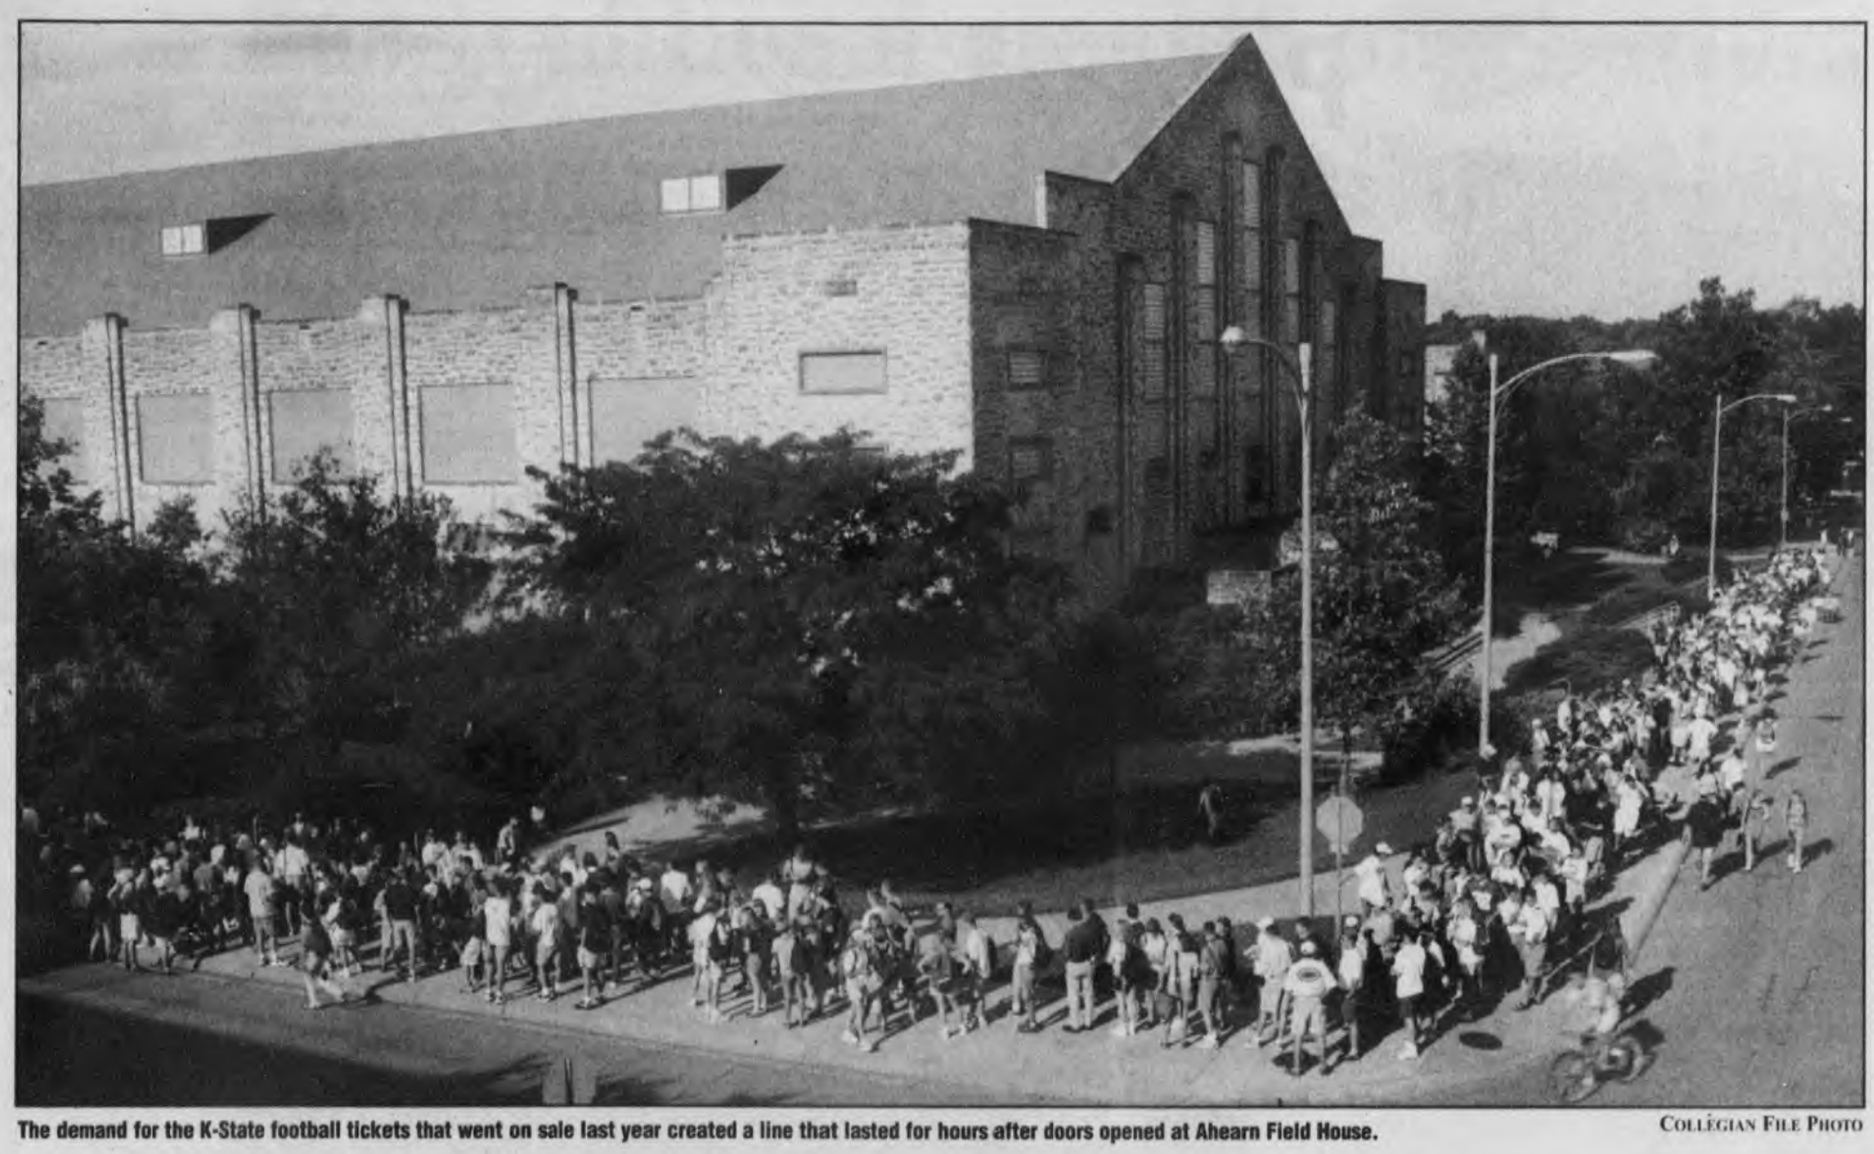
"I think we can break the top 10 in the nation this year in attendance," McLaughlin said. "That would be significant to say that we have in Manhattan one of the top-10 college environments in the nation for volleyball. It would be a huge recruiting tool and it would be huge for our level of play at home."

On Sept. 2 against Drake, fans will get to see McLaughlin's first true recruiting class, a class that he says could be the best ever. The class consists of six freshmen, three of whom McLaughlin said will have a huge effect this year.

Freshman Disney Bronnenberg is said to be the brightest spotlight of the group, stepping into a starting role as K-State's setter. Since the setter position is the heart and soul of any volleyball team, the Wildcats will improve as she gets better.

"She's young, and she's played young so far," McLaughlin said. "She's making better decisions every day and I think she's getting more comfortable with what we're doing."

Freshman Jayne Christen seems to have the opposite hitter position wrapped up, and standing at 6'4" she is the tallest player in K-State volleyball history. Freshman Liz Wegner also is looking to see significant time at the opposite hitter position.



Balancing out the youth for Wildcats are two prolific players in the history of K-State volleyball. Both seniors Val Wieck and Kim Zschau are chasing several all-time records. Wieck needs only 17 block-assists to overtake Kate DeClerk as the career block-assists leader. Zschau is 196 kills and 196 attacks away from owning the all-time lead in those respective categories, while she already has the all-time single-season digs record with 386, which she set in 1996.

These players, along with the rest of the Wildcat squad, will take on the reasonable task of taking K-State to the "next level" of play as sports analysts so often call it. The "next level" that includes becoming a constant in the Coaches' Top-25 poll (where the Wildcats would be 35th in the preseason if the poll was extended) and winning games in the NCAA Tournament.

Those are the goals the Wildcats must attain this season.

Oh, what a pivotal season indeed.

John is a junior in arts and sciences. Send him e-mail at johnber@ksu.edu.

The demand for the K-State football tickets that went on sale last year created a line that lasted for hours after doors opened at Ahearn Field House. COLLEGIAN FILE PHOTO

THE WAITING GAME

K-State officials are hoping to avoid a repeat of last year's "ICATastrophe," when football and basketball tickets go on sale today

BY SARAH CRAIG
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Your chemistry class might be missing a few hundred people this morning.

And your math class.

And your sociology lecture.

Combination basketball and football season tickets went on sale at 8 a.m. at Bramlage Coliseum today. Regular football season tickets will go on sale at 8 a.m. Saturday.

Ticket Manager Carol Adolph said the administration felt it would be easier to sell tickets this way.

"We thought it would be a lot easier for students," Adolph said.

"We're using it as a one-stop shopping. The students can come, pay for the tickets and pick them up all at once."

Prior to the 1997 season, students were able to reserve tickets in the spring during pre-enrollment and pay for them along with their fees in the fall.

Sports Information Director Kent Brown said this method posed some problems because some students did not return in the fall after reserving tickets.

Brown said that with the new method, students can do everything at once.

"We're trying to streamline — pay, swipe your card and have your tickets before you walk out the door," he said.

The Bramlage lines will be open until 5 p.m., and today's sales are for football/basketball combination tickets only. Students receive seven football tickets and 17 basketball tickets. The combination tickets will be sold on a first-come basis, regardless of class.

Saturday's sales are for student football season tickets only. Seniors, graduate students and veterinary school students will have priority from 7:30 to 10 a.m., then juniors from 10 to noon, sophomores from 1 to 3 p.m. and freshmen from 3 to 5 p.m.

Last year, students were able to purchase tickets on the same day, regardless of class status.

One student can purchase up to four season tickets with four student ID cards; however, all four students must be in the same class ranking. For example, a senior cannot purchase four tickets with three freshman IDs.

"We can grade up, but we can't grade down," Adolph said. "This is just a courtesy for those who have been at the university the longest."

There are 9,200 student football tickets available, but Adolph said she didn't know how many combination tickets could be sold today because she didn't know how many basketball tickets were available.

Adolph said it would be impossible to sell all 9,200 student tickets today because not all 9,200 basketball tickets are available.

"That won't happen on Friday," she said. "We won't sell all 9,200 tickets. We won't know how many tickets we can sell until we see how many combination tickets we have sold at noon."

There also has been an increase in ticket prices. Regular football season tickets are $98; combination tickets are $160 this year. Tickets for the 1997 season cost $60 for regular, $120 for combination.

Brown said the extra money will help fund the expansion of KSU Stadium.

Last fall, students voted down a proposed student fee that would have funded the $11.8 million project. Brown said last year's Student Senate suggested that only those students attending football games should pay for new seats.

Adolph said it was a consensus that students who are utilizing the tickets should pay for them, and those who are not purchasing tickets should not have to pay higher fees for athletics.

The lines for last year's sales were considerable, wrapping from the east side of Ahearn Field House clear around to the main entrance on the north side. Adolph said the administration really didn't know what kind of line to expect.

"We have no way of knowing," she said.

"We hear lots of stories but until we sell them, we don't know."

While there is no guarantee that lines will be shorter, Brown said the administration hopes the new system will be more effective.

"It's a new process," he said. "Hopefully there will not be long lines. It should move along very quickly."

ICAT tickets also will be available both Friday and Saturday. Once students have purchased their regular season tickets, they can purchase the ICAT package, which includes priority seating for basketball and football, a collectible T-shirt and ICAT discounts at local Manhattan merchants for an extra $30.

TICKET TIMES

Football season tickets for students not buying the combo package go on sale Saturday, by class year.

SENIORS: 7:30 to 10 a.m.
JUNIORS: 10 a.m. to noon
SOPHOMORES: 1 to 3 p.m.
FRESHMeN: 3 to 5 p.m.

Big Mac leaving big mark on history

BY R.B. FALLSTROM
THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

ST. LOUIS — As his home run total continues to mount, Mark McGwire keeps leaving some of biggest names in baseball history in his wake.

The St. Louis Cardinals slugger, who hit No. 54 Wednesday night, has surpassed so many of the biggest and best in baseball history during his quest for Roger Maris' home run record that he ought to be used to it by now. Instead, he almost seems embarrassed.

The latest link to the past came after his 509-foot, two-run home run off Florida Marlins rookie Justin Speier made McGwire only the third player in National League history to hit that many homers in a season. He is the first since Ralph Kiner hit 54 in 1949.

McGwire's reaction was "Can I answer it tomorrow?"

"Almost every home run I do something, and I'm not aware of it," he said. "Obviously, it's a thrill, but to have a real concrete answer I'd probably have to answer it in a few hours. But I won't see you guys."

That's been the McGwire mantra all season.

The first big name to be linked with baseball's greatest modern-day slugger was Willie Mays. On April 4, McGwire tied Mays' 1971 record for consecutive home run games to open the season with four.

"Well, I'm glad I'm in the company with him," McGwire said, claiming to be unaware of the record. "Anytime you get mentioned with a Hall of Famer like that, it's an honor."

— On May 8, he hit his 20th home run to become the fastest player in major-league history to reach 400 homers.

McGwire got there in 4,726 at-bats — 128 faster than Babe Ruth.

— Later that month, McGwire set a record of home runs before June 1, with No. 25 breaking the mark set by Ken Griffey Jr. last year.

— On June 5, he made a mockery of the Busch Stadium single-season home run record with his 18th, relegating the likes of Richie Allen (1970), Ted Simmons (1979), Jack Clark (1987) and Ron Gant (1996) to also-ran status.

— On June 30, he tied Reggie Jackson's 1969 record for homers before the All-Star break with No. 37, a 472-foot, upper-deck shot off the Kansas City Royals' Glendon Rusch. Asked about the significance, McGwire had a three-word answer: "I don't know."

Pressed for more, he offered: "It really doesn't matter."

— In July, he became the fastest player to reach 40 homers in both games (90) and at-bats (281), zooming ahead of Maris' 61-homer pace in 1961. And with his 44th homer, he also broke the team single-season home run record by Hall of Famer Johnny Mize that had stood since 1940.

— Last week, McGwire became the first player in major-league history to have three-consecutive 50-homer seasons when he hit a home run in both ends of a doubleheader at New York. That was the day he officially entered the Maris chase.

The rest of the way, there's no shortage of mileposts. No. 55 would be the most in the NL since Hack Wilson hit 56 in 1930.

No. 56 would tie Wilson's NL record. No. 57 would break it. No. 58 would match his output from last season and tie him again with Hank Greenberg and Jimmie Foxx for third on the season list.

Everybody, it seems, is rooting for him to come through in the Cardinals' final 30 games.

"I can't imagine anybody being as strong as he is emotionally," Marlins manager Jim Leyland said.

"I want him to break it."

Golf season begins Sept. 21

BY JOSHUA KINDER
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

The K-State men's golf team had walk-on tryouts on Monday and Tuesday at Custer Hill Golf Course in Fort Riley, but none of the 14 players made the cut after the 36-hole round.

K-State golf coach Tim Norris said he didn't need any additions to his 11-man roster.

"We had 14 good golfers try out this year," Norris said. "I don't want to take away from their talent. We just had talented players already in place."

Norris said the competition was tense, just as it is in Division I golf.

"The Big 12 is Division I golf. It's a high level of competition and not everyone can do it, but I'm always willing to give the student body of K-State the opportunity to try out for the team," he said.

The lowest score at the tryouts was 78 — six over par at the par-72 course.

Ryan Scott, junior in pre-professional business administration, tried out and shot a two-day total of 162.

Scott said his decision to try out was a last-minute idea.

"It was a last-minute thing for me. I play quite a bit and but I didn't play that well," he said.

Scott, like many others trying out, had never played the course at Custer.

"The course has a decent layout, but nothing really special. The greens were really fast," Scott said.

Norris said he hopes the addition of the Colbert Hills Golf Course will bring even more golfers to the K-State and the golf program in the future.

"There will be great opportunities at Colbert Hills with the golf-management program that are in it for the education part of it. I think there will some good golfers in that group," Norris said. "It will definitely be a huge draw and a great addition to the future of the program here."

This season's recruiting class offers some young talent to an already experienced team of golfers.

"I'm very pleased with this group. We have two freshmen that played at a high level of golf this summer," Norris said.

"I'm a firm believer in what you do in the summer has an impact on what happens during the season. Everyone coming back has the opportunity to improve off of last season's numbers. I'm very excited about this year's season."

K-State will open its season on Sept. 21 in Lawrence in the Kansas University Tournament at the Alvamar Golf Club.

CREDIT CARD CRUNCH

Students should exercise caution when using plastic

By JENNIFER WHITE
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Preapproved credit card offers which promise $10,000 credit lines, 5.9 percent financing and rewards for every dollar charged can be a temptation to college students.

Gale Thierolf, manager of credit reporting at the Credit Bureau of Manhattan, warns students to use caution when applying for a credit card.

"Don't charge against the card just for the rewards," Thierolf said. "They tend to not pay for themselves."

One factor students might overlook is the amount of interest charged on their purchases. Though companies might promise low interest rates, these rates might not be applicable to every purchase.

Cash forwards on credit cards often can carry higher interest rates than regular purchases.

Some companies will even send checks for customers to use when their checking accounts run low.

Some students might limit themselves to one card to prevent credit problems, but multiple cards doesn't mean more trouble.

"If students don't abuse the credit cards, it's OK to carry more than one," Thierolf said.

Usually when students get into debt, they figure a way to cancel it out, such as bankruptcy, instead of putting off their education, said Craig Thierolf, office manager of the Credit Bureau of Manhattan.

Students must go through the same process to get credit as everyone else. Their applications are sent through the same credit checks and evaluations. Most fill out applications, but on occasion, companies might call them.

"Be cautious of any company that calls," said Ken Ragan, bank card center manager of Commerce Bank. "Legitimate companies will have an 800 number for customers to call and verify their application."

Banks that issue credit cards, and customers who apply for them, should be cautious.

Commerce Bank hands out applications at its branches to lessen the chance of credit card fraud. Another method commonly used by companies is the telemarketing method.

Companies call potential customers and gather the necessary information over the phone.

"We have used the telemarketing method for many years and rarely is there a problem," Ragan said.

THE Palace Cards & Gifts

Welcome Back, Wildcats

Come see all the great gift ideas and greeting cards at

THE PALACE.

Balloons • Candy • Sacks
Yankee Candles • Crabtree & Evelyn
Posters • Prints • Frames
K-State Giftware • T-Shirts • Boyd's Bears

Coupon
50% OFF Scandecor Rolled Posters
No Limit
Exp. 9-15-98

Coupon
BUY 2 Greeting Cards Get 1 FREE
No Limit
Exp. 9-15-98

704 N. Manhattan Ave. • In Aggieville • 539-7654
Mon. - Fri. 8:30-8:30 • Sat. 8:30-5:30 • Sun. 12:00-5:00

TRAVIS TRITT
with special guest
PAUL RODGERS
the voice of BAD COMPANY, FREE & THE FIRM
SATURDAY, OCTOBER 3 - 8:00 PM
KANSAS EXPOCENTRE - TOPEKA, KS
TICKETS ON-SALE SAT., AUG. 29 - 10:00 AM
For tickets call: (785) 234-4545
Expocentre
TicketMaster Online www.ticketmaster.com

Fall College Courses

WAMEGO, KANSAS

ONTACT: Ed Brennan, 785-456-6006

Art Appreciation	Creative Writing
Crafts I	World Regional Geography
Drawing I	Nutrition
Soils & Soils Lab	United States History I and II
Crop Science w/Lab	History of Western Civ. I
Crop Production	Spanish I
General Anthropology	Children's Literature
College Biology w/Lab	Beginning Algebra
Human Physiology w/Lab	Plane Trigonometry
Medical Terminology	Calculus w/ Analytic Geometry I
Microbiology w/Lab	Basic Statistics
Intro. to Accounting	Intro. to Philosophy
Keyboarding	Intro. to Ethics
Microcomputer App. I	United States Government
Economics I and II	State & Local Government
Marketing	College Physical Science
Business Communications	General Geology
Managerial Accounting	College Chemistry I w/ Lab
Intro. to Investigation	General College Physics I
Police Patrol Procedure	General Psychology
Criminal Investigations	Human Growth & Development
Fundamentals of English	General Sociology
College English I and II	Marriage and the Family
American Literature I	Public Speaking
Intro. to the Short Story

HIGHLAND COMMUNITY COLLEGE
606 W. Main • Highland, KS 66035-4165
Call coordinator for additional course information

Advertise with the KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN 532-6560

Claflin Books and Copies
New in college and need a dictionary or other reference book? We have a wide selection for you to choose from.
1814 Claflin Road 776-3771

PIZZA SHUTTLE DELIVERS
776-5577
1800 Claflin Road

JOBS

Starting at $7.00 per hour

PART-TIME

Help needed to take inventory in retail stores. Average 10-12 hours on weekends. Weekday daytime hours are also available. Averaging 25+ hours.

Apply in person
Landon's Room, Ramada Inn
Friday, Aug. 28
at Noon, 1:30 p.m., 3 p.m., and 4:30 p.m.
Interviews start promptly.
Doors will close after 5 minutes.

KSU THEATRE AND DANCE 1998-99 SEASON

Great Entertainment at Great Prices!

COMEDY
DRAMA
MUSICAL THEATRE
DANCE

ANTIGONE Oct. 8-10 & Oct. 14-17 Nichols Theatre 8 p.m.	SHOWBOAT March 2-4 McCain Auditorium 8 p.m.
CABARET Nov. 12-14 McCain Auditorium 8 p.m.	SPRINGDANCE '98 April 9 & 10 McCain Auditorium 8 p.m.
WINTERDANCE '98 Dec. 3-4 8 p.m. Dec. 5 2 p.m. & 8 p.m.	A STREETCAR NAMED DESIRE April 15-17 & 21-23 8 p.m. April 24 at 7 p.m. Nichols Theatre
A PERFECT GANESH Feb. 11-13 & Feb. 17-20 Nichols Theatre 8 p.m.

Individual ticket prices from $6 to $11. SAVE 20% with season tickets. Call 532-6875 for brochure. Check out our new PICK FIVE option. Tickets available at McCain Box Office - 532-6428 from noon to 6 p.m. weekdays.

Attention May 2000 Graduates

How would you like up to $7,000 to help pay for your last two years of school?

Interested?

Call Reid at 532-6600 to find out how.

AIR FORCE ROTC
LEADERSHIP EXCELLENCE STARTS HERE

Don't Get Lost in the Mail!

The K-State Office of Student Financial Assistance wants to remind you to KEEP YOUR ADDRESSES UPDATED WITH THE UNIVERSITY. If your LOCAL, PERMANENT, EMERGENCY and BILLING (optional) addresses are not kept current, you may miss your financial aid refund checks (), your grade reports, important financial aid paperwork, your tuition bill (booo!), etc. Your LOCAL, PERMANENT and EMERGENCY addresses are maintained by the Registrar's Office in 118 Anderson Hall. Your BILLING address is maintained by the University Cashiers Office in 212 Anderson Hall.

There are a number of ways to update your addresses:

- Write a letter
- Send it in Morse Code
- Drop it by the Registrars or Cashiers Office
- Hire a plane to write it in the sky
- Go on-line with KATS at http://kats.ksu.edu
- Send a singing telegram

Seriously, keeping your addresses current is VERY IMPORTANT! And it is SO EASY now that you can log onto KATS and get it done. Just think, if mail is returned to the University by the Post Office as undeliverable to your LOCAL address, then it will be sent to your PERMANENT address and it may not be something you want your parents to see!!!

CROSSWORD

FOR RELEASE FRIDAY, AUGUST 28, 1998

CROSSWORD By Eugene Sheffer

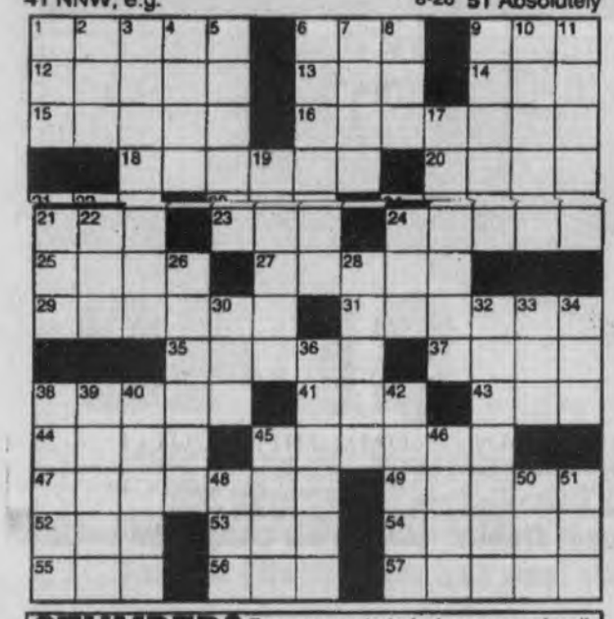
ACROSS
1 Dieter's entree
6 Trygve's successor
9 Some radios
12 Seek a J.P.
13 Aussie bird
14 Mainlander's memento
15 Match
16 Broom-Hilda's buzzard buddy
18 Ace
20 Sandusky's county
21 Suitable
23 Seek damages
24 Exploits
25 Be too fond
27 Beast of Madagascar
29 Not transparent
31 Queen of Soul
35 Disassemble
37 Gloomy
38 Winning
41 NNW, e.g.
43 Scepter adornment
44 Do mailroom work
45 Duplicity
47 Popeye's son
49 Thayer's disappointing slugger
52 Handy pc. of Latin
53 Wing
54 Nimble
55 Nursery denizen
56 USO audience
57 Browning output



DOWN
1 Vast expanse
2 Prelim to geom. and calc.
3 Mrs. Leroy Lockhorn
4 Pinnacle
5 Areas of great intensity
6 Notch
7 Part of a Latin 101 trio
8 Chap
9 Plant life
10 Earn
11 Polygonal bounds
17 Ogled
19 Swiss mathematician
21 Commotion
22 Unexpectedly
24 Bear hair
26 Be a matchmaker?
28 Penn and Teller's forte
30 Cologne conjunction
32 Blondie's neighbor/partner
33 "Ben- —"
34 Wall St. wheeler-dealer
36 Exemplars
38 Useful quality
39 Self-help book
40 Put up
42 Summary
45 Where heros are made
46 Perpetrator of "hanky"-panky?
48 Violin piece?
50 Shade provider
51 Absolutely

Solution time: 26 mins.

S	L	I	D		F	A	T		A	C	T	A
N	O	T	E		E	V	E		T	O	O	N
O	D	E	S		V	A	N		O	M	I	T
W	I	M	P	L	E		D	I	M	P	L	E
			O	A	R			R	I	O
P	A	C	T		I	N	S	E	C	U	R	E
A	G	O			S	U	I			N	E	W
D	E	L	I	G	H	T	S		I	D	L	E
		U	M	A			Y	M	A
S	I	M	P	L	E		P	I	M	P	L	E
W	A	B	E		A	S	H		B	O	U	T
A	G	I	N		S	O	U		I	N	C	A
T	O	A	D		T	I	V	S		C	E	I	L

Yesterday's answer

8-28

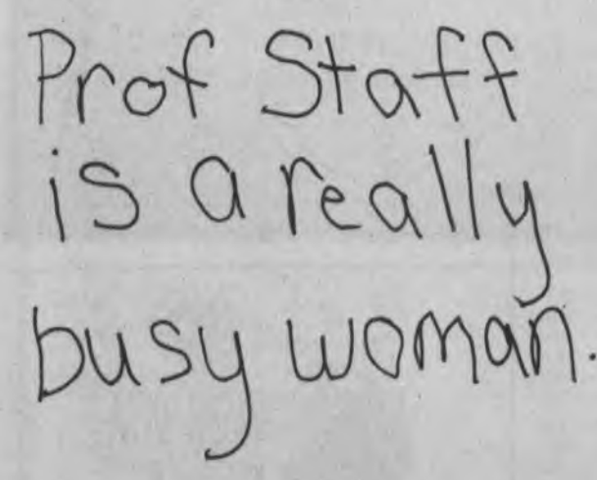
STUMPED? For answers to today's crossword, call 1-900-454-6873 | 99¢ per minute, touch-tone / rotary phones. (18+ only.) A King Features service, NYC.

8-28

CRYPTOQUIP

BYI UTU QYW EBXBEVU LRRXXWWJWV YEJJWK QR QVTJ? PDWEVDI, YW DRCQ YTC LEDEKPW.

Yesterday's Cryptoquip: WHEN THE HOG FARMER'S OLD SOW RAN OFF, YOU MIGHT SAY HE WAS DISGRUNTLED.



Today's Cryptoquip clue: J equals P

CRYPTOQUIP BOOK 2! Send $4.50 (check/m.o.) to CryptoClassics Book 2, PO Box 6411, Riverton NJ 08077.

The Cryptoquip is a substitution cipher in which one letter stands for another. If you think that X equals O, it will equal O throughout the puzzle. Single letters, short words and words using an apostrophe give you clues to locating vowels. Solution is by trial and error.

CONSPIRACY THEORY

TAYLOR GRIMES

Non-traditional grocery store offers customers a healthy alternative

JEFF COOPER/KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Lisa Bass, left, takes money from Roger Meyers, Manhattan resident, for items he purchased at The People's Grocery Cooperative Exchange, 811 Colorado St. Meyers said he frequents the store for its selection of organic produce and grains.

BY JENN DAVOREN
KANSAS STATE UNIVERSITY

Purchasing food in a traditional grocery store can be nearly impossible for shoppers who worry about the additives, dyes and other chemicals contained in their food.

But The People's Grocery Cooperative Exchange, located at 811 Colorado St., carries a wide variety of organic and lower-refined foods and household products for people with just these concerns.

"An organic food has been grown using nothing but the ground — no herbicides, pesticides or fertilizers used in that planting area for at least six years," employee Lisa Bass said.

The store began in Manhattan in 1974 as a food-buying cooperative that allowed the group to buy natural foods in bulk at lower prices. The house containing the co-op became a store in the early 80s.

"I started working at the co-op because I was always interested in organic and natural foods for environmental reasons," store manager Mike Bonella said.

A small group of employees and volunteers not only run the business but also write a newsletter.

The People's Grocery has organic products such as flowers, oats, barley, nuts and produce, shipped mostly from Colorado and other local suppliers. Some produce is grown near Manhattan and donated to the store.

Lower-refined grains and herbs are available for shoppers to bag themselves. There is a special grinder for those who want to make their own peanut butter or who simply are worried about the additives in the brands available in other stores.

"I'm a vegetarian, and I buy about 80 percent of my groceries here," said Barbara Ouellette, a volunteer and former employee.

Like many of the employees, Bass and Ouellette do not eat meat and said they find shopping at the People's Grocery helpful.

While there are many specialty items for vegetarians, anyone with a taste for unusual foods also can stock up on buffalo and ostrich steaks.

The People's Grocery carries a special line of all-natural hair care and beauty products, none of which are tested on animals. Alternative medicines, such as bee pollen (a nutritional supplement), herbal teas and a line of vitamins also can be ordered from the store.

Although the store advertises in Manhattan, Ouellette said, many people in the area don't even know the store exists.

The front of the store resembles a house and can be missed easily by those traveling along Colorado Street. However, many loyal customers and volunteers visit it regularly.

"We have a surprising range of customers," Bonella said. "We have students, faculty, and some people even drive up from Topeka and Salina."

JEFF COOPER/KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Herbs line the isles at The People's Grocery Cooperative Exchange. In addition to herbs, The People's Grocery has organic products such as flowers, oats, barley, nuts and produce shipped mostly from Colorado and other local suppliers.

MTV's latest effort Dead On Arrival

'Dead Man on Campus' doesn't live up to the hype

Movie Review

★★½

BY JEFF ELLIOT
KANSAS STATE UNIVERSITY

Paramount Pictures' "Dead Man On Campus" is the biggest disappointment of the summer. The story line is great, but the choppy screen play and sub-par acting make the film a huge let down.

A college freshman named Josh (Tom Everett Scott, "That Thing You Do") begins school aspiring to go to medical school and achieve great things. All is well until his slacker roommate, Cooper, (Mark-Paul Gosselaar, "Zack Morris" from "Saved By The Bell") convinces Josh that there are more important things to do in college than just study.

Many bong hits later, the duo realize they are in danger of flunking out of school. After discovering an old school policy granting students straight As if their roommate kills himself, Josh and Cooper come up with a plan: find a psychotic student to move in with them and then drive him to take his own life.

The movie looks promising in the beginning but soon succumbs to deficient acting.

Cooper's pattern of using the "f" word and his ownership of a 6-foot water bong leaves the viewer thinking, "Zack would never do that on 'Saved by the Bell!'"

Like Gosselaar, Scott is best known for good-guy roles, such as Shades in "That Thing You Do." Scott does well as the studious "momma's boy" but is less than convincing when he decides binge-drinking and coed sleepovers are better than biology lab and math awards.

Saving the movie from sheer disaster is newcomer Lochlyn Munro who plays Cliff. The film's only funny moments come from a 15-minute segment in which Josh and Cooper meet up with Cliff and engage in shameless acts of immaturity. Cliff's line "I got some beers ... let's drink 'em!" has developed into a popular catch-phrase among collegiate party-goers.

Screenwriters Michael Traeger and Mike White should have stopped while they were ahead. The movie comfortably could have been an hour long. They added 30 minutes of filler for no other reason but to lengthen the film. The excessive length and terrible acting are the largest contributors to the film's demise.

"Dead Man On Campus" is not worth shelling out $6 at the box office, but Cliff's hilarious antics make it a justifiable video rental.

DILBERT

MANN HATTEN

AARON FRUEHLING

Manhattan airport plans for new carrier

BY ELIZABETH SCHOFIELD
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Manhattan Regional Airport is one step closer to landing another carrier after meeting with airlines last month.

Meetings with TWA Express, United, American Eagle and Northwest airlines June 29 were somewhat successful, airport officials said.

"They all recognized we were underserved," Ken Black, director of airport services, said.

Only one provider, U.S. Air Midwest, offers seven flights daily to Kansas City International Airport now.

TWA Express is the strongest prospect, with another meeting planned for September. An economic development team consisting of Manhattan Chamber of Commerce officials, Black and others will meet with TWA to discuss a possible move to Manhattan.

According to research in the seven counties surrounding Manhattan, the top two consumer destinations are St. Louis and Dallas/Ft. Worth.

TWA Express would fly to St. Louis, and American Eagle would fly to Dallas/Ft. Worth. Although no further meetings are scheduled with American Eagle, the city still is interested in them as a carrier.

American Eagle's service to Dallas/Ft. Worth is particularly attractive since it provides access to more Big 12 Conference schools, Black said.

American Eagle, the wealthiest of the prospective carriers, is looking to move to an all-jet fleet. Their smallest jet would seat 37 passengers. Black said Manhattan would have no problem filling a jet that size.

American Eagle might expect Manhattan to give them a revenue guarantee.

In this case, local businesses, local government and the Chamber of Commerce would have to pool resources to create a fund to pay the airline if the specified revenue is not met.

However, Manhattan should be able to pay for itself, Black said.

"We were very conservative in our analysis," Black said.

Black said people in Salina, Kan., who usually fly from Wichita to Dallas might come to Manhattan instead if it is able to pick up a carrier offering that flight.

Travelers from Topeka might begin coming to Manhattan as well to avoid the longer drive and parking expenses of KCI. These potential customers were not included in the surveys reported to the prospective carriers, but they could bring in sizable profits.

Historically, Manhattan Regional Airport has provided a greater number of outgoing flights than it now offers. The city had three carriers until Frontier went bankrupt in 1993 and Capitol, a locally run carrier, stepped down in 1992.

Black said many people drive to KCI instead of flying out of Manhattan

"It's hard to overcome the perception that we don't have good service here," Black said.

Plans for new carriers will continue even after another airline is added.

"You never stop looking for more service for your airport," Black said. "You can't sit on your laurels. You have to keep at it."

Hutchinson family angered by Pan Am case compromise

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

HUTCHINSON — A couple whose son was among those who died when Pan Am Flight 103 exploded over Scotland in December 1988 doesn't like the decision to try two suspects in the Netherlands.

For years, U.S. and Scottish officials have tried to get Libya to release the two suspects linked to the Lockerbie disaster.

In a compromise proposed by the United States and Scotland, and accepted on Wednesday by Libya, suspects Abdel Basset Ali al-Megrahi and Lamen Khalifia Fhimah will be tried in the Netherlands by three Scottish judges under Scottish law.

The compromise angered Lloyd and Norma Ludlow.

"I don't know why it can't be held at the place where the crime occurred," Lloyd Ludlow said Wednesday. "They've been holding out this long. I think the Netherlands is the wrong place to have it."

The crash was a double tragedy for the Ludlows, since their son was on the fateful flight only because his sister, Janice, 47, had just died unexpectedly of a heart ailment.

Norma Ludlow said she grieves for her son and daughter every day, and the recent world events have brought feelings about the family's loss even closer to the surface.

"It's been painful, absolutely," said her husband. "Nothing can ease that. The only thing would be to get them executed."

GET JIGGY WITH THE COLLEGIAN.

We stay open late at
Claflin Books and Copies
1814 Claflin Road 776-3771

American Legion
BINGO!
Sunday 2 p.m.
Tuesday 1:30 p.m.
Wednesday 7:30 p.m.
$1 per card
Up to $300 Cash Prize on Sunday & Wednesday
Early Bird Call Ball

PEPPERTREE
The Unique Place To Shop
101 Riley in Ogden
537-0409
Fall Specials
All Designer Sunglasses $39
Oakley Armani Nike Gucci
Tommy & Nike Watches $29.95
Tommy & Nike T-Shirts $19.95
Blue Jeans
$5 each 2/$9 4/$15

Pregnancy Testing Center
539-3338
•Free pregnancy testing
•Totally confidential service
•Same day results
•Call for appointment
Located across from campus in Anderson Village
Mon.-Fri. 9 a.m.-5 p.m.

BIG DAWG MARINA
Tuttle Creek Lake
Spillway
Marina Road
Manhattan, Kansas
776-3113
Pontoon Boat Rentals (2)
Kawasaki Water Bike Rentals

OUT OF BOUNDS SPORTS BAR & GRILL
1129 Laramie • 537-4045
FRIDAY * LADIES NIGHT
$2.50 PREMIUMS NO COVER
SATURDAY
$3.00 WILDCAT TEA
SUNDAY
$12 BUCKET OF BEER

Cyclone of the Day
A Different Flavor Everyday!
$1.49
All other flavors, other than the FLAVOR OF THE DAY, are $1.99!
CYCLONE: (ci-klon) noun- The Vistacreme treat. 16 oz. of pure satisfaction, made with 95% fat free VistaCreme (soft serve Ice Creme) and your favorite candy or fruit flavor. Not to be confused with Blizzard which is just cold air in your face and more costly as well.
Vista DRIVE IN
1911 Tuttle Creek Blvd
Manhattan Town Center Food Court

Intramurals
Football Officials' Clinic
August 31, 5 p.m.
Recreation Complex
September 1, 5 p.m.
Intramural Fields
September 2, 5 p.m.
Recreation Complex
Attendance at all three meetings required!
Recreational Services Office 532-6980

CONGRATULATIONS TO OUR NEW MEMBERS
AXΩ
Brooklyn Abbey, Katie Abbott, Ashley Adams, Katie Ashton, Adriane Baer, Anissa Bahner, Rachel Banks, Julie Befort, Carissa Bingham, Ashely Bowles, Renee Boyda, Emily Braun, Becky Broxterman, Abby Cameron, Kara Campbell, Jacee Cantrell, Jeanne Clark, Erica Courtright, Jamie Feuerborn, Heidi Filson, Cheryl Fornwalt, Suzy Hableutzel, Leah Hanke, Somir Hassan, Lisa Hewitt, Amanda Hodnicki, Sarah Hogancamp, Belinda Howard, Brin Huelat, Kate Jones, Amy Kraus, Christina Lee, Suzanne Litzen, Bethany Martorana, Erica Meadows, Stephanie Monroe, Amy Reinhardt, Kim Rice, Donna Rimbo, Angie Sheffield, Melissa Sorrell, Kristin Steinlage, Lesley Stipetic, Ashley Sutton, Jill Szynskie, Paige Taylor, Kayce Vonleonrod, Beth Weber, Leah Wilbur, Renee Williams, Tara Wilson, Brook Witty
LOVE, YOUR SISTERS

CLASSIFIEDS

DEADLINES
Classified ads must be placed by noon the day before you want your ad to run. Classified display ads must be placed by 4 p.m. two working days prior to the date you want your ad to run. CALL 532-6555

000 BULLETIN BOARD

010 Announcements

ADVANCED FLIGHT TRAINING from 7,500-hour ATP instructor. Private single-engine through ATP multiengine. Hugh Irvin, 539-3128 evenings.

BIG DAWG Marina has Jet skis and pontoon boats for rent. 776-3113.

DISCOVER SCUBA: Complete lessons, low cost, college credit available. Aggie Dive Shop, 539-DIVE.

FREE FOOTBALL tickets. Register at Mr. P's Party Outlet, 318 Poyntz Ave.

LEARN TO FLY! K-State Flying Club has five airplanes, lowest rates. For information call 537-8406.

SCUBA learn to dive at the only PADI approved dive center in the area, full line of equipment in stock, two instructors, earn college credit. Classes forming weekly. Call Creative Travel and Scuba. 539-0531.

020 Lost and Found

Found ads can be placed free for three days.

FOUND: MEDIUM black and white dog, red collar. Call Erika, 539-5980.

FOUND: MICROCASSETTE tape recorder between Moore and West Halls. 532-1275.

A LOT CAN BE SAID ABOUT A LITTLE BIT OF SPACE:
It works
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN
532-6555

LOST: WALLET and checkbook August 24. Reward if found. Please call (785)761-7481, ask for Vaughn.

LOST: MEN'S gold wedding band on August 17th. Engraved on inside "To infinity" Reward if found. 776-0914.

100 HOUSING/REAL ESTATE

Manhattan City Ordinance 4814 assures every person equal opportunity in housing without distinction on account of race, sex, familial status, military status, disability, religion, age, color, national origin or ancestry. Violations should be reported to the Director of Human Resources at City Hall, 587-2440.

105 For Rent- Apts. Furnished

ABSOLUTELY AS good a deal as you'll find. Two-bedroom basement, central air, washer/ dryer. Beautiful house, above reasonable. 539-9345.

FOR RENT. Two-bedroom, one and one-half bath furnished apartment. Directly across from campus. No pets. Call Laura. 587-8969.

LIVING QUARTERS furnished, with the use of a Kiln and a Wheel. Utilities provided $250 a month. 587-0648, 1601 Baltimore.

ONE-BEDROOM BASEMENT, fireplace, walk to campus. Quiet, gas and water paid. No pets, no smoking. Lease, $250 deposit, $325/ month. 537-3737

TWO-BEDROOM BASEMENT apartment. Close to campus, $410, all utilities paid except cable television. 776-1214.

TWO-BEDROOM FURNISHED apartment. New carpet, microwave, close to campus, $450, all utilities paid except cable television. 776-1214.

UNIVERSITY COMMONS. Available: fully furnished, individual leases, washer/ dryer in each unit, roommate matching service, pool, sand volleyball, lighted tennis and basketball courts, monitored security, reserved parking. No appointment necessary. M-F 9a.m.- 6p.m., 10a.m.-4p.m., 539-0500.

110 For Rent Apt. Unfurnished

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN CLASSIFIEDS

ATHREE-BEDROOM, spacious, one-half block to KSU, central air and heat, pets OK, $540, 776-8455.

ACROSS STREET from campus, four-bedroom, appliances, central air/heat off-street parking. 539-2632.

AUGUST FREE! Two-bedroom, spacious, dishwasher, $395-$425. 776-8455.

Chase Manhattan Apartments

1,2,3, or 4 person occupancy. Short term leases available. Water and Trash paid. Discounted cable package HBO, Encore, and Expanded Basic.

Call us Today 776-3663

AVAILABLE NOW. Studio and one-bedrooms, some furnished. Most utilities paid. Clean and quiet, central locations, some pets accepted. 537-8389.

AVAILABLE NOW. Two-bedroom apartment, all appliances including washer/ dryer. Good access to campus! Call 537-1918.

FOUR-BEDROOM CLOSE to campus, two bath, dishwasher, central air/heat, water/trash paid. Free laundry, good price. 537-2255 or 537-7810.

Now Available! Large 2-Bedrooms

Sandstone Apts. Cambridge Sq. Apts.

Hill Investments 537-9064

FOUR-BEDROOM, TWO bath 1300 square feet. Water/ trash paid. Discounted cable with HBO. 776-3663.

LARGE THREE-BEDROOM well lit basement, close to campus, 1729 Laramie, new stove and refrigerator, washer/ dryer hook-ups, heat/ water/ trash paid. $570. 537-2099, 539-8052.

NOW LEASING one to four-bedroom apartments/ houses. Call Alliance Property Management. 539-4357 for current list.

WOODWAY APARTMENTS

STOP!

DO NOT RENT AN APARTMENT UNTIL YOU CONSIDER THIS!

- Sparkling swimming pool
- Spacious decks/patios
- Avail. June 5 Aug. 6
- Kitchen Appliances include microwave and dishwasher
- On site laundry facilities
- Economical gas heat

3 BDRM, 2 BATH $714, $723
4 BDRM, 2 BATH $836, $856

Office: 2400 Kimball Ave. at College Ave. (Across from Bramlage) Call Sara at 537-7007

ONE- OR TWO-BEDROOM. No pets, smoking, drinking. 539-1554.

9 Month Lease
2 & 3 Bedroom Specials
539-2951

ONE-BEDROOM APARTMENT available immediately. $250/ month. One block from campus. Two blocks from Aggieville. Call Jamie at 770-8395 or (913)596-1061.

ONE-BEDROOM, $290. 539-8401.

REASONABLE, LARGE one-bedroom basement, one-half block from university. 539-8856

STUDIO, $280, air-conditioning, bills paid. 539-8401.

THREE-BEDROOM, $390. 539-8401.
THREE-BEDROOM, AUGUST free, washer/ dryer, huge, $540. 776-8455.

THREE-BEDROOM, TWO bath apartment available for August. Very spacious. Dishwasher, microwave, pool, laundry and carports. Call Sara at 537-7007.

TWO, THREE and four-bedroom apartments water/ trash paid, discounted cable with HBO. Going fast. 776-3663.

TWO-BEDROOM, $320. 539-8401.

TWO-BEDROOM, CENTRAL air, laundry hook-ups, dishwasher, $400. No pets. Nine month lease. 513 S. Manhattan Avenue. 539-2255.

Spacious 1 & 2 Bedrooms Available Now!

1 block from Campus

Laundry
Water/Trash Paid

Lee Crest Apartments

539-7961

TWO-BEDROOM DUPLEX very nice, clean, gas, window air, carpet, close to campus. Big bargain, $400. 537-2289.

UNIVERSITY TERRACE APARTMENTS. College Ave. Large three-bedroom apartments with washer, dryer hook-ups. 537-2096.

115

Rooms Available

THIRD ROOMMATE needed. One-bedroom in three-bedroom house, minutes from campus. Call 539-9426.

120

For Rent- Houses

1106 KEARNEY- one and one-half blocks from campus. Three-bedrooms, one bath, kitchen, living room, washer and dryer hookups. Available September 1, 1998, $650/ month. Century 21 Knight Real Estate, 537-2111.

A PLEASANT house two blocks from campus. Fireplace, washer/ dryer, dishwasher. Please call 537-7848 or 776-6225.

FOUR LARGE bedrooms, two bath, washer/dryer. Near KSU. Redecoration just being completed. No pets. 539-8580.

FOUR-BEDROOM HOUSE newly remodeled close to campus. Washer/ dryer, central air, 539-4949.

KSU THREE BLOCKS. Three-bedroom, one bath, central air, laundry hook-ups, garage, small pets considered, 1517 Pipher. 539-4087, leave message.

THREE-BEDROOM, AIR-CONDITIONING, $510. 539-8401.

THREE-BEDROOM, CLOSE to campus, attached garage. Stove, refrigerator. Available immediately. (765)463-5014.

TWO, TWO-BEDROOM houses available. One located in town and one in country. Stove, refrigerator, air-conditioning. No pets. 539-1975 or (785) 396-4344.

130

For Rent- Mobile Homes

MALE ROOMMATE wanted. Three-bedroom trailer in a quiet neighborhood. No smoking, no pets. $225 a month plus utilities. 776-6147.

135

For Sale- Mobile Homes

1972 HILLCREST trailer, 12'X50', two-bedroom, (316) 442-3450.

DON'T WASTE your money on rent, when you could own: 16'x70' 1986 Schult. Sunken living room, vaulted ceiling, built-in china hutch, lots of cabinet space, large kitchen, dining room, two large bedrooms, one bath, refrigerator, stove, dishwaser, 8'x8' deck, fenced yard, swing set, new paint, new shingled roof, great location, Bergman school. Must see to appreciate. Call for showing 776-3226.

MOBILE HOME in country for sale. 15 minutes west of campus. Buy the home and rent four acre lot. Lot includes horse barn. Home is on 160 acres, pasture rented separately but accessible. 532-1144 or (785) 286-1891.

145

Roommate Wanted

FEMALE ROOMMATE to share newly remodeled three-bedroom house with laundry facilities, close to KSU stadium and rec center; $250/ month plus one-third utilities; 776-1926, ask for Sarah.

FEMALE ROOMMATE sharing a two-bedroom apartment. Non-smoker. Water and trash paid for. $212 rent. Contact Brandi at (785) 387-2206.

FEMALE ROOMMATE to share NICE two-bedroom apartment across from college. $260 a month. 776-4891.

FEMALE ROOMMATE wanted. Move in now, September and October rent paid for. Cambridge Square Apartments. Deposit paid, $270/ month. (316) 773-1627.

FEMALE ROOMMATE, non-smoker for two-bedroom mobile home. Furnished, $155 plus one-half KPL. 587-0157.

MALE NEEDED for furnished basement. Washer/ dryer without meter. No smoking, drinking, or pets. Walk to class. 539-1554

Available Now
Clean Roomy 2 Bedroom, 1½ Bath in 9 plex. No Pets. 1 yr. lease. $400/month. 3032 Kimball
Call Kay @ 539-8046

MALE TO share three-bedroom house close to campus. Washer/ dryer, dishwasher and fireplace, $220/ month, one-fourth utilities. 537-4580, leave message.

MALE/ FEMALE to share four-bedroom house- half mile to campus and Aggieville. Call 537-5109.

NEED ROOMMATE for four-bedroom house. Affordable, furnished, one block from campus. Move in as soon as possible. Call Angie at 776-3080 preferably around 4:20p.m.

PHD STUDENT/ GTA is looking for socially responsible housemates. $350/ month, utilities included/ not phone. Contact: renner@ksu.edu or 770-8309 (h) 1-888-ESL-KNOW (w).

QUIET, RESPONSIBLE graduate student looking for non-smoking, non-drinking roommate for small two-bedroom house just outside of town. Call 539-4135 or 776-5716.

RESPONSIBLE MALE roommate to share nice house. $250/ month plus shared bills, five blocks from campus. Call Jason, 770-8243.

ROOMMATE WANTED for farm house. Place for horse, $130/ month plus share of utilities. 539-2029.

ROOMMATES NEEDED to share four-bedroom house at 610 Laramie. $200 plus one-fourth utilities. 776-3108, leave message.

SERIOUS STUDENT and two cats must share nice two-bedroom apartment close to campus. $225/ month plus one-half utilities. Kim 776-4491, leave message.

165

Storage Space

STORAGE CITY. Share storage space and cost with a friend, four miles east of Manhattan on Hwy 24. Call 776-1976.

200 SERVICE DIRECTORY

255

Other Services

YOUNG STUDENT mother wants to get back into shape. Needs someone to help train and motivate. Requires fitness knowledge, must have access to KSU Rec Center/ Natatorium. Please send letter of interest ASAP to Box 1, Collegian.

300 EMPLOYMENT/OPPORTUNITIES

310

Help Wanted

Manhattan City Ordinance 4814 assures every person equal opportunity in securing and holding employment in any field of work or labor for which he/ she is properly qualified regardless of race, sex, military status, disability, religion, age, color, national origin or ancestry. Violations should be reported to the Director of Human Resources at City Hall, 587-2441.

The Collegian cannot verify the financial potential of advertisements in the Employment/Career classification. Readers are advised to approach any such employment opportunity with reasonable caution. The Collegian urges our readers to contact the Better Business Bureau, 501 SE Jefferson, Topeka, KS 66607-1190. (785)232-0454.

$800 WEEKLY POTENTIAL. Processing Government refunds at home. No experience necessary. 1-800-696-4779- Ext. 1608.

BABYSITTER(S) NEEDED in our home for a happy one year old. Two shifts available 8 a.m. to noon and 1 p.m. to 5 p.m. weekdays. (785) 395-3115.

BABYSITTING OPPORTUNITY. Seeking reliable child care in home for Monday, Wednesday, Friday- 537-9092.

BOCKERS II Catering now hiring immediately for banquet wait staff and bartenders. Evenings and weekends. Apply 2321 Skyvue Lane, or see us at the Job Fair, KSU Union Tuesday 9a.m. - 4p.m.

BREADEAUX PIZZA: Day help, evening and weekend drivers. Breadeaux Pizza, 3033 Anderson. 537-5080.

CALLING ALL PERFORMERS! Can you work a crowd? Are you

Ambitious, energetic people needed for full and part-time. Apply in person at Vista Drive In 1911 Tuttle Creek Blvd.

looking for a new venue to try a new act, play a new song, or perform street theater? WE HAVE THE AUDIENCE All we need is you! Your audiences are hungry customers waiting in the lobby of Derby Dining Center, contemplating what to eat and where to go. Solo or group acts are welcome. Start your career at The Derb'l We pay bottom dollar, but will give you the best meal in town. Call Mr. "E," 532-6483, or email at medwards@ksu.edu.

CLEANING: FOR non-smoking student in a home adjacent to campus. Send resume to Collegian Box 4.

COMPUTER INFORMATION Specialist, Dept. of Agricultural Economics, KSU— Part-time to Full-time position responsible for providing computer software support on basic PC software applications (spreadsheet, word processing, and database programs) and specialized software programs used in economic and statistical analysis, and creating and maintaining databases. Qualificatons: B.S. degree in economics, computer science, information systems, statistics, business, or other field which involves the manipulation and analysis of quantitative data; demonstrated proficiency in the use of basic PC software applications; and the proven ability to develop and manage large databases. Applicants are requested to submit a letter of application, resume, and arrange for three letters of reference to Dan Bernardo, Dept. of Agricultural Economics, 342 Waters Hall, Kansas State University, Manhattan, KS 66506-4011. Deadline for applications is September 10, 1998. For further information, call (785) 532-6702.

DELIVERY DRIVERS . Gambino's Pizza now hiring drivers. Must be 18, own dependable car. Apply in person at 2708 Anderson. Base wage, tips and delivery fees. $6- $9/ hour.

DISHWASHER NEEDED! Evening shift. Manhattan Country Club. Apply in person, 1531 N. 10th Street.

FAMILY-OPERATED SWINE and crop farm 25 miles northeast of Manhattan needs full or part-time help. (785) 457-2873 days, (785) 457-3562 evenings.

FISH SALESPERSON needed. Must be available 20 hours including weekends. Must have knowledge and experience with a variety of tropical fish and marine, pet store experience preferred. Apply in person at Pets-N-Stuff, 1105 Waters St.

HELP WANTED. Earn up to $375 weekly assembling MEDICAL ID CARDS at home. Immediate openings, your area. Call 1-520-505-4411 Ext. D588.

ITALIAN RESTAURANT: day, night dish washer, kitchen help wanted. 539-9300.

JANITOR NEEDED: Part-time, 5:00 a.m.- 11 a.m. Needs to be self-motivated, dependable and hard-working with an eye for detail. Apply in person Mon-Fri, 8:00 a.m.- 4:00 p.m., Manhattan Country Club, 1531 N. 10th.

KITCHEN HELP wanted. Apply at 1213 Moro, Manhattan, KS.

MOTIVATED OUTGOING individual to help business get off the ground. Set your own hours, work from home. Great experience for marketing majors. Wages based on productivity, no experience required. Please send resume to P.O. Box 28, Sabetha, KS 66534 by September 7th.

PART AND Full-time landscaping jobs. 776-1930.

PART-TIME lifeguards needed through October 4. Apply in person, Manhattan Country Club. 1531 N. 10th. Must have up to date certifications.

PART-TIME POSITION distributing advertising material on campus. No selling involved, all materials provided free of charge. 1-800-YOUR-JOB. www.ccmnet.com/postering/yourjob.htm.

Baskin Robbins

Baskin Robbins is taking applications to fill full & part-time positions. Must be able to work days & nights.

Apply at 1201 Westloop

Baskin Robbins

RILEY COUNTY has a position available for a computer intern. Knowledge of installation and setup of computer software (Windows 95, Windows 3.11, and Microsoft Office) is required. Experience in installing computer hardware components (network cards, CD roms, modems, and hard drives) is required. Some knowlegde of networks a plus. Appplications may be obtained from Riley County Clerk's Office, 110 Courthouse Plaza, Manhattan, KS 66502 until the postition is filled.

SPRING BREAK '99— Sell Trips, Earn Cash & Go Free! STS is now hiring campus reps. Lowest rates to Jamaica, Mexico and Florida. Call 800-648-4849 or apply online at www.ststravel.com

STORE CLERK: 2 - 3 weeknights 5:30 - 11p.m. Saturday afternoons 12:00 - 5:30 p.m. Cash register experience helpful. Contact Jeff, 537-7229.

STUDENT COMPUTER Specialist (three positions). Seeking individuals interested in assisting with user support by setting up new PC's, installing and troubleshooting microcomputer software and hardware. The Novell environment consists of 300 microcomputer/terminals with peripherals attached. Position requires knowledge of DOS & Windows95, good communication skills, and be a self directed worker, this is a year-round position for approximately 20 hours/ week. Prefer knowledge of networks and windows applications, and utilities such as word processing, database and spreadsheet software (WordPerfect, MSAccess, Quattro Pro, etc.) Experience with MSAccess is a plus! Apply in room 504 Hale Library. Review of applications will begin September 4, 1998.

STUDENT HELP needed 2a.m.- 6a.m. every other day. Apply Printing Services, 10 Kedzie.

TECHNICAL SUPPORT position available for K-State undergraduate student with a variety of skills. Must have good interpersonal and problem solving skills. Experience with PC's and popular software packages such as Word Perfect, Quattro Pro and Windows applications desired. Must have understanding of MS-DOS and Windows. Summer availability necessary. Network experience preferred. Applications available/accepted through September 4, 1998 in 211 Umberger Hall. (Department of Communications, Information and Educational Technology.)

TUTORING HIGH school students for K-State's Upward Bound Math and Science Program. Contact: Lynne Davy at 532-6374 for application.

WRESTLING COACH, middle/ high school, October-February, 3p.m.- 6p.m. Contact Tim Kite, Onaga High School, 500 High St, Onaga, KS 66521, (785)889-4251.

320

Volunteers Needed

BE A friend to someone who needs you. Volunteer for Compeer. Call Pawnee Mental Health Services. 587-4333.

WE'LL PAY YOU TO HAVE EXCITING WEEKENDS.

The Army Reserve will give you weekend excitement like you've never had before, and you can earn more than $18,000 while you're enjoying yourself during a standard enlistment.

Think about it. On a part-time basis, usually one weekend a month plus two weeks' Annual Training, you could earn good pay, have a good time, make good friends and even be entitled to good benefits and opportunities to get money for education.

You'll also be getting hands-on training in a skill that will last you a lifetime.

The Army Reserve knows how to make weekends interesting. Are you interested?

Think about it. Then think about us. Then call:

539-7243

BE ALL YOU CAN BE! ARMY RESERVE

WE KICK ADS! WE KICK ADS! WE KICK ADS!

400 OPEN MARKET

405

Wanted to Buy

USED OLYMPIC weights, any brand. (785) 494-2938. Must be in good condition.

410

Items for Sale

13" RCA color television with remote, $99. (785)485-2703 after 5p.m.

ANTIQUES, COLLECTIBLES, tools, books, furniture, estate jewelry, beer signs, thousands of curious goods. Time Machine Antique Maul and Flea Market. 4910 Skyway Dr. between Briggs and airport. 539-4684.

FOR SALE: Color printer, Java software, two tents, Star Trek collectibles, photographer's easel. 537-2497 Russ.

GIANT MOUNTAIN Bike and Silver Trumpet for sale. Must sell soon. Please call 776-7028.

KENMORE LARGE washer and dryer set. $189 or best offer, 776-7217.

KING SIZE waterbed with six drawers. Good condition. 776-2047.

ONE BED- Queen size (two years old). One television- Panasonic (three years old). 537-6192 (night), 532-6234 (day).

SEALY FULL size box springs and mattress, $125. 776-9313.

TWO STURDY gray desks. You haul them, you can have them. Call 532-6556 for details.

415

Furniture to Buy/Sell

615 NORTH 3rd. Wohler's Used Furniture, antiques, appliances, beer signs, miscellanous. Check it out.

420

Garage/Yard Sales

ANNUAL GARAGE Sale. Nevada St., Indiana Ln., Montana Ct. Fri. Aug. 28- 9 a.m.-1 p.m. Sat. Aug. 29- 8 a.m. -12:30 p.m. Sony stereo, TV's, typewriter, lawnmower, garbage disposal (new), microwave, beige sofa-bed, chest of drawers, entertainment center, weight bench, bikes, flute, tires, wall mirror, nice plus size women's clothes, toys, games, children's clothes, and more. No early sales.

FLEA MARKET- 210 Knox Lane Self Storage. Saturday, August 29, 8a.m.- 1p.m. Rain date: Saturday, September 5.

435

Computers

MAC PERFORMA 6400/180. 56 MB RAM, 1.6 GB HD, modem, CD ROM, $850 without monitor, $1300 with monitor. 565-9612.

MACINTOSH PERFORMA 636CD with monitor, laser printer, and numerous programs and games. $700 or best offer. Call 776-8315 after 5.

445

Music Instruments

WELCOME TO The Music Co.! Our business is making you sound the best you can, and leaving a little gas money in your pocket. In-store right now: Artley, Ampeg, Alvarez, Marshall, Fernandes, Sovtek, Takamine, Fender, Dean, Peavey, Tama, Ludwig, Mapex, Crate, Audio- Centron, Sans- Amp, and more! Still the best deal on the planet! The Music Co., the story continues. 523 S 17th Street in Manhattan. 539-1958.

450

Pets and Supplies

FOR SALE: Two year old iguana with cage and accessories. For information call Jen at 587-9625.

LOVING, FEMALE 15 month old AKC yellow labrador for sale. Call 537-2059 to make offer.

REGISTERED PERSIANS, one male, one female,

$200. 587-0952 after 5p.m.

REPTILES GALORE! Ball python sale! Only $45.99 each. Corn snakes $36.99. Lowest prices around. Pets-N-Stuff, 1105 Waters.

SEE OUR precious Himalayan and Maine Coon kittes at Pets-N-Stuff. 1105 Waters. 539-9494.

TWO WHITE kittens need a home. Ten weeks old. Please call 539-6805.

465

Tickets to Buy/Sell

IF YOU are a K-State student, and are not buying season football tickets and would like to make some quick cash, call Rance at a (316) 942-8029.

500 TRANSPORTATION

510

Automobiles

1986 MERCURY Sable $975. High mileage both runs and looks great. 1988 Ford Festiva 4-speed $1050 serious inquiries only. 395-7451.

1987 BUICK Century Limited, loaded, $1700, new paint job. 1987 Acura Legend, two-door, high miles, $2800 or best offer. Leave message, 395-7447.

1988 CHEVY Silverado 350, automatic. 776-9705.

1988 HONDA Civic, 4-door Sedan DX, 5-speed, air-conditioning, 140K, runs great. $1700. Call 565-9625.

1991 RANGER extended cab, air-conditioning, tilt, cruise, CD player. $6500 or best offer. 587-1806.

1991 TAURUS GL V6, cruise, power windows, locks, four-door, good condition. $3500 or best offer. 776-3606.

1993 FORD Ranger XLT. Extended cab, 4.0 liter V6, five-speed, 76K miles. Excellent condition. $8700 or best offer. 537-3516.

1993 PONTIAC Grand Am. $4500. Evenings. 537-9019

1995 KSU purple Ford Ranger, excellent condition, CD player, 31,000 miles, 5-speed. Blue Book $12,500 asking $9500. Rochelle- 776-1453, leave message.

1995 NISSAN pick-up, blue. 54,000 miles, contact Augy or Kara after 5:30p.m. (785)456-2740.

HONDA ACCORD, 1984, low mileage, ugly, $700. 776-3589.

MUST SELL: 1993 Mazda MX-3 GS, five-speed, $6000 or best offer. Call 587-8509, 7p.m.-9p.m.

530

Motorcycles

1989 KAWASAKI EX 500 red/ black. Very good condition, $1450 or best offer. 537-2289.

LOST SOMETHING AND WANT TO REPORT IT OR FOUND SOMETHING AND WANT TO RETURN IT?

PLACE AN AD IN THE:

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN
103 Kedzie
532-6555

It's Greek To Me is now hiring screen printing operators. Flexible hours to work around your schedule. No experience necessary. If you are a positive, hard-working, dedicated individual, we want you to be a part of our team. Competitive pay and benefits package: health insurance, 401(K), flexible spending program, employee discounts, paid leave and much more. Come by 520 McCall Rd. to complete an application. We are an equal opportunity employer.

ClassifiedRATES

1 DAY
20 words or less $7.15
each word over 20 $.20 per word

2 DAYS
20 words or less $8.40
each word over 20 $.25 per word

3 DAYS
20 words or less $9.55
each word over 20 $.30 per word

4 DAYS
20 words or less $10.60
each word over 20 $.35 per word

5 DAYS
20 words or less $11.55
each word over 20 $.40 per word
(consecutive day rate)

HOW TO PAY
All classifieds must be paid in advance unless you have an account with Student Publications Inc. Cash, check, MasterCard or Visa are accepted. There is a $10 service charge on all returned checks. We reserve the right to edit, reject or properly classify any ad.

FREE FOUND ADS
As a service to you, we run found ads for three days free of charge.

CORRECTIONS
If you find an error in your ad, please call us. We accept responsibility only for the first wrong insertion.

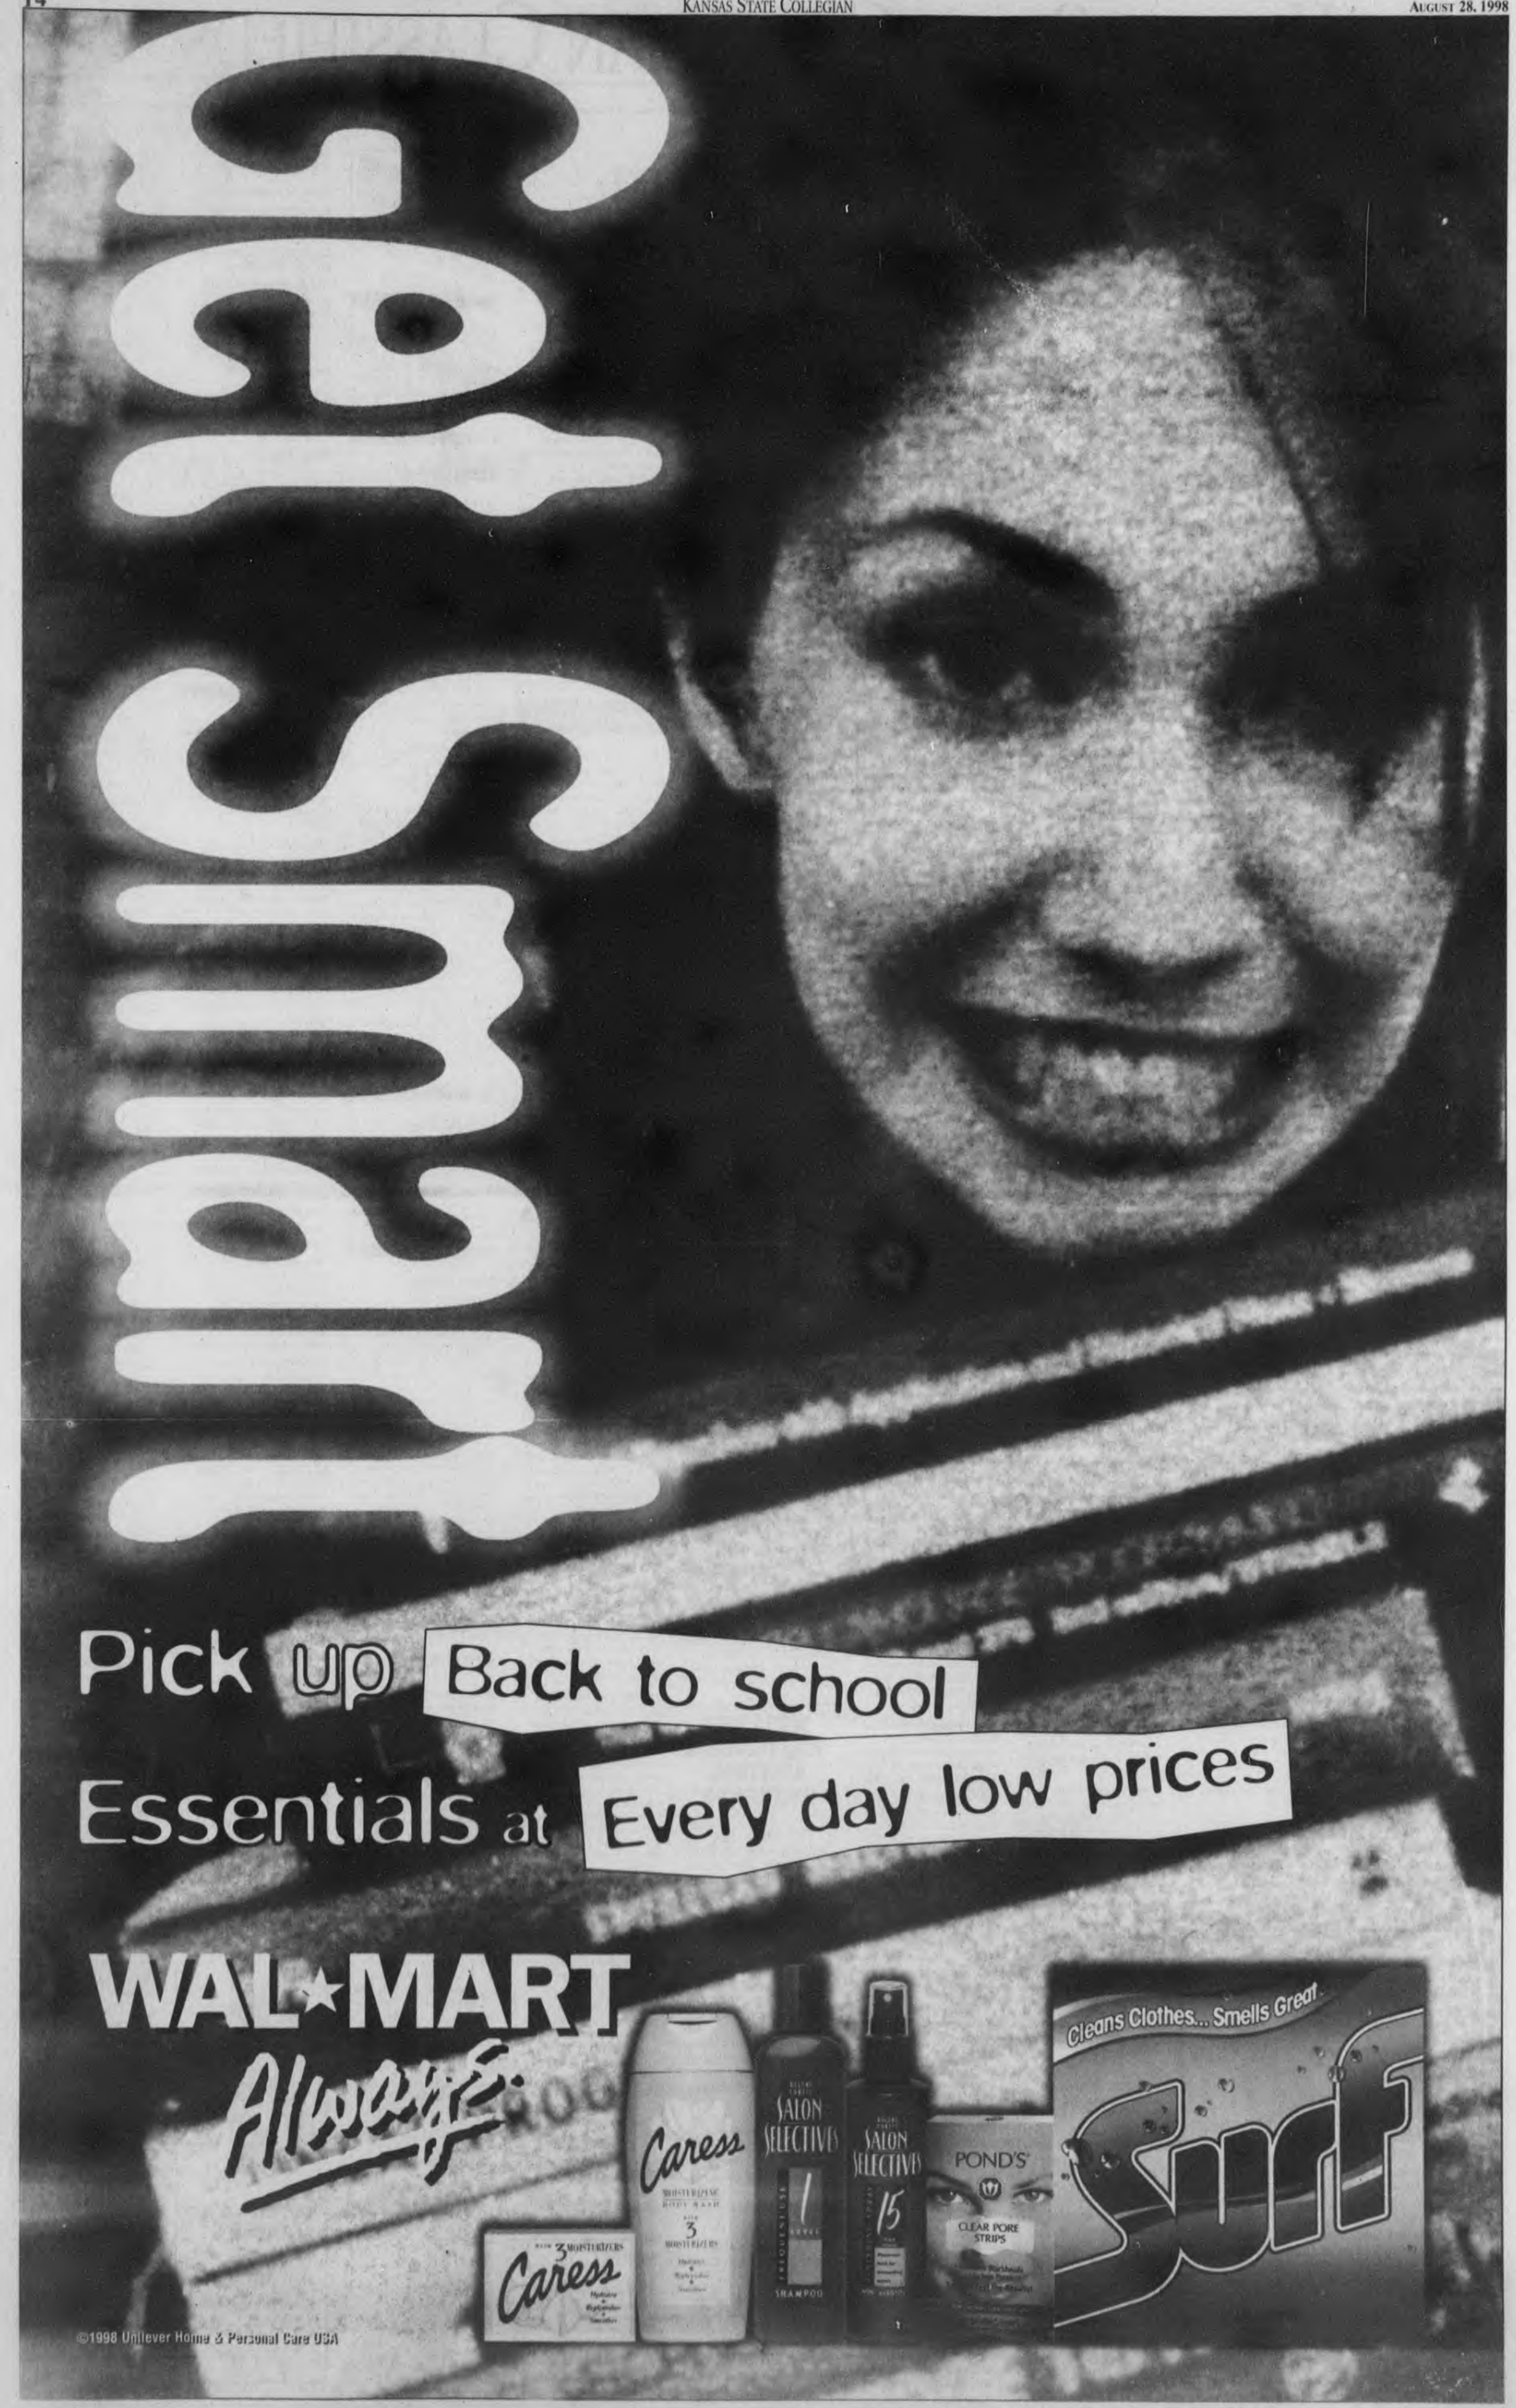
CANCELLATIONS
If you sell your item before your ad has expired, we will refund you for the remaining days. You must call us before noon the day before the ad is to be published.

HEADLINES
For an extra charge, we'll put a headline above your ad to catch the reader's attention.

000 BULLETIN BOARD

100 HOUSING/REAL ESTATE

200 SERVICE DIRECTORY



300 EMPLOYMENT/OPPORTUNITIES

400 OPEN MARKET

500 TRANSPORTATION

600 TRAVEL/TRIPS

TO PLACE AN AD
Go to Kedzie 103 (across from the K-State Student Union). Office hours are Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. The office is open except on holidays.

Pick up Back to school
Essentials at Every day low prices
WAL★MART Always Caress
3 MOISTURIZERS
Caress
SALON SELECTIVES
1
SHAMPOO
SALON SELECTIVES
15
POND'S
CLEAR PORE STRIPS
Cleans Clothes... Smells Great
Surf
©1998 Unilever Home & Personal Care USA

R-O-C-K in Aggieville

Freshwater Collins and Little Blue Crunchy Things filled Aggieville with music as part of the Welcome Back '98 concert.

■ SEE STORY ON PAGE 6

MONDAY
AUGUST 31, 1998

KANSAS STATE UNIVERSITY, MANHATTAN, KAN.
VOLUME 103, NUMBER 6
COLLEGIAN.KSU.EDU

TODAY'S WEATHER

HIGH 88
LOW 63

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Sub. Exp. Date: 00/00
Kansas State Historical Society
Newspaper Section
PO Box 3585
Topeka KS 66601

Undefeated season could mean happy shoppers

■ WHERE TO GO
Transcend Technologies, 1108 Laramie St.

Varney's Book Store, 623 N. Manhattan Ave.

Varney's K-State Place, Manhattan Town Center

Children's Book Shop, 1227 Moro St.

■ Shops offering customers incentives if K-State goes 13-0 during '98 football season.

BY MATT KREPS
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Some local shoppers are hoping the K-State football team goes undefeated this year. If the Cats win every game, customers will get a full refund on certain purchases.

Varney's Book Store and Transcend Technologies, both in Aggieville, are offering refunds for an undefeated season, which includes the Big 12 Championship game and a bowl game.

Neither store said the Cats had to win the national championship for customers to get refunds, just 13 games.

Sara Burgard, shipping and inventory manager at Transcend Technologies and senior in life sciences, said the promotion is a good way to support the football program.

The "Perfect Season, Perfect Price" promotion gives a full refund to anyone who purchases a computer system from Transcend through Sept. 10. Transcend also will sponsor a drawing to give away a 19-inch monitor and gift certificates if the Cats are undefeated. Anyone who visits the store is eligible for the drawing.

Burgard said the store's owner, Darren Bonawitz, thought this would be the season the Cats go undefeated.

"We're a new business in town, and he has picked up the feeling in town that this might be the season to do it," Burgard said.

Bonawitz said a lot of people thought he was crazy to run the promotion.

"Some people think that if it happens, it'll spell the end of our business," he said. "It'll actually make us much stronger."

Bonawitz said the promotion helped get the company's name out to the community. He said he hoped that if the store does refund the money, customers will use some of it on additional computer accessories from Transcend.

The store does have an insurance policy to cover the costs if the Cats go undefeated, Bonawitz said.

"It would be a very very stupid move if we didn't, because we think it's gonna happen," he said.

Varney's also is running a refund promotion called "It's payback time."

"We're giving away the store," assistant manager Steve Levin said.

The promotion offers full refunds on any purchases through Sunday. Textbooks, Kansas Cellular products and class rings are excluded. Customers also can shop at Varney's K-State Place at Manhattan Town Center and the Children's Book Shop in Aggieville, which are part of Varney's.

Levin said he got the idea from a store near the Pennsylvania State University campus.

"A store at Penn State did it last year," he said. "I thought we have as good a chance to be undefeated as Penn State."

Levin said Varney's wants students to be excited about the football season and help build support in the community.

"We're trying to re-establish the tradition of the students coming to Aggieville and having pep rallies and fun events," Levin said. Varney's plans to sponsor other events throughout the football season as part of its football-weekend promotion series.

Levin said players and coaches are excluded from the promotion due to NCAA eligibility rules.

"We don't want Michael Bishop to get kicked off the team because of something we did," Levin said.

City, university team up to start recycling effort

BY JESSE MCCURRY
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

K-State students soon will have the opportunity to get more involved in recycling thanks to an effort between K-State and the city of Manhattan. Nearly $64,000 has been allocated by K-State and the City/University Projects Fund to start a four-year pilot recycling program.

Money for the program was approved unanimously by the Manhattan City Commission last spring.

Tom Rawson, K-State vice president for administration and finance, said the Campus Recycling Advisory Committee — a new 13-member panel of campus and city administrators, faculty and students who oversee the pilot project — meets for the first time in September. He said students should see new recycling canisters on campus by spring.

Rawson said existing recycling containers on campus, in Manhattan City Park and Manhattan City Hall will be replaced with fire-retardant ones. The purpose is to develop a formal campus recycling process.

"You will see a pole with three large canisters around it: one aluminum, one paper and one just for trash. Our goal is that they won't distract from the esthetics of campus, but they have to be functional," Rawson said.

The goals of the program include increasing the overall awareness of recycling for campus and the surrounding areas and establishing a revenue source to continue the program after the pilot study is completed.

"We believe we can make it self-supporting within the next five years," Rawson said.

Rawson said he estimated that by the end of the

■ See RECYCLE on PAGE 8

Groups recruit students at Activities Carnival

BY LAUREN POSLADEK
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Freshman Jared Gudenkauf went to the Activities Carnival on Sunday to get more information about student groups.

He joined four.

Gudenkauf, freshman in management information systems, said he went to the fair for three reasons.

"I had to come for my Intro. to Leadership class. My fraternity also encouraged me to come, but the main reason I came was because I wanted to join some organizations so I could be more involved on campus," Gudenkauf said.

■ MORE INFO?
Call the Office of Student Activities and Services at 532-6541, or stop in the office on the first floor of the K-State Student Union.

Gudenkauf joined the American Red Cross, College Republicans, KSU Cycling Club and Union Program Council's Outdoor Adventures Committee.

"I wasn't planning on joining so many, but they kept popping out at me," Gudenkauf said.

Freshmen weren't the only students looking for ways to get involved.

Miranda Marsh, senior in family life and community service, said the Volunteer Fair, which was at the same time as the carnival, would give her a chance to grow, as well.

"I'm here because I'm looking for more volunteer experience before my internship this spring," she said.

Sixty-two campus groups and 44 volunteer organizations participated in the events, filling three floors of the K-State Student Union.

One of the most popular activities at the carnival was ran by the Ballroom Dancing Club. The group offered free five-minute dance lessons during the fair. After two hours, more than 200 students had joined.

President Dana Rose said most of the students who joined were women, but several guys signed up as well. Rose said that many men were interested, but felt they needed a partner to join.

"You don't need a partner. This is a great way to meet girls," Rose said.

PHOTOGRAPHS BY CLIF PALMBERG/KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Marty Slagle, sophomore in food science, and Nathan Slagle look at each other Saturday afternoon after discovering the person in front of them bought the last available football season ticket at Bramlage Coliseum. Between Friday and Saturday, 8,829 football tickets were sold.

For the first time in the history of K-State football, students season tickets sold out, leaving many to ponder the price of the

BEST SHOW IN KANSAS

By 7:25 a.m. Saturday, the senior line for football tickets had backed up from Bramlage Coliseum to Kimball Avenue. Before all tickets sold out, the seniors had gone through completely and part of the junior class was able to buy tickets.

VIEWPOINT

FRITCHEN

Victims are behind you. They are a young married couple, Nathan Slagle and Marty Slagle, sophomore in food science, and they both appear pretty reserved right now. He's got his head down, bending the bill of his cap, and she's looking deep into the cracks of the Bramlage Coliseum floor, wondering what great crime she committed to be the first K-State student ever to be denied season-long access to what quickly has become The Best Show In Kansas.

In front of them, about 15 feet away, is a student whose smile is unfathomable amid a trailing line of broken hearts. Steve Stewman, junior in fine arts, grabbed the final sheet of student football tickets like it was signed by Ed McMahon and strolled into the parking lot, where hatred and tyranny became the barbaric theme amidst hundreds of empty-handed underclassmen.

Welcome to big-time Division I football.

Just a few seconds ago, Stewman was in the Slagles' shoes, toeing the masking-tape line with his black boots, wiping his clammy hands across his 1997 K-State vs. Kansas long-sleeved T-shirt, hoping, waiting, thanking God he sped on Claflin Road six hours and 19 minutes ago. And then, after much deliberation among the army of ticket-sales staff, a ticket lady yelled, "One more!"

Stewman took one of those slow-motion strolls with his student ID in hand. Groans filled Bramlage, but the cheers of KSU Stadium had already begun to rattle inside Stewman's head. Oh, would he have a story to tell his grandchildren years from now.

Problem was, he would have to return home to tell his roommate the bad news: The stadium only holds 8,829 students, not 8,830.

Stewman and his girlfriend, a senior, arrived in the land of chaos at 6:30 a.m. to stand behind morning-mouthed, inside-out-sweatshirt-clad students — some of whom had staggered in from Aggieville in the wee hours — and stood 20 feet from Kimball Avenue (yes, Kimball Avenue), waiting with doubt stricken across their tear-matted eyes.

When he finally reached the doors of Bramlage three hours later with his girlfriend and a ray of hope, Stewman was tossed aside like an empty Pizza Shuttle box and sent to the back of the line. Unfortunately, he was only a junior. Juniors could purchase tickets at 10 a.m.

And so, we meet our determined hero, Stewman, the last student to receive an open invitation to The Best Show In

■ See FRITCHEN on PAGE 5

CALENDAR DEADLINES

To place an item in the Calendar, stop by Kedzie 116 and fill out a form or e-mail it to bulletins@spub.ksu.edu by 11 a.m. two days before it is to run.

NEWS DIGEST

CALENDAR

The Calendar is the Collegian's campus bulletin board service. Items in the calendar can be published up to three times. Items might not appear because of space constraints but are guaranteed to appear on the day of the activity. To place an item, stop by Kedzie 116 and fill out a form or e-mail it to collegn@ksu.edu by 11 a.m. two days before it is to run.

■ The KSU Karate Club will have an introductory meeting and demonstration at 8:30 tonight in Ahearn Field House.

■ The Finance Club will meet at 7 tonight in Union 212.

■ Student Health Advisory Committee will meet Tuesday at 4:30 p.m. in Lafene 231.

■ Collegiate 4-H will meet at 8 tonight in Union 203.

■ KSU Aikido will meet at 7 tonight in Ahearn 304. Meetings are scheduled for Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays at 7 p.m. and Saturdays at 10 a.m.

■ KSU Women's Softball will have an informational meeting 7 p.m. Tuesday in Union 207.

■ Circle K public-service organization will meet at 7 tonight in Durland 161.

■ Agriculture Council and Alpha Zeta will be hosts for the College of Agriculture watermelon feed and Ag Club activities fair at 6:15 p.m. Tuesday on the front lawn of Waters Hall.

■ The Graduate School announces the final oral defense of the doctoral dissertation of Abbey Nutsch at 3 p.m. today in Call 206. The title is: "Bacterial Decontamination of Meat Surfaces Through the Application of a Steam Pasteurization Process."

■ Career and Employment Services will conduct a World Wide Web résumé registration and career services orientation at 7 tonight in Justin 109.

■ The Political Science Club will meet 8 p.m. Tuesday in Waters 226.

POLICE REPORTS

Reports are taken directly from the K-State and Riley County police departments' daily logs. We do not list wheel locks or minor traffic violations because of space constraints.

K-STATE POLICE
THURSDAY, AUG. 27

■ No reports of note were made.

FRIDAY, AUG. 28

■ No reports of note were made.

RILEY COUNTY POLICE
THURSDAY, AUG. 27

■ At 12:17 a.m., Leeann Van Hoesen, 1435 Anderson Ave., Apt. 2, was issued a notice to appear for minor in possession.

■ At 8:59 a.m., Connie B. Pride, rural Riley County, was arrested on Riley and Clay county warrants for worthless checks. Bond was set at $700.

■ At 12:35 p.m., Andrew D. Nelson, 411 S. 16th St., was arrested for driving with a revoked driver's license. Bond was set at $2,500.

■ At 3:21 p.m., John Gamino, no address listed, was arrested on a Riley County warrant for probation violation. Bond was set at $2,500.

■ At 3:50 p.m., John A. Swis, Ann Arbor, Mich., was arrested on a Riley County warrant for failure to appear. Bond was set at $2,000.

■ At 4:07 p.m., Jeremy Warner, 720 Kearney St., was arrested on a Riley County warrant for probation violation and a Wabaunsee County warrant for failure to appear. .Bond was set at $1,605.50.

■ At 4:20 p.m., Khalid Al-Sharideh, 2171 Prairie Glen Place, was arrested on a Douglas County warrant for failure to appear. Bond was set at $250.

■ At 4:24 p.m., Abdullah Al-Shehri, 2167 Prairie Glen Place, was arrested on a Douglas County warrant for failure to appear. Bond was set at $250.

■ At 4:40 p.m., Brandy N. Casey, no address listed, was arrested on a Pottawatomie County warrant for probation violation. Bond was set at $500.

■ At 4:48 p.m., Rueben Martinez, no address listed, was arrested on a Riley County warrant for failure to appear. Bond was set at $250.

■ At 5:48 p.m., Lonnie Lafave, 2410 Charolais Lane, was arrested on a Manhattan municipal warrant for permitting a dog to run at large.

FRIDAY, AUG. 28

■ At 11:23 a.m., Barry D. Pugh, 2111 Seaton St., was arrested on a Manhattan municipal warrant for probation violation. Bond was set at $300.

■ At 3:38 p.m., Tiffany M. Morris, 6030 Tuttle Terrace, Lot 4, was arrested on a Manhattan municipal warrant for parking violations. Bond was set at $45.

■ At 4:03 p.m., Stanley Clark, 517 S. 15th St., Apt. C, was arrested on a Riley County warrant for domestic battery. Bond was set at $500.

■ At 4:56 p.m., Desie M. Chatfield, 500 S. Manhattan Ave., was arrested on a Pottawatomie County warrant for illegal turn, no driver's license on demand and no proof of insurance. Bond was set at $500.

■ At 5:28 p.m., Rod Marti, 1106 Yuma St., was arrested on a Riley County warrant for probation violation. Bond was set at $500

■ At 9:12 p.m., Michael Lackey, 1415 Claflin Road, was arrested on a Riley County warrant for speeding and failure to appear.

■ At 9:36 p.m., Jason A. Sabin, no address listed, was arrested for fleeing and eluding authorities after a three-minute chase.

■ At 11:01 p.m., Alycia D. Thompson, Ford 532, was issued a notice to appear for minor in possession.

■ At 11:02 p.m., Bruce W. Johnson, 1004 Pottawatomie Ave., was arrested for DUI. Bond was set at $1,000.

■ At 11:25 p.m., James C. Johnson, 2021 College View, was issued a notice to appear for minor in possession.

■ At 11:30 p.m., Daniel J. Neisis, Goodnow 625, was issued a notice to appear for minor in possession.

DAILY REWIND

The Daily Rewind collects the top local, state, national and world news from the past 24 hours. Briefs are compiled from wire and staff reports.

Bidding war rages for Lewinsky sex stories

NEW YORK — Bidding for the Monica Lewinsky story could turn Lewinsky's saga into the highest-priced sex story in history, the New Yorker magazine reported.

In its Sept. 7 issue, the magazine reports that the Star tabloid sent Lewinsky a one-sentence offer, promising "one million dollars for exclusive rights to her story — if and when she should decide to talk publicly."

That bid was topped by publisher HarperCollins, which offered $2 million for a book, the magazine said, quoting a source familiar with the offer.

Phil Bunton, the Star's editor-in-chief, said the price was increased because the market for sex stories is getting crowded.

"When the (Gennifer) Flowers story first broke, the mainstream press dumped all over us," Bunton said. "Now, they're every bit as aggressive as we are in chasing the sex details."

Despite the offers, there has been no indication that Lewinsky is willing to sell her story, the New Yorker said.

WEATHER

HIGH 88

LOW 63

More of the same today — pretty warm with a chance for showers late this afternoon and evening. And later this week? Yep. More of the same.

CONTACT US

■ NEWSROOM 532-6556
■ ADVERTISING 532-6560
■ CLASSIFIEDS 532-6555

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN
KEDZIE 116
KANSAS STATE UNIVERSITY
MANHATTAN, KS 66506

The Kansas State Collegian (USPS 291 020), a student newspaper at Kansas State University, is published by Student Publications Inc., Kedzie 103, Manhattan, Kan. 66506. The Collegian is published weekdays during the school year and twice a week through the summer. Periodical postage is paid at Manhattan, Kan. 66502. POSTMASTER: Send address changes to Kansas State Collegian, circulation desk, Kedzie 103, Manhattan, Kan. 66506-7167.

© KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN, 1997

AG STUDENTS and FACULTY
are invited to a
Watermelon Feed
& Club Activities Fair

Front lawn of Waters Hall*
Tuesday Sept. 1 6:15 p.m.
Sponsored by Ag Student Council & Alpha Zeta
(all department clubs will be represented)
* Weber Arena in case of rain.

k-state's
MEN'S GLEE CLUB
AUDITIONS

McCAIN 229 OPEN TO NON-MUSIC MAJORS

KSU KARATE CLUB

Study the traditional art of

Okinawan Goju-Ryu KARATE-DO

Info meeting/Demonstration Mon. Aug. 31st 8:30 p.m.
New beginners class starts Thurs. Sept. 3rd 7:00 p.m.
Ahearn Field House
(no previous experience required)

For more information, contact Charlene at 776-2112

Attention May 2000 Graduates

How would you like up to $7,000 to help pay for your last two years of school?

Interested?

Call Reid at 532-6600 to find out how.

AIR FORCE ROTC
LEADERSHIP EXCELLENCE STARTS HERE

We've lowered the price of higher learning.

PENTIUM II SPECIAL
(all new equipment)
Pentium II 266
Loaded with
32 Meg. RAM
32X CD ROM
3.2 Gig Hard drive
56K Modem
Windows 98
14" SVGA Monitor
Color Printer
200 software programs
Lots of extras
$999.99

BACK TO SCHOOL SPECIAL
(refurbished equipment)
Various Configurations
Pentium computer
Color monitor
Color inkjet printer
Windows 95
200 Software Programs
$549.99

RESIDENCE HALL SPECIAL
3 com network card
25 ft. 10 BT cable
Cat pack disks
$49.99
(1 per student)

How to Get There

YOU'RE GONNA LOVE IT
You walk into Computer Renaissance. It's clean, bright and well organized. The people who work there really know their computers. This is no garage sale. You're glad because you're not here to buy a used shower curtain.

Computer RENAISSANCE
(Near the corner of 4th and Fort Riley)
315 Fort Riley Blvd. 785-537-4413
We buy, sell trade used and new computer equipment

RECREATIONAL SERVICES
Intramurals Football Officials' Clinic

August 31, 5 p.m.
Recreation Complex

September 1, 5 p.m.
Intramural Fields

September 2, 5 p.m.
Recreation Complex

Attendance at all three meetings required!

Recreational Services Office 532-6980

Researchers find spices that kill E. coli

■ K-State team successful in killing bacteria in beef, fermented salami.

By Lynette Abitz
Kansas State Collegian

You might want to add some cloves to your hamburgers the next time you barbecue.

K-State researchers have discovered that adding certain spices to ground beef and fermented salami can kill E. coli 0157.H7, a bacteria that contaminates food.

Daniel Y.C. Fung, professor of animal science and industry, said the year-long research project shows that garlic, cinnamon, oregano, sage and cloves have good E. coli-killing abilities.

Erdogan Ceylan, graduate student in food microbiology and part of the research group, said there is a growing trend to use natural products in food instead of chemicals. This idea prompted researchers at K-State to study the effects of spices on E. coli.

Ceylan said the group traveled to the library to study nearly 200 spices known to kill pathogens.

It finally narrowed the category to 23 spices.

The group added high levels of E. coli 0157.H7 to ground beef and salami. They found cloves to be the most productive in killing the pathogen in hamburger.

High doses of garlic worked well in fermented salami.

Fung said it was just testing the effects of the spices and haven't tasted the products yet.

Fung said this isn't a significant discovery, but a practical one.

"The whole idea is to tell people a spice off the shelf can kill this pathogenic organism," he said.

Fung said the spices have been tested only in raw hamburger, and he advises heating meat before eating it.

The group has received notice for their discovery. It was featured in The New York Times and on CBS.

Fung said his phone has been ringing off the hook.

The next stage of the research project will be to monitor the effects of the spices after the meat is heated. Fung said they also could test the effects of cinnamon on E. coli in apple cider. Ceylan said they will continue their research with beef patties and possibly work with meatloaf.

Fung presented the results of the project this summer at the Institute of Food Technology in Atlanta. K-State is a member of a Food Safety Consortium with the University of Arkansas and Iowa State University. The three universities' research shows how to kill pathogenic organisms, and they receive their funding from the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

SEND YOUR LETTERS TO THE EDITOR TO:
LETTERS@SPUB.KSU.EDU

Stop to smell the flowers, and...
Read the Collegian

HIT THE TRAIL SALE
Back Packs and Shoulder Bags On Sale:
North Face
Eagle Creek
JanSport
the PATHFINDER
OUTDOOR EQUIPMENT SPECIALISTS
304 POYNTZ 539-5639

Forensics Speech Team
Join Today!
No experience required
Squad Meetings
Mondays at 3:30 p.m., Nichols 311
For more information:
532-6875
craigb@ksu.edu

AMERICAN FAMILY INSURANCE
AUTO HOME BUSINESS HEALTH LIFE
TIM ENGLE
"K-State Grad 88"
"Save on Your Health and Auto Insurance"
3320 Anderson 539-9200

Kansas State Collegian Advertising
532-6560

5¢ Self-serve copying, 8½" x11", single side, white paper
Claflin Books and Copies
1814 Claflin Road 776-3771

9 Hole Golf Course
Monday & Tuesday Specials
2-9 hole greens fees & a cart $20
Driving Range
Buy 2 Jr. buckets get 1 FREE
exp. 10-31-98
Mini golf
Volleyball
Batting cages
WILDCAT CREEK sports center
539-PLAY
3639 Anderson Ave.
Sun.-Thur. 7 a.m.-10 p.m. Fri. & Sat. 7 a.m.-11 p.m.

PIZZA SHUTTLE DELIVERS
776-5577
1800 Claflin Road

KSU Women's Fastpitch Softball
Club informational meeting
Wed., Sept. 2
at 7 p.m. Rm. 207
in the Union
For more info, contact
Rob Levins at 587-9587

SKYDIVE!
Learn how with the K-State Parachute Club
Fall Class Schedule:
Sept. 11-12, 18-19
Oct. 2-3, 16-17, 30-31
Informational Meeting
Sept. 1, 7:30 p.m.
in the Union Little Theatre
For more info contact
ksupc@ksu.edu
www.ksu.edu/ksupc

Hair Experts Design Team
Welcome Back, Students!
776-4455
Aggieville, USA
$5 off any service
Not valid with any other offers or children's haircut.
expires 10/1/98 #23

InterKan.Net, Inc.
Offer Ends Today!
Sign up by 6 p.m. and get September FREE!
Monthly Rates:
Unlimited hrs - $19.95
100 hrs - $12.50
30 hrs - $10.00
10 hrs - $7.50
1106 R Laramie
10-6 Mon-Fri
12-5 Sat
565-0991
www.interkan.net
No set-up fee with credit card payment. Not valid with other offers.

Need $ for Books?
Donate plasma & earn cash.
new donors:
Earn $75 in 3 donations
return donors:
Earn $15-$20
each donation
Nabi
Manhattan Biomedical Center
1130 Garden Way • Mon. & Thurs., 9 a.m. - 7 p.m., Tues. & Wed. 9 a.m. - 6:30 p.m., Fri. 9 a.m. - 5 p.m., Sat. 8 a.m. - 1 p.m. • 776-9177

Make Tracks Over Winter Break!
17th Annual Colorado Classic
COLLEGIATE GOTTA Ski gonna party like it's 1999! BREAKS
JANUARY 3-18, 1999 • 2, 3, 4, 5, 6 or 7 NIGHTS
Steamboat
Breckenridge
Vail/Beaver Creek
Copper Mountain
AS LOW AS $112
Book by Nov. 1 and save up to $20!
Book a Group of 20 and Ski Free!
Sunchase Ski & Beach Breaks
TOLL FREE INFORMATION AND RESERVATIONS
1•800•SUNCHASE
ski the web at www.sunchase.com
Nobody Does Ski Breaks Better!

Welcome Back, K-Staters
Don't miss our back to school sale! Save BIG on the area's largest selection.
Rockford Fosgate · Artistry in Sound ONKYO · KENWOOD · ALPINE · SONY
ADCOM · PrecisionPower. Absolutely State of the Art Mobile Audio · Definitive Technology · Infinity CAR AUDIO
PIONEER The Art of Entertainment · MTX SERIOUS ABOUT SOUND · VIPER No One Dares Come Close! · DENON The First Name in Digital Audio · JL AUDIO
AUDIO JUNCTION, INC.
587-4646
307 Ft. Riley Blvd.
Mon.-Fri. 10-7 Sat. 10-5
We accept: Visa. American Express, Mastercard, Discover

OUR VIEW

Athletics department deals reality check

Congratulations, K-State football fans. We've now officially hit the big time. Football is now an honest-to-goodness money-making venture.

That's little consolation for the thousands of students left out in the cold after this weekend's ticket-buying adventure.

Congratulations to all the freshmen who skipped class Friday, waited in line for a few hours and got the hottest ticket in town. Combo-ticket day was a crafty decision on the part of the Department of Intercollegiate Athletics, which sold an entire basketball season on the coattails of football. That's little consolation for the upperclassmen who will be filling sports bars this fall to watch the football games on the big screen.

In any endeavor as complex as this, there always will be problems, and we can't expect it to be perfect.

Ask any student who traveled from Aggieville after last call to sleep outside of Bramlage Coliseum in hopes of being first in line what they think of combo sales, or ask them what they think of the rule allowing a student to buy four tickets with other people's student IDs. Sure, if they got tickets, they probably have no complaints.

But what about those who stood in line for five or six hours, only to be sent home empty-handed, watching the person in front of them carry away four sheets of tickets?

One student should be allowed one set of tickets. This policy allows more students a chance to attend games. Ask a few people who bought three or four sets what they plan to do with them. Sure, some actually bought tickets for their friends who were too lazy to pull the weight standing in line.

But, chances are, many of those who nabbed four sets of tickets plan to sell them to fellow students. So, you might say students left out in the cold this weekend still could get tickets, but why should they have to pay more than anybody else?

Worse than that, what about the tickets that inevitably will be sold to the Big Red fan machine? Gasp if you must, but even the most true-blue (or purple) K-State fan probably could stomach selling out on a ticket that is sure to bring a pretty penny.

Reserving tickets at spring enrollment alleviates this problem. Nobody from another school is going to enroll at K-State just for football tickets.

In a perfect world, money wouldn't drive this program, and any student who wanted a ticket could get it. That's just not possible.

The powers that be have tried to make it as painless as possible for everyone. It's still not good enough, but students have to take what they can get.

In this case, what they can get might be a ticket for the Northeast Louisiana game and a comfy couch and case of beer for the Nebraska game.

OUR VIEW, an editorial selected and debated by the editorial board, is written after a majority opinion is formed. The editorial board consists of Collegian editors and other staff members. OUR VIEW is the Collegian's official opinion.

EDITORIAL BOARD

EDITOR-IN-CHIEF
JILL JARSULIC

MANAGING EDITOR/ PRESENTATION
TODD STEWART

NEWS EDITOR
TRAVIS D. LENKNER

PHOTO EDITOR
STEVE HEBERT

CAMPUS EDITOR
KELLEE MILLER

CITY/GOVERNMENT EDITOR
MATT KREPS

SPORTS EDITOR
JEREMY KELLEY

ARTS & ENTERTAINMENT EDITOR
DIANA LEE

OPINION EDITOR
JON KURCHE

COPY CHIEF
JANET COOK

eCOLLEGIAN EDITOR
R.J. DIEPENBROCK

SPECIAL PROJECTS EDITOR
ANGELA KISTNER

READERS WRITE

News article on traffic circles biased, lacking factual data

Editor,

I was quite disappointed to read the article about traffic circles that appeared in Tuesday's Collegian. I found the lead article to be quite biased and lacking factual data.

While many Manhattan residents do not like the traffic circles for a variety of reasons, many others are in favor of them, primarily for safety reasons. Citizens representing both points of view aired their concerns on Aug. 11 at a City Commission policy meeting. In addition, at that meeting a detailed study on the effectiveness of traffic circles was presented by the former city engineer. The results of the study indicated that traffic circles were effective in lowering speeds and reducing injury accidents.

However, you reported neither the study nor the opinions of the residents at that meeting (both of which are part of the public record), and instead chose to interview freshman students who might not have lived in Manhattan long enough to have an informed opinion.

Traffic circles, while not perfect, are effective at slowing traffic at intersections. This is important to residents of the Grandview neighborhood who have small children who must cross Grandview Terrace to attend Lee School.

At the City Commission meeting, many residents who oppose the traffic circles in their current form indicated they support improvements to the traffic circles, such as improved lighting, painting, parking restrictions near the circles and better signs. To the city's credit, some of these measures appear to have been implemented at the circle at Fairchild and Denison avenues since the meeting.

—Michael Herman
Division of Biology

AN UNWANTED DOSE OF REALITY

Gunfire breaks out at family reunion, puts recent news events in new light

VIEWPOINT

KELLIE KORB

Three things that probably are not included in your family reunion: death, suicide and gunshots.

Well, we did not plan on it, either.

I had been sitting with my family on the second-floor terrace of our hotel on the Saturday evening of our family reunion. From the first-floor lobby, we heard frantic, jumbled yelling. Then, someone started to scream, "Get down!" The order was followed by three gunshots.

My family and I assumed the person who had been shot in front of the elevators was a criminal, but later we discovered otherwise. He had been calling the police all day on a cellular phone from the hotel, threatening to commit suicide.

After meeting with the police that evening, he fled back to the hotel, where he ran inside with a gun in his mouth. The police followed him inside, yelling at him to put the gun down. Instead of that, he turned, pulled the gun out of his mouth, pointed it at the officers and subsequently was shot.

I have thought about this incident a lot lately. It disgusted me. Not necessarily because of the event itself, but because of the reactions that resulted from it.

You see, after this man was shot and after we realized that any imminent threat of death or bodily harm had passed, we joined in the voyeuristic frenzy that was going on inside the hotel. Not all that much was visible to us, either. Our view was blocked by the elevators. We managed to sit there anyway and watch the swarms of police officers and photographers for nearly two hours; it was pathetic.

The thing that disturbs me most out of all of this is that nearly all of the onlookers — in essence, every guest at the hotel — seemed completely unperturbed and never seemed to grasp fully the magnitude of what just had happened, myself included.

So my question is this: Have we, as a society, become so jaded and desensitized by random, senseless acts of violence that when faced with a violent act ourselves, we completely are able to detach ourselves from it? Does this mean we just accept violence as a fact of everyday life, that it is as blasé as eating breakfast?

Think about it — after the schoolyard killings in Arkansas, what was your reaction? More than likely, it was one of outrage, and you probably were appalled that a child could perform that kind of crime. How many more murders allegedly have been committed by children since then? What is your reaction now? If you are like most, you simply shake your head and wonder why America is going to hell in a handbasket, but after that you do not give it a second thought.

Recently, I read a story that occupied a small space on the cover of The New York Times about two boys — they were 7 and 8 — who brutally had murdered and sexually assaulted an 11-year-old girl. Their motive? Her bicycle. Yet another sick and heinous crime, but was there a huge public outcry? Nope, at least not one on a national level. How many other deaths and crimes occur on a daily basis by adults that we never hear about?

I know I am frustrated because I now find that I, too, have succumbed to the ignorance-is-bliss theory, and that as far as I can tell, a disturbingly high percentage of the population has as well.

So, what now? I have managed to pose a series of questions and not a single concrete answer. I hope you are annoyed enough to give the questions some genuine consideration.

I will give you one more thought. In a few years, most of us are going to be living in the "real world" with real jobs and real families. The question is this: What do you plan on doing to make the "real world" a place in which you want to live?

Kellie Korb is a sophomore in theater. She can be reached by e-mail at krk7756@ksu.edu.

Son's desire to pierce ear teaches mom valuable lesson

In the face of the popularity of wanton body piercing, ear piercing seems like a mild endeavor. Parents of babies just a few months old line up to have the virgin lobes of infant girls adorned with diamonds or pearls. Teenage boys sport silver hoops and grown men can be spotted in gold studs.

Most women I know can recall how old they were when their parents let them get their ears pieced.

I got my ears pierced when I was six years old. I can remember the sound of the piercing gun and the smell of the solution used to wash the newly made holes in my flesh. My father took me to get my ears pierced without my mother's permission, a fact my mother will point out to this day with great vigor.

Now it's my turn to be a parent.

My mother refers to this as cosmic payback time. When you become a parent, all of the frustration, challenges and joys your parents navigated through when you were a child are returned to you. It is the circle of life.

The ear-piercing quandary my mother faced during my childhood has reared its ugly head.

My 9-year-old son wants to get his ear pierced. He points out the rich and famous on television who have earrings.

Dennis Rodman, the god of piercings and tattoos, long has been much admired by Thomas.

This is not an impulse decision for the boy. Thomas would like an earring in his right ear. A dedicated Wildcat fan, he would like a silver hoop with a purple bead on it. He knows it is going to hurt, and he knows he will have to take care of it.

My knee-jerk reaction was not to let the child get his ear pierced.

The thought of a boy just beginning his fourth-grade year wearing an earring seems a bit unorthodox, even for a liberal like me.

What will his teachers think? What will my mother say? What will the neighbors think? What will my mother say?

After careful thought, I realized I was more concerned about what everyone would think of me than what is good for Thomas.

As a parent, what your parents think about your parenting means a lot.

My father is not an issue. At forty-something my father sports an earring and a ponytail with his slacks and tie at work. My mother is a bit more conservative, not to mention the gaggle of grandparents.

I am not about to get the boy's ear pieced to rebel against my mother and grandparents, although the thought did cross my mind for just a second.

VIEWPOINT

MARY RENEE SMITH

I am going to let Thomas get his ear pierced because of back-to-school night. There, amidst all the confusion and excitement of a new school year, were the fourth-grade girls with little gold, diamond and pearl earrings.

That weekend, Thomas and I sat on the couch. I said, "Thomas, I'll let you get your ear pierced if you want to." I thought he was going to fall off the couch.

"Do you want to know why?" I asked. At that point, I really don't think he cared why, but I was so proud of my discovery I wanted someone to know.

"I'm going to let you get your ear pierced because if you were a girl ..."

"You'd let me get my ears pieced," Thomas said. His eyes lit up; at that moment he shared in my discovery.

All of his life we have talked about challenging gender stereotypes.

We talk about why society thinks certain jobs are for boys and others are for girls. Those discussions have paid off.

Thomas questions the reasons the United States has never had a female leader when so many other countries have. He notices the differences between advertising aimed at girls and that aimed at boys.

After all that teaching, I knew eventually he would come to the realization I had. I wouldn't be practicing what I preach if I knew I would allow earrings if he were a girl but was denying him the privilege because he is a boy.

The circle of life sometimes teaches some valuable lessons.

Mary Renee Smith is a junior in speech. She can be reached by e-mail at mojo@ksu.edu.

READERS WRITE

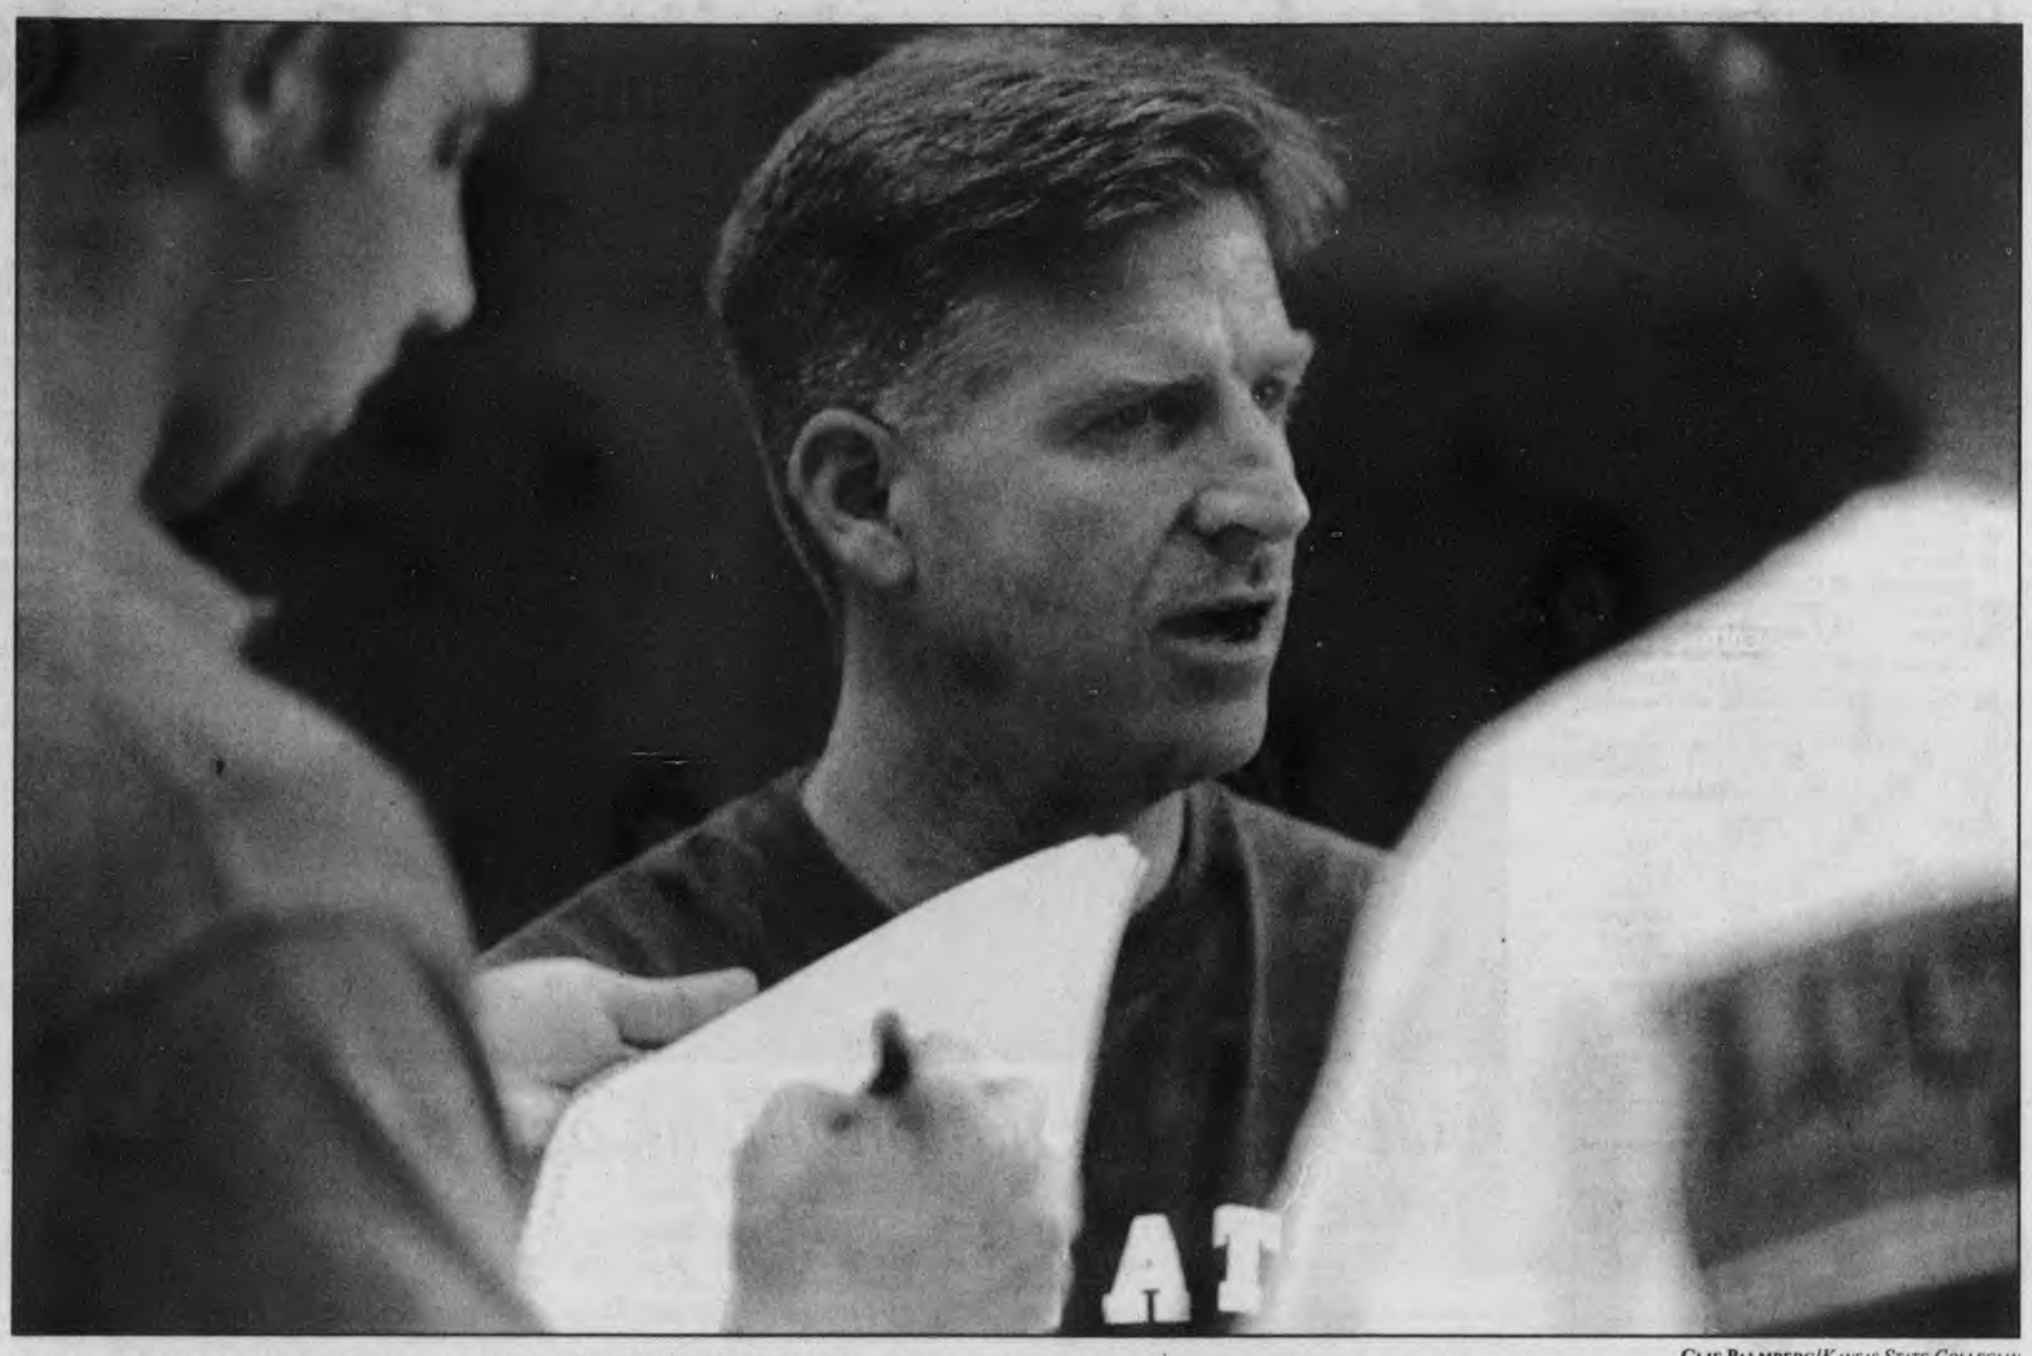
Instructor questions use of waiting list

Editor,

K-State has an amusing system of enrollment whereby once a course is filled, a wait list is established for the instructor that supposedly provides an orderly system of adding students as space becomes available. The wait list explains its purpose as:

"The students listed . . . have indicated a desire to enroll in this course section and have asked that they be placed on a wait list. The students are listed in order by the date they asked to be placed on the wait list."

So, as usually happens the first day of class, not all who are enrolled appear, while those on the wait list usually do, eager to grab those spots vacated by other students. Imagine my surprise the second day of class when, as I am about to move some from the wait list to the class roster, a new student who was not in class the first day announces that he or she officially has enrolled in the class, ahead of everyone on the wait list. How could this have happened?



A call to the Office of the Registrar's provides an explanation. According to its policy, if someone drops the class, someone else who happens to be in the right place at the right time may add the class ahead of all those on the wait list.

Then what, pray tell, is the point of the wait list?

With considerable irritation, I request the person in the registrar's office NOT enroll anyone in any of my classes; I will enroll them via the wait list by issuing a Course Section Permit to the individual student who already has been coming to class.

It seems to me that ought to be the policy of the Registrar's Office if the wait list system is to work. Otherwise, what we have here at K-State Casino is a crap shoot.

—Phil Anderson, instructor
Department of Speech Communication, Theater and Dance

Volleyball head coach Jim McLaughlin talks to members of the press Friday afternoon in Ahearn Field House. The first volleyball game is Wednesday against Drake University.

CLIF PALMBERG/KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

BACK IN THE SWING OF THINGS

Volleyball team kicks off 1998 campaign at home against Drake on Wednesday

BY JOHN BERGGREN
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

K-State volleyball enters the 1998 season with possibly its deepest and most talented team ever, but standing in its way is what most agree is the Wildcats' toughest schedule in school history.

Already faced with a tough 20-match Big 12 slate in which Nebraska, Texas, Colorado and Texas A&M all are ranked in the preseason top-20, K-State also faces a more-than-formidable non-conference schedule.

K-State has three non-conference home matches beginning with Drake on Wednesday and UMKC on Friday along with Wichita State on Sept. 15, but its toughest non-conference games will be played on the road.

The Wildcats will travel to Gainesville, Fla., to compete against Pittsburgh, Northwestern, and preseason No. 6 Florida in the Sun Trust Invitational on Sept. 11 and 12. They also will travel to the Arkansas Invitational to meet Arkansas, Miami (Ohio), and Illinois on Sept. 17-19. Coach Jim McLaughlin said he admits K-State's two non-conference tournaments are going to be more difficult than he first expected.

"I don't know if (the scheduling) was done totally by design," McLaughlin said. "Sometimes you don't always have a ton of information on teams when you schedule them. There is no doubt though that this is a tougher non-conference schedule than we've ever had in the past."

McLaughlin, who is in his second season at the helm of the Wildcats, said he is not worried about taking a few losses with K-State's non-conference schedule. He figures it will have K-State ready for Big 12 play, which some publications have dubbed as the nation's strongest conference.

"Our preseason is kind of to get us ready for the Big 12, because we're going to make a run," McLaughlin said. "Our whole focus is to be good in the Big 12 season.

"When we fly to Arkansas, we'll face three teams that were in the NCAA Tournament last year, and I'd say when we come back from that tournament, we'll be ready for Big 12 competition."

K-State has two holes to fill from last year's squad, which lost senior setter Devon Ryning, who graduated, and outside hitter Alexis Shepherd, who left the Wildcats for personal reasons at the end of last season. But an excellent recruiting class is making those replacements easy for McLaughlin.

Freshman Disney Bronnenberg has been "thrown into the fire," McLaughlin said. McLaughlin said she has handled the role well so far.

"She's had some off moments, but she's never been completely off," he said. "I've told her that she has got to be in the present tense and not hang her head and look at her shoelaces. We're three weeks away from Big 12 play, and she doesn't have time to dwell on her mistakes."

Freshmen Jayne Christen and Liz Wegner are battling for the outside-hitter position. McLaughlin said that no matter who ends up in the starting role, the other still will see key minutes for the Cats.

K-State will be led by senior swing-hitter Kim Zschau and senior middle-blocker Val Wieck this season, both of whom are chasing several all-time records.

Zschau is now fifth all-time in kills with 1,199, third all-time in total attacks with 3,271 and second all-time in digs with 1,073. She needs 196 kills, 196 total attacks and 102 digs to become the all-time leader in these respective categories.

Wieck is second all-time in career block-assists. She needs just 17 block-assists to surpass Kate DeClerk, who is No. 1 on the all-time list with 431. Wieck also has a chance to become the third player ever to finish her career with an attack percentage above .300. She is hitting .299 entering this season.

Athletes listen to lecture on evils of sports gambling

BY MIKE VIETTI
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

As many K-State athletes strolled into Bramlage Coliseum on Sunday night, whispers could be heard from the athletes themselves questioning why they were being forced to attend a lecture concerning a topic they would never encounter or so they thought.

Former gangster Michael Franzese spoke about gambling and the toll it has taken on his life as well as the lives of many student athletes around the country.

"Gambling is a big problem for athletes and America in general," said Franzese, former captain of the infamous Colombo mafia family based in New York. "Gambling among student athletes is more widespread now than in my days with the mob."

Because of that increase, speakers such as Franzese have become a necessary tool in attempting to curb the number of student athletes who illegally bet on college sports contests.

"Concern about student athletes betting on sports has increased due to situations such as the Northwestern scandal," Max Urick, director of intercollegiate athletics, said. "I think knowledge and education are our best ways to combat it."

Many of K-State's athletes were unaware of the severity of the situation.

"I had no idea just how serious this thing is," Ty Sims, senior basketball player, said. "I've heard of a few incidents that happened — like at Boston College, but I was really surprised by how in-depth the whole gambling operation is."

Franzese is one person who knows how serious gambling among athletes is. He spoke of numerous famous athletes who have had their lives destroyed by gambling such as former Major League Baseball players Denny McLain and Pete Rose.

"Most people think they'll never get caught gambling," Franzese said. "I have seen more people ruin their lives through gambling than drugs or anything else."

Franzese said he and his fellow mafia companions would target professional athletes as well as student athletes.

"Many times we would just approach athletes after the game and invite them to have a beer or something like that," Franzese said. "That was how we began to get close to them."

Eventually, an athlete would be invited to a party where he would be seduced by a woman. While under the influence, the athlete would take part in sexual acts with men and would be photographed unknowingly. Now, with photographs at his disposal, Franzese would order the athlete to comply with him or face becoming exposed. Unfortunately, many athletes, at this point, became associates with the mafia where they were basically indentured servants.

"Becoming involved with gambling is something that catches you," Franzese said. "People usually never wanted to get involved, but once they did, getting away from it was almost impossible."

Franzese left K-State's athletes with a message they undoubtedly never will forget.

"Gamblers in the end always lose," he said. "You may win a few times, but in the end you will always lose."

FRITCHEN

■ continued from page 1

Kansas. By Stewman's expression, it's bound to be the show of his life. This story definitely didn't offer the I'll-give-myself-up-for-you segment where the hero gives himself up for the well-being of the maiden.

"I'm still afraid to face my roommate," he said, half-smiling.

There was the frustrated poor young man who wanted to wrestle a slew of fraternity guys who kept multiplying by the second before his eyes as he stood in line. There were the three guys toting sleeping bags, who emerged unscathed at 10:30 a.m., piled into a red Ford pickup at the front of the lot, exchanged high-fives and drove off into the sunset — survivors after an overnight stay outside Bramlage.

Anyone know the student who declined a $150 bid for his student ID? Or how about the one who turned down a $500 offer for his Nebraska ticket as he walked to his car?

No matter the story, no matter the individual sagas, the claims, the seeming unfairness of a new ticket system that seemingly went awry, there lies a truth in this whole ticket mess that not even Athletics Director Max Urick can solve inside his Emerald City.

K-State needs a better ticket system.

"I don't know any other way to do it," Urick said, shaking his head in disbelief as his eyes traced the increasing crowd. "Do you have a better suggestion?"

I don't. Do you?

I saw your mournful faces as you stood in line and grimaced at the thought of being without football tickets. I'd rather have my car explode in the coliseum parking lot.

As tough as this might be for you ticketless victims to stomach, don't blame Max Urick for all the faults of this new ticket system.

When Urick and the Student Ticket Committee devised this new ticket system, it would have been erroneous for him to make any guarantees. As Urick has discovered, there are no guarantees in Division I football.

Urick tried to make this ticket-getting thing as harmless as possible. That's why 4,500 students from all classes bought combination football and basketball tickets Friday. Without a doubt, the poorest decision made with this new ticket system was to sell combination tickets during Friday classes, which forced students to wait four hours and caused some students to miss a day of class. But, in retrospect, a combo purchase was the best way.

As most sophomores and freshmen discovered, it was the only way.

What have we learned? The four-ID card rule was about as popular with juniors and sophomores as the moron who decided to wear a KU sweatshirt and Nebraska cap Saturday.

Still, Urick knew spring and summer student ticket sales were worthless because student classification wasn't valid until the end of summer. He remembered how the fee-payment method inside Ahearn Field House caused computer clerks to count social security numbers in their sleep for months. Besides, he reasoned, seniors deserved the first opportunity to enjoy the games.

University of Michigan students camp out for days. Florida State, Florida and Nebraska student tickets are virtually impossible to find. At Ohio State, you must be a junior to even stand in line.

Even high school freshmen must wait two years before going to prom.

Urick understands next year things will be different. Already, Urick knows the four-ID rule is gone. Bye-bye. A Saturday and Sunday sales schedule will alleviate students missing a day of class. More ID "swipers" should increase ticket sales from 700 to nearly 900 sales an hour. There's more: an increase of cashiers would make the lines move quicker, which in some cases would prevent a slow and anguishing death.

Still, victims sneered in despair at 11:45 a.m., when it was announced to a corral of sophomores in the parking lot that fewer than 500 tickets remained.

"This is crap, man!" sophomore in open-option Chad Lucchi announced. "We want to see football games and we can't get tickets. We have seniors using four IDs, and that's not fair."

Then more tragedy struck. At 12:27 p.m., it was announced that 31 tickets were left, six remaining in the reserved section. A hush fell, and nervousness and anxiety poured over the line of students like the Red Sea. Some prayed, some cried and some looked like my former biology classmates — in deep contrast to the ticket ladies, whom you could tell were going crazy on the inside at this point, overflowing excitement and anticipation of The End of the prelude to The Best Show In Kansas.

Ticket security was allowing one student at a time to pass the masking-tape line, because, "We don't want to send you up there thinking you're going to get them and be disappointed," they said.

And this girl was given the nod and approached the swiper and it screamed "SOPHOMORE!" across the digital display. "That's impossible," she stammered. "I graduated from Cloud County Community College. I'm a junior."

Red-faced, she and the ticket ladies argued. After all, technology isn't even perfect, right? And she nearly cried to the supervisors, and you couldn't help but hope she wouldn't be denied by a glitch on a screen. Then again, the glitch is the decider of all this ticket mess, right?

After several anxious moments of deliberation, she was given the nod and walked to the booth and purchased a sheet of tickets. Tears of fear, happiness and anger flushed her face, but for her the war was finally over.

As Stewman and the Slagles soon discovered, there's a fine line between having and not having tickets to The Best Show In Kansas.

A three-foot strip of masking tape.

CROSSWORD

FOR RELEASE MONDAY, AUGUST 31, 1998

CROSSWORD By Eugene Sheffer

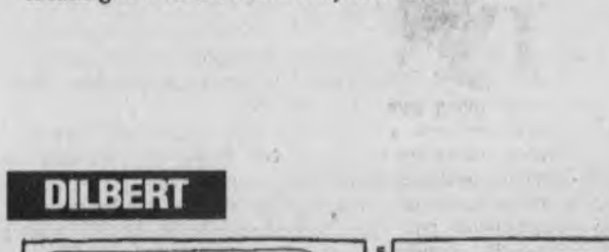
ACROSS
1 Caesar's 901
4 "I tawt I — a puddy tat!"
7 Neighbor of Cambodia
11 Pealed
13 Bat wood
14 Writer Ferber
15 Previously
16 Luau instrument
17 Trojan War hero
18 Brother of Morgan and Virgil
20 Pole, e.g.
22 Barn denizen
24 Quickly
28 Hero of "Kidnapped"
32 Arab potentates
33 Scandinavian man's name
34 Sticky stuff
36 Israel's airline
37 Bait, maybe
39 Former talk-show emcee
41 Lingered
43 "My — Sal"
44 Blubber
46 One without a Y chromosome
50 Hirt hit
53 Succor
55 Barcelona boy
56 It's a long story
57 "Norma —"
58 Greenspan's subj.
59 Feeble
60 Saute
61 Lumberjack's need



DOWN
1 Boast
2 Scads
3 Peruvian's ancestor
4 Greek cross
5 Invites
6 Puppy
7 Command to a nag
8 N. modifier
9 Three — match
10 Kenny G's instrument
12 Command to a nag
19 Feeding
21 Exist
23 Lummox
25 Ledge
26 Folk song byline abbr.
27 Christiania, now
28 Bends
29 See 2 Down
30 Zhivago's love
31 Bad hairpiece
35 Sister of Jo, Beth and Amy
38 Overwhelming amount
40 Uncivilized
42 Sleepy or Bashful
45 Prevaricator
47 Layered mineral
48 Strong as —
49 Zilch
50 Non-Gentile
51 Copycat
52 Through
54 "Partridge Family" cast member

Solution time: 24 min.

	F	A	R	G	O		M	A	R	G	O
L	I	N	E	U	P		C	L	E	A	N	S
E	L	A	P	S	E		M	A	G	N	E	T
O	L	D		T	R	E	A	D		D	I	E
N	E	E	D		A	S	H		M	E	D	E
A	R	M	E	D		S	O	R	O	R	A	L
			I	N	E		N	O	R
L	A	G	G	A	R	D		B	O	S	S	A
I	N	O	N		N	I	B		N	O	T	I
M	I	D		S	E	P	A	L		W	E	D
B	M	I	N	U	S		S	A	F	I	R	E
S	A	V	A	N	T		I	R	O	N	E	D
	L	A	R	G	O		C	A	R	G	O

Saturday's answer

8-31

STUMPED? For answers to today's crossword, call 1-900-454-6873! 99¢ per minute, touch-tone / rotary phones. (18+ only.) A King Features service, NYC.

8-31 CRYPTOQUIP

A T W G W Y K S W J C D A T V D S Y O V S C B S T V S X W K P C G O W G J T Y J C D P Q B B Y P P Q K K H H Y B X D .

Saturday's Cryptoquip: THE DOPE REASONS THAT A TORPEDO IS DEFINITELY A TYPE OF SEA SHELL.

Today's Cryptoquip clue: S equals C

CRYPTOQUIP BOOK 2! Send $4.50 (check/m.o.) to CryptoClassics Book 2, PO Box 6411, Riverton NJ 08077.

The Cryptoquip is a substitution cipher in which one letter stands for another. If you think that X equals O, it will equal O throughout the puzzle. Single letters, short words and words using an apostrophe give you clues to locating vowels. Solution is by trial and error.

Manhattan gets its GROOVE back

Funk band Little Blue Crunchy Things performs for a crowd of nearly 50 people on Friday night at Triangle Park in Aggieville as part of the Welcome Back '98 concert. Little Blue Crunchy Things and Freshwater Collins, both of Wisconsin, were the two bands that performed at the concert, which wassponsored by the Union Program Council Eclectic Entertainment Committee.
STEVE HEBERT/COLLEGIAN

UPC brings national funk acts to the Little Apple

BY JEFF ELLIOTT
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

There was a surge of energy flowing through Aggieville on Friday night, and it wasn't caused by noisy bar crowds.

It was because of Freshwater Collins and Little Blue Crunchy Things, two Wisconsin funk bands. The two groups composed the Welcome Back '98 concert lineup in Triangle Park. The concert was sponsored by the Union Program Council Eclectic Entertainment Committee.

In less than two years, Milwaukee's Freshwater Collins has played with such groups as The Jayhawks, Freddy Jones Band and the Jerry Garcia Band and is set to play with Rusted Root this fall. Drummer Nick Blair describes the quartet as a "jazz-based, bluesy funk." Friday was the group's first trip to Manhattan.

Madison's Little Blue Crunchy Things, a more seasoned band, has jammed with such acts as Urban Dance Squad, Gravity Kills, Mighty Mighty Bosstones, Goldfinger and George Clinton and the P-Funk All-Stars. The band is composed of seven members and has a style similar to that of the headliner.

Eclectic Entertainment chairman Alex Stucky said Triangle Park served as a good location for the production.

"We wanted to get students interested and catch them while they were going to Aggieville," Stucky said.

During Little Blue Crunchy Things' opening set, the crowd consisted of nearly 50 people. Toward the end of Freshwater Collins' performance, the audience had grown to more than 100.

Stucky said the show was a chance to promote live music in Manhattan.

"We want people to know that music in Manhattan is not dead, it's just in recovery. Lawrence isn't the only place to find good live music," Stucky said.

UPC is sponsoring several upcoming live music events, including the Opus 12 band contest on Sept. 18 and The Little Apple Chorus during Family Weekend in late September.

Titanic sails into retail stores at midnight

BY AMY MILLER
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

"Titanic" will be released on video nationwide at midnight tonight — and local video store managers said they hope the lines are longer than the movie.

In Manhattan, a few video stores are staying open late tonight for the release. Some are turning it into an event, with giveaways and free showings of the movie.

Wal-Mart's "launch party" begins at 11 p.m., said Eric Scruggs, sales-floor associate for the electronics department and junior in sociology. Wal-Mart will stay open until 2 a.m., with drawings for free copies of the movie and its soundtrack. He said the movie will be shown for free, and the whole store will be open for late-night shoppers.

He said he wasn't sure of the video's price, but it would be less than $20. Wal-Mart should have no problem stocking enough copies, he said.

"I think last I heard, we were getting 3,000 or 4,000 copies," he said. "Hopefully we'll get some people in here."

Hastings Book Music & Video, which will show "Titanic" on several monitors, will stay open until the last person wants to leave, said Jenny Walker, video associate and senior in social work.

"If there are people that stay to watch the movie, we'll stay open for them," Walker said.

Walker said Hastings will have 242 copies of "Titanic" on sale for $19.99 and more than 100 copies to rent.

"'Titanic' is a guaranteed rental," she said, "so if it's not here, they get a free rental."

Blockbuster Video will be open until 2 a.m., Angela Copeland, customer service representative, said. The first 100 customers can enter a drawing to win a free cruise or a trip to Paramount Parks Carowinds in Charlotte, S.C., she said.

Blockbuster will have copies to rent or to purchase. For $24.99 plus tax, customers get the movie, a Leonardo DiCaprio poster and a Blockbuster gift card worth $5.

Dillons in Westloop Shopping Center will rent "Titanic" for 15 minutes tonight starting at midnight. Cynthia Moran, video associate, said Dillons won't have the video for sale yet, but it will have a reserve list until Sept. 8 for people who want to buy it when it comes in.

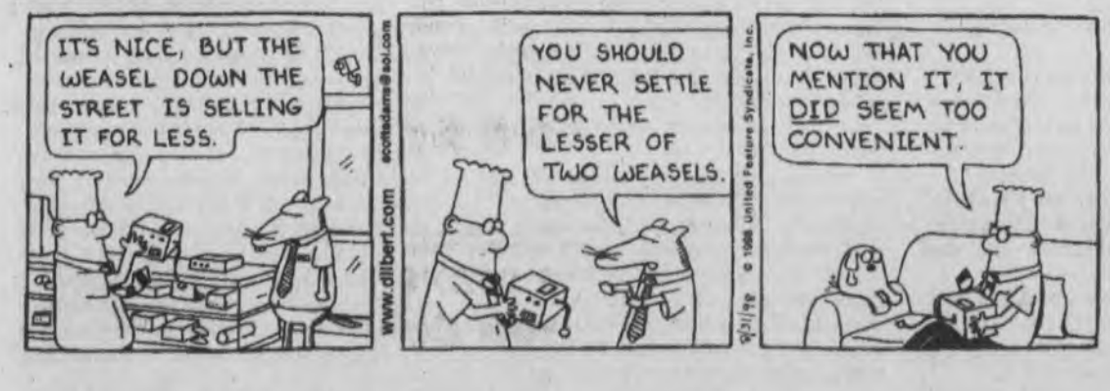
One Internet company is selling "Titanic" for less than its wholesale price, a practice used to increase publicity and, hopefully, future business. The online-video store www.reel.com has "Titanic" priced at $9.99, plus shipping and handling.

"We opted to take the loss," Julie Wainwright, the company's chief executive, said. "We did it to introduce people to shopping at our site."

Bruce Apar, editor in chief of Video Business magazine, said video stores see tomorrow's release as an opportunity to stimulate other sales.

"Inarguably, 'Titanic' is the biggest video event in years," Apar said. "This is the kind of marquee title that gets people into the stores to buy other titles as well."

Customers can reserve copies in advance at Wal-Mart, Hastings and Blockbuster for $2 to $5, which is then taken off the purchase price.



Copeland said Blockbuster already has hundreds of people who have paid to reserve a copy of "Titanic."

"We've had people asking about it for months," she said.

Nearly 20 million copies were shipped over the weekend, and "Titanic" will become the best-selling action video ever if it outsells "Jurassic Park," which sold 17 million copies.

The Associated Press contributed to this story.

DILBERT

MANN HATTEN

AARON FRUEHLING

Congratulations
to the new members of
Gamma Phi Beta!
We are looking forward to a fun & exciting year with you!
Love,
Your Sisters

Want A Challenge?
OFFICER TRAINING SCHOOL
Start your career off on the right foot by enrolling in the Air Force Officer Training School. There you will become a commissioned officer in just 12 weeks. From the start you'll enjoy great pay, complete medical and dental care, 30 days of vacation each year, plus the opportunity to travel and see the world. To discover how high a career in the Air Force can take you, call 1-800-423-USAF, or visit our website at www.airforce.com
AIM HIGH
AIR FORCE
www.airforce.com

Wildcat Soccer
Informational Men's Soccer Meeting
Monday, Aug. 31 at 7:30 p.m.
K-State Student Union, Room 207
For more information contact Eric Glover
776-7331

DEADLINES

Classified ads must be placed by noon the day before you want your ad to run. Classified display ads must be placed by 4 p.m. two working days prior to the date you want your ad to run. CALL 532-6555

CLASSIFIEDS

000 BULLETIN BOARD

010

Announcements

ADVANCED FLIGHT TRAINING from 7,500-hour ATP instructor. Private single-engine through ATP multiengine. Hugh Irvin, 539–3128 evenings.

BIG DAWG Marina has Jet skis and pontoon boats for rent. 776-3113.

DISCOVER SCUBA: Complete lessons, low cost, college credit available. Aggie Dive Shop, 539-DIVE.

FREE FOOTBALL tickets. Register at Mr. P's Party Outlet, 318 Poyntz Ave.

LEARN TO FLY! K-State Flying Club has five airplanes, lowest rates. For information call 537-8406.

SCUBA learn to dive at the only PADI approved dive center in the area, full line of equipment in stock, two instructors, earn college credit. Classes forming weekly. Call Creative Travel and Scuba. 539-0531.

020

Lost and Found

Found ads can be placed free for three days.

FOUND: MEDIUM black and white dog, red collar. Call Erika, 539–5980.

FOUND: MICROCASSETTE tape recorder between Moore and West Halls. 532–1275.

LOST: WALLET and checkbook August 24. Reward if found. Please call (785)761–7481, ask for Vaughn.

100 HOUSING/REAL ESTATE

Manhattan City Ordinance 4814 assures every person equal opportunity in housing without distinction on account of race, sex, familial status, military status, disability, religion, age, color, national origin or ancestry. Violations should be reported to the Director of Human Resources at City Hall, 587–2440.

105

For Rent- Apts. Furnished

ABSOLUTELY AS good a deal as you'll find. Two-bedroom basement, central air, washer/ dryer. Beautiful house, above reasonable. 539–9345.

FOR RENT. Two-bedroom, one and one-half bath furnished apartment. Directly across from campus. No pets. Call Laura. 587-8969.

LIVING QUARTERS furnished, with the use of a Kiln and a Wheel. Utilities provided $250 a month. 587–0648, 1601 Baltimore.

ONE-BEDROOM BASEMENT, fireplace, walk to campus. Quiet, gas and water paid. No pets, no smoking. Lease, $250 deposit, $325/ month. 537-3737

TWO-BEDROOM BASEMENT apartment. Close to campus, $410, all utilities paid except cable television. 776–1214.

TWO-BEDROOM FURNISHED apartment. New carpet, microwave, close to campus, $450, all utilities paid except cable television. 776–1214.

UNIVERSITY COMMONS. Available: fully furnished, individual leases, washer/ dryer in each unit, roommate matching service, pool, sand vollleyball, lighted tennis and basketball courts, monitored security, reserved parking. No appointment necessary. M-F 9a.m.- 6p.m., 10a.m.- 4p.m., 539-0500.

110

For Rent- Apt. Unfurnished

A THREE-BEDROOM, spacious, one-half block to KSU, central air and heat, pets OK, $540, 776-8455.

ACROSS STREET from campus, four-bedroom, appliances, central air/heat off-street parking. 539-2632.

AUGUST FREE! Two-bedroom, spacious, dishwasher, $395-$425. 776-8455.

AVAILABLE NOW. Studio and one-bedrooms, some furnished. Most utilities paid. Clean and quiet, central locations, some pets accepted. 537-8389.

AVAILABLE NOW. Two-bedroom apartment, all appliances including washer/ dryer. Good access to campus! Call 537–1918.

Now Available!
Large 2-Bedrooms
Sandstone Apts.
Cambridge Sq. Apts.
Hill Investments
537-9064

9 Month Lease
2 & 3 Bedroom Specials
539-2951

FOUR-BEDROOM CLOSE to campus, two bath, dishwasher, central air/heat, water/trash paid. Free laundry, good price. 537-2255 or 537-7810.

FOUR-BEDROOM, TWO bath 1300 square feet. Water/ trash paid. Discounted cable with HBO. 776–3663.

LARGE THREE-BEDROOM well lit basement, close to campus, 1729 Laramie, new stove and refrigerator, washer/ dryer hook-ups, heat/ water/ trash paid. $570. 537–2099, 539–8052.

NOW LEASING one to four-bedroom apartments/ houses. Call Alliance Property Management. 539–4357 for current list.

MOVE IN TODAY
1& 4 Bedrooms All close to campus
ABBOTT
ABBOTT management, inc.
Call 776-1340

Chase Manhattan Apartments
1,2,3, or 4 person occupancy. Short term leases available. Water and Trash paid. Discounted cable package HBO, Encore, and Expanded Basic.
Call us Today
776-3663

ONE- OR TWO-BEDROOM. No pets, smoking, drinking. 539–1554.

ONE-BEDROOM, $290. 539-8401.

REASONABLE, LARGE one-bedroom basement, one-half block from university. 539-8856

STUDIO, $280, air-conditioning, bills paid. 539-8401.

THREE-BEDROOM, $390. 539-8401.

THREE-BEDROOM, AUGUST free, washer/ dryer, huge, $540. 776-8455.

THREE-BEDROOM, TWO bath apartment available for August. Very spacious. Dishwasher, microwave, pool, laundry and carports. Call Sara at 537–7007.

Spacious
1 & 2 Bedrooms
Available Now!
1 block from Campus
Laundry
Water/Trash Paid
Lee Crest Apartments
539-7961

TWO, THREE and four-bedroom apartments water/ trash paid, discounted cable with HBO. Going fast. 776–3663.

TWO-BEDROOM, $320. 539-8401.

TWO-BEDROOM, CENTRAL air, laundry hookups, dishwasher, $400. No pets. Nine month lease. 513 S. Manhattan Avenue. 539–2255.

TWO-BEDROOM DUPLEX very nice, clean, gas, window air, carpet, close to campus. Big bargain, $400. 537–2289.

UNIVERSITY TERRACE APARTMENTS. College Ave. Large three-bedroom apartments with washer, dryer hook-ups. 537-2096.

115

Rooms Available

THIRD ROOMMATE needed. One-bedroom in three-bedroom house, minutes from campus. Call 539-9426.

120

For Rent- Houses

1106 KEARNEY- one and one-half blocks from campus. Three-bedrooms, one bath, kitchen, living room, washer and dryer hookups. Available September 1, 1998, $650/ month. Century 21 Knight Real Estate, 537-2111.

A PLEASANT house two blocks from campus. Fireplace, washer/ dryer, dishwasher. Please call 537–7848 or 776-6225.

BASEMENT APARTMENT for rent until June 1, 1999. Call 776-0726 for more information.

FOR RENT three-bedroom house. $500/ month, four blocks from campus at 825 Thurston. (785) 336-2669.

FOUR LARGE bedrooms, two bath, washer/dryer. Near KSU. Redecoration just being completed. No pets. 539-8580.

FOUR-BEDROOM HOUSE newly remodeled close to campus. Washer/ dryer, central air, 539–4949.

KSU THREE BLOCKS. Three-bedroom, one bath, central air, laundry hookups, garage, small pets considered, 1517 Pipher. 539-4087, leave message.

THREE-BEDROOM, AIR-CONDITIONING, $510. 539-8401.

THREE-BEDROOM, CLOSE to campus, attached garage. Stove, refrigerator. Available immediately. (765)463–5014.

TWO, TWO-BEDROOM houses available. One located in town and one in country. Stove, refrigerator, air-conditioning. No pets. 539-1975 or (785) 396-4344.

135

For Sale- Mobile Homes

1972 HILLCREST trailer, 12'X50', two-bedroom, (316) 442–3450.

DON'T WASTE your money on rent, when you could own: 16'x70' 1986 Schult. Sunken living room, vaulted ceiling, built-in china hutch, lots of cabinet space, large kitchen, dining room, two large bedrooms, one bath, refrigerator, stove, dishwaser, 8'x8' deck, fenced yard, swing set, new paint, new shingled roof, great location, Bergman school. Must see to appreciate. Call for showing 776–3226.

MOBILE HOME in country for sale. 15 minutes west of campus. Buy the home and rent four acre lot. Lot includes horse barn. Home is on 160 acres, pasture rented separately but accessible. 532-1144 or (785) 286-1891.

145

Roommate Wanted

FEMALE ROOMMATE for three-bedroom apartment, $177/ month plus one-third utilities. 565-9074.

FEMALE ROOMMATE sharing a two-bedroom apartment. Non-smoker. Water and trash paid for. $212 rent. Contact Brandi at (785) 387-2206.

FEMALE ROOMMATE to share NICE two-bedroom apartment across from college. $260 a month. 776-4891.

FEMALE ROOMMATE wanted. Move in now, September and October rent paid for. Cambridge Square Apartments. Deposit paid, $270/ month. (316) 773–1627.

FEMALE ROOMMATE, non-smoker for two-bedroom mobile home. Furnished, $155 plus one-half KPL. 587-0157.

MALE NEEDED for furnished basement. Washer/ dryer without meter. No smoking, drinking, or pets. Walk to class. 539–1554

MALE TO share three-bedroom house close to campus. Washer/ dryer, dishwasher and fireplace, $220/ month, one-fourth utilities. 537–4580, leave message.

NEED ROOMMATE for four-bedroom house. Affordable, furnished, one block from campus. Move in as soon as possible. Call Angie at 776–3080 preferably around 4:20p.m.

PHD STUDENT/ GTA is looking for socially responsible housemates. $350/ month, utilities included/ not phone. Contact: renner@ksu.edu or 770–8309 (h) 1-888-ESL-KNOW (w).

ROOMMATE WANTED for farm house. Place for horse, $130/ month plus share of utilities. 539–2029.

ROOMMATES NEEDED to share four-bedroom house at 610 Laramie. $200 plus one-fourth utilities. 776–3108, leave message.

165

Storage Space

STORAGE CITY. Share storage space and cost with a friend, four miles east of Manhattan on Hwy 24. Call 776–1976.

200 SERVICE DIRECTORY

240

Musicians/DJs

VOCALIST/ RHYTHM player wants to start or get into a country band. Call 587-8403 ask for Scott.

300 EMPLOYMENT/OPPORTUNITIES

310

Help Wanted

Manhattan City Ordinance 4814 assures every person equal opportunity in securing and holding employment in any field of work or labor for which he/ she is properly qualified regardless of race, sex, military status, disability, religion, age, color, national origin or ancestry. Violations should be reported to the Director of Human Resources at City Hall, 587–2441.

The Collegian cannot verify the financial potential of advertisements in the Employment/Career classification. Readers are advised to approach any such employment opportunity with reasonable caution. The Collegian urges our readers to contact the Better Business Bureau, 501 SE Jefferson, Topeka, KS 66607-1190. (785)232-0454.

BABYSITTER(S) NEEDED in our home for a happy one year old. Two shifts available 8 a.m. to noon and 1 p.m. to 5 p.m. weekdays. (785) 395-3115.

BLUEVILLE NURSERY is accepting applications for part-time and full-time temporary employes with the following skills: Garden Store Sales, Lawn Sprinkler Installation, Landscape Installation, and Landscape Maintenance. Must be available at least 20 hours per week in full one-half day blocks (8-12) or (1-5). Apply in person at Blueville Nursery, Inc., 4539 Anderson. E.O.E.

CALLING ALL PERFORMERS! Can you work a crowd? Are you looking for a new venue to try a new act, play a new song, or perform street theater? WE HAVE THE AUDIENCE All we need is you! Your audiences are hungry customers waiting in the lobby of Derby Dining Center, contemplating what to eat and where to go. Solo or group acts are welcome. Start your career at The Derb'! We pay bottom dollar, but will give you the best meal in town. Call Mr. "E," 532-6483, or email at medwards@ksu.edu.

CLEANING: FOR non-smoking student in a home adjacent to campus. Send resume to Collegian Box 4.

DISHWASHER NEEDED! Evening shift. Manhattan Country Club. Apply in person, 1531 N. 10th Street.

FALL JOURNALISM Interns Wanted - Design and build promotional flyers, posters and advertisements at the K-State Student Union, assist in design layout and copy writing for the monthly employee newsletter and quarterly renovation newsletter, write and distribute news releases, assist in the upkeep and design for the Union Web site. Must exhibit knowledge of Quark XPress and working knowledge of Macintosh computers. Interns will learn and utilize Pagemaker, Freehand, Photoshop, Quark XPress, scanners, and will experience a real working environment. Interships are not a paid position, but students will receive college credit hours. For more information, call the Marketing and Finance Dept., K-State Student Union, and ask for Cindie or Jeff, 532-5753 or 532-6604.

Baskin 31 Robbins
Baskin Robbins is taking applications to fill full & part-time positions. Must be able to work days & nights.
Apply at 1201 Westloop
Baskin 31 Robbins

FISH SALESPERSON needed. Must be available 20 hours including weekends. Must have knowledge and experience with a variety of tropical fish and marine, pet store experience preferred. Apply in person at Pets-N-Stuff, 1105 Waters St.

PART-TIME DELIVERY DRIVERS . Gambino's Pizza now hiring drivers. Must be 18, own dependable car. Apply in person at 2708 Anderson. Base wage, tips and delivery fees. $6- $9/ hour.

PART-TIME EMPLOYMENT- Want a GREAT part-time job, working on a GREAT team, in a GREAT on-campus location? Derby, Kramer, and Van Zile Dining Centers are hiring KSU students for service and custodial positions. Beginning pay $5.30 per hour. Raises scheduled. Very flexible, you choose the times you want to work. Morning, noon, evening, and weekend hours available. Apply in person between the hours of 9:00 a.m.-4:00 p.m. at Derby Dining Center(room 129), Kramer Dining Center (hiring office), or Van Zile Dining Center (foodservice office). AA/EOE.

PART-TIME POSITION distributing advertising material on campus. No selling involved, all materials provided free of charge. 1-800-YOUR-JOB. www.ccmnet.com/postering/yourjob.htm.

PART-TIME POSITION: One day per week grinding feed on farm close to Manhattan. Call evenings, (785)396–4328.

PROGRAMMER- NETWORKS Plus, the leader in providing business and government computer services has openings for both full and half-time positions. Experience in database environments required. Salary range $25,000 - $50,000 plus bonuses and benefits. E-mail resume to Morgan@networksplus.com in text or MS Word format.

RILEY COUNTY has a position available for a computer intern. Knowledge of installation and setup of computer software (Windows 95, Windows 3.11, and Microsoft Office) is required. Experience in installing computer hardware components (network cards, CD roms, modems, and hard drives) is required. Some knowlegde of networks a plus. Appplications may be obtained from Riley County Clerk's Office, 110 Courthouse Plaza, Manhattan, KS 66502 until the postition is filled.

SPRING BREAK '99-- Sell Trips, Earn Cash & Go Free! STS is now hiring campus reps. Lowest rates to Jamaica, Mexico and Florida. Call 800-648-4849 or apply online at www.ststravel.com

STUDENT HELP needed 2a.m.- 6a.m. every other day. Apply Printing Services, 10 Kedzie.

TECHNICAL SUPPORT position available for K-State undergraduate student with a variety of skills. Must have good interpersonal and problem solving skills. Experience with PC's and popular software packages such as Word Perfect, Quattro Pro and Windows applications desired. Must have understanding of MS-DOS and Windows. Summer availability necessary. Network experience preferred. Applications available/accepted through September 4, 1998 in 211 Umberger Hall. (Department of Communications, Information and Educational Technology.)

TRUCK, COMBINE and grain cart operators for fall harvest. Send resume and hours available to Rt. 1 Box 3 Wamego, KS 66547. (785) 456-2725.

TUTORING HIGH school students for K-State's Upward Bound Math and Science Program. Contact: Lynne Davy at 532-6374 for application.

WRESTLING COACH, middle/ high school, October-February, 3p.m.- 6p.m. Contact Tim Kite, Onaga High School, 500 High St, Onaga, KS 66521, (785)889–4251.

400 OPEN MARKET

405

Wanted to Buy

USED OLYMPIC weights, any brand. (785) 494-2938. Must be in good condition.

410

Items for Sale

ANTIQUES, COLLECTIBLES, tools, books, furniture, estate jewelry, beer signs, thousands of curious goods. Time Machine Antique Maul and Flea Market. 4910 Skyway Dr. between Briggs and airport. 539–4684.

CABLE DESCRAMBLER kit only $14.95. See all the pay channels. 1-800-752-1389.

GIANT MOUNTAIN Bike and Silver Trumpet for sale. Must sell soon. Please call 776–7028.

ONE BED- Queen size (two years old). One television- Panasonic (three years old). 537–6192 (night), 532–6234 (day).

SEALY FULL size box springs and mattress, $125. 776–9313.

415

Furniture to Buy/Sell

615 NORTH 3rd. Wohler's Used Furniture, antiques, appliances, beer signs, miscellanous. Check it out.

435

Computers

MAC PERFORMA 6400/180. 56 MB RAM, 1.6 GB HD, modem, CD ROM, $850 without monitor, $1300 with monitor. 565-9612.

MICROSOFT OFFICE '97 Professional, full version, unopened, unregistered, $75. 1-800-416-3594.

445

Music Instruments

WELCOME TO The Music Co.! Our business is making you sound the best you can, and leaving a little gas money in your pocket. In-store right now: Artley, Ampeg, Alvarez, Marshall, Fernandes, Sovtek, Takamine, Fender, Dean, Peavey, Tama, Ludwig, Mapex, Crate, Audio- Centron, Sans- Amp, and more! Still the best deal on the planet! The Music Co., the story continues. 523 S 17th Street in Manhattan. 539–1958.

450

Pets and Supplies

FOR SALE: Two year old iguana with cage and accessories. For information call Jen at 587–9625.

FREE TO good homes: kittens and cats, 9 weeks to one and one-half years, males and females. One fixed year old very mellow male. All box trained. (785) 456-8495 after 6 p.m.

LOVING, FEMALE 15 month old AKC yellow labrador for sale. Call 537-2059 to make offer.

REGISTERED PERSIANS, one male, one female, $200. 587–0952 after 5p.m.

REPTILES GALORE! Ball python sale! Only $45.99 each. Corn snakes $36.99. Lowest prices around. Pets-N-Stuff, 1105 Waters.

SEE OUR precious Himalayan and Maine Coon kittes at Pets-N-Stuff. 1105 Waters. 539-9494.

TWO WHITE kittens need a home. Ten weeks old. Please call 539-6805.

460

Electronic Equipment

L.A. SOUND 150 watt amp. with built in cross-over and 15" crunch sub. Selling together. Like new $200. 556-3666 or 539-7530.

500 TRANSPORTATION

510

Automobiles

1986 MERCURY Sable $975. High mileage both runs and looks great. 1988 Ford Festiva 4-speed $1050 serious inquiries only. 395-7451.

1988 CHEVY Silverado 350, automatic. 776-9705.

1988 HONDA Civic, 4-door Sedan DX, 5-speed, air-conditioning, 140K, runs great. $1700. Call 565-9625.

1989 FORD Tempo four-door, air-conditioning, stereo, new tires/ muffler. Well taken care of, $1800 or best offer. Call Joe at 395–3537.

1991 RANGER extended cab, air-conditioning, tilt, cruise, CD player. $6500 or best offer. 587–1806.

1993 FORD Ranger XLT. Extended cab, 4.0 liter V6, five-speed, 76K miles. Excellent condition. $8700 or best offer. 537–3516.

1995 KSU purple Ford Ranger, excellent condition, CD player, 31,000 miles, 5-speed. Blue Book $12,500 asking $9500. Rochelle- 776–1453, leave message.

1995 NISSAN pick-up, blue. 54,000 miles, contact Augy or Kara after 5:30p.m. (785)456-2740.

MUST SELL: 1993 Mazda MX-3 GS, five-speed, $6000 or best offer. Call 587–8509, 7p.m.-9p.m.

530

Motorcycles

1978 KAWASAKI 650KZ. Runs good, $800. 776–1948.

1989 KAWASAKI EX 500 red/ black. Very good condition, $1450 or best offer. 537–2289.

1992 CBR 600 FZ. Purple/ black/ white. 537–2158.

It's Greek To Me is now hiring screen printing operators. Flexible hours to work around your schedule. No experience necessary. If you are a positive, hard-working, dedicated individual, we want you to be a part of our team. Competitive pay and benefits package: health insurance, 401(K), flexible spending program, employee discounts, paid leave and much more. Come by 520 McCall Rd. to complete an application. We are an equal opportunity employer.

sbarro®
CHARTWELLS
K-STATE STUDENT UNION
121 K-STATE STUDENT UNION
Across from Ramada Inn on Anderson Avenue
Apply in person only.
Join the #1 growing contract food company in America. Terrific benefits and excellent opportunity for growth. Hours are Monday through Friday, 8am-4pm, $6.50 an hour.
All successful applicants must be able to maintain a high standard of sanitation within the operation; exhibit excellent personal hygiene habits, and be reliable, efficient and punctual in their work assignments. Excellent customer service skills and effective communication skills are a must.
EOE/AA

Classes starting to get you down?

Don't sweat it! Find a tutor in the Collegian's Classifieds.
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN
103 KEDZIE 532-6555

ClassifiedRATES

1 DAY
20 words or less
$7.15
each word over 20 $.20 per word

2 DAYS
20 words or less
$8.40
each word over 20
$.25 per word

3 DAYS
20 words or less
$9.55
each word over 20
$.30 per word

4 DAYS
20 words or less
$10.60
each word over 20 $.35 per word

5 DAYS
20 words or less
$11.55
each word over 20 $.40 per word
(consecutive day rate)

HOW TO PAY
All classifieds must be paid in advance unless you have an account with Student Publications Inc. Cash, check, MasterCard or Visa are accepted. There is a $10 service charge on all returned checks. We reserve the right to edit, reject or properly classify any ad.

FREE FOUND ADS
As a service to you, we run found ads for three days free of charge.

CORRECTIONS
If you find an error in your ad, please call us. We accept responsibility only for the first wrong insertion.

CANCELLATIONS
If you sell your item before your ad has expired, we will refund you for the remaining days. You must call us before noon the day before the ad is to be published.

HEADLINES
For an extra charge, we'll put a headline above your ad to catch the reader's attention.

000 BULLETIN BOARD
100 HOUSING/REAL ESTATE
200 SERVICE DIRECTORY
300 EMPLOYMENT/OPPORTUNITIES
400 OPEN MARKET
500 TRANSPORTATION
600 TRAVEL/TRIPS

TO PLACE AN AD
Go to Kedzie 103 (across from the K-State Student Union). Office hours are Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. The office is open except on holidays.

RECYCLE

■ continued from page 1

fourth year, K-State will be recycling nearly 2,000 tons of waste annually with the new program — an increase of nearly 1,900 tons.

He said selling recyclable paper and aluminum through local channels would help pay for part of the program, but cutting down on thousands of dollars in dumping and tipping charges now being paid to trash companies would be the most significant.

Organized recycling efforts at K-State have been historically low, said Stacy Meredith, environmental-awareness coordinator for Student Body President Tracey Mann. Meredith is also a student representative on the recycling committee.

"Different departments do their own recycling now," she said. "It's been whoever feels like doing it. It's been very informal.

"This will be a unified operation — that's the best thing about it," Meredith said.

Steve Galitzer, K-State director of environmental health and safety, is the chair of the committee.

"This is a campus and community project," he said. "One of our most important goals is to get as much student involvement as possible."

Although the Division of Facilities will coordinate the program, Galitzer said students could get more involved by using the new canisters and even applying to work with the program. It calls for the creation of several student jobs.

"We have $17,000 available for student wages," Galitzer said.

Galitzer said he felt students are looking for more opportunities to recycle.

"There's a lot who want to do it," he said, "they just need a better way to do it."

WHAT DO YOU THINK OF THE FOOTBALL TICKET FIASCO THIS PAST WEEKEND?

Send your letters to the editor to letters@spub.ksu.edu

BEAT THE CLOCK
Mondays
Starting at 6 p.m.
Open Late Fri. & Sat.
(Regular Rotation Only)
Gambino's Pizza
537-9090

Pregnancy Testing Center
539-3338
•Free pregnancy testing
•Totally confidential service
•Same day results
•Call for appointment
Located across from campus in Anderson Village
Mon.-Fri. 9 a.m.-5 p.m.

Claflin Books and Copies
DEPENDABLE QUALITY SERVICE:
COLOR COPYING
1814 Claflin Rd 776-3771

PIZZA SHUTTLE DELIVERS
776-5577
1800 Claflin Road

Our Insurance Agent is REALLY Nervous!

Why? Well, if the Cats finish the football season undefeated and win their bowl game, we will give EVERY SINGLE CUSTOMER their money back for every computer system they purchase from us through September 10th. That could cost him a lot of money!

Stop by to register for a chance to win a 19" ADI monitor and three $100 gift certificates.
No purchase necessary to win!

Good Luck Wildcats
WE KNOW YOU CAN DO IT!

Transcend Technologies
Located at 1108 Laramie
Stop by or call us at 539-8538

SHOP at WESTLOOP

Little Caesars
MONDAY madNess
NEW! 1 BIG!BIG! LARGE PIZZA
14" WITH 1 TOPPING
$4.99 CARRYOUT Plus tax NO LIMIT!
Valid Mondays only at participating locations for a limited time. No coupon necessary. ©1998 Little Caesar Enterprises, Inc. Expires 10-31-98

Westloop, Manhattan 539-3333

NO BULL!

-BOTH PRICES INCLUDE-
-ANY FRAME IN STOCK WITH LENSES*!
-OVER 2,000 FRAMES ON DISPLAY!
ALWAYS THE BEST SELECTION
*For Rx limitations see our Optician or read our brochure.

PAYLESS OPTICAL
QUALITY EYEWEAR AT AFFORDABLE PRICES
1316 WEST LOOP • MANHATTAN • 785-537-1574
BRING IN THIS AD FOR A GIFT WITH YOUR PURCHASE!

K-STATE Federal CREDIT UNION
"Enroll In Money 101"
TOTALLY FREE Checking
NO Minimum Balance
FREE ATM Usage (at our ATM)
No Service Charge
No Per Check Charge
Two Locations to serve your Needs!
2700 Anderson Ave. (near Westloop Shopping Area)
1455 Anderson Ave. (across from Campus)
785-776-3003
e-mail: creditunion@ksu.edu web page: www.ksu.edu/creditunion

C I t S A P a y b a c k T i m e ! 9 8

Join Varney's "It's Payback Time" Promotion
August 31st - September 6th
Starting Today!

Here's How:

1. Buy Great Stuff At Varney's August 31st-September 6th
2. The Wildcats Win 13 Games This Season (Includes the Big 12 Championship and Bowl Game)
3. Varney's Gives You A Full Refund

• Excludes Textbooks, Kansas Cellular, and Class Rings. Inquire at Varney's for official rules. •

TOP NOTCH

A new book profiles one man's selections for the top-40 K-State athletes of all-time.

■ SEE STORY ON PAGE 6

TUESDAY SEPTEMBER 1, 1998

KANSAS STATE UNIVERSITY, MANHATTAN, KAN.
VOLUME 103, NUMBER 7
COLLEGIAN.KSU.EDU

TODAY'S WEATHER

HIGH 88
LOW 60

Sub. Exp. Date: 00/00
Kansas State Historical Society
Newspaper Section
PO Box 3585
Topeka KS 66601

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

$360,000 grant to help fight underage drinking

By TONY PARKER
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

The Kansas Department of Transportation recently unveiled a new $360,000 grant from the federal government to battle underage drinking.

"Most people will agree that underage drinking is a problem, and we hope we will get a good response," said Rosalie Thornburgh, KDOT Traffic Safety Bureau chief.

Congress recently appropriated $25 million to initiate a Combating Underage Drinking program in the United States. This program is designed to prohibit the sale and consumption of alcohol to youth younger than 21.

Gov. Bill Graves designated KDOT as the state agency responsible for administering the grant funds.

KDOT is developing specifications for the grant and trying to identify a strategy to reduce alcohol consumption by minors. Extensive research will continue throughout the year to gather information concerning where and how minors obtain alcohol. The research then will be used to create an action plan to combat the problem.

"Most significant is that we are going to do a thorough statewide investigation of underage drinkers," Thornburgh said.

The program is new to Kansas and several other states throughout the country. Administered through the Department of Justice, the 24-month grant is expected to crack down on minors who buy and consume alcohol.

Lt. Buddy Mays of the Riley County Police Department said Manhattan's student population does increase the number of underage violations the RCPD issues.

"We certainly issue a number of notices to appear to people who are underage," Mays said of alcohol citations in Manhattan.

Mays said education would be a good use of the grant money.

"I always like to think that education is the answer to a lot of things — just informing people to make wise choices," he said.

Mays said many students go out with students of legal age then get caught up in the party atmosphere and begin drinking.

He said he hopes the grant and education will help reduce underage-drinking problems.

After the initial investigative phase, there will be a conference to discuss how to deal with the nationwide problem.

Thornburgh said that probably won't happen until the end of the next calendar year. Contractors who are hired through KDOT to do the investigation must first combine and compare their findings about underage drinking.

The KDOT funds also are being used to develop a summer-advertising campaign primarily targeting youth keg-type parties, Thornburgh said. These keg parties tend to attract large numbers of people and is a priority of the grant, Thornburgh said.

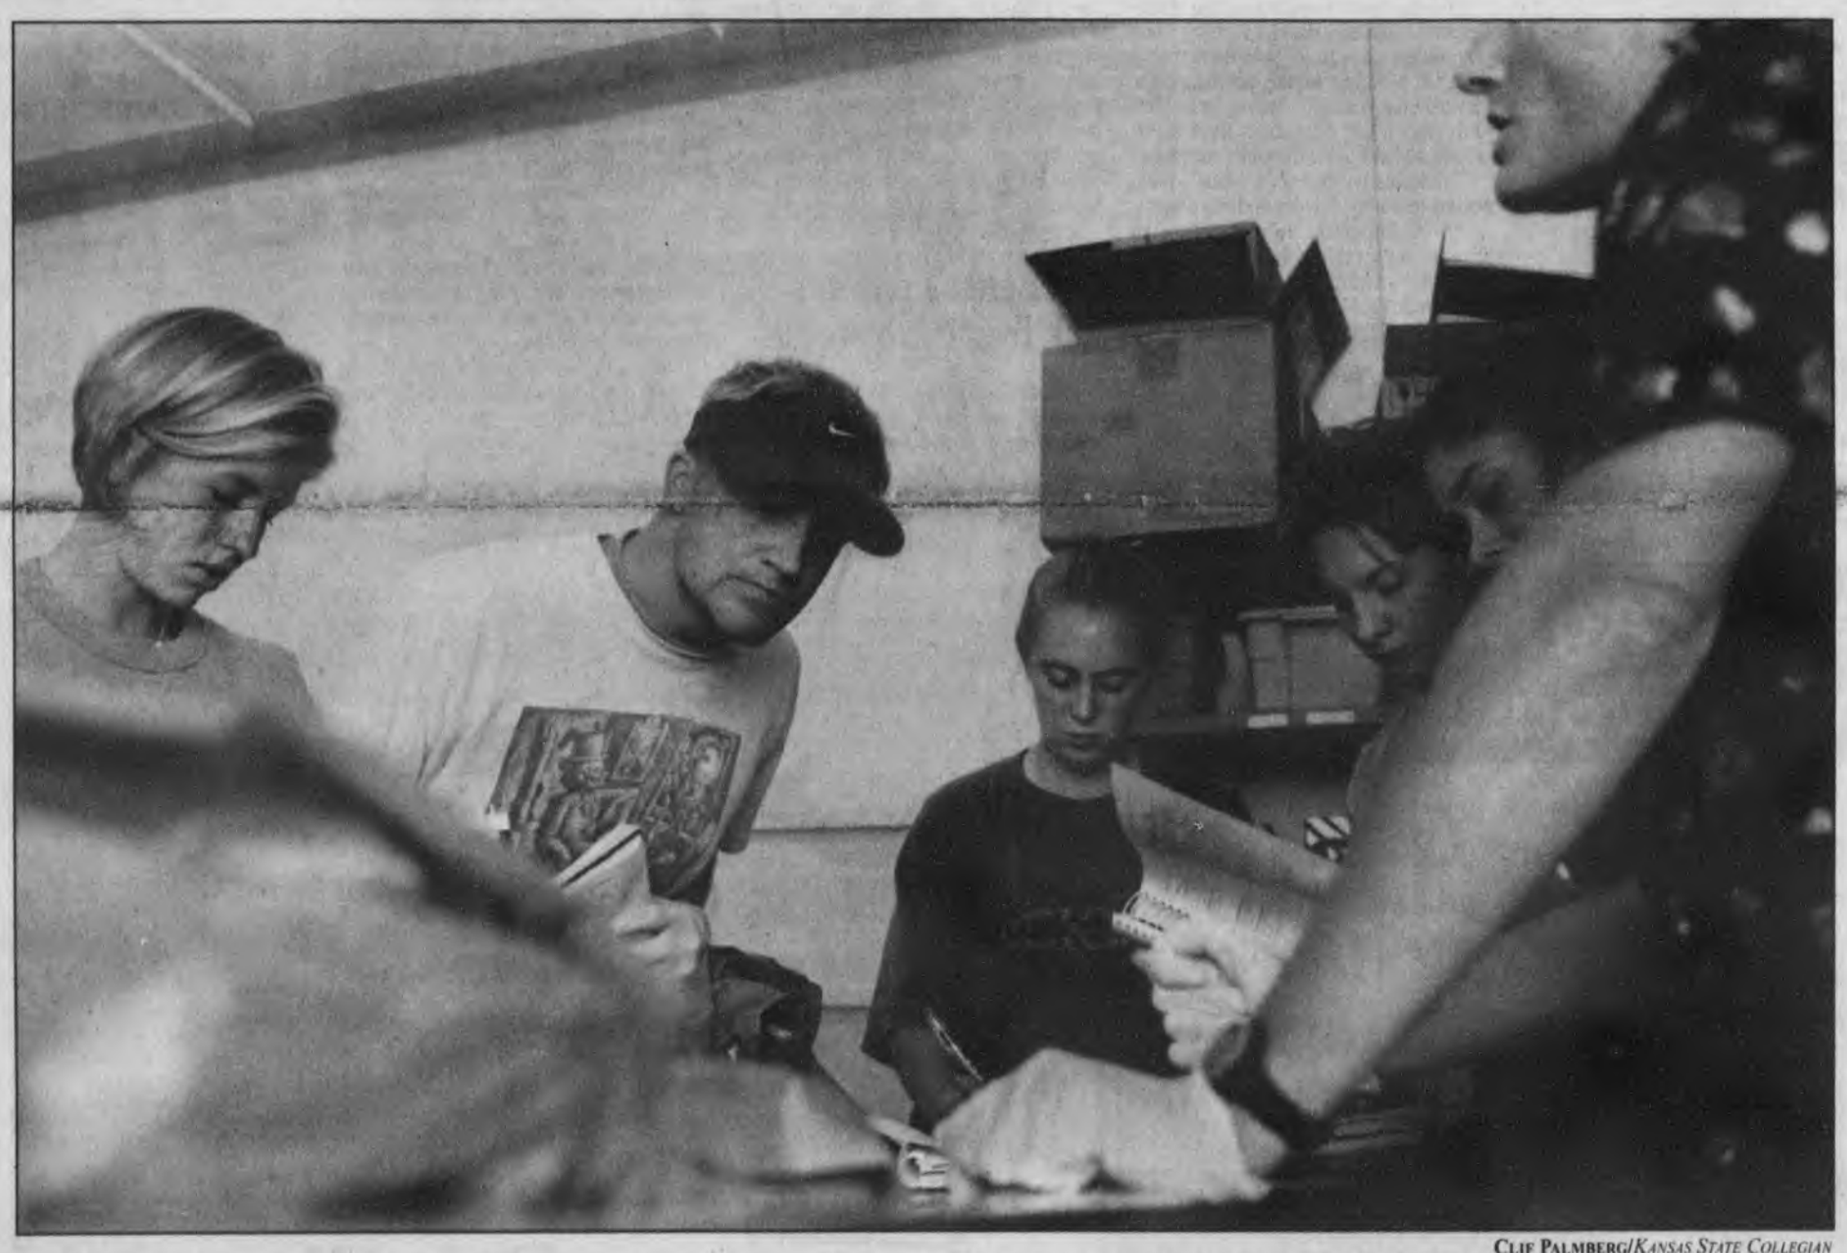
Communities also will be informed of the drinking concern. They will be encouraged to alert law enforcement of the existence of drinking parties where minors are likely to be involved.

KJ's opens doors to 18-year-olds

By JEFF SUTTON
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Finding a rock 'n' roll dance club in Aggieville for 18-year-old college students has been impossible since Club Karrington burned down on Feb. 14.

Until recently, KJ's Bar & Dance Club in Aggieville required all patrons to be 21 years old. As of Aug. 10, the club made the switch to allow 18-year-old college students to join the club scene.



"My main reason of going 18 was there's really no other place in town for them to go," KJ's owner Jeff Fellows said. "They need a place to relax."

■ OUR OPINION
The Collegian editorial board says KJ's is making a decision K-State students can benefit from.
See Page 4.

Fellows also said he wanted to open KJ's only to college students. Therefore, current college identification is required along with a driver's license.

Fellows said many people thought he would have problems with underage drinking from allowing 18-year-olds into KJ's. However, Fellows said his

■ See KJ's on PAGE 8

CLIF PALMBERG/KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

John Riekhof, senior in biology, takes a closer look at the lower-limb muscles of a human male cadaver during Structure and Form of The Human Body Monday afternoon in Ackert Hall. The class, commonly known as Human Body, is the only course at K-State that provides the chance to dissect a human cadaver.

HANDS-ON EXPERIENCE

■

Undergraduate biology students, cadavers join forces in classroom

By SCOTT ALDIS-WILSON
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Undergraduate biology students will be getting hands-on experience with human anatomy this semester, but the volunteers can no longer accept their thanks.

Take #7508, an 86-year-old woman who died of coronary artery disease. As students in Ackert 229 pick, poke and remove her body parts in the name of higher education, she doesn't complain. Neither does 60-year-old male, #7340, who died of respiratory failure, or #7517, an 83-year-old woman who had a fatal cardiovascular accident.

Structure and Form of The Human Body, commonly known as Human Body, is the only course at K-State that provides the chance to dissect a human cadaver. It's an experience only 5 percent of undergraduate students ever get, lab instructor Dana Townsend said.

Townsend said the class obtains three cadavers through the Willed Body Program at the University of Kansas Medical Center every semester, with one kept from the previous semester for demonstration purposes. The majority of the bodies are volunteers who gave their bodies to science, and a few are former prisoners with no next of kin, she said.

The course, worth eight credit hours, consists of an hour lecture every weekday as well as two three-hour lab sessions that combine physiology activities with cadaver dissections for anatomy experience. Students and instructors know only the cadavers' I.D. numbers, genders and immediate causes of death. The bodies are funded by private donors without a penny of K-State money, Townsend said.

Most of the donors work in the field of medicine and donate to perpetuate the dissections that many of them performed when they took the class, she said. Cadaver dissections repulse many people, but Townsend said there is no better way to learn human anatomy.

"You can't do this with a rat or a pig," Townsend said.

Of this fall's class of about 170 students, 32 were selected to make up the cadaver dissection team, which teaches the rest of the class during dissections. Members agree to attend an extra four hours in the lab each week, without credit, to prepare for lessons. Team members are, in turn, taught by practicum students who already took the class. By about three weeks into the course, the team is six weeks into the material, she said.

Nervousness is common in the beginning, but swiftly fades, Townsend said.

"There's a lot of apprehensions of what they'll look like, if there'll be blood. A lot of people have never seen a dead person. At first you see people two to three feet away from the tank. Then even the most squeamish, fastidious person gets into it as a learning process," Townsend said.

However, getting more comfortable with the bodies doesn't mean they are turned into mascots or the dissections into jokes, Townsend said.

"We're real careful about letting it cross the line. They develop a sensitivity in there, but they're not going to be somber all the time," Townsend said. "They come to a feeling of honor after a time."

Although certain bodies are not eligible to be used such as those with car accident or gunshot trauma, communicable diseases or autopsies, it still leaves a lot of potential surprises for students to find, Townsend said. Once dissected, past cadavers have shown tumors, evidence of hysterectomies, bypasses and even a morphine pump in one a couple of semesters ago, she said.

"As we dissect, it's a lot like an autopsy," Townsend said. "It's like doing a puzzle. You're anxious to get in the body cavity and see what's in there."

Jennifer Raymond, junior in life

■ See CADAVERS on PAGE 8

Dow falls 509 points

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Dow Jones Industrial Average, which rose 43 points in the opening minutes of trade, finished with a loss of 509.01 at 7,550.91, according to preliminary figures. Trading was heavy but below last week's frenzied pace.

It was the second-largest point drop ever, closely trailing the record 524.26 points of Oct. 27, 1997, and just above the 508-point "Black Monday" swoon of Oct. 19, 1987, when the market had its biggest percentage fall, a tumble of 22.6 percent. Today's loss was 6.3 percent, the biggest daily drop since last October.

In the sharp sell-off that gained momentum in the final hour, the Dow gave up the last of this year's gains. It ended 1997 at 7,908.25. The last time the Dow closed below 8,000 was on Jan. 30.

Broader indicators also plunged, and the Nasdaq Composite Index was registering its biggest point drop ever.

In last week's global stock-market rout, the Dow plunged 481.97 points, or by 5.6 percent, its biggest percentage drop for a calendar week since 1989.

At July's peak, when the Dow was at 9,337.97, it had been up 18.1 percent.

■ See DOW on PAGE 8

Russian economy problems spur Clinton, Yeltsin meeting in Russia

By ROBERT BURNS
THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

WASHINGTON, D.C. — With Russia's political leadership in crisis and its economy in shambles, President Clinton said Monday his summit meeting with Russian President Boris Yeltsin is a mission to keep the world's second-largest nuclear power "on the path of reform."

"The reason I'm going to Russia," Clinton said shortly before leaving, "is because we have learned the hard way that problems that develop beyond our borders sooner or later find their way to our doorstep unless we help our friends and our neighbors."

Clinton's remarks seemed to signal his administration's worry that Russia might backslide on its commitment to democracy and a free market economy since the demise of Soviet Communism in 1991.

Clinton and Yeltsin are to meet today and Wednesday for their first full-scale summit since March 1997. Since then, they have met briefly a few times, most recently in May, when both were in Birmingham, England, for a meeting of industrial powers.

Both Yeltsin and Clinton are struggling to regain their presidential footing — Clinton in showing he can function as chief executive despite a politically debilitating sex investigation, and Yeltsin trying to shore up his uneasy hold on power in the midst of his country's economic upheaval.

To set the stage for the summit, Secretary of State Madeleine Albright

■ See SUMMIT on PAGE 8

CALENDAR DEADLINES

To place an item in the Daily Planner, stop by Kedzie 116 and fill out a form or e-mail it to bulletins@spub.ksu.edu by 11 a.m. two days before it is to run.

NEWS DIGEST

NEWS EDITOR TRAVIS D. LENKNER
collegn@ksu.edu

CALENDAR

Calendar is the Collegian's campus bulletin board service. Items in the planner can be published up to three times.
Items might not appear because of space constraints but are guaranteed to appear on the day of the activity. To place an item, stop by Kedzie 116 and fill out a form or e-mail it to collegn@ksu.edu by 11 a.m. two days before it is to run.

■ Alpha Epsilon Delta pre-medical honorary will meet at 8 tonight in the Union Big 12 Room.

■ The Student Health Advisory Committee will meet at 4:30 p.m. today in Lafene 231.

■ Lutheran Campus Ministry will have a supper at 6 tonight at the Baptist Campus Center.

■ Circle K public service organization will meet at 7 tonight in Durland 161.

■ The German Stammtisch will meet at 7 p.m. Wednesday at Espresso Royale Caffe.

■ K-State women's softball will have an informational meeting at 7 p.m. Wednesday in Union 207.

■ K-State Young Democrats will meet at 8:30 p.m. Wednesday in Union 204. The meeting will focus on campaign issues.

■ The graduate school announces the final oral defense of the doctoral dissertation of Miyoung Kim at 10 a.m. today in Bluemont 368. The title is "Communicative and Whole Language Dimensions in the Field of English-As-A-Second-Language Instruction at the Post-Secondary Level."

■ Agriculture Council and Alpha Zeta will be host to the College of Agriculture watermelon feed and Ag Club activities fair at 6:15 tonight on the lawn in front of Waters Hall.

■ Career and Employment Services will conduct a résumé-building workshop at 3:30 p.m. Wednesday in Union 212.

■ The practice Pre-Professional Skills Test, or PPST, will be administered from 6 to 9:30 p.m. tonight and Thursday in Bluemont 101.

■ Block and Bridle will have its first meeting at 7:15 tonight in Weber 123, following the College of Agriculture watermelon feed.

POLICE REPORTS

Reports are taken directly from the K-State and Riley County police departments' daily logs. We do not list wheel locks or minor traffic violations because of space constraints.

K-STATE POLICE

■ No reports of note were made.

RILEY COUNTY POLICE
SATURDAY, AUG. 29

■ At 1:16 a.m., Stacy R. Domme, 1420 Watson Place, Apt. 9, was issued a notice to appear for minor in possession.

■ At 1:47 a.m., Moises Torres, address unknown, was arrested for aggravated assault. Bond was set at $20,000.

■ At 2:28 a.m., Lane Krier, 2411 Greenbrier St., was arrested for DUI. Bond was set at $500.

■ At 11:47 a.m., David Hudgins, 1501 Pierre St., was arrested on a Riley County warrant for failure to appear. Bond was set at $2,000.

■ At 5:03 p.m., Tim Focke, 811 El Paso St., was arrested on a Riley County warrant for failure to appear. Bond was set at $500.

■ At 11:07 p.m., Crispin Carrasco, Valley Center, Kan., was given a notice to appear for minor in possession.

■ At 11:28 p.m., Carrie Bowles, 913 Humboldt St., was arrested for battery. Bond was set at $500.

SUNDAY, AUG. 30

■ At 2:33 a.m., Dale Wuthnow, Hope, Kan., was arrested for DUI. Bond was set at $500.

■ At 2:40 a.m., Jereme House, 2215 College Ave., was arrested for DUI. Bond was set at $500.

■ At 5:10 a.m., Charles Cook, 1930 College Ave., was given a notice to appear for minor in possession.

■ At 2:10 p.m., Heather Davies, Riley, Kan., was arrested on a Riley County warrant for theft. Bond was set at $500.

MONDAY, AUG. 31

■ At 4:22 a.m., Farha Mackey, 521 Osage St., was arrested on a Riley County warrant for worthless checks. Bond was set at $150.

■ At 3:30 p.m., Doug Williams, 900 Leavenworth St., was arrested on a Riley County warrant for worthless checks. Bond was set at $300.

■ At 4:25 p.m., Charlene Joy, Blue Rapids, Kan., was arrested on a Riley County warrant for failure to appear. Bond was set at $300.

DAILY REWIND

The Daily Rewind collects the top local, state, national and world news from the past 24 hours. Briefs are compiled from wire and staff reports.

Ads feature K-State football players, coach

Football coach Bill Snyder and four football players are featured in TV and radio advertisements urging students to stay in school, stay away from drugs and stay out of gangs.

The ads will air statewide for three months, said Jerry Wells, acting director of the Koch Crime Institute.

One ad shows Snyder after the team's Tostitos Fiesta Bowl victory last year,urging students to "join the winning team," the theme of the ad campaign. Players Eric Hickson, Travis Ochs, Jeff Kelly and Mark Simoneau have a 30-second ad each with the same message.

Additionally, there is a radio ad and posters featuring Snyder and the players.

"It is important to the future of Kansas for kids to stay in school, stay off drugs and away from gangs," said Rep. David Adkins, R-Leawood, who attended the news conference announcing the ads.

Last year, the Koch Institute had a similar ad campaign featuring University of Kansas basketball players. Wells said the success of those ads prompted the latest ones.

Aside from the Koch Institute, the ads were underwritten by the Kansas Bar Association, Kansas District Judges Association, Kansas National Guard, Kansas Advisory Group on Juvenile Justice, Kansas State High School Activities Association and Kansas State Athletic Department.

FEMA to give money for DeBruce response

WICHITA — Emergency-response agencies will receive more than a half million dollars in federal funds to reimburse them for their costs at the DeBruce grain elevator explosion, officials said.

The Federal Emergency Management Agency will provide $508,987 to Sedgwick and Harvey Counties for overtime pay to fire, police and sheriff department personnel during the June 8 elevator explosion. The money includes payment for search and rescue teams, safety barricades and warning signs.

"I'm glad FEMA saw the need Sedgwick and Harvey counties had for the job they did in protecting the public from any further harm as a result of this devastating event," Gov. Bill Graves said in a news release.

U.S. Sen. Sam Brownback said FEMA amended the president's previous emergency declaration in order to reimburse the costs incurred after the blast.

"The victims and their families have begun to repair the damage done during this tragedy. Sadly, some wounds, like the loss of a loved one, may never completely heal," Brownback said. "But what this assistance means is that the state and local government agencies will not have to strain to meet the needs of their constituents."

JonBenet's parents ask friends to speak

PARKERSBURG, W.Va. — Patsy Ramsey said she's tired of ignoring tabloid reports that imply she and her husband are responsible for the death of their daughter, JonBenet.

"You can only turn the cheek so long," Ramsey told The Parkersburg Sentinel in an interview published Monday. "It's not fair."

Ramsey, a Parkersburg native, said she and husband John have "given the green light" to friends and family who want to speak out on their behalf.

"The few times we gave statements, they were shredded to pieces. People read into our body language," Ramsey said from her home in Atlanta. "We want people to know the type of parents we are."

Until now, the Ramseys have asked friends and family to remain silent about the case and to refuse offers from tabloids and talk shows, Ramsey said.

There have been no arrests since JonBenet, 6, was found beaten and strangled in the basement of her family's Boulder, Colo., home on Dec. 26, 1996. Her parents have maintained their innocence, though police said they remain "under an umbrella of suspicion."

Lott calls president's behavior disgusting

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Senate Majority Leader Trent Lott called President Clinton's behavior with Monica Lewinsky "disgusting" on Monday and said Clinton has reduced the stature of the presidency. He also said he no longer believes censure might be an appropriate congressional response.

Waiting for the report that Independent Counsel Kenneth Starr is expected to submit, Lott declined to say whether he thinks Clinton should remain in office.

He took back his suggestion earlier this year that censuring the president might be the way to go.

"That was March. This is the first of September, and a lot has happened since then," Lott said. "Censure really doesn't do anything.

"As a husband and father, I am offended by the president's behavior," Lott told reporters as the Senate returned from its summer recess.

"There is a moral dimension to the American presidency, and today that dimension, that power, has been lost in scandal and in deception ... As a citizen, I'm disappointed in the way the highest office in the nation has been reduced in stature and diminished in credibility."

Asked if he would urge Clinton to resign, Lott said he would await any report Starr submits.

"I don't know if it will rise to levels that could justify proceeding in the House on impeachment or anything else, so I am going to wait for that report and withhold judgment or further comment until I see it," he said.

WEATHER

HIGH 88

LOW 60

Nothing original here — pretty warm with a slight northeast wind today. Wash your shorts. Highs in the 80s are expected throughout the week.

CONTACT US

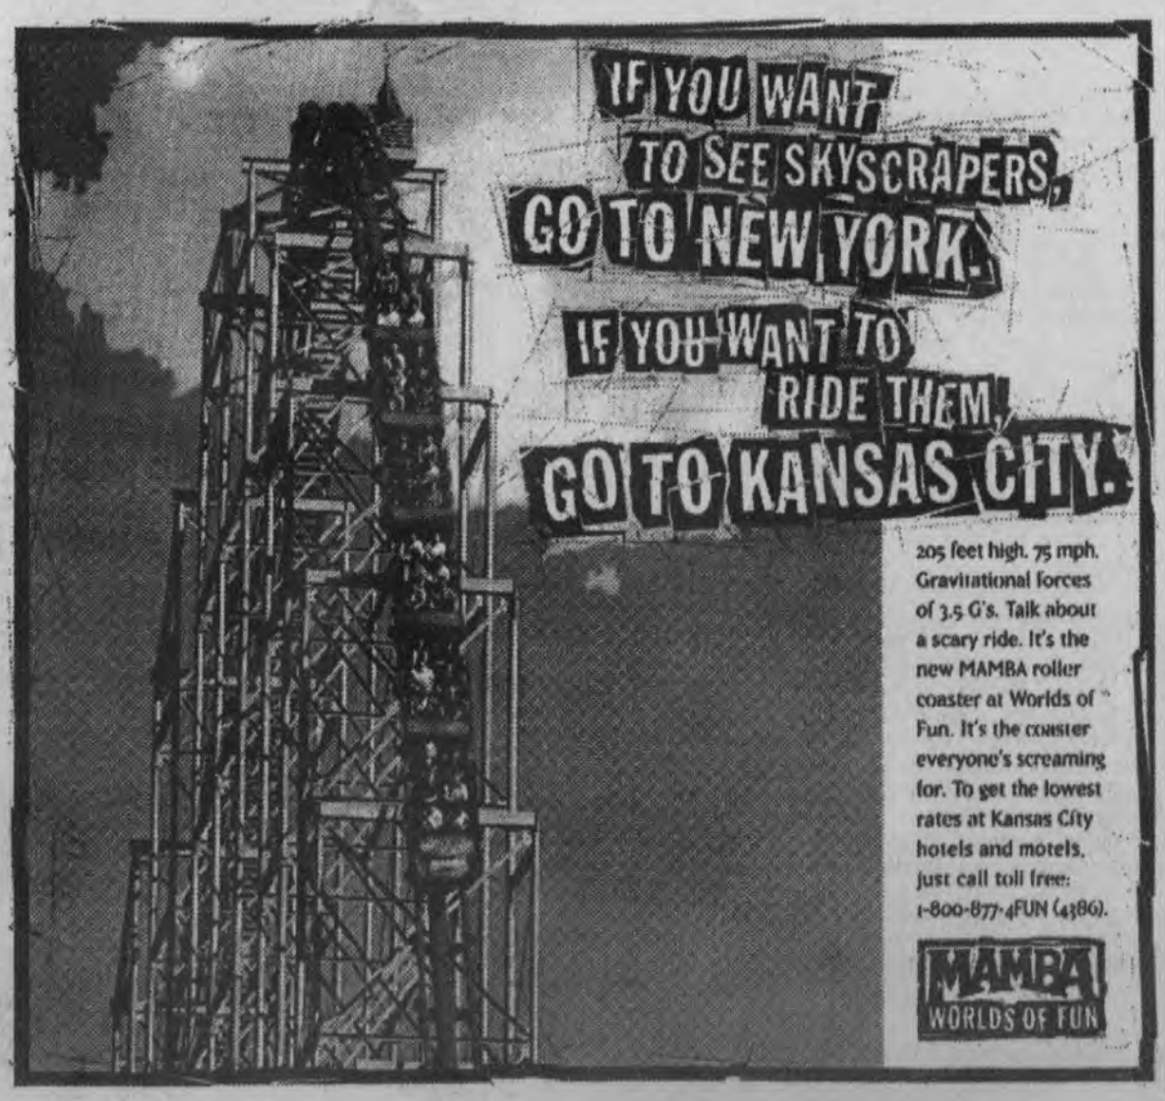
■ NEWSROOM 532-6556
■ ADVERTISING 532-6560
■ CLASSIFIEDS 532-6555

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN
KEDZIE 116
KANSAS STATE UNIVERSITY
MANHATTAN, KS 66506

The Kansas State Collegian (USPS 291 020), a student newspaper at Kansas State University, is published by Student Publications Inc., Kedzie 103, Manhattan, Kan. 66506. The Collegian is published weekdays during the school year and three times a week through the summer. Periodical postage is paid at Manhattan, Kan. 66502. POSTMASTER: Send address changes to Kansas State Collegian, circulation desk, Kedzie 103, Manhattan, Kan. 66506-7167.

© KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN, 1998

Our Insurance Agent is REALLY Nervous!



Why? Well, if the Cats finish the football season undefeated and win their bowl game, we will give EVERY SINGLE CUSTOMER their money back for every computer system they purchase from us through September 10th. That could cost him a lot of money!

Stop by to register for a chance to win a 19" ADI monitor and three $100 gift certificates. No purchase necessary to win!

Good Luck Wildcats
WE KNOW YOU CAN DO IT!

Transcend Technologies
Located at 1108 Laramie
Stop by or call us at 539-8538

Hey, Student Organizations!

UAB Registration Deadline:
Friday, September 25th

Registration forms are available in the Office of Student Activities and Services (Ground Floor, K-State Union). 532-6541

⚠ Why be registered? ⚠

Registered groups can:
1. Reserve university meeting rooms and facilities
2. Request funds from Student Governing Association
3. Obtain approval of fund-raising activities

Learn more about the benefits of being registered at the Program Planning and University Resources Workshop Tuesday, September 22nd at 7 pm in Room 212 of the K-State Student Union.

Study finds families need boost in wages

BY ERIN JESCHKE
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

It was recently discovered that many families in the Manhattan community are not making a living wage to sustain a basic level of survival.

A living wage is the amount of money a person must earn in a year to pay for all of the necessities of life.

A study was done by the Manhattan Alliance for Peace and Justice in order to determine how much it costs to support the average family in Manhattan.

The study accounts for health insurance, food, electrical bills, child support and other items necessary for living.

The study, done by the alliance, updates a 1996 study done by researchers at K-State.

It was expected that a large number of businesses did not meet the hourly pay needed to ensue a living wage for their employees.

A family in Manhattan needs to earn $16,870 a year or $8.11/hour with health benefits included, according to the study.

The living-wage study only included costs for essential items. These do not include entertainment and other items that are not mandatory in order to survive.

Mary Jo Murphy, alliance leader, said the alliance believes those who are working full time should earn enough to provide necessities for themselves and their families.

The alliance has spoken with the City Commission and Building Coalition in an attempt to set a living wage. Murphy said there are already eight organizations on board.

"There is a lot of interest in Kansas," Murphy said.

Other organizations in the state also are trying to publicize the same points as the Manhattan alliance.

The alliance has 330 members. It publishes a newsletter seven times a year that focuses on the living-wage campaign.

The alliance supports policies and reforms for individual equality within the community and the United States.

Persons interested in the alliance should contact Murphy at 565-9757.

LETTERS@SPUB.KSU.EDU
LETTERS@SPUB.KSU.EDU
Send your letters to the editor To:
LETTERS@SPUB.KSU.EDU

Home away from home

Students liven up residence halls with items from home

BY JENNIFER WHITE
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Students in the residence halls not only must contend with the challenges of keeping peace with their roommates by adjusting their personal habits but also must attempt to make their rooms feel more like home.

Those living in the halls try to strike a balance in their spaces between function and personality.

"We put in a loft so we had more storage space," Tami Crouse, sophomore in kinesiology, said.

Crouse's room in Moore Hall features pictures of past boyfriends, friends from high school and other special items she brought from home.

"I use the same pillow and blanket that I had at home," Crouse said.

While some students have cramped quarters, others have more than enough room to make the room comfortable.

"We have our living area on one side, complete with couch, television and stereo, then our beds are on the other side," Dustin Unruh, sophomore in mass communications, said.

"I have two guitars and five remote controls for the television, VCR and CD player."

Unruh's roommate said they have other activities to capture their attention.

"We also have 120 movies, phone calls and weightlifting at the Rec," Josh Oliver, sophomore in sociology, said.

One thing missing from Unruh and Oliver's room is a video game system. Dallas Luthi, sophomore in agricultural business, said Sega usually keeps him from his studies.

"We played football and basketball a lot last year," Luthi said.

While she is playing on her computer or watching movies with some of the other residents of Van Zile Hall, Candi Orebaugh, junior in animal sciences and industry, has all the comforts of home right in her room. Her stereo sits on top of her refrigerator, and her computer sits at the foot of her bed.

"I put down a purple carpet and stuck glow-in-the-dark stars on the walls," Orebaugh said.

JILL JARSULIC/KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Candi Orebaugh, junior in animal sciences and industry, made her single room in Van Zile Hall feel a little more like home by filling it with pictures, posters and glow-in-the-dark stars.

PIZZA SHUTTLE DELIVERS
776-5577
1800 Claflin Road

k-state's
MEN'S GLEE CLUB
AUDITIONS

MCCAIN 229 OPEN TO NON-MUSIC MAJORS

Interested in assisting with the implementation of KSU's Honor Code?

Student Governing Association is accepting applications for the Honor Council

Qualifications: Must have completed two semesters at KSU.

Appointments are 1 or 2 year and based on college.

Deadline: Friday, Sept. 4th

Applications available in the Office of Student Activities and Services, Ground Floor, K-State Student Union.
Call 532-6541 for more information.

PURPLE
POWER PLAY ON POYNTZ
Help your living group
WIN $200 to be donated to a local charity of your choice and a TRAVELING TROPHY

How to win:
Come on down to Purple Power Play on Poyntz, Sept. 3, 1998. Sign in at the K-State Alumni Association table between 5 p.m. and 7 p.m. The winner will be announced before the pep rally at 8:30.

Contest sponsored by the K-State Alumni Association and Q103.5.

Don't be just another face in the Crowd.

Make a difference!
Apply to be a Student Governing Association Intern!

For more information, stop by the Office of Student Activities and Services on the ground floor of the K-State Union. (785) 532-6541
Application deadline: Wednesday, September 9th

JAYHAWK
music festival 98
EVERCLEAR
WILCO
THE PHARCYDE
REEL BIG FISH
2 SKINNEE J'S INCUBUS
SAT. SEPT. 12
CLINTON LAKE STATE PARK, LAWRENCE KS
GATES 11AM •SHOW NOON • ALL AGES tickets available through all ticketmaster outlets, the bottleneck, the granada, the sua box office on the ku campus, or by calling (816) 931-3330 or www.ticketmaster.com www.jayhawkmusicfestival.com
PitchWeekly

TICKETS ON SALE NOW AT:
STREETSIDE RECORDS
1231 Moro 785 776-7373
Cash, Check, Charge or Wildcat Card Accepted

OUR VIEW

KJ's offers nightlife for those under 21

There seems to be some conflict about underage drinking.

While the federal government recently handed $360,000 to Kansas to combat incidents of minors in possession of alcohol, KJ's Bar & Dance Club, 1215 Moro St. in Aggieville, recently opened its doors to 18-year-olds. It might appear that KJ's is inviting the state of Kansas to invest some of this new money on it, namely by providing alcohol to minors and forcing the state to do something about it.

We do not believe this to be the case.

Rather, we believe that KJ's, like several other bars in Manhattan, is providing a means to fight underage drinking.

Jeff Fellows, owner of KJ's, points out that allowing 18-year-olds to enter bars while restricting drinking to 21-year-olds has been successful in eliminating the underage drinking problem. Under the system, patrons are given hand-stamps or wristbands at the door, which allows them to be identified as under or over 21. Under this system, KJ's received a lower number of minor in possession violations after the Alcohol Beverage Control blitz of last weekend.

It would appear then that the younger population in Manhattan is content with not drinking, provided it is allowed to enter the bars. Lt. Buddy Mays of the Riley County Police Department said he believes that one of the solutions to the underage drinking problem is through education, and that by allowing people to make wise choices, they inevitably will make the right one.

KJ's, along with a number of other bars, is providing minors an environment in which they can have fun while at the same time teaching them to be responsible for their behavior. As long as these bars enforce the rules, minors will be able to learn the truths of alcohol from a sober perspective, allowing them the self-control they need to make the right decisions.

Now that there are places for underage students to go out on a Friday or Saturday night, they can have the experience necessary to see that alcohol is not essential for a good time. This allows underage students to go out on their own; then they don't feel obligated to participate in the activities of their older peers.

It is good that somebody recognizes that underage students are responsible enough to handle themselves in a controlled environment, but the management of 18-to-enter bars need to make sure they enforce the law.

EDITORIAL BOARD

EDITOR IN CHIEF
JILL JARSULIC

MANAGING EDITOR/ PRESENTATION
TODD STEWART

NEWS EDITOR
TRAVIS D. LENKNER

PHOTO EDITOR
STEVE HEBERT

CAMPUS EDITOR
KELLEE MILLER

CITY/GOVERNMENT EDITOR
MATT KREPS

SPORTS EDITOR
JEREMY KELLEY

ARTS & ENTERTAINMENT EDITOR
DIANA LEE

OPINION EDITOR
JON KURCHE

COPY CHIEF
JANET COOK

eCOLLEGIAN EDITOR
R.J. DIEPENBROCK

SPECIAL PROJECTS EDITOR
ANGELA KISTNER

OUR VIEW, an editorial selected and debated by the editorial board, is written after a majority opinion is formed. The editorial board consists of Collegian editors and other staff members. OUR VIEW is the Collegian's official opinion.

AARON FRUEHLING

READERS WRITE

Traffic circles accomplish goal, right question was not asked

Editor,

It seems the Collegian editorial board forgot to ask a question and provide an answer in its Aug. 25 editorial titled "Traffic circles not answer to problem."

If the circles are designed to slow traffic and prevent collisions, then the obvious question to ask is: Do they accomplish their goal? The answer is yes. Data from Manhattan's oldest trio of circles, installed September 1996 along Grandview Drive, show a 5 mph average speed reduction and higher-range speeds have been significantly reduced as a result of the circles. Accidents along the street also have reduced significantly.

Prior to installation, a number of cars had been clocked with speeds in excess of 50 mph on this residential street, a neighborhood where children walk to school and would like to ride their bicycles in safety. Also, drivers might not always navigate the circles according to the signage, but one must slow down and take an extra look before proceeding into the intersection.

Therefore, the circles are having the designed effect of slowing the traffic and reducing the number of accidents. The board might consider reading the city's "Traffic Circle Speed Analysis."

As the editorial board stated, "There has been a history of complaints about the circles." But support for these circles has a longer history. In fact, the circles were installed in response to concerns of neighbors about speeding traffic along the street.

There have been some complaints, but the board might be interested in knowing that 81 Grandview residents have expressed their support for the Grandview circles since their installation. Traffic circles might not be popular with all Manhattan's residents, but a large number support them in this neighborhood.

— John Tatarko
research assistant professor, agronomy

Convenience store work not for the light of heart

VIEWPOINT

MARY VANLEEUWEN

Sometimes life bites you in the tush and survival depends on working at a convenience store. Sometimes you love it, and other times you want to take advantage of the gasoline access and light yourself on fire in front of the surveillance cameras.

I will probably always remember my 1998 Summer of Convenience as the three most emotionally and mentally unstable months of my life.

Just to illustrate how wonderfully terrible a convenience store job is, I'll give the rundown of a typical week taking place on that mysterious raised platform behind the counter.

Drum roll please. I give you the memoirs of a convenience store clerk.

Sunday: Unfortunately, I'm still recovering from my Saturday night and I'm working the 3 to 11 p.m. shift. At 6 p.m., my conveniently scheduled co-worker leaves me. At 10 p.m., 10,000 people come in. My register sticks its microchip tongue out at me and then refuses to talk.

Since I can't do a thing, and I'm starting to take the customer rejection and dirty looks personally, I open the other register only to find that register number two won't take credit cards, the primary source of payment of the angry-faced people. Patrons are driving away with gasoline right and left, and I'm ready to walk out.

Monday: I'm in much prettier spirits today. I can now laugh at the Sunday nightmare. The night is dragging by slowly until a car comes out of nowhere, rams into this big fuel-sucking red truck, and I'm giggling like I just saw someone get racked on "America's Funniest Home Videos."

The cops come to complete the parking lot circus, and I look out the window and imagine what everyone is saying to each other and what they're thinking about. The accident causer comes in asking what a container of oil looks like and talking about how a collision warrants an oil change.

Tuesday: I'm loathing convenience stores in general and therefore suffering incredibly low self-esteem because, as an employee, I'm supporting the hated market.

I hate that vehicles come here 24 hours a day to consume quickly disappearing fossil fuels. I hate that my car does the same thing. I hate it that I have to charge $10 for a pack of batteries that probably cost 50 cents to make. I hate selling cigarettes and liquor to pregnant mothers. I hate that I have to sell pornography to smarmy boys and dirty old men. I hate it when customers come in every day and buy expensive convenience-store-priced junk food with food stamps. I hate that I'm a part of the darned capitalist society that says that convenience stores are a necessary part of our environment.

Wednesday: Day off for recuperation. I'm OK. Really.

Thursday: Today I am being entertained by many of the regulars — the men and women who consistently come in to drink coffee, smoke cigarettes, read the paper, play Keno and swap stories. My favorite regular told me more about his travels and his grandchildren, an old man shared more information about his prostate cancer than I wanted to know, and a young man keeps coming in to tell me, "If ya ever get horny, give me a call."

Friday: Whoo Hoo! Another day off!

Saturday: One of my managers decided to tape a poster of some missing teen-age girls to my counter.

I have never seen so many human beings actually reading a missing-poster. I suppose there's not too much else to look at when you're waiting for your change.

It was a nice way to end my working week — admiring how so many people genuinely were concerned for the girls' well-being and being amused at how many of them desperately wanted to believe they saw the missing girls at Dillons.

A week in the life of a convenience store clerk. Pretty exciting, eh?

Convenience stores are all about high-priced items, gasoline, tobacco products and the customers who shell out the money for them. Over the summer, I was part of this beautiful, capitalist concept. Sure, my relationship with my job contained more hate than love, but it did give me a chance to glance further into the human condition, and more importantly, it paid my bills and bought me the boob job I've always dreamed of.

Mary is a junior in English. You can e-mail her at mev2383@ksu.edu

READERS WRITE

Placement of articles disturbs reader; questions judgement

Editor,

I usually don't pay enough attention to college newspapers to warrant or justify a response until today. As I was reading through the opinion section columns, I couldn't help but notice the overpowering drawing that read "Apocalypse Now." I read the column, "It's the end of the world as we know it and I don't feel fine" only to be disgusted that a completely pointless column would be allowed to fill so much space.

I was further disgusted when I read the column directly below it titled "Mother shows true courage in fight against cancer." This column — as much of it as I could read being that it was only partially printed — was inspiring. Unlike the pointless, unentertaining "Apocalypse Now" column, the fight against cancer is serious, difficult, triumphant and unfortunately, real.

I find it upsetting that a column with zero relevance to anyone's life would take precedence over a column that has the potential to inspire cancer patients and those who love them to continue their fight in an uphill battle.

I ask, as a college student with my mind like a sponge here to learn about the world and to discover myself, that a college newspaper would choose to inspire and motivate others rather than waste its valuable time. If that isn't possible, please at least put time and effort into the stories that count rather than wasting some poor writer's time and artist's time with what was in last Friday's edition of the opinion section.

— Rebecca Hurrelbrink, senior in family life and community service, women's studies

Busy, busy, busy: campus involvement comes at high price

VIEWPOINT

CORBIN CRABLE

For those of you who wonder if there's such a thing as being too involved, let me answer you in a voice riddled with fatigue.

As much as I dislike the idea, you do have to draw the line somewhere when it comes to activities outside the classroom. I'm finding this out the hard way. The only comfort I feel is knowing that many others are in my situation. If we ever have the time, whomever you are, we need to get together and compare schedules.

I've always enjoyed being involved with as many extracurricular activities as possible because they keep me sharp and alert to what's going on around campus. I can be a leader and positively affect the people around me.

Such was my thought over the summer. During the latter part of June, I couldn't wait to return to Manhattan and dive into my pool o' activities. My monotonous schedule of work, sleep, work, sleep and the occasional meal was making me all the more anxious to click my heels and return to Wildcat Land. I returned in mid-August and got the proverbial ball rolling with the Collegian, McCain Ambassadors, Kansas State University Association of Residence Halls and my community-assistant training for the residence hall in which I live.

Then the worst possible thing happened — classes began.

As early as last Monday afternoon, I found myself making my permanent schedule, using a spreadsheet and my sacred collection of highlighters. By the time Monday evening hit, I was wondering when I'd have time for sleep or homework; luckily, the two are one and the same for me.

Before Monday ended, I had resigned myself, albeit reluctantly, to the fact that I had to let something go. I quickly thought over my priorities and decided my short-lived career as Haymaker Hall community assistant must come to an end.

That was a decision on which I didn't act. I hate telling people 'no,' so I made no attempt that day to put in my resignation.

For the rest of the chaos-filled day, I cursed myself for not being able to say no. I felt like I'd be a quitter if I did quit, like I'd be walking out on a huge responsibility and letting people down. I still feel this way, even though I should know better.

So what can I let go? Hmm ... let's see ... I love the Collegian too much; after all, I am a staff writer, columnist and copy editor. I suppose I love the Collegian enough to commit journalistic suicide by taking on all three of these roles.

I'm the same way with my other activities, such as serving on the executive board member of KSUARH, working as a community assistant and acting as the historian for McCain Ambassadors. I feel as if it will take some drastic event to slap me in the face and let me know I can't go on with such a schedule forever. For instance, I might fall asleep in the middle of copy-editing an Associated Press story, or I might get up in the middle of an ARH executive board meeting and scream or go postal in the middle of an ARH general-body meeting. Yes, it might even take (gasp) falling grades to make me realize I can't live with a schedule that allots me four hours of sleep per day. But that's something I refuse to go through.

For now, though, I can handle the fact that my free time is practically nonexistent. My ability to handle all of this undoubtedly will change as the meetings become more intense and the homework assignments greater in length. I am expecting to drop something soon, for the sake of my sanity.

My advice would be to learn how to say no and not to jump at every chance to be involved. Being active on campus is important to some people, but don't sacrifice your education just to be the president of the underwater-basketweaving club.

Don't worry, though. I'll still be around the Collegian newsroom, frantically typing my weekly column and/or slaving over a tattered AP stylebook. Sorry, you're stuck with me.

Whoops! Look at the time ... I'd love to talk more on the subject, but I'm late for another meeting.

Corbin is a sophomore in English. You can e-mail him at chc7669@ksu.edu

'Wag the Dog," Clinton controversy share many characteristics

Ronald Reagan was a lousy actor. He made bad movies, and he wasn't very memorable in any of them. Compared to Bill Clinton, however, he will be remembered as President Laurence Olivier.

Clinton has had bad luck with the movies. In "Contact," computer graphics made it appear as though he endorsed intergalactic diplomacy. In "Primary Colors," John Travolta's Bubba spent half the movie smeared with barbecue sauce. "Wag the Dog," which recently was released on video, is making a mess of foreign policy.

In "Wag the Dog," a presidential sex scandal is avoided when Hollywood concocts a fake war to divert the nation's attention. Merry mix-ups and madcap fun ensue.

Nearly every political analyst in America pointed to the similarities between the movie and recent events. Kind of a no-brainer, really.

In the wake of a weakly scripted and poorly delivered apology for shagging a White House intern, Clinton decided to crack down on terrorism. Coincidence? Who the hell knows. The situation is, nonetheless, fascinating.

While it has been implied that the movie served as an inspiration for the current international situation, no one seems to suspect the filmmakers. Even though "Wag the Dog" has received the only good publicity resulting from this incident, its creators are not only above suspicion, but they are being hailed as modern day prophets, Hollywood's blind oracles.

Wasn't this movie meant to illustrate that Hollywood can control anything at any time including good and bad press? If Hollywood has learned anything at all from its own history, it is that there is no such thing as bad publicity. Perhaps the media-conspiracy notion is irrational, but it is, if nothing else, a pleasant diversion.

More realistically, those who believe that life is imitating art can relax. Even if the movie did serve as a breeding ground for Clinton's tactics, he won't be able to escape in the final reel.

America's collective attention span might be short, but when it comes to sexual scandal, our appetite is insatiable.

Journalists who appear to be saddened by the possibility of impeachment actually are relishing every moment of the humiliation. Don't be fooled by their thin veneers of false integrity. No one pretended to be anything less than fascinated at Richard Nixon's downfall, and this one is even juicier, given the nature of the faux pas.

Clinton's national persona has served as America's pornography. Everybody is disgusted by it, and yet, we just can't seem to tear ourselves away.

This is no longer about our president's integrity or his ability to govern the nation in a crisis. This is about voyeurism.

The movie's title comes from the idea that the dog is smarter than its tail, otherwise the tail would wag the dog. Even if Clinton thought he was smarter than the dog, his tail is still between his legs.

The attention the news media has given to "Wag the Dog" is flattering to the Hollywood community because it allows it to believe what it wants to believe about its art form: that movies really can change the world. While the resemblance might be uncanny, it won't matter in the end. Sexual promiscuity always will be the nation's foremost priority.

It's difficult to believe that "Bedtime For Bonzo" will make Reagan our good-actor chief executive, but after Clinton's fumbling in the national spotlight, Ronnie just might deserve an Academy Award.

Chris Piatt is a sophomore in theater. You can send email to him at crp3280@ksu.edu.

Students use computers for more than learning

By DEB RIECHMANN
The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Classroom hellions are using computers to download porn, change grades, swap passwords and send threatening e-mail when the teacher isn't looking. Often, the brightest students are doing the mischief, and school officials are struggling with how to discipline them.

These students bring in homemade programs to disable school software, install point-and-shoot war games, make counterfeit money and design scathing sites on the World Wide Web.

"You'd be amazed at what they can do," said Jeannine Clark, assistant principal of Clarkstown High School North in New City, N.Y. "Clearly, a new set of guidelines is needed." Clark called these guidelines "nerd discipline."

Seventy-eight percent of the nation's public schools are connected to the Internet, according to the National Center for Education Statistics. Educators nationwide have responded to cyberspace antics with a patchwork of Internet-use policies, outlining the dos and don'ts of being online at school.

Some are strictly written with harsh punishments for offenders. Others have weak consequences or use vague terms, such as "objectionable" or "offensive," to describe the kinds of Web sites that students are forbidden to visit.

Often harder than writing the policies, however, is punishing the offenders.

Routine suspension is often not the best approach for bright students, Clark said. Some parents, who don't want their children sitting in a suspension room missing their honors classes, think computer experiments are good, even if a student breaks the rules.

"As one father told me, it's perfectly acceptable to allow his child to experiment," Clark said. "After all, we didn't want to squash his curiosity, did we?"

Suspending computer privileges, on the other hand, can be counterproductive for students taking courses requiring daily computer access. Grades can suffer; credits can be lost. Students can drop in class ranking.

An alternate punishment, a monitored probation, was set up to let students use computers but only in closely watched settings, Clark said.

Reminding students of the importance of a college recommendation also works to keep some college-bound computer troublemakers in line.

Nancy Willard, an information technology consultant from Eugene, Ore., said she advised school districts to take Internet privileges away from computer abusers and make them earn them back. Students who surf sexually explicit sites, for example, might be assigned to write a research paper on victims of sexual abuse.

In Cashmere, Wash., six high schoolers were suspended for up to 10 days last school year for posting a list of more than 300 students and suggestions on how each might die. Five students apparently convinced the sixth, who had computer expertise, to put the list on the World Wide Web, according to Gary Harden, who was student body president at the school, where he graduated this year.

"They were all suspended, and each of them had to write an essay about good uses for the Internet," Harden said, adding that he hasn't heard of any pranks since. "I think our administration wanted to hammer down so it wouldn't happen again."

Educators, however, also must be careful they don't trample on student rights.

A school district in Westlake, Ohio, agreed in April to pay $30,000 to a student who set up a Web site from a home computer, that made fun of his high school band teacher. The 17-year-old baritone player was suspended for eight days but sued the school district saying the action violated his right to free speech. A judge agreed.

"I feel that in school you should be held responsible for following the rules they set," said the student, Sean O'Brien, who will be a senior this year at Westlake High School.

"But for me, I was being penalized in school for something I did out of school."

Scientists discover new cause of sun-damaged skin

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Scientists have discovered that wrinkles, sagging and other signs of sun-damaged skin can be caused by ultraviolet-A solar rays, a form of sunlight not blocked by most lotions now on the market.

UVA solar radiation turns a natural molecule on the skin surface into a form of oxygen that speeds up the aging of the skin, said John D. Simon, a Duke University biophysicist and the co-author of a study being published Tuesday in the Proceedings of the National Academy of Sciences.

Researchers have long known that sunlight can cause the skin to wrinkle and turn leathery. Experts said the Simon study is the first to show why this happens — and to link it to UVA rays.

UVA can be blocked by a few sunscreens, including zinc oxide, a white substance that lifeguards and other beach lovers often smear on their noses, Simon said. Some preparations have zinc oxide in a more transparent form, and more advanced products now can be found.

The new study underscores the importance of using a lotion that blocks both types of ultraviolet radiation, UVA and UVB.

Right now, most sunscreens focus on protecting against UVB while doing little to protect against UVA.

Missy Gough of the American Academy of Dermatology said her organization recommends people use broad-spectrum sunscreens that have a sun protective factor, or SPF number, of at least 15.

Consumers should check the label to make sure lotions contain ingredients that protect against UVA, she said. These include benzophenone, oxybenzone, sulisobenzone, titanium dioxide, zinc oxide and avobenzone, a sunscreen chemical recently approved by the Food and Drug Administration and sold under the brand name Parsol 1789.

"This study shows that we have to pay more attention (to UVA) and to find blockers that are more effective in that region" of solar radiation, said Janna P. Wehrle, a research director at the National Institute of General Medical Sciences.

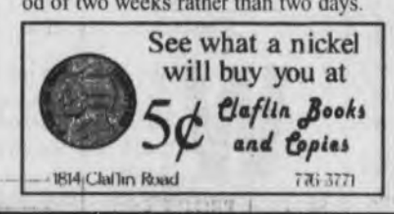
Wehrle, whose organization is one of the National Institutes of Health, called the discovery a significant advance in understanding how the sun ages the skin.

READERS WRITE

Better ticket distribution system does exist

Editor,

I'd like to apologize on behalf of the Department of Intercollegiate Athletics and the Student Ticket Committee to all the people who stood in line and didn't get tickets and to all the people who stood in line and did get tickets. OK, here goes, I'll pretend I'm them. "I'm sorry, I'm an idiot. I don't know why I thought this would work better."



D. Scott Fritchen said there wasn't a better way to sell the tickets. So did Max Urick. Now, I normally don't like to put people down, but for the love of God, I know a ton of six-year-olds, a few four-year-olds, several monkeys and a few people from KU who could figure out a better way to organize ticket sales!

It's just so simple! Have seniors, juniors and sophomores reserve tickets in the spring, respectively. Give them a form that they send in with their tuition at the beginning of August along with their money for the tickets. Instead of waiting in line for six hours, they walk out to their mailbox, and their tickets have magically appeared. I'd pay an extra 32 cents for that kind of luxury. If that doesn't work, they could be mailed some kind of receipt and pick up their tickets at Bramlage over a period of two weeks rather than two days.

Freshmen can have what is left over. Of course, I wouldn't have had time to come up with this plan, but I wound up with about three and a half extra hours to think about it Saturday morning. I'm sure freshmen, sophomores and juniors have even better ideas than I do.

— Jon Padgham, senior in animal sciences and industry

AG STUDENTS and FACULTY
are invited to a
Watermelon Feed
& Club Activities Fair

Front lawn of Waters Hall*
Tuesday Sept. 1 6:15 p.m.
Sponsored by Ag Student Council & Alpha Zeta
(all department clubs will be represented)
* Weber Arena in case of rain.

VOLUNTEERS NEEDED
CALL 395-SAFE
OR reach us via e-mail at wildcatwalk@ksu.edu
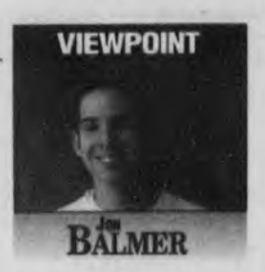
Hey! Do you like to help others? Do you need a Community Service Project? We can help! Volunteer to be an escort for Wildcat Walk. No minimum hours, great shifts, computer access plus study time when not on call, and flexible scheduling.
http://www.ksu.edu/wildcatwalk
Wildcat Walk

THE Palace Cards & Gifts
POSTERS



POSTERS & MATTED PRINTS
ART • CELEBRITIES • SPORTS
SCENICS • TRAVEL • ANNE GEDDES
FLORAL • ANIMALS • MOVIES
704 N. MANHATTAN • IN AGGIEVILLE • 539-7654
MON.-FRI. 8:30-8:30, SAT. 8:30-5:30, SUN. 12:00-5:00

Once in a lifetime announcement
Your name _____ KSU I.D.# _____
Address _____ City, state, zip _____
Telephone number _____
I wish to place an engagement announcement (FREE) Date_____
I wish to place a wedding announcement (FREE) Date_____
I also want to include a photo ___ (FREE)
Check # _____ MC/Visa # _____ Signature _____
FREE

Engagement announcement
_____ (names) wish to announce their engagement.
_____ (woman's name) is a _____ (classification) in _____ (major/dept.).
_____ (man's name) is a _____ (classification) in _____ (major/dept.).
_____ (woman's name) is the daughter of _____ (parent's name) of _____ (city/state).
_____ (man's name) is the son of _____ (parent's name) of _____ (city/state).
The couple is planning a/an _____ (date) wedding at _____ (location, city, state).

Wedding announcement
_____ (names) were married _____ in _____. _____ (woman's name) is a _____ (classification) in _____ (major/dept.). _____ (man's name) is a _____ (classification) in _____ (major/dept.). _____ (woman's name) is the daughter of _____ (parent's name) of _____ (city/state). _____ (man's name) is the son of _____ (parent's name) of _____ (city/state).
The couples attendants were _____
Other brief details: _____

Life won't end if you didn't get tickets

WARNING: This column addresses the fate of K-State students lacking season tickets. If you are one of the 8,829 students blessed with seven golden tickets, your time would be best spent calculating how much dough a scalped Nebraska ticket will get you.

To the rest of the student body, I feel your pain. Perhaps you woke up early Sunday morning suffering from nightmares of ticket ladies scanning your gridiron dreams away.

Or did you visualize yourself floating toward an illuminated season ticket packet at the end of a tunnel while a voice strangely reminiscent of Athletics Director Max Urick chanted, "Come to the light, my Wildcat child?"

While nothing truly can satisfy a hard-core K-State football fan left out in the cold, some things can help ease the pain of someone on the dark side of football fate.

I. Tailgate with the best of 'em. Sure, you might not be able to venture inside the stadium, but there's no regulation keeping you out of the parking lot. Sometimes, this is where the best action goes down.

To the truly wise grill master, pregame does not spell dead time. Instead, with the right-size trailer and enough ground beef to assemble a cow, grilling takes on a life of its own before the showdown.

With an evening game kicking off the K-State football season, 3:00 stands as prime time to light the charcoal. For the serious grillers, however, sunrise might signal the start to a day of barbecue.

If you're unable to attend the game, you might as well fill your stomach with some grilled goods and take in some tales from the barbecue. Each tailgate veteran has a story to tell, and who knows what you might learn over a plate of Polish sausage and some buffalo wings?

II. Substitute quality football with a knock-off. Just down the highway in a peculiar little town called Lawrence, an NCAA practice squad called the Jayhawks play Oklahoma State this Saturday. Sure, you won't see your beloved Cats take the field, but KU does offer a loose interpretation of college football.

However, if you do take a road trip to Lawrence, there are two things you should avoid in town:

1. The Burrito King. A former member of the Manhattan restaurant community, the Burrito King now exists only in Lawrence. Don't take the time to find out why. One taste of the restaurant's treats could result in time spent "on the disabled list," in football terminology.

2. The "legalize hemp" guy. Enough said.

Regardless of the quality of football KU displays, its opponent offers the chance to preview a team that might give K-State some trouble.

You could discover the world's version of football. It's not the gridiron kind, I assure you. What Americans regard as soccer the rest of the globe rightfully calls football.

While the United States remains absent of the best soccer talent, this Saturday night offers the closest thing on American soil — Major League Soccer. While Kansas City awaits the beginning of Chiefs football, the Wizards descend on Arrowhead Stadium the night before, battling the San Jose Clash. Soccer might not be your cup of tea, but a group of Brazilian drummers helps to enhance soccer's atmosphere.

When tickets are out of the question, it's best to surround yourself with fans in a similar predicament.

While the energy level probably won't match the 50,000 inhabitants of KSU Stadium, a room filled with rowdy Cat fans, a nice big-screen TV and a fistful of Beernuts can go a long way.

So you didn't walk away with the coveted K-State football ticket sheet. Just be glad you didn't spend $50 for unwanted basketball season tickets, like those who purchased combo tickets on Friday.

You may be suffering from Powercat withdrawal after this weekend's ticket crisis but never fear. Numerous activities can be found as gridiron substitutes from barstools to burgers. As the great Chris Berman once said, "We toast to life, we toast to football, we toast to sausage."

Jon Balmer is a junior in business administration. You can send him e-mail at jkb2004@ksu.edu.

Author places ballot for top-40 K-State athletes

BY JEREMY KELLEY
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Writing sports theme books became a natural habit for David Smale.

Smale grew up in Kansas City, Kan., where he hung out with his older brother, Ray, and, like many other males with tendencies towards sports, attended high school sporting events whenever the opportunity arose.

Sports was his passion and soon became his life.

Smale and his brother now own Rainbow Publishing, in Shawnee Mission, Kan., of which he is the vice president, the managing editor and the project coordinator.

Smale said his most recent publication, "The Purple Pinnacle: The Top 40 Athletes in Kansas State History," was the toughest book he has written thus far.

"It was a long process," Smale said. "I started conducting interviews in late December and also used old news clips to get background information."

Smale's book, which has been in stores for a month, lists the top-40 athletes in K-State history. The lists includes men and women, ranging from tennis to football and from basketball to track and field.

Smale collaborated with Sports Information Director Kent Brown and the K-State Sports Information Office to put together different criteria for automatic selections for the list and guidelines for selecting the remaining athletes.

"Once we got through the bowl game, David sent us a list of athletes and we tried to pare it down and then sent it back to him," Brown said.

Smale's book includes three athletes currently competing at the collegiate level: K-State quarterback Michael Bishop, All-America place-kicker Martin Gramatica, and high-jumper and long-jumper Nathan Leeper as well as four athletes who now are working with K-State athletics: track coaches Steve Fritz and Gwen Wentland; Associate Athletics Director Veryl Switzer; and Ernie Barrett, director of development.

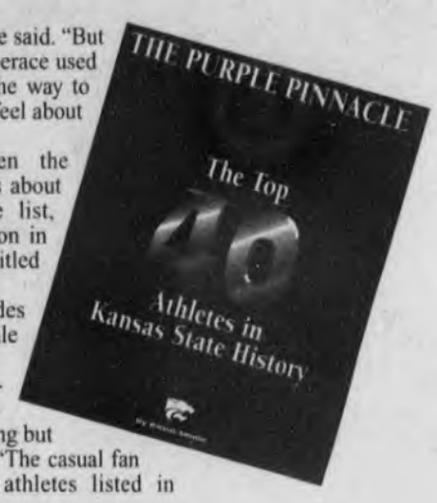
"If they were elected to the Hall of Fame, they are in automatically," Smale said.

"Players of the year, Olympians and national champions were also automatic selections as well as multiple first-team All-Americans."

Smale said using that criteria took 32 to 33 of the 40 spots. After that, he had the difficult task of choosing eight athletes to make the list.

"That was the hard part," he said. "After we did that, we picked people who may not have achieved statistical success, but certainly made their mark in their sport."

For example, basketball player Mike Evans, who was one of the "Pop Gun Twins" during the Jack Hartman era, did not make the list. Evans is the all-time leading scorer in K-State history, with 2,115 points and the eighth-leading scorer in Big 8 history. In his stead, Lon Kruger was chosen.



"It was a difficult task for us to do," Brown said of the selection.

The athletes in the book are listed alphabetically, instead of by a ranking system. Smale said that would have been a nightmare of a task.

"There's no way I could have ranked them," he said. "There's really no line, though there's no line between 40 and 41, and there's no line between 80 and 81. It's just a matter of who we thought were the top 40."

Smale said he has several different analyses from people who questioned his selections.

"We have received criticism of who's in it and who's not in it," he said. "But I feel like Liberace. Liberace used 'I'm going to cry all the way to the bank.' That's how I feel about the criticism."

However, to lessen the degree of the naysayers about who was left off the list, Smale included a section in the end of the book entitled "41st Best."

This section includes nearly 60 athletes Smale said tied for 41.

"This includes athletes who had justification for making the listing but didn't get in," he said. "The casual fan will recognize those athletes listed in there."

"The Purple Pinnacle" is Smale's 10th publication. He has written two other K-State books: "The Ahearn Tradition," his first book, and "THE STORY: Kansas State Football; The Greatest Turnaround in College Football."

Smale will do a book-signing this Saturday at Varney's Book Store in Aggieville and also on Oct. 24 in the K-State Student Union.

LEADING BY EXAMPLE

Zschau relishes role of leader for 1998 volleyball team

BY JOHN BERGGREN
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

When senior swing-hitter Kim Zschau steps onto the volleyball court, her teammates know it.

It's not her voice they notice. On the contrary, she barely makes a peep. It's not Zschau's height, a respectable 6 feet 2 inches, they notice; there are still three players who are taller than her.

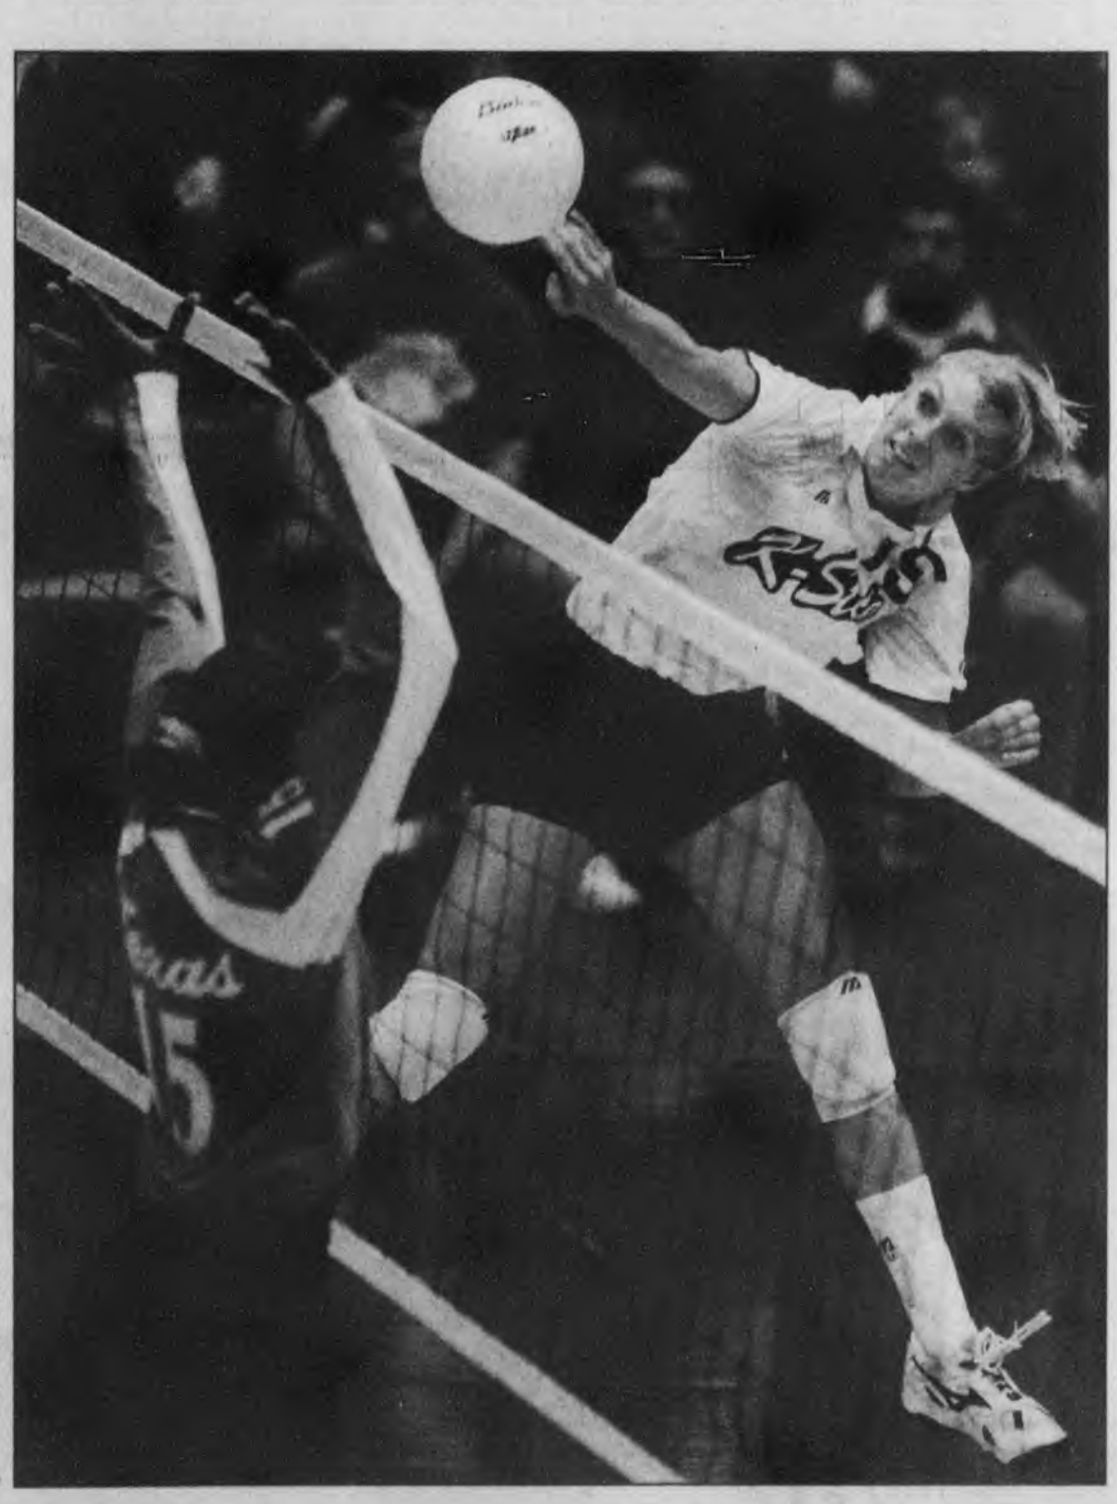
What it is that her teammates realize is her athletic ability, her blue-collar work ethic and her senior authority.

"I think in the past one of my strengths is that I bring a presence," said Zschau, who also said she leads by example.

Zschau's role of leadership has been heightened this season with six freshmen on the squad. Zschau said she knows it is important that the newcomers make a smooth adjustment from high school volleyball to the collegiate level.

"My freshman year was difficult for me just to feel as part of the group," Zschau said. "I felt really alienated, and I don't know if it was the people that were around me or if it was just my personality. Hopefully, us reaching out to them is helping, hopefully better than in the years before.

"We want this team to come together, and we knew that it might be difficult with six freshmen coming in," Zschau said. "We didn't want them to become their own group. I think there is so much I can do whether it's hitting or digging or whatever, but bringing us together as a team is what is so important."



Hitting and digging is what Zschau is known for. Zschau comes into the season fifth on the all-time list with 1,199 kills, third all-time in total attacks with 3,271 and second all-time in digs with 1,073. She needs 196 kills, 196 total attacks and 102 digs to become the all-time leader in these categories.

Zschau, however, insists she is paying no attention to the all-time achievements that she is chasing.

"I look at stats only to help me," Zschau said. "I don't look at them as what to shoot for. I concentrate on what I'm doing right now and what our team is doing right now. Records are just part of the whole process."

Zschau and her teammates are working on getting ready for the season opener against Drake at 7 p.m. Wednesday in Ahearn Field House. Besides the game-by-game preparation, there is another common goal for which the Wildcats are working, Zschau said.

"We're definitely shooting for the the NCAA Tournament," Zschau said. "We've made it the past two years, and we want to make it this year to set a precedent that we can make it to the tournament every year."

Kim Zschau, K-State swing-hitter, spikes the ball against a University of Texas player last year during a Saturday night match in Ahearn Field House.

JEFF COOPER/COLLEGIAN FILE PHOTO

No. 2 Florida State defeats No. 14 Texas A&M, 23-14 in Kickoff Classic

BY RICHARD ROSENBLATT
THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

EAST RUTHERFORD, N.J. — Good old Chris Weinke received all the help he needed from young pals Peter Warrick and Travis Minor as No. 2 Florida State wore down No. 14 Texas A&M for a 23-14 victory in the Kickoff Classic on Monday night.

The 26-year-old Weinke, who returned to Florida State after six years of pro baseball, threw a go-ahead 9-yard touchdown pass to Warrick late in the third quarter to cap a successful debut in his first start in nearly nine years.

Weinke completed his first pass, a 30-yarder to Warrick, and finished 21-for-36 for 207 yards and no interceptions. The defense chipped in too, holding the Aggies to a paltry 20 yards in the second half and 133 overall.

Warrick gave Weinke an open target all night, catching a career-high nine passes for 106 yards.

Minor, a sophomore like Weinke but only 19 years old, set a school record with 34 carries and ran for 146 yards and a touchdown.

The Seminoles were expected to have an easy time with the Aggies, who last beat a top-5 team in 1975, but Texas A&M gave Coach Bobby Bowden's team all it could handle in the first three quarters before tiring.

With A&M leading 14-10 at halftime, the Seminoles went to work closing to 14-13 on Sebastian Janikowski's second field goal, a 28-yarder with 6:43 left.

Warrick and Weinke then hooked up to give the Seminoles the lead for good. Warrick returned an A&M punt 21 yards to the Aggies 37 but four plays later, he limped off the field after defensive back Sedrick Curry rolled over Warrick's right ankle.

Five plays later, Warrick was back and Weinke spotted him open at the 1. Warrick caught the pass, faked a defender and scored with five seconds left in the third quarter to make it 20-14.

Janikowski closed the scoring with his third field goal of the game, a 22-yarder with 3:26 remaining.

A Giants Stadium crowd of 59,232 saw a first half filled with blunders as neither offense could sustain a long drive, and each committed two turnovers. The Aggies got the best of the breaks when cornerback Jay Brooks scooped up Weinke's fumble and ran 21 yards for a TD with 29 seconds left in the half, putting Texas A&M ahead 14-10.

A Giants Stadium crowd of 59,232 saw a first half filled with blunders as neither offense could sustain a long drive, and each committed two turnovers.

Last season, the Seminoles trailed at halftime only once, 18-17 against Florida, which handed Florida State its only loss of 1997.

Three plays after his first completion, Warrick fumbled after a 7-yard reception, and linebacker Cornelius Anthony recovered at the A&M 22.

The Seminoles took a 7-0 lead on Minor's 3-yard TD run 7:58 into the game completing a 39-yard drive that began when Branndon Stewart fumbled the snap and FSU cornerback Troy Saunders recovered.

Sirr Parker fumbled on the Aggies' next possession, and linebacker Tommy Polley recovered at the A&M 35. The Seminoles settled for a 33-yard field goal by Janikowski.

Stewart, who was 10-for-21 for 100 yards, got the Aggies back in the game,completing a 49-yard pass to wide receiver Chris Cole down to the Seminoles 13, and D'Andre Hardeman scored from a yard out five plays later to make it 10-7 early in the second quarter.

The Aggies took the lead when Weinke dropped back to pass from his own 20 and was blindsided by linebacker Christian Rodriguez. The ball popped loose, Brooks scooped it up and ran into the end zone for the TD.

CROSSWORD

CROSSWORD By Eugene Sheffer

ACROSS
1 Decline
5 Skedaddled
8 Dines
12 Troop group
13 Scrap
14 Sandwich treat?
15 "Games People Play" singer
17 Jamaican tangelo
18 Office-holders
19 Crucial
20 Romance novelist
21 Bad review
22 Scroogean cry
23 Cornered
26 Molly-coddles
30 "Let's Make a Deal" choice
31 Melody
32 Novelist Seton
33 Washington city, county or river
35 Tire pattern
36 Snoop
37 Run up the phone bill
38 Pool-hall need
41 Toothpaste type
42 Yon wench
45 1970 hit song for the Kinks
46 It's under a setting
48 Typical DeMille movie
49 Hindrance
50 Barrett or Jaffe
51 Teensy bit
52 Certainly 53 Nest items

DOWN
1 Japan's highest peak
2 Unsigned: abbr.
3 Campaign promises?
4 Capts.' subordinates
5 Where Joan of Arc was sentenced
6 Ostentatious
7 Ultimate
8 Cartman's hometown
9 Incite
10 Soccer legend
11 Earth
16 Fine
20 Pianist at Rick's
21 "Monopoly" square
22 Prohibit
23 TV revenue source
24 No.1 spot
25 Halloween outcry
26 Chart variety
27 Compass pt.
28 Scandinavian rug type
29 Blue
31 Whatever number
34 Ararat vessel
35 Post-shower application
37 "Crazy Jane" poet
38 Skelton's Kadiddlehopper
39 Arizona tribesman
40 Hit the ground
41 Merriment
42 Urban pall
43 Grant a suspended sentence?
44 Anagram for "sate"
46 Thickness
47 Previous to

Solution time: 27 mins.

C	M	I			T	A	W		L	A	O	S
R	A	N	G		A	S	H		E	D	N	A
O	N	C	E		U	K	E		A	J	A	X
W	Y	A	T	T		S	L	A	V
		O	W	L		P	R	E	S	T	O
B	A	L	F	O	U	R		E	M	I	R	S
O	L	A	F		G	U	M		E	L	A	L
W	O	R	M	S		G	E	R	A	L	D	O
S	T	A	Y	E	D		G	A	L
		B	A	W	L		W	O	M	A	N
J	A	V	A		A	I	D		N	I	N	O
E	P	I	C		R	A	E		E	C	O	N
W	E	A	K		F	R	Y		A	X	E

Yesterday's answer

9-1

STUMPED? For answers to today's crossword, call 1-900-454-6873! 99¢ per minute, touch-tone / rotary phones. (18+ only.) A King Features service, NYC.

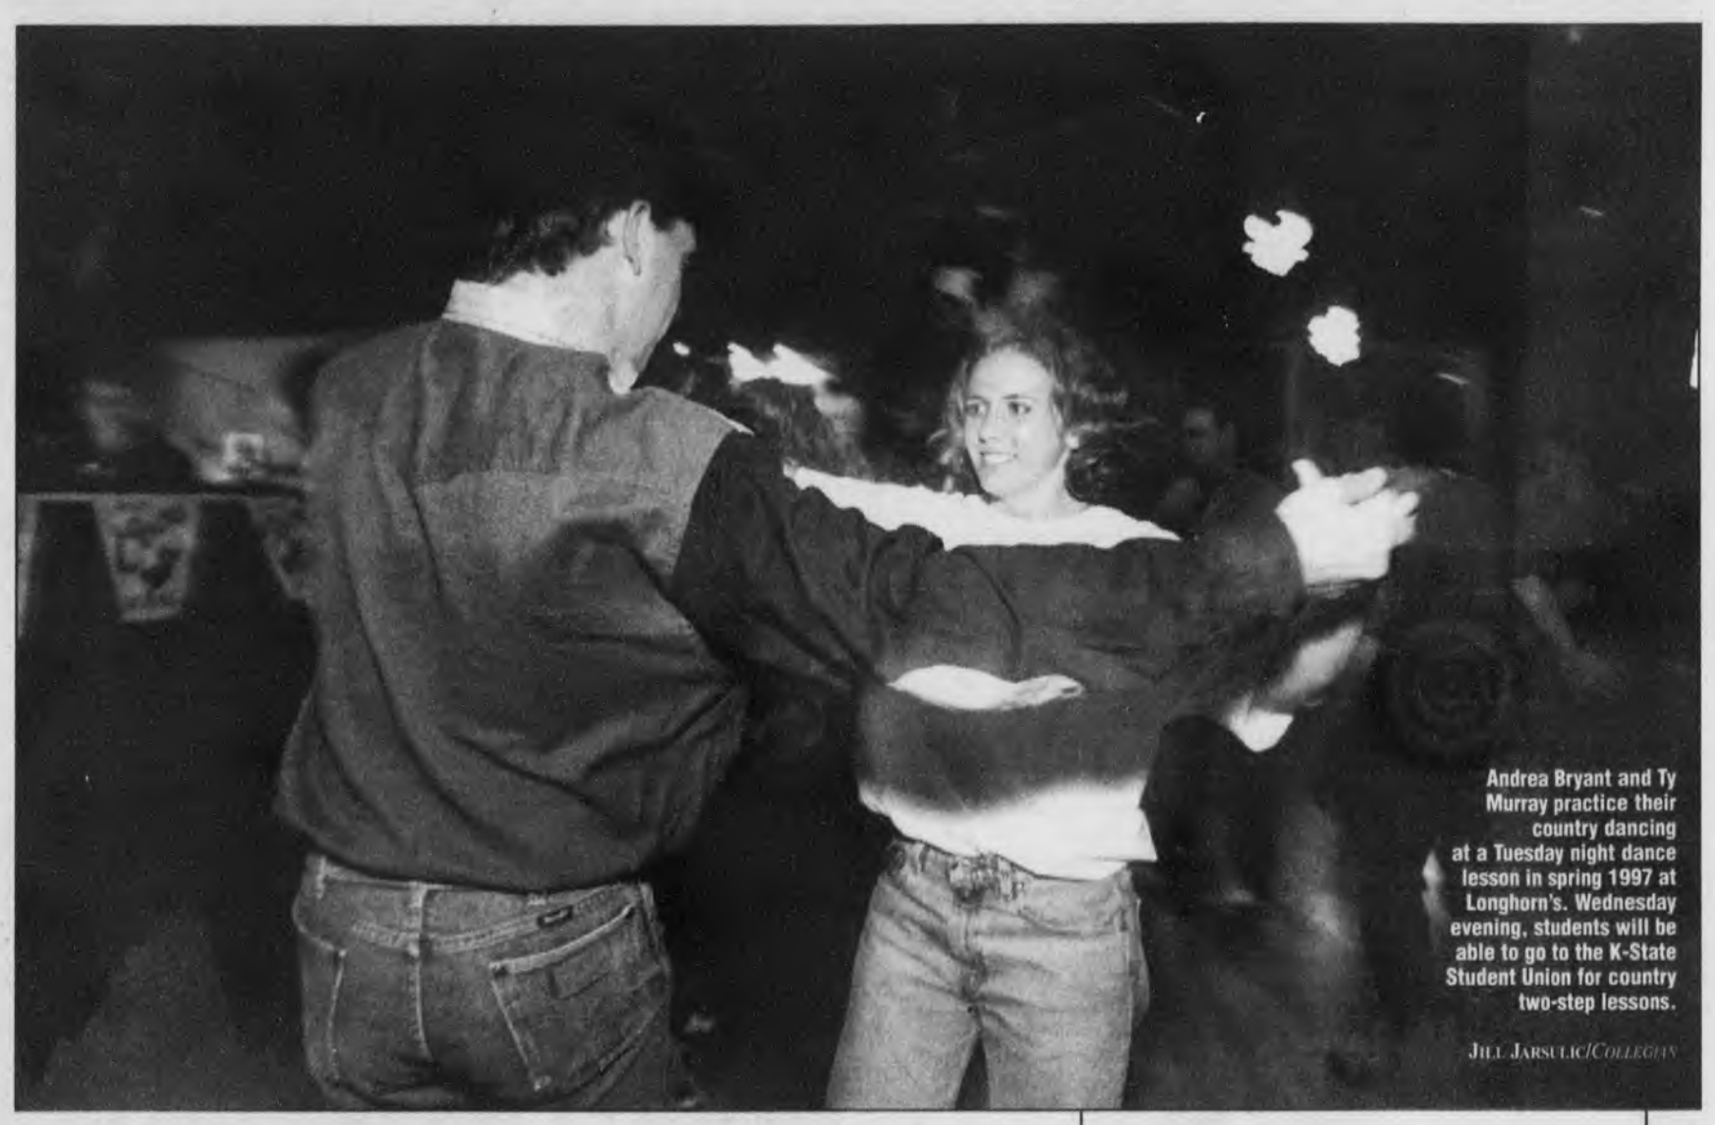
9-1 CRYPTOQUIP

K D Z J B E C D J O T P G Z B S M T B S C E N V K D T J N P V O N S V E M D S W S Z J E G C ? W E G Z D.

Yesterday's Cryptoquip: THERE ONCE WAS THIS COMICAL CHICKEN FARMER WHO WAS FULL OF FUNNY YOLKS.

Today's Cryptoquip clue: B equals M

CRYPTOQUIP BOOK 21 Send $4.50 (check/m.o.) to CryptoClassics Book 2, PO Box 6411, Riverton NJ 08077.



The Cryptoquip is a substitution cipher in which one letter stands for another. If you think that X equals O, it will equal O throughout the puzzle. Single letters, short words and words using an apostrophe give you clues to locating vowels. Solution is by trial and error.

© 1998 by King Features Syndicate, Inc.

HAPPINESS TODAY

BRAD GOOD AND TAYLOR LANSDOWN

Andrea Bryant and Ty Murray practice their country dancing at a Tuesday night dance lesson in spring 1997 at Longhorn's. Wednesday evening, students will be able to go to the K-State Student Union for country two-step lessons.

JILL JARSULIC/COLLEGIAN

Country Time

UPC to offer two-step, waltzing lessons

Pull on those cowboy boots and venture to the K-State Student Union on Wednesday evening. The Union Program Council now is offering waltz and country two-step lessons Wednesday nights through October.

Two-step lessons will begin at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday in the Union Grand ballroom. Waltz lessons will start Sept. 30 in Union Station.

Dennis Law, dean of architecture, planning and design, and his wife, Linda, will be instructing both classes.

Students can sign up ahead of time. The cost to participate in both the two-step and waltz lessons is $18 for an individual and $25 per couple.

To participate in just one class, students will be charged $10 each or $15 per couple.

"We want the participants to have a lot of fun learning the basic steps," Dennis Law said. "By the time they learn all of the steps, they should have a good repertoire of moves."

Law started country dancing with a little encouragement from his wife.

"My wife took me kicking and screaming to dance lessons. That is how it all got started," he said. "From there I have taught lessons at the Scoot-a-Boot dance club."

Scoot-a-Boot is a dance club for country dancers in northeast Kansas. Members are dancers not only from Manhattan, but also Junction City and surrounding areas.

Law said he is hoping for a good turnout Wednesday night.

"I have no idea the number of dancers the Union Ballroom will hold," he said. "I am just hoping for a good turnout and for the participants to learn some new steps while having fun."

UPC program director Teto Henderson said that 70 to 80 couples will have enough room to learn to dance in the Union Grand Ballroom. Union Station is a smaller space and will hold only 20 to 25 couples.

This is not the first year country-dance lessons have been offered.

"We have been offering country-dance lessons to students for a while," Henderson said. "At least three or four years."

Last semester, classic American swing lessons were taught.

"The sessions were pretty well-organized, but there were a lot of students and not much room," Melanie Thomas, junior in agricultural economics, said. "I did learn a lot because I can remember the different moves."

Thomas took the classic American swing lessons with a group of friends.

"It was fun because we could laugh at each other's mistakes," she said. "When we had to switch partners, I could dance with someone that I knew."

CLASS INFO

TWO-STEP:
Every Wed.
Sept. 2 thru
Sept. 23
7:30 p.m.
Union Ballroom

WALTZ:
Every Wed.
Sept. 30 thru
Oct. 21
7:30 p.m.
Union Ballroom

STORIES BY JAMI STUMP

3 local bars provide ideal dancing locations for country music fans

Students can show off their country-dancing moves at any of the three bars in Manhattan that feature hardwood dance floors.

Kickers Saloon and Grill, Longhorn's and Silverado Saloon welcome students to dance, not only over the weekends but also during the week.

Brandon Barr, junior in animal sciences and industry and agricultural education, said he has been to all three bars in Manhattan and is an avid country dancer.

"My favorite place to go is Longhorn's," Barr said. "It always has friendly people. It's a good place to go to meet friends and talk to people."

Longhorn's has no cover charge for women on Wednesday nights.

"Wednesday nights, if you don't have a test and Saturday nights after football games are the best nights to go to Longhorn's," said Barr.

Kickers is host to the annual rodeo dance in the spring that follows the K-State Rodeo in Weber Arena.

"Kickers is really upbeat and the place to go when the rodeo is going on," Barr said.

Kickers also offers dance lessons on Tuesday nights, an option for those who cannot attend the Union Program Council lessons offered on Wednesday nights.

"The weekends are the best nights to come to dance, but if you want to learn, come on Tuesday night," Tracy Bauer, manager of Kickers, said.

Silverado in Aggieville also opens its doors for country dancing and is a favorite of K-State students.

Music Review

APATHY RAN AWAY
★★★★
"Excellent"

Unified One's album very impressive debut

BY JEFF ELLIOTT
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Unified One's debut album, "Apathy Ran Away," offers an unorthodox mix of distortion-fury and soothing piano ballads. The result: Smooth, polished storytelling.

The first track, "Empathy Returned," consists of strong guitar riffs and a catchy chorus. On darker tracks, such as "Hide," frontman and producer Matt Cox presents an "allow me to retort" point of view from someone who has been dumped.

Contrasting "Hide" are "Forever Yours" and "The Romantic," which offer feelings of hope that relationships can work and in the end everything turns out.

"Apathy Ran Away" is an impressive album that will keep listeners' interest no matter what mood they happen to be in.

This album is available at Streetside Records in Aggieville.

The system:
1 star: poor
2 stars: fair
3 stars: good
4 stars: excellent
5 stars: classic

DILBERT

MANN HATTEN

AARON FRUEHLING

CADAVERS

■ continued from page 1

science and practicum student, was doing just that Thursday afternoon. As she worked to expose #7508's facial and neck muscles, Raymond said she had never worked on a human body until last year.

"I thought it was really neat because when you see the muscles instead of just a picture, it makes all the difference," Raymond said.

Doing well in the lab requires more than just time, she said. Being able to tolerate the constant odor of formaldehyde and other preservatives helps.

"You have to get used to the smell. Everything you own smells — your bag, your clothes," Raymond said.

The intense studying also gives rise to "side effects" outside of the lab, she said.

"When I was in Human Body, I dreamt words and body parts all night long," Raymond said.

Jennifer King, sophomore in premedicine, said that's why she also was working on a vein on #7508 outside of lab time.

She dreamt about it the night before. King said her first dissection was last Thursday, and she deliberately avoided food the night beforehand.

"The biggest surprise was I didn't know if I could take it," King said. "It's not as scary as it seems to be. I guess I'm a sick individual. I enjoy this stuff."

The experience of cutting into a leg is still never pristine, though.

"You have to have a stomach for this. I'm serious. If fat gets on your arm, you just have to blow it off," King said.

DOW

■ continued from page 1

The drop of 19.2 percent from the July record is the biggest retreat since a 21.2 percent slide triggered by the Persian Gulf crisis in the summer and fall of 1990.

In the heady bull market that began in October 1990 and saw the Dow nearly quadruple, setbacks were routinely viewed as buying opportunities. Lately, however, traders have been viewing any attempts at a recovery as a selling opportunity.

Doubts about Russia's economic and political stability kept pressure on financial markets around the world. Russia's parliament today overwhelmingly rejected the appointment of Viktor Chernomyrdin as prime minister.

Share prices fell in Europe, undercut by Wall Street's sharp morning retreat. Major stock indexes fell sharply earlier in Hong Kong and Singapore, but Japan posted a modest gain after dropping to a 12-year low Friday.

In Europe, a key index of German stock prices closed down 2.3 percent, and leading market gauges also finished lower in France, Italy, Switzerland and the Netherlands.

Markets in London, the largest in Europe, were closed for a holiday.

Hong Kong's key Hang Seng Index sank 5.7 percent in the first seven minutes of trade today and ended the day with a 7.1-percent decline, falling 554.70 points to 7,275.04.

In Singapore, the benchmark index fell 28.83 points, or 3.25 percent, to a new low of 856.43 after ending below the 900-point level on Friday for the first time in 10 years.

Stock prices rose on the Tokyo Stock Exchange, however, where the benchmark 225-issue Nikkei Stock Average gained 192.26 points, or 1.38 percent, to close at 14,107.89.

Elsewhere in Asia, the key-stock index in Taiwan fell 2.8 percent to finish at a 22-month low, and prices fell 1.4 percent in Australia, but stocks ended up with a 1.8-percent gain in South Korea.

Across Asia, Europe and the Americas, many stock markets fell by big percentages last week. That left some people wondering if the year-old Asian financial crisis and the recessions it has caused in regional powerhouses such as Japan and Hong Kong could spread to the West and sour its economies.

On Sunday, Japan's chief-economic planner, Taichi Sakaiya, proposed an emergency summit of major industrialized countries to address the chaos roiling world-financial markets.

To make matters worse, the ruble's collapse in Russia has set off political and economic instability there.

In Hong Kong today, the Hang Seng Index seemed to fall because the government has reduced its role in trading.

KJ'S

■ continued from page 1

experience shows the opposite is true.

"Believe it or not, it actually cuts down on the problems with minors in possession," Fellows said.

He said fake IDs caused many of the problems because students would use them to get into the club. Now, after switching to the 18-to-enter policy, he said KJ's already has seen a reduction in fines from the Alcohol Beverage Control.

"When ABC was in town last weekend, we probably got hit the least," Fellows said.

Fellows said ABC made three visits to KJ's between Aug. 21 and Aug. 22. KJ's was given two minor-in-possession charges, both on Friday night.

ABC spokeswoman Sheila Walker said KJ's has been the site of 32 ABC arrests since October 1997.

If ABC cites an establishment for a violation of its liquor license, the bar can face fines and temporary or permanent revocation of its license.

In order to reduce the problem of underage drinking at KJ's, the owners said they decided to model policies after a longtime Aggieville establishment.

"I'm doing everything that Kite's used to do," Fellows said.

Patrons who are 21 years old are given one color of a stamp, and underage students are given another, Fellows said. The colors change every night, and only the staff knows them. Also, bouncers walk the floor to check for underage drinking.

KJ's also serves free soda all night for anyone not of legal age or who doesn't drink alcohol.

"A new thing we're doing is Wednesday-night swing contests and twist contests," Fellows said.

One part of the club that Fellows is keeping is a disc jockey from 10 p.m. to 2 a.m. Monday through Saturday nights.

Mike Maris, freshman in agricultural engineering, said he enjoys the change.

"It's nice to have another bar in Aggieville that is 18," Maris said. "Other than being really crowded, it's a pretty good time."

The only other 18-to-enter dance clubs in Aggieville are Longhorn's and Silverado Saloon.

"Unless they like country music, there is no other place for an 18-year-old kid to go," Fellows said.

Under-18 clubs

- Bowinkle's Sports Bar, 3043 Anderson Ave.
- Kickers Saloon & Grill, Blue Hills Shopping Center
- KJ's Bar & Dance Club, 1215 Moro St.
- Longhorn's, 1115 Moro St.
- Silverado Saloon, 531 N. Manhattan Ave.
- Bobby T's Bar & Deli, 3240 Kimball Drive

SUMMIT

■ continued from page 1

arrived in Moscow on Monday and conferred with acting Foreign Minister Yevgeny Primakov. Yeltsin's foreign-policy adviser, Sergei Prikhodko, said Clinton and Yeltsin intend to issue joint statements on economic cooperation and international security and sign agreements on reducing each nation's stockpile of plutonium used in nuclear warheads.

Also on Monday, Vice President Al Gore said there was no need to be alarmed at the growing influence of the political hard-liners in Moscow, including the communists.

"You know the communists in Russia today are not the same as the communists of 50 years ago," Gore told reporters as he flew to Chicago. "The idea that their participation in some coalition will represent a return to Leninism or Stalinism is almost certainly wrong."

In his remarks Monday during an education policy discussion with elementary school teachers and parents in suburban Herndon, Va., Clinton made no direct mention of Yeltsin or of Russian lawmakers' rejection of the appointment of Viktor Chernomyrdin as prime minister.

Instead, Clinton offered praise for the Russian people's refusal to revert to the past.

"The Russian people are to be commended for embracing democracy and getting rid of the old communist system," Clinton said, previewing a theme he is likely to sound during public appearances in Moscow, including a speech today to young Russians.

"What I want to do is to go there and tell them that the easy thing to do is not the right thing to do," he said in an apparent reference to pressure from the communist faction to renationalize some industries and move away from Western-style free enterprise. "The easy thing to do would be to go back to the way they did it before, and it's not possible."

Clinton said Russia can count on American support so long as it stays the course to reform.

"If they will stay on the path of reform to stabilize their society and to strengthen their economy and to get growth back, then I believe America and the rest of the Western nations with strong economies should help them and indeed have an obligation to help them," he said.

Just as demands for Clinton's resignation have come from some Republican critics, Yeltsin's political foes in the State Duma, the communist-led lower chamber of parliament, have called for his resignation. On Friday, Yeltsin declared that he would serve out his term and then not run for re-election in 2000.

Clinton is in a poor position to provide what Russia needs most now — more international financial aid.

Gambino's Pizza®
Free 6 pack of Coke with any medium or large pizza purchased at menu price
*Tuesdays Only
Open late Friday and Saturday nights.
537-9090

American Legion
BINGO!
Sunday 2 p.m.
Tuesday 1:30 p.m.
Wednesday 7:30 p.m.
$1 per card
Up to $300 Cash Prize on Sunday & Wednesday
114 McCall Rd.

Pregnancy Testing Center
539-3338
•Free pregnancy testing
•Totally confidential service
•Same day results
•Call for appointment
Located across from campus in Anderson Village
Mon.-Fri. 9 a.m.-5 p.m.

PIZZA SHUTTLE DELIVERS
776-5577
1800 Claflin Road

Laminated study guides available at
Claflin Books and Copies
1814 Claflin Road 776-3771

collegian Explore it!
http://collegian.ksu.edu

KSU WOMEN'S RUGBY
OPEN PRACTICE
5:00 p.m. Rec Center
Info. Call Christy or Natasha 395-2623

Multi-Engine Flight Training
• Twin Comanche w/HSI, RMI, GPS
• 7,500-Hour ATP Instructor
• Reasonable Rates
• Hugh Irvin
539-3128

50¢ TACOS
chicken or beef, hard or soft shell
4:30 p.m. - 9:30 p.m.
$1 Margaritas (Reg. or Strawberry)
$2 Coronas
$1 Draws
Taco Tuesday
Bobby T's
OPEN 11am-2am
3240 Kimball Ave 537-8383

Intramurals
Captains & Managers Meeting
Wednesday, Sept. 2 at 5 p.m.
Forum Hall at the K-State Student Union
All team captains and managers must be present.
Flag football schedules will be available at the meeting.
Recreational Services Office 532-6980

TINA'S Studio 32 FOR HAIR
Students Are Special!
20% Off A Fashion Cut
(With Your Student ID • Expires 9/30/98)
So take your hat off, go back to school in style with...
776-8830
Candlewood

Want A Challenge?
OFFICER TRAINING SCHOOL
Start your career off on the right foot by enrolling in the Air Force Officer Training School. There you will become a commissioned officer in just 12 weeks. From the start you'll enjoy great pay, complete medical and dental care, 30 days of vacation each year, plus the opportunity to travel and see the world. To discover how high a career in the Air Force can take you, call 1-800-423-USAF, or visit our website at www.airforce.com
AIM HIGH AIR FORCE
www.airforce.com

Say good-bye to MICROWAVE DINNERS...
Tuesday STEAK NIGHT $6.95
8oz. steak served with Rosemary potatoes & corn
2 for 1 WELLS (or $1.25)
537-4045•1129 Laramie

Internet Access
NO BUSY SIGNALS!
• 56K X2 MODEMS
• 64K ISDN
• 20MB WEB SPACE
• 16GB NEWS SERVER
• EXTENDED SUPPORT HOURS
• UNLIMITED INTERACTIVE USAGE
$14.95 per month
NETWORKS PLUS + 587-4121

TITANIC TUESDAY
50¢ DRAWS $1.50 MIXED DRINKS
LONGHORNS
1115 MORO • 776-8770
Come see TITANIC on the BIG SCREEN again for the first time.

SKYDIVE!
Learn how with the K-State Parachute Club
Fall Class Schedule:
Sept. 11-12, 18-19
Oct. 2-3, 16-17, 30-31
Informational Meeting
Sept. 1, 7:30 p.m.
in the Union Little Theatre
For more info contact
ksupc@ksu.edu
www.ksu.edu/ksupc

InterKan.Net, Inc.
No busy signals since August 1997
Reliable Dial-up Internet Access
1106 R Laramie • 565-0991
10 a.m.-6 p.m. Mon.-Fri.
Noon-5 p.m. Sat.
No Set-up fee with Credit Card payment. www.interkan.net

OPEN DANCE AUDITIONS
WinterDance '98
Wednesday, September 2
5:00pm Ahearn Gym
Rehearsal to begin immediately
NO PREPARATION OR EXPERIENCE NECESSARY
for more information contact KSU Dance Program 532-6875

Kevin Ross, sophomore in electrical engineering, lets a soccer ball fly into the net after it was kicked by James Fisher, sophomore in civil engineering, during a Monday afternoon workout at Memorial Stadium.

Steve Hebert/Kansas State Collegian

Hobos gather, want to negotiate with railroads

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

KANSAS CITY, Mo. — They ride the rails and depend on the kindness of strangers to survive, keeping their dreams in their heads and carrying their possessions on their backs.

It used to be that hobos lived in peace with those around them. But now railroads, their main transportation, have become less welcoming. Businesses near the tracks have become more suspicious, and police have become less tolerant of their unconventional lifestyle.

About 200 self-described hobos are gathering over the next two weeks at a camp in the East Bottoms, an industrial area in northern Kansas City.

The meeting is supposed to lead to an agreement between railroad lines and hobos to work together.

"See, if they'll agree to let us ride the trains — which we're going to do anyway — we'll agree not to damage or pilfer anything on their trains — and we don't do those things now, anyway," Liberty Justice of Raytown said. "We'll also promise to help them stop anyone else doing those things."

Sgt. John Cisper of the Kansas City Police Department's East Patrol Division said police had not had any reports of trouble stemming from the gathering.

"I heard they were passing through," he said. "But we've had no problems reported yet."

Justice started the group, called H.O.B.O. — Help Our Brothers Overcome — several years ago. They were called to gather here through the "Hobo Internet," a collection of rail riders who have e-mail addresses, either privately or through public libraries.

They insist they get what they need either through the trash or the kindness of strangers.

"We're hobos, not bums," Justice said.

A hobo named Tuck, who came to the camp about a week ago, has been riding the rails for 22 years, since he was 15, but he worries about the future of his way of life.

"There ain't no wrong trains out there," he said. "Just different ways of getting someplace. But it's getting rough to find a place to settle for a while, people saying you can't stay here, you can't stay there. And all we want is to be left alone."

Mark Davis, spokesman for Union Pacific Railroad in Omaha, Neb., said Monday he had not heard about the hobo gathering. But, he said, Union Pacific would not change its mind about removing people who try to ride its freight trains.

"We'd listen to what they have to say," Davis said. "But the message will be to them that it's for their own safety that we will not encourage people to ride on freight trains. ... People get injured sometimes or killed when they try to get on or off a moving train.

"The romantic riding the rails of the '30s, '40s and '50s has changed in the '90s. There's more violent crime around," Davis said. "There's that criminal element that wants to injure or kill the person who is trying to ride."

Great Britain mourns Diana one year later; royal family attends private Service

By KRISTIN GAZLAY
The Associated Press

LONDON — With thousands of flowers, heartfelt notes and hymns in London's great cathedrals, Britons marked the first anniversary of Princess Diana's death Monday. Away from the public eye, her somber young sons and the royal family prayed together.

Wearing black ties as a symbol of their mourning, Prince William, 16, and Prince Harry, 13, entered the tiny stone church near Balmoral Castle in Scotland flanked by their father, Prince Charles, Queen Elizabeth II and other royal relatives.

William, the lanky physical embodiment of his mother, hung his head and mostly was shielded from the cameras. Harry showed no expression.

In London, outside the palace where Diana lived, and in Paris, near the mouth of the traffic tunnel where she died in a car crash, crowds gathered to pay their respects or merely to view the event.

Many left flowers, stuffed animals and lovingly rendered portraits of the princess, just as they did — though in vastly larger numbers — in the days after her death.

"It's the thing to do," said Maureen Poole of London, clutching a bunch of carnations at Kensington Palace. "To just come when she dies and to never come again, especially this first year, would seem empty."

"Every year, Aug. 31st, we will always remember," read one scrawled card nestled in a pile of bouquets at the palace.

At Diana's ancestral home in Althorp, 75 miles north of London, her brother, Earl Spencer, and her sisters, Lady Sarah McCorquodale and Lady Jane Fellowes, planned a service overlooking her burial site on an island in an ornamental lake.

More than 1,000 people packed London's Westminster Cathedral for a special afternoon Requiem Mass, while St. Paul's Cathedral, site of Diana's 1981 marriage to Charles, scheduled an evening service for the public.

Hundreds also flocked to Harrods department store to sign books of condolence for owner Mohamed Al Fayed, whose son Dodi was Diana's boyfriend and died with her in the crash. Their driver, Henri Paul, who was legally drunk at the time, also died.

"It has been a horrendous day," said Al Fayed, who mingled with visitors to Harrods after spending the morning with his family at his son's tomb on the family estate at Oxted, 20 miles south of London. "I just came here because thousands of people were waiting for me."

Harrods unveiled two 8-foot bronze memorials featuring framed photographs of Diana and Dodi Fayed mounted above a pool of water. Gilded seagulls and interlocking gold "D"s surround the photos. One of the memorials will go to Paris while Al Fayed will keep the other at his home.

Asked if he had a message for the royal family, Al Fayed said, "I feel sorry for the princes. The two children, to have their mother, is so important. But I am suffering, too. I lost my son."

In deference to Diana, the queen ordered the national flag, the Union Jack, to be flown at half-staff Monday on government buildings and royal residences.

She issued a statement Sunday thanking people "for their messages and kind gestures of sympathy at this sad time and for sharing their remembrance of the Princess of Wales."

During the royal family's private service in Crathie parish in Scotland, the Rev. Robert Sloan mentioned Diana by name in prayers and read Psalm 23 — "The Lord is my shepherd, I shall not want" — and from chapter 40 of Isaiah, "Comfort ye my people, sayeth your God."

After the 20-minute service, Diana's sons left the church and resolutely ignored the news media. They were accompanied by 11 royal relatives and Prime Minister Tony Blair and his wife, Cherie.

In Paris, Dr. Frederic Mailliez, the off-duty French doctor who was the first to attend to the 36-year-old princess after the accident, revisited the Place de l'Alma just outside the traffic tunnel where the crash occurred.

"I wish I could have done more," he said, fighting back tears. He said he was overwhelmed by the number of people who recognized him and reassured him that he had done all he could.

"I know I did my best, but she could have lived 50 years longer," Mailliez said. "It was not the first accident I went to, and it won't be the last. But this one was very hard because the victim was famous and very precious."

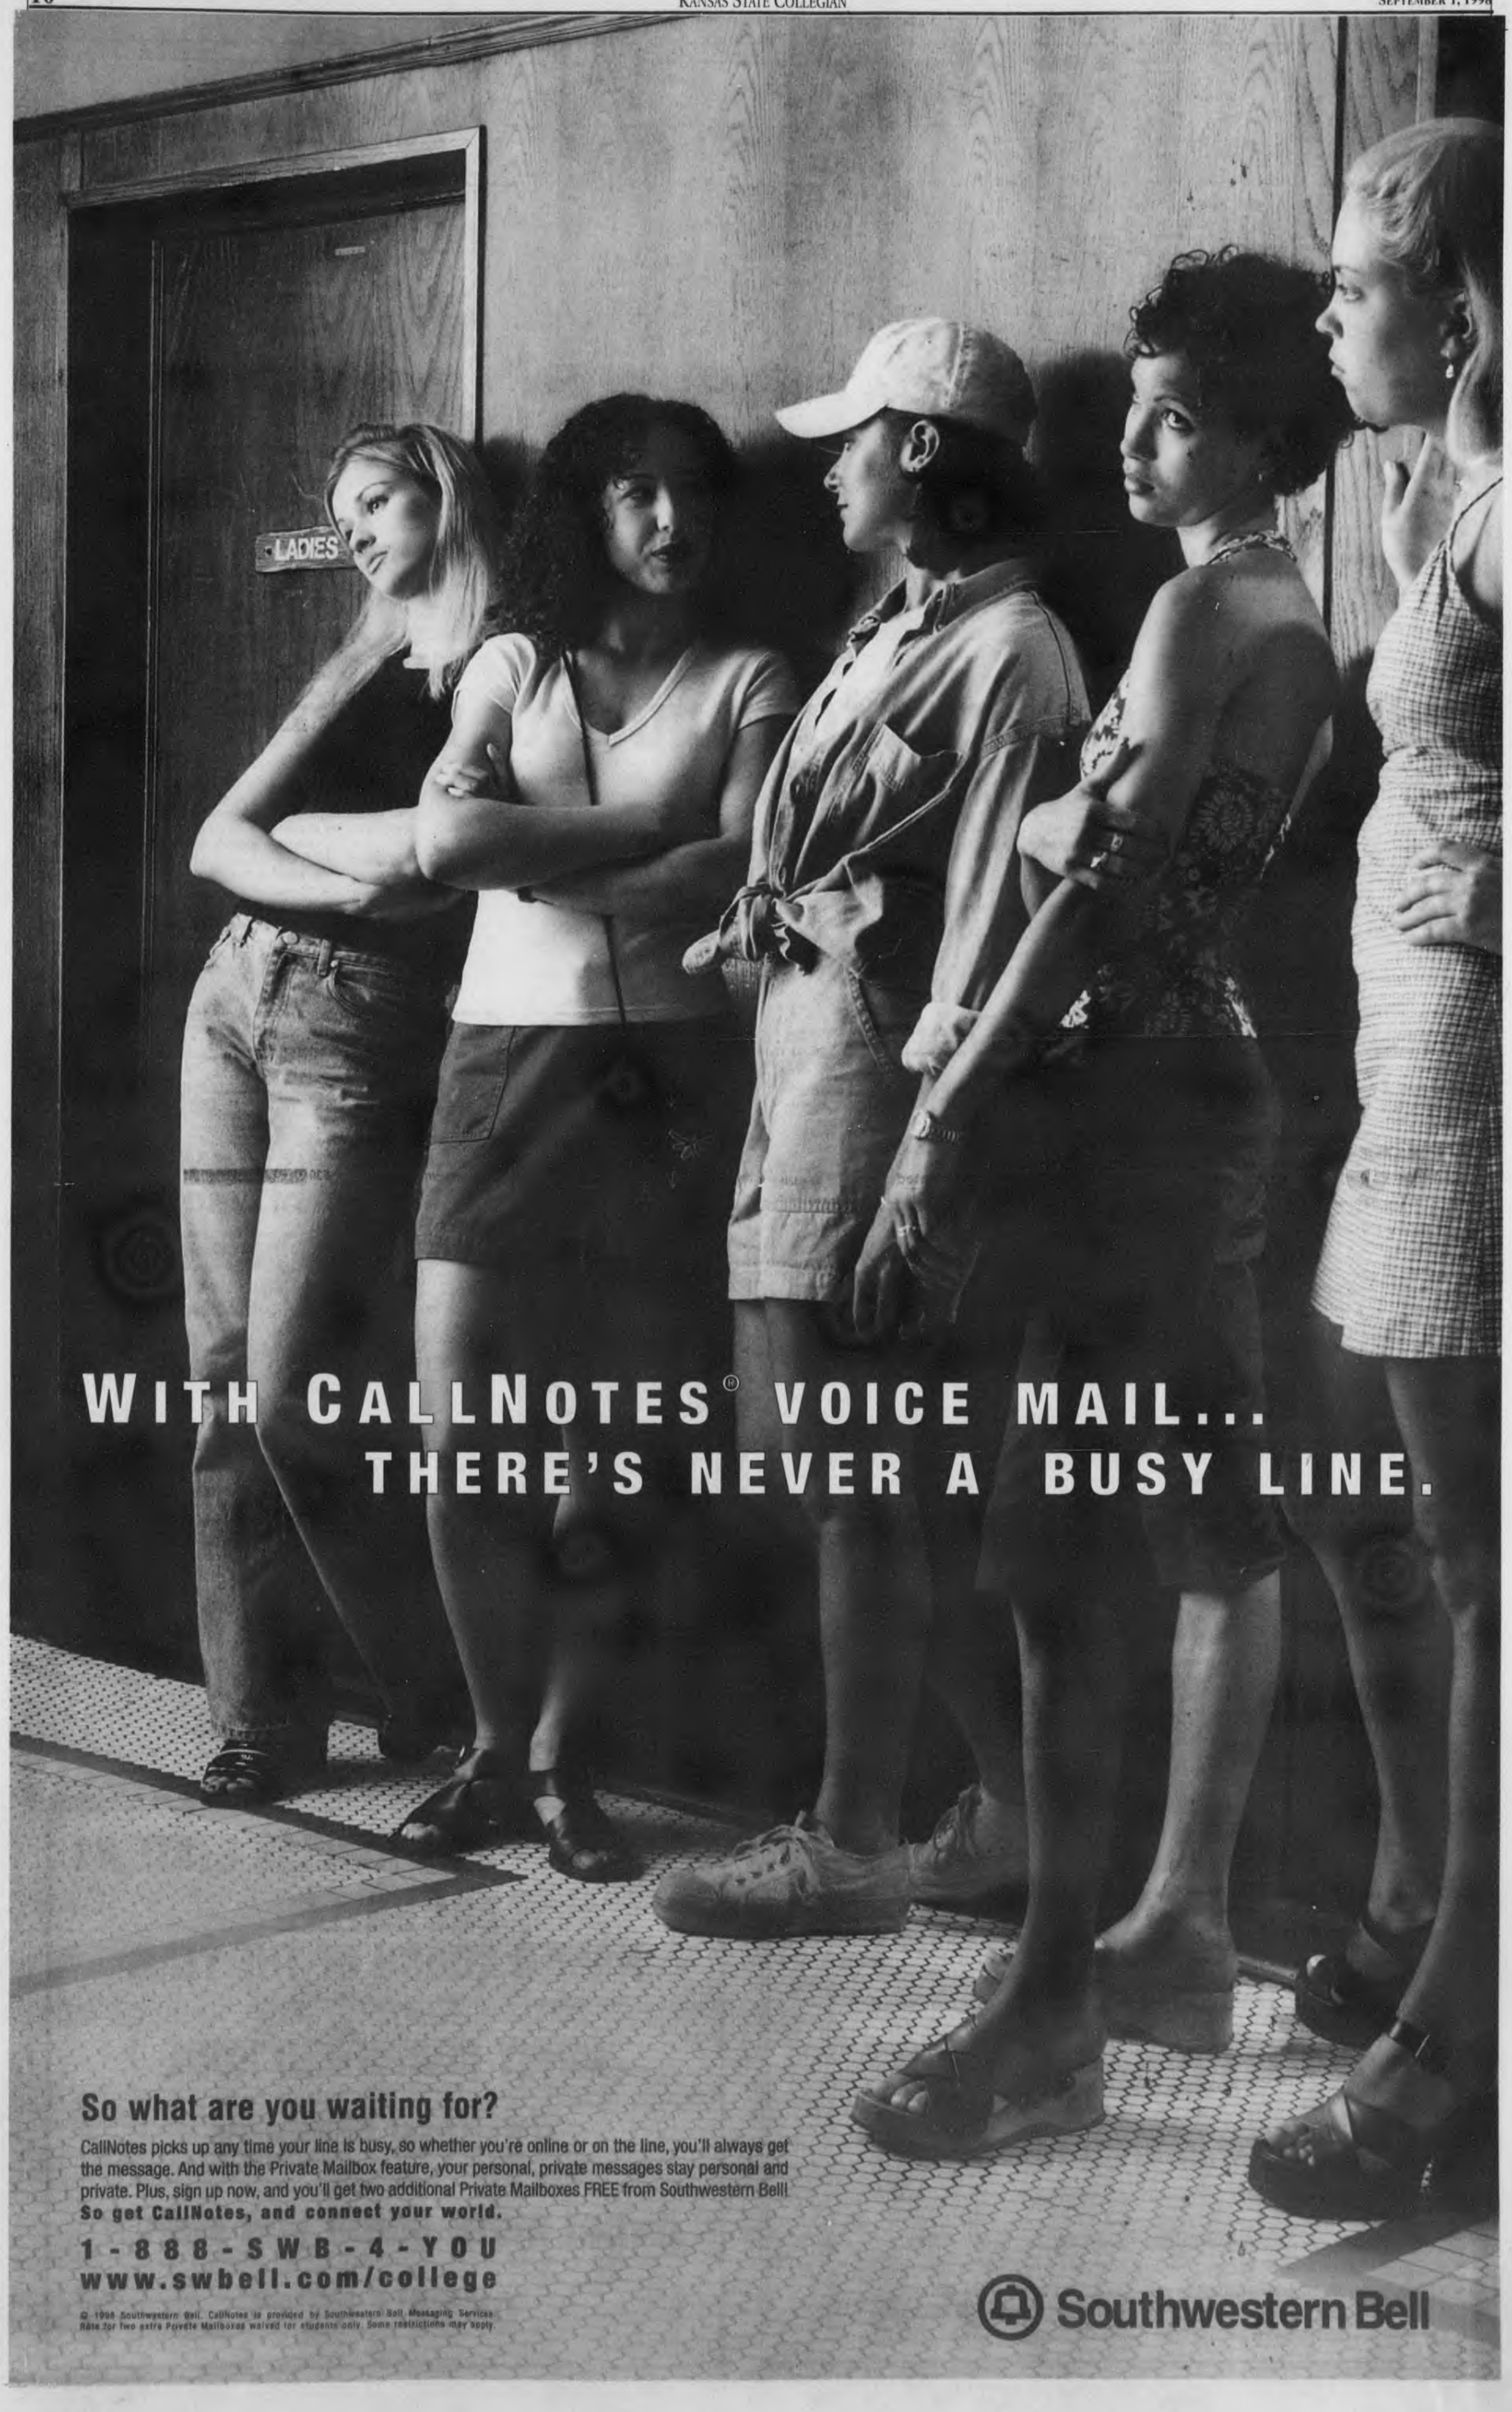
Cut your costs in half wit ht hese couponl

HIT THE TRAIL SALE
MOUNTAIN BIKES AS LOW AS $199.95
V-LOCKS STARTING AT $9.99
OVER 50 MODELS OF BIKES ON SALE
the PATHFINDER
OUTDOOR EQUIPMENT SPECIALISTS
304 POYNTZ 539-5639

HUNAM Restaurant
1304 Westloop
One coupon per person
539-8888 · 539-0888
$1.50 off
Evening Buffet 5-8:30 p.m.
Free Delivery (minimum $8 purchase)
(not valid with any other offer) exp. 9/8/98

LUNCH BUFFET
Featuring enchiladas, tacos, tostadas, and much more including desserts.
Mon.-Fri. 11-2 p.m.

Only $3.99
Reg. $4.95 Save $$
present coupon prior to ordering•one coupon per person please
Raoul's Escondido Mexican Restaurant
215 Seth Child Rd. Across from Seth Child Cinema
Manhattan 539-3410 exp. 10/30/98



Upset that you are missing out on all the great events happening at K-State and in the Manhattan community? Are you searching for something that can keep you current on what is going on around town?

Well, look no further!

www.ksu.edu/events

www.ksu.edu/events is your comprehensive guide to all K-State related events. You are now able to access information regarding on-campus events, including event days, dates, times, locations and admission prices. Call Office of Student Activities and Services for more information (785) 532-6541.

PLAYBOY PICKS KANSAS STATE #1
BILL SNYDER
NAMED COACH OF THE YEAR plus
CINDY CRAWFORD NUDE
OCTOBER PLAYBOY
What more could you want?
ON SALE NOW!
©1998 PLAYBOY

LADIES
WITH CALLNOTES® VOICE MAIL...
THERE'S NEVER A BUSY LINE.
So what are you waiting for?
CallNotes picks up any time your line is busy, so whether you're online or on the line, you'll always get the message. And with the Private Mailbox feature, your personal, private messages stay personal and private. Plus, sign up now, and you'll get two additional Private Mailboxes FREE from Southwestern Bell!
So get CallNotes, and connect your world.
1-888-SWB-4-YOU
www.swbell.com/college
© 1998 Southwestern Bell. CallNotes is provided by Southwestern Bell Messaging Services. Rate for two extra Private Mailboxes waived for students only. Some restrictions may apply.
Southwestern Bell

DEADLINES

Classified ads must be placed by noon the day before you want your ad to run. Classified display ads must be placed by 4 p.m. two working days prior to the date you want your ad to run. CALL 532-6555

CLASSIFIEDS

SEPTEMBER 1, 1998

000 BULLETIN BOARD

010

Announcements

ADVANCED FLIGHT TRAINING from 7,500-hour ATP instructor. Private single-engine through ATP multiengine. Hugh Irvin, 539–3128 evenings.

BIG DAWG Marina has Jet skis and pontoon boats for rent. 776-3113.

DISCOVER SCUBA: Complete lessons, low cost, college credit available. Aggie Dive Shop, 539-DIVE.

FREE FOOTBALL tickets. Register at Mr. P's Party Outlet, 318 Poyntz Ave.

LEARN TO FLY! K-State Flying Club has five airplanes, lowest rates. For information call 537-8406.

SCUBA learn to dive at the only PADI approved dive center in the area, full line of equipment in stock, two instructors, earn college credit. Classes forming weekly. Call Creative Travel and Scuba. 539-0531.

020

Lost and Found

Found ads can be placed free for three days.

FOUND: MEDIUM black and white dog, red collar. Call Erika, 539–5980.

FOUND: MICROCASSETTE tape recorder between Moore and West Halls. 532–1275.

LOST: RED female tabby shorthair, front paws declawed, white rings on tail. Lost since Saturday August 29. 565–0783.

LOST: WALLET and checkbook August 24. Reward if found. Please call (785)761–7481, ask for Vaughn.

100 HOUSING/REAL ESTATE

105

For Rent- Apts. Furnished

FOR RENT. Two-bedroom, one and one-half bath furnished apartment. Directly across from campus. No pets. Call Laura. 587-8969.

LIVING QUARTERS furnished, with the use of a Kiln and a Wheel. Utilities provided $250 a month. 587–0648, 1601 Baltimore.

ONE-BEDROOM BASEMENT, fireplace, walk to campus. Quiet, gas and water paid. No pets, no smoking. Lease, $250 deposit, $325/ month. 537-3737

TWO-BEDROOM BASEMENT apartment. Close to campus, $410, all utilities paid except cable television. 776–1214.

TWO-BEDROOM FURNISHED apartment. New carpet, microwave, close to campus, $450, all utilities paid except cable television. 776–1214.

UNIVERSITY COMMONS. Available: fully furnished, individual leases, washer/ dryer in each unit, roommate matching service, pool, sand vollleyball, lighted tennis and basketball courts, monitored security, reserved parking. No appointment necessary. M-F 9a.m.- 6p.m., 10a.m.-4p.m., 539-0500.

110

For Rent- Apt. Unfurnished

MOVE IN TODAY
1& 4 Bedrooms All close to campus
ABBOTT management, inc.
Call 776-1340

A THREE-BEDROOM, spacious, one-half block to KSU, central air and heat, pets OK, $540, 776-8455.

ACROSS STREET from campus, four-bedroom, appliances, central air/heat off-street parking. 539-2632.

AUGUST FREE! Two-bedroom, spacious, dishwasher, $395-$425. 776-8455.

AVAILABLE NOW. Studio and one-bedrooms, some furnished. Most utilities paid. Clean and quiet, central locations, some pets accepted. 537-8389.

Now Available! Large 2-Bedrooms
Sandstone Apts.
Cambridge Sq. Apts.
Hill Investments
537-9064

AVAILABLE NOW. Two-bedroom apartment, all appliances including washer/ dryer. Good access to campus! Call 537–1918.

FOUR-BEDROOM CLOSE to campus, two bath, dishwasher, central air/heat, water/trash paid. Free laundry, good price. 537-2255 or 537-7810.

9 Month Lease
2 & 3 Bedroom Specials
539-2951

FOUR-BEDROOM, TWO bath 1300 square feet. Water/ trash paid. Discounted cable with HBO. 776–3663.

LARGE THREE-BEDROOM well lit basement, close to campus, 1729 Laramie, new stove and refrigerator, washer/ dryer hook-ups, heat/ water/ trash paid. $570. 537–2099, 539–8052.

WOODWAY APARTMENTS
STOP!
DO NOT RENT AN APARTMENT UNTIL YOU CONSIDER THIS!
- Sparkling swimming pool
- Spacious decks/patios
- Avail. June 5 Aug. 6
- Kitchen Appliances include microwave and dishwasher
- On site laundry facilities
- Economical gas heat

3 BDRM, 2 BATH $714, $723
4 BDRM, 2 BATH $836, $856

Office: 2400 Kimball Ave. at College Ave. (Across from Bramlage) Call Sara at 537-7007 for an appointment.

NOW LEASING one to four-bedroom apartments/ houses. Call Alliance Property Management. 539–4357 for current list.

ONE- OR TWO-BEDROOM. No pets, smoking, drinking. 539–1554.

ONE-BEDROOM BASEMENT apartment. Refridgerator, stove, laundry. $325/ month, utilities included. 1859 Platt (one block from campus). 539–8612, 532-3742 or e-mail tar@pobox.com

ONE-BEDROOM, $290. 539-8401.

Chase Manhattan Apartments
1,2,3, or 4 person occupancy. Short term leases available. Water and Trash paid. Discounted cable package HBO, Encore, and Expanded Basic.
Call us Today 776-3663

REASONABLE, LARGE one-bedroom basement, one-half block from university. 539-8856

STUDIO, $280, air-conditioning, bills paid. 539-8401.

THREE-BEDROOM, $390. 539-8401.

THREE-BEDROOM, AUGUST free, washer/ dryer, huge, $540. 776-8455.

THREE-BEDROOM, TWO bath apartment available for August. Very spacious. Dishwasher, microwave, pool, laundry and carports. Call Sara at 537–7007.

TWO, THREE and four-bedroom apartments water/ trash paid, discounted cable with HBO, Going fast. 776–3663.

TWO-BEDROOM, $320. 539-8401.

TWO-BEDROOM, CENTRAL air, laundry hook-ups, dishwasher, $400. No pets. Nine month lease. 513 S. Manhattan Avenue. 539–2255.

UNIVERSITY TERRACE APARTMENTS. College Ave. Large three-bedroom apartments with washer, dryer hook-ups. 537-2096.

115

Rooms Available

CHRISTIAN FAMILY who has large home near Ramada Inn, wants female college girl to live in. Will provide board and room in exchange for chores. Write c/o Collegian, Box 3, .

THIRD ROOMMATE needed. One-bedroom in three-bedroom house, minutes from campus. Call 539-9426.

120

For Rent- Houses

1106 KEARNEY- one and one-half blocks from campus. Three-bedrooms, one bath, kitchen, living room, washer and dryer hookups. Available September 1, 1998, $650/ month. Century 21 Knight Real Estate, 537-2111.

A PLEASANT house two blocks from campus. Fireplace, washer/ dryer, dishwasher. Please call 537–7848 or 776-6225.

BASEMENT APARTMENT for rent until June 1, 1999. Call 776-0726 for more information.

FOR RENT three-bedroom house. $500/ month, four blocks from campus at 825 Thurston. (785) 336-2669.

FOUR LARGE bedrooms, two bath, washer/dryer. Near KSU. Redecoration just being completed. No pets. 539-8580.

KSU THREE BLOCKS. Three-bedroom, one bath, central air, laundry hook-ups, garage, small pets considered, 1517 Pipher. 539-4087, leave message.

THREE-BEDROOM, AIR-CONDITIONING, $510. 539-8401.

THREE-BEDROOM, CLOSE to campus, attached garage. Stove, refrigerator. Available immediately. (765)463–5014.

TWO, TWO-BEDROOM houses available. One located in town and one in country. Stove, refrigerator, air-conditioning. No pets. 539-1975 or (785) 396-4344.

135

For Sale- Mobile Homes

DON'T WASTE your money on rent, when you could own: 16'x70' 1986 Schult. Sunken living room, vaulted ceiling, built-in china hutch, lots of cabinet space, large kitchen, dining room, two large bedrooms, one bath, refrigerator, stove, dishwaser, 8'x8' deck, fenced yard, swing set, new paint, new shingled roof, great location, Bergman school. Must see to appreciate. Call for showing 776–3226.

MOBILE HOME in country for sale. 15 minutes west of campus. Buy the home and rent four acre lot. Lot includes horse barn. Home is on 160 acres, pasture rented separately but accessible. 532-1144 or (785) 286-1891.

145

Roommate Wanted

FEMALE ROOMMATE for three-bedroom apartment, $177/ month plus one-third utilities. 565-9074.

FEMALE ROOMMATE sharing a two-bedroom apartment. Non-smoker. Water and trash paid for. $212 rent. Contact Brandi at (785) 387-2206.

FEMALE ROOMMATE to share NICE two-bedroom apartment across from college. $260 a month. 776-4891.

FEMALE ROOMMATE wanted for two-bedroom apartment close to campus and Aggieville. $175/ month, no deposit required. Call Jill, 770–9393.

FEMALE ROOMMATE wanted. Move in now, September and October rent paid for. Cambridge Square Apartments. Deposit paid, $270/ month. (316) 773–1627.

FEMALE ROOMMATE, non-smoker for two-bedroom mobile home. Furnished, $155 plus one-half KPL. 587-0157.

MALE NEEDED for furnished basement. Washer/ dryer without meter. No smoking, drinking, or pets. Walk to class. 539–1554

MALE TO share three-bedroom house close to campus. Washer/ dryer, dishwasher and fireplace, $220/ month, one-fourth utilities. 537–4580, leave message.

NEED ROOMMATE for four-bedroom house. Affordable, furnished, one block from campus. Move in as soon as possible. Call Angie at 776–3080 preferably around 4:20p.m.

PHD STUDENT/ GTA is looking for socially responsible housemates. $350/ month, utilities included/ not phone. Contact: renner@ksu.edu or 770–8309 (h) 1-888-ESL-KNOW (w).

ROOMMATE WANTED for farm house. Place for horse, $130/ month plus share of utilities. 539–2029.

ROOMMATES NEEDED to share four-bedroom house at 610 Laramie. $200 plus one-fourth utilities. 776–3108, leave message.

SEPTEMBER RENT reduced. Male/ female to share four-bedroom house one-half mile to campus and Aggieville. 537-5109.

200 SERVICE DIRECTORY

240

Musicians/DJs

VOCALIST/ RHYTHM player wants to start or get into a country band. Call 587-8403 ask for Scott.

300 EMPLOYMENT/OPPORTUNITIES

310

Help Wanted

BABYSITTER(S) NEEDED in our home for a happy one year old. Two shifts available 8 a.m. to noon and 1 p.m. to 5 p.m. weekdays. (785) 395-3115.

BLUEVILLE NURSERY is accepting applications for part-time and full-time temporary employes with the following skills: Garden Store Sales, Lawn Sprinkler Installation, Landscape Installation, and Landscape Maintenance. Must be available at least 20 hours per week in full one-half day blocks (8-12) or (1-5). Apply in person at Blueville Nursery, Inc., 4539 Anderson. E.O.E.

CALLING ALL PERFORMERS! Can you work a crowd? Are you looking for a new venue to try a new act, play a new song, or perform street theater? WE HAVE THE AUDIENCE All we need is you! Your audiences are hungry customers waiting in the lobby of Derby Dining Center, contemplating what to eat and where to go. Solo or group acts are welcome. Start your career at The Derb'! We pay bottom dollar, but will give you the best meal in town. Call Mr. "E," 532-6483, or email at medwards@ksu.edu.

CARPENTER OR trainee needed. Local, Monday-Thursday 40 hour work schedule. Good work habits and employment references required. Borst Restoration- 776–1460.

CLEANING: FOR non-smoking student in a home adjacent to campus. Send resume to Collegian Box 4.

COMPUTER PROGRAMMER. 20 hours/ week, hours flexible. Knowledge of C/C++. Undergraduates only. Apply in Throckmorton 1011 by September 11. For more information call 532-7236 or 532-5731.

DISHWASHER NEEDED! Evening shift. Manhattan Country Club. Apply in person, 1531 N. 10th Street.

FALL JOURNALISM Interns Wanted - Design and build promotional flyers, posters and advertisements at the K-State Student Union, assist in design layout and copy writing for the monthly employee newsletter and quarterly renovation newsletter, write and distribute news releases, assist in the upkeep and design for the Union Web site. Must exhibit knowledge of Quark XPress and working knowledge of Macintosh computers. Interns will learn and utilize Pagemaker, Freehand, Photoshop, Quark XPress, scanners, and will experience a real working environment. Interships are not a paid position, but students will receive college credit hours. For more information, call the Marketing and Finance Dept., K-State Student Union, and ask for Cindie or Jeff, 532-5753 or 532-6604.

INTERNET SUPPORT: Networks + has openings for weekend internet support, $7/ hour. E-mail resume in MSWord or text format to morgan@networksplus.com

PART-TIME DELIVERY DRIVERS . Gambino's Pizza now hiring drivers. Must be 18, own dependable car. Apply in person at 2708 Anderson. Base wage, tips and delivery fees. $6- $9/ hour.

PART-TIME EMPLOYMENT- Want a GREAT part-time job, working on a GREAT team, in a GREAT on-campus location? Derby, Kramer, and Van Zile Dining Centers are hiring KSU students for service and custodial positions. Beginning pay $5.30 per hour. Raises scheduled. Very flexible, you choose the times you want to work. Morning, noon, evening, and weekend hours available. Apply in person between the hours of 9:00 a.m.-4:00 p.m. at Derby Dining Center(room 129), Kramer Dining Center (hiring office), or Van Zile Dining Center (foodservice office). AA/EOE.

PART-TIME POSITION distributing advertising material on campus. No selling involved, all materials provided free of charge. 1-800-YOUR-JOB. www.ccmnet.com/postering/yourjob.htm.

PART-TIME POSITION: One day per week grinding feed on farm close to Manhattan. Call evenings, (785)396–4328.

RILEY COUNTY has a position available for a computer intern. Knowledge of installation and setup of computer software (Windows 95, Windows 3.11, and Microsoft Office) is required. Experience in installing computer hardware components (network cards, CD roms, modems, and hard drives) is required. Some knowlegde of networks a plus. Appplications may be obtained from Riley County Clerk's Office, 110 Courthouse Plaza, Manhattan, KS 66502 until the postition is filled.

SPRING BREAK '99-- Sell Trips, Earn Cash & Go Free! STS is now hiring campus reps. Lowest rates to Jamaica, Mexico and Florida. Call 800-648-4849 or apply online at www.ststravel.com

STUDENT HELP needed 2a.m.- 6a.m. every other day. Apply Printing Services, 10 Kedzie.

TECHNICAL SUPPORT position available for K-State undergraduate student with a variety of skills. Must have good interpersonal and problem solving skills. Experience with PC's and popular software packages such as Word Perfect, Quattro Pro and Windows applications desired. Must have understanding of MS-DOS and Windows. Summer availability necessary. Network experience preferred. Applications available/accepted through September 4, 1998 in 211 Umberger Hall. (Department of Communications, Information and Educational Technology.)

TRUCK, COMBINE and grain cart operators for fall harvest. Send resume and hours available to Rt. 1 Box 3 Wamego, KS 66547. (785) 456-2725.

TUTORING HIGH school students for K-State's Upward Bound Math and Science Program. Contact: Lynne Davy at 532-6374 for application.

WRESTLING COACH, middle/ high school, October-February, 3p.m.- 6p.m. Contact Tim Kite, Onaga High School, 500 High St, Onaga, KS 66521, (785)889–4251.

400 OPEN MARKET

405

Wanted to Buy

WANTED- STUDENT section football tickets. Call Janece at 395–2801.

410

Items for Sale

ANTIQUES, COLLECTIBLES, tools, books, furniture, estate jewelry, beer signs, thousands of curious goods. Time Machine Antique Maul and Flea Market. 4910 Skyway Dr. between Briggs and airport. 539–4684.

CABLE DESCRAMBLER kit only $14.95. See all the pay channels. 1-800-752-1389.

FOR SALE: Color printer, Java software, two tents, photographer's easel. 537-2497 Russ.

ONE BED- Queen size (one year old). One television- Panasonic (one year old). 537–6192 (night), 532–6234 (day).

WHIRLPOOL UPRIGHT freezer, guaranteed to work, can deliver. Dehumidifier, television stand. Call 539–8643, evenings.

415

Furniture to Buy/Sell

NEW FULL-SIZE and queen-size mattress sets, still in plastic. Full - $165, Queen - $195. 776-8185.

435

Computers

ACER 200MHZ, with 32 meg RAM, 4.1GB H.D., Sony 100mx monitor and Lexmark color printer, Windows 95, Office 97, Via Voice, and much more software included, under warranty. (Over $2000 new, 1st $1000 takes it all). Bonus: four tickets to Sawyer Brown/Toby Keith concert to buyer. 539-9564.

HAVE YOUR inkjet cartridges professionally refilled! Low as $14. Call for information, 539–8011.

MAC PERFORMA 6400/180. 56 MB RAM, 1.6 GB HD, modem, CD ROM, $850 without monitor, $1300 with monitor. 565-9612.

MICROSOFT OFFICE '97 Professional, full version, unopened, unregistered, $75. 1-800-416-3594.

450

Pets and Supplies

FOR SALE: Two year old iguana with cage and accessories. For information call Jen at 587–9625.

FREE TO good homes: kittens and cats, 9 weeks to one and one-half years, males and females. One fixed year old very mellow male. All box trained. (785) 456-8495 after 6 p.m.

LOVING, FEMALE 15 month old AKC yellow labrador for sale. Call 537-2059 to make offer.

REGISTERED PERSIANS, one male, one female, $200. 587–0952 after 5p.m.

REPTILES GALORE! Ball python sale! Only $45.99 each. Corn snakes $36.99. Lowest prices around. Pets-N-Stuff, 1105 Waters.

SEE OUR precious Himalayan and Maine Coon kittes at Pets-N-Stuff. 1105 Waters. 539-9494.

TWO FERRETS descented, sterilized, three-story cage with tunnels, toys. Needs someone to play with $50 for all. 539-1086.

TWO WHITE kittens need a home. Ten weeks old. Please call 539-6805.

460

Electronic Equipment

L.A. SOUND 150 watt amp. with built in cross-over and 15" crunch sub. Selling together. Like new $200. 556-3666 or 539-7530.

465

Tickets to Buy/Sell

ONE GENERAL Admission ticket for sale for Indiana State. Accepting offers until Thursday at 12 midnight. Call 776–6604. Ask for Michael.

500 TRANSPORTATION

510

Automobiles

1986 MERCURY Sable $975. High mileage both runs and looks great. 1988 Ford Festiva 4-speed $1050 serious inquiries only. 395-7451.

1988 HONDA Civic, 4-door Sedan DX, 5-speed, air-conditioning, 140K, runs great. $1700. Call 565-9625.

1989 FORD Tempo four-door, air-conditioning, stereo, new tires/ muffler. Well taken care of, $1800 or best offer. Call Joe at 395–3537.

1995 KSU purple Ford Ranger, excellent condition, CD player, 31,000 miles, 5-speed. Blue Book $12,500 asking $9500. Rochelle- 776–1453, leave message.

MUST SELL: 1993 Mazda MX-3 GS, five-speed, $6000 or best offer. Call 587–8509, 7p.m.-9p.m.

530

Motorcycles

1978 KAWASAKI 650KZ. Runs good, $800. 776–1948.

1989 KAWASAKI EX 500 red/ black. Very good condition, $1450 or best offer. 537–2289.

1992 CBR 600 FZ. Purple/ black/ white. 537–2158.

1993 KAWASAKI ZX6, 4K miles, asking $2800. 539–0805.

It's Greek To Me is now hiring screen printing operators. Flexible hours to work around your schedule. No experience necessary. If you are a positive, hard-working, dedicated individual, we want you to be a part of our team. Competitive pay and benefits package: health insurance, 401(K), flexible spending program, employee discounts, paid leave and much more. Come by 520 McCall Rd. to complete an application. We are an equal opportunity employer.

Job Opportunity
Immediately Opening
Outdoor Rental/Maintenance position
with Recreational Services.
Responsibilities include check-out, repair and maintenance of outdoor rental equipment, general maintenance of grounds and tennis court complex; and minor construction projects and repairs. Position will be approsimately 10 hrs/week. Pay starts at $5.15/hour. Applications available at Recreational Services Office from 8 a.m. - 5 p.m. Please apply by Friday, Sept. 4.

Move In IMMEDIATELY & Pay NO Aug. Rent!
- 2 Bedroom Units
1 & 2 person rates avail.
- Brittany Ridge Townhomes
3 & 4 person rates avail.
Call About Our Move-In Specials!
776-3804
McCullough Development 2700 Amherst

Move In Immediately & Pay NO Aug. Rent!
TATTARAX APARTMENTS
• Close to campus & Aggieville
• Hardwood floors
• 4 bedroom - 2 person occupancy avail.
• $700/mo. ($465/mo. for 2 people)
CALL ABOUT OUR MOVE-IN SPECIAL!
CALL 776-3804
Managed by: McCullough Development
http://www.mdiproperties.com/

ClassifiedRATES

1 DAY
20 words or less $7.15
each word over 20 $.20 per word

2 DAYS
20 words or less $8.40
each word over 20 $.25 per word

3 DAYS
20 words or less $9.55
each word over 20 $.30 per word

4 DAYS
20 words or less $10.60
each word over 20 $.35 per word

5 DAYS
20 words or less $11.55
each word over 20 $.40 per word
(consecutive day rate)

HOW TO PAY
All classifieds must be paid in advance unless you have an account with Student Publications Inc. Cash, check, MasterCard or Visa are accepted. There is a $10 service charge on all returned checks. We reserve the right to edit, reject or properly classify any ad.

FREE FOUND ADS
As a service to you, we run found ads for three days free of charge.

CORRECTIONS
If you find an error in your ad, please call us. We accept responsibility only for the first wrong insertion.

CANCELLATIONS
If you sell your item before your ad has expired, we will refund you for the remaining days. You must call us before noon the day before the ad is to be published.

HEADLINES
For an extra charge, we'll put a headline above your ad to catch the reader's attention.

000 BULLETIN BOARD
100 HOUSING/REAL ESTATE
200 SERVICE DIRECTORY
300 EMPLOYMENT/OPPORTUNITIES
400 OPEN MARKET
500 TRANSPORTATION
600 TRAVEL/TRIPS

TO PLACE AN AD
Go to Kedzie 103 (across from the K-State Student Union). Office hours are Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. The office is open except on holidays.

Rec Report

Recreational Services' Offices Located in Peters Recreation Complex

Refer to Rec Check at 532-6000 and Home Page at http:/www.recservices.ksu.edu for August facility hours.

Recreation Complex

The Chester E. Peters Recreation Complex has received national recognition in facility design and offers participants a variety of activity opportunities including strength equipment (machines and free weights); cardiovascular machines (treadmills, steppers, bikes, etc.); courts for basketball, volleyball, handball, racquetball, squash, wallyball, badminton; two indoor tracks; dedicated area for table tennis; wellness resource center for fitness/nutrition/wellness consultation; locker rooms with saunas; service area with equipment checkout; and an administrative office. Come and see us. There is something for everyone.

PARTICIPATE

If it is to be – it's up to me!

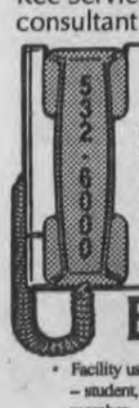
Welcome to a new year with Recreational Services! We have something for everyone, but it's up to you to take time to participate. Each year over 80 percent of the students and over one third of the faculty/staff on this campus voluntarily participate in our programs and use facilities.

Explore what Recreational Services has for you:

Rec Check – Call 532-6000 for the latest schedule and hours of programs and facilities.
Rec Services Home Page – http://www.recservices.ksu.edu
Administrative Offices – Drop in for information or call 532-6980.
Information Pick Up – Information always available in the lobby of the Rec Complex.
Collegian Ad – Watch for this ad the first of every month.
Drop By – Drop by, explore and discover what works for you!

Taking part and participating is up to you. Bring or meet a friend, have more fun and wear a smile. Make participation in a Rec Services activity one of your goals for the year. You'll look and feel better because of it. We look forward to serving you.

Wellness Resource Center



The resource room offers many services to Rec users. These services include a wide range of fitness tests, which include sub max V02, flexibility, body fat, grip strength, muscular endurance and blood pressure evaluation. We also put together personal exercise workouts to help you achieve your fitness goals. If you are new to the Rec, we are happy to introduce you to our facility and the equipment. We are expanding services of the resource room and hope that you'll come by and check us out.

Outdoor Rentals

The Outdoor Rental Center is open for your canoeing and camping needs. We have a full line of tents, canoes, sleeping bags, backpacks, stoves, lanterns, etc. and our rates are very reasonable. Give us a call at 532-6894 for your equipment needs! Get that one last trip in before the cold weather begins!

Free Blood Pressure Checks

Blood pressure checks can be requested in the Wellness Resource Center any time a Rec Services' fitness consultant is available.

Rec Check

Rec Check provides program and facility information 24 hours a day by dialing 532-6000. Call Rec Check for Recreation Complex and Pool hours, exercise sessions intramural deadlines and more!

Entry Policies:

- Facility users must be affiliated with KSU – student, faculty/staff or alumni association member.
- Cards are not sold to the general public.
- Call the Recreational Services office at 532-6980 for details.

For Your Convenience

Facility hours and exercise schedules are now available on the Recreational Services home page at http://www.recservices.ksu.edu

Faculty/Staff Golf Tournament

The Faculty/Staff Golf Tournament will be Friday, Sept. 25, at Rolling Meadows Golf Course in Junction City. Call Steve at 532-6980 if you have any questions. An entry fee of $1 per person will be collected at the Recreational Services office. Green fees and award fee will be collected at the course.

Tune In To Outdoor Facilities

Outdoor facilities at the Peters Recreation Complex include:

- 20 acres of lighted playfields for football, soccer, softball or your favorite outdoor activity
- 10 lighted tennis courts, 8 lighted 3-wall handball/racquetball courts, basketball court, and 4 horseshoe pits
- 2 lighted sand volleyball courts – see our fall & spring IM Schedule for tournaments
- Fitness cluster designed to help with conditioning and toning
- ¼- or ½- mile running trail adjacent to fitness cluster

Employment Opportunities

To be eligible for the following positions, you must be a K-State student and must be enrolled in a minimum of 1 credit hour during the fall semester.

Sports Official

We provide high quality instruction for our officials in the rules, mechanics and techniques of officiating each sport. No application form is required. Mandatory attendance is required at all training clinics:

Soccer Training Clinics:

Tuesday, Sept. 8	5 p.m.	Recreation Complex
Wednesday, Sept. 9	5 p.m.	Recreation Complex

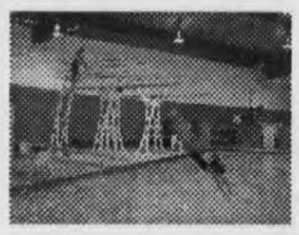
Volleyball Training Clinics:

Monday, Oct. 19	5 p.m.	Recreation Complex
Tuesday, Oct. 20	5 p.m.	Recreation Complex

Intramural Mania

The intramural program offers a wide variety of individual and team sports. All students, faculty and staff are invited to participate. It's a great way to meet people, have fun and stay fit.

An entry fee is charged for each intramural activity. Team sports are charged $15 per team and individual sports are $1 per person. A yearly team fee is also available. All intramural fees are subject to sales tax.



CAPTAINS'/MANAGERS' MEETING

Four times during the year Captains'/Managers' Meetings are held. These meetings take place after the entry deadline and schedules will be distributed at this meeting only. Make sure your team is represented to avoid being put on intramural probation.

Captains'/Managers' Meeting
Wednesday, Sept. 2
Union Forum Hall
5 p.m.

Intramural Dates to Remember

Day	Event	Time	Location
Sept. 2	IM Captains'/Managers' Meeting	5 p.m.	Forum Hall, Union
Sept. 3	IM Flag Football Begins		IM Playfields
Sept. 4	Entry Deadline for 4-on-4 Sand Volleyball	5 p.m.	Recreational Services Office
Sept. 9	IM Soccer Captains' Meeting	7:30 p.m.	Recreational Services
Sept. 10	IM Soccer Begins		IM Playfields
Sept. 11	Entry Deadline for Miniature Golf	5 p.m.	Recreational Services Office
Sept. 13	IM 4-on-4 Sand Volleyball		IM Playfields
Sept. 20	IM Miniature Golf	Tee Times	Anneberg Park Complex
Sept. 21	Entry Deadline for F/S Golf	5 p.m.	Recreational Services Office
Sept. 24	Entry Deadline for Wrestling Meet	5 p.m.	Recreational Services Office
Sept. 25	F/S Golf Tournament	Tee Times	Rolling Meadows Golf Course
Sept. 28	IM Wrestling Begins	6:45 p.m.	Recreation Complex

Pool Action

The Natatorium is located adjacent to the Ahearn Field House. This facility is handicap accessible and includes two swimming pools (25-yards with pacer clocks), a diving well with 3-meter and 1-meter spring boards and a sunning deck. Typical pool hours for the fall semester are Monday-Friday	6:00 a.m.-7:30 a.m. 11:30 a.m.-2:30 p.m. 7:30 p.m.-10:00 p.m.

Tues./Thurs.	5:00 p.m.-6:00 p.m. (restricted to adult exercise swimming only)
Sat./Sun.	1:00 p.m.-4:00 p.m. 7:00 p.m.-10:00 p.m.

Aqua Aerobics		Deep Water Jogging
Tuesday & Thursday	Noon	Wednesday	7:30 p.m.
Mon., Tues. & Thurs.	7:30 p.m.

Wildcat Workouts

Start the new school year off right, come out to the Recreation Complex and check out the new exercise session schedule. It's going to be an exciting new year so don't miss out on the fun.

An Introduction to Step class will be offered the first Monday of each month at 6:30 p.m. and an Introduction to Aerobics class will be offered the first Tuesday of each month at 6:30 p.m. These classes will be held in the multipurpose room and will last 30 minutes. They are structured to be more of a question-and -answer type class with the instructor demonstrating basic moves.

This schedule is subject to change. Please check our home page or call Rec Check for a current schedule

Fall '98 Wildcat Workouts

	Monday	Tuesday	Wednesday	Thursday	Friday	Saturday	Sunday
6:45 am - 7:45 am	Combo Erika		Combo Molly		Combo Kelly
Noon - 1:00 pm		Aerobics Tamara		Combo Tamara		Combo 11-12:15 pm Elisa
3:15 pm - 4:15 pm	Aerobics Molly	Interval Nicole		Interval Nicole	Combo Molly
4:20 pm - 5:20 pm	Step Challenge Amy	Combo Elisa	Step Challenge Amy	Combo Elisa	Step Challenge Amy
5:30 pm - 6:30 pm	Interval Erika	Step/Tone 5:30 - 7 pm Molly	Aerobics Erika	Step/Tone 5:30 - 7 pm Amy	Interval Erika		Step/Tone 5:30 - 7 pm Erika
7:15 pm - 8:15 pm	Step Tamara	Step Erika	Step Elisa	Step Erika
8:30 pm - 9:30 pm	Toning Tamara	Circuit Elisa	Toning Tamara	Aerobics Kelly

September 1998

Recreational Services Activity Calendar

Sunday	Monday	Tuesday	Wednesday	Thursday	Friday	Saturday
RC = Recreation Complex P = Pools at Natatorium		1 RC 6:00AM - MIDNIGHT P 6:00AM - 7:30AM ....11:30AM - 2:30PM ....5:00PM - 6:00PM ....7:30PM - 10:00PM Flag Football Officials' Mtg, 5:00PM	2 RC 6:00AM - MIDNIGHT P 6:00AM - 7:30AM ....11:30AM - 2:30PM ....7:30PM - 10:00PM Cpt/Mgr Mtg, Forum Hall, 5pm Ind Sports Play Begins	3 RC 6:00AM - MIDNIGHT P 6:00AM - 7:30AM ....11:30AM - 2:30PM ....5:00PM - 6:00PM ....7:30PM - 10:00PM IM Flag Football Play Begins	4 RC 6:00AM - MIDNIGHT P 6:00AM - 7:30AM ....11:30AM - 2:30PM ....7:30PM - 10:00PM IM Entry Deadline, 6pm	5 RC 9:00AM - 5:00PM P 1:00PM - 5:00PM Note adjusted hours! KSU vs Indiana St.@ 6:10PM
6 RC NOON - MIDNIGHT P 1:00PM - 5:00PM ....7:00PM - 10:00PM	7 All Facilities Closed, University Holiday Labor Day	8 RC 6:00AM - MIDNIGHT P 6:00AM - 7:30AM ....11:30AM - 2:30PM ....5:00PM - 6:00PM ....7:30PM - 10:00PM IM Entries Begin, Mini-Golf Soccer Officials' Mtg, 5:00PM	9 RC 6:00AM - MIDNIGHT P 6:00AM - 7:30AM ....11:30AM - 2:30PM ....7:30PM - 10:00PM Soccer Cpts' Mtg, 7:30PM	10 RC 6:00AM - MIDNIGHT P 6:00AM - 7:30AM ....11:30AM - 2:30PM ....5:00PM - 6:00PM ....7:30PM - 10:00PM IM Soccer Play Begins	11 RC 6:00AM - MIDNIGHT P 6:00AM - 7:30AM ....11:30AM - 2:30PM ....7:30PM - 10:00PM IM Entry Deadline, 6pm	12 RC 8:00AM - 10:00AM .... 4:00PM - 10:00PM P 7:00PM - 10:00PM Note adjusted hours! KSU vs Northern Illinois@ 11:30AM
13 RC NOON - MIDNIGHT P 1:00PM - 5:00PM ....7:00PM - 10:00PM IM 4-on-4 Sand Volleyball	14 RC 6:00AM - MIDNIGHT P 6:00AM - 7:30AM ....11:30AM - 2:30PM ....7:30PM - 10:00PM	15 RC 6:00AM - MIDNIGHT P 6:00AM - 7:30AM ....11:30AM - 2:30PM ....5:00PM - 6:00PM ....7:30PM - 10:00PM	16 RC 6:00AM - MIDNIGHT P 6:00AM - 7:30AM ....11:30AM - 2:30PM ....7:30PM - 10:00PM	17 RC 6:00AM - MIDNIGHT P 6:00AM - 7:30AM ....11:30AM - 2:30PM ....5:00PM - 6:00PM ....7:30PM - 10:00PM	18 RC 6:00AM - MIDNIGHT P 6:00AM - 7:30AM ....11:30AM - 2:30PM ....7:30PM - 10:00PM	19 RC 9:00AM - 1:00PM .... 7:00PM - 10:00PM P 7:00PM - 10:00PM Note adjusted hours! KSU vs Texas @ 2:30PM
20 RC NOON - MIDNIGHT P 1:00PM - 5:00PM ....7:00PM - 10:00PM IM Miniature Golf Tournament, Wildcat Creek	21 RC 6:00AM - MIDNIGHT P 6:00AM - 7:30AM ....11:30AM - 2:30PM ....7:30PM - 10:00PM Entry Deadline for F/S Golf Tournament IM Entries Begin, Wrestling Meet	22 RC 6:00AM - MIDNIGHT P 6:00AM - 7:30AM ....11:30AM - 2:30PM ....5:00PM - 6:00PM ....7:30PM - 10:00PM	23 RC 6:00AM - MIDNIGHT P 6:00AM - 7:30AM ....11:30AM - 2:30PM ....7:30PM - 10:00PM	24 RC 6:00AM - MIDNIGHT P 6:00AM - 7:30AM ....11:30AM - 2:30PM ....5:00PM - 6:00PM ....7:30PM - 10:00PM IM Entry Deadline, 5pm	25 RC 6:00AM - MIDNIGHT P 6:00AM - 7:30AM ....11:30AM - 2:30PM ....7:30PM - 10:00PM Card Sales for October Begin F/S Golf Tournament, Rolling Meadows	26 RC 9:00AM - Noon ....6:00PM - 10:00PM P 7:00PM - 10:00PM Note adjusted hours! KSU vs Northeastern Louisiana @ 1:10PM
27 RC NOON - MIDNIGHT P 1:00PM - 5:00PM ....7:00PM - 10:00PM	28 RC 6:00AM - MIDNIGHT P 6:00AM - 7:30AM ....11:30AM - 2:30PM ....7:30PM - 10:00PM	29 RC 6:00AM - MIDNIGHT P 6:00AM - 7:30AM ....11:30AM - 2:30PM ....5:00PM - 6:00PM ....7:30PM - 10:00PM	30 RC 6:00AM - MIDNIGHT P 6:00AM - 7:30AM ....11:30AM - 2:30PM ....7:30PM - 10:00PM
	IM Wrestling Meet, Sept 28 - Oct 2

* Note adjusted facility hours due to parking difficulties on home game days. Facility hours are subject to change should game times change.

Pool use from 5pm - 6pm on Tuesday and Thursday is restricted to adult, exercise swimming.

Words of Wellness: Excellence is doing a common thing in an uncommon way.
-Brooker T. Washington

This paid advertisement appears the 1st day of each month to promote Recreational Services' programs and events.

GOIN' TO THE SHOW

Former K-State player Craig Wilson has been called up to the major leagues by the Chicago White Sox.

■ SEE STORY ON PAGE 9

WEDNESDAY
SEPTEMBER 2, 1998

KANSAS STATE UNIVERSITY, MANHATTAN, KAN.
VOLUME 103, NUMBER 8
COLLEGIAN.KSU.EDU

TODAY'S WEATHER

HIGH 87
LOW 64

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Sub. Exp. Date: 00/00
Kansas State Historical Society
Newspaper Section
PO Box 3585
Topeka KS 66601

K-State faculty salaries contine to lag behind

FALLING BEHIND

Faculty salaries at K-State and other Kansas Board of Regents schools continue to lag behind those at other universities across the nation.

Schools that make up the board compare themselves to other institutions, known as peers, with similar budgets and departments. These comparisons are the basis for plans to improve higher education in Kansas.

The salary-lag column shows how much more faculty at peer schools make compared to their counterparts in Kansas.

AVERAGE FACULTY SALARY AT K-STATE PEER SCHOOLS*: $56,838

Shown is K-State's 12-percent salary lag behind its five peer institutions, based on the average salary at peer schools.

K-STATE PEER SCHOOLS ARE OKLAHOMA STATE, IOWA STATE, COLORADO STATE, OREGON STATE AND NORTH CAROLINA STATE.

AT THE OTHER REGENTS SCHOOLS

INSTITUTION	AVERAGE FACULTY SALARY	AVERAGE SALARY AT PEER SCHOOLS	SALARY GAP
UNIVERSITY OF KANSAS	$55,818	$63,287	11.8%
WICHITA STATE UNIVERSITY	$47,752	$51,803	7.8%
EMPORIA STATE UNIVERSITY	$41,593	$45,734	9.1%
PITTSBURG STATE UNIVERSITY	$45,111	$49,074	8.1%
FORT HAYS STATE UNIVERSITY	$41,232	$47,024	12.3%

OURCE: Kansas Board of Regents

TODD STEWART/KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

BY MATT KREPS
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

As faculty salaries continue to lag at K-State, the university continues to lose many of its best and brightest professors. Those who choose to stay often receive lower pay than their peers. Sometimes they even are paid less than even lower ranking professors in their departments.

"What we're doing is running K-State as a farm club for other universities," said Jim Legg, professor of physics and last year's Faculty Senate president.

Legg said K-State recruits young professors, helps them begin their careers and then loses them to schools that pay more.

When K-State is compared to its peer institutions, salaries now lag by nearly 12 percent. However, those averages do not reflect the true situation, Legg said.

When the Kansas Board of Regents creates the comparison, it weights the salary averages to account for more senior faculty at other schools, Legg said.

"The reason we don't have many full professors is we're losing them, and we need to do things to keep them," Legg said.

The problem goes beyond just keeping talented faculty at K-State. University officials said they also have trouble recruiting their top choices to fill vacancies.

In a report submitted to the regents from the K-State president's office, 60 instances were documented in which faculty left for better pay or chose another offer with better pay.

"We are not only losing people, but we're also failing to get our top choices," President Jon Wefald said.

Wefald said the salary situation is much worse when K-State's salaries are compared with the national average. The 12-percent lag only reflects K-State's salaries compared with its five peer institutions. Those peers are Oklahoma State University, Iowa State University, Colorado State University, Oregon State University and North Carolina State University.

■ OUR OPINION
The Collegian editorial board voices concern for faculty salaries at K-State. See Page 4.

"Those aren't the best funded schools either," Wefald said.

Compared with other schools in the Big 12 Conference, K-State has a 17-percent salary lag, placing it last in the Big 12. Compared with 49 other land-grant schools, K-State's salaries rank at No. 42. Comparing K-State's salaries with all other public-doctoral universities, the university ranks in the bottom 20 percent.

Regents are taking notice of the disparity. Barbara Conant, director of communications for the board, said faculty salaries are a key issue for the regents.

"The faculty-salary issue is one of the board's highest priorities at this time," Conant said. "The board's very concerned with what it sees as an erosion of faculty salaries compared to their peer institutions."

Conant said that between 1989 and 1990, the board used a program called "Margin of Excellence" to raise faculty salaries toward the average. The gains were

■ See SALARIES on PAGE 7

Faculty salaries top agenda for Kansas Board of Regents

BY JEFF SUTTON
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Faculty salaries were a key issue Tuesday when Kansas Board of Regents Chairman Bill Docking visited K-State.

During an afternoon press conference, Docking outlined three primary goals for the board during the current fiscal year.

"First and foremost is to develop a three-year program to enhance faculty compensation within the regents' system," Docking said. "We are following woefully behind our peer institutions and the national averages."

According to an Aug. 17 report by President Jon Wefald, K-State was ranked 42 out of 50 land-grant universities in faculty salaries, falling last in the Big 12 Conference.

As a result, Docking said many faculty will leave K-State to take a pay increase elsewhere.

"As a consequence, we are losing some of the very best faculty members from our university. This directly affects the undergraduate experience,"

■ See REGENTS on PAGE 7

Two-year-old Ellie Mankin is guided away from the watermelon table by the helping hand of her father, Kyle Mankin, assistant professor of biological and agricultural engineering, during Tuesday evening's watermelon feed in front of Waters Hall. Ellie was working on her second piece of watermelon for the day. The Agriculture Student Council and Alpha Zeta sponsored the watermelon feed.

BIG EATIN'

Agriculture Student Council, Alpha Zeta sponsor annual watermelon feed

STORY BY SHANDA PARKER
■
PHOTOGRAPHS BY STEVE HEBERT

BY SHANDA PARKER
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Watermelon seeds and seeds of opportunity were the theme on the front lawn of Waters Hall on Tuesday evening.

Agriculture Student Council and Alpha Zeta co-sponsored the annual watermelon feed that brought 300 students to eat watermelon and to get involved with organizations.

"It is geared toward everyone, to encourage them to get involved," said Dan Schmidt, senior in animal science and industry. "At Kansas State, there is a lot more to learning than just sitting in the classroom and looking at a book."

The 17 watermelons were home-grown by Charles "Chuck" Marr, professor of horticulture. Nearly 510 slices were ready to be eaten by students.

"It's home grown, Kansas grown," said Scott Spiker, senior in feed science management.

Representatives from 26 student organizations were at the watermelon feed, showcasing their clubs.

"It's a good deal for ag students to see what the departments have to offer," Travis Janssen, freshman in agricultural economics, said.

A lot of students keep coming back because it has become a tradition year after year.

■ See FEED on PAGE 7

A sliced watermelon sits on a table, ready to be devoured by people attending the watermelon feed on Tuesday evening in front of Waters Hall. Seventeen watermelons were brought to the watermelon feed.

Pet adoption fees increased by commission

BY ELIZABETH SCHOFIELD
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

The Manhattan City Commission meeting Tuesday night brought emotional testimony from Riley County Humane Society members and city officials when an increase in adoption fees at the animal shelter was proposed. The city adopted a modified version of the proposal.

The proposal, presented by the vice president of the Riley County/Manhattan Board of Health, Dr. Dan Upson, recommended an increase in the animal-adoption fee from $15 to $25 and the deposit for neutering or spaying from $25 to $50.

Upson also proposed doubling the fee for impoundment and board per day for animals picked up running at-large. In addition, the cost for animal quarantine would be raised, according to the proposal.

Upson said the increased fees would encourage owners to take better care of their pets. He said he hoped the increase in the deposit for spaying or neutering will motivate people who adopt animals from the shelter to spay or neuter their pets to get the deposit back.

Nearly 80 percent of those adopting from the shelter do get their pet spayed or neutered now. City Commissioner Karen McCulloh said she felt this number was a pretty high compliance rate and did not see the need for a change in the deposit amount.

Gwen Kropf, president of the Riley County Humane Society, said she opposed Upson's proposal. She said she thought the increase would deter people from adopting through the shelter.

"If the purpose of raising the fees is to raise revenue, what revenue is raised if adoptions go down?" Kropf said. She said she does agree with the increase in fees for dogs found running at-large, however.

Jody Branson, member of the Riley County Humane Society, also spoke in opposition of the fee increase. She said increased fees would force potential adopters to look elsewhere for pets.

"You don't have a monopoly. People are going to answer 'free to good home' ads instead," Branson said.

The commission approved a modified version of the proposal that raised some fees but left others as they stood. The adoption rate was increased by $25, but the deposits for rabies shots and spaying or neutering remain the same. Fees for redemption of a dog caught running at-large or for an animal quarantine also were raised.

In other business, the commission voted to replace the three temporary traffic circles in the Grandview neighborhood with permanent structures. The traffic circles were constructed in 1996 after two children were killed in traffic accidents more than six years ago.

"Five thousand dollars for a traffic circle is well worth the price if it saves a child's life," McCulloh said.

CALENDAR DEADLINES

To place an item in the Calendar, stop by Kedzie 116 and fill out a form or e-mail it to bulletins@spub.ksu.edu by 11 a.m. two days before it is to run.

NEWS DIGEST

CALENDAR

Calendar is the Collegian's campus bulletin board service. Items in the planner can be published up to three times. Items might not appear because of space constraints but are guaranteed to appear on the day of the activity. To place an item, stop by Kedzie 116 and fill out a form or e-mail it to collegn@ksu.edu by 11 a.m. two days before it is to run.

■ K-State Young Democrats will meet at 8:30 tonight in Union 204. The meeting will focus on campaign issues.

■ K-State women's softball will have an informational meeting at 7 tonight in Union 207.

■ The German Stammtisch will meet at 7 tonight at Espresso Royale Caffe.

■ K-State Aikido will meet at 7 tonight in Ahearn 304.

■ Career and Employment Services will conduct a résumé-building workshop at 3:30 today in Union 212.

■ A meeting for intramural team captains and managers will be at 5 p.m. today in Forum Hall. All captains and managers must be present. Flag football schedules will be available.

POLICE REPORTS

Reports are taken directly from the K-State and Riley County police departments' daily logs. We do not list wheel locks or minor traffic violations because of space constraints.

K-STATE POLICE
MONDAY, AUG. 31

■ No reports of note were made.

RILEY COUNTY POLICE
MONDAY, AUG. 31

■ At 2:50 a.m., Sigrun E. Rush, Randolph, Kan., was arrested for criminal trespass.

■ At 4:20 a.m., Farha M. Mackey, 1511 Fairchild Ave., was arrested for passing a worthless check. Bond was set at $150.

■ At 3:28 p.m., Douglas K. Williams, 900 Leavenworth St., was arrested for passing a worthless check. Bond was set at $300.

■ At 4:25 p.m., Charlene Joy, Blue Rapids, Kan., was arrested for passing a worthless check. Bond was set at $300.

■ At 4:52 p.m., Christopher R. Stevenson, 511 Kearney St., was arrested for failure to appear. Bond was set at $85.

■ At 5:35 p.m., Antonia Burrow, 501 Houston St., was arrested for probation violation.

■ At 10:53 p.m., Scott D. Habluetzel, Riley, Kan., was arrested for burglary, theft and criminal damage to property. Bond was set at $5,000.

DAILY REWIND

Daily Rewind collects the top local, state, national and world news from the past 48 hours. Briefs are compiled from wire and staff reports.

No answers found for Gulf War illnesses

WASHINGTON D.C. — There is insufficient evidence to say whether nerve gas caused illnesses among Persian Gulf War veterans, a Senate report concluded. Despite the finding, some lawmakers said chemical weapons still could be a factor behind ailments that remain undiagnosed seven years later.

The report Tuesday blamed the mystery on poor Pentagon record-keeping of possible unconventional weapons attacks in the 1991 conflict and a lack of medical information on troops before, during and after the war.

In general, the committee's final report on the subject, prepared over the past year, backs the military's long-held assertion that chemical weapons haven't been linked to veterans' ailments.

"There is insufficient evidence at this time to prove or disprove that there was an actual low level exposure of any troops to chemical weapon nerve agents or that any of the health effects some veterans are experiencing were caused by such exposure," the report said.

Instead, the report agrees with Pentagon findings that no single cause has been determined for complaints ranging from chronic fatigue to memory loss. Besides chemical weapons, other possible causes included exposure to pesticides, smoke from oil well fires and other toxins.

"Some questions Gulf War veterans have about their health may never be answered," the Senate Veterans' Affairs Committee report concluded.

Of 700,000 soldiers sent to the Gulf, 20,000 have undiagnosed complaints, and 60,000 have suffered illnesses that might or might not be from the war, said Matt Puglisi, a spokesman for the American Legion.

"This report, in not finding a link between chemical weapons and the illnesses, only points out there's a lack of evidence," Puglisi said. "It doesn't mean people aren't sick."

The report backs up Pentagon officials who deny any cover-up of chemical weapons exposure to troops, a suspicion that emerged after the disappearance of one-fifth of the logs that would record such activity. The report blamed "negligence rather than conspiracy."

Reno to investigate former House aide

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Attorney General Janet Reno has begun an investigation to determine whether Harold Ickes, a former top White House aide, committed perjury before a Senate committee, it was disclosed Tuesday.

Reno notified a special federal panel of judges that she had begun a 90-day investigation of Ickes — an inquiry that could lead to the appointment of an independent counsel to investigate allegations of campaign-finance abuses in 1996. Republicans have been demanding such a sweeping probe.

Reno's announcement came on the eve of a briefing she is scheduled to give leaders of the House and Senate Judiciary committees today.

The Senate's investigative report last year suggested that Ickes provided less-than-candid testimony on what the Clinton administration might have done to assist the International Brotherhood of Teamsters in the union's strike against Diamond Walnut Co.

Ickes, a former deputy White House chief of staff closely involved in managing President Clinton's re-election fund-raising efforts two years ago, said, "I've testified over 20 times to investigative bodies since joining the White House staff in January 1994. I've testified truthfully each time, and I've testified truthfully this time. There is no reason whatsoever to open up a 90-day inquiry and there's certainly no reason to appoint an independent counsel."

Texas TV station first to ax new Stern show

LUBBOCK, Texas — Calling Howard Stern's two-week-old syndicated TV show "morally offensive," a Texas TV station on Tuesday became the first in the nation to pull the plug on it.

KJTV, a Fox affiliate in Lubbock, said it had received nearly 20 letters complaining about "The Howard Stern Radio Show." The shock jock's half-hour program debuted Aug. 22 as competition to NBC's long-running "Saturday Night Live."

Stern will be replaced in Lubbock with "The Untouchables."

In its two weeks, Stern's show has featured a lap dance performed by a naked woman with her genitals blurred out of the picture, a female bodybuilder groped by Stern, a teen-ager attempting to set a record for farting and an interview where O.J. Simpson was asked his tips for removing blood stains.

"Simply put, he crossed the line," said Larry Landaker, KJTV vice president and general manager. "At some point you have to ask yourself, 'Does this have any value at all?' We're not trying to be moral gatekeepers of the community, but this show is morally offensive and impossible to defend."

Landaker said he thought he knew what he was getting after listening to Stern's radio program and his TV show on the E! Entertainment cable network, but said Stern seemed to be even more offensive than usual.

"It was like he was daring people to not want to see it," he said. "He pushed it even further than his cable show, and it was just unacceptable."

CBS spokeswoman Rosemary Keenan said neither Eyemark, which syndicates Stern's new show, nor Stern had any comment.

A Toronto TV station, Citytv, had bought Stern's TV show but decided last month not to air it. Chom Limited, which owns Citytv, also canceled Stern's radio program on the Montreal station it owns. Stern's radio show is still on the air in Toronto.

The syndicated TV show's ratings slipped nationally in its second week. It finished first in its time slot on three CBS-owned TV stations, down from seven the week before.

Lubbock's decision was praised by the American Family Association, a conservative lobbying group that has protested the show.

"This is the beginning of a national trend. This is great news," said Buddy Smith, assistant president of the AFA.

Mom finds son's body in ditch after accident

REMINGTON, Va. — Police told Joyce Young that her 19-year-old son had walked away from a car wreck. When he had not come home 11 hours later, she went to the crash site, and there she found his body in the high grass.

Jay Young was killed when the car he was driving flipped Friday night in what investigators said might have been an alcohol-related accident.

Police had searched in the darkness but did not find him, and figured he and another young man who had been in the car had fled.

Young's mother went to the scene in the morning and quickly found the corpse in waist-high grass 50 feet away.

"She ran to the middle of the highway and just started screaming," said Young's niece, Karen Hitt said. "Luckily, there was a man coming down the road who stopped to help her."

An autopsy found Young died almost instantly, sheriff's Capt. Fred Pfeiff said. "I know this isn't any consolation to anybody, but it wasn't a matter that he laid out there and suffered," Pfeiff said.

Firefighters and sheriff's deputies treated three young men who had been in the car, one of whom was hospitalized in critical condition.

Witnesses said two others in the car might have fled, Pfeiff said. Sheriff's deputies searched for Young and the other boy at popular teen nightspots to charge them with leaving the scene of an accident.

"All they had to do was turn around and cut on a flashlight to find him. That's it," Hitt said.

Pfeiff said, "In hindsight, obviously we would have preferred to do a more thorough examination of the scene, but at the time, we were going with the information we had. What we did was appropriate."

The other missing teen turned up five hours later several miles from the crash site with insignificant injuries.

CORRECTION

Due to a photographer's error, volleyball player Val Wieck was misidentified as Kim Zschau in a photograph on the Sports page in Tuesday's Collegian. The Collegian regrets the error.

WEATHER

HIGH 87

LOW 64

Get out your shorts and enjoy the warm, dry weather today while it lasts. Showers and thunderstorms likely throughout the rest of the week.

CONTACT US

■ NEWSROOM 532-6556
■ ADVERTISING 532-6560
■ CLASSIFIEDS 532-6555

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN
KEDZIE 116
KANSAS STATE UNIVERSITY
MANHATTAN, KS 66506

The Kansas State Collegian (USPS 291 020), a student newspaper at Kansas State University, is published by Student Publications Inc., Kedzie 103, Manhattan, Kan. 66506. The Collegian is published weekdays during the school year and twice a week through the summer. Periodical postage is paid at Manhattan, Kan. 66502. POSTMASTER: Send address changes to Kansas State Collegian, circulation desk, Kedzie 103, Manhattan, Kan. 66506-7167.

© KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN, 1997

GET READY!
KSU CAREER FAIR '98
Tuesday, Sept. 22 • Bramlage Coliseum
Use these services to prepare!

GET REGISTERED...JOB SEARCH '98: Looking for a Career, Intern, Summer or Co-op Job? Attend an Orientation for Career & Employment Services. Learn how to register via WWW Resume, gain 24-hour internet access to JobLine, be referred to employers requesting resumes, participate in In-Campus Interviews, receive email notice of special events and jobs and new WWW pages. Register by noon on Thursday, September 17 (or Wednesday, September 16 for KSU-Salina) and your Resume will distributed on disc to all employers attending the KSU Career Fair.
Thursday Sept. 3 3:30 p.m. Tullis 112 (Salina)
Thursday Sept. 3 7 p.m. Seaton 132

RESUME BUILDING: Learn how to inventory your experiences, write statements of result, select a format, edit and evaluate.
Wednesday Sept. 2 3:30 p.m. Student Union 212
Tuesday Sept. 8 5 p.m. Student Union 212
Tuesday Sept. 15 3:30 p.m. Student Union 212

RESUME CRITIQUE: Drop by with your resume for review and helpful advice.
Thursday Sept. 3 3:30 - 5 p.m. Holtz Hall 107B
Friday Sept. 11 3:30 - 5 p.m. Holtz Hall 107B
Friday Sept. 18 3:30 - 5 p.m. Holtz Hall 107B

WINNING INTERVIEWS: Plan and prepare for employment interviews.
Wednesday Sept. 9 3:30 p.m. Student Union 212

HOW TO WORK A CAREER FAIR: Learn how to network with prospective employers for internships, co-op experiences and employment.
Wednesday Sept. 16 3:30 p.m. Student Union 212
Thursday Sept. 17 5 p.m. Willard 114

EMPLOYER PANEL: Hear from recruiters in hospitality, apparel marketing, financial services and human services--what do they look for when evaluating potential employees?
Monday Sept. 21 2:30 p.m. Student Union Little Theater

FOR MORE INFORMATION: www.ksu.edu/ces ces@ksu.edu 532-1691

ABBOTT LABORATORIES
ABF FREIGHT SYSTEM INC
ADECCO
ADP (AUTOMATIC DATA PROCESSING)
AEROTEK INC
AG PROCESSING INC
ALBERMARLE
ALLIED SIGNAL
ALLIEDSIGNAL INC - FEDERAL MANUFACTURING & TECHNOLOGIES
ALTEC INDUSTRIES INC
AMERICAN AIRLINES INC
AMERICAN CYANAMID COMPANY
AMERICAN INSTITUTE OF BAKING
AMERICAN MANAGEMENT SYSTEMS
ANDERSEN CONSULTING
APPLIED COMMUNICATIONS INC
ARAMARK HEALTHCARE SUPPORT SERVICES
ARCHER DANIELS MIDLAND CO
ARMY & AIR FORCE EXCHANGE SERVICE (AAFES)
ARTHUR ANDERSEN LLP
BAIRD KURTZ & DOBSON
BANKER'S LIFE & CASUALTY
BANTA PUBLICATIONS GROUP
BARTLETT& WEST ENGINEERS INC
BAYER CORPORATION
BECKER CPA REVIEW
BFGOODRICH JCAIR TEST SYSTEMS
BLACK & DECKER/DEWALT
BLACK & VEATCH
BNIM ARCHITECTS
BOEING COMPANY
BOYS TOWN USA (FATHER FLANNAGAN'S BOYS' HOME)
BRB CONTRACTORS INC
BRUNGARDT HONOMICHL & COMPANY PA
BURNS & MCDONNELL ENGINEERING
C H ROBINSON COMPANY
CARGILL
CARTER & BURGESS INC
CATERPILLAR INC
CCH INCORPORATED
CDFM2 ARCHITECTURE INC
CELERITAS TECHNOLOGIES
CENEX LAND O'LAKES
CERNER CORPORATION
CESSNA AIRCRAFT COMPANY
CHILI'S
CHRISTENSEN FAMILY FARMS
CINTAS CORPORATION
CITGO PETROLEUM CORPORATION
COMMERCE BANK
COMPUCOM
CONOCO INC
CONSULTANTS LTD (THE)
CONTINENTAL DISC CORPORATION
CONTINENTAL GRAIN
CONTINENTAL GRAIN COMPANY
COUNTRY GENERAL
CROP-TIMIZER/COLLINGWOOD GRAIN
CROP QUEST INC
DAMARK INTERNATIONAL
DEERE & COMPANY
DELOITTE & TOUCHE LLP
DEPT OF LANDSCAPE ARCHITECTURE & REGIONAL & COMMUNITY PLANNING
DIVISION OF PERSONNEL SERVICES
DMW WORLDWIDE
DONNELLY MEINERS JORDAN KLINE
EARL MAY SEED & NURSERY LC
EATON CORPORATION
EDDIE BAUER
EDS
EDWARD JONES
ELF ATOCHEM NA
ELIASON AND KNUTH OF KANSAS CITY INC
EMPORIA STATE UNIVERSITY SCHOOL OF GRADUATE STUDIES
EMPOWER TRAINERS & CONSULTANTS
ENTERPRISE RENT-A-CAR
ERNST & YOUNG LLP
ERNST & YOUNG LLP
ESSEX GROUP INC
EXCEL COMMUNICATIONS EXCEL CORPORATION
EXXON
FARM CREDIT
FARMLAND INDUSTRIES
FASTENAL COMPANY
FBI
FEDERAL DEPOSIT INSURANCE CORPORATION (FDIC)
FEDERAL RESERVE BANK OF KANSAS CITY
FERGUSON ENTERPRISES INC
FINISH LINE(THE)
FIRST BRANDS CORP
FIRST NATIONAL BANK OF OMAHA
FISHER CONTROLS INTERNATIONAL INC
FORT WORTH INDEPENDENT SCHOOL DISTRICT
FRITO LAY INC
FURST-MCNESS COMPANY
G E ENGINE SERVICES
G E JOHNSON CONSTRUCTION COMPANY
GARGIULO INC
GARMIN INTERNATIONAL INC
GE TRANSPORTATION SYSTEMS
GENERAL SERVICES ADMINISTRATION
GEORGE BUTLER ASSOCIATES INC
GOLDEN HARVEST
GOODYEAR TIRE & RUBBER COMPANY
GOODYEAR TIRE & RUBBER COMPANY
GOULD EVANS GOODMAN ASSOCIATES
GRADUATE SCHOOL - KANSAS STATE UNIVERSITY
GRADUATE STUDIES UNIVERSITY OF NEBRASKA-LINCOLN
GRANT THORNTON LLP
GREAT BEND PACKING CO/JOHN MORRELL/SMITHFIELD FOODS
HALLIBURTON
HALLMARK CARDS INC
HALLMARK SPECIALTY RETAIL GROUP
HARMON INDUSTRIES
HARRAH'S NKC CASINO AND HOTEL
HBE CORPORATION
HERMES LANDSCAPING INC
HERSHEY CHOC USA
HOLIDAY INN
HOPKINS MANUFACTURING CORPORATION
HORMEL FOODS CORPORATION
HORST TERRILL & KARST ARCHITECTS PA
HOULIHAN'S RESTAURANT GROUP
HOWARD & HELMER ARCHITECTS PA
HWS CONSULTING GROUP INC
HY-VEE INC
HYATT REGENCY CROWN CENTER
HYATT REGENCY WICHITA
HYBRITECH US A MONSANTO COMPANY
IBM
IBP
IKON
IMC GLOBAL
INET INC
INFORMATION TECHNOLOGY INC
INFORMIX SOFTWARE INC
INPUT/OUTPUT INC
INTERCONNECT DEVICES INC
INTERVOICE INC
INVESTORS FIDUCIARY TRUST COMPANY (IFTC)
IOWA SELECT FARMS
JANSSEN PHARMACEUTICA
JCPENNEY COMPANY
JET PROGRAM
JOHN HANCOCK FINANCIAL SERVICES
JONES STORE
JPI
JPS & ASSOCIATES INC
JUNCTION CITY FOUNDRY INC
K-STATE RESEARCH AND EXTENSION-EXTENSION OPERATIONS
KANSAS CITY WATER SERVICES DEPT & CITY OF KANSAS CITY
KANSAS DEPARTMENT OF CORRECTIONS
KANSAS DEPARTMENT OF TRANSPORTATION
KANSAS FARM BUREAU
KELLY SCIENTIFIC RESOURCES
KENNEDY AND COE LLC
KETCH
KEY STAFFING
KOCH INDUSTRIES INC
KOHL'S DEPARTMENT STORES
KPMG PEAT MARWICK LLP
KUSTOM SIGNALS INC
LA QUINTA INNS INC
LEARJET INC
LEVI RAY & SHOUP INC
LIBRARY SERVICES COMPANY
LUCENT TECHNOLOGIES
LUTRON ELECTRONICS CO INC
MAC EQUIPMENT INC
MARLEY COOLING TOWER
MARRIOTT LODGING
MARTIN K EBY CONSTRUCTION COMPANY INC
MASSMUTUAL - THE KANSAS CITY MULLINIX AGENCY
MAURICES
MAXIM GROUP
MAXIM HEALTHCARE
MAYTAG APPLIANCES
MCCARTHY CONSTRUCTION COMPANY
MENNONITE CENTRAL COMMITTEE
METLIFE & METLIFE SECURITIES INC
MICHAEL TREANOR ARCHITECTS
MICROSOFT CORPORATION
MIDWEST POULTRY CONSORTIUM INC
MISSOURI DEPARTMENT OF TRANSPORTATION
MISSOURI DIVISION OF FAMILY SERVICES-JACKSON COUNTY
MISSOURI STATE HIGHWAY PATROL
MODINE MANUFACTURING COMPANY
MOORMAN'S INC
MORTON BUILDINGS INC
MOTOROLA SSTG
MR GOODCENTS FRANCHISE SYSTEMS INC
MURPHY FAMILY FARMS
NABISCO BISCUIT COMPANY
NASH FINCH COMPANY
NATIONAL AGRICULTURAL STATISTICS SERVICE
NATIONAL PARK SERVICE
NAVY OFFICER PROGRAMS
NEW ENGLAND FINANCIAL
NEWSHAM HYBRIDS (USA) INC
NORTHWESTERN MUTUAL LIFE/BAIRD SECURITIES-THE ERTZ AGENCY
NORWEST FINANCIAL
NOVARTIS CROP PROTECTION
OKLAHOMA DEPARTMENT OF TRANSPORTATION
OKLAHOMA STATE UNIVERSITY - GRADUATE COLLEGE
OLD NAVY
OLDE DISCOUNT CORPORATION
OMAHA PUBLIC POWER DISTRICT
ONSITE COMPANIES
OPRYLAND USA
ORTHO-MCNEIL PHARMACEUTICAL
OSCO DRUG/SAV-ON DRUGS
OVERLAND PARK POLICE DEPARTMENT
PATRICK MURPHY AGENCY (THE)
PAYLESS SHOESOURCE
PETERBILT MOTORS COMPANY
PHILLIPS PETROLEUM COMPANY
PIC USA
PORK GROUP (THE) - TYSON FOODS INC
PREMIER PNEUMATICS INC
PREMIUM STANDARD FARMS
PRICE WATERHOUSE LLP
PRINCIPAL MUTUAL LIFE
PROCTER & GAMBLE
PULTE HOME CORPORATION
RAFAEL ARCHITECTS INC
RALSTON PURINA
RAYTHEON AIRCRAFT
RAYTHEON SYSTEMS COMPANY
RED LOBSTER
REGIONAL MORTGAGE CORPORATION
ROSS & BARUZZINI INC
RPS
RTKL ASSOCIATES INC
RUSSELL STOVER CANDIES INC
SABRE GROUP (THE)
SANDIA NATIONAL LABORATORIES
SAS INSTITUTE INC
SAUER-SUNDSTRAND COMPANY
SCHLUMBERGER
SEABOARD FARMS
SECURITY BENEFIT GROUP
SERVI-TECH INC
"SHAFER, KLINE & WARREN"
SHAW CONSTRUCTION
SHERWIN-WILLIAMS COMPANY (THE)
SMITH SEEKMAN REID INC
SMOOT CO
SOUTHWESTERN BELL
SPRINT
STAGE STORES INC
STATE FARM INSURANCE
STEAK N SHAKE
SUPERTEL HOSPITALITY INC
SWINE MANAGEMENT SERVICES DIV OF PURINA MILLS INC
SYMBIOS INC
TACO BELL CORPORATION
TALBOTS INC
TARGET
TECHNISOURCE INC
TEKSYSTEMS
TERRACON
TEXAS INSTRUMENTS INC
TEXAS TECH UNIVERSITY
TONY'S PIZZA SERVICE
TRACTOR SUPPLY COMPANY
TRANSCRYPT INTERNATIONAL
TRANSYSTEMS CORPORATION
TURNER CONSTRUCTION COMPANY
UNION PACIFIC
UNITED STATES ARMY
UNITED STATES MARINE CORPS OFFICER SELECTION OFFICE
UNITED STATES PEACE CORPS
USDA GRAIN MARKETING & PRODUCTION RESEARCH CENTER
USDA NATURAL RESOURCES CONSERVATION SERVICE
VANCE PUBLISHING CORPORATION
VENATOR GROUP (FORMERLY WOOLWORTH CORP)
VIAGRAFIX CORP
VILLAGE INN RESTAURANTS
VISHAY DALE ELECTRONICS
WAL-MART STORES INC
WESTERN AUTO PARTS AMERICA
WOLF CREEK NUCLEAR OPERATING CORPORATION
WORLDCOM
WYNDHAM HOTELS AND RESORTS
YELLOW FREIGHT SYSTEM INC
ZENECA PHARMACEUTICALS

KSU Career Fair is sponsored by Agriculture Ambassadors/Ag REPS, College of Agriculture; Dean's Student Advisory Council, College of Architecture, Planning and Design; Arts and Sciences Ambassadors, College of Arts and Sciences; Marketing Club, College of Business Administration; Education Student Ambassadors, College of Human Ecology; Salina Student Government Associations, College of Technology and Aviation; and Career and Employment Services.

Graduate student's car torched in car fire

BY SCOTT ALDIS-WILSON
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Chris Huddleston said his car had never given him problems before.

Tuesday, however, luck was not with Huddleston, graduate student in history, or his 1984 Oldsmobile. Huddleston said he was driving to his job at Jardine Terrace Apartments when at around 7:40 a.m., the car's temperature light came on, and smoke rose from under the hood.

Huddleston said he parked the car east of the intersection of 12th and Bertrand streets to wait for the smoke to stop, but when it got thicker and darker, he began to look for help. At that point, flames were beginning to appear on the driver's side of the engine.

"The interesting thing was trying to find someone awake on this block," Huddleston said. Of the three students he asked to call 911, all three told him their phone lines were disconnected. Huddleston said he finally found help on the fourth try.

Teresa Gentry, senior in elementary education, said she was still in bed and didn't know about the car fire when Huddleston rang the doorbell to her home at 1130 Bertrand St.

"None of us saw it yet. Then my roommate said I had to see this," Gentry said.

As Jennifer Wolf, Gentry's roommate and fifth-year senior in elementary education, called 911, Gentry said she saw the whole hood area of the car on fire.

The Manhattan Fire Department received the call at 7:52 a.m. and was on the scene in two minutes, Lt. Eddie Braddock said.

"They opened the doors afterward, and the whole cab was filled with smoke," Gentry said. "People are walking to class, and random people are taking pictures of the car. It was probably about 10 minutes of excitement. I thought, 'He's not having a good day.'"

Gentry said she went back inside as the tow truck for Mike's Wrecker Service arrived.

According to the report by Lt. Mike Brumbaugh, investigating officer for the Manhattan Fire Department, the fire was in the hood, and the car sustained signmificant smoke damage to the interior. The report listed total loss at $1,500 in damage to the car itself and $50 to contents that sustained smoke damage.

The cause was believed to be a ruptured fuel line, Brumbaugh said on the scene.

Huddleston said he had been considering buying a new car before the fire occurred.

"I was already looking at a Chevrolet Caprice, something bigger," he said.

Rec Complex parking-permit plan to be presented

BY TIM RICHARDSON
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Students who live close to campus and use the Chester E. Peters Recreation Complex during the day must put change in the parking meters.

At least for another year.

A plan to use parking permits at the Rec Complex would give students who don't own a permit the opportunity to purchase one at half price.

"A lot of students feel meters are inconvenient," Andy Macklin, student body vice president said. "A lot of the time they are full."

The plan would allow students to buy a Rec Complex parking permit for $30, which would be valid for a year. The passes could be used next fall.

"I think it's a good way to allow students to use the Rec during the day," Macklin said. "They pay a privilege fee for the Rec. They should be able to use it."

Director of Parking Services Darwin Abbott said the plan might be confusing to some students who might think the parking pass could be used at other campus locations. He said the plan would create hassles and would be more difficult to enforce.

Abbott said a student who works at Edwards Hall, which is near the Rec Complex, could purchase a permit at half price and park there, leaving room for abuse.

"A lot of students feel meters are inconvenient," Andy Macklin, student body vice president said. "A lot of the time they are full."

"I think parking is parking. If you are going to come on campus, you pay the same," Abbott said.

He said a shuttle system could help alleviate parking problems at the Rec Complex and throughout campus.

Student Body President Tracey Mann said that solution would take some planning.

"This is something that could happen this fall, and the shuttle system is a couple of years down the road," he said.

Mann said one option for the Rec Complex parking permit is a two-hour time limit. Parking Service employees would chalk the tires of cars to time how long the car has been parked. Cars parked more than two hours could be ticketed.

"This is the only group of people who use parking for such a short period of time," Mann said.

Macklin said supporters of the parking pass might be asked to sign a petition. The signatures could be given to parking-committee members who will decide the fate of the plan.

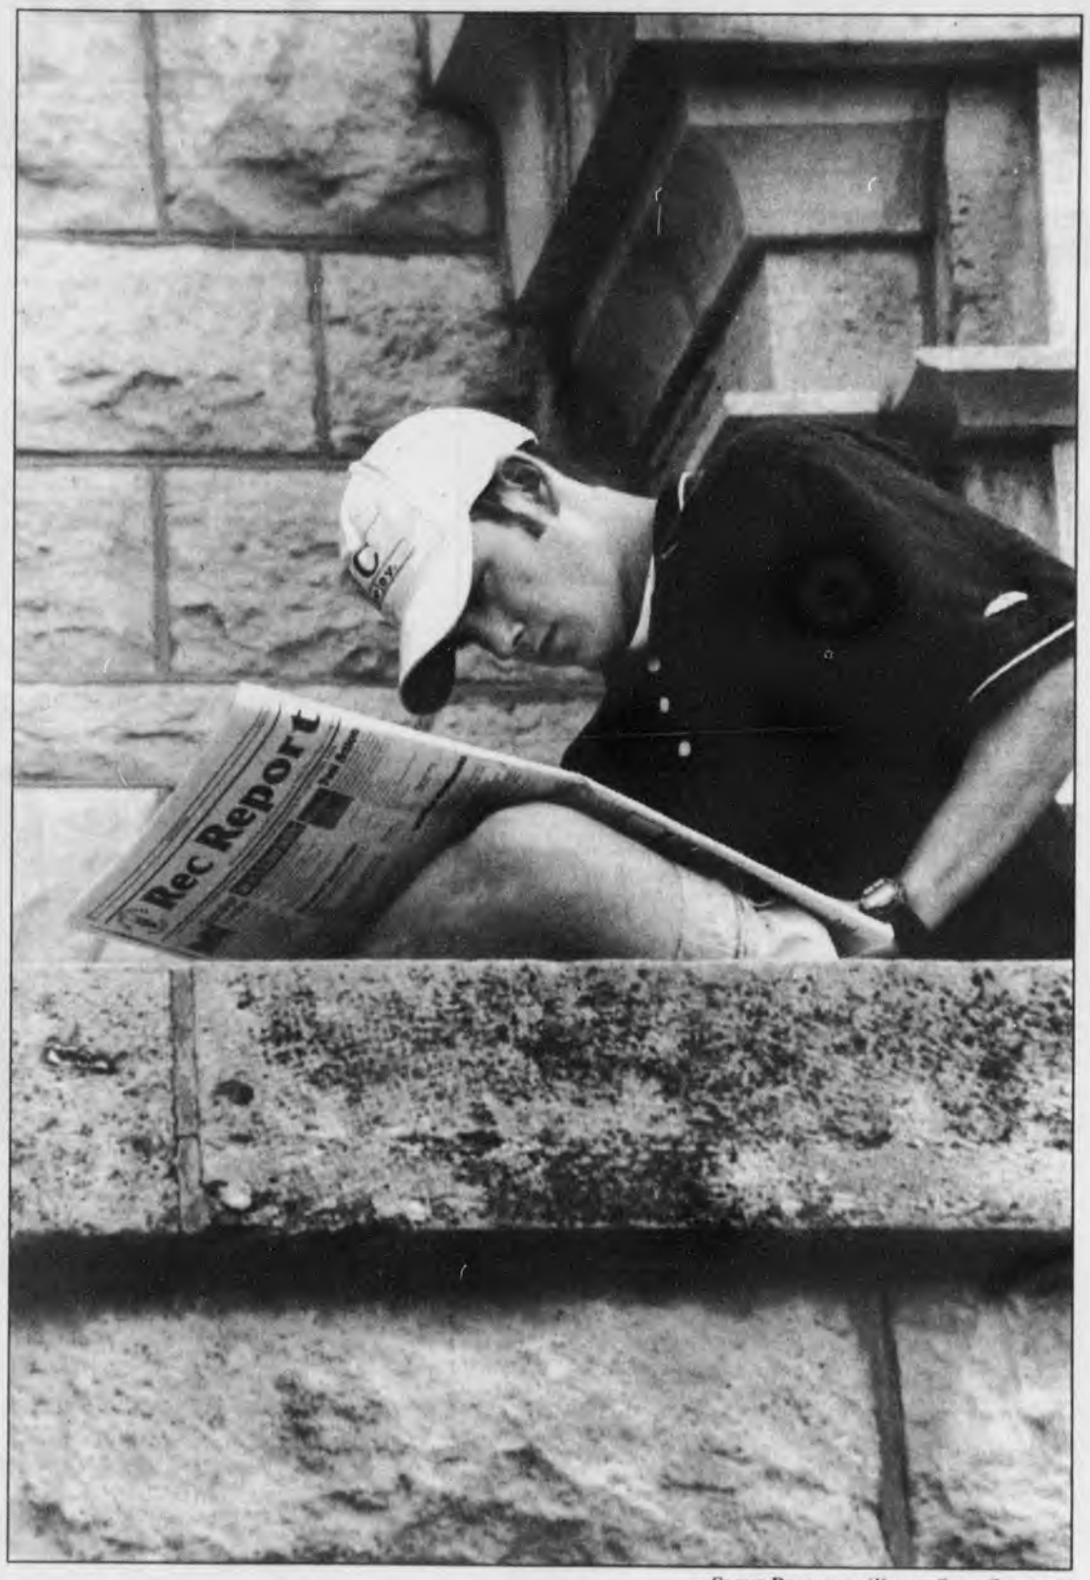
"The pool is out there," Mann's Chief of Staff Jason Lacey said. "We don't know how big the pool is."

The parking situation used to be like the proposed method but was changed after flaws were discovered.

Abbott said Parking Services has been adding parking meters at the Rec Complex to accommodate students without campus parking permits. The meters are monitored until 4 p.m., whereas other campus meters are monitored until 5 p.m.

"It has been done in the past, and they changed it to the way it is now," Abbott said.

Macklin said the change is needed because demand for the Rec Complex increases each year.



"It's been a concern ever since the Rec was upgraded with such nice facilities," he said. "Students want to use it during the day."

The resolution will be voted on at next week's Student Senate meeting. The proposal will be presented Sept. 17 to the parking council, which consists of four students and six faculty members. The resolution then could be put in subcommittee for further research.

It could go into effect June 1, 1999.

Abbott said with so many parking situations on campus, he is concerned about making exceptions for some students.

"When you make an exception, everyone else wants exceptions made for them," he said. "I'm not sure that this is a warranted exception."

STEVE DEARINGER/KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

TIME WELL SPENT
Andrew Fahey, junior in arts and sciences, sits outside Seaton Hall reading the Collegian between classes Tuesday morning.

WONDER WHAT ALL THE HYPE IS ABOUT?

Stop by and talk to the Apple Computer Reps and say Hello to the iMac.

Outside the Union Bookstore textbook level
Wednesday Sept. 2 and Thursday Sept. 3.

K-STATE STUDENT UNION BOOKSTORE

" Your Official KSU Bookstore "

OUR VIEW

K-State's faculty deserves top pay

K-State has a big problem.

Our faculty members are leaving to pursue better offers elsewhere. It isn't because they dislike Manhattan. It isn't because the administration is pressuring them to leave. It isn't even because of the quality of the facilities they use, although that is one aspect of their problem.

They're leaving because they get better salary offers elsewhere.

We can't pay them enough. K-State is dead last in the Big 12 in terms of faculty salaries. We are 42nd of 50 land-grant colleges in the United States. We are ranked in the lowest 20 percent of colleges and universities in the country for our payroll. Random House won't even look at us to rank among their "Best Colleges and Universities," even though we have been consistently high-ranked by other publications.

Faculty deserve better.

K-State has been billed as the Harvard of the Midwest for a number of years, but low faculty salaries take us back to our roots as an agriculture school. We recruit the best and the brightest, we provide them with a place to work, and then we hand them over to other schools that can offer a higher wage.

K-State administrators and members of the Kansas Board of Regents are partly to blame for the problem. True, they have worked to produce a possible solution, but the recent plan is another case of too much too late.

It is unfortunate officials don't seem to realize a problem exists until it has reached a critical stage and requires a generous amount of funding to fix. The Crumbling Classrooms millions would not have been necessary if more money had been available for basic building repairs. The Margin of Excellence campaign to raise salaries in the late 1980s could have been avoided if the Kansas Legislature were on the ball.

At that time, K-State was only 10-percent behind peer institutions. We pay our faculty more than $7,200 less than their counterparts. A recent report highlights 60 instances of faculty leaving in recent years to take better-paying jobs elsewhere.

How is it possible that at a school with one of the highest percentages of alumni involvement in the country, we can have such financial troubles? We have alumni who donate millions. Why are we only scraping by?

If we're the Harvard of the Midwest, we shouldn't be half-funded.

The problem won't go away overnight. Regents have developed a plan of action saying they hope to convince the Legislature to approve an 8-percent jump in salaries over two years, on top of cost-of-living increases.

They're nuts.

State legislators, who just delivered voters the largest tax cut in state history, won't abandon conservative spending to support a large increase in funding for higher education. Regents are fools to believe that dramatic preaching about the future of Kansas will make much of a difference.

Last year, with millions of dollars in available state surplus, regents and administrators said they tried to make the case for Hale Library funding on the state level. If their preaching had worked, students wouldn't have been asked to fund books.

Did administrators make their case, or should we doubt their preaching abilities?

Hopefully, though, regents will be successful. Though they've waited far too long to fix faculty salaries, the problem can't be put on hold any longer.

Last year, Gov. Bill Graves returned hundreds of millions of dollars to the public, giving each taxpayer a check to cover a meal at McDonald's. The truth of the matter is that if our priorities are a hamburger, we are hurting. Taxpayers should realize that a Big Mac could be the difference between a tenured professor and a teaching assistant.

You cannot expect to fund a public university through donations. A small contribution by many is more reasonable than a large contribution by one.

The state has lowered the morale of our faculty. It has damaged the perceived quality of public education in the state.

We must establish a reliable and continued source of funding on the state level. Anything else is unacceptable.

OUR VIEW, an editorial selected and debated by the editorial board, is written after a majority opinion is formed. The editorial board consists of Collegian editors and other staff members. OUR VIEW is the Collegian's official opinion.

EDITORIAL BOARD

EDITOR IN CHIEF
JILL JARSULIC

MANAGING EDITOR/ PRESENTATION
TODD STEWART

NEWS EDITOR
TRAVIS D. LENKNER

PHOTO EDITOR
STEVE HEBERT

CAMPUS EDITOR
KELLEE MILLER

CITY/GOVERNMENT EDITOR
MATT KREPS

SPORTS EDITOR
JEREMY KELLEY

ARTS & ENTERTAINMENT EDITOR
DIANA LEE

OPINION EDITOR
JON KURCHE

COPY CHIEF
JANET COOK

eCOLLEGIAN EDITOR
R.J. DIEPENBROCK

SPECIAL PROJECTS EDITOR
ANGELA KISTNER

KELLIE FARRELL/COLLEGIAN

A place to call America

Johnson County isn't quite the new society critics have discovered

You find yourself sitting in an Italian restaurant in an Armenian-American neighborhood being served by a Mexican-American waitress.

A flier on the table invites you to a Fourth of July family day at the old Spanish mission two towns over.

So you've arrived in a United States of America at the end of the millennium, as it was meant to be from the beginning: a place of cross-cultural experience, of blurred lines, of overwhelming success.

For a deep-rooted Kansan — with a half-realized notion of Midwest regional identity — transplanted to Los Angeles for the summer, it's not a question of if but rather just how soon you will question your association with place.

In parts of the city, you'll swear you're in a Johnson County with palm trees. Yet in others, you're in Hong Kong or Mexico City or Tokyo. The seemingly endless stream of cities fused into one unit overwhelms the senses. It's enormously frustrating to confront this behemoth only to find yourself figuratively back in Johnson County.

Circumstances like that restaurant scene are becoming more common as our country diversifies, absorbing the qualities of people from nations throughout the world. But is this new society really absorbing people, or is it simply providing for pockets of transplanted world citizens?

Los Angeles, like Johnson County, is a success as an economic reality, not a cultural or urban one. Asking your neighbor to salute the flag is a bit too much. Should we care, as long as we all are driving new cars and can afford designer everything? Does place and urban identity matter that much anymore?

In the August issue of Atlantic Monthly, Robert Kaplan travels up and down the West Coast exploring a series of regions — Los Angeles; San Francisco; Portland, Ore.; Seattle and Vancouver. He argues these regions exist as city-states with economic power that rivals any country. He sees a future where these city-states depend on a central government solely to provide military protection. Kaplan's America consists of a multiethnic population congregating in cities like Los Angeles to take advantage of its economic and political realities.

In cities like Kansas City, it's not the city proper where this economic pluralism strikes hardest. It's not even the suburbs. Kaplan sees the suburban cities — Overland Park et al. — as meaningless. It's the county, namely Johnson County, people recognize as the new power center.

Is "Johnson County" a term that signifies a new society — one that has freed itself from conventional notions of urban identity — or is it simply a term of convenience for describing a non-place of boutique homes and schlocky strip malls?

Johnson County is too young to carry the kind of historical legacies the traditional city does; it also lacks the cultural institutions the more cosmopolitan Kansas City supports because the big J.C. isn't about creating a new society, it's about escaping an old one. It's about finding like socio-economic enclaves and living the good life. The collection of no-name cities that make up the county are old-fashioned fringe cities — typical unsexy suburban planning at its best.

This is hugely different than the new societies on the West Coast that are stoked with a never-ending influx of new immigrants. These immigrants might be flocking to American shores to escape an old society, but they are coming to a new country to create a new life. They aren't trading their midtown Victorian house for a Tudor one on a golf course in a fringe city — that's just what passes for success in this country.

Are shifts in the economic power centers of our cities really signifiers of a new society or merely more steps in the continual evolution of the city? Even Los Angeles has seen its power center shift from downtown to Wilshire Boulevard to the west side and then back to downtown. Now, just like every large city in the country, power isn't concentrated in one specific location. To say Johnson County is the new power center is to marginalize the commercial viability of significant business centers like Crown Center or the traditional downtown.

Missing from this argument is any consideration of the worth of this new society. It's one thing to identify a shift in power; it's another to judge its success. What fringe cities always have provided in new neighborhoods and shopping, they have traditionally lacked in urban appeal or consistency. This urban form is not something anyone ever desires to visit, if only because there is no location one can visit among the highway interchanges, gated communities and corporate parks. As if this argument wasn't a bit tired already, it's obvious that it cannot be repeated enough in this country.

I've often lamented the placelessness of our Kansas cities only to find recompense in our small towns. No, we are not facing down a new post-millennial society in Kansas; in many ways we still are dealing with a typical 20th-century kind of existence — one built on trust, honesty, and loyalty, and not always economic and technological progress.

Russell Fortmeyer is a fifth-year senior in architectural engineering. You can send him e-mail at rmf@ksu.edu.

K-State football fans, are you ready? You better be

The rabid anticipation on campus is about to get it's first fix for the season. In only three days, the first kickoff of the most hyped season in K-State Football history occurs. With all the talk about the team, it's easy to overlook the role the majority of us play, the fans.

We have stood in line for our chance to be there to hear the crushing blow of a good hit and revel in the big plays. We've been to the pep rallies and heard Coach Bill Snyder and the players call us the best fans in the world, but do we deserve such praise?

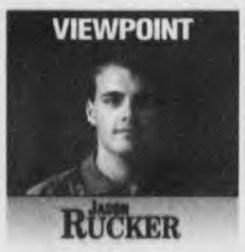
I would agree that we have some great fans, but we have had a few lapses. To be the best fans, we need to be there for K-State in all arenas. If you're a true fan, you would stand up for the College of Engineering or the basketball team just as zealously as the football team.

The most pathetic display of our weakness came last year at the University of Kansas vs. K-State game in Bramlage Coliseum. At the beginning of the game, the fan support was nearly 85-percent K-State, with a small faction of 15 percent KU supporters scattered about. As the end of the game drew near, and it became obvious we weren't going to pull off the upset, the support shifted to 90-percent KU and only 10 percent still backing the Cats.

I'm not a big fan of basketball myself, but as a K-State student and ticket holder, I would sooner shave with a cheese grater and splash on a little rubbing alcohol aftershave than wave the wheat for the Hawks. Unfortunately, a large contingency of the student body didn't share my ideas on what fan loyalty was all about. If you were one of these people, you ought to be ashamed of yourself. What kind of pathetic loser can't stand behind his team because they're down?

Not that I haven't ever said anything bad about one of our teams. As anyone who sits within 50 yards of me knows, I get into the games, and when we make dumb mistakes, I get vocal. I don't turn on the team, though; it's just temporary frustration lashing out.

I know there are many students out there who support other teams because they have been fans of a given team growing up. Well, you aren't a student at that other school now, and your peers are the athletes here. Why wouldn't you support the people you see on campus and with whom you attend class? Campus unity only can make us all stronger. I assume you are here of your own volition. In that case, have a little school pride.



To have pride in your peers is to have pride in yourself. Not that there is anything wrong with following a team you've grown up with, but when it comes to supporting your own school, there should be no question.

Another area we as fans could work on is endurance. In many games last year, particularly the early games, you could hear crickets chirping during the second half. Now, I realize the Indiana State Sycamores are not exactly a football powerhouse, and the game might get ugly, but the team is out there giving its all, so we should too. At least we have something to cheer about. There are stadiums that roar like Arrowhead Stadium even though the teams routinely go 5-6 on the season. The fans are there to watch football and have a good time. The more into the game they are, the more rewarding the win.

We need to get out there and get our vocal cords into shape. The fans haven't had two-a-days to get into prime cheering shape, so we need to get with it at every game. By the time the tough games come, we won't fail the team when it needs the roar of the crowd to keep it energized.

I know by the end of the game, some people just are sobering up enough to realize where they are. However, this should make it easy for them to cheer — they finally can make out the scoreboard. So wipe the vomit off your shoes and join the din of the crowd. (Note to announcer: Don't say, "Please remain off the field after the game." This only serves to remind the intoxicated what it was they planned to do after the game.)

While we haven't been the best fans in the world, we have been great fans. This year, let's strive to earn the title Snyder has given so generously. Let's strive to be the kind of fans other teams dread: obscenely loud, relentless, clad in purple kilts and war paint ... well, at least two out of three.

Jason Rucker is a senior in animal science. You can send him e-mail at anubis@ksu.edu.

BSU sets '98-'99 goals

BY JEFF ELLIOTT
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

The Black Student Union has its goals set and also has many tasks to accomplish during the 1998-1999 school year. At the first general meeting last night, members of the organization made their goals clear.

With a theme of "United We Stand, Together We Fall," the organization is focused on one specific purpose: the education and success of African-American students on campus.

The group's executive officers were introduced as well as several guest speakers. One speaker was K-State Student Body Vice President Andy Macklin, who spoke to the more than 150 people in attendance.

Macklin addressed the issue of the lack of diversity at K-State. He said one of the focuses during his term as student body vice president is to promote diversity at K-State.

Brandon Clark, BSU president, spoke on the various goals of the organization.

"Education is number one," Clark said. "We want to see as many students succeed as possible and also see an overall drop in the number of students we lose each semester by providing tutoring sessions and academic seminars."

In addition to focusing on unity, the group is dedicated to helping African-American students succeed on a predominantly white campus, Clark said. K-State's African-American community composes only 3 percent of the total student body population.

The group has several upcoming activities. In addition to various fraternity and sorority events, a Welcome Back Celebration will take place at 3 p.m. Sept. 12. An academic workshop also is scheduled for Sept. 22. BSU meets at 7 p.m. every Tuesday evening in Union 212.

Dow jumps 288 points one day after big fall

BY MARTIN CRUTSINGER
THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

WASHINGTON, D.C. — When the stock market takes a stomach-churning dive, it doesn't necessarily mean the overall economy will suffer. This time, many worry that investors looking at suddenly smaller retirement accounts and mutual funds will feel less flush and curb their spending.

Magnified by millions of people, that could kick the props out from under an economy already buffeted by the Asian crisis and bring on a recession, private economists are warning.

The stock market managed a remarkable comeback on Tuesday with the Dow Jones industrial average soaring 288 points, the second-biggest one-day point gain in history.

Even with Tuesday's rally, the Dow is still down 1,510 points, or 16.2 percent, from its July high, meaning that investors have suffered losses on paper of $2 trillion in just six weeks time.

While the Clinton administration said Tuesday that Wall Street's turbulence has not shaken the economy's underlying strength, private economists said they are not so sure.

They worry about the "wealth effect." Consumers spend more when their net worth is rising. But the flip side is also true. If they see their investments losing value, they spend less on new cars, computers, appliances and vacations.

Just how much of an effect could that $2 trillion in paper losses have on the economy?

David Wyss, an economist at Standard & Poor's DRI, said it is likely to reduce consumer spending by $50 billion over the next two years, shaving 0.6 percentage point off growth.

That might not seem like a huge amount, but it comes as the U.S. economy is already slowing, weighed down by an Asian crisis that has battered American factories' and farms' ability to sell their products overseas.

America's gross domestic product, which last year raced ahead at a 3.9 percent annual rate, will expand just 1.5 percent in 1999 and 2 percent in 2000, Wyss said.

That's assuming the Asian crisis does not worsen further and the Federal Reserve comes to the rescue soon with interest rate cuts.

"Right now, the chance of a recession occurring in the next two years is about 50-50," Wyss said. "With growth rates as low as we are forecasting, it doesn't take much to turn them into negative numbers."

One worry is that new investors in the stock market, who have never gone through a period of falling prices, will cut back more on spending than current models project.

An estimated 44 percent of American households now own stock either directly or through retirement plans, up from 20 to 25 percent during the Black Monday stock market plunge of 1987.

Economists estimate that Americans spend between 2 and 4 cents of every additional $1 in wealth and make a similar cutback in spending for every $1 in lost wealth.

But Sung Won Sohn, chief economist at Norwest Corp., said the traditional models might be missing the downside risks.

"Coming downwhill is going to be more painful," Sohn said. "If the stock market falls 30 percent, which is not out of the question, and the global economic wildfire spreads to Latin America, then we could quite possibly see a recession in 1999."

Of course, the big stock-market decline this time around could prove to be no more worrisome than the "Black Monday" crash of October 1987, when the market lost 22.6 percent in a single day.

The Fed responded quickly with interest rate cuts and the economy kept sailing along. That benign outcome is the one being stressed by the White House.

President Clinton, in Moscow for a summit with Boris Yeltsin, said Tuesday that America's "fundamental economic policy is sound" and his advisers said that the U.S. unemployment rate remains near the lowest levels in three decades with no threat from inflation.

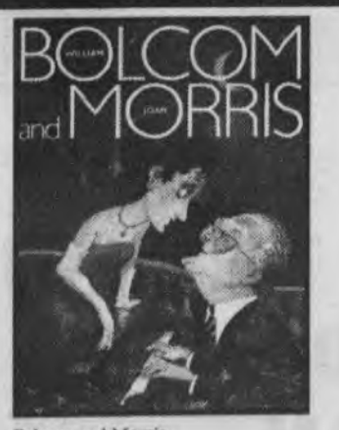
The economy's good points certainly seemed to outweigh market swoons among shoppers Tuesday at a downtown Washington computer store.

"I'm not nervous because I'm young," said David Williams, 27, an employee at a defense contracting firm who said his stock investments were in his company's 401-k plan. "You've got to ride it out. The day they hand me my pink slip is the day I start getting nervous."

Claflin Books and Copies
DEPENDABLE QUALITY SERVICE:
FAX SERVICE
1814 Claflin Rd. 776-3771

PIZZA SHUTTLE DELIVERS
776-5577
1800 Claflin Road

HIT THE TRAIL SALE
Back Packs and Shoulder Bags On Sale:
North Face
Eagle Creek
JanSport
the PATHFINDER
OUTDOOR EQUIPMENT SPECIALISTS
304 POYNTZ 539-5639



Moving Through Your PROBLEMS

A Creative way of getting unstuck
Through MOVEMENT
University Counseling Services
532-6927
Beginning Mid-September

LONGHORNS BAR & GRILL
Wednesday
Ladies Night
$1Bottles!!!!!
Be a Cowgirl for a Year!
1st Annual Cowgirl Competition
Contest Begins September 10th!
1115 Moro 776-8770

McCain
THE FLYING KARAMAZOV BROTHERS
THE BERGONZI STRING QUARTET
BOLCOM AND MORRIS

Experience an evening in a mad, comic and musical world, where juggling can be heard and music must be seen to be believed. Challenge the Karamazovs! Bring an item from home to test Brother Ivan's skill and bet a standing ovation against a pie in the face that he can't juggle it. From musical wonders to impossible feats of levity, the show is an irresistible mix of skill and silliness, which once seen, may still prove to be beyond belief.
The Flying Karamazov Brothers
Wednesday, September 16, 7:30 p.m.
Public: $20, 16 Seniors: $18, 14
Students/Children: $10, 8
Hailed by critics for its "electrifying and masterful" performances, the Bergonzi String Quartet has generated enormous excitement around the globe. The ensemble has chosen works by Haydn and Brahms for its McCain concert. Especially interesting will be the Bergonzi's performance of Argentinian Alberto Ginastera's Quartet No. 1; for the ensemble is known for its insightful interpretations of Hispanic music. Hear for yourself the quartet that delights critics and audiences alike.

Bergonzi Quartet
Sunday, September 20, 3 p.m.
Public: $16 Seniors: $14
Students/Children: $8
Working with your spouse isn't always easy but the husband and wife team of William Bolcom and Joan Morris have done better that just prove it possible–proclaimed by the Boston Globe as "one of the great musical collaborations of our time." Bolcom, the winner of a 1988 Pulitzer Prize is recognized as one of the most signifigant composers and pianist working in America today, and Morris, a mezzo-soprano, will celebrate the 100th birthdays of Gershwin and Youmans.

Bolcom and Morris
Nice Work If You Can Get It
Saturday, September 26, 8 p.m.
Public: $18 Seniors: $16
Students/Children: $9
KEvents are presented in part by the Kansas Arts Commission, a state agency, and the National Endowment for the Arts, a federal agency, and the K-State Fine Arts Fee. The Flying Karamazov Brothers are presented with support from the Bell Family Endowment for the Performing Arts. Bolcom and Morris is presented with support from the Jeanne Wells Durkee Memorial Fund.
CALL MCCAIN AT 785-532-6428
You can charge your tickets to VISA, MasterCard, or Discover. Or stop by the box office, noon to 6 p.m. weekdays.

Wednesday Specials
Mon. 4PM-2AM
Tues.-Sun. 11AM-2AM
1129 Laramie
537-4045
Big Screen TV
2 FOOSBALL TABLES
1 DART BOARD
$1 Domestic Bottles
$2 Micros and Imports

GOLF TOURNAMENT
2 Man Scramble Mon., Sept. 7
8 a.m. Shotgun Start
Prizes for each flight!
call to register - 539-1024
WILDCAT CREEK sports center
3639 Anderson Ave.

InterKan.Net, Inc.
Save $10
with this coupon!
www.interkan.net
Apply to the one time $10 set-up fee
--or--
Pay by credit card and take $10 off your first monthly bill
56K and ISDN
Fast Reliable Access
For Personal & Business Use
Pick your monthly plan!
See us at 1106 R Laramie or 565-0991
10-6 Mon-Fri
Noon - 5 Sat
Not valid with other offers. Expires 12/31/98

GET AWAY FROM THE NORM
For all your sporting events...come party with friends.
•New management • Re-decorated • Plenty of well-lit parking
THE BLEACHERS
Fri.-Sun. 11 a.m. to close • Mon.-Thurs. 4 p.m. to close

Kansas State University
Student Health Insurance Plan
Underwritten By: Gerber Life Insurance Company, Inc.
Premium received by Gerber Life Insurance Company by 9/30/98 will have an effective date of 8/22/98
Student Only Rates (30 years of age & younger):
Semi-Annual Premium for the Basic Plan: $240.00
Semi-Annual Premium for the Comprehensive Plan: $396.50
Semi-Annual Premium for the New Limited Plan: $180.00
Student Only Rates (31 years of age & older):
Semi-Annual Premium for the Basic Plan: $345.00
Semi-Annual Premium for the Comprehensive Plan: $569.00
Semi-Annual Premium for the New Limited Plan: $259.00.
If you are interested in enrolling, please contact G-M Underwriters Agency, Inc. at (800) 521-2623 or at our e-mail address: gmu2concentric.net.
For additional information, contact the Student Insurance Representative at Lafene Health Center:532-2255

Woman sentenced to 19 years for kidnapping newborn baby

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

KANSAS CITY, Kan. — A 19-year-old woman who said she just wanted someone to love her and not "take off" like everybody else was sentenced Tuesday to nearly six years in prison for kidnapping a newborn baby girl from a hospital.

Amanda Tull pleaded guilty to kidnapping on June 1. Her boyfriend, Buddy Hall, 31, pleaded guilty to being an accessory after the fact to kidnapping. He also was sentenced Tuesday to two years, three months in prison.

Neither Tull nor Hall, both of Sheridan, Mo., will be eligible for parole under the sentences handed down by U.S. District Judge Kathryn Vratil.

Both defendants have received psychological treatment in the past. Vratil recommended they serve their time at a federal-medical facility. The final decision will be made by the Federal Bureau of Prisons.

Tull had faced life in prison on the kidnapping charge, and Hall could have been sentenced to 15 years. Vratil also sentenced Tull to five years supervised release after her sentence is served and Hall to three years following his.

The baby's mother, Trish Nicole Shockey, was in court Tuesday with Carlie, now seven months old.

"To me, the sentences are not long enough. They put us through a lot," Shockey said.

In exchange for the guilty pleas, the government had agreed not to oppose a request that the couple be sentenced at the low end of the sentencing guidelines.

Those guidelines allow the defendants to be given a lesser prison sentence if a kidnapping victim is released within 24 hours of being taken. The government had objected to the rule being applied to this case because the baby was not released but tracked down by the FBI 23 hours after the kidnapping.

Vratil overruled the government's objection and said she would allow the reduction in sentence. However, Vratil sentenced the defendants on the higher end of the sentencing guidelines because it would allow them more time to get the treatment they need, she said.

Tull told the judge she took the baby from the University of Kansas Medical Center on Jan. 28 because she wanted someone to love her without question.

Vratil asked Tull if she had thought about what her actions would do to the baby's family.

"Not really," said Tull, who was on probation for a misdemeanor conviction at the time of the kidnapping. "I just wanted somebody that wasn't going to take off like everybody else."

When asked by Vratil if she had anything to say to the baby's family, a tearful Tull said, "I'm just really sorry that it happened. I wish I could fix it."

Mike Harris, a federal public defender representing Tull, said his client had received extensive counseling from the time she was 12 into her mid-teens because she had been sexually abused.

Harris said Tull wanted a baby so she could create the loving family she never had as a child.

Hall's attorney, Carl Cornwell, said his client has psychological problems. He spent almost a year in 1986 being treated for anger control at the state hospital at St. Joseph.

Cornwell said Hall was afraid of Tull and was persuaded into taking part in the kidnapping. He also wanted a family and just followed along.

Both defendants had been given psychiatric examinations and were found competent to stand trial before they entered their guilty pleas.

"I've got no problem with the sentence," Harris said.

"Buddy is comfortable with it, too. He just wants to get help and put this thing behind him."

Prosecutors said Tull was the mastermind behind the kidnapping. She told Hall to wait in the delivery waiting room of the hospital while she took baby Carlie from her room as her mother slept.

Hall drove Tull and the baby to St. Joseph where they bought gasoline and baby supplies.

They then drove to their residence in Sheridan where Tull clipped the baby's hair in an attempt to disguise her. The next day, the couple showed off the baby as their own to friends in Sheridan and Grant City.

Later that day, they drove to her mother's home in High Ridge, Mo., south of St. Louis, where FBI agents, alerted by a tip, arrested them.

The government was pleased with the outcome of the case.

"I think it was a terrible crime and the sentences that were given fit the crime," U.S. Attorney Jackie Williams said.

Pilot strike continues at Northwest Airlines

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

MINNEAPOLIS — Northwest Airlines laid off 177 workers Tuesday and said many of its 50,000 employees could be next as a strike by pilots reached a fourth day.

Spokeswoman Marta Laughlin said 162 dispatchers and 15 meteorologists would be laid off by the end of the day. Northwest put a decision on its other employees on hold until Wednesday, she said.

"As a company, the last resort we want to look to is layoffs," Laughlin said. Once workers are laid off, it will take longer to restart the airline, she said.

The layoffs came before Transportation Secretary Rodney Slater met with Northwest chief executive John Dasburg and union leaders in Washington, D.C., and urged them to resume negotiations.

After the meeting, which lasted about five hours, Slater indicated that no commitment to resume talks had been made.

He said the Clinton administration has no intention of intervening in the strike at this time, and said he would recommend that the National Mediation Board try to restart the talks.

"An agreement would be in the best interests of the parties and the American people," Slater said.

Laughlin said the company appreciated the opportunity to explain its position, but had no further comment on the meeting.

The employees were told they will not be paid for time lost, and they are not to report for work until called back by the airline.

Laughlin said earlier that workers most closely connected to operation of flights would receive notice first.

Northwest, with nearly 1,700 flights daily, was announcing flight cancellations at 9 a.m. each day the strike continued, one day in advance for domestic flights and two days in advance for international flights, Laughlin said.

The two sides are separated on issues of compensation and job security.

Laughlin said he estimated strike costs for Northwest at $26 million a day. Pilots would begin getting an average $1,300 a month in strike benefits 35 days into a strike. That amounts to almost $8 million per month for Northwest's 6,100 pilots.

The pilots' strike fund is $65 million; Northwest has about $3 billion.

Northwest is the nation's sixth-largest airline in terms of passengers carried annually and the fourth-largest in revenue.

It carries nearly 150,000 passengers a day and 2.9 million pounds of cargo on 1,700 flights in North America, Europe, Asia and India.

Claflin Books and Copies
DEPENDABLE QUALITY SERVICE:
FAX SERVICE
1814 Claflin Rd. 776-3771

AMERICAN FAMILY INSURANCE
AUTO HOME BUSINESS HEALTH LIFE
TIM ENGLE

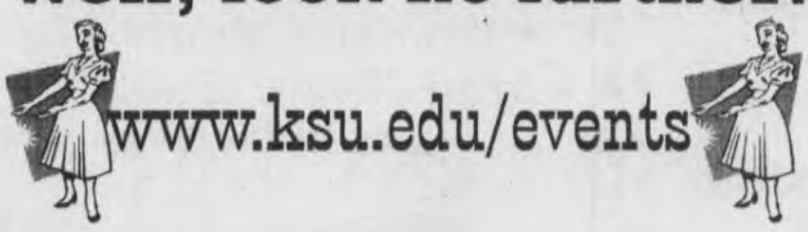
"K-State Grad 88"
"Call Us For A Quote"
3320 Anderson 539-9200

Forensics Speech Team
Join Today!
No experience required
Squad Meetings
Mondays at 3:30 p.m., Nichols 311
For more information:
532-6875
craigb@ksu.edu

3 DAYS AND COUNTING UNTIL KICKOFF.
The Collegian will be with you every step of the way.

Package Auto & Home Coverage for 20% Discount on Auto Insurance.

Clay Taylor
539-6949
315 Houston suite G
Manhattan
AMERICAN FAMILY INSURANCE
AUTO HOME BUSINESS HEALTH LIFE



Remnant Sale
211 S. 4th

$3.99 per sq yd
while supplies last
MANHATTAN Wholesale Carpet
(785)776-7351

KSU WOMEN'S RUGBY
OPEN PRACTICE
5:00 p.m. Rec Center
Info. Call Christy or Natasha 395-2623

Multi-Engine Flight Training
• Twin Comanche w/HSI, RMI, GPS
• 7,500-Hour ATP Instructor
• Reasonable Rates
• Hugh Irvin
539-3128

Pregnancy Testing Center
539-3338
•Free pregnancy testing
•Totally confidential service
•Same day results
•Call for appointment
Loeated across from campus in Anderson Village
Mon.-Fri. 9 a.m.-5 p.m.

Upset that you are missing out on all the great events happening at K-State and in the Manhattan community? Are you searching for something that can keep you current on what is going on around town?
Well, look no further!

www.ksu.edu/events
www.ksu.edu/events is your comprehensive guide to all K-State related events. You are now able to access information regarding on-campus events, including event days, dates, times, locations and admission prices. Call Office of Student Activities and Services for more information (785) 532-6541.

HOME BANKING
YES! You can go on-line with Kansas State Bank and conduct your banking business.
AROUND THE CORNER
Account Transfers • Balance Inquiries
KANSAS STATE BANK
Bill Paying • Loan Payments • Loan Inquiries
AROUND THE WORLD
Downtown Aggieville Westloop
Your Hometown Quality Bank
KANSAS STATE BANK
http://www.kansasstatebank.com
FDIC 785-587-4000

PIZZA SHUTTLE DELIVERS
776-5577
1800 Claflin Road

Don't be just another face in the Crowd.

Make a difference!
Apply to be a Student Governing Association Intern!
For more information, stop by the Office of Student Activities and Services on the ground floor of the K-State Union. (785) 532-6541
Application deadline: Wednesday, September 9th

KSU MENS TENNIS CLUB
INFORMAL MEETING IN THE UNION
RM 206 THURSDAY
SEPT. 3, 7:30 P.M.

NEW MEMBERS WELCOME!!

SALARIES

■ continued from page 1

short-lived as the program only was funded by the Kansas Legislature for two of its three years. In fact, documentation of the salary problems shows the program only made up 3 percent of what was an 11-percent lag during the two years of funding.

Those results quickly moved back to the 11-percent average after the Legislature stopped funding the program.

According to the president's report, the faculty is back to the same pay relative to its peers as in 1988.

"If we had been getting 4 percent every year for the last 20 years, these numbers would be a lot better," Wefald said of the salary lag.

The problem affects not only K-State, but also other regents schools.

"What we're seeing here is a steady decline of the institutions in what they can compensate their faculty compared to their peer institutions," Conant said.

The board has offered a solution, but funding for the plan is still not certain.

The board included a 7.6-percent raise for each of three years in its latest budget request to the governor. The increase would take effect in fiscal year 2000.

Of the 7.6 percent, 3.6 percent accounts for general raises to cover inflation and cost-of-living adjustments. The other 4 percent goes toward relieving the 12-percent gap between K-State's salaries and salaries at other schools.

However, the request has to go through both the governor and the Legislature for funding.

Neither Legg nor Conant could speculate on how the request would fare.

"I think he is sympathetic, but he is also living in a time when it is fashionable to reduce taxes," Legg said of the governor.

Much of the funding question rests on what benefits legislators see from the investment.

Conant said funding education helps the state in several direct ways. Students boost the economies where they attend school, education reduces crime and better schools keep Kansas' best students in state for higher education.

"What we want to do is educate all of the Legislature, as well as the people of Kansas and the business community, about what a good investment higher education is," Conant said. "From just about every angle, post-secondary education is a good investment for the state."

REGENTS

■ continued from page 1

Docking said. "We've documented 60 cases so far at the Kansas State campus."

Not only does K-State lose teaching faculty, but Docking said it loses the research — and the money for research — that comes with being a land-grant university.

"Many of the faculty members have substantial research and funding in place, and when they go, their funding for research goes, and our opportunity for attracting business goes with that," he said.

Docking said the board hopes to bring K-State's faculty salaries in line with its peer institutions within three years.

"We're putting together a faculty salary enhancement plan that we will be advancing in the Legislature in the upcoming session," Docking said. "I think we're going to have to make a persuasive case to the legislators that enhancing faculty salaries should not be viewed simply as an expenditure but should be viewed as an investment in the future."

The program would not only account for inflation but would increase salaries an additional 4 percent for the first two years.

"What we are trying to do now is look at a two-year program that will both match the projected cost-of-living increase plus narrow the gap in those first few years between where we are now and where our peer institutions are," Docking said. "Then in the third year, try to make up the difference."

Wefald said he is supportive of the regents' efforts.

"Whether we ever catch up or not, I commend the regents for coming up with this," Wefald said. "It's going to be a never ending chore to try to keep our faculty salaries up."

Though the plan has high aims, Docking said it will be a tough sell to state legislators — especially just a year after the largest tax cut in Kansas history.

The Margin of Excellence campaign, which raised faculty salaries in the late 1980s, and the recent Crumbling Classrooms Initiative are other examples of regents' projects that have been approved with work, Docking said.

"We'll face some of the same challenges in convincing the people of Kansas that they need to look at a faculty-salary enhancement," Docking said. "But we have in the past, with the Margin of Excellence and the Crumbling Classrooms. Now we need to focus on the faculty-salary enhancement."

Docking also discussed two other goals the board has set for the year.

"Our second priority this year is to be an active participant in the discussions and the planning revolving around the issue of restructuring government coordination of higher education in Kansas," Docking said.

The initial meeting of Gov. Bill Graves' task force on higher education was Monday in Topeka. Wefald was appointed to serve on the committee.

Finally, Docking said the board will look to find a new president to serve at Wichita State University.

In general, Docking said the state is going down the right path.

"I think education, more than anything, holds the key to a successful future for the state of Kansas," Docking said. "We need to make the proper investment in higher education if we're going to be competitive into the next century."

FEED

■ continued from page 1

"I keep coming back and getting involved, and now I am involved in three clubs ... it gets you off to a good start," Shannon Blender, senior in agricultural education, said.

Other agriculture students said the college's tradition isn't limited to the watermelon.

"Tradition is the number-one thing — my freshman year, I came to meet people and get involved in a variety of organizations," Dixie Theurer, senior in agricultural economics, said. "My sophomore and junior years, I came to help show clubs. This year is my last year, and I am giving back to the college for what they have given to me the past three years,"

Becky Zenger, freshman in agricultural journalism said she plans to make this a tradition. This year, Zenger came to meet people and find out about opportunities.

She said her goal next year is to be working at one of the booths as an agriculture ambassador.

"It is notorious for freshmen to hear about it," Zenger said.

Home away from home.....
A Guide to Manhattan Hotels

In the Country Inn
Cozy Bed and Breakfast
Linda Roth, Innkeeper
Route 1, Box 8, Belvue, Kansas 66407
25 miles East of Manhattan
(785) 636-5409
We still have openings for football weekends!
Member of Kansas B&B Association

The Fairchild Inn
Manhattan, Kansas
"The Intimacy of a Bed and Breakfast with the Privacy of a Hotel"
2 Blocks from Campus
Kevin and Kurstin Peirce, Innkeepers
417 North 17th St.
Manhatan, KS 66502
Reservations: (785) 539-8292

Hampton Inn
For A Great Night's Rest You Can Always Count On Hampton Inn®.
At the new Hampton Inn you can count on a good night's rest in clean, comfortable and spacious guest rooms and king studies. Plus you'll enjoy our free breakfast selections, indoor pool, whirlpool, fitness facilities, free local phone calls, cable with HBO and on demand movies, voice mail/data port phones and in room coffee makers, irons and ironing boards. Meetings for up to 100 people can be arranged onsite at our facilities.
Even more... Hampton Inn offers a 100% Satisfaction Guarantee or your night's stay is free. When you consider the rest, you can easily see why you can count on Hampton Inn.
For reservations call:
785-539-5000
1-800-HAMPTON
Just north of East Highway 24 at 501 East Poyntz Ave. Manhattan, Kansas 66502
100% Satisfaction Guaranteed

Interested in assisting with the implementation of KSU's Honor Code?
Student Governing Association is accepting applications for the Honor Council
Qualifications: Must have completed two semesters at KSU.
Appointments are 1 or 2 year and based on college.
Deadline: Friday, Sept. 4th
Applications available in the Office of Student Activities and Services, Ground Floor, K-State Student Union.
Call 532-6541 for more information.

kansas state collegian GAMEDAY manhattan
THE OFFICIAL GUIDE TO K-STATE FOOTBALL WEEKENDS IN THE LITTLE APPLE
Gameday Manhattan is the All-Football Edition of the Collegian. Published on Home-game Saturdays. Follow the Cats all the way to their SIXTH STRAIGHT BOWL.
Pick up your copy at
• Local Bars & Restaurants
• Hotels • K-State Student Union
• A Cut Above
• Triangle Park in Aggieville on Fridays
• Aggieville Street Corners
• Precision Auto
• Rose Muffler • Baskin Robbins
• It's Greek to Me • Fraternities
• Sororities • Residence Halls
• Varneys
Watch for the Wildcat Bandwagon

Walnut Valley Festival
27th National Flat-Picking Championships
September 17, 18, 19, 20, 1998
Winfield, Kansas
$40,000 in contest prizes
Featuring in Person:
•John McCutcheon •Cherish the Ladies •Mike Cross •New Tradition •No Strings Attached •Dan Crary •Crucial Smith •Steve Kaufman •Crow Johnson •The Karen Mueller Trio •Hickory Hill •Small Potatoes •Roz Brown
•Tom Chapin with Michael Mark •Claire Lynch & the Front Porch String Band •Laurie Lewis with Tom Rozum, Todd Phillips & Craig Smith •Marley's Ghost •New West •Bryan Bowers •Beppe Gambetta •Spontaneous Combustion •Aileen & Elkin Thomas •Steve Gillette & Cindy Mangsen •Cathy Barton & Dave Para with Bob Dyer
•Stephen Bennett •Bob Franke •Bluestem •Live Bait the Band •Wild & Blue •Andy May •The Plaid Family •The Home Rangers •Still on the Hill •Bill Barwick •Linda Tilton •Barry Patton •Leon Howell
Ticket Prices / Gate
Weekend (4-day) $65
2-day Fri-Sat 50
Sat-Sun 40
Fri or Sat 25
Thurs (Gate Only) 25
Sun (Gate Only) 15
• Children ages 6-11 5
• Children under 6 admitted free with paid adult
NO REFUNDS
WORKSHOPS - 8 CONTESTS
Arts & Crafts Fair
4 Stages in Operation
Well Policed Grounds
No Animals,
No Beer or Alcohol, No Drugs
No Motorcycles (Due to Noise)
FESTIVAL GATE AND CAMPGROUNDS WILL OPEN THURS., SEPT. 10 AT 8 A.M. ONLY WEEKEND TICKET HOLDERS ALLOWED ON GROUNDS PRIOR TO THURS., SEPT. 17.
Visit us on our home page at: www.wvfest.com
or Email us at: wvfest@horizon.hit.net
For more information, write or call:
walnut valley association, inc.
P.O. Box 245
918 Main Winfield, KS 67156
Phone 316-221-3250

Paragon Technology Inc.

Our Two Newest Pre-Designed Systems
Athena & Thor...

Athena

- Gigabyte GA6BXC Pentium II BX Chipset Motherboard
- Intel Pentium-II 400MHzOEM= (1 Year Warranty)
- High Efficient CPU FAN for Pentium II (Ball Bearing)
- 100 MHz 64MB 4x64-16 (Compatible BX ChipSet)
- Matrox Millennium G200 8MB AGP (OEM)
- QUANTUM ST6480A 6.4GB U/ATA 10ms 128k
- Creative Labs 32X IDE Internal CD-ROM Drive
- Paragon MicroScan 19P (ADI OEM) 1600x1200 75 MHz, 0.22mm
- Creative Lab Digicom 56K V90w/Voice
- Mitsumi 1.44MB Floppy
- Cambridge Sound Works SW Speakers
- Yamaha 724 Enhanced 3D PCI Card-Software Wavetable
- Logitech IntelliMouse (First Mouse+) -Combo
- Microsoft Elite Natural Keyboard
- System Assembly w/1Yr warranty
- Choice of Microsoft Windows95 or 98 Full Version (with system)
- Software Package (details included)

DORM RESIDENTS
Need
Network Cards
D-Link TP/BNC PCI
$23.95

ACER ALN 310 TX
$36.95

Thor

- Gigabyte GA6BXC Pentium II BX Chipset Motherboard
- Intel Pentium-II 400MHzOEM= (1 Year Warranty)
- High Efficient CPU FAN for Pentium II (Ball Bearing)
- 100 MHz 64MB 4x64-8 (Compatible BX ChipSet)
- Matrox Millennium G200 8MB AGP (OEM)
- QUANTUM ST6480A 6.4GB U/ATA 10ms 128k
- Creative Labs 32X IDE Internal CD-ROM Drive
- Paragon MicroScan 19P (ADI OEM) 1600x1200 75 MHz, 0.22mm
- Creative Lab Digicom 56K V90w/Voice
- Mitsumi 1.44MB Floppy
- Cambridge Sound Works SW Speakers
- Yamaha 724 Enhanced 3D PCI Card-Software Wavetable
- Logitech IntelliMouse (First Mouse+) -Combo
- Microsoft Elite Natural Keyboard
- System Assembly w/1Yr warranty
- Choice of Microsoft Windows95 or 98 Full Version (with system)
- Software Package (details included)

TURTLE BEACH MONTEGO
is currently the best sound card on the market
game GOTTA HAVE IT!
$104.95

CAMBRIDGE SOUNDWORKS
SOUNDWORKS BY HENRY KLOSS
SoundWorks®
Retail $149.95
SALE $132.95

ATTENTION!
Architecture Students!
Pro II

- Gigabyte GA-5AX
- And K6-266
- 64MB EDO Memory
- Matrox Productiva G100 4MB AGP
- IBM 6.4
- Teac 32x CD-ROM
- Paragon Micro Scan 15" .24MM
- Creative Labs Ensong Sound Card
- Mitsumi 1.44 Floppy Drive
- Creative Labs Digicom 56k V.90w/Voice
- Lexmark 1100 Color Printer
- Juster AT-95 Speakers
- Logitech IntelliMouse
- Microsoft Windows 95 or 98 - Your Choice!
- Paragon Software Package

$1079.95

COLOR PRINTERS
LEXMARK 1100
$131.95
EPSON Stylus
$185.00

PARAGON MONITORS
- 15" .24mm—$174.95
- 17" .22mm—$289.95
- 19" .22mm—$554.95

Hercules

- Abit LX6 (PII-ATX-440LX)
- Intel Pentium-II 266MHzOEM= (1 Year Warranty)
- High Efficient CPU FAN for Pentium II (Ball Bearing)
- SDRAM 168Pin 3.3V 10ns 32MB Unbuffered
- Matrox Millennium II 4MB AGP Upgradable
- IBM DHEA-36480 6.4GB U/AT 9.5ms 128k 5400rpm
- Teac 32X CD-ROM
- Acer ATX Mid Tower Case w/235W Power Supply
- Paragon MicroScan 15P (ADI OEM) 1024X768 85Hz, 0.24mm
- Creative Labs Digcom 56K V90 w/Voice
- Mitsumi 1.44MB Floppy
- Juster AT-95, 200 Watts
- Creative Labs Ensoniq PCI Sound Card
- LOGITECH Mouseman 3 Button - Combo
- Mitsumi 104 Key Windows Keyboard
- Lexmark 1100 Color Inkjet Printer
- System Assembly
- Choice of Microsoft Windows 95 or 98 Full Version (with system)

$1,339.95

Zeus

- Abit LX6 (PII-ATX-440LX)
- Intel Pentium-II 300MHzOEM= (1 Year Warranty)
- High Efficient CPU FAN for Pentium II (Ball Bearing)
- SDRAM 168Pin 3.3V 10ns 32MB Unbuffered
- ATI Xpert@Play 4MB SGRAM PC2TV 1600x1200 AGP
- IBM DHEA-36480 6.4GB U/AT 9.5ms 128k 5400rpm
- TEAC 32X IDE Internal CD-ROM Drive
- Acer ATX Mid Tower Case w/235W Power Supply
- Paragon MicroScan 17P+ (ADI OEM) 1280X1024, 0.22mm
- Creative Labs Digcom 56K V90 w/Voice
- SONY 1.44MB Floppy
- Benwin BW980-3Way 70W (4 pieces) Speaker System
- Sound Blaster AWE64
- LOGITECH InteliMouse (First Mouse+) - Combo
- LITE-ON SK-600 Natural Keyboard
- Lexmark 1100 Color Inkjet Printer
- System Assembly w/ 1 Yr. Warranty
- Choice of Microsoft Windows 95 or 98 Full Version (with system)

$1,849.00

Cyclops

- ABIT BX6- BX Chipset
- Intel Pentium-II 400MHzOEM= (1 Year Warranty)
- High Efficient CPU FAN for Pentium II (Ball Bearing)
- 100 MHz32MB 4x64-16 (Compatible BX ChipSet)
- DIAMOND VIPER V330 4MG AGP (OEM)
- QUANTUM ST6480A 6.4GB U/ATA 10ms 128k
- Mitsumi 32X IDE Internal CD-ROM Drive
- Paragon MicroScan 17P+(ADI OEM) 1280x1024, 0.22mm
- ACER 76C 17in, 0.27 MM
- Creative Labs Digicom 56K V90 w/Voice
- Mitsumi 1.44MB Floppy
- Benwin BW980-3Way 70W (4 pieces) Speaker System
- Sound Blaster AWE64
- LOGITECH Mouseman, Button Mice-Combo PS/2
- KEYTRONICS 3601, PS/2 104 Keyboard
- System Assembly w/ 1 Year Warranty
- Microsoft Windows 95 Version (with system)

$1,999.95

• FREE System Builds • FREE Software Package with System Build

MICROSOFT CERTIFIED IN HOUSE TECHNICIANS • Systems Components Subject To Change Due To Availability

Paragon Technology
Claflin
Denison

Visit Us On our Website: http//www.paragoncomp.com

1800 Claflin, Suite 170 • First Bank Center at the Corner of Claflin & Denison,
Manhattan, Ks 66502
785-537-9999 Toll Free: 888.227.7PTI • Fax: 785-537-4141

GETTING DEFENSIVE

K-State secondary returns several starters from squad that led Big 12 in pass-efficiency defense

BY JON BALMER
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Mottos go hand-in-hand with college athletics. Whether it's time to "win one for the Gipper" or "Beware of the Phog," slogans seem to stick to certain programs like static cling. While the K-State football team has yet to choose its battle cry, the defensive backs might want to adopt one of their own: "Watch your back."

For a unit that finished first in the Big 12 Conference in pass-efficiency defense in 1997, the K-State secondary returns virtually all its starters.

Sophomore Dyshod Carter returns at cornerback while junior Lamar Chapman and sophomore Jarrod Cooper renew their jobs at safety. Senior Gerald Neasman, who played in 10 games in 1997, steps in at cornerback.

Although last year's secondary was loaded with young, inexperienced players, the unit became stronger with each game. Allowing only 126 yards per game passing, the Wildcat secondary contributed heavily to last year's fourth-best defense. Based on the success of last year's squad, Chapman said he felt his role would remain relatively the same.

"I don't think my role will change from last year," Chapman said. "Gerald's stepping in (at cornerback), and he's going to be a great player. He's just got to go out and play with great technique."

While producing on the field is important, guiding the new members of K-State's secondary might be one of Chapman's biggest roles this season. A second-team All-Big 12 defensive back in 1997, Chapman's experience on the field could help the newcomers adjust. While hoping to make bigger plays and produce more interceptions this season, Chapman said he listed being a team leader as one of his biggest goals.

"I'm kind of the oldest, and guys might look up to me a little just because of my experience," Chapman said.

With Chapman guiding the secondary, Cooper will bring serious attitude to the unit. Known for bone-jarring hits and unbridled energy, the sophomore safety's approach to the game has factored in well with the rest of the team.

"He's been like a brother to me," Chapman said. "We're kind of opposites but sometimes opposites attract. He has the ability to make big plays on the running game, which allows me the chance to do my job better."

This tight bond between players has resulted in a trust that runs deep among defensive backs. Sophomore Adrian Beard, who was thrown into the fire last season, said he felt the experienced players offered much needed assistance.

"Last year I got behind myself early in the season," Beard said. "Those guys (Chapman and Cooper) helped me out with the little things I needed."

Returning from a knee injury that removed him from the majority of the 1997 season, Beard has taken extensive measures to prepare for this season. With all training behind, Beard said it's time to transfer his recuperation into contribution for K-State.

"It's just a matter of getting out there and proving to myself and the coaches that I'm ready to play," Beard said.

The chance will come Saturday when the Wildcats welcome Indiana State to Wagner Field. Although the game is predicted to be a blowout, players refuse to overlook the Sycamores.

"They can easily crack the safetys and go for the deep pass," Chapman said.

"I just have to play myself in and not fly up to the run too fast."

Recently adopting the triple-option offense, Indiana State brings in a formation that Ohio used to give K-State trouble with last season. Frustrated by the triple option, the Cats gave up 430 yards of total offense before escaping with a 23-20 victory.

The 1998 schedule appears to possess similar challenges for the defense. With a strong front seven leading the way, many opponents will test K-State's secondary weaknesses.

And while last year's squad forced opponents to watch their backs, this season's secondary, realizes action precedes reputation.

For this reason alone Beard said Saturday's contest would not be taken lightly.

"We're going to have to play responsible football in this game," Beard said. "It's going to be a tough game mentally."

Lamar Chapman returns a punt for a K-State touchdown against Ohio last season at KSU Stadium.

CLIF PALMBERG/COLLEGIAN

SET FOR ACTION

Volleyball team opens season at home tonight against Drake

BY JOHN BERGGREN
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

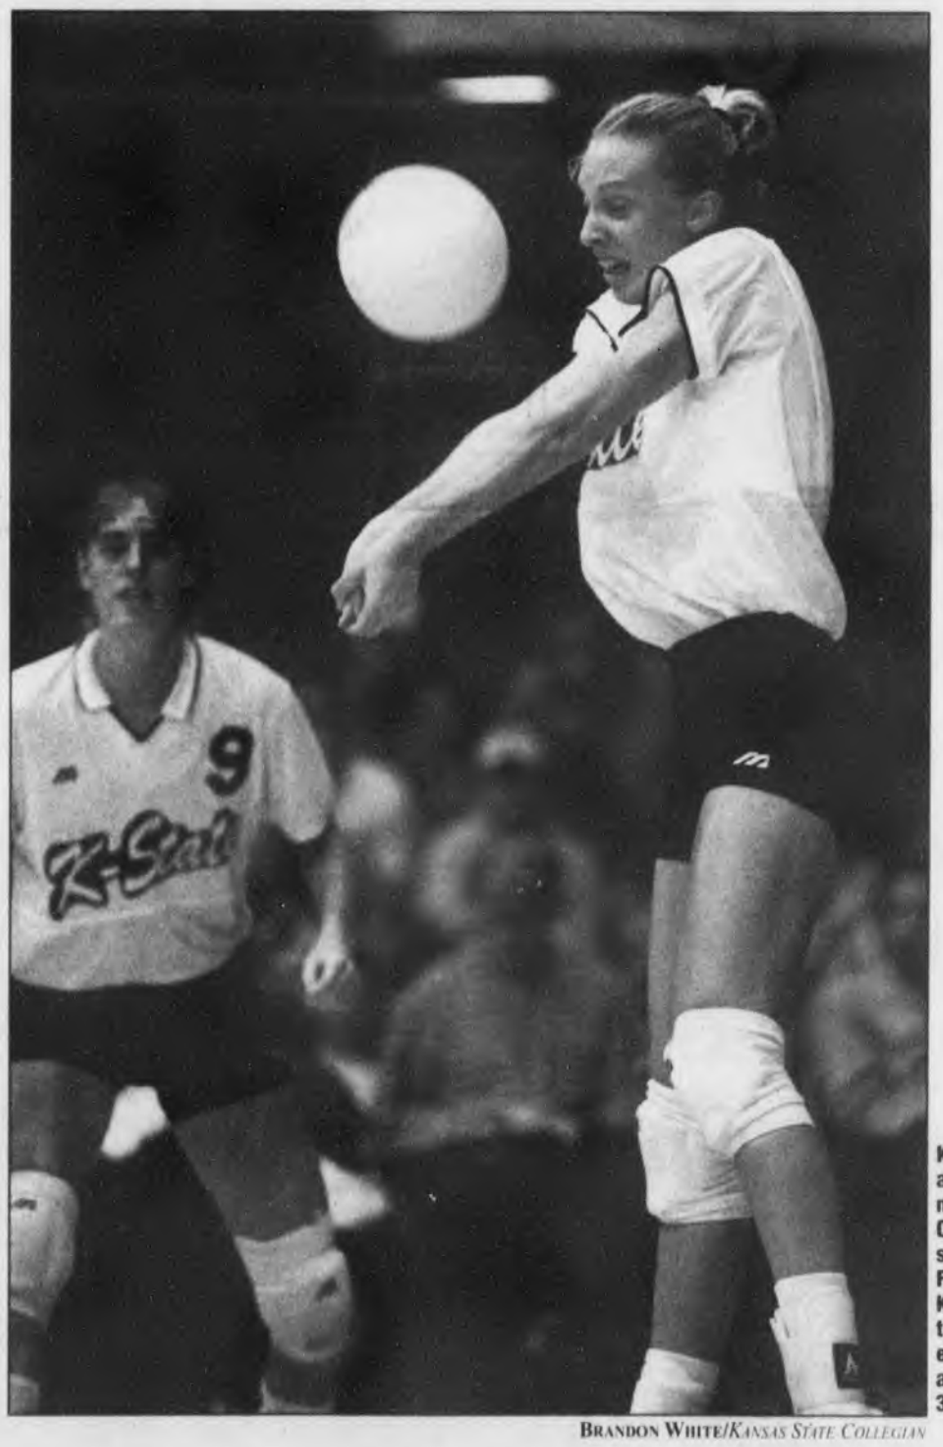
K-State volleyball opens its season with the first of three nonconference home games against Drake at 7 tonight in Ahearn Field House.

The Wildcats own the all-time advantage over the Bulldogs 20-8 and are said to be hoping to make a repeat performance of last year's matchup between the two schools where K-State dominated 3-0.

Drake comes into this season with a bit of a new look. Coach Blaine Tender enters his first season at the Bulldogs helm along with his wife, Mary, who is the associate head coach.

The Bulldogs return 10 players from last year's squad, which finished 7-21 as a member of the Missouri Valley Conference.

Leading the way for the Bulldogs is returning junior Jennifer Sieck. Sieck was an honorable mention All-Missouri Valley Conference in 1996, averaging 2.75 kills per match.



The Wildcats will be getting their first look at two freshman starters this evening. Freshman Disney Bronnenberg has earned the position as K-State's No. 1 setter, and either freshman Jayne Christen or freshman Liz Wegner will draw their first start at outside hitter.

K-State's other starting four are all veterans. Senior Kim Zschau will get the start at swing hitter, senior Val Wieck at middle blocker, sophomore Kelle Branting at middle blocker and junior Dawn Cady at K-State's outside hitter No. 2 position.

After more than two weeks of training and practice, K-State coach Jim McLaughlin said the squad finally was ready to finally play a match.

"We're definitely excited for the Drake matchup," McLaughlin said.

"We've been working real hard in practice and the girls are ready to play. We've got several freshmen who will be playing in their first college game, and it's going to be really exciting for them," he said.

Kim Zschau hits a bail during a match against Colorado last season at Ahearn Field House. The K-State volleball team was defeated in the match against Colorado 3-1.

BRANDON WHITE/KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Wilson to make major-league debut

WILSON

K-STATE SPORTS INFORMATION

The Chicago White Sox called former Wildcat All-American Craig Wilson up to their major-league squad early Tuesday when rosters were expanded for the final month of the major-league baseball season. Wilson had been playing at Calgary, Chicago's AAA affiliate in the Pacific Coast League. Wilson's call-up brings the number of Wildcats to reach the major leagues to five, following Ted Power, Bobby Randall, Andy Replogle and Eldon Auker.

Wilson was drafted by the White Sox in the 13th round of the 1992 draft after a spectacular career at K-State. Wilson led the Wildcats in batting average, hits, at-bats, doubles and RBIs for three consecutive seasons from 1990 to 1992. He also led the team in runs scored, triples and home runs twice each during his four-year career.

Wilson's 1992 campaign, one of the greatest single-season offensive performances in team history, culminated with the first-ever Big 8 Player-of-the-Year award for a K-State player, first-team All-America honors from Baseball America and second-team All-America honors from Collegiate Baseball. During that senior campaign, Wilson hit .416 with eight home runs, 62 RBIs and a .448 on-base percentage.

Wilson's name appears in K-State's career record books nine times, including the leaderboards for hits (282, 2nd), runs scored (181, 2nd), RBIs (176, 3rd), doubles (58, 2nd) triples (15, 2nd) and total bases (433, 3rd). He appears 10 times in the single-season record books, including hits (88, 3rd T91 and 87, 4th T92), RBIs (62, T-4th T92) and total bases (140, 3rd T91 and 138, 4th T92). He has K-State's single-game record for doubles with three against Oklahoma in 1989, a record he shares with Chris Wolf (vs. Wichita State 4-16-92) and J.D. Loudabarger (vs. Creighton, 2-25-98).

The White Sox open a three-game series with the Baltimore Orioles tonight in Baltimore. Wilson will get the opportunity to return home as the White Sox close their 1998 campaign with a four-game series in Kansas City starting Sept. 24.

McGwire breaks National League home run record

BY STEVEN WINE
THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

MIAMI — With two mighty cracks, Big Mac passed Hack.

Mark McGwire homered twice, raising his season total to 57 and breaking Hack Wilson's 68-year-old NL record with an electrifying performance that led the St. Louis Cardinals over the Florida Marlins 7-1 Tuesday night.

McGwire homered against Livan Hernandez leading off the seventh inning, sending a 1-1 pitch an estimated 450 feet over the center-field wall.

Two innings later, McGwire hit the first pitch from Donn Pall to almost the same spot. This time the estimated distance was 472 feet.

It was McGwire's seventh multihomer game this season and the 50th of his career, leaving him four short of Roger Maris' record with 24 games left.

He began the night tied with Sammy Sosa at 55 homers in their race to break Maris' 37-year-old record.

No. 56 landed on a tarp beyond the wall, and several boys scrambled for the souvenir as the crowd of 37,014 gave McGwire a standing ovation. He touched the plate with a big grin and playfully punched teammate Ron Gant in the stomach before returning to the dugout.

When the cheers continued, McGwire responded with a curtain call before the next batter stepped to the plate.

With one out and none on in the ninth, more than a dozen youngsters gathered on the tarp in anticipation of a homer — and that's where McGwire hit it. There was another frenzied ovation and another curtain call.

Wilson's NL record of 56 homers was set in 1930 for the Chicago Cubs.

He also had 190 RBIs that season, still the major-league record. McGwire has driven in 121 runs.

Before his latest homers, McGwire was batting just .222 this season against the Marlins, who have the worst pitching staff in the league.

McGwire hit a 545-footer, his longest of the season, against Hernandez in St. Louis on May 16. The Marlins' right-hander has allowed 31 homers this season — third-most in the NL.

McGwire flied out to center in the first, and the crowd booed playfully when he singled in the third. It was his 52nd single of the year.

As McGwire stepped to the plate leading off the fifth, the scoreboard briefly displayed an erroneous message saying Sosa had hit his 56th homer. McGwire then grounded out to second.

Matt Morris (5-4) allowed one run in seven innings. Gant hit his 22nd homer and Ray Lankford hit his 25th for the Cardinals.

St. Louis went ahead in the second on a two-out, two-run single by Delino DeShields. Placido Polanco's two-out RBI single made the score 3-0 in the third, and Gant homered with the bases empty in the fifth.

Hernandez singled home the only run for the Marlins, who lost their fifth game straight.

Nontraditional students face
ADDED CHALLENGES

STORIES BY SUZANNE WILSON
PHOTOS BY IVAN KOZAR

Catherine Ostroe compares her life to David vs. Goliath.

She's David.

A senior in dance and theater, Ostroe is a nontraditional student — a 33-year-old single parent who took a ten-year break from college. Ostroe has lived all over the United States from the far west to the far east. She's had numerous careers from working with conservation groups to being a veterinary technician.

Now she is here at K-State, struggling to make it on her own.

9:30 a.m. — Dancers take their places on the floor in Ahearn 304. The class, Modern Dance III, starts.

Ostroe walks in late, hurrying to take her place in line with the others. At first glance, she looks older, but she quickly blends in with other students.

"I try not to be too judgmental of myself, but I work hard to be faster," Ostroe said. "I have to be careful. I'm older and I can't afford to get hurt. I've learned that I just have to let things go."

Nontraditional students always seem to be short on time, Ostroe said.

"They're so involved with other things, especially taking care of a child," she said.

1:30 p.m. — Ostroe begins her homework. She is choreographing a dance about what she did last summer.

Ostroe plans to use her degree in the field of dance-movement therapy. She said she changed her major from biology to dance and theater three years ago because she felt it would give her a chance to be of service to others.

"You know how a person feels by their body movements and in changing those moves, you can change feelings," she said. "During my separation and divorce, I was taking a modern dance class, and it was the only thing that made me feel good."

Dancers have tremendous power for healing, she said.

"It helps with problem solving, and it helps us to be aware of ourselves and of others," Ostroe said. "This is a way I can help people."

Ostroe said she was abused by her ex-husband. Since their divorce, she has struggled to find enough money for food and shelter for herself and her daughter.

Although going to school keeps Ostroe ineligible for welfare, she is able to get subsidized rent. Ostroe said she doesn't know how she would make it without that help. She said she feels the community and her church have been a great support for her.

Ostroe said nontraditional students are trying to make their lives better.

"We are trying to be a David in a Goliath world; we are trying to protect our children," she said.

She said she hasn't chosen the easiest path. There are areas she could have gone into for more money, but they wouldn't involve helping others, she said.

"It's my only way of being David against Goliath," she said. "It's my only way of fighting."

Going to school and getting her degree are her goals right now, she said.

"I'm going to do it. I know it's going to cost me a lot of money, and I don't have it, but I have people on my side," she said. "I couldn't do it by myself."

5:45 p.m. — Ostroe packs up to go home. Her daughter is waiting at a friend's house. At 9 p.m., it will be bedtime. Ostroe will put her daughter to sleep and then start on her homework. Hopefully, she'll get to bed early tonight.

Despite having her daughter, Olivia, in class to look after, Catherine Ostroe, senior in dance and theater, concentrates on her jazz class.

26 percent of students are nontraditional

Statistics show that 26 percent of K-State's student population is nontraditional.

A nontraditional student is anyone 25 years of age or older, married, a parent, or anyone who has been out of school for several years.

Although 26 percent seems large, the percentages have dropped in the past two years, said Nina Tarner, assistant director with the Office of Adult Student Services.

She said this might be due to the current economic status of our nation or the lack of evening courses available at K-State.

"Some nontraditional students find it difficult to take classes during the day because of their job or their family, and even though (K-State) has tripled its class load for evenings, some students can't get the classes they need," Tarner said.

Adult Student Services is designed to help nontraditional students make a smooth transition to their academic life.

Adult Student Services director Nancy Bolsen said a lot of nontraditional students have to deal with issues such as child care and financial aid. The office is there to try to help as much as possible.

"They've been a great emotional support. I go in there and talk to Nancy and Nina about my problems. They're very much there, and they've also been very supportive," Catherine Ostroe, senior in dance and theater, said.

Adult Student Services offers programs such as Emergency Student Locator and commuter networking.

Emergency Student Locator is designed to help parents who might need to be reached in an emergency while they're on campus. Adult Student Services keeps schedules and students' usual study areas on file for situations such as these.

Commuter networking is for students who commute from another town. This program allows students to car pool and find others they can depend on in case of an emergency.

The most popular program at Adult Student Services deals with scholarships. Each year, Adult Student Services gives nine scholarships to full-time and part-time students through the equal opportunity fund. It co-sponsors "Show me the money," an event that takes place each year to inform the student body about scholarships available at K-State. The office also keeps scholarship applications on file to help nontraditional students who need financial assistance.

"They've been really instrumental in helping me for scholarships, which is very important," Ostroe said.

"They pointed me in the right direction, and they found ones that they thought applied to me and put them aside."

Catherine Ostroe checks on her daughter, Olivia, during a jazz class Tuesday afternoon. Olivia was absent from school due to a sickness.

Family Weekend
Sept. 25-Sept. 27, 1998

KANSAS STATE UNIVERSITY'S
1998 HONORARY FAMILY
RECOGNITION

Tell us in 500 to 1,000 words why your Family should be selected as K-State's Honorary Family during the 1998 Family Weekend activities.

From Roots to Wings

Applications are available in the Student Activities and Services Office on the ground floor K-State Student Union, or Union Program Council Office, 3rd floor, K-State Student Union.

ESSAYS DUE BY 5:00pm SEPT. 4, 1998.

For more details, call Union Program Council 532-6571.
Contest sponsored by Chimes Junior Honorary

WE KNOW where YOU LIVE

the 1999 royal purple yearbook – housing portrait picture schedule –

– we will be shooting on location at fraternities, sororities and residence halls –

Acacia House	Sept. 30	Moore Hall	Sept.8
Alpha Chi Omega	Sept. 8	Multicultural Greeks	Sept. 14
Alpha of Clovia	Sept. 23	Off Campus	Sept. 15-18
Alpha Delta Pi	Sept. 14		10-7pm, Union Alcove
Alpha Gamma Rho	Sept. 29	Phi Delta Theta	Oct. 14
Alpha Tau Omega	Sept. 28	Phi Gamma Delta	Sept. 29
Alpha Xi Delta	Sept. 15	Phi Kappa Theta	Oct. 9
Beta Sigma Psi	Oct. 2	Pi Beta Phi	Sept. 10
Beta Theta Pi	Oct. 5	Pi Kappa Alpha	Oct. 1
Boyd Hall	Sept. 21-22	Pi Kappa Phi	Oct. 13
Chi Omega	Sept. 21	Putnam Hall	Sept. 21-22
Delta Chi	Oct. 12	Salina Campus	Sept. 23
Delta Delta Delta	Sept. 18	Sigma Alpha Epsilon	Oct. 6
Delta Sigma Phi	Oct. 12	Sigma Chi	Oct. 2
Delta Tau Delta	Oct. 5	Sigma Kappa	Sept. 24
Delta Upsilon	Oct. 7	Sigma Nu	Oct. 8
Durland Hall (OFF CAMPUS)	Oct. 15	Sigma Phi Epsilon	Oct. 1
FarmHouse	Sept. 28	Sigma Sigma Sigma	Sept. 25
Ford Hall	Sept. 11	Smith House	Sept. 30
Gamma Phi Beta	Sept. 11	Smurthwaite	Sept. 16
Goodnow Hall	Sept. 25	Tau Kappa Epsilon	Oct. 6
Haymaker Hall	Sept. 9	Theta Xi	Oct. 9
Jaradine Clubhouse	Oct. 16	Van Zile Hall	Sept. 21-22
Kappa Alpha Theta	Sept. 22	Vet Med (OFF CAMPUS)	Oct. 7
Kappa Kappa Gamma	Sept. 17	Weber Hall (OFF CAMPUS)	Oct. 14
Kappa Sigma	Oct. 8	West Hall	Sept. 10
Lambda Chi Alpha	Oct. 13	Organizations	Oct. 19-22
Marlatt Hall	Sept. 24		6-10 pm, McCain 3rd floor

CROSSWORD

FOR RELEASE WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 2, 1998

CROSSWORD By Eugene Sheffer

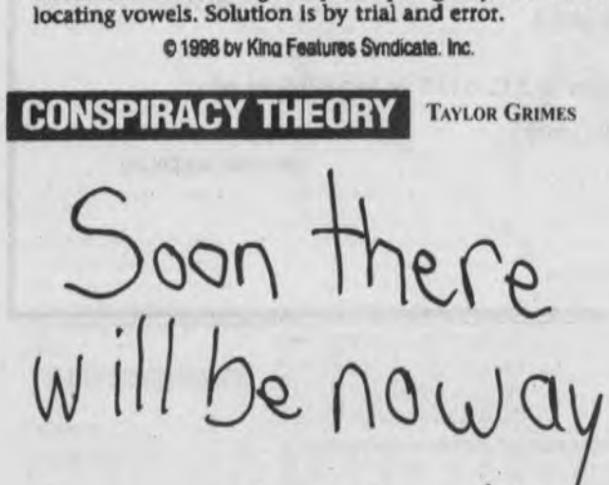
ACROSS
1 Sudden fancy
5 Jackson 5 hit
8 Theater award
12 Proposed continental currency
13 Abbr. on a book's binding
14 Blueprint
15 "Mouse"
17 El —, Texas
18 Loan star?
19 Herds
21 Solidify
22 Fleetwood Mac hit
23 Gist
26 Guitar-neck feature
28 Costume
31 Earthenware pot
33 Johnny's bandleader
35 Cupola
36 "Unsolved Mysteries" host
38 Slot insert
40 Vanna's cohort
41 Part of the face
43 Shape shifter?
45 Inuit
47 Bicycle seat style
51 Love too much
52 Flight recorder
54 Writer Kingsley
55 Journal
56 Enticement
57 Come together
58 Ram's ma'am
59 Handy Lat. bit



DOWN
1 "Dragnet" star
2 Island dance
3 OPEC member
4 Makes fun of
5 Dodged
6 Tarzan's son
7 Split
8 Anti
9 Use asphalt
10 "All — of You" (song)
11 Eve's grandson
16 Hold on to 20 Schlepp
23 Ph. bk. data
24 Last: abbr.
25 Semi-formal
27 Understood
29 Actress Thurman
30 Favorite
32 Most in need of a rubdown
34 Savoy, e.g.
37 Kipling lad
39 Bric-a- —
42 Aristocratic
44 Bracelet locale
45 Dutch treat
46 To a degree
48 Touch
49 Asta's mistress
50 Skater's jump
53 Depressed

Solution time: 21 mins.

F	A	L	L		R	A	N		S	U	P	S
U	N	I	T		O	R	T		O	R	E	O
J	O	E	S	O	U	T	H		U	G	L	I
I	N	S		K	E	Y		S	T	E	E	L
			P	A	N		B	A	H
A	T	B	A	Y		P	A	M	P	E	R	S
D	O	O	R		A	I	R		A	N	Y	A
S	P	O	K	A	N	E		T	R	E	A	D
			P	R	Y		Y	A	K
C	H	A	L	K		G	E	L		S	H	E
L	O	L	A		P	L	A	C	E	M	A	T
E	P	I	C		L	E	T		R	O	N	A
M	I	T	E		Y	E	S		E	G	G	S

Yesterday's answer

9-2

STUMPED? For answers to today's crossword, call 1-900-454-6873! 99¢ per minute, touch-tone / rotary phones. (18+ only.) A King Features service, NYC.

9-2 CRYPTOQUIP

KLAVDIIQ CQIDCLDB PRGDB ADIHDMD GTDW CTPKIE CQMD GTDHV LPBDW RPV Q CKBBW EQW.

Yesterday's Cryptoquip: WHAT MIGHT YOU NAME SOME GIRL WHO TRULY RELISHED EATING? DINAH.

Today's Cryptoquip clue: L equals M

CRYPTOQUIP BOOK 2! Send $4.50 (check/m.o.) to CryptoClassics Book 2, PO Box 6411, Riverton NJ 08077.

The Cryptoquip is a substitution cipher in which one letter stands for another. If you think that X equals O, it will equal O throughout the puzzle. Single letters, short words and words using an apostrophe give you clues to locating vowels. Solution is by trial and error.

© 1998 by King Features Syndicate, Inc.

CONSPIRACY THEORY

TAYLOR GRIMES

PHOTOGRAPHS BY STEVE HEBERT/KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Jessica Roskamp, left, toasts Harmony Muren after they pick up their copies of "Titanic" at Blockbuster Video early Tuesday morning Blockbuster had drinks and cookies for movie buyers after midnight Tuesday, when the video went on sale.

'TITANIC' SETS SAIL

Manhattan residents defy sleep for the chance to own 'Titanic' video

John Winkler, Manhattan resident, and his 3-year-old daughter, Maddie, wait in line for their copy of the movie "Titanic" at Blockbuster Video Tuesday morning after midnight. With the purchase of each "Titanic" video at Blockbuster, buyers received a $5 gift certificate for a video rental.

BY JENNI LATZKE
THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Local businesses preparing for the release of "Titanic" on video were faced with the same question as the film's character Rose Dawson, "Are you ready to go back to Titanic?"

James Cameron's "Titanic" became available on video Tuesday morning at midnight.

Crowds gathered at Wal-Mart, where the movie was being shown to customers while they waited for the release.

"We knew that it'd be a big rush," Veronica Miller, electronics department assistant manager, said. "We had an excellent turnout at midnight."

The store had 18 registers running nonstop, said Denise Torrey, electronics department manager.

Wal-Mart not only started showing the movie at 11 p.m., but it also gave away prizes such as free movie soundtracks, replicas of the "Heart of the Ocean" necklace featured in the movie and products donated by Nabisco and Pepsi.

Katrina Skinner, junior in Christian education and family life and community services at Manhattan Christian College and K-State, won an inflatable kayak.

"I liked the movie. It's one of the best I've seen," Skinner said.

She and her friends decided to check out what Wal-Mart was offering. She plans on hanging the kayak in her living room as a memento.

According to some, though, customers might have been a little overzealous about the movie's release.

Roni Carvalho, a Wal-Mart cashier, said she had never seen such large crowds waiting for anything.

"I think that some might have gone a little bit overboard," Carvalho said.

Wal-Mart was prepared for the large number of customers, however. The store sold the copies customers had on reserve and also had nearly 1,600 copies on sale for other customers.

At Blockbuster Video, employees dressed up as sailors and decorated the store to resemble a cruise ship.

At the stroke of midnight, the line of nearly 70 people was allowed inside the store to purchase a copy of the movie and enter a drawing to win a free cruise given away by Blockbuster.

Jennifer Cherrie, shift manager for Blockbuster, said the turnout was as good as they'd expected.

"We're just happy that people showed up," she said.

In addition to giving away cruise tickets, each video purchase also earned the buyer a $5 gift certificate for video rentals. Cookies and sparkling grape juice accompanied the release.

Many customers had been anticipating the release of "Titanic" on video for some time.

"I love the movie," Trisha Edwards, junior in pre-veterinary medicine, said. "I've had a copy on reserve since June, but I wanted to come here to register for the free trip."

Bob Mullin, Manhattan resident, was one of the first renters of the video. He chose to rent the wide-screen version of "Titanic" rather than the regular version.

"I want to see the whole ship, not just the tugboat Titanic," he said.

At Hastings Books Music & Video, however, there wasn't that large of a rush for the video, said Jennie Walker, video associate and senior in social work.

"We didn't have that much planned because of our anniversary celebration last weekend," she said. "We had the movie playing on screens around the store for customers."

The store also had a drawing sponsored by the studio that produced the movie.

Walker said most of those who showed up already had reserved copies in advance.

"We had more show up than we expected," Walker said.

Dillons also had the movie for sale at midnight. Video manager Debbie Ubel said the store sold copies to five or six people at midnight.

The supermarket had "Titanic" for sale for $19.95 and also gave away free rental coupons to customers with the purchase.

Country music singer plans on giving album proceeds to charity

BY CORBIN H. CRABLE
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Rick Davis is the kind of guy who makes his mom proud.

Davis, senior in feed science and management, will perform at the Purple Power Play on Poyntz both Thursday and Friday nights.

In addition to his local performances, Davis is releasing his first country music album next month.

The title of the album, "Now I Lay Her Down," is a song Davis wrote for his mother.

Davis said his mother enjoys the song, but doesn't know it was written for her.

"I plan to let her know I wrote the song for her when the CD comes out," Davis said.

Davis got his start in country music only two years ago, when he was 22. "Now I Lay Her Down" is "by far, my favorite song," he said.

"It was the best feeling in the world to write a song that was mine," he said.

With some advice from friends, Davis got onto the country music scene, opening at a concert for country music star Tracy Byrd in October 1997.

Davis said prior to that concert he had been shy about his music around others.

"I kept my music a secret," he said. "I just didn't want to make a fool of myself."

One of his friends, Dan Shenck, is acting as Davis' agent.

Shenck offered to assist Davis with his new career shortly after production work began on the album.

With various radio stations and local country bars promoting and supporting him, Davis is preparing for the mid-October release date for "Now I Lay Her Down."

All proceeds from the album sales will go to the Scott Seidel Transplant Fund, a charity Davis said he is passionate about.

"When I found out that it costs $50,000 to just get on a waiting list for a transplant, I knew I had to do something," Davis said. "This is a great cause."

Davis said the release of his first album isn't about gaining fame or notoriety. He said he is more interested in how it will benefit the charity.

"This is more about earning money for Scott (Seidel), and making this CD for my friends and family," he said.

DILBERT

MANN HATTEN

AARON FRUEHLING

Students benefit from residence-hall fee increase

■ Fees increased $70 per semester for residents on 20-meal plan.

By NANCY GRATHWOHL
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

University officials say an increase in the yearly residence-hall fee benefits students with renovations and new technology.

Room and board fees typically increase 1.5 to 5 percent each year. The fees increased 3.8 percent from last year, which means about a $70 raise per semester for students on the 20-meal plan, said Bob Burgess, associate director of Housing and Dining Services.

One factor that determines the rate increase is the Kansas State University Association of Residence Halls, which represents students who live in the housing system. After the increase goes through the university process, it then must be approved by the Kansas Board of Regents, Burgess said.

"We visit with the students to find out what priorities and interests they have for making improvements," Burgess said. "Then we visit with the staff to find out their priorities and then try to merge the two ideas together."

Other factors considered in the fee are the cost of living, cost of food and cost to staff the residence halls. The fee also is used for facility renovation and updating technology, Burgess said.

One of the latest improvements made for students who live in the residence halls is the Derby Academic Resource Center, which was completed in January. It has a classroom, computer lab and tutoring available for students' use, Burgess said.

"The fact that they coordinate tutoring for students who have questions on the major courses late at night is nice," Paul English, senior in history, said.

The renovation of Ford Hall lobby was completed in the summer of 1997, Burgess said.

"The renovation has been a big improvement," Holly Morgan, fifth-year senior in elementary education, said. "It is more of a home atmosphere."

Haymaker Hall lobby is in the final stages of renovation and should be completed this fall, Burgess said.

"It will give Haymaker a more fresh, professional look," said Lucas Loughmiller, junior in elementary education and social studies.

"The benefits alone will be great."

Some students said they believe the increase in residence-hall fees is substantiated.

"The increase in fees is not that big of a deal because of all the benefits," Loughmiller said. "The new facilities and equipment will be worth it."

Others said they think a less costly route could have been chosen.

"It was a good idea to renovate, but it was a little expensive," Morgan said. "K-State has a good interior-design program. A lot of students could have benefited from the experience of working on this project, but K-State didn't utilize them."

Japan protests missile firing

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

TOKYO — Tokyo issued a formal protest on Monday against North Korea for firing a missile over Japan and sent military ships to the spot in the Pacific Ocean where it was believed to have landed.

The missile launch Monday renewed worries over security in Asia and raised serious questions about the adequacy of Japan's missile detection and anti-missile systems.

Government spokesman Sadaaki Numata said Japan did not know about the missile launch until it was informed by the U.S. military.

Japan also abandoned its yearlong offer to resume talks aimed at establishing diplomatic ties with North Korea, a Foreign Ministry official said, speaking on condition of anonymity.

"Our relations with North Korea are going to be more severe than they have ever been," Foreign Minister Masahiko Komura said after attending a special Cabinet meeting where the missile topped the agenda.

Numata said Japan has frozen the $1 billion it had committed to a project with the United States, South Korea and Europe to supply North Korea with two nuclear energy reactors. And sending food aid to the reclusive communist state was now more difficult, he said.

Komura said the missile firing might help speed up Japan's proposed joint development of a missile defense system with the United States.

Crimpers Power Design Team
The salon that makes you feel #1
Full Hair Service
Full Nail Service
Tanning
Spa Pedicure
Therapeautic Massage
Reflexology
Facials/Skin Care
Waxing
Bring this ad in for 15% off any regularly priced service or product Exp. 9/30/98
539-7621 • 613 N. Manhattan Ave. in Aggieville
Two doors south of Varney's
Open Mon. till 6 p.m., Tues.-Fri. till 8 p.m., & Sat. till 5 p.m.
THE SALON WHERE YOUR IMAGE IS OUR REPUTATION!

STATE FARM INSURANCE
Like a good neighbor, State Farm is there.®
See your State Farm Agent:
LaDonna Junghans, Agent
463 E. Poyntz, Near K-Mart
776-8754
Auto • Home • Life • Health
State Farm Insurance Companies • Home Offices: Bloomington, Illinois

Advertise your services
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN CLASSIFIEDS
532-6555

Internet Access
NO BUSY SIGNALS!
• 56K X2 MODEMS
• 64K ISDN
• 20MB WEB SPACE
• 16GB NEWS SERVER
• EXTENDED SUPPORT HOURS
• UNLIMITED INTERACTIVE USAGE
$14.95 per month
NETWORKS PLUS + 587-4121

SCHOOL DAZE
15¢ OFF
•Siberian coffee
•Frozen Chai
•Mocha Shake
•Smoothie
•Smart Drinks
•Italian Soda
•French Soda
•Old Fashion Soda
•Root Beer Float
•Cappuccino Frozen Latte
•Milk Shake
•Strawberry Lemonade
•Granitas eclipse brewhouse
12th & Moro-Aggieville

OPEN DANCE AUDITIONS
WinterDance 98
Wednesday, September 2
5:00pm Ahearn Gym
Rehearsal to begin immediately
NO PREPARATION OR EXPERIENCE NECESSARY
for more information contact KSU Dance Program 532-6875

Hair Experts Design Team
NEW CLIENT "SPECIAL"
$10 OFF ANY SERVICE!
FIRST VISIT ONLY
$10 Off Any Service
NEW CLIENTS ONLY
Not valid with any other offer, children's haircuts, or waxing.
#23 Exp. 10/7/98
776-4455
AGGIEVILLE, USA

OUTDOOR BARBECUE
LIP SMACKIN' GOOD!
Tomorrow - Thurs., Sept. 3
11 a.m. - 1:30 p.m.
Right outside Denison Hall on KSU campus
Hamburger or Chicken Breast
Baked Beans
Salad, Drink, & Cookie
Just $3.50!
Hamburger or Chicken Breast - Only $2
Sponsored by K-State Student Union Foodservice
K-STATE STUDENT UNION

Thinking about Graduate School?
If so, you should consider applying to the Kansas State
McNair Scholars Program
The McNair Scholars Program will:
- Help you choose the right graduate schools for your career goals,
- Help you get ready for the G.R.E. and other entrance exams,
- Help you apply for graduate admittance and financial aid,
- Help you prepare to be successful in graduate school, and
- Provide financial support while you complete an undergraduate research internship in your chosen field.

To be eligible for the McNair Scholars Program, you must:
- Be a U.S. citizen, or hold a valid work permit (or "green card"),
- Be enrolled at Kansas State University as a sophomore or above,
- Be academically successful (with a G.P.A. of 3.0 or above), and
- Be at least one of the following:
  -a low-income student whose parent(s) or guardian(s) have not received a 4-year college degree, or,
  -a member of a group presently under-represented in graduate study as defined by the U.S. Dept of Ed.

For more information, contact Lora Boyer at 532-6137 or lorajb@ksu.edu.
Interviews will begin after September 9, 1998.
1998 funding level:$201,552

CLASSIFIEDS

DEADLINES

Classified ads must be placed by noon the day before you want your ad to run. Classified display ads must be placed by 4 p.m. two working days prior to the date you want your ad to run. CALL 532-6555

000 BULLETIN BOARD 010

Announcements

ADVANCED FLIGHT TRAINING from 7,500-hour ATP instructor. Private single-engine through ATP multiengine. Hugh Irvin, 539-3128 evenings.

BIG DAWG Marina has Jet skis and pontoon boats for rent. 776-3113.

DISCOVER SCUBA: Complete lessons, low cost, college credit available. Aggie Dive Shop, 539-DIVE.

A LOT CAN BE SAID ABOUT A LITTLE BIT OF SPACE:
It works
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN
532-6555

FREE FOOTBALL tickets. Register at Mr. P's Party Outlet, 318 Poyntz Ave.

LEARN TO FLY! K-State Flying Club has five airplanes, lowest rates. For information call 537-8406.

SCUBA learn to dive at the only PADI approved dive center in the area, full line of equipment in stock, two instructors, earn college credit. Classes forming weekly. Call Creative Travel and Scuba. 539-0531.

020

Lost and Found

Found ads can be placed free for three days.

LOST: A string of four keys with a red rubber key card. 770-9163, 537-4919, 770-9127.

LOST: RED female tabby shorthair, front paws declawed, white rings on tail. Lost since Saturday August 29. 565-0783.

100 HOUSING/REAL ESTATE 105

For Rent- Apts. Furnished

Manhattan City Ordinance 4814 assures every person equal opportunity in housing without distinction on account of race, sex, familial status, military status, disability, religion, age, color, national origin or ancestry. Violations should be reported to the Director of Human Resources at City Hall, 587-2440.

FOR RENT. Two-bedroom, one and one-half bath furnished apartment. Directly across from campus. No pets. Call Laura. 587-8969.

MOVE IN TODAY
1 & 4 Bedrooms
All close to campus
ABBOTT management, inc.
Call 776-1340

ONE-BEDROOM BASEMENT, fireplace, walk to campus. Quiet, gas and water paid. No pets, no smoking. Lease, $250 deposit, $325/ month. 537-3737

Chase Manhattan Apartments
1,2,3, or 4 person occupancy. Short term leases available. Water and Trash paid. Discounted cable package HBO, Encore, and Expanded Basic.
Call us Today 776-3663

TWO-BEDROOM BASEMENT apartment. Close to campus, $410, all utilities paid except cable television. 776-1214.

TWO-BEDROOM FURNISHED apartment. New carpet, microwave, close to campus, $450, all utilities paid except cable television. 776-1214.

UNIVERSITY COMMONS. Available: fully furnished, individual leases, washer/ dryer in each unit, roommate matching service, pool, sand volleyball, lighted tennis and basketball courts, monitored security, reserved parking. No appointment necessary. M-F 9a.m.- 6p.m., 10a.m.-4p.m., 539-0500.

110 For Rent- Apt. Unfurnished

Now Available!
Large 2-Bedrooms
Sandstone Apts.
Cambridge Sq. Apts.
Hill Investments
537-9064

A THREE-BEDROOM, spacious, one-half block to KSU, central air and heat, pets OK, $540, 776-8455.

ACROSS STREET from campus, four-bedroom, appliances, central air/heat off-street parking. 539-2632.

AUGUST FREE! Two-bedroom, spacious, dishwasher, $395-$425. 776-8455.

AVAILABLE NOW. Studio and one-bedrooms, some furnished. Most utilities paid. Clean and quiet, central locations, some pets accepted. 537-8389.

FOUR-BEDROOM CLOSE to campus, two bath, dishwasher, central air/heat, water/trash paid. Free laundry, good price. 537-2255 or 537-7810.

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN CLASSIFIEDS

FOUR-BEDROOM, TWO bath 1300 square feet. Water/ trash paid. Discounted cable with HBO. 776-3663.

LARGE THREE-BEDROOM well lit basement, close to campus, 1729 Laramie, new stove and refrigerator, washer/ dryer hook-ups, heat/ water/ trash paid. $570. 537-2099, 539-8052.

NOW LEASING one to four-bedroom apartments/ houses. Call Alliance Property Management. 539-4357 for current list.

ONE- OR TWO-BEDROOM. No pets, smoking, drinking. 539-1554.

ONE-BEDROOM BASEMENT apartment. Refridgerator, stove, laundry. $325/ month, utilities included. 1859 Platt (one block from campus). 539-8612, 532-3742 or e-mail tar@pobox.com

ONE-BEDROOM, $290. 539-8401.

REASONABLE, LARGE one-bedroom basement, one-half block from university. 539-8856

STUDIO, $280, air-conditioning, bills paid. 539-8401.

THREE-BEDROOM, $390. 539-8401.

THREE-BEDROOM, AUGUST free, washer/ dryer, huge, $540. 776-8455.

9 Month Lease
2 & 3 Bedroom
Specials
539-2951

WOODWAY APARTMENTS

STOP!

DO NOT RENT AN APARTMENT UNTIL YOU CONSIDER THIS!

- Sparkling swimming pool
- Spacious decks/patios
- Avail. June 5 Aug. 6
- Kitchen Appliances include microwave and dishwasher
- On site laundry facilities
- Economical gas heat

3 BDRM, 2 BATH $714, $723
4 BDRM, 2 BATH $836, $856

Office:
2400 Kimball Ave.
at College Ave.
(Across from Bramlage)
Call Sara
at 537-7007
for an appointment.

THREE-BEDROOM, TWO bath apartment available for August. Very spacious. Dishwasher, microwave, pool, laundry and carports. Call Sara at 537-7007.

TWO, THREE and four-bedroom apartments water/ trash paid, discounted cable with HBO. Going fast. 776-3663.

TWO-BEDROOM, $320. 539-8401.

TWO-BEDROOM, CENTRAL air, laundry hook-ups, dishwasher, $400. No pets. Nine month lease. 513 S. Manhattan Avenue. 539-2255.

UNIVERSITY TERRACE APARTMENTS. College Ave. Large three-bedroom apartments with washer, dryer hook-ups. 537-2096.

115

Rooms Available

CHRISTIAN FAMILY who has large home near Ramada Inn, wants female college girl to live in. Will provide board and room in exchange for chores. Write c/o Collegian, Box 3, .

THIRD ROOMMATE needed. One-bedroom in three-bedroom house, minutes from campus. Call 539-9426.

120

For Rent- Houses

1106 KEARNEY- one and one-half blocks from campus. Three-bedrooms, one bath, kitchen, living room, washer and dryer hookups. Available September 1, 1998, $650/ month. Century 21 Knight Real Estate, 537-2111.

A PLEASANT house two blocks from campus. Fireplace, washer/ dryer, dishwasher. Please call . 537-7848 or 776-6225.

BASEMENT APARTMENT for rent until June 1, 1999. Call 776-0726 for more information.

FOR RENT three-bedroom house. $500/ month, four blocks from campus at 825 Thurston. (785) 336-2669.

FOUR LARGE bedrooms, two bath, washer/dryer. Near KSU. Redecoration just being completed. No pets. 539-8580.

KSU THREE BLOCKS. Three-bedroom, one bath, central air, laundry hook-ups, garage, small pets considered, 1517 Pipher. 539-4087, leave message.

THREE-BEDROOM, AIR-CONDITIONING, $510. 539-8401.

TWO, TWO-BEDROOM houses available. One located in town and one in country. Stove, refrigerator, air-conditioning. No pets. 539-1975 or (785) 396-4344.

135

For Sale- Mobile Homes

DON'T WASTE your money on rent, when you could own: 16'x70' 1986 Schult. Sunken living room, vaulted ceiling, built-in china hutch, lots of cabinet space, large kitchen, dining room, two large bedrooms, one bath, refrigerator, stove, dishwaser, 8'x8' deck, fenced yard, swing set, new paint, new shingled roof, great location, Bergman school. Must see to appreciate. Call for showing 776-3226.

145

Roommate Wanted

FEMALE ROOMMATE for three-bedroom apartment, $177/ month plus one-third utilities. 565-9074.

FEMALE ROOMMATE to share NICE two-bedroom apartment across from college. $260 a month. 776-4891.

FEMALE ROOMMATE wanted, non-smoking, furnished house, private bathroom, 12 miles from KSU. Tracy 770-9489.

FEMALE ROOMMATE wanted for two-bedroom apartment close to campus and Aggieville. $175/ month, no deposit required. Call Jill, 770-9393.

FEMALE ROOMMATE wanted. Move in now, September and October rent paid for. Cambridge Square Apartments. Deposit paid, $270/ month. (316) 773-1627.

FEMALE ROOMMATE, non-smoker for two-bedroom mobile home. Furnished, $155 plus one-half KPL. 587-0157.

MALE NEEDED for furnished basement. Washer/ dryer without meter. No smoking, drinking, or pets. Walk to class. 539-1554

MALE TO share three-bedroom house close to campus. Washer/ dryer, dishwasher and fireplace, $220/ month, one-fourth utilities. 537-4580, leave message.

NEED ROOMMATE for four-bedroom house. Affordable, furnished, one block from campus. Move in as soon as possible. Call Angie at 776-3080 preferably around 4:20p.m.

NEEDED: ROOMMATE to share four-bedroom house with three girls, a cat and a dog. Close to campus and football stadium. 537-3803.

SEPTEMBER RENT reduced. Male/ female to share four-bedroom house one-half mile to campus and Aggieville. 537-5109.

WE KICK ADS!
WE KICK ADS!
WE KICK ADS!

Move In IMMEDIATELY
& Pay NO Aug. Rent!
- 2 Bedroom Units
1 & 2 person rates avail.
- Brittany Ridge Townhomes
3 & 4 person rates avail.
Call About Our
Move-In Specials!
776-3804
McCullough Development
2700 Amherst

200 SERVICE DIRECTORY

240

Musicians/DJs

VOCALIST/ RHYTHM player wants to start or get into a country band. Call 587-8403 ask for Scott.

300 EMPLOYMENT/OPPORTUNITIES

310

Help Wanted

Manhattan City Ordinance 4814 assures every person equal opportunity in securing and holding employment in any field of work or labor for which he/ she is properly qualified regardless of race, sex, military status, disability, religion, age, color, national origin or ancestry. Violations should be reported to the Director of Human Resources at City Hall, 587-2441.

The Collegian cannot verify the financial potential of advertisements in the Employment/Career classification. Readers are advised to approach any such employment opportunity with reasonable caution. The Collegian urges our readers to contact the Better Business Bureau, 501 SE Jefferson, Topeka, KS 66607-1190. (785)232-0454.

CALLING ALL PERFORMERS! Can you work a crowd? Are you looking for a new venue to try a new act, play a new song, or perform street theater? WE HAVE THE AUDIENCE All we need is you! Your audiences are hungry customers waiting in the lobby of Derby Dining Center, contemplating what to eat and where to go. Solo or group acts are welcome. Start your career at The Derb'! We pay bottom dollar, but will give you the best meal in town. Call Mr. "E," 532-6483, or email at medwards@ksu.edu.

CARPENTER OR trainee needed. Local, Monday-Thursday 40 hour work schedule. Good work habits and employment references required. Borst Restoration- 776-1460.

CLEANING: FOR non-smoking student in a home adjacent to campus. Send resume to Collegian Box 4.

COMPUTER PROGRAMMER. 20 hours/ week, hours flexible. Knowledge of C/C++. Undergraduates only. Apply in Throckmorton 1011 by September 11. For more information call 532-7236 or 532-5731.

DISHWASHER NEEDED! Evening shift. Manhattan Country Club. Apply in person, 1531 N. 10th Street.

HELP WANTED: Earn up to $500 per week assembling products at home. No experience. INFO 1-504-646-1700 DEPT. KS-6438.

INTERNET SUPPORT: Networks + has openings for weekend internet support, $7/ hour. E-mail resume in MSWord or text format to morgan@networksplus.com

INTERNET SUPPORT: Networks + has openings for weekend internet support, $7/ hour. E-mail resume in MSWord or text format to: morgan@networksplus.com

PART-TIME DELIVERY DRIVERS . Gambino's Pizza now hiring drivers. Must be 18, own dependable car. Apply in person at 2708 Anderson. Base wage, tips and delivery fees. $6- $9/ hour.

PART-TIME EMPLOYMENT- Want a GREAT part-time job, working on a GREAT team, in a GREAT on-campus location? Derby, Kramer, and Van Zile Dining Centers are hiring KSU students for service and custodial positions. Beginning pay $5.30 per hour. Raises scheduled. Very flexible, you choose the times you want to work. Morning, noon, evening, and weekend hours available. . Apply in person between the hours of 9:00 a.m.-4:00 p.m. at Derby Dining Center(room 129), Kramer Dining Center (hiring office), or Van Zile Dining Center (foodservice office). AA/EOE.

PART-TIME POSITION: One day per week grinding feed on farm close to Manhattan. Call evenings, (785)396-4328.

PROGRAMMER- NETWORKS Plus, the leader in providing business and government computer services has openings for both full and half-time positions. Experience in database environments required. Salary range $25,000 - $50,000 plus bonuses and benefits. E-mail resume to Morgan@networksplus.com in text or MS Word format.

RILEY COUNTY has a position available for a computer intern. Knowledge of installation and setup of computer software (Windows 95, Windows 3.11, and Microsoft Office) is required. Experience in installing computer hardware components (network cards, CD roms, modems, and hard drives) is required. Some knowlegde of networks a plus. Appplications may be obtained from Riley County Clerk's Office, 110 Courthouse Plaza, Manhattan, KS 66502 until the postition is filled.

RILEY COUNTY POLICE DEPARTMENT: The Riley County Police Department, and Equal Opportunity Employer, will be accepting applications for the position of part-time cook beginning Thursday, September 3, 1998 and closing Tuesday, September 24 at 4p.m. To obtain an application, see Avie Roblyer at Riley County Police Department, 115 N 4th, Third Floor, between the hours of 8a.m. and 11:30a.m., and 1p.m. and 4:30p.m., Monday through Friday. The starting hourly salary is $7.71. Applicants must: be 18 years of age or older, a citizen of the United States, be able to perform all essential functions of the job description, and be available for weekends and some holidays.

SPRING BREAK '99-- Sell Trips, Earn Cash & Go Free! STS is now hiring campus reps. Lowest rates to Jamaica, Mexico and Florida. Call 800-648-4849 or apply online at www.ststravel.com

STUDENT HELP needed 2a.m.- 6a.m. every other day. Apply Printing Services, 10 Kedzie.

TECHNICAL SUPPORT position available for K-State undergraduate student with a variety of skills. Must have good interpersonal and problem solving skills. Experience with PC's and popular software packages such as Word Perfect, Quattro Pro and Windows applications desired. Must have understanding of MS-DOS and Windows. Summer availability necessary. Network experience preferred. Applications available/accepted through September 4, 1998 in 211 Umberger Hall. (Department of Communications, Information and Educational Technology.)

TRUCK, COMBINE and grain cart operators for fall harvest. Send resume and hours available to Rt. 1 Box 3 Wamego, KS 66547. (785) 456-2725.

TUTORING HIGH school students for K-State's Upward Bound Math and Science Program. Contact: Lynne Davy at 532-6374 for application.

WRESTLING COACH, middle/ high school, October-February, 3p.m.- 6p.m. Contact Tim Kite, Onaga High School, 500 High St, Onaga, KS 66521, (785)889-4251.

400 OPEN MARKET

405

Wanted to Buy

BUY SELL TRADE
Video Games & CD Roms
PLAYSTATION, N64, SEGA, NINTENDO, ETC.
GAME GUY
709 N. 12TH
AGGIEVILLE
537-0989
www.game-guy.com

410

Items for Sale

ANTIQUES, COLLECTIBLES, tools, books, furniture, estate jewelry, beer signs, thousands of curious goods. Time Machine Antique Maul and Flea Market. 4910 Skyway Dr. between Briggs and airport. 539-4684.

CABLE DESCRAMBLER kit only $14.95. See all the pay channels. 1-800-752-1389.

FOR SALE: Color printer, Java software, two tents, photographer's easel. 537-2497 Russ.

ONE BED- Queen size (one year old). One television- Panasonic (one year old). 537-6192 (night), 532-6234 (day).

RICH, FRAGRANT, therapeutic Essential Oil creations, hand-blended to enhance your unique personal style! Skin and facial oils, perfumes, bath salts, after shaves, etc. Call 776-2230, leave name and number for free brochure and 20% off coupon through September 30. Visit our web site at http://www.flint-hills.com/~keepup.

WHIRLPOOL UPRIGHT freezer, guaranteed to work, can deliver. Dehumidifier, television stand. Call 539-8643, evenings.

415

Furniture to Buy/Sell

LAZY BOY swivel rocker, light brown. 565-0722

NEW FULL-SIZE and queen-size mattress sets, still in plastic. Full - $165, Queen - $195. 776-8185.

435

Computers

ACER 200MHZ, with 32 meg RAM, 4.1GB H.D., Sony 100mx monitor and Lexmark color printer, Windows 95, Office 97, Via Voice, and much more software included, under warranty. (Over $2000 new, 1st $1000 takes it all). Bonus: four tickets to Sawyer Brown/Toby Keith concert to buyer.539-9564.

HAVE YOUR inkjet cartridges professionally refilled! Low as $14. Call for information, 539-8011.

MAC PERFORMA 6400/180. 56 MB RAM, 1.6 GB HD, modem, CD ROM, $850 without monitor, $1300 with monitor. 565-9612.

MICROSOFT OFFICE '97 Professional, full version, unopened, unregistered, $75. 1-800-416-3594.

445

Music Instruments

WELCOME TO The Music Co.! Our business is making you sound the best you can, and leaving a little gas money in your pocket. OK, we're gonna do it, the first and only Music Co. sale! Through September, Alvarez and Fernandes guitars will be on sale at ridiculous prices! Always the best deals on the planet! The Music Co., nothing typical, no pressure. 523 S. 17th Street in Manhattan. 539-1958.

450

Pets and Supplies

FOR SALE: Two year old iguana with cage and accessories. For information call Jen at 587-9625.

LOVING, FEMALE 15 month old AKC yellow labrador for sale. Call 537-2059 to make offer.

REGISTERED PERSIANS, one male, one female, $200. 587-0952 after 5p.m.

REPTILES GALORE! Ball python sale! Only $45.99 each. Corn snakes $36.99. Lowest prices around. Pets-N-Stuff, 1105 Waters.

SEE OUR precious Himalayan and Maine Coon kittes at Pets-N-Stuff. 1105 Waters. 539-9494.

TWO FERRETS descented, sterilized, three-story cage with tunnels, toys. Needs someone to play with $50 for all. 539-1086.

TWO WHITE kittens need a home. Ten weeks old. Please call 539-6805.

460

Electronic Equipment

L.A. SOUND 150 watt amp. with built in cross-over and 15" crunch sub. Selling together. Like new $200. 556-3666 or 539-7530.

STR-DE715 SONY receiver just redone by Sony, six months old, still under warranty. $400 retail, asking $325. 587-0635.

465

Tickets to Buy/Sell

FOOTBALL TICKETS vs. Northeast Louisiana for sale! Call Mike at (612)943-8113 for details.

FOR SALE: two season football tickets. No Nebraska game. Student reserve seating. Call Lisa at 539-8949, leave message.

ONE GENERAL Admission ticket for sale for Indiana State. Accepting offers until Thursday at 12 midnight. Call 776-6604. Ask for Michael.

STUDENT G.A. season football ticket (1) for sale. Call 776-1786 for more information.

TWO KSU season football tickets for sale. Taking best offer. 539-5856.

TWO RESERVE tickets: Indiana State, Northern Illinois, Northeast Louisiana, Iowa State, Texas. Best Offer. One or all games. 539-7805.

500 TRANSPORTATION

510

Automobiles

1986 MERCURY Sable $975. High mileage both runs and looks great. 1988 Ford Festiva 4-speed $1050 serious inquiries only. 395-7451.

1988 HONDA Civic, 4-door Sedan DX, 5-speed, air-conditioning, 140K, runs great. $1700. Call 565-9625.

1989 FORD Tempo four-door, air-conditioning, stereo, new tires/ muffler. Well taken care of, $1800 or best offer. Call Joe at 395-3537.

1995 KSU purple Ford Ranger, excellent condition, CD player, 31,000 miles, 5-speed. Blue Book $12,500 asking $9500. Rochelle- 776-1453, leave message.

1995 NISSAN pick-up, blue. 54,000 miles, $7,900. Contact Augy or Kara after 5:30p.m. (785)456-2740.

MUST SELL: 1993 Mazda MX-3 GS, five-speed, $6000 or best offer. Call 587-8509, 7p.m.-9p.m.

530

Motorcycles

1978 KAWASAKI 650KZ. Runs good, $800. 776-1948.

1989 KAWASAKI EX 500 red/ black. Very good condition, $1450 or best offer. 537-2289.

1992 CBR 600 F2. Purple/ black/ white. 537-2158.

1993 KAWASAKI ZX6, 4K miles, asking $2800. 539-0805.

1996 KAWASAKI ZX-11 Ninja. 14,000 miles $8000 book price, will make offer. (785) 877-2830.

having trouble finding one of these?

try your luck with a personal.

Advertise in the classifieds of the KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN
103 Kedzie
532-6555

sbarro®
CHARTWELLS
K-STATE STUDENT UNION
121 K-STATE STUDENT UNION
Across from Ramada Inn on Anderson Avenue
Apply in person only.
Join the #1 growing contract food company in America. Terrific benefits and excellent opportunity for growth. Hours are Monday through Friday, 8am-4pm, $6.50 an hour.
All successful applicants must be able to maintain a high standard of sanitation within the operation; exhibit excellent personal hygiene habits, and be reliable, efficient and punctual in their work assignments. Excellent customer service skills and effective communication skills are a must.
EOE/AA

Job Opportunity
Immediate Opening
Outdoor Rental/Maintenance position
with Recreational Services.
Responsibilities include check-out, repair and maintenance of outdoor rental equipment, general maintenance of grounds and tennis court complex; and minor construction projects and repairs. Position will be approsimately 10 hrs/week. Pay starts at $5.15/hour. Applications available at Recreational Services Office from 8 a.m. - 5 p.m. Please apply by Friday, Sept. 4.

It's Greek To Me is now hiring screen printing operators. Flexible hours to work around your schedule. No experience necessary. If you are a positive, hard-working, dedicated individual, we want you to be a part of our team. Competitive pay and benefits package: health insurance, 401(K), flexible spending program, employee discounts, paid leave and much more. Come by 520 McCall Rd. to complete an application. We are an equal opportunity employer.

Move In Immediately
& Pay NO Aug. Rent!
TATTARAX APARTMENTS
• Close to campus & Aggieville
• Hardwood floors
• 4 bedroom - 2 person occupancy avail.
• $700/mo. ($465/mo. for 2 people)
CALL ABOUT OUR MOVE-IN SPECIAL!
CALL 776-3804
Managed by: McCullough Development
http://www.mdiproperties.com

Classified RATES

1 DAY
20 words or less
$7.15
each word over 20 $.20 per word

2 DAYS
20 words or less
$8.40
each word over 20
$.25 per word

3 DAYS
20 words or less
$9.55
each word over 20
$.30 per word

4 DAYS
20 words or less
$10.60
each word over 20 $.35 per word

5 DAYS
20 words or less
$11.55
each word over 20 $.40 per word
(consecutive day rate)

HOW TO PAY
All classifieds must be paid in advance unless you have an account with Student Publications Inc. Cash, check, MasterCard or Visa are accepted. There is a $10 service charge on all returned checks. We reserve the right to edit, reject or properly classify any ad.

FREE FOUND ADS
As a service to you, we run found ads for three days free of charge.

CORRECTIONS
If you find an error in your ad, please call us. We accept responsibility only for the first wrong insertion.

CANCELLATIONS
If you sell your item before your ad has expired, we will refund you for the remaining days. You must call us before noon the day before the ad is to be published.

HEADLINES
For an extra charge, we'll put a headline above your ad to catch the reader's attention.

600 BULLETIN BOARD
100 HOUSING/REAL ESTATE
200 SERVICE DIRECTORY
300 MPLOYMENT/OPPORTUNITIES
400 OPEN MARKET
500 TRANSPORTATION
600 TRAVEL/TRIPS

TO PLACE AN AD
Go to Kedzie 103 (across from the K-State Student Union). Office hours are Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. The office is open except on holidays.

SAT results spur discussion of grade inflation

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

WASHINGTON, D.C. — More high schoolers are getting top grades but these students at the top of their class aren't doing as well on the SAT college-entrance exam as A pupils in the past.

That has educators wondering whether an A today still stands for academic achievement.

Since 1988, the percentage of high school students with A-plus, A and A-minus grade point averages has risen to 38 percent from 28 percent. At the same time, the SAT scores of that same group of students fell an average of 12 points on the verbal section of the test and three points on math.

"We don't know why grades are rising," said Donald Stewart, president of the nonprofit College Board that administers the SAT. "The way grading is taking place is somewhat suspect. I think there is a penchant to grade students less rigorously than in the past."

Teachers sometimes are pressed by parents and administrators to give good grades, but the teachers union has no evidence that this is happening on a grand scale, Robert Chase, president of the National Education Association, said.

"No one wants to see grade inflation," Chase said. "It's a red flag, but I'm not ready to say that's what's occurring."

Top achievers aside, the average math score for high school students who took the SAT improved slightly this year. But the students didn't do any better than last year on the verbal section, which tests reading, sentence completion and words, the College Board said.

Students taking the test had an average math score of 512, up a point from last year and the highest in 27 years. The average verbal score was 505 — exactly the same as last year and just six points above record-low verbal scores in 1991 and 1994.

According to a survey of the 1.2 million college-bound students who took the test, grades have risen in all high school subject areas during the past 10 years.

Critics complain that students themselves supply their GPA to the College Board on SAT registration forms. The board said it has sampled grade information and is confident students are not lying about their grades.

Case hits snags for 17-year-old accused of raping sister

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

MOUNT CLEMENS, Mich. — A prosecutor and defense lawyer appear ready to delay the case against a 17-year-old boy accused of raping his sister so they can devise a strategy to avoid his deportation.

Macomb County Prosecutor Carl Marlinga said Monday he still has no assurances from U.S. Immigration and Naturalization Service officials that they will not move to deport the boy, even if he avoids a felony charge by pleading to a lesser offense.

Marlinga also said he might dismiss the rape charge altogether, rather than see the entire family return to their native India if the teen is ordered deported.

"I don't want to send the message that a rape will go unacknowledged," the prosecutor said. "But I will say of both options that what troubles me most is having this young rape victim pack up and go back to India. ...

"That's telling a little girl that because she was raped, this is the end of her American Dream."

The Sterling Heights boy's preliminary hearing on one count of first-degree criminal sexual conduct was adjourned last week. On Monday, Marlinga and defense attorney Arthur Garton agreed to waive the teen's right to a preliminary examination when it's rescheduled in a few weeks.

A waiver would send the case to Macomb County Circuit Court "and give us at least six months to figure out what could be worked out with INS officials," Marlinga told the Detroit Free Press.

Marlinga charged the boy two weeks ago, about a month after his 12-year-old sister underwent a late-term abortion in Kansas. She was about 27 weeks pregnant at the time.

A first-degree criminal sexual conduct conviction triggers automatic deportation. Marlinga earlier offered the teen a chance to plead guilty to fourth-degree criminal sexual conduct, a high misdemeanor.

RECREATIONAL SERVICES
Intramurals
Captains & Managers Meeting
Wednesday, Sept. 2 at 5 p.m.
Forum Hall at the K-State Student Union
All team captains and managers must be present.
Flag football schedules will be available at the meeting.
Recreational Services Office 532-6980

k-state's
MEN'S GLEE CLUB
AUDITIONS

MCCAIN 229 OPEN TO NON-MUSIC MAJORS

Are You Overswamped With Bills?

Let Us Help.
Earn at least $15
each time you donate plasma
Nabi
Manhattan Biomedical Center
1130 Garden Way • Mon & Thurs 9am - 7pm, Tues & Wed 9 am-6:30 pm, Fri 9 am-5 pm, Sat 8am - 1pm • 776-9177

Smile enhancement by the professionals
Teeth cleaning from $35
SAGER DENTAL ASSOCIATES, P.A.
514 Humboldt Plaza Hygiene Department 913-537-8823
For more information, see our ad in your Sunflower • Manhattan Southwestern Bell Yellow Pages.

Once in a lifetime announcement
Your name _____ KSU I.D.# _____
Address _____ City, state, zip _____
Telephone number _____
I wish to place an engagement announcement (FREE) Date_____
I wish to place a wedding announcement (FREE) Date_____
I also want to include a photo ___ (FREE)
Check # _____ MC/Visa # _____ Signature _____
FREE

Engagement announcement
_____ (names) wish to announce their engagement.
_____ (woman's name) is a _____ (classification) in _____ (major/dept.).
_____ (man's name) is a _____ (classification) in _____ (major/dept.).
_____ (woman's name) is the daughter of _____ (parent's name) of _____ (city/state).
_____ (man's name) is the son of _____ (parent's name) of _____ (city/state).
The couple is planning a/an _____ (date) wedding at _____ (location, city, state).

Wedding announcement
_____ (names) were married _____ in _____. _____ (woman's name) is a _____ (classification) in _____ (major/dept.). _____ (man's name) is a _____ (classification) in _____ (major/dept.). _____ (woman's name) is the daughter of _____ (parent's name) of _____ (city/state). _____ (man's name) is the son of _____ (parent's name) of _____ (city/state).
The couples attendants were _____
_____
Other brief details: _____
_____

LIVE BAND
OPUS 12
COMPETITION
FRIDAY, SEPT. 18, 1998
K-STATE STUDENT UNION
5PM, PEDESTRIAN ISLAND
RAIN LOCATION UNION STATION
Sign up deadline is Sept. 4 at 4pm
Sign up now in the UPC Office, 3rd floor of the Student Union
Sign-up cost is $40 (non-refundable). Each band must submit a demo tape with two original songs.
Sponsored by Eclectic Entertainment and K- Rock 101.5

UPC EVENTS

A Tribute to Shel Silverstein
Poetry Reading
THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 17
8 PM
JAVA ESPRESSO & BAKERY
1219 MORO
Sponsored by Arts Committee and Java Espresso & Bakery

Renaissance Festival
September 5 - October 18
Weekends, Labor Day, & Columbus Day
Adults $11
Children $4.50
Tickets available in the UPC Office, 3rd Floor, K-State Student Union

Country Dance Lessons
Every Wednesday
Session 1: Sept. 2- Sept. 23
Session 2: Sept. 30 - Oct. 21
7:30 - 9 p.m.
Union Station, Student Union
Each Session: $10 / Person
$15 / Couple
Save $$$ on both and sign up now in the UPC office
Sponsored by Multicultural Committee

Gang Wars
Lecture by Steve Nawojczyk
Tuesday
Sept. 15, 1998
7:00 pm
K-State Student Union Ballroom
Sponsored by Issues and Ideas

Visit Us At www.union.ksu.edu/upc/upc.html
Or Call 532-6571

BIG HITTIN'

The K-State volleyball team opened its season with a 3-game sweep of Drake.

■ SEE STORY ON PAGE 6

THURSDAY
SEPTEMBER 3, 1998

KANSAS STATE UNIVERSITY, MANHATTAN, KAN.
VOLUME 103, NUMBER 9
COLLEGIAN.KSU.EDU

TODAY'S WEATHER

HIGH 82
LOW 59

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Sub. Exp. Date: 00/00
Kansas State Historical Society
Newspaper Section
PO Box 3585
Topeka KS 66601

3

Company to sell 'morning-after' pill to prevent pregnancy

By LAURA MECKLER
The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, D.C. — For the first time, women will be able to buy a specially packaged "morning-after" contraceptive — a combination of birth control pills long known to prevent pregnancy after unprotected sex, but seldom used.

The government on Wednesday told a New Jersey company it may advertise and sell the morning-after combination, which federal officials had sanctioned as safe and effective more than a year ago. But without anyone trying to market it to women or their doctors, experts say it has hardly been used.

That could change as more women learn of the pills, which have been 75 percent effective at preventing pregnancy in tests when taken within three days of sex. By contrast, regular contraceptive pills are 99 percent effective, if taken properly.

"Physicians are kind of waiting to be asked. Since women don't know about it, they don't ask," said Dr. Felicia Stewart of the Kaiser Family Foundation, which surveyed doctors and patients about the pills last year.

The morning-after pills are different from RU-486, the French abortion pill, which ends a pregnancy several weeks after it has begun.

The PREVEN kits, made by Gynetics Inc. of Somerville, N.J., will be available by prescription by the end of September. The company anticipates that women will seek them out after unprotected sex — or keep them in their medicine cabinets just in case.

The emergency contraceptive's side effects are nausea and vomiting, sometimes severe, similar to those some women experience with regular oral contraceptives.

European women have used the technique for years, but most contraceptive makers here have resisted selling emergency birth control, citing litigation and political concerns.

Gynetics plans to advertise on radio and in magazines that many women read such as Glamour, Soap Opera Digest and People. It also plans a direct-mail campaign to doctors.

"Doctors prescribe drugs when they're aware of them and they're in your face," said Janet Benshoof, president of the Center for Reproductive Law and Policy. "They're too busy to find it on their own."

Until now, it's been complicated for women to use the morning-after technique correctly. It involves taking regular birth-control pills but from regular birth-control packets that contain several types of pills. Women thus had to sort through to choose the right ones.

In contrast, the PREVEN kits will include only the four pills needed for emergency contraception. Each kit will sell for about $20 and also include a pregnancy test.

The morning-after pills do not work if a woman is already pregnant.

A woman can become pregnant days after sex because sperm remain in the uterus for some time. The morning-after pills delay or prevent ovulation, meaning no egg enters the uterus to be fertilized. Experts believe the pills also alter the uterine lining, making it more difficult for an already-fertilized egg to attach and develop into an embryo; however, this scenario is technically difficult to prove, the Food and Drug Administration said.

Pro-life groups, who have vigorously protested RU-486, are neutral on these pills, saying women should consult their doctors and decide for themselves whether the method might interfere with life after conception.

"The reality is a lot of things are just up in the air," said April Holley, spokeswoman for the National Right to Life Committee. "Educated people who study this don't agree."

FDA's decision to have little effect on business at Lafene Health Center

By TRAVIS D. LENKNER
Kansas State Collegian

The Food and Drug Administration's decision to allow sales of certain emergency contraceptives won't have much of an effect on policy at Lafene Health Center, an official said Wednesday.

Director of Nursing Cathie Barry said some forms of "morning-after" contraceptives are already available at Lafene, though they are only prescribed if needed after intercourse. If contraceptives fail or students have unprotected intercourse, Lafene pharmacists can dispense a larger-than-normal dose of standard birth control pills, which is effective up to 72 hours after intercourse.

"The effect is to prevent an unplanned pregnancy. And, in the instances of individuals who don't want to be pregnant, it's a good and safe method," Barry said.

Currently, women who ask for morning-after pills are required to visit with staff members at the Women's Clinic and sign a consent form before they pick up a prescription. Barry said that practice won't change, but that the FDA's ruling will help bring the morning-after drugs out into the open.

"I think the fact that it hasn't been advertised has made people hesitant to discuss it up front with patients, and it

■ See LAFENE on PAGE 8

Swissair jetliner crashes in waters off Nova Scotia

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

HALIFAX, Nova Scotia — A Swissair jetliner disappeared off Nova Scotia late Wednesday after attempting an emergency landing at Halifax Airport, a rescue official said.

Swissair Flight 111 left Kennedy International Airport about 8:30 p.m. bound for Geneva with 227 passengers and crew when it declared an emergency about an hour later, said Lt. Cmdr. Glenn Chamberlain of the Halifax Rescue Coordination Center.

A McDonnell Douglas MD-11 attempted an emergency landing at the Halifax Airport and disappeared moments later, he said.

Lt. Cmdr. Mike Considine of the Search and Rescue Center in Halifax said the weather in the area was good with clear skies and relatively calm seas.

Chamberlain said rescue crews were searching for the aircraft seven miles off Peggy's Cove, a renowned tourist destination southwest of Halifax.

Residents told of hearing loud noises from an aircraft passing overhead. Dozens of ambulances were dispatched to the scene and rescue vessels began combing the waters off the coast.

Local fishermen were called to the area because they are familiar with the waters.

Canadian Air Force Col. Brian Akitt said federal emergency officials informed him at 10:50 p.m. EDT that an airliner was believed to have gone down off the coast, and the military was preparing a rescue operation.

"We heard the plane go over our home, then my husband and son heard quite an explosion," Blandford resident Audrey Bachman said. She said she was sleeping at the time of the crash.

In Moscow, President Clinton was told of the Swissair plane's disappearance just before departing for Ireland.

"We're aware of the report," press secretary Mike McCurry told reporters. "The White House is seeking additional information."

Some students confused by drop-add procedure

By JENNI LATZKE
Kansas State Collegian

K-State students who sign a closed-class wait list, expecting to be the first enrolled if space is available, have a harsh reality to face. They may or may not be allowed to enroll, even if space exists.

"The wait list is a way to assess demand beyond a cap of a class," Registrar Don Foster said. "Students can opt to put themselves on it, and instructors can opt to use it. It's not a guarantee, however."

■ OUR OPINION
The Collegian editorial board says K-State needs to clearly define its drop-add policy. See Page 4.

The system was developed by the Office of the Registrar in 1978, and Foster admits that it does have some shortcomings. For example, if a student signs the list, they also should plan to show up for the first day of class and talk to the instructor about getting permission to enroll in the class.

No one calls students who are on the wait list to inform them if the class is opened up for a few more spots. Instead, the burden is placed on the individual student to find out. Instructors might decide not to use the wait list altogether.

Foster said his office is developing a new system of enrollment that might be in use as soon as next year.

"The new system won't let students enroll if they are not on the list," Foster said. "The new system wouldn't significantly change the current drop-add system."

The proposed system would have a few drawbacks,

■ See DROP-ADD on PAGE 8

PHOTOGRAPHS BY JEFF COOPER/Kansas State Collegian

Brendan Ryan, K-State Flying Club member and student pilot, writes in his log book after his flight last Friday. Ryan now has 40 hours of flying time under his belt.

SPREADING THEIR WINGS

Students take flight in K-State Flying Club

A Cessna 172 flown by Ryan passes over Tuttle Creek Reservoir Friday afternoon as Ryan and Brockway go through flight training exercises.

By TL MEYER
Kansas State Collegian

In 1951, 10 people pitched in $100 each and bought an airplane, and the K-State Flying Club was born.

Today, the club has 70 members, five planes and some of the most affordable rates around.

"The purpose of the club is to promote aviation and aviation safety," said Troy Brockway, president of the K-State Flying Club and a research technologist in Durland Hall.

"One of the great things about the club is we own the airplanes. When you become a member of the flying club, you also become part-owner in the aircraft," Brockway said.

To join, one must be associated with the university as a student, faculty, or staff member or a spouse of any of those. New members must pay $200 for a share of stock in the airplanes and a $55 one-time processing fee. In addition, monthly dues of $20 help cover insurance and fixed costs. Members also are required to pay an hourly user's fee that varies among planes.

The user fees are considered very reasonable, members said. For example, members pay $30 an hour when flying a Cessna 152, and many other places charge $40 an hour.

The club has a stock buy-back program for members who leave.

"When they decide to get out, we buy back all outstanding shares of stock," Brockway said. "We don't make a profit, but we do make some money for improvements and maintaining our equipment."

A pilot's license is not required.

"Many of them have their license already," Brockway said. "Some, though, have never been in an aircraft."

One student who joined without a license was Brendan Ryan, graduate student in engineering and nuclear-reactor facility manager.

■ See CLUB on PAGE 8

Troy Brockway, K-State Flying Club president and flight instructor, goes through in-flight exercises with Ryan on Friday. A minimum of 40 hours of flight time is required for a pilots license, of those hours, a minimum of 20 need to be with an instructor and 10 solo.

CALENDAR DEADLINES

To place an item in the Calendar, stop by Kedzie 116 and fill out a form or e-mail it to bulletins@spub.ksu.edu by 11 a.m. two days before it is to run.

NEWS DIGEST

CALENDAR

Calendar is the Collegian's campus bulletin board service. Items in the planner can be published up to three times. Items might not appear because of space constraints but are guaranteed to appear on the day of the activity. To place an item, stop by Kedzie 116 and fill out a form or e-mail it to collegn@ksu.edu by 11 a.m. two days before it is to run.

■ Intramural entries for 4-on-4 sand volleyball are due at 5 p.m. Friday in the Chester E. Peters Recreation Complex business office.

■ New members of Alpha Kappa Psi will meet at 6 tonight in Calvin 202.

■ Alpha Kappa Psi will meet at 7:30 tonight in Thompson 101. Attire is business casual.

■ KSU Hillel will meet at 8:30 tonight at Java Espresso & Bakery.

■ KSU Golf Course Management Association of America will meet at 5 today in Throckmorton 2024. Free pizza will be served.

■ Pre-Vet Club will meet at 7:30 tonight in Trotter 201.

■ K-State Women's Soccer Club will meet at 7 tonight in Union 203.

■ The practice Pre-Professional Skills Test (PPST) will be held from 6 to 9:30 tonight in Bluemont 101.

■ Society of Automotive Engineers will meet at 7 tonight in Rathbone 166.

■ KSU Horseman's Association will meet at 6:30 tonight in Weber 111.

■ KSU Karate Club will begin fall classes at 7 tonight in Ahearn Field House.

■ Agricultural Education Club will meet at 7 tonight in Bluemont 343.

■ American Institute of Chemical Engineers will meet at 1:30 today in Ackert 120.

POLICE REPORTS

Reports are taken directly from the K-State and Riley County police departments' daily logs. We do not list wheel locks or minor traffic violations because of space constraints.

K-STATE POLICE
MONDAY, SEPT. 1

No reports of note were made.

RILEY COUNTY POLICE
MONDAY, SEPT. 1

■ At 8:19 a.m., Jamie J. Siebert, 526 Laramie St., was arrested for theft. Bond was set at $300.

■ At 9:29 a.m., Randolph S. Miller, no address listed, was arrested for failure to appear and probation violation. Bond was set at $2,500.

■ At 10:47 a.m., Christopher C. Folger, 2421 Woodway Drive, was arrested for passing a worthless check. Bond was set at $150.

■ At 2:09 p.m., David Amos, Topeka, was arrested for violation of a diversion agreement. Bond was set at $1,100.

■ At 2:37 p.m., Adam R. Silva, Alma, Kan., was arrested for probation violation. Bond was set at $500.

■ At 3:18 p.m., Bronson T. Cameron, Clay Center, Kan., was arrested for probation violation. Bond was set at $750.

■ At 5:38 p.m., Dale Hill, 2137 Griffith Terrace, was arrested for failure to report to jail on sentence when directed. He was held without bond.

■ At 6:46 p.m., Mary Farrow, Junction City, Kan., was arrested for failure to appear. Bond was set at $550.

■ At 10:39 p.m., officers responded to a report of a fight in progress. Christy L. Lowe, 2625 Brookhollow Court, was arrested for battery of a law enforcement officer. Bond was set at $500.

■ At 11:18 p.m., Brian L. Dowling, 411 S. 14th St., was arrested for battery. Bond was set at $500.

DAILY REWIND

Daily Rewind collects the top local, state, national and world news from the past 48 hours. Briefs are compiled from wire and staff reports.

Utah video store offers to edit 'Titanic' copies

AMERICAN FORK, Utah — For $5, a video store here promises to take your recently purchased copy of "Titanic" — rated PG-13 — and transform it into a shorter film that's rated G.

Sunrise Family Video offers customers the option of cutting the scene in which Kate Winslet poses nude and another which suggests Leonardo DiCaprio's and Winslet's characters have sex.

For an additional $3, employees will edit out any other scenes that customers find objectionable from the joint Paramount Pictures and Twentieth Century Fox release.

"I'm thrilled," said customer Connie Paxton, a mother of five. "My husband and kids haven't seen it" because of the sex scenes. "My teen-age daughter is excited. She's going to invite her friends over to watch it."

More than 50 customers dropped off personal copies of the Academy Award-winning film for editing Tuesday — a four-day backlog for the store's employees who require about 35 minutes to edit one copy.

"It's not with Paramount's blessing and it's illegal," Paramount Studios spokeswoman Dorrit Ragosine said Tuesday. She said she would check with Paramount's legal staff but could not say what action the company would take.

Ragosine said if viewers find certain scenes offensive, they simply shouldn't buy the video.

Don Biesinger, owner of the video store, said Tuesday that an attorney advised him it was legal to edit customers' videos, and he plans to continue offering the service.

"We're not making a whole lot on it. But we wanted people to be able to enjoy it without being embarrassed," he said. His personal copy, however, will remain whole.

"I understand people's concerns, but I didn't have any objection to those scenes at all," Biesinger said.

American Fork is 25 miles northwest of Provo.

Detailed county maps cause ban of almanac

DALLAS — The Texas Almanac is banned in Texas prisons for fear that escaped convicts will find its detailed county maps, with seemingly every little road, creek, mountain and railroad marked out, a little too useful.

"A map would be of great assistance if you were planning to go over the wall," said Larry Fitzgerald, spokesman for the Texas Department of Criminal Justice. "Once they're outside the walls, they go, 'Ooh, I'm out here. What do I do now?' A lot of times they won't have any idea really where they are, what road leads to where."

The publisher of the almanac, The Dallas Morning News, isn't upset about the ban. Instead, the paper sees it as a breakout marketing opportunity.

The Morning News recently ran an advertisement for the almanac that bragged, "The powers-that-be feared that inmates might use the detailed county maps to plot escape routes. We're not making this up. If the maps are so good prisoners aren't allowed to read them — imagine what they can do for you."

Fitzgerald said the almanac has been banned for years — at least the five he's been with the prison system.

As one example of why, the map for Polk County — the densely forested East Texas home of the Terrell prison unit — includes the tiny towns of Pluck and Ace, Piney and Menard creeks, an Indian reservation and several railroad lines.

The American Civil Liberties Union doesn't think the ban treads unfairly on inmates' rights. Jay Jacobson of the ACLU of Texas said, "I think one might be able to express a legitimate security concern with a detailed map that shows nooks and crannies, every hill and dale."

Other banned reading material includes hardcore pornography, hate writings and outdoor magazines that show how to build weapons or hide in the woods.

It was through a 1996 letter from officials at the Terrell unit that almanac editor Mary G. Ramos learned of the restrictions.

"They sent us a form saying the almanac had been banned because it contained contraband," she recalled. "We had a good laugh over it and put the form in a frame and hung it on the wall."

The way she figures it, "it's a great tribute to the accuracy and detail of our county maps."

Mortuaries pay for pilot's faked flights

SACRAMENTO, Calif. — A pilot's failure to scatter the remains of thousands of people will end up costing a group of mortuaries $4.17 million.

The mortuaries agreed to settle a class-action lawsuit filed by the relatives of people whose remains were among more than 5,000 boxes of cremated ashes found in a locker in June 1997.

Pilot Allan Vieira had been hired by more than 150 Northern California mortuaries and funeral homes to scatter the remains. He committed suicide after they were found. Authorities later learned Vieira lacked a pilot's license and had been stockpiling the ashes for more than a decade.

Relatives of the dead sued, alleging the mortuaries failed to make sure Viera did his job.

The proposed settlement, announced Monday, covers remains that were supposed to have been scattered by Vieira since the early 1980s.

The case suffered a setback in June when an appeals court in San Francisco ruled in an unrelated suit that a mortuary that carefully selected a crematorium had no duty to supervise the cremation and no responsibility for the mishandling of the ashes.

That ruling affected settlement talks in the Vieira-related suit, said Richard Brown, a lawyer for more than 1,000 families involved. He said the settlement was still a victory.

"It's an acknowledgment by the funeral industry that they are responsible for letting Vieira hoodwink the public," Brown said.

But Brian Kindsvater, a lawyer for the mortuaries, noted that the settlement contains no admission of wrongdoing and said his clients decided it was cheaper to settle than go to trial.

The settlement also would require the mortuaries to scatter the remaining ashes and look more closely at the pilots they hire in the future. The agreement is subject to approval by Superior Court Judge John Lewis.

Princes ask public to cease mourning

LONDON — Princess Diana's sons appealed to Britain on Wednesday to let their mother and her memory rest in peace saying, "constant reminders of her death can create nothing but pain to those she left behind."

In a statement issued two days after the first anniversary of Diana's death, Prince William, 16, and Prince Harry, 13, said the public mourning period should end.

"Throughout the last year, since the death of their mother, Prince William and Prince Harry have been comforted enormously by the public sympathy and support they have been given," said Sandy Henney, press secretary to their father, Prince Charles. "It has meant a great deal to them, and they have asked me to express their thanks once again to everyone.

"They have also asked me to say that they believe their mother would want people now to move on — because she would have known that constant reminders of her death can create nothing but pain to those she left behind."

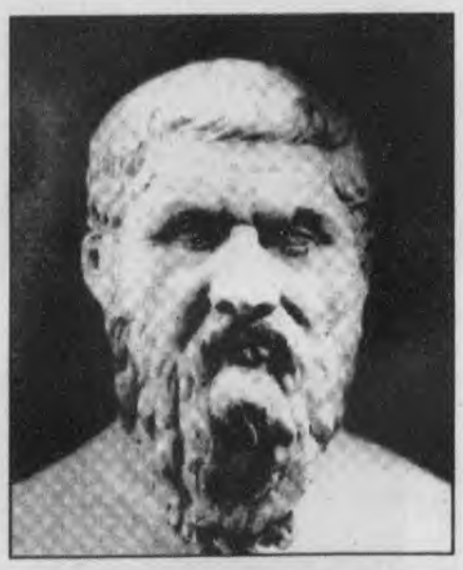
WEATHER

HIGH 82

LOW 59

Hope you brought your umbrella to campus today. Chance for showers and thunderstorms today, but cooler and dry on Friday.

CONTACT US



■ NEWSROOM 532-6556
■ ADVERTISING 532-6560
■ CLASSIFIEDS 532-6555

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN
KEDZIE 116
KANSAS STATE UNIVERSITY
MANHATTAN, KS 66506

The Kansas State Collegian (USPS 291 020), a student newspaper at Kansas State University, is published by Student Publications Inc., Kedzie 103, Manhattan, Kan. 66506. The Collegian is published weekdays during the school year and twice a week through the summer. Periodical postage is paid at Manhattan, Kan. 66502. POSTMASTER: Send address changes to Kansas State Collegian, circulation desk, Kedzie 103, Manhattan, Kan. 66506-7167.

© KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN, 1998

MAURICES

Under the tutelage of Socrates, Plato wrote that his greatest lesson was learning how to save at Maurices.

15% OFF

15% OFF WITH COLLEGE STUDENT ID CARD.
Manhattan Town

Not valid in conjunction with other coupons or total store discounts. Select brands excluded from this offer. Offer valid now through October 15, 1998. Must present college I.D.

Family Weekend
Sept. 25-Sept. 27, 1998

KANSAS STATE UNIVERSITY'S
1998 HONORARY FAMILY
RECOGNITION

Tell us in 500 to 1,000 words why your Family should be selected as K-State's Honorary Family during the 1998 Family Weekend activities.

Applications are available in the Student Activities and Services Office on the ground floor K-State Student Union, or Union Program Council Office, 3rd floor, K-State Student Union.

ESSAYS DUE BY 5:00pm SEPT. 4, 1998.

For more details, call
Union Program Council 532-6571.
Contest sponsored by Chimes Junior Honorary

Architecture interns go worldwide

Students spend time working in Prague, Topeka

BY RUSSELL FORTMEYER
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Ever since President Bill Clinton admitted to an affair with White House intern Monica Lewinsky, the country has been obsessed with the word 'intern.'

But the only designs that 14 architecture student interns had on their employers concerned buildings, design documents and computer rendering.

INTERESTED?
The Architecture Internship Show:

Chang Gallery
Seaton Hall

8a.m. to 5 p.m.
Until Sept. 11

Admission: Free

The students worked with a variety of professional firms from January through August. The student interns are showing a selection of their original work along with some items relating to their host firm and city in the Chang Gallery until Sept. 11.

The architecture internship is a rigorous program in which students enroll for the second semester of their fourth year and work through the summer in paid internships, though they need not be. They are required to document their experience and follow it up with a paper in the following fall semester.

Students are also allowed to interview with any firm of their choice, which includes firms overseas. This year's crop went as far as Santiago, Chile, and as close as Topeka.

Sean Bogart, a fifth-year architecture student, spent his internship with Mitchell/Giurgola Architects in New York City.

"New York is where a lot of the architecture is happening," Bogart said. "I had plenty of time to enjoy the city."

Among the projects on which Bogart worked was a building for Queen's College, where he helped pick finishes for walls and floors and built some models of stair towers. He also worked on a master plan and helped a principal architect prepare a presentation for a conference.

JILL JARSULIC/KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Fifth-year architecture students Sean Bogart (left), Lawson Harris (center) and Mark Clark each had 30-week architecture internships. The Chang Gallery in Seaton Hall features the work of Bogart, Harris and Clark along with other architecture students, continuing through September 11.

"The main reason I did it was to get out and get some more experience and make myself more marketable."

"The main reason I did it was to get out and get some more experience and make myself more marketable," Bogart said.

Bogart lived in a single-room efficiency just down the hall from fellow architecture student and friend Lawson Harris, who worked at another firm in New York. Bogart said although Mitchell/Giurgola offered him a job after graduation, the cost of living in the city is prohibitively expensive.

On the West Coast, Mark Clark, fifth-year senior in architecture, spent his internship with Barton Myers Associates, Inc., in Beverly Hills.

"Out in California, there is so much architecture to see — especially in Southern California," Clark said.

Among the highlights of his summer was a visit to the Getty Center, which opened last December.

At Barton Myers, Clark said he was able to work on the design development of a film studio for film director Ivan Reitman. Myers' most recent high-profile project was the New Jersey Performing Arts Center in Newark.

The architecture internship has been offered in the architecture curriculum since 1970 and since has included more than 1,000 students.

Eugene Kremer, director of the internship program and professor of architecture, said the department encourages students to find internships away from their homes. He said he sees the experience as a way to enrich the program at K-State.

"We want the students and fellow classmates and faculty to get an understanding of what architecture can be in another area or region," Kremer said. "It also helps spread the name of the school and our own reputation."

Hurricane Earl gains strength, thousands flee

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

PANAMA CITY BEACH, Fla. — Thousands of people fled the Gulf Coast on Wednesday as Tropical Storm Earl strengthened into a hurricane and veered toward Florida with drenching rain and wind up to 100 mph.

The storm center was expected to come ashore during the night somewhere around Panama City, then cut across Georgia and into South Carolina with 10 inches of rain possible.

A hurricane warning was posted for about 320 miles of coastline, from Pascagoula, Miss., to a point near Tallahassee.

Islands off Tallahassee were under mandatory-evacuation orders. Many people also left Santa Rosa Island, east of Pensacola, at the recommendation of condo and hotel managers, and a state park closed on St. George Island, connected to mainland by a single bridge. Evacuations were recommended in flood-prone areas elsewhere.

Traffic built up on coastal roads as people heeded the warnings.

"We decided to run for higher ground," said Eleanor Griffin, 70, of Dothan, Ala., who cut short a four-day family vacation on Santa Rosa Island.

Gulf Coast Medical Center in Panama City canceled elective surgery, tested generators and sent non-essential employees home. Eglin Air Force Base sent 30 fighter jets to Oklahoma. Schools along the coast of Alabama and Mississippi closed.

Before strengthening into the third hurricane of the season, Earl had been moving almost due north across the Gulf of Mexico, and Texas and Louisiana seemed to be the targets. Early Wednesday, however, Earl took a sharp right turn toward Florida.

"It's coming in so fast it's almost too late to make a decision," Rick Russell said as he left a Panama City Wal-Mart with a shopping basket full of batteries, water, milk and other supplies.

At 5 p.m. EDT, Earl was centered about 100 miles southwest of Destin, Fla., and was moving to the northeast at 5 to 10 mph. Hurricane-force wind reached 90 miles east of the center. A tropical storm watch extended south to the Tampa Bay area and west to Grand Isle, La.

"Earl's not going to make landfall so much at a point as Earl's going to slop up on the shore somewhere," said Florida preparedness chief Craig Fugate.

— Both Nationally Ranked —

Rusty's Thursday Night Pre-Game Pep Rally

Rusty's Last Chance Saloon

$3 Large Chargaritta's
Charge to a KSU Victory

$1 Souvenir Mugs of PURPLE Coors Light
(You keep the cup)

Wear your PURPLE and Win Prizes

$1 PURPLE Hooters

FREE Prizes and T-Shirts

A special guest apperance (Secret)

K-State Football/ Rusty's Last Chance
Both Playboy Picks

FACE FACTS:

There are some things college doesn't prepare you for...

there's something about mary

TWENTIETH CENTURY FOX PRESENTS A FARRELLY BROTHERS MOVIE CAMERON DIAZ MATT DILLON BEN STILLER "THERE'S SOMETHING ABOUT MARY"
LEE EVANS CHRIS ELLIOTT MUSIC BY JONATHAN RICHMAN MUSIC SUPERVISOR HAPPY WALTERS & TOM WOLFE CO-PRODUCER MARC S. FISCHER EDITED BY CHRISTOPHER GREENBURY
DIRECTOR OF PHOTOGRAPHY MARK IRWIN, A.S.C., C.S.C. EXECUTIVE PRODUCERS PETER FARRELLY & BOBBY FARRELLY PRODUCED BY FRANK BEDDOR & MICHAEL STEINBERG AND CHARLES B. WESSLER & BRADLEY THOMAS
STORY BY ED DECTER & JOHN J. STRAUSS SCREENPLAY BY ED DECTER & JOHN J. STRAUSS AND PETER FARRELLY & BOBBY FARRELLY DIRECTED BY BOBBY FARRELLY & PETER FARRELLY

R RESTRICTED UNDER 17 REQUIRES ACCOMPANYING PARENT OR ADULT GUARDIAN DOLBY DIGITAL
www.aboutmary.com
SOUNDTRACK AVAILABLE ON Capitol CD'S AND CASSETTES
©1998 TWENTIETH CENTURY FOX
20th CENTURY FOX

Purple Power Play on Poyntz gives people dose of purple pride

BY SHANDA PARKER
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Poyntz get ready to roll, purple get ready to roll. Manhattan will kick off the 12th-annual Purple Power Play on Poyntz at 5 tonight.

"This year it's bigger and better," said Monnie Applegate, Manhattan Town Center marketing director. "There are all kinds of new things, and we are really excited about Purple Power Play."

Highlights for Thursday night include a KTKA-TV News Source 49 live broadcast at 6 p.m., pep rallies and Lambda Chi Alpha's Chariot Relays and Watermelon Bust.

The Lambda Chis will be host to their annual philanthropy in conjunction with the Purple Power Play.

"It's the longest-running philanthropy on campus," Brian Briggeman, junior in agriculture business, said.

In the past, the relays and watermelon bust were at Memorial Stadium. The Lambda Chis volunteered to move their philanthropy to Poyntz Avenue to get students more involved with Purple Power Play. "We took the simplest thing and made it better," Briggeman said.

This year four more greek houses will participate than last year, Briggeman said.

The Lambda Chis wanted to increase student attendance at Purple Power Play. Their philanthropy provided a good means to achieve that goal.

Friday night highlights include a Schwinn freestyle-bike demonstration, fireworks, pep rallies and a tailgating championship. This is the first year for the tailgating championship, and the event is limited to 40 entries. Entry papers are at KMAN 1350, KMKF-FM 101.5 and KXBZ 104.7 (B104).

Purple Power Play on Poyntz has continued to grow since 1986 when it began as Power Pride Party. The purpose also has grown from welcoming back students to the whole Manhattan community kicking off the football season.

As the event has grown over the years, it has become an opportunity for the university and community to come together and look forward to the football season, Applegate said.

"We want to encourage people in the community to come downtown and see the positive changes that have taken place," Scott Morrill, project manager for Manhattan Main Street, said.

"It is a tremendous amount of fun for anyone to attend."

PURPLE POWER PLAY ON POYNTZ

The following is a list of events that will be going on today and Friday. Events will begin at 5 tonight and 4 p.m. on Friday.

TODAY

- Great food and activities.
- Talent performances begin at 5 p.m.
- Live broadcast by 49 KTKA-TV at 6 p.m.
- KQLA-FM 103.5 Wheel of Fortune
- KJCK-FM 94.5 Pop-A-Shot
- KMAN-AM 1350/KMKF-FM 101.5/KXBZ-FM 104.7 Jello Jump.
- Lambda Chi Alpha Chariot Races and Watermelon Bust.
- K-State organization and living group attendance contest.
- Photos with Willie the Wildcat from 5 to 7:30 p.m. Cost is $5 per instant photo.
- Live music begins at 6 p.m. on two stages. The small stage will consist of Drew Forrester, JT and Jacob Ramirez. The larger stage will consist of Blake and Jeremy, Midtown and Last Call.
- Pep Rally at 8:30 p.m. featuring K-State Football team captains, Coach Bill Snyder, The K-State Marching Band, Classy Cats and cheerleaders.
- Purple Power Sale at Manhattan Town Center until 9 p.m.

FRIDAY

- Great food and activities.
- Talent performances begin at 4 p.m.
- Schwinn Freestyle bicycle team-two shows.
- Tailgate Championship-the best tailgate party will win a tailgate package.
- KMAN-AM 1350/KMKF-FM 101.5/B104.7 Dunk Tank.
- Photos with Willie the Wildcat from 5 to 7:30 p.m. Cost is $5 per instant photo.
- Live music begins at 6 p.m. on two stages. The small stage will consist of the Manhattan High School Jazz Band and Rick Davis. The large stage will consist of Beat Kings (two shows) and Jacob Ramirez.
- KQLA-FM 103.5 and KJCK-FM 94.5 Great Banner Contest at 8 p.m.
- A Pep Rally at 8:15 p.m. featuring the K-State Pep Band, Classy Cats, cheerleaders, Willie the Wildcat and guest speakers.
- Fireworks at 9 p.m.
- Purple Power Sale at Manhattan Town Center until 9 p.m.

MIKE ENGELHARDT/KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Expansion to begin in February

BY LAURAN COWDREY
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

The maze of flashing lights and orange pylons along Anderson Avenue are part of an advanced construction project in preparation for the $7 million expansion of the street, which is set to begin in February.

The current work includes projects at the east and west ends of the Anderson Avenue expansion area, according to Jerry Petty, public works director.

Sewer lines are being relocated at the east end of Anderson Avenue near 17th Street. Many of the old sewer lines are being replaced with insituform pipes which are guaranteed to last 50 years, nearly twice as long as the old sewer lines.

At the west end of the Anderson Avenue expansion, between Denison and Sunset avenues, new water lines and electrical and cable wires are being installed.

Some students said they are skeptical about the way the city is handling the construction. A few expressed dissatisfaction with the extra hassle involved in getting to class.

Some students said they are skeptical about the way the city is handling the construction. A few expressed dissatisfaction with the extra hassle involved in getting to class.

"I think they should have done it earlier in the summer," said Casey Parks, freshman in open-option. "I used to like to drive on that road, but now it's hard to get to class."

Petty said the city could not avoid some overlap between construction and school schedules.

"It was going to impact the end of the school year or the beginning," Petty said. "The length of the construction exceeded the one or two months we had over the summer.

It is a huge inconvenience but certainly had to be done in advance of roadway construction."

In addition to the timing of the projects, some students said the construction was uncomfortable and unhealthy.

"The dust is really annoying to me because it gets in your eyes and lungs. I try to completely avoid it," said Carey Cumberland, sophomore in apparel and textile marketing.

In contrast to the opinions of students, local businesses on Anderson Avenue have an optimistic outlook on the construction. Employees of Wildcat Amoco said the construction is hurting their profits now, but when the expansion is completed, they believe business will improve and the number of accidents on the street will decrease.

Petty said the current projects should be completed by October of this year. The expansion project will begin in February and is expected to be completed by November of next year.

Wellness Resource Center free to students

BY AMANDA EWING
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

The Wellness Resource Center at K-State is making getting healthy a lot easier.

The center, located in the Chester E. Peters Recreation Complex, is a free resource for students and faculty who want to get in shape or increase their current exercise program.

Five fitness consultants are available to design personal exercise programs based on individual goals.

"It is individually based," Lori Strack, a fitness consultant, said. "It depends on what they're looking for. If they just want strength training, we can do that. Or, we can design a whole workout."

Before designing a program, the fitness consultants do basic testing to see what exercises would most help a student reach their goals.

"We do sub max VO2 to measure lung capacity, skin fold tests to measure body fat, flexibility and strength tests, and we also do a nutritional analysis," Strack said.

The fitness consultants also make sure no serious health risks are present.

"We make sure they don't have specific health problems," said fitness consultant Ryan Manning, fifth-year senior in kinesiology. "If someone has high-risk health factors, it's necessary that they go through a doctor before we set up a program. We don't want to throw anybody into anything that causes problems."

TO SCHEDULE
To schedule an appointment with a fitness consultant, call the Wellness Resource Center at 532-0456 or the Rec Complex at 532-6980.

After a program is designed, the fitness consultants remain available to further help the students as goals are met.

"We want to meet with them every four to six weeks to touch base," Strack said. "We can re-evaluate their program when they reach a plateau."

The types of workouts that are designed are as varied as the people they're designed for. Everything from basic weight training to high-altitude training can be incorporated into a personal program.

"Some people just want weight training, and others want the full package," Manning said.

"We can design water workouts as well."

The benefits of a personal exercise program are many, and they go beyond immediate results.

"People need to incorporate exercise into a way of life," Strack said. "This is for life-long fitness."

Many people, though, don't stick with a program long enough to see the results.

"After six months the dropout rate is high," Strack said. "People get bored. They want a quick fix. This takes persistence."

To keep motivation high, the fitness consultants stress varying a routine.

"We encourage them to switch up," Strack said. "They could use a stepper one day, a treadmill the next. We try to keep them excited."

Consultants also make sure that students get started in the right direction.

"We help them if they don't know how to use the machines. Many people have never done anything like this before," Manning said.

The center has consultants available throughout the day. To schedule an appointment with a fitness consultant, call the Wellness Resource Center at 532-0456 or the Rec Complex at 532-6980.

Purple Power Play on Poyntz

Thursday & Friday

- Pep Rally
  (featuring KSU Football Team Captains, Coach Bill Snyder, KSU Marching Band, Classy Cats & Cheerleaders)
- Photos with Willie
- Live Entertainment
- Great Food
- Fireworks
- Purple Power Sales

Purple Power Special

Selected Mountain Bikes $40 - $400 OFF!

the PATHFINDER
OUTDOOR EQUIPMENT SPECIALISTS
539-5639
304 Poyntz

Open until 7 p.m. Mon. - Wed., Thurs. until 8 p.m., Fri. - Sat. until 6 p.m.

PURPLE Sale POWER

September 3-4-5-6-7

Sale Hours:
Thursday - 10 am - 9 pm
Friday - 10 am - 11 pm
Saturday - 10 am to 9 pm
Sunday - Noon - 6 pm
Monday, Labor Day - 10 am - 6 pm

Kick off the Football Season with a Party on Poyntz!

Kids, Have your photo taken with Willie the Wildcat.
5:00 to 7:30 PM
Thurs. 9/3 & Fri., 9/4
Just $5 per instant photo.

Get a FREE purple "Wildcat First Down" giant foam hand with only $50 in mall receipts dated Sept. 3-4-5
Redeem at the MTC Customer Service Center.
Offer good while supplies last.
Limit 4 per customer, please.

Attend the Beanie Baby Bonanza sponsored by the Gamma Lambda chapter of Epsilon Sigma Alpha Saturday, Sept. 5th
9 am to 4 PM
Early bird admission at 9 am - $10
Regular admission at 10 am - $3
Children under 12 admitted free.
Proceeds benefit Mercy Health Center, St. Jude Children's Hospital and Heartspring.

JUST FOR YOU
MANHATTAN · TOWN · CENTER

Key to population growth held by teens, young adults

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

LONDON — Teen-agers and young adults hold the key to population growth in the 21st century, making it vital that they have access to contraception and sex education to help control the size of their families, the U.N. Population Fund said in its annual report Wednesday.

These groups are part of the largest generation of young people ever on nearly every continent, the report said. Numbering more than 1 billion and ranging in age from 15 to 24, this group is entering its most fertile years.

"These young people will decide whether family size continues to decline," Nafis Sadik, the fund's executive director, said at a news conference launching the report.

The Population Fund called for more sex-education programs that "address adolescents and their sexuality openly and honestly."

The study also advocated better information to promote effective use of contraception.

The Catholic Church opposes artificial birth control, and many parents and others argue that sex education and access to contraceptives promotes sexual activity.

But Sadik said that research shows young people who attend high-quality sex-education programs are much more responsible, and that access to contraception reduces pregnancy among teenage girls.

Even though the population growth rate is slowing down, recent population surges in much of the world will ensure growth until at least the middle of the next century — and it is likely "to go on growing slowly after that for perhaps 50 more years," Sadik said.

Global population is increasing by more than 80 million people every year and will pass 6 billion in 1999. It will reach somewhere between 7.7 billion and 11.1 billion by 2050, according to U.N. projections.

The world's population also is changing in another major way, the report said.

The proportion of people older than 65 is growing and will more than double in the next 50 years, from 6.8 percent to 15.1 percent. That means a record 1.42 billion people will live beyond their 65th birthdays in 2050, 3.5 times the number today and more than 10 times as many as in 1950, the report said.

Efforts by governments, international agencies and millions of men and women have cut family size in half in the past 30 years, Sadik said.

"It is a trend which has improved the lives and prospects of literally billions of people in today's developing countries," Sadik said.

Jon Detwiler, freshman in engineering, leads his group through teamwork exercises during Introduction to Leadership class on Wednesday afternoon. The class was having a picnic at City Park that included a lecture by Dean of Student Life Pat Bosco along with group discussions and activities.

Steve Dearinger/Collegian

Fraternities, sororities honored at summer conferences

By T.L. Meyer
Kansas State Collegian

K-State greeks received many national awards at their individual conventions and conferences this summer.

"The greek system consistently has outstanding chapters, which is indicative of the fraternity and sorority experience available at K-State," greek affairs adviser Barb Robel said.

Alpha Tau Omega was recognized as the top chapter in the nation out of 140 chapters.

Gabe Graham, senior in marketing and ATO president, said this was the inaugural year for the award.

There were eight criteria the chapters were judged on, and K-State was recognized for three: chapter operations, runner-up in community awareness and winners of the Anderson Gold Communications Award.

Pi Beta Phi received the Philadelphia Bowl, which recognizes the K-State chapter as the third most outstanding in the nation out of 132 chapters.

"The guys put a lot of time and effort into winning this award," Graham said.

Graham also said someone who contributed to ATO's success was chapter advisor Bill Muir, who has been an ATO adviser for 27 years.

Pi Beta Phi received the Philadelphia Bowl, which recognizes the K-State chapter as the third most outstanding in the nation out of 132 chapters.

Some of the criteria the Pi Phi house were judged on included campus involvement, scholarship and philanthropy.

Melissa Marvel, senior in biology and president of Pi Phi, said only the top four chapters in the nation receive individual awards.

"K-State's chapter has consistently been in the top 10, but this was the first time in a while that they had received an individual award," Marvel said.

"I think for all the hard work and effort that the girls have put forth, the award was appropriate and well-deserved," Marvel said.

In addition, 13 other sororities and fraternities received national awards.

"I think it's significant that many of our chapters have been recognized as some of the best in the country," Robel said. "

The K-State greek community, as a whole, has received numerous awards through the Interfraternity and Panhellenic councils and the recognition of the individual chapters certainly plays a role in that success."

JCPenney's welcomes back Kansas State Wildcat Football!
25% off all KSU apparel for the whole family!
SPECIAL EVENTS
Thursday • Sept. 3 - Saturday • Sept. 5
SIDEWALK SALE
Big savings on hot summer fashions!
Friday • Sept. 4
9 to 11 p.m.
$5 Haircuts! $1 per nail for KSU nail art or purple polish & complete KSU nail art for only $10!
Saturday • Sept. 5
KSU cake & coffee at 10 a.m. Come join us before the game & get ready for some football
Manhattan Town Center
JCPenney
776-4867

IT'S A WIN-WIN SITUATION!

Accura Business System
Medium ATX Case
Intel Pentium II Chip with Intel 440LX Motherboard
32 MB SDRAM
1.44 Floppy
5.7 GB Hard Drive
32x CDROM
16 Bit Sound Card
Altec Lansing ACS 43 Speakers
56K Modem
Diamond Stealth 4000 2MB Video Card
15" .28 DP Flat Digital Monitor
Mitsumi Mouse
Mitsumi Keyboard
Windows 95 OSR 2.5 OR Windows 98
PII-300 $1150
PII-333 $1321

Accura Family System
Medium ATX Case
Intel Pentium II Chip with Intel 440BX Motherboard
64 MB PC100 SDRAM
1.44 Floppy
6.8 GB Hard Drive
32x CDROM
AWE 64 Sound Card
Altec Lansing ACS 43 Speakers
56K Modem
Diamond Stealth 4000 4MB AGP Video Card
15" .28 DP Flat Digital Monitor
Mitsumi Mouse
Mitsumi Keyboard
Windows 95 OSR 2.5 OR Windows 98
CD Bundle
PII-300 $1461 PII-333 $1597
PII-350 $1720 PII-400 $1966

Accura Professional System
Medium ATX Case
Intel Pentium II Chip with Intel 440BX Motherboard
128 MB PC100 SDRAM
1.44 Floppy
8.4 GB Hard Drive
36x CDROM
Sound Blaster AWE 64
Altec Lansing ACS 45 Speakers
56K Modem
8MB AGP Video Card
17" .28 DP Flat Digital Monitor
Microsoft Intellimouse Mouse
Ergonomic Keyboard
Windows 95 OSR 2.5 OR Windows 98
CD Bundle
PII-300 $1856 PII-333 $1991
PII-350 $2114 PII-400 $2360

Accura Master Gamer System
Medium ATX Case
Intel Pentium II Chip with Intel 440BX Motherboard
128 PC100 SDRAM
1.44 Floppy
11 GB Hard Drive
36x CDROM
Monster Sound M80
Altec Lansing ACS 48 Speakers
56K Modem
Diamond Stealth 4000 4MB AGP Video Card
Voodoo2-3DFX-8MB-Graphics Accelerator
17" .28 DP Flat Digital Monitor
Mitsumi Mouse
Mitsumi Keyboard
Sidewinder Pro Joystick
Windows 95 OSR 2.5 OR Windows 98
CD Bundle
PII-300 $2150 PII-333 $2285
PII-350 $2408 PII-400 $2654

BUY ANY COMPLETE COMPUTER SYSTEM FROM TCS AND WITH EVERY GAME THE KSU FOOTBALL TEAM WINS THE LARGER THE REBATE YOU GET!
offer expires January 2, 1999
1 2 3 4 5 $50 6 $60 7 $70
TCS Football Rebate Card
8 $80 9 $90 10 $100 11 $110 12 $120 13 $200
•Bring this card in after a Wildcat victory to validate your rebate!
TCS Inc.
"Where Service and Technology come first."
404 Poyntz • 537-1702
www.tcs-online.com

Women's team gets new offices

■ Patterson's basketball squad parlays new offices into recruiting success.

BY MIKE VIETTI
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

After spending time in the basement of Ahearn Field House and in two separate crammed offices of the KSU Foundation building, the women's basketball team has finally settled into its permanent home.

Coach Deb Patterson came to K-State in 1996 with the guarantee that a new office area would be constructed. On Aug. 23, a dedication ceremony was held to commemorate the Cats new residence in their expanded offices at the Foundation building.

PATTERSON

"I cannot even begin to explain the magnitude of the difference between the old office and the new one," Patterson said. "They're as different as night and day."

The new office complex has several features the basketball team had grown accustomed to not having such as a sizable reception area, a conference room large enough to hold the entire team and a video room.

Private donations financed the largest chunk of the price tag to renovate the offices.

"The largest amount of the donations came from individuals in the construction business," director of development Ernie Barrett, said. "We also accepted contributions on an individual basis. We had 75 to 100 people give donations from $100 and on up."

Due in part to the luxurious offices, K-State was able to land one of the premier community-college players in the country last spring, 6 foot 6 inch center Olga Firsova from Weatherford (Tex.) College. Firsova was a second team NJCAA All-American after averaging 14.5 points, 13.5 rebounds and 7.3 blocks per contest. Firsova chose the Wildcats over, among others, Texas, South Carolina and Florida State.

"The offices are part of the reason I came here," said Firsova. "When I went on my other campus visits, the offices weren't as nice. They didn't have as much technological equipment as K-State."

Coach Patterson said she sees the new complex as the foundation of K-State basketball; one that will allow the Cats to compete with higher profile schools.

"You have to be on a level-playing field in every aspect that you can control," Patterson said. "We can control our facilities. Some of the other schools have a greater recent tradition of success, but we feel we are as good or better than them with respect to our resources now."

"Women are used to hearing, 'Yes, you're important, but. . .'," said Patterson. "When you walk into this facility, you walk in saying Kansas State is serious about its commitment to women's basketball."

CLIF PALMBERG/KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Senior Val Wieck goes up for a spike last night in the first game against Drake in Ahearn Field House. The Wildcats beat the Bulldogs 15-7 in the first game.

CLEAN sweep

Volleyball team opens season with 3-game sweep of Drake

BY BRENT STOVER
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

If Wednesday night's match was a pass-or-fail test, the Wildcat volleyball team passed — with flying colors.

The Cats opened up the 1998 season by dismantling the Drake Bulldogs of the Missouri Valley Conference in three straight games, 15-7, 15-2, 15-4.

"What I liked most was that we just played extremely hard," Coach Jim McLaughlin said. "But now we've got to learn how to play hard and play smart."

Swing hitter Kim Zschau took over right where she left off last year. The senior All-America candidate led the Cats with 14 kills and eight digs for the match.

"Kim Zschau is Kim Zschau," McLaughlin said. "Kim does so many things well."

But Zschau had some help along the way. Junior outside hitter Dawn Cady chipped in with 11 kills, and sophomore Kelle Branting added another seven to the Cats' cause.

"We're expecting to play good, and we're not going to settle for anything less," Zschau said. "We wanted to come out strong, and we knew that if we played hard, we'd do a good job."

The Wildcats' defense was like a stone wall at the net. So much so that the Bulldog hitters were never able to get into any kind of rhythm.

"I thought the defense did a great job of getting the balls up, so that we could run our offense," middle blocker Val Wieck said. "That's something that we worked on all last spring, was our defense."

Freshman Disney Bronnenberg passed the first test of her college career as well.

Filling the hole vacated by the all-time K-State assists leader Devon Ryning, Bronnenberg provided a spark plug for the Wildcats at the setter position with 35 assists on the night.

"She did really well for her first game," Zschau said. "I was kind of nervous about her being a freshman, but she got her nerves out to begin with and did a really nice job."

Freshman Liz Wegner also made the first start of her Wildcat career, and freshmen Lisa Mimick and Jayne Christen also saw a few minutes of action.

"They could have come in and just lost it, with the band and the crowd and all that stuff, but I think they did an outstanding job," Wieck said.

McLaughlin said the win was nice, but his team has plenty to work on.

"We're going to have to learn how to play hard and smart in a very tough environment versus a great team," McLaughlin said. "And we're going to get the opportunity to do that in the preseason."

Next up for K-State will be a match with University of Missouri - Kansas City Monday night at Ahearn Field House. Game time is set for 7:00 p.m. and can be heard on KSDB-FM 91.9.

Think you know sports? Here's your chance to prove you've got what it takes

I love to write columns about football. In the past, though, I've made some pretty embarrassing mistakes, and any status of legitimacy I might have had is gone.

In fact, at this point in time, the only thing I can definitely say I know about football is that if I could have raised my GPA to a 2.0 way back when, I wouldn't have been kicked off my high school team.

This season, though, I'm ready to reassert myself.

I'm going to prove to the world that I do know a little something about the sport other than high school academic requirements.

So, to do it, I'm going to offer my picks every week, and I'm going to go head-to-head with a guest challenger. Yes, I'm going to prove that I really am Sammy the Great, and that I really have learned something in college, even though this is my seventh fall semester, and I'm still an undergraduate.

If I fail and the guests accumulate a higher total of correct guesses than me, I will buy a yet-to-be-determined prize for the challenger who beats me by the worst tally.

If you want to go head-to-head with me, let me know. This week's guest challenger is Adam Wilkey, senior in radio-television.

He's a fraternity brother of K-State defensive end Joe Bob Clements, former Wildcat defensive end Mike Bush, and Alex Judd, the boyfriend of former Collegian sports editor Sun Dee Mills, so he's got to know a little something about college football.

All picks include the spread. Here's the 10 games we're going with this week:

1. Indiana State at K-State. There's no line on the game because the Sycamores are a Division I-AA team. However, I've set it at K-State by 56.5 for the sake of this column. Two years ago, Indiana State came to Manhattan and lost, 59-3. This year, though, the Cats have Michael Bishop at quarterback instead of Brian Kavanagh. That extra mobility should be worth at least an additional point, maybe even two. My pick: K-State to cover. Guest: Indiana State to cover.

2. UNLV +14.5 at Northwestern. UNLV is one of the four colleges I've attended in seven years. When I was there, the only reason students went to the games was because they could buy mixed drinks at the concession stands. Times haven't changed. Besides, Las Vegas sports books don't take bets on games involving Nevada teams, so there will be no reason for Northwestern to throw this one. My pick: Northwestern to cover. Guest: Northwestern to cover.

3. Oklahoma State -8.5 at Kansas. Easy, easy, easy. Cowboys in a romp. Then again, it doesn't matter if Kansas is playing a seventh-grade flag football team made up of girls — I'll never pick the Jayhawks. My pick: Oklahoma State to cover. Guest: Oklahoma State to cover.

4. Kentucky -11 at Louisville. If Tim Rattay can throw for 590 yards and four touchdowns against Nebraska, you'd have to think that Tim Couch could throw for 1100 yards and nine touchdowns against intrastate-rival Louisville. With K-State, Northwestern and Kentucky all winning big on Saturday, it's Wildcat weekend. My pick: Kentucky to cover. Guest: Louisville to cover.

5. TCU +4 at Iowa State. Iowa State went out and got a bunch of junior college help. Besides, a non-conference win by a Big 12 team is good for K-State. My pick: Iowa State to cover. Guest: Iowa State to cover.

6. Michigan State -1 at Oregon. My logic tells me that Michigan State, which lost at home to a WAC team last Saturday, can't go on the road and beat Oregon, a PAC-10 team. However, this is the Spartans' second game, while Oregon is making its 1998 debut. My pick: Michigan State to cover. Guest: Oregon to cover.

7. Illinois +13 at Washington State. Washington State lost just about everybody, while Illinois returns 20 starters, including kickers. To top it off, the Cougars still have to win by two touchdowns to cover. I don't think that 20 starters returning from a horrible team makes a team good, though. My pick: Washington State to cover. Guest: Illinois to cover.

8. Ohio State -10.5 at West Virginia. Contrary to early reports, the Mountaineers won't come out wearing Michigan uniforms. Therefore, Ohio State should win easily. My pick: Ohio State to cover. Guest: West Virginia to cover.

9. Wisconsin -10 at San Diego State. Superstar running back Ron Dayne is questionable for the Badgers. It won't matter, though. Wisconsin beat the Aztecs 36-10 last year and San Diego State returns fewer starters than any of the 15 other teams in the weak WAC. My pick: Wisconsin to cover. Guest: Wisconsin to cover.

10. Colorado +3 at Colorado State. Even though Colorado appears to be headed in the same downward spiral as one-time Big 8 power Oklahoma, and the Rams seem to be the class of their state, a non-conference win by a Big 12 team is good for K-State. And if the Cats ended up playing Colorado State in the Tostitos Fiesta Bowl, K-State's national championship season would surely be regarded as "The Year of the Fluke." My pick: Colorado to cover. Guest: Colorado to cover.

Sam Felsenfeld is a senior in print journalism. Send him e-mail at sef8701@ksu.edu

Clinton says he did ask for forgiveness

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

MOSCOW — In an ornate Kremlin hall alongside the president of Russia, President Clinton insisted Wednesday he had acknowledged "a mistake" and had asked "to be forgiven" in his much-criticized explanation of his affair with Monica Lewinsky.

The president had not used either word in the Aug. 17 televised address in which he acknowledged an improper relationship with Lewinsky and said he regretted misleading people. The tone of that address had prompted criticism from Democrats and Republicans alike that Clinton was too defensive, insufficiently contrite and showing too much anger about Kenneth Starr's long-running investigation.

Clinton, asked about his affair with Lewinsky at a news conference with Boris Yeltsin, said he had gone back and reread his speech.

"I thought it was clear that I was expressing my profound regret to all who were hurt and to all who were involved and my desire not to see any more people hurt by this process and caught up in it," the president said.

He said it was for others to judge whether his earlier remarks were too contentious — but he did not repeat his stinging criticism of Starr's inquiry or complain about prying into private lives.

"I have acknowledged that I made a mistake, said that I regretted it, asked to be forgiven, spent a lot of very valuable time with my family in the last couple of weeks and said I was going back to work," Clinton said.

CLINTON

The president made his remarks as he concluded two days of talks with Yeltsin on Russia's economic and political crisis. The Lewinsky matter did not come up in their discussions nor did they compare notes about their political weaknesses, a senior administration official said.

In the elegant setting under the dome of Catherine's Hall, the Lewinsky questions were an awkward reminder of the embarrassing investigation awaiting Clinton at home. White House aides had concluded he would have to say more after last month's speech was generally deemed a disaster and failed to stem impeachment talk even among Democrats. The White House sought outside advice on how to proceed, and a vacationing Clinton reached out by telephone to a wide circle of friends.

It was not clear whether Clinton's latest remarks would satisfy demands for contrition.

"I would like to see him apologize," Sen. Patty Murray, D-Wash. Sen., said. Mary Landrieu, D-La., said, "I don't know what else he could say that would help."

"We've got enough mess — let's get this behind us," Sen. Wendell Ford, D-Ky., said.

Rep. Steny Hoyer, D-Md., accompanying Clinton in Russia, fumed at a reporter for putting Clinton on the spot overseas. "As an American, I'm outraged," the congressman shouted — adding that he did not condone Clinton's behavior.

White House officials refused to say whether Lewinsky was covered by Clinton's expression of regret "to all who were hurt and to all who were involved." Presidential spokesman Mike McCurry said the staff should not amplify on Clinton's remarks.

In his August address, Clinton had said the relationship was wrong and that he regretted that he had misled people, including his wife.

Still enjoying high approval ratings, Clinton said he was "quite encouraged" by that support — and by conversations with world leaders.

James Steinberg, deputy national-security adviser, said every foreign leader with whom Clinton has spoken in recent months has expressed a "strong desire for sustained American leadership and their conviction that the president can provide that leadership."

As for his criticism of Starr's investigation, Clinton said Wednesday that "it seemed to be something that most reasonable people would think had consumed a disproportionate amount of America's time, money and resources and attention and now continued to involve more and more people."

When Yeltsin responded to a question about his own political troubles with a curt non-answer, Clinton chuckled and opened his reply to a Lewinsky question by saying, "That's my answer, too. That was pretty good." But he quickly turned serious.

Urick holds reception for 9 ROTC cadets

BY NICK BRATKOVIC
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

K-State athletics director Max Urick gathered nine ROTC cadets and their families together for one reason Wednesday evening in Bramlage Coliseum's Legend Room — to tell them he was impressed by their work.

Urick gave each cadet a bookmark to recognize the cadet's achievement. The cadets successfully made it through advanced basic training this past summer in Fort Lewis, Wash.

Urick said he served as the university's senior faculty adviser when he visited the camp last summer.

"I was thoroughly impressed with the organization and the quality of the training," Urick said.

The training consisted of five weeks and a variety of tests. The tests determine a cadet's ability to work in the military.

"The five-week long camp shows whether you can be a leader in the army," Lt. Dan Wallace said. "The camp helps determine which branch of the army the cadets go into."

URICK

Urick himself also was honored. Lt. Col. Robert Kennedy, professor of military science, awarded Urick the honor — a silver canteen with the colonel symbol on it.

Urick said the honor was nice to receive.

"It blew me away," Urick said. "I really am not worthy of the recognition, but it is very nice to be honored.

"I can't tell you how much I admire the young people for their hard work."

The reception was the first time a faculty representative had been host to such an event.

Kennedy said the event added a much-needed closure, because it gives university officials a chance to see what K-State's cadets go through.

For this type of experience, it is important to have feedback, Kennedy said.

"Before educators have gone and had a great experience, but we really received no real feedback," Kennedy said.

Jason Ruffin, junior in criminology, said he appreciated Urick's support.

"I think it is great he is doing this for us, even though we have nothing to do with athletics," Ruffin said. "It really gives us a boost."

collegian xplore it! http://collegian.ksu.edu

We stay open late at Claflin Books and Copies 1814 Claflin Road 776-3771

Fat THURSDAY
Drink $2 Hurricanes and Feast on Fresh Cajun Crawfish
Porter's BAR
$1.50 Imports
706 N. Manhattan MANHATTAN, KS 537-7151

KSU WOMEN'S RUGBY
OPEN PRACTICE
5:00 p.m. Rec Center
Info. Call Christy or Natasha 395-2623

HIT THE TRAIL SALE
MOUNTAIN BIKES AS LOW AS $199.95
U-LOCKS STARTING AT $9.99
OVER 50 MODELS OF BIKES ON SALE
the PATHFINDER
OUTDOOR EQUIPMENT SPECIALISTS
304 POYNTZ 539-5639

GOLF TOURNAMENT
2 Man Scramble Mon., Sept. 7
8 a.m. Shotgun Start
PRIZES for each flight!
call to register - 539-1024
WILDCAT CREEK sports center
3639 Anderson Ave.

PILOTS:
GET A NEW ATTITUDE!
BROCKWAY AVIATION
• TAILWHEEL ENDORSEMENTS
• BASIC AEROBATIC TRAINING
CALL 776-6735

BIG SEASON
BIG BLOWOUT SALE!
Captain Morgan 1.0 L Best Buy of the Year! $11.96 Almost $3.50 off
Red Dog & Icehouse 12 pack bottles $5.50 Almost $2.00 off
Rolling Rock 6 pack longneck bottles $3.95 SAVE $1.00
Jim Beam 4 year 750 ml Traveler Wholesale Buy-In $7.77 reg. $10.29
Miller Lite & Genuine Draft 12 pack bottles $6.94 $2.00 off
Flying Monkey 6 pack bottles Kansas City's Own $4.75 reg. $5.99
Cuervo Gold 750 ml DEEP SALE $11.92 Almost $3.50 off
Sam Adams 6 packs All Flavors $4.97 SAVE $1.50
Franzia 5.0 L Box Wine Charis & Blush Chillable Red $9.75 White Zin $12.75 SAVE $2.50
Canadian Mist 1.0 L DEEPEST SALE of YEAR $10.37 $3.00 off
Barton Vodka 1.0 L NO WHERE EVEN CLOSE $5.65 reg. $6.89
Bud Light & Coors Light 16 oz. cans 6 packs $3.75 Compare to $15.* for 12... Case $14.50
DEAN LIQUOR
12th & Laramie, Aggieville Prices good while quantities last...

ROWDY TROUT'S
Thirsty Thursdays
2 Live Bands
$1.50 Anything
$2.50 Fishtanks
Last Call & Warsaw -a national act live from CA
SKA Band!
LIVE MUSIC STARTING AT 9 P.M.
Free Prizes Free T-Shirts Free Prizes
FRIDAY and SATURDAY
JEFF Barrett LIVE
NEW 5 GAL. FISHTANKS
START OFF THE NIGHT SHARING WITH SOME FRIENDS!

HOME BANKING
YES! You can go on-line with Kansas State Bank and conduct your banking business.
AROUND THE CORNER
Account Transfers • Balance Inquiries
KANSAS STATE BANK
Bill Paying • Loan Payments • Loan Inquiries
AROUND THE WORLD
Downtown Aggieville Westloop
Your Hometown Quality Bank
KANSAS STATE BANK
http://www.kansasstatebank.com
FDIC 785-587-4000

VOLUNTEERS NEEDED
CALL 395-SAFE
OR reach us via e-mail at wildcatwalk@ksu.edu
Hey! Do you like to help others? Do you need a Community Service Project? We can help! Volunteer to be an escort for Wildcat Walk. No minimum hours, great shifts, computer access plus study time when not on call, and flexible scheduling.
Wildcat Walk
http://www.ksu.edu/wildcatwalk

DROP-ADD

■ continued from page 1

however. For example, many students need to enroll in 12 or more hours to be a full-time student and be eligible for financial aid. Rather than wait for the closed class to open up and then use it to fill up their schedule, most enroll in another class in order to have a full-time status.

This often creates a schedule conflict when the student is already enrolled in one class and the closed class opens up but both meet at the same time. The Registrar's Office has researched how other universities handle the situation.

"We know that some colleges, such as Texas A&M University, require that the wait list spot be open in the student's schedule," Foster said.

K-State might implement similar procedures if the new system is accepted.

Foster said faculty are generally in support of the new system, but some disagree with both the current and the proposed system.

Phil Anderson, instructor of speech communications, theater and dance, has another idea for the wait lists.

"What ought to happen is that once a class is fully subscribed then the burden falls onto the instructor to enroll any new students," Anderson said.

He said he believes that a student who buys the book, shows up on the first day of classes and is prepared to do the work should have priority over someone who just bypassed the wait list and enrolled in the class ahead of others.

"I just want an option to deal with enrollment myself," he said.

Anderson suggested that instructors also could call after pre-enrollment and close the class. That way they would have the option to determine who enrolls in their class.

However, instructors also would have to remember to call back to the Registrar's Office and re-open the class for the next semester so students could enroll.

Anderson's best advice for students is to go to the closed class on the first day.

"Show up on the first day, and I'll get you in. No one calls you off of the wait list," Anderson said.

Foster agrees.

"The best advice I could give is if you want to get into a closed class, get on the wait list, and check with the instructor periodically for openings," he said.

"Also, check periodically the closed-class list off the Web. It will tell if the section is opened up or not."

CLUB

■ continued from page 1

Ryan said he became interested in the club when Tim Etzel, senior in nuclear engineering, flew them to the Fiesta Bowl last year.

Ryan now has 40 hours of flying time under his belt.

"It is an expensive endeavor to get a pilot's license, but it is well worth it," Ryan said.

"It's a freedom not many people get to enjoy."

A private pilot's license requires a person to have at least 40 hours of flight time, and the average is about 50 hours. Of those hours, a minimum of 20 need to be with an instructor and 10 solo.

The club has eight approved instructors to help members fly toward their licenses.

The club's five planes are a Cessna 152, two Cessna 172s, one Cessna 182 and a Piper Arrow.

"They are in extremely good condition for as old as they are," said Cade Keenan, senior in industrial engineering and a member of the club. "As a student or faculty member, it is an excellent deal, a great opportunity."

For more information about the K-State Flying Club, contact Brockway at 532-5606.

LAFENE

■ continued from page 1

may be that now we can feel a little bit better about being proactive," she said.

Before, Barry said, eyebrows were sometimes raised by instructions in standard birth-control packaging about how to use the pills in an emergency. She said Wednesday's decision could help change that.

"There was somewhat of a concern in the past even about the packaging," Barry said. "They were allowed to put in the packaging about how to use regular birth-control pills in a morning-after circumstance. There are a certain section of the population who object to it being used in that fashion. They think that it causes abortion, but it does not."

Barry said she doesn't expect to see the new pills abused or used in place of conventional contraceptives. For the most part, Lafene will continue to prescribe the drugs for emergencies, she said, but some may be dispensed beforehand.

"I don't see that there will be a great change in what we will be doing other than perhaps having a little more information about the morning-after pill in a proactive fashion," Barry said. "There will still be an effort to educate the patient."

COLLEGIAN.KSU.EDU

We stay open late at Claflin Books and Copies
1814 Claflin Road 776-3771

PIZZA SHUTTLE DELIVERS
776-5577
1800 Claflin Road

Moving Through Your PROBLEMS
A Creative way of getting unstuck
Through MOVEMENT
University Counseling Services 532-6927
Beginning Mid-September

InterKan.Net, Inc.
1106 R Laramie
565-0991
www.interkan.net
Your Connection to the World
Dial-Up Internet Access
FREE Software on CD-ROM
All 56K/ISDN Capable
No set up fee with credit card payment

TODAY!
Thursday, Sept. 3
11 a.m. - 1:30 p.m.
Right outside Denison Hall on KSU campus
Hamburger or Chicken Breast
Baked Beans
Salad, Drink, & Cookie
Just $3.50!
Hamburger or Chicken Breast - Only $2
Sponsored by K-State Student Union Foodservice

✧✧Kansas State University✧✧
Student Health Insurance Plan
Underwritten By: Gerber Life Insurance Company, Inc.

Premium received by Gerber Life Insurance Company by 9/30/98 will have an effective date of 8/22/98

Student Only Rates (30 years of age & younger):
Semi-Annual Premium for the Basic Plan: $240.00
Semi-Annual Premium for the Comprehensive Plan: $396.50
Semi-Annual Premium for the New Limited Plan: $180.00

Student Only Rates (31 years of age & older):
Semi-Annual Premium for the Basic Plan: $345.00
Semi-Annual Premium for the Comprehensive Plan: $569.00
Semi-Annual Premium for the New Limited Plan: $259.00.

If you are interested in enrolling, please contact G-M Underwriters Agency, Inc. at (800) 521-2623 or at our e-mail address: gmu2concentric.net. For additional information, contact the Student Insurance Representative at Lafene Health Center:532-2255

KSU MENS TENNIS CLUB
INFORMAL MEETING IN THE UNION
RM 206 THURSDAY
SEPT. 3, 7:30 P.M.
NEW MEMBERS WELCOME!!

WE KNOW where YOU LIVE — and we're coming —
— the royal purple yearbook will be shooting portrait pictures on location at fraternities, sororities and residence halls —

SEPT. 8 — 11am-7pm — Moore Hall, Alpha Chi Omega
SEPT. 9 — 11am-7pm — Haymaker
SEPT. 10 — 11am-7pm — West Hall, Pi Beta Phi
SEPT. 11 — 11am-7pm — Ford Hall, Gamma Phi Beta

Thinking about Graduate School?
If so, you should consider applying to the Kansas State
McNair Scholars Program

The McNair Scholars Program will:
- Help you choose the right graduate schools for your career goals,
- Help you get ready for the G.R.E. and other entrance exams,
- Help you apply for graduate admittance and financial aid,
- Help you prepare to be successful in graduate school, and,
- Provide financial support while you complete and undergraduate research internship in your chosen field.

To be eligible for the McNair Scholars Program, you must:
- Be a U.S. citizen, or hold a valid work permit (or "green card"),
- Be enrolled at Kansas State University as a sophomore or above,
- Be academically successful (with a G.P.A. of 3.0 or above), and,
- Be at least one of the following:

-a low-income student whose parent(s) or guardian(s) have not received a four-year college degree, or,
-a member of a group presently underrepresented in graduate study as defined by the U.S. Dept. of Ed.

For more information, contact Lora Boyer at 532-6137 or lorajb@ksu,edu, or see the McNair Homepage at http://www.ksu.edu.
Interviews will begin after September 9, 1998.

OUR VIEW

Drop-add process needs consistency

The only thing consistent about the drop-add system at K-State is the consistent headache.

Many students and faculty can share horror stories about drop-add, but aside from general rhetoric, very few people on campus can give factual data about the post-enrollment scheduling process. Nobody really knows the rules that govern it, which is the clearest testament to the fact that for years, the process has been an inconsistent mess.

It is unfortunate that faculty members and the Office of the Registrar disagree about the best way to sign up for a class. For years, students who were unable to get into a class at enrollment time had the option of being placed on a wait list, the assumed purpose of which was to offer those students the chance to enroll in their classes as soon as space was available. In this manner, students could be placed in the class according to when they were placed on the list.

For some reason, that didn't work.

The current policy of the registrar's office is to sign students up for classes according to who goes through drop-add first after space is made available. This is done independently of whether or not they are on a wait list. Professors, too, have the discretion to allow students into their classes, regardless of whether they happen to be on a wait list or not. The wait list, then, serves no purpose other than to inform the registrar's office about overflow in classes and to mislead the students who are placed on them.

The situation highlights a number of problems at K-State. If the registrar's office maintained good communication with faculty members, the process of dropping or adding a class would be homogeneous.

A number of solutions are on the table to correct the situation. The registrar's office suggests not letting students enroll in a class unless they are on a wait list. This seems to have some support from faculty, but under that system, students who need 12 hours of classes to get financial aid would be required to enroll in another class until space becomes available, a process that often causes schedule conflicts.

We fail to understand why it is so difficult for the registrar's office to put wait lists into a computer to automatically notify the first students on the list by e-mail or by phone when space becomes available. Giving the students the comfort of knowing that they are being chosen for the class on a first-come, first-serve basis would be preferable to giving them dice to throw. If there is a schedule conflict, give the students the choice of which class they want to remain in.

But then, anything would be better than our current options.

EDITORIAL BOARD

EDITOR IN CHIEF
JILL JARSULIC

MANAGING EDITOR/ PRESENTATION
TODD STEWART

NEWS EDITOR
TRAVIS D. LENKNER

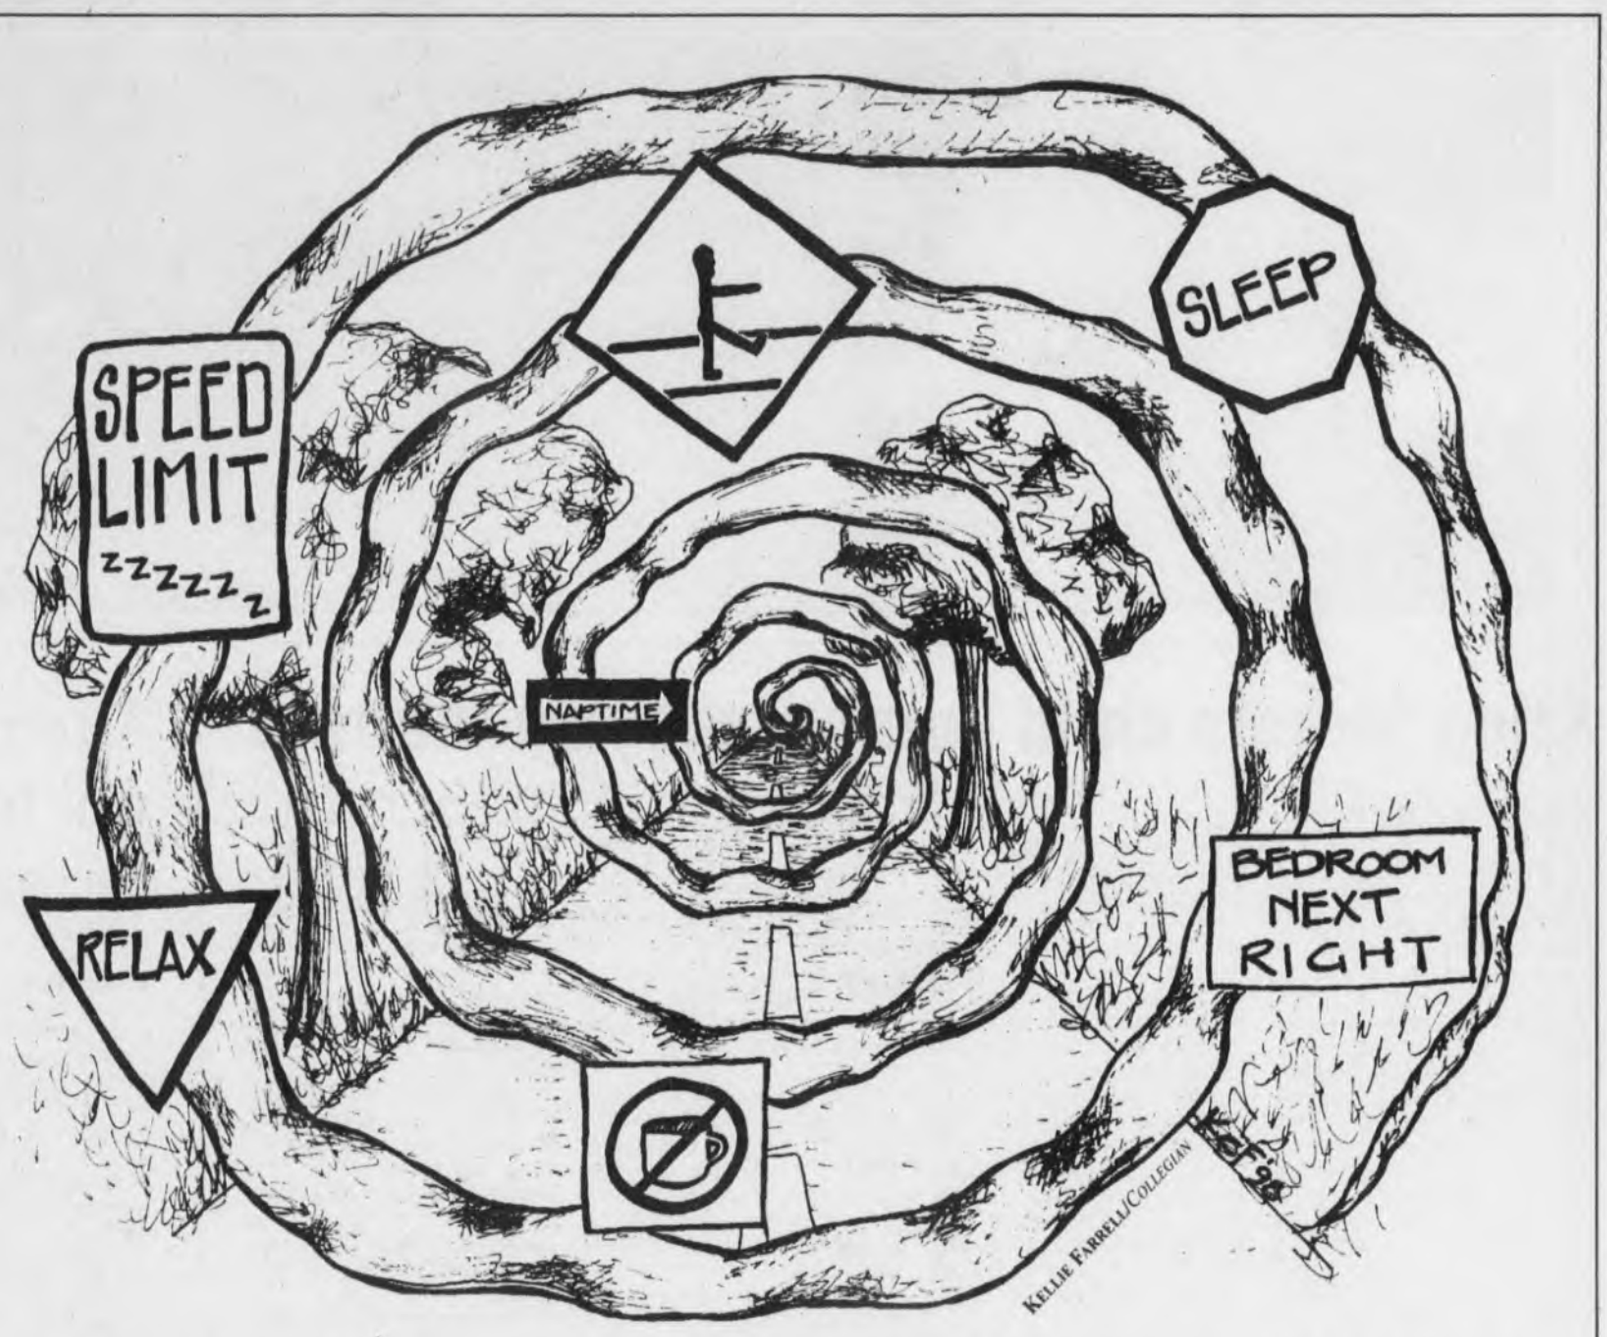
PHOTO EDITOR
STEVE HEBERT

CAMPUS EDITOR
KELLEE MILLER

CITY/GOVERNMENT EDITOR
MATT KREPS

SPORTS EDITOR
JEREMY KELLEY

ARTS & ENTERTAINMENT EDITOR
DIANA LEE



OPINION EDITOR
JON KURCHE

COPY CHIEF
JANET COOK

eCOLLEGIAN EDITOR
R.J. DIEPENBROCK

SPECIAL PROJECTS EDITOR
ANGELA KISTNER

OUR VIEW, an editorial selected and debated by the editorial board, is written after a majority opinion is formed. The editorial board consists of Collegian editors and other staff members. OUR VIEW is the Collegian's official opinion.

SLEEP....WHO NEEDS IT?

Sleep-deprived people have much-different perspectives on world around them

VIEWPOINT

KEN WELLS

What's the worst feeling in the world?

Is it that dry heaving you get as your intestines, already tied in knots from regurgitating all day long, try to turn you inside out, and you claw frantically at the bathroom tiles, begging for death? Is it the gentle pain of feeling love in a vacuum, speaking words to that special someone in your mind but deafened by the silence in their company? Is it the slippery sensation you feel under your feet when you realize someone you cherish is gone from you forever, and for the first time, you realize you don't remember how they sounded when they laughed?

Personally, I think it's not being able to get two continuous hours of sleep; I don't think there's anything I need more than sleep right now.

Ever since I moved (the last time), I've been waking up at the most uncomfortable hours. I'd been writing it off to the greenhouse effect in my apartment and air conditioning rejected by the Mir space station. I need my sleep; it's about the only time in my day when I get something done.

Well, there's the obvious biological need. People get physically tired from days of hiking across campus or even jumping through academic hoops. Of course, you can enhance your physical stamina with coffee, and you can spend an hour leaning over the sink after the mega-bitter brew has dissolved your stomach, lower intestine and pelvis and is gnawing its way through your Birkenstocks for all you know. If you have a resistance to coffee, by all means, indulge, but it's not for amateurs.

There's the less-subtle psychological edge those sleep-endowed humans have. They can understand things — like numbers. For those of us who've gotten a sum-total of five hours of sleep so far this year, the number 18 is awfully amusing. Also, after nearly 36 hours without sleep, the hallucinations start. You begin to see trees in the road, freshmen wearing lederhosen and scaling Anderson Hall, empty parking spaces in the noon hour. Those are your officially endorsed signs to take a nap. Tell your instructor I said it's OK.

Speaking of freshmen, don't start squeezing hours out of sleep time thinking, "Well, it's time I don't really spend doing anything, anyway." You get those hours of productivity back in the coherence and integrity of the work you do in your waking hours. Trust me. Would you rather have one hour writing with all your marbles or three hours writing while thinking how different your life would be if your hands were tentacles?

Plus, people tend to burn calories in their sleep. I remember being swatted by someone who, in her sleep, followed up the unprovoked attack with, "No, I think it's a one-hour flight." She giggled and clarified, "That's a lot of pizza." I've spent a year puzzling over that little mystery ....

There's also the fact that there's far too many people in my life lost to me now, people I only can see in my dreams. I need that time. Maybe you do, too.

Sleep isn't given the priority it deserves. To do so would make you lazy, right? Not if you work, really work, from sunrise until nightfall — at which point you must recharge or fly apart at the seams. Treat it like the necessity it is. The world takes on a different perspective to the well-rested person.

Or so I've heard.

Ken Wells is a graduate student in English. You can e-mail him at sigma7@ksu.edu.

READERS WRITE

Students need to clean up act, KSU campus not a dumpster

Editor,

I go for a walk every morning and find it appalling to find the streets trashed with fast-food sacks, pop cans, beer cans, candy wrappers, not to mention the "dumpsters" at the various greek houses running over... I easily could gather a garbage sack of trash just in my early morning walks.

Students: your mother likely does not live here or work here, so she should not be the one to pick up after you — like she apparently did while you were at home. Pick up your trash, and do not just walk along unwrapping a candy bar, book, etc. and let the papers fall. My granddaughter at 18 months knew you do not throw wrappers on the floor or street. You new and old students on campus, I have faith that you also were taught not to do this in your home and had pride not to do it in your hometown. Let's keep Manhattan streets neat and free of trash so we can be proud of our Little Apple, too. Tax monies are spent when campus and city personnel must send out workers to pick up your trash.

The summer months allow the city to try to clean up the streets and send out the sweepers. Aug. 1 comes, and it is quickly undone. Let us all be proud of our clean city and help keep it a place to be proud of by putting the trash in proper containers and not throwing it on street, parking lots (city and campus) or fast-food parking areas. This takes a few minutes of your time but will pay off in the long run.

When your parents visit you on campus, don't you want them to say, "what a beautiful, clean city you are living in?" You too can show pride in the Little Apple.

Take a walk down any street, especially those close to campus, and you also will see the problem in Manhattan I am seeing.

Thanks for your attention to this letter.

— Shannon R. Walker, concerned citizen

An open letter to the President of the United States

DEAR MR. PRESIDENT,

Yes. You did "have sexual relations with that woman — Miss Lewinsky."

You have committed perjury. You have encouraged others to lie, including your cabinet members, closest friends and advisers. You have sought personal gain from the highest seat of public trust. You have soiled your own reputation and have become useless in your attempts to give guidance to us and other nations.

Most of all, you have purposely, knowingly and with no regret, lied in your heart and with your mouth to the people you serve. You have lied to us about such things as Social Security, smoking dope, taxes, your military draft and health care. Now you lie to us about your morality. This compulsive, habitual lying is grotesque.

Your partial nakedness accompanied with sensual and perverse pleasures during business hours in our office is a dishonor to the men before you who have held that room sacred.

It has been said that President Reagan would not even remove his suit jacket while in that office due to his respect and honor for the Oval Office. He was a man of character and uprightness. He respected the American public and the Constitution that he swore to uphold.

You have not upheld the Constitution. Instead, you have sought sex, power and a "legacy." The sex you got. The power you got. The documentation of your "legacy" is presently being drawn to a conclusion.

When Ken Starr delivers it to Congress, I'll be among the millions who one day will be forced to explain your "legacy" to my children and grandchildren.

You have forever left us pondering why people like ourselves could elect a scoundrel like you. You have shown us how misled and duped a public can become. You have disgraced the office of the presidency.

VIEWPOINT

SAM SACKETT

Everyone makes mistakes, Mr. President. Yours was not so much the mistakes themselves, but believing you should have to pay no consequences.

Instead of beckoning us onward toward a better tomorrow by standing for truth, stable character and unquestionable morality, you kneel in the Oval Office to have a woman 30 years your junior give you felicitous delights.

Many have wondered, as do I, do your peccadilloes have anything to do with your being tardy to press conferences and important public appearances?

Have you once ever considered the American public before yourself?

Mr. President, your mockery of the American trust is unpardonable in terms of us forgiving you as our leader. Only by your permanently walking away from the White House will we as a people be able and willing to put this behind us.

You are stubbornly resistant to do what is right and healthy for our general and specific well being.

You are not fit to run your home, much less our country.

Mr. President, you have a moral, public and personal duty to consider the American public before your personal agenda.

We are not foolish enough to withstand you any longer. You have done more than fail.

You have mocked us.

No, we are not standing beside you during this difficult time. We are behind you, pushing hard, very hard.

Please, feel our pain. We are tired and exhausted.

As you have said — this has gone on long enough. Please ease our pain, Mr. President. Leave. Don't show your face in public again. Ever.

You can make amends with God, for he will forgive anyone who comes with a repentant heart and will pardon those who ask to be made whole again. You can ask him to heal you, and you can turn from your wickedness.

As far as this nation is concerned, if we are to continue as a free and just people, you are finished. We have no more use for you except to associate your name with betrayal, treason and dishonor.

William Jefferson Clinton is now affiliated with the words semen, sex, lies, dishonor, shame, cowardice and ill-repute.

All because you chose to live your lie.

You made the countless decisions to fall from honor. You are to blame for your illness and absolute lack of moral character.

We are praying for you, Mr. President. We are asking our God to remove you from our presence. You are a stench here in Kansas — I cannot imagine what it must be like in heaven.

You are no longer our leader. Legally, but not in reality. You are instead an obstacle between us and a more favorable tomorrow.

We don't want a true apology; your resignation will suffice. Save the repentance for your family and your God. Your words no longer mean anything to us.

President Lincoln said, "Let us have faith that right makes might, and in that faith, let us, to the end, dare to do our duty as we understand it."

We the people have a duty, Mr. President. We understand it. We'll wait but a while longer for you to act upon yours before we are forced to act upon ours.

SINCERELY AND WITH A HEAVY HEART,
SAM SACKETT

Sam Sackett is a junior in public relations. You can e-mail him at sjs8645@ksu.edu

ACE IN THE HOLE

Jim Kitterman, freshman in art, lines up a shot during an 8-ball game of pool yesterday afternoon in the recreational area of the K-State Student Union. Kitterman defeated Alex Benoit, freshman in art.

REED DUNN/KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Sting targets child pornography on Internet

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Suspected members of a child pornography ring who allegedly traded pictures of children as young as 18 months old over the Internet were targeted in a sting Wednesday in 12 countries including the United States and Britain.

The raids that led to almost four dozen arrests worldwide were conducted against suspected members of the Wonderland Club who, according to authorities, exchanged thousands of pornographic images of children via cyberspace.

One of the raided homes belonged to Scott Ahlemeier of St. Charles, Mo. Ahlemeier was charged with distribution of child pornography over the Internet. Another home was in Lawrence, Kan.

The British National Crime Squad began the investigation five months ago and uncovered a database of more than 100,000 pornographic photos of children, officials said.

"People try to smuggle in smut just like they try to smuggle dope across the border, and we're ready to pounce on them," said Dick Weart, a special agent for the U.S. Customs Service, which carried out 32 raids in 22 states with the help of state and local police.

Police confiscated "boxes of pornography, various software materials, and hardware that were part and parcel" of the ring during the raids, Weart said.

To join the child pornography ring, members had to have multiple images of child pornography, and some had as many as 10,000 pictures, U.S. Customs said. The ring allegedly began in the United States.

British authorities said more than 40 arrests worldwide were made Wednesday, and U.S. Customs predicted there would be more as officials evaluated the evidence collected. Hundreds of people are suspected of being connected with the pornography ring.

"The people who exploit children in this way think they can hide in cyberspace. They are wrong. We will find them and bring them to justice," U.S. Customs Commissioner Raymond Kelly said.

The raids occurred in Australia, Austria, Belgium, Britain, Finland, France, Germany, Italy, Norway, Portugal, Sweden and the United States.

"I am unaware of another police operation that has ever pulled together so many law enforcement agencies worldwide to effect simultaneous raids and arrests," said Bob Packham, deputy director general of the British National Crime Squad.

According to international and U.S. authorities, police arrested 11 people in Britain, 10 in Germany, eight in Norway, five in France, four each in the United States and Australia, three in Italy and one in Sweden.

"The content would turn the stomach of any right-minded person. It's really disgusting," said Britain's Detective Superintendent John Stewardson, who led the operation.

Weart said the investigation's next step would be to identify the children pictured.

"This investigation is about bringing these criminals to justice and hopefully saving some children from awful existence that they certainly don't deserve," Weart said.

While this investigation began in Britain, it grew out of a large Customs investigation on the West Coast that culminated in 1996, Weart said. "A lot of the information gleaned from that investigation was given to our British counterparts" and the other countries, he said.

The states where raids occurred were California, Colorado, Connecticut, Florida, Georgia, Illinois, Indiana, Kansas, Maine, Massachusetts, Michigan, Minnesota, Mississippi, Missouri, New Jersey, New York, North Carolina, Oklahoma, Pennsylvania, Texas, Utah and Virginia.

Attorney says fugitive minister will turn himself in to authorities

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

WICHITA — An attorney for the Rev. David Brace said he expects the fugitive minister to turn himself in to federal prison authorities on Sept. 14.

Attorney Roy Barrera Sr., of San Antonio, did use the word "surprise," however, Tuesday to describe what his reaction would be if Brace reappears to begin serving a sentence for money-laundering.

"It is my thought, my hope and my expectation that he will surprise all of us by reporting to the federals on the 14th," said Barrera, who also said he has not talked to Brace in about two weeks.

Barrera, who represented Brace at his trial on charges of laundering $350,000 for undercover agents posing as drug dealers, said he thought Brace fled in reaction to what he considered an effort to increase his prison time.

"I think David smelled a rat and did what he did to protect himself," Barrera said. "I see no other reason for him to flee, leaving his wife and two children behind."

Brace, pastor at Wichita's Faith Metro Church, learned two weeks ago that a federal judge had denied a motion to let him remain free on bond while his 1995 conviction is appealed to the U.S. Supreme Court. The judge, however, allowed Brace to turn himself in to federal prison officials in Oklahoma City on Sept. 14.

Warrants for Brace's arrest were issued last week after he failed to appear at hearings in Sedgwick County District Court on Wednesday and Friday. He remains at large.

Monday, U.S. marshals entered the search for Brace.

Brace, his wife, Tammie, and two associates face state charges of defrauding investors out of more than $10 million used to build and operate the former Faith Metro Church complex in Wichita. Their trial was supposed to begin Sept. 14.

Barrera said he thought Brace saw a plan by Kansas prosecutors to have him tried, convicted and sentenced before he reported to federal prison officials.

That way, he said, Brace could have been forced to serve his securities fraud sentence, assuming he was found guilty, in a state prison and then have to serve his federal sentence, eliminating the possibility of serving his sentences concurrently.

Roger Walter, chief counsel for the Kansas Securities Commission, declined to comment Monday on Barrera's theory.

kansas state collegian

GAMEDAY manhattan

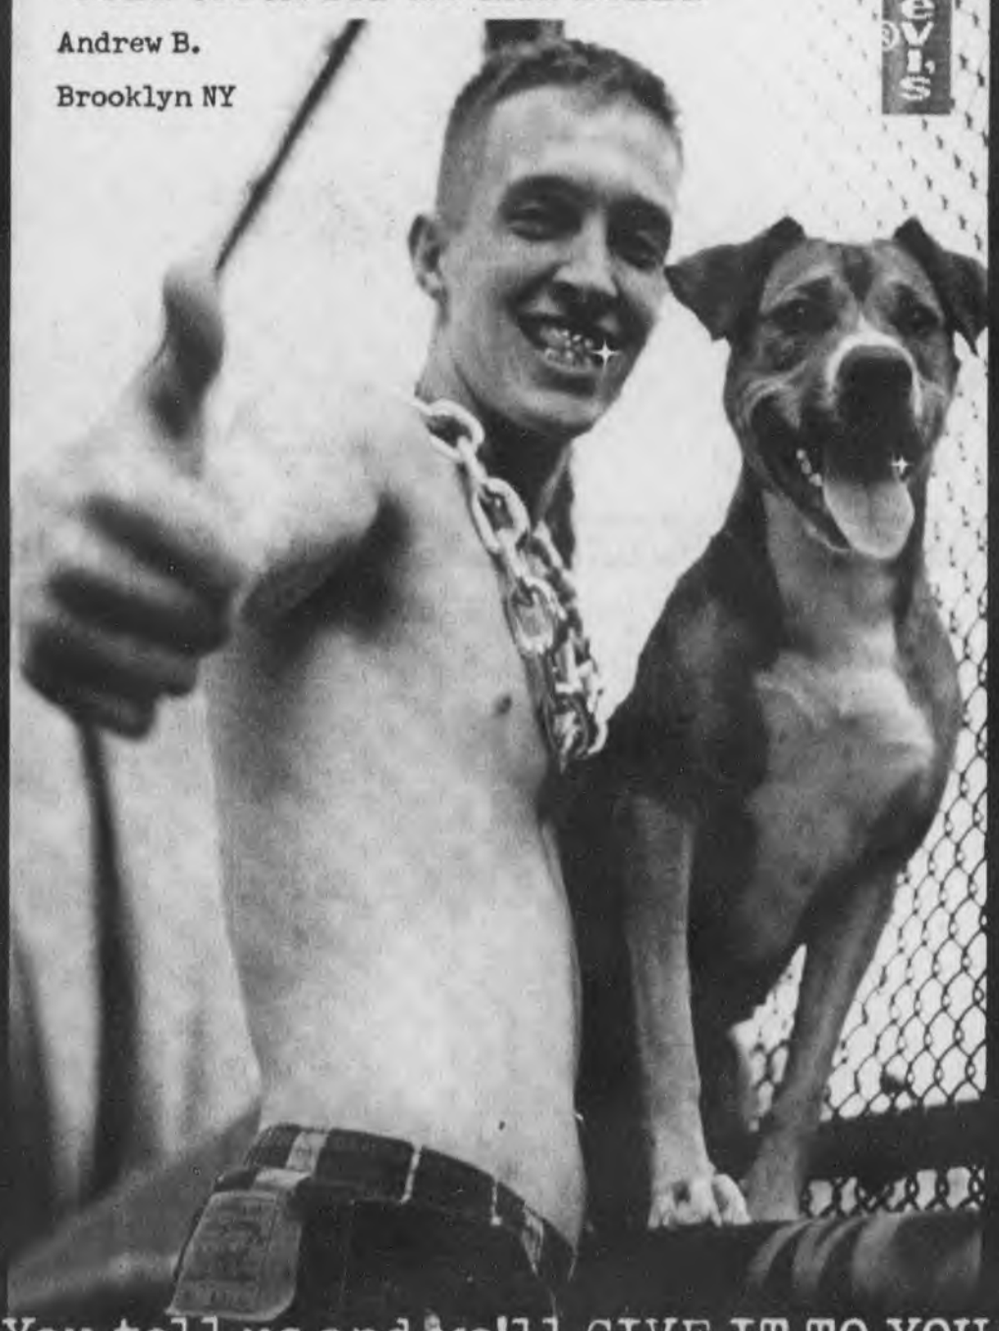
THE OFFICIAL GUIDE TO K-STATE FOOTBALL WEEKENDS IN THE LITTLE APPLE

Gameday Manhattan is the All-Football Edition of the Collegian. Published on Home-game Saturdays. Follow the Cats all the way to their SIXTH STRAIGHT BOWL.

Pick up your copy at

• Local Bars & Restaurants
• Hotels • K-State Student Union
• A Cut Above
• Triangle Park in Aggieville on Fridays
• Aggieville Street Corners
• Precision Auto
• Rose Muffler • Baskin Robbins
• It's Greek to Me • Fraternities
• Sororities • Residence Halls
• Varneys

Watch for the Wildcat Bandwagon



COUNTY SEAT WWW.COUNTYSEAT.COM

What's the coolest way to waste $1,000?

"Gold teeth for me and Bella"

Andrew B.

Brooklyn NY

10% off any Levi's® purchase with this ad at

You tell us and we'll GIVE IT TO YOU

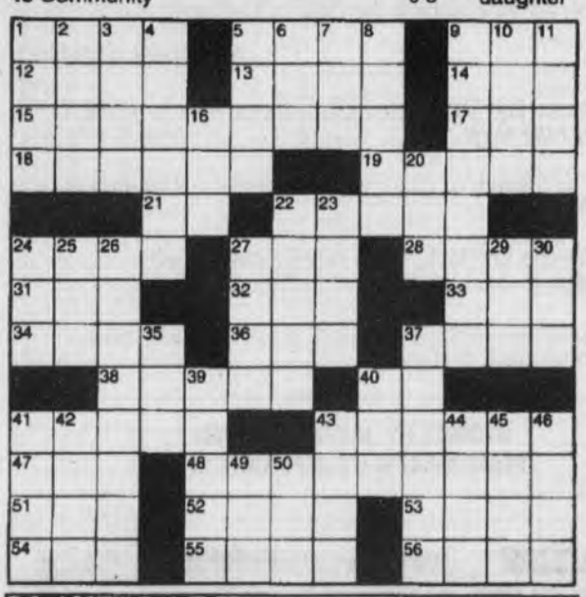
(and if it's really cool, you could be our next ad)

No Purchase necessary. Open to U.S. residents 18 years or older. Entries can be submitted to any County Seat store or mailed to: Waste A $1,000 Sweepstakes, c/o County Seat 409 Seventh Avenue 11th floor, New York, NY 10018. Contest ends 11/1/98. Void where prohibited. A list of complete rules and winners can be obtained by sending a self addressed, stamped envelope to the above address.

CROSSWORD

CROSSWORD By Eugene Sheffer

ACROSS
1 "Gunsmoke" role
5 Rad. times two
9 Titanic's message
12 "God's Little —"
13 — podrida
14 Tool set
15 Diploma
17 "There — tavern..."
18 Boil
19 Title holder
21 "Greetings!"
22 Cable-ready
24 Rubik's baffler
27 Vegas opener
28 Rosary component
31 "Chances —"
32 Timetable abbr.
33 Conceit
34 Prejudice
36 Gelid
37 Dick and Jane's dog
38 Indian prince
40 Community college deg.
41 Wall-paper-er's need
43 Covers in glop
47 Wapiti
48 Tightwad
51 "What Kind of Fool —?"
52 Ike's ex
53 Shoppe description
54 Kurosawa film
55 EPA concern
56 Unwind



DOWN
1 Bulk
2 Liniment target
3 Genealogical chart
4 Grow canines
5 Teaspoonful, perhaps
6 Sort
7 Liston defeater
8 Estate house
9 Superficial
10 Seine feeder
11 Walk of Fame symbol
16 — Beta Kappa
20 Internet branch
22 Chronometer
23 Surprised Brit's remark
24 Urban transport
25 Spoon-bender Geller
26 Baby photo setting?
27 Carrie Fisher role
29 Way back when
30 "Animaniacs" character
35 Perched
37 Tar
39 "He — at scars..."
40 TV alien
41 Bartlett or Bosc
42 Mater preceder
43 Pantyhose problem
44 Marathon fraction
45 Remnants
46 Undo a dele
49 Novak or Basinger
50 Cadmus' daughter

Solution time: 22 mins.

W	H	I	M		A	B	C		O	B	I	E
E	U	R	O		V	O	L		P	L	A	N
B	L	A	C	K	E	Y	E		P	A	S	O
B	A	N	K	E	R		F	L	O	C	K	S
			S	E	T		T	U	S	K
N	U	B		P	E	G		G	E	T	U	P
O	L	L	A		D	O	C		D	O	M	E
S	T	A	C	K		T	A	B		P	A	T
		C	H	I	N		B	R	A
E	S	K	I	M	O		B	A	N	A	N	A
D	O	T	E		B	L	A	C	K	B	O	X
A	M	I	S		L	O	G		L	U	R	E
M	E	E	T		E	W	E		E	T	A	L

Yesterday's answer

9-3

STUMPED? For answers to today's crossword, call 1-900-454-6873 | 99¢ per minute, touch-tone / rotary phones. (18+ only.) A King Features service, NYC.

9-3 CRYPTOQUIP

A YDPKTE AJ MNAH HDEUTETE CASNM LT QVLTQTK V UNVECAPS JTQQDY.

Yesterday's Cryptoquip: UMBRELLA SALESMEN OFTEN BELIEVE THEY SHOULD SAVE THEIR MONEY FOR A SUNNY DAY.

Today's Cryptoquip clue: J equals F

CRYPTOQUIP BOOK 2! Send $4.50 (check/m.o.) to CryptoClassics Book 2, PO Box 6411, Riverton NJ 08077.

The Cryptoquip is a substitution cipher in which one letter stands for another. If you think that X equals O, it will equal O throughout the puzzle. Single letters, short words and words using an apostrophe give you clues to locating vowels. Solution is by trial and error.

© 1998 by King Features Syndicate, Inc.

HAPPINESS TODAY

BRAD GOOD AND TYLER LANSDOWN

Start from scratch for healthy eating

Buying basic items helps keep students out of convenience-food trap

BY JENNI LATZKE
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Hectic schedules and limited budgets often lead college students to diets consisting mainly of candy bars and soda.

For most students, the idea of a home-cooked meal includes a microwave dinner of macaroni and cheese or a delivered pizza. However, a nutritious meal can be relatively easy to prepare and cost-efficient.

"The easiest way for students to stretch their food dollar is to try to use basic foods rather than box mixes," said Camille Korenek, administrative dietitian for Derby Dining Center. "Start with plain pasta, beans or rice, and mix up your own casseroles."

Korenek said that box dinners tend to be higher in fat and sodium than dinners prepared from scratch. She also said basic ingredients for most dishes can be purchased from the supermarket for less than the cost of a premixed box dinner.

Dianna Schalles, a registered dietitian at Lafene Health Center, said planning ahead with healthy foods can save money that otherwise would be spent on convenience-food traps. She recommended buying wholesome foods, such as crackers, fresh fruits and vegetables, and munching on them throughout the day.

Korenek said students who rely on microwave noodles, popcorn and macaroni and cheese for dinner should consider healthier entrees. She said dishes such as ramen noodles have few nutritive values and are high in sodium. She said students can cut the fat content in half in macaroni and cheese by adding an extra amount of plain pasta and using skim milk rather than whole milk.

"Some of the light microwave popcorn isn't too bad," she said. "There are microwave poppers on the market that allow you to use your own popcorn and oil and let you watch your diet easier."

Korenek also suggested plain pretzels as a healthy, inexpensive snack food.

The average college student isn't eating enough dairy products, such as milk or cheese, Korenek said.

"Too many college students start their days by drinking pop or coffee," she said. "We've seen a decline in milk consumption here at the dining centers."

These experts said fruits and vegetables often are overlooked by students.

"Many people don't think twice about spending their earnings on weekend parties, but when it comes to nutritious food, some aren't willing to pay or make the trade-off," Schalles said.

According to the Food Guide Pyramid used by dietitians, active women and men need 9-10 servings of grains, 4-5 servings of vegetables, 3-4 servings of fruit, 2-3 servings of milk, 6-7 servings of meat and 73-93 grams of fat every day.

Dietitians promote the importance of careful snacking throughout the day, especially for busy students.

Schalles and Korenek said eating healthy, like studying or sleeping, should be a part of every student's daily routine.

Local galleries feature wide variety of art

BY RUSSELL FORTMEYER
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Although most local galleries don't pull into full swing with new shows until the middle or end of September, there's plenty of art hanging around town worth catching.

All the galleries listed are free to the public.

Willard Gallery

A show of landscapes by woodcut master Gordon Mortensen might just well be the perfect show for Kansans.

Mortensen clearly is a technically brilliant artist who enjoys making rather conventional representational landscapes. In other words, his modest intentions are perfectly clear.

Reading the show's introduction narrative allows one to fully appreciate the level of skill required to create landscapes using Mortensen's reduction woodcut technique.

The technique, a highly labor-intensive method involving at least a month for one set of 130 prints, requires the artist to cover all areas of the wood not associated with the one color he is printing. Once that color is printed, that area of the wood is then cut away, and the process begins again.

The hard edges of woodcut are not useful for naturalistic landscapes; Mortensen has no such intention, instead relishing the abstract qualities of nature in its colorful glory. In a work like "Carmel Wildflowers" (1986), he is much more concerned with the rhythmic play of pink, yellow and orange flowers across a woodland landscape than pure representation. This is pleasing enough, especially when compared with a perfectly dreadful work such as "Growing Gold" (1990), which has an unclear title and little, if any, redeeming qualities.

In Mortensen's "Shades of Winter" (1978), one wishes Mortensen would leave some of landscape's more tiresome conventions and focus on the ice-drenched limbs of the slim trees in the middle ground. Instead, we have the predictable bushes-in-foreground/trees-in-background scenario that, even with swaths of interesting color relationships, fails to please.

The show is in the Willard Gallery, in the first-floor south wing of Willard Hall, until Sept. 11. Gallery hours are 8 a.m. to 5 p.m., Monday through Friday.

Union Art Gallery

Like a story missing a few pages, Terri T. Schmidt's portrait drawings always have given the viewer a glimpse of their subjects without a full characterization.

Schmidt, who had a successful retrospective of her work at the Manhattan Center for the Arts at this time two years ago, doesn't cease to prove her miraculous ability to capture the personality of her portrait subjects, buried in expressionist scribbles.

The sheer exuberance of some of the drawings in this show, with their seemingly maniacal lines, shades and erasures, no doubt will inspire a few artists in the crowd to lean toward the accessibility of drawing. Schmidt's lesson for the student is in the spontaneity of drawing — the easy transition between various emotions, shapes and, in some instances, moments in time.

Strecker Gallery

Strecker, the only commercial gallery in town, is offering some work by a new artist and by local standbys such as Jim Munce and Yoshiro Ikeda. Gallery hours are 10 a.m. to 5 p.m., Tuesday through Saturday. Call 539-2139 for more information.

Manhattan Center for the Arts

"Tessalations," a show of quilts by the Konza Prairie Quilters Guild, is in the Center's Gallery B through Sept. 11. Gallery hours are 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., Monday through Saturday, and 1-4 p.m. on Sunday. Call 537-4420 for more information.

Columbian Theatre Swogger Gallery

A show of watercolors by the Pikes Peak Watercolor Society and ceramics by K-State graduate students will be in the Swogger Gallery through Sept. 27.

The Columbian, at 521 Lincoln in Wamego, is about a 30-minute drive east of Manhattan on U.S. 24. Gallery hours are 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., Monday through Saturday, and 1-5 p.m. Sunday. Call (800)-899-1893 for more information.

Marianna Kistler Beach Museum of Art

The Beach Museum is featuring work selected from its permanent collection, which focuses on Midwest regional artists.

Artist Robert Paulson will give a slide lecture at 10:30 a.m. Sept. 17 in the UMB Theatre at the museum.

The museum is open 10 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., Tuesday through Friday, and 1-4:30 p.m. Saturday and Sunday. The museum is open until 8:30 p.m. Thursdays. Call 532-7718 for more information.

DILBERT

MANN HATTEN

AARON FRUEHLING

Cyclists must follow traffic laws

K-State police requires all bicycles to be registered

Before heading out for an afternoon ride, bicyclists might want to be aware of some regulations.

The K-State Police Department, located in Edwards Hall, requires all bicycles be registered with the department. There is no fee for the bicycle permit, but if caught without one, a $5 fee will be charged to the owner.

Bicyclists also can be cited for not following regulations while on campus.

Riding on cultivated or non-cultivated grass or not dismounting in the dismount zones also can be penalized with a $15 fee.

For bicyclists choosing to ride at night, the city of Manhattan has several regulations to increase bicycle visibility for motorists.

City ordinances require the front-white lights to be visible from 500 feet and the red-rear reflectors or lights to be visible from 600 feet. The bike must have an electric headlight for night riding.

Jason Blackburn, student dispatcher for the police department, said there is no helmet requirement for the city of Manhattan, but bicyclists are expected to follow all traffic regulations and to yield the right of way to pedestrians.

"I THINK DRIVERS ARE ABSENT-MINDED FOR THE MOST PART AND JUST DON'T SEE THE BIKES."

—TERA BLAIR
JUNIOR, BUSINESS MARKETING

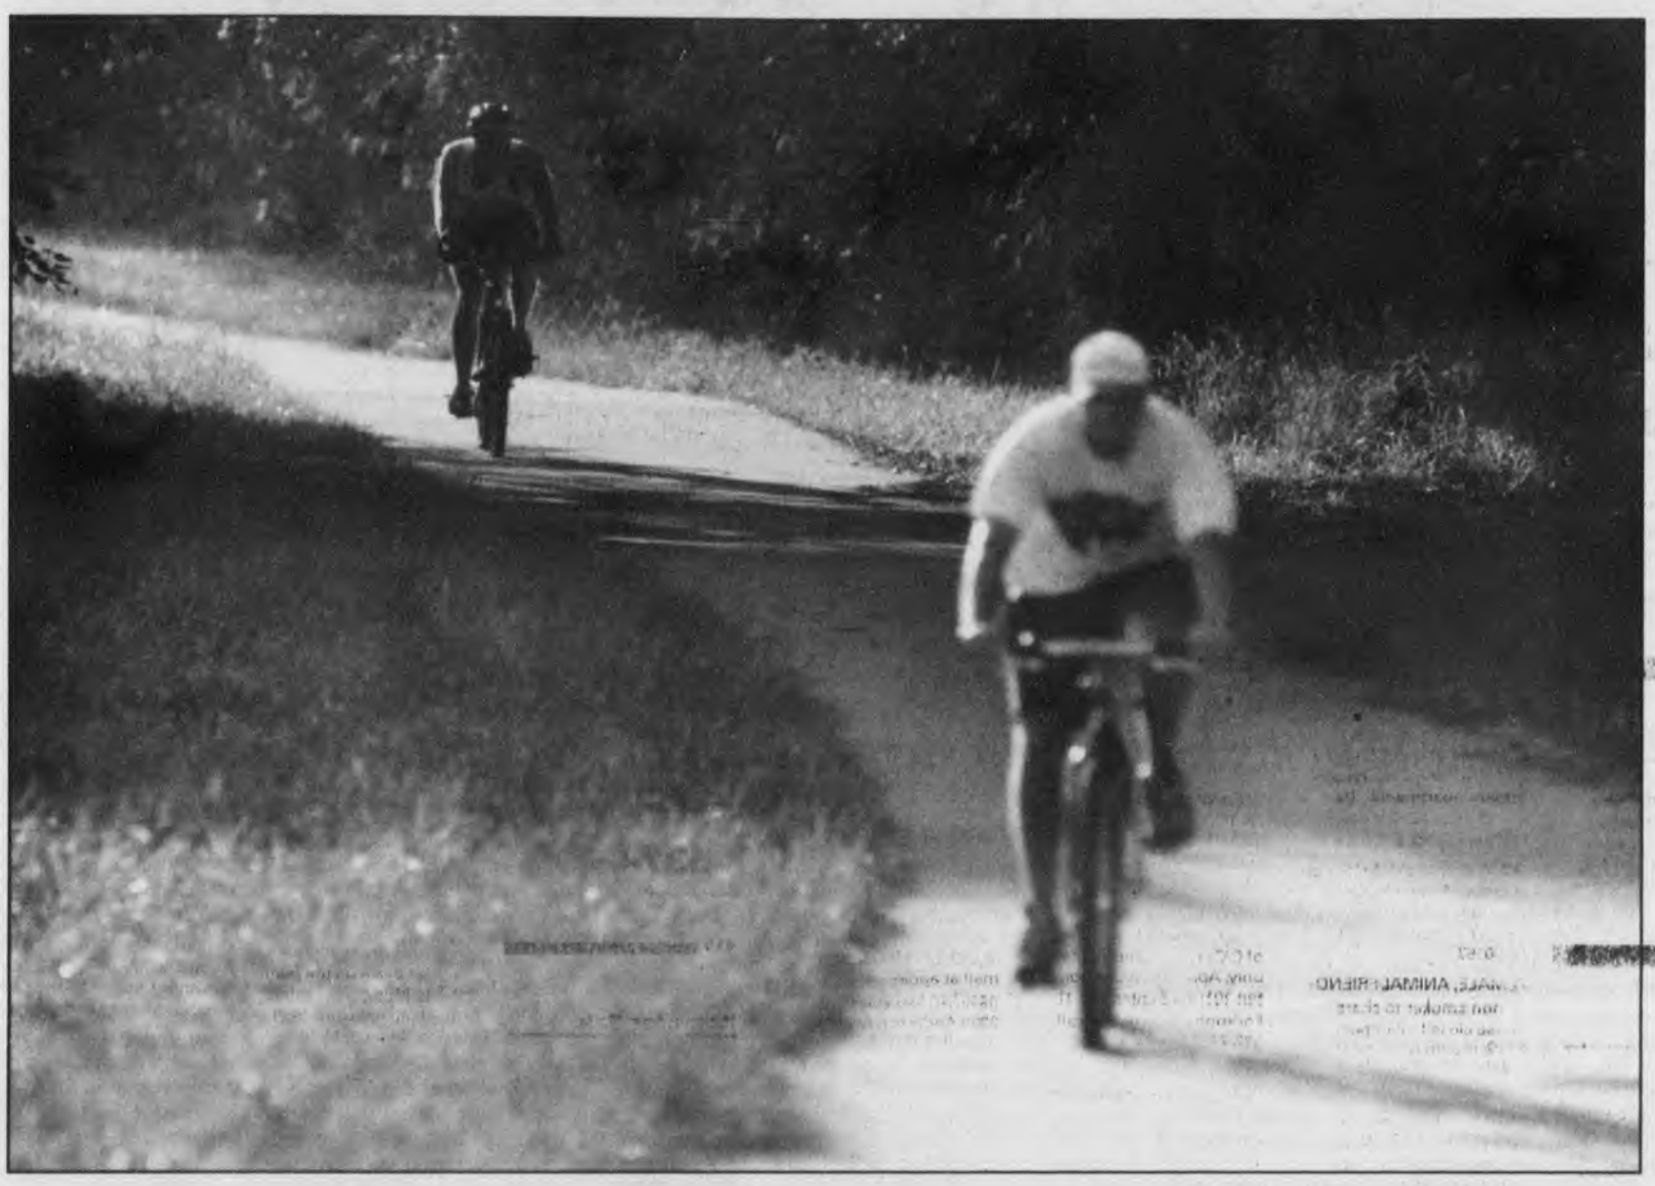
"So far this semester I haven't had any reports on vehicles and bicycles in any accidents," Blackburn said.

Blackburn said all stoplights and stop devices also must be observed by bicyclists.

Tera Blair, junior in business marketing, rides her bike to and from school 4 miles every day. She said traffic rules were not a problem, but drivers are dangerous to bicyclists.

"I don't know how many times a car has turned in front of me just this semester," Blair said. "I think drivers are absent-minded for the most part and just don't see the bikes."

Blair said she also worries about riding at night when she has difficulty seeing. She has a headlight on her bike, but at night she is blinded by the headlights of on-coming traffic.



Carrie Cook, senior in financial planning, said she is apprehensive about riding her bike alongside vehicles.

"I haven't been riding long, and I really don't have a feel for what the drivers do," Cook said.

Cook said she doesn't use hand signals, although she knows she probably should. She does, however, get regular tune-ups on her bicycle every six to eight months.

Manhattan has several areas where bicyclists can ride.

One of the more popular bike trails in Manhattan is the Linear Park Trail, which is a 9-mile path from Casement Road to Anneberg Park. Tuttle Creek Reservoir also offers several bike trails, which are made for any level of bicycle enthusiast. The Konza Prairie Research Natural Area also is a popular riding area.

Two cyclists ride along Linear Park trail in south Manhattan Monday afternoon. One of the more popular bike trails in Manhattan is the Linear Park trail, which is a nine-mile path from Casement Road on the East Side of town, to Anneberg Park on the West side.

Maintenance Safety Theft prevention

Keeping a bicycle in working order can be harder than it seems. Dave Colburn, manager of The Pathfinder, and Jason Blackburn, student dispatcher at K-State Police, gave the following tips to help bicyclists stay safe and protect their investments.

1. Keep tires pumped up regularly. For bicycles with street tires, it is a good idea to fill them with air daily; bicycles with all-terrain tires should be pumped every two to three weeks.
2. Keep the chain/gear system clean and properly lubricated.
3. Check the brakes before beginning to ride.
4. If the chain gets wet, lubricate it before riding.
5. Tune-ups are recommended at least once a year. A typical price for a tune-up ranges from $30-40.
6. Every two to three years, have the bearing systems overhauled (have the entire bicycle regreased).

Also, Colburn and Blackburn said, all bicyclists should follow some basic safety tips.

1. Wear a helmet.
2. Follow all traffic rules.
3. Wear bright, conspicuous clothing.
4. Use hand signals when turning left, right or slowing down.
5. Don't weave in and out of traffic.
6. Never ride against the flow of traffic.

Colburn and Blackburn also offered tips to protect against bike theft.

1. Use a cable or chain at least three-eighths inch in diameter.
2. For the key lock, use a three-eighths-inch hardened shackle with heel and toe locking.
3. Keep the locks as high off the ground as possible with no slack on them.

STORIES BY JAIMIE HARTTER
PHOTOGRAPH BY JEFF COOPER

Northwest Airlines lays off 27,500 employees because of pilots' strike

■ Airline also cancels all flights through Labor Day weekend.

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn.— Northwest Airlines on Wednesday laid off more than half its work force — 27,500 employees — and canceled all flights through Labor Day because of a pilots strike.

The layoffs of flight attendants, mechanics, customer-service employees and other ground workers came as federal mediators asked both sides to meet Saturday in Chicago, and the company said more cuts could follow.

"This is a sad day for Northwest Airlines," said Dewayne Tucker, a company vice president.

Because of the layoffs, it will take the airline 8-10 days to resume a full flight schedule once the strike ends, spokesman Jon Austin said.

Northwest has about 50,000 employees, including 6,100 pilots who walked out Friday night. The two sides are separated on issues of compensation and job security.

"I can't believe this is even happening," said Carol Steinmetz, a flight attendant who has worked for the airline for 26 years. Steinmetz was in the air headed for Tokyo when the strike began. She made it back home Monday night on a United Airlines flight to Chicago and a Northwest-chartered flight to Minneapolis.

"Northwest had to spend big bucks on 300 flight attendants stuck in Japan for last-minute seats," she said. "All this money they're wasting on this stuff they could have given to the employees and gone on with business and be the No. 1 airline they claim they want to be."

Billie Davenport of Teamsters Local 2000, which represents the flight attendants, said the union — one of six at Northwest with open contracts — supports the pilots.

"They're fighting for all of labor," she said.

Steinmetz agreed.

"I'm behind the pilots 100 percent," she said. "Right now, I think all the groups are united. I just hope and pray this thing doesn't go on. I hope they get back to talking and get it over with."

The Air Line Pilots Association, meanwhile, said the union had agreed to a National Mediation Board request that the two sides attend an exploratory meeting Saturday in Chicago "to determine whether resumption of talks would be productive at this time."

A Northwest spokesman was not immediately available to say whether the airline would agree to the Chicago meeting.

Austin has said the company is willing to meet "any time, any place, anywhere" with the pilots.

North Dakota's congressional delegation, meanwhile, asked President Clinton to halt the strike by ordering a 60-day cooling-off period.

"North Dakota is left high and dry. Our economy is devastated," Sen. Byron Dorgan, D-N.D., said. "Our people are terribly disadvantaged by this."

Northwest is the nation's sixth-largest airline in terms of passengers carried annually and the fourth-largest in revenue. It carries nearly 150,000 passengers a day and 2.9 million pounds of cargo on 1,700 flights in North America, Europe, Asia and India.

Air Canada's 2,100 pilots also are on strike, citing disagreements on pay and working conditions. Air Canada, which carries about 60,000 passengers daily, canceled all of its Tuesday night flights worldwide.

This weekend, members of the Association of Flight Attendants will be free to strike Air Tran, formerly ValuJet. A mediation board-imposed cooling-off period ends at midnight Friday. The flight attendants said that if a new contract isn't settled by then, they will begin a series of unannounced work stoppages in the 34 cities.

Pregnancy Testing Center
539-3338
•Free pregnancy testing
•Totally confidential service
•Same day results
•Call for appointment
Located across from campus in Anderson Village
Mon.-Fri. 9 a.m.-5 p.m.

PIZZA SHUTTLE DELIVERS
776-5577
1800 Claflin Road

RECREATIONAL SERVICES
Intramurals
Captains & Managers Meeting
4-on-4 Sand Volleyball
Deadline: Friday, Spet. 4 at 5 p.m. in the Business Office at the Recreation Complex
Recreational Services Office 532-6980

KSU KARATE CLUB
Study the traditional art of
Okinawan Goju-Ryu KARATE-DO
Info meeting/Demonstration Mon. Aug. 31st 8:30 p.m.
New beginners class starts Thurs. Sept. 3rd 7:00 p.m.
Ahearn Field House
(no previous experience required)
For more information, contact Charlene at 776-2112

DRINK UP
$1.00 WELLS NO COVER 21 AND OVER
$1.75 BOTTLES
LONGHORNS
1st Annual B104.7 COWGIRL COMPETITION Starting Sept. 10th
1115 MORO • 776-8770

HAIRY'S
WE TAME THE TOUGH ONES
Life is Hairy Enough. Break Loose. Give Us a Call.
539-TAME (8263)
Walk Ins Welcome
Mon.-Sat., Tues. & Thurs. night till 8 p.m.
Full Service Salon 2026 Tuttle Creek Blvd.

Bobby T's!!
Thursday
Calling All Musicians, Comedians & Singers to Open Mike Nite 9 p.m.-1 a.m.
Burgers & Beer
Any 6 ox. Burger, Fries, Frosty Beer or Coke 4:30-10 p.m. only $3.50
Friday
T.G.I.F. Buffet 4:30-7 p.m.
All U Can Eat $2
Every Friday & Saturday
9 p.m.-1 a.m.
$1.50 Shot & Drink Specials
LIVE ENTERTAINMENT
Bobby T's • Candlewood Shopping Center • 537-8383

DEADLINES

Classified ads must be placed by noon the day before you want your ad to run. Classified display ads must be placed by 4 p.m. two working days prior to the date you want your ad to run. CALL 532-6555

CLASSIFIEDS

000 BULLETIN BOARD

010

Announcements

ADVANCED FLIGHT TRAINING from 7,500-hour ATP instructor. Private single-engine through ATP multiengine. Hugh Irvin, 539-3128 evenings.

BIG DAWG Marina has Jet skis and pontoon boats for rent. 776-3113.

DISCOVER SCUBA: Complete lessons, low cost, college credit available. Aggie Dive Shop, 539-DIVE.

FOOTBALL TICKET GIVEAWAY. To register send a self-addressed stamped envelope to: D.P. Inc., P.O. Box 857-M, Manhattan, KS 66505-0857.

FREE FOOTBALL tickets. Register at Mr. P's Party Outlet, 318 Poyntz Ave.

LEARN TO FLY! K-State Flying Club has five airplanes, lowest rates. For information call 537-8406.

SALINA CARPOOL: 539-2011, Cathy.

SCUBA learn to dive at the only PADI approved dive center in the area, full line of equipment in stock, two instructors, earn college credit. Classes forming weekly. Call Creative Travel and Scuba. 539-0531.

020

Lost and Found

Found ads can be placed free for three days.

FOUND: SET of four keys in front of Calvin Hall. Call 532-6180 to identify.

LOST: A string of four keys with a red rubber key card. 770-9163, 537-4919, 770-9127.

LOST: RED female tabby shorthair, front paws declawed, white rings on tail. Lost since Saturday August 29. 565-0783.

100 HOUSING/REAL ESTATE

105

For Rent- Apts. Furnished

FOR RENT. Two-bedroom, one and one-half bath furnished apartment. Directly across from campus. No pets. Call Laura. 587-8969.

ONE-BEDROOM BASEMENT, fireplace, walk to campus. Quiet, gas and water paid. No pets, no smoking. Lease, $250 deposit, $325/ month. 537-3737

TWO-BEDROOM BASEMENT apartment. Close to campus, $410, all utilities paid except cable television. 776-1214.

TWO-BEDROOM FURNISHED apartment. New carpet, microwave, close to campus, $450, all utilities paid except cable television. 776-1214.

UNIVERSITY COMMONS. Available: fully furnished, individual leases, washer/ dryer in each unit, roommate matching service, pool, sand vollleyball, lighted tennis and basketball courts, monitored security, reserved parking. No appointment necessary. M-F 9a.m.- 6p.m., 10a.m.- 4p.m., 539-0500.

110

For Rent- Apt. Unfurnished

A THREE-BEDROOM, spacious, one-half block to KSU, central air and heat, pets OK, $540, 776-8455.

ACROSS STREET from campus, four-bedroom, appliances, central air/heat off-street parking. 539-2632.

AUGUST FREE! Two-bedroom, spacious, dishwasher, $395-$425. 776-8455.

AVAILABLE IMMEDIATELY, one-bedroom at 1837 College Heights, no pets. 776-1340.

AVAILABLE NOW. Studio and one-bedrooms, some furnished. Most utilities paid. Clean and quiet, central locations, some pets accepted. 537-8389.

FOUR-BEDROOM CLOSE to campus, two bath, dishwasher, central air/heat, water/trash paid. Free laundry, good price. 537-2255 or 537-7810.

FOUR-BEDROOM, TWO bath, close to campus, no pets, reasonable. 776-1340.

FOUR-BEDROOM, TWO bath 1300 square feet. Water/ trash paid. Discounted cable with HBO. 776-3663.

9 Month Lease
2 & 3 Bedroom Specials
539-2951

LARGE THREE-BEDROOM well lit basement, close to campus, 1729 Laramie, new stove and refrigerator, washer/ dryer hook-ups, heat/ water/ trash paid. $570. 537-2099, 539-8052.

Now Available!
Large 2-Bedrooms
Sandstone Apts.
Cambridge Sq. Apts.
Hill Investments
537-9064

NOW LEASING one to four-bedroom apartments/ houses. Call Alliance Property Management. 539-4357 for current list.

ONE- OR TWO-BEDROOM. No pets, smoking, drinking. 539-1554.

ONE-BEDROOM BASEMENT apartment. Refridgerator, stove, laundry. $325/ month, utilities included. 1859 Platt (one block from campus). 539-8612, 532-3742 or e-mail tar@pobox.com

ONE-BEDROOM, $290. 539-8401.

REASONABLE, LARGE one-bedroom basement, one-half block from university. 539-8856

STUDIO, $280, air-conditioning, bills paid. 539-8401.

THREE-BEDROOM, $390. 539-8401.

WOODWAY APARTMENTS
STOP!
DO NOT RENT AN APARTMENT UNTIL YOU CONSIDER THIS!
- Sparkling swimming pool
- Spacious decks/patios
- Avail. June 5 Aug. 6
- Kitchen Appliances include microwave and dishwasher
- On site laundry facilities
- Economical gas heat

3 BDRM, 2 BATH $714, $723
4 BDRM, 2 BATH $836, $856

Office:
2400 Kimball Ave.
at College Ave.
(Across from Bramlage)
Call Sara
at 537-7007
for an appointment.

THREE-BEDROOM, AUGUST free, washer/ dryer, huge, $540. 776-8455.

THREE-BEDROOM, TWO bath apartment available for August. Very spacious. Dishwasher, microwave, pool, laundry and carports. Call Sara at 537-7007.

TWO, THREE and four-bedroom apartments water/ trash paid, discounted cable with HBO. Going fast. 776-3663.

Chase Manhattan Apartments
1,2,3, or 4 person occupancy. Short term leases available. Water and Trash paid. Discounted cable package HBO, Encore, and Expanded Basic.
Call us Today
776-3663

TWO-BEDROOM, $320. 539-8401.

TWO-BEDROOM, CENTRAL air, laundry hook-ups, dishwasher, $400. No pets. Nine month lease. 513 S. Manhattan Avenue. 539-2255.

MOVE IN TODAY
1 & 2 Bedrooms All close to campus
ABBOTT
ABBOTT management, inc.
Call 776-1340

UNIVERSITY TERRACE APARTMENTS. College Ave. Large three-bedroom apartments with washer, dryer hook-ups. 537-2098.

115

Rooms Available

CHRISTIAN FAMILY who has large home near Ramada Inn, wants female college girl to live in. Will provide board and room in exchange for chores. Write c/o Collegian, Box 3, .

120

For Rent- Houses

1106 KEARNEY- one and one-half blocks from campus. Three-bedrooms, one bath, kitchen, living room, washer and dryer hookups. Available September 1, 1998, $650/ month. Century 21 Knight Real Estate, 537-2111.

A PLEASANT house two blocks from campus. Fireplace, washer/ dryer, dishwasher. Please call 537-7848 or 776-6225.

BASEMENT APARTMENT for rent until June 1, 1999. Call 776-0726 for more information.

FOR RENT three-bedroom house. $500/ month, four blocks from campus at 825 Thurston. (785) 336-2669.

FOUR LARGE bedrooms, two bath, washer/dryer. Near KSU. Redecoration just being completed. No pets. 539-8580.

FOUR-BEDROOM HOUSE for rent. Close to campus, newly remodeled, washer/ dryer, central air, 539-4949.

KSU THREE BLOCKS. Three-bedroom, one bath, central air, laundry hook-ups, garage, small pets considered, 1517 Pipher. 539-4087, leave message.

THREE-BEDROOM, AIR-CONDITIONING, $510. 539-8401.

TWO-BEDROOM houses available. Stove, refrigerator, air-conditioning. No pets. 539-1975 or (785) 396-4344.

Move In Immediately & Pay NO Aug. Rent!
TATTARAX APARTMENTS
- Close to campus & Aggieville
- Hardwood floors
- 4 bedroom - 2 person occupancy avail
- $700/mo. ($465/mo. for 2 people)

CALL ABOUT OUR MOVE-IN SPECIAL!
CALL 776-3804
Managed by:

135

For Sale- Mobile Homes

DON'T WASTE your money on rent, when you could own: 16'x70' 1986 Schult. Sunken living room, vaulted ceiling, built-in china hutch, lots of cabinet space, large kitchen, dining room, two large bedrooms, one bath, refrigerator, stove, dishwaser, 8'x8' deck, fenced yard, swing set, new paint, new shingled roof, great location, Bergman school. Must see to appreciate. Call for showing 776-3226.

145

Roommate Wanted

CHRISTIAN FEMALE seeks roommate wanted to share two-bedroom apartment. Close to campus - September rent FREE, call 537-4441.

FEMALE ROOMMATE for three-bedroom apartment, $177/ month plus one-third utilities. 565-9074.

FEMALE ROOMMATE to share NICE two-bedroom apartment across from college. $260 a month. 776-4891.

FEMALE ROOMMATE wanted in four-bedroom apartment next to Durland, very nice. Call 587-9524 for details.

FEMALE ROOMMATE wanted, non-smoking, furnished house, private bathroom, 12 miles from KSU. Tracy 770-9489.

FEMALE ROOMMATE wanted for two-bedroom apartment close to campus and Aggieville. $175/ month, no deposit required. Call Jill, 770-9393.

FEMALE ROOMMATE wanted. Move in now, September and October rent paid for. Cambridge Square Apartments. Deposit paid, $270/ month. (316) 773-1627.

FEMALE ROOMMATE, non-smoker for two-bedroom mobile home. Furnished, $155 plus one-half KPL. 587-0157.

FEMALE, ANIMAL-FRIENDLY non-smoker to share house close to campus. $300/ month plus some utilities. Call Erika 539-5980.

MALE NEEDED for furnished basement. Washer/ dryer without meter. No smoking, drinking, or pets. Walk to class. 539-1554

MALE TO share three-bedroom house close to campus. Washer/ dryer, dishwasher and fireplace, $220/ month, one-fourth utilities. 537-4580, leave message.

NEED ROOMMATE for four-bedroom house. Affordable, furnished, one block from campus. Move in as soon as possible. Call Angie at 776-3080 preferably around 4:20p.m.

NEEDED: ROOMMATE to share four-bedroom house with three girls, a cat and a dog. Close to campus and football stadium. 537-3803.

SEPTEMBER RENT reduced. Male/ female to share four-bedroom house one-half mile to campus and Aggieville. 537-5109.

200 SERVICE DIRECTORY

240

Musicians/DJs

VOCALIST/ RHYTHM player wants to start or get into a country band. Call 587-8403 ask for Scott.

300 EMPLOYMENT/OPPORTUNITIES

310

Help Wanted

($20 / HOUR, PART-TIME/ FULL-TIME). Processing mail! Free supplies, postage! Bonuses! Rush self-addressed stamped envelope: GMA/KSU P.O. Box 567443 Atlanta, GA 31156. e-mail: signup@info.info-machine.com.

ARABIAN HORSE farm looking for part-time help with stable chores and light training. Call (785) 494-8486, evenings.

BREADEAUX PIZZA. Day and night shifts, all positions, including drivers. Salary negotiable with experience. 3033 Anderson. 537-5080.

CALLING ALL PERFORMERS! Can you work a crowd? Are you looking for a new venue to try a new act, play a new song, or perform street theater? WE HAVE THE AUDIENCE All we need is you! Your audiences are hungry customers waiting in the lobby of Derby Dining Center, contemplating what to eat and where to go. Solo or group acts are welcome. Start your career at The Derb'! We pay bottom dollar, but will give you the best meal in town. Call Mr. "E," 532-6483, or email at medwards@ksu.edu.

CARPENTER OR trainee needed. Local, Monday-Thursday 40 hour work schedule. Good work habits and employment references required. Borst Restoration- 776-1460.

CLEANING: FOR non-smoking student in a home adjacent to campus. Send resume to Collegian Box 4.

COMPUTER PROGRAMMER. 20 hours/ week, hours flexible. Knowledge of C/C++. Undergraduates only. Apply in Throckmorton 1011 by September 11. For more information call 532-7236 or 532-5731.

HELP WANTED: Earn up to $500 per week assembling products at home. No experience. INFO 1-504-646-1700 DEPT. KS-6438.

IMMEDIATE OPENING Outdoor Rental/Maintenance position with Recreational Services. Responsibilities include check-out, repair and maintenance of outdoor rental equipment, general maintenance of grounds and tennis court complex, and minor construction projects and repairs. Position will be approximately 10 hrs/week. Pay starts at $5.15/hour. Applications available at Recreational Services Office from 8 a.m.-5 p.m. Please apply by Friday, Sept. 4.

INTERNET SUPPORT: Networks + has openings for weekend internet support, $7/ hour. E-mail resume in MSWord or text format to morgan@networksplus.com

MCC DREDGING is looking for temporary help dredging city sewer plant immediately. $8.50/ hour, flexible hours, sun-up to sun-down. (316) 775-1208.

PART-TIME POSITION: One day per week grinding feed on farm close to Manhattan. Call evenings, (785)396-4328.

RILEY COUNTY is accepting applications for the postition of Information Systems Supervisor. Bachelor's degree in computer science, management information systems or related field preferred, but not required. Proficient knowledge of PCs and PC networks required. Experience required in systems management on network utilizing Novell, LANS, WANS, TCP/IP, Internet/ Intranet access, Windows 95, Windows NT and MS DOS 16 bit applications. Experience with UNIX, mid-range computer systems, and Ethernet preferred. The salary range is $35,422.40-$49,150.40. Job description and application are available at Riley County Clerk's Office, 110 Courthouse Plaza, Manhattan, KS 66502 until position is filled. EEOE.

RILEY COUNTY POLICE DEPARTMENT The Riley County Police Department, an Equal Opportunity Employer, will be accepting applications for the position of Part-Time cook beginning Thursday, Sept 3, 1998 and closing on Tuesday, September 24 at 4:00 p.m. To obtain an application, see Avie Roblyer at Riley County Police Department, 115 N. 4th, 3rd floor, between the hours of 8 a.m. and 11:30 a.m., and 1 p.m. and 4:30 p.m. Monday through Friday. The starting hourly wage is $7.71. Applicants must be: 18 years of age or older, a citizen of the United States, be able to perform all essential functions of the job description, and be available for weekends and some holidays.

SPRING BREAK '99-- Sell Trips, Earn Cash & Go Free! STS is now hiring campus reps. Lowest rates to Jamaica, Mexico and Florida. Call 800-648-4849 or apply online at www.ststravel.com

STUDENT HELP needed 2a.m.- 6a.m. every other day. Apply Printing Services, 10 Kedzie.

STUDENT PC/NETWORK TECHNICIAN in Kansas State University, Office of Information Systems (20-30 hours/ week). Competitive wage. Extensive knowledge of PCs required. Preference given to candidates with knowledge of Novell networks, TCP/IP configuration issues and PC diagnostic experience. Contact Andy Applegarth at 532-6217, by electronic mail at applegaa@iso.ksu.edu or at 2323 Anderson Avenue, Suite 215. Application deadline: Until position is filled. Minorities, women and handicapped are encouraged to apply.

TECHNICAL SUPPORT position available for K-State undergraduate student with a variety of skills. Must have good interpersonal and problem solving skills. Experience with PC's and popular software packages such as Word Perfect, Quattro Pro and Windows applications desired. Must have understanding of MS-DOS and Windows. Summer availability necessary. Network experience preferred. Applications available/accepted through September 4, 1998 in 211 Umberger Hall. (Department of Communications, Information and Educational Technology.)

TRUCK, COMBINE and grain cart operators for fall harvest. Send resume and hours available to Rt. 1 Box 3 Wamego, KS 66547. (785) 456-2725.

TUTORING HIGH school students for K-State's Upward Bound Math and Science Program. Contact Lynne Davy at 532-6374 for application.

WRESTLING COACH, middle/ high school, October-February, 3p.m.- 6p.m. Contact Tim Kite, Onaga High School, 500 High St, Onaga, KS 66521, (785)889-4251.

330

Business Opportunities

The Collegian cannot verify the financial potential of advertisements in the Employment/Career classification. Readers are advised to approach any such business opportunity with reasonable caution. The Collegian urges our readers to contact the Better Business Bureau, 501 SE Jefferson, Topeka, KS 66607-1190. (785)232-0454.

Didn't get Football tickets? Don't forget to try TICKETS for SALE to get your hands on some great seats!!

Move In IMMEDIATELY & Pay NO Aug. Rent!
- 2 Bedroom Units
  1 & 2 person rates avail.
- Brittany Ridge Townhomes
  3 & 4 person rates avail.

Call About Our Move-In Specials!
776-3804
McCullough Development 2700 Amherst

It's Greek To Me is now hiring screen printing operators. Flexible hours to work around your schedule. No experience necessary. If you are a positive, hard-working, dedicated individual, we want you to be a part of our team. Competitive pay and benefits package: health insurance, 401(K), flexible spending program, employee discounts, paid leave and much more. Come by 520 McCall Rd. to complete an application. We are an equal opportunity employer.

400 OPEN MARKET

405

Wanted to Buy

Video Games
BUY SELL TRADE
www.game-guy.com
Save Your GPA!
Bring me your old games.
Sony Playstation
N64
Nintendo
CD ROM AND MORE
GAME*BUY
709 N. 12th Aggieville
537-0989

410

Items for Sale

ANTIQUES, COLLECTIBLES, tools, books, furniture, estate jewelry, beer signs, thousands of curious goods. Time Machine Antique Maul and Flea Market. 4910 Skyway Dr. between Briggs and airport. 539-4684.

CABLE DESCRAMBLER kit only $14.95. See all the pay channels. 1-800-752-1389.

FOR SALE: Color printer, Java software, two tents, photographer's easel. 537-2497 Russ.

GOVERNMENT SURPLUS: Camouflage clothing, G.I. boots, sleeping bags, raincoats, wool clothing, also CARHARRT WORKWEAR. Monday-Friday 9-5:30 p.m. Saturday 9-5 p.m. St. Mary's Surplus Sales, St. Mary's, KS.(785) 437-2734.

ONE BED- Queen size (one year old). One television- Panasonic (one year old). 537-6192 (night), 532-6234 (day).

RICH, FRAGRANT, therapeutic Essential Oil creations, hand-blended to enhance your unique personal style! Skin and facial oils, perfumes, bath salts, after shaves, etc. Call 776-2230, leave name and number for free brochure and 20% off coupon through September 30. Visit our web site at http://www.flint-hills.com/~keepup.

WHIRLPOOL UPRIGHT freezer, guaranteed to work, can deliver. Dehumidifier, television stand. Call 539-8643, evenings.

415

Furniture to Buy/Sell

LAZY BOY swivel rocker, light brown. 565-0722

NEW FULL SIZE MATTRESS SET, never used, still in plastic with warranty card, $140 cash, will deliver. Call 537-3076.

NEW FULL-SIZE and queen-size mattress sets, still in plastic. Full - $165, Queen - $195. 776-8185.

435

Computers

ACER 200MHZ, with 32 meg RAM, 4.1GB H.D., Sony 100mx monitor and Lexmark color printer, Windows 95, Office 97, Via Voice, and much more software included, under warranty. (Over $2000 new, 1st $1000 takes it all). Bonus: four tickets to Sawyer Brown/Toby Keith concert to buyer. 539-9564.

ATX TOWER, 15-inch Monitor, Intel PII 233 MMX, 64MB RAM, 5.3 GB, Diamond 4MB AGP, Monster 3Dfx, USR 56K V.90, 24X CD, PCI 3D wavetable with speakers, mega software/ games, $1029 or best offer, Nathan 539-8744.

HAVE YOUR inkjet cartridges professionally refilled! Low as $14. Call for information, 539-8011.

MICROSOFT OFFICE '97 Professional, full version, unopened, unregistered, $75. 1-800-416-3594.

445

Music Instruments

WELCOME TO The Music Co.! Our business is making you sound the best you can, and leaving a little gas money in your pocket. OK, we're gonna do it, the first and only Music Co. sale! Through September, Alvarez and Fernandes guitars will be on sale at ridiculous prices! Always the best deals on the planet! The Music Co., nothing typical, no pressure. 523 S. 17th Street in Manhattan. 539-1958.

450

Pets and Supplies

FOR SALE: Two year old iguana with cage and accessories. For information call Jen at 587-9625.

REGISTERED PERSIANS, one male, one female, $200. 587-0952 after 5p.m.

TWO WHITE kittens need a home. Ten weeks old. Please call 539-6805.

460

Electronic Equipment

L.A. SOUND 150 watt amp. with built in cross-over and 15" crunch sub. Selling together. Like new $200. 556-3666 or 539-7530.

STR-DE715 SONY receiver just redone by Sony, six months old, still under warranty. $400 retail, asking $325. 587-0635.

465

Tickets to Buy/Sell

FOOTBALL TICKETS vs. Northeast Louisiana for sale! Call Mike at (612)943-8113 for details.

FOR SALE one general admission ticket, call 770-8308. Best offer accepted.

FOR SALE: two season football tickets. No Nebraska game. Student reserve seating. Call Lisa at 539-8949, leave message.

FOUR STUDENT reserved tickets for sale for Indiana State. Best offer takes all. 776-3007.

INDIANA FOOTBALL student ticket, best offer by Friday at 11:00 p.m. Call 395-3732, ask for Kelly.

ONE GENERAL Admission ticket for sale for Indiana State. Accepting offers until Thursday at 12 midnight. Call 776-6604. Ask for Michael.

STUDENT G.A. season football ticket (1) for sale. Call 776-1786 for more information.

TWO KSU season football tickets for sale. Taking best offer. 539-5856.

TWO RESERVE tickets: Indiana State, Northern Illinois, Northeast Louisiana, Iowa State, Texas. Best Offer. One or all games. 539-7805.

500 TRANSPORTATION

510

Automobiles

1986 MERCURY Sable $975. High mileage both runs and looks great. 1988 Ford Festiva 4-speed $1050 serious inquiries only. 395-7451.

1989 FORD Tempo four-door, air-conditioning, stereo, new tires/ muffler. Well taken care of, $1800 or best offer. Call Joe at 395-3537.

1993 FORD Ranger XLT. Extended cab, 4.0 liter V6, five-speed, 76K miles. Excellent condition. $8700 or best offer. 537-3516.

1995 KSU purple Ford Ranger, excellent condition, CD player, 31,000 miles, 5-speed. Blue Book $12,500 asking $9500. Rochelle- 776-1453, leave message.

1995 NISSAN pick-up, blue. 54,000 miles, $7,900. Contact Augy or Kara after 5:30p.m. (785)456-2740.

MUST SELL: 1993 Mazda MX-3 GS, five-speed, $6000 or best offer. Call 587-8509, 7p.m.-9p.m.

530

Motorcycles

1978 KAWASAKI 650KZ. Runs good, $800. 776-1948.

1989 KAWASAKI EX 500 red/ black. Very good condition, $1450 or best offer. 537-2289.

1993 KAWASAKI ZX6, 4K miles, asking $2800. 539-0805.

1996 KAWASAKI ZX-11 Ninja. 14,000 miles $8000 book price, will make offer. (785) 877-2830.

600 TRAVEL/TRIPS

610

Tour Packages

Make Tracks Over Winter Break!
17th Annual Colorado Classic
COLLEGIATE GOTTA SKI BREAKS
JANUARY 3-18, 1999 • 2, 3, 4, 5, 6 or 7 NIGHTS
Steamboat $112
Breckenridge
Vail/Beaver Creek
Copper Mountain
TOLL FREE INFORMATION AND RESERVATIONS
1•800•SUNCHASE
ski the web at www.sunchase.com
Nobody Does Ski Breaks Better!

Miss the ocean? Look under Tour Packages (610) for vacation info!

3-WAY CALLING

THE BEST WAY TO START A PARTY!

Getting the crew together? Use 3-Way Calling from Southwestern Bell. Whether you want a quiet little gathering or an all-out campus block party, just click, dial the additional number, wait for an answer and click back. Instant 3-Way! It's fun, it's easy, it's only 75 cents per use, and after eight uses in a month, it's FREE! Connect your world with 3-Way Calling.

TRI IT. YOU'LL LIKE IT.

1-888-SWB-4-YOU
www.swbell.com/college

©1998 Southwestern Bell. Cost is 75 cents per use. Toll charges may apply. Three Way Calling Pay-per-Use service is available in most areas. Some restrictions may apply.

Southwestern Bell

BRING ON INDIANA STATE

K-State opens the football season at 6:30 p.m. on Saturday at KSU Stadium.

■ SEE STORY ON PAGE 6

FRIDAY
SEPTEMBER 4, 1998

KANSAS STATE UNIVERSITY, MANHATTAN, KAN.
VOLUME 103, NUMBER 10
COLLEGIAN.KSU.EDU

TODAY'S WEATHER

HIGH 95
LOW 64

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

3
Sub. Exp. Date: 00/00
Kansas State Historical Society
Newspaper Section
PO Box 3585
Topeka KS 66601

No survivors found at site of jet crash off Nova Scotia

Pilot's attempt at emergency landing unsuccessful Wednesday night

BY DAVID CRARY
THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

PEGGY'S COVE, Nova Scotia — The 229 people aboard Swissair Flight 111 had time to prepare for the worst while the pilots struggled in vain to keep the smoking, groaning jetliner aloft long enough for an emergency landing.

Some passengers had donned their life vests minutes before the MD-11 jumbo jet crashed and broke apart Wednesday night in choppy seas off Nova Scotia, Swissair officials said Thursday. The plane, which carried 137 Americans, left a slick of jet fuel, floating luggage and human remains, but no survivors.

"When you saw how small the pieces of fragments were, you could tell it must have been a pretty horrific crash," said Jim Buckley, skipper of a whaling boat that joined a makeshift flotilla that fruitlessly searched for people to rescue.

Aboard the jet flown by one of the world's safest airlines were 14 crew members and 215 passengers. There were two infants, several United Nations employees and one of the foremost leaders in the global fight against AIDS, Dr. Jonathan Mann.

The Geneva-bound plane departed New York's Kennedy International Airport at 8:18 p.m. EDT Wednesday and crashed one hour and forty minutes later.

Sixteen minutes passed between the crew's first report of smoke in the cockpit, detected while flying at 33,000 feet, and the plane's disappearance from radar scopes at about 8,000 feet, said Roy Bears of the Canadian Transportation Safety Board. In that span, the pilot — Urs Zimmermann, 50 — dumped tons of fuel and tried to coax the plane to an emergency landing at the Halifax airport, 35 miles from the crash site.

Swissair said the plane was seven to 10 minutes away when it plunged into waters nearly 150 feet deep.

Canadian experts are leading the investigation into what caused the crash. The National Transportation Safety Board in Washington, D.C., sent 10 experts to Canada, and experts from Switzerland also were deployed.

Canadian officials and the White House said there was no indication the crash resulted from a terrorist act. The Canadians said their intelligence services were in contact with the FBI nonetheless.

FBI Director Louis Freeh said his agents were examining the passenger list and working to ensure that key evidence was preserved properly.

In towns along the scenic but often treacherous Nova Scotia coast, residents reported hearing sputtering noises from an aircraft passing overhead, then a thundering crash.

"The motors were still going, but it was the worst-sounding deep groan that I've ever heard," Claudia Zinck-Gilroy said.

Dozens of fishing boats and coast guard ships hurried to the crash site, about six miles off the coast of Peggy's Cove. The picturesque fishing village, population 60, is popular with tourists for its pirate lore and much-photographed lighthouse, but the area also is known for shipwrecks and other maritime tragedies.

After the first few hours of the night-long search, the mood among boat crews turned grim when reports of survivors proved false. Instead, boat after boat radioed to a naval command vessel that more body bags were needed to cradle human remains scattered among aircraft debris over several square miles of the Atlantic.

Searchlights from boats, helicopters and planes illuminated the area during the night. Heavy surf, a remnant of Hurricane Danielle, hampered the first hours of the rescue effort, and rain fell until dawn.

"It's real ugly," said Craig Sanford, operator of a whale-watching boat that was one of the first vessels on the scene. "You see Styrofoam floating, chunks of wood, panels, the odd body here and there. It's not a nice scene."

Pianist plans on jazzing up KSU audience

BY RUSSELL FORTMEYER
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Perhaps you haven't heard the name George Duke.

Chances are, however, you've heard George Duke.

Duke, who began his career as a jazz pianist in the late 1960s, is well-known for having produced some of the largest rhythm-and-blues and jazz hits in the last few decades. His hits include "We are the World," "On the Wings of Love," and "Let's Hear it for the Boy." He's just as celebrated for directing the Soul Train Music Awards and more close to home, the Kansas City Jazz Festival.

■ SHOW INFO
Jazz pianist George Duke will both lecture and perform at 12:30 p.m. Tuesday in McCain Auditorium. Admission is free.

Duke will be in the area next week preparing for the second-annual bash at the Kansas City Jazz Museum, but he's making a stop Tuesday in McCain Auditorium to pass some of his expertise on to music students and anyone else who wants to listen. He will lecture and perform with the K-State Jazz Quintet.

A young singer named Al Jarreau formed a group with Duke in San Francisco in the 1960s. Duke went on to create the George Duke Trio in 1969. He later hooked up with Frank Zappa and innovated a West Coast yin to Miles Davis' East Coast fusion yang. Along the way, Duke has played with Julian "Cannonball" Adderly, Joe Williams, Nancy Wilson and Dizzy Gillespie.

His most recent album is this year's "After Hours," which he plans to take on the road in a series of performances. The Sept. 11 concert at the KC Jazz Museum will feature Ray Charles, Danny Glover and Al Jarreau. That concert, like last year's, will be filmed and re-broadcast on the Black Entertainment Network.

Computer changes could help students

BY JESSE MCCURRY
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

K-State students might find it easier to gain computer access and service thanks to better coordination between the Information Technology Assistance Center and Computing and Network Services.

CNS will assume a different role as iTAC becomes more focused on answering students' computer inquiries.

■ MORE INFO?
UNIVERSITY CONSULTING DESK
Hale 313

Phone:
532-7722
E-mail:
consult@ksu.edu
Hours: 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m.

"We are in a transition period as the iTAC develops," Harvard Townsend, CNS interim director, said. "The iTAC will be the first point of contact for users while Computing Network Services is evolving to become a second-tier infrastructure support unit that has less direct contact with the end users."

Townsend said the transition will take several years, and first steps already have been taken as the training and instructional-support team moved to iTAC last spring.

Office changes have caused confusion for many K-State students as they look for help with e-mail and Internet accounts.

"I haven't been able to figure it out yet," said Nathan Oleen, freshman in biological and agricultural engineering. "It seems like it's all changing so often. I just need somebody to sit down with me and show me how to use it."

Students seeking computer assistance should now go to the University Consulting Desk, which was previously CNS Computing Information Center, or Help Desk, in Hale 313 rather than Fairchild 9A.

The consulting desk will assist in assigning K-State computing IDs. They also will provide software instruction for connecting to the Internet, which is available to faculty for the development of class materials.

PHOTOGRAPHS BY JEFF COOPER/KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Lance Jones, freshman in business and marketing, carries a watermelon through the obstacle course for the Alpha Tau Omega fraternity on Thursday afternoon at the Purple Power Play on Poyntz. Greek houses participated in the Lambda Chi Alpha Watermelon Bust and Chariot Relays.

The K-State Marching Band marches east on Poyntz Avenue Thursday evening for the Purple Power Play on Poyntz.

PURPLE PEOPLE PACK POYNTZ

BY JEFF SUTTON
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Purple, let's get ready to roll.

K-State fans gathered last night to cheer on the football team outside Manhattan Town Center for the opening night of Purple Power Play on Poyntz.

"I thought this would be a great way to support K-State and get excited for upcoming games," said Katie Schulz, sophomore in horticulture therapy and agribusiness.

To kick off the two-day purple festival, sponsor booths, food booths, live music and store sales brought fans out along a four-block stretch of Poyntz Avenue, beginning at 5 p.m.

■ OUR OPINION
The Collegian editorial board says it is time to show your purple pride.
See Page 4.

"It's kind of a carnival atmosphere," said J.J. Davis, program director at KQLA-FM 103.5. "It's unique in that a lot of college towns don't do this, and it's backed by the entire town."

New events at Purple Power Play included the Lambda Chi Alpha Watermelon Bust and Chariot Relays and a K-State housing attendance contest.

Kappa Alpha Theta sorority and Alpha Gamma Rho fraternity teamed together to claim the Lambda Chi Watermelon Bust title. They received a $50 certificate to Lucky BrewGrille in Aggieville.

■ See POYNTZ on PAGE 8

From left, Eric Starens, Weston Fox, Kory Kool and Ryan Hummel, all of Manhattan, wave at their friends from atop the Cat Tracker bus at the Purple Power Play on Poyntz. The Cat Tracker has been to every K-State football game except the Aloha Bowl in the past six years.

CALENDAR DEADLINES

To place an item in the Calendar, stop by Kedzie 116 and fill out a form or e-mail it to bulletins@spub.ksu.edu by 11 a.m. two days before it is to run.

NEWS DIGEST

CALENDAR

Calendar is the Collegian's campus bulletin board service. Items in the planner can be published up to three times. Items might not appear because of space constraints but are guaranteed to appear on the day of the activity. To place an item, stop by Kedzie 116 and fill out a form or e-mail it to collegn@ksu.edu by 11 a.m. two days before it is to run.

■ The Graduate School announces the final oral defense of the doctoral dissertation of Donald Obert at 9:30 a.m. today in Throckmorton 2002. The title is "Molecular Markers Associated with Downy Mildew Resistance in Tetraploid Alfalfa."

■ Intramural entries for 4-on-4 sand volleyball are due at 5 tonight in the Chester E. Peters Recreation Complex business office.

■ KSU Aikido will meet at 7 tonight in Ahearn 304.

■ Lutheran Campus Ministry will meet at 7:15 Sunday night in Danforth Chapel.

POLICE REPORTS

Reports are taken directly from the K-State and Riley County police departments' daily logs. We do not list wheel locks or minor traffic violations because of space constraints.

K-STATE POLICE
WEDNESDAY, SEPT. 2

■ No reports of note were made.

RILEY COUNTY POLICE
WEDNESDAY, SEPT. 2

■ At 1:56 a.m., Jeffery A. Gee, 2215 College Ave., Apt. 366, was arrested for DUI. Bond was set at $1,000.

■ At 9:11 a.m., Latasha Green, Junction City, was arrested for passing a worthless check. Bond was set at $1,000.

■ At 10:39 a.m., Lisa W. Hamm, no address listed, was arrested for indirect civil contempt. Bond was set at $1,000.

DAILY REWIND

Daily Rewind collects the top local, state, national and world news from the past 48 hours. Briefs are compiled from wire and staff reports.

Man accused of trying to scam pizza places

SALINA, Kan. — The story was the same, and pretty soon the word got around, leading to the arrest of a man who complained about bad pizza.

It worked at first. In Hays, a man who complained of an unsatisfactory pizza pocketed a refund, then went to another pizza shop with a similar complaint.

An hour later, in Russell, a man made the same claim and received a refund. Employees at the Pizza Hut were suspicious and called their counterparts in Salina with word that a con artist might be headed their way.

Indeed, a man came to a Salina Pizza Hut, saying he'd bought a pizza there with too many toppings and soggy crust. He got a refund of $25.53, but store employees also called the police. They watched the man drive to another nearby pizza restaurant, Little Caesar's, where he was arrested.

Salina police Lt. Mike Sweeney said the scamming is believed to have started in Colby, where pizza clerks denied a request for a refund. The thief's take is believed to be less than $100.

League still looking for coaches, officials

The Manhattan Department of Parks and Recreation still needs coaches for its youth soccer program. The position is on a voluntary basis.

Recreation Supervisor Karen Perry said six teams still need coaches. Other coaching and officiating positions have been filled.

Perry said that in the past, several K-State students have volunteered as coaches and enjoyed the experience. She said the experience looks good on the volunteer's résumé.

"Volunteering helps on their résumés and for community service for classes that require it," Perry said.

If the positions are not filled by community volunteers, Perry said parents would have to fill the roles. She said some parents might step forward to help coach if a volunteer student coach needs extra help. A letter already has been sent to parents of children on the teams.

Students who are interested can contact parks and recreation at 587-2757.

— Matt Kreps

Housing crunch forces students out of homes

BOSTON — Before she even cracked a book for graduate school, Jennifer Jensen was handed one of the toughest assignments in Boston: competing with 67,000 other students in finding a place to live.

Jensen arrived in this college-rich city, only to learn she was homeless. The apartment she had found had been rented out from under her, a result of the tightest housing crunch in years.

The story is the same in cities across the country. Slim vacancy rates and anti-student attitudes are forcing young scholars to share apartments, seek dormitory rooms or even camp out on campus.

Housing is so tight at the University of California, Berkeley that one student rolled out a sleeping bag in a Bay Area Rapid Transit district station, another lived in a van.

Boston's 3-percent vacancy rate, the lowest in almost 15 years, has students scrambling for housing before the semester begins.

"Loans for school are $22,000 a year, and I'm going to have debts for the rest of my life," Jensen said. "I just didn't realize it would be so hard to find somewhere to live."

Some students are clamoring to live in dorms, but Boston's 32 area colleges and universities cannot offer the same guarantee as small liberal-arts schools, such as William College, which provide four years of campus housing.

Students who opt out of Boston University's housing system during their sophomore year — maybe for a cheaper apartment a few blocks away — have no way back in.

Nationally, rents rose 3.2 percent between June 1997 and June 1998, according to a National Multi Housing Council report based on data from the Department of Labor.

In cities with large student populations, rents rose even faster.

In Berkeley, the average monthly rent for a one-bedroom apartment is $763, according to college housing officials. Rent rates in the Boston area, where students pay from $800 to $1,400 for a one-bedroom home, increased an average of 4.3 percent during the year, ending in June. In San Francisco — the nation's second-most expensive real estate market, according to some surveys — rents went up 8.3 percent in the same period.

Even in small cities, students face a crunch.

Landlords in Burlington, Vt., where the vacancy rate is only 1 percent and a one-bedroom residence averages about $660, said it's not uncommon to receive 50 phone calls the first day an apartment is advertised. Prospective tenants often offer to pay more than the advertised rent, Joan Tessier, owner of Apartment Finders, said.

CORRECTION

Due to an editor's error, a story that appeared in Thursday's Collegian titled "Cyclists must follow traffic laws" contained an error. Bicycling is not permitted on the Konza Prairie Research Natural Area grounds. The Konza Prairie is a research lab for the K-State Division of Biology. The area is open for hiking, but anyone found biking on the Konza will be ticketed. The Collegian regrets the error.

WEATHER

HIGH 95

LOW 64

Good day, Sunshine! It'll be hot today, so hit the pool. Dress lightly and drink lots of water for gameday tomorrow. Temperatures will be in the upper 90s.

CONTACT US

■ NEWSROOM 532-6556
■ ADVERTISING 532-6560
■ CLASSIFIEDS 532-6555

■

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN
KEDZIE 116
KANSAS STATE UNIVERSITY
MANHATTAN, KS 66506

The Kansas State Collegian (USPS 291 020), a student newspaper at Kansas State University, is published by Student Publications Inc., Kedzie 103, Manhattan, Kan. 66506. The Collegian is published weekdays during the school year and twice a week through the summer. Periodical postage is paid at Manhattan, Kan. 66502. POSTMASTER: Send address changes to Kansas State Collegian, circulation desk, Kedzie 103, Manhattan, Kan. 66506-7167.

© KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN, 1998

Men's & Women's
Sterling Silver Bands and gemstone rings

Krystallos
$6-$25
708 N. Manhattan • Aggieville

Pregnancy Testing Center
539-3338
•Free pregnancy testing
•Totally confidential service
•Same day results
•Call for appointment
Located across from campus in Anderson Village
Mon.-Fri. 9 a.m.-5 p.m.

American Legion
BINGO!
Sunday 2 p.m.
Tuesday 1:30 p.m.
Wednesday 7:30 p.m.
$1 per card
Up to $300 Cash Prize on Sunday & Wednesday
114 McCall Rd.

Recreational Services
Intramurals
Captains & Managers Meeting
4-on-4 Sand Volleyball
Deadline: Friday, Sept. 4 at 5 p.m. in the Business Office at the Recreation Complex
Recreational Services Office 532-6980

PIZZA SHUTTLE DELIVERS
776-5577
1800 Claflin Road

PILOTS:
GET A NEW ATTITUDE!

BROCKWAY AVIATION
• TAILWHEEL ENDORSEMENTS
• BASIC AEROBATIC TRAINING
CALL 776-6735

Hair Experts Design Team
Shampoo Sale
Liters $10.95 Reg. $17 to $20
Enough for the semester!
$5 off Any Service
Not valid with any other offer, children's haircuts or waxing.
#23 expires 10/1/98
776-4455
Aggieville, USA

CONGRATULATIONS
TO ALL 2,800 ICAT MEMBERS
ON THE 1ST EVER MAXIMUM CAPACITY SELLOUT.
To pick up your WRISTBAND, go to GATE 12 with your GA TICKET AND ICAT CARD.
Due to production constraints, those who didn't get their T-Shirts, can pick them up prior to the Texas game, Sept. 19th at the wristband table.
(I.D. and ICAT Card are REQUIRED.)
ICAT INVITES ALL STUDENTS TO VISIT THE WILDCAT CARNIVAL IN THE EAST PARKING LOT.

KSU THEATRE AND DANCE 1998-99 SEASON
Great Entertainment at Great Prices!
COMEDY
DRAMA
MUSICAL THEATRE
DANCE
ANTIGONE
Oct. 8-10 & Oct. 14-17
Nichols Theatre 8 p.m.
CABARET
Nov. 12-14
McCain Auditorium 8 p.m.
WINTERDANCE '98
Dec. 3-4 8 p.m.
Dec. 5 2 p.m. & 8 p.m.
A PERFECT GANESH
Feb. 11-13 & Feb. 17-20
Nichols Theatre 8 p.m.
SHOWBOAT
March 2-4
McCain Auditorium 8 p.m.
SPRINGDANCE '98
April 9 & 10
McCain Auditorium 8 p.m.
A STREETCAR NAMED DESIRE
April 15-17 & 21-23 8 p.m.
April 24 at 7 p.m.
Nichols Theatre
Individual ticket prices from $6 to $11. SAVE 20% with season tickets. Call 532-6875 for brochure. Check out our new PICK FIVE option. Tickets available at McCain Box Office - 532-6428 from noon to 6 p.m. weekdays.

Low faculty salaries affect overall perception of K-State

BY MATT KREPS
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Faculty salaries affect students in several ways they might not realize. Faculty Senate President Talat Rahman, professor of physics, said students are affected by low faculty salaries both in the classroom and after graduation.

Rahman said low faculty salaries not only hinder K-State's ability to recruit and maintain top faculty, but also cause low morale among K-State's faculty.

That low morale leads to less enthusiasm in the classroom, less desire to excel for the university and, possibly, a second-best education.

"The problem that I find is the morale," Rahman said. "When the morale is low, then it becomes very difficult."

Moreover, she said, students don't benefit from the perception that K-State's graduates aren't the top students in the job market.

"We would like our students to be considered as having gotten an education that is as good as a student from another state," she said.

However, when word of low faculty salaries spreads among public universities across the nation, Rahman said it damages the perceived quality of education at K-State.

"The way it affects students or anyone who lives in the state is image. I don't accept that we are behind Berkeley or the University of Virginia in terms of education. If we have that in mind, then that has to be reflected in the way faculty salaries are addressed," Rahman said.

Rahman has lived and worked in both California and New York, where the approach to higher education is different than in Kansas. So is the image.

"In both California and New York, there is a kind of hype about 'we have to excel,'" she said. "This has been there for as long as I can remember."

Rahman said that hype is reflected in the way those states fund higher education, the quality of the education students receive and in the perception that those states have some of the best public schools in the nation.

Rahman pointed out several studies correlating improved higher education with reduced crime, better participation in government and a higher standard of living.

"There has to be an awareness in not only just what the faculty member does, but also in how that is good for the student, how that is good for the public," Rahman said.

Rahman said extra time not spent on searching for faculty would allow departments to spend money on students, and research, allow professors to apply for grants and follow through on research, and allow the university to spend more time educating its students rather than finding people to do the educating.

And, Rahman said, faculty members aren't asking for the top pay in the nation.

"We don't even want to be on the top. We just want to be on the average. We're just talking about not being so low that you don't ask why our faculty are not as valued," she said.

"This is a place where people like to be," she said. "They don't like to leave Kansas unless they get an offer that is just too attractive."

STEVEN DEARINGER/KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

SLEEPING BEAUTY

Megan Calcara, sophomore in architecture, falls asleep on her book while trying to study Wednesday afternoon outside the K-State Student Union.

Clinton consoles Northern Ireland bomb victims

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

OMAGH, Northern Ireland — In a gymnasium hushed in grief, President Clinton consoled families torn by Northern Ireland's worst attack and declared that it was "high time to stop yesterday's nightmares from killing tomorrow's dreams."

The president also walked down bomb-shattered Market Street on Thursday and gazed at scenes of wreckage where 28 people — mostly women and children — were killed and hundreds were wounded in the Aug. 15 attack blamed on Irish Republican Army extremists trying to wreck Northern Ireland's peace agreement.

"The terror in Omagh was not the last bomb of the 'Troubles,'" Clinton said in a speech in Belfast to members of the legislative Assembly, born from Northern Ireland's historic Good Friday peace agreement.

"It was the opening shot of a vicious attack on the peace."

Clinton expressed optimism that Northern Ireland had turned from its bloody past toward a hopeful future. "Do not let it slip away," he said.

"It will not come again in our lifetime."

5¢ Self-serve copying, 8½"x11", single side white paper
Claflin Books and Copies
1814 Claflin Road 776-3771

Bates Girls Dance Studio
Do you miss your dance classes back home?
Give us a call.
College classes in:
Jazz Tap Ballet
731 McCall Road
537-9773

FREE BUS SHUTTLE
3 STOPS!
1.) Lucky BrewGrille
2.) Last Chance
3.) Pizza Hut; Scoreboard; Longhorn's
Shuttle starts 2 hrs. before game
AGGIEVILLE SINCE 1889

Internet Access
NO BUSY SIGNALS!
• 56K X2 MODEMS
• 64K ISDN
• 20MB WEB SPACE
• 16GB NEWS SERVER
• EXTENDED SUPPORT HOURS
• UNLIMITED INTERACTIVE USAGE
$14.95 per month
NETWORKS PLUS + 587-4121

Recreational Services
Intramurals
Captains & Managers Meeting
4-on-4 Sand Volleyball
Deadline: Friday, Sept. 4 at 5 p.m. in the Business Office at the Recreation Complex
Recreational Services Office 532-6980

STREETSIDE RECORDS®
1231 MORO • 776-7373
who's that ... band that sings that song that goes ... new 3.00
Elliott Smith XO
3.99 CD 7.99 Cass.
Cirrus Back On A Mission
12.99 CD 3.99 Cass.
Drain Horror Wrestling
11.99 CD 3.99 Cass.
Michelle Lewis Little Leviathan
11.99 CD 3.99 Cass.
Motorbaby Motorbaby
3.99 CD 6.99 Cass.
Nashville Pussy Let Them Eat ...
11.99 CD 3.99 Cass.
Sale ends 9/28/98

OUR VIEW

Purple, get ready to roll; Purple, get ready to roll

This is a critical time, and it demands critical measures.

You see, we are about to begin a football season that will make K-State history. We are on the brink of something powerful.

There are some who believe that Bill Snyder is God. Right now, God is on our side, and that is good. It is your duty, whether you are watching the Cats at KSU Stadium, listening to them on the radio or are there in spirit, to keep Bill happy.

Realizing what's best for K-State, the Collegian editorial board wants to share with you the plan for a perfect home game. We give you these instructions in the hope that you will follow our example, ensuring a victory for the Wildcats. We also understand there are many freshmen with football tickets out there, and we want them to realize what K-State football is all about — namely, a special kind of love.

FRIDAY, 5 p.m.: Go to Purple Power Play on Poyntz. Enjoy great food and beverages. Mmm ....

6:30 p.m.: Hang out with participants in Tailgate Championship. Biggest party wins.

7 p.m.: Get in line for a photo with Willie the Wildcat. Challenge him to a push-up competition.

7:05 p.m.: Fail miserably. Search for more food and beverages, mmm ....

8:15 p.m.: Go nuts at the pep rally, featuring the K-State Pep Band, Willie the Wildcat, Classy Cats, cheerleaders and guest speakers.

9 p.m.: Watch fireworks.

9:30 p.m.: Bedtime. Busy day ahead.

SATURDAY, 8 a.m.: Get up and go to Aggieville for the Touchdown Weekend. Participate in the pancake feed and gorge.

9:15 a.m.: Tailgate.

1:35 p.m.: Tailgate.

3:02 p.m.: Continue to tailgate.

5:30 p.m.: Enter stadium if tickets are available. Enjoy pregame festivities.

While in the stadium, it is important to remember several things, namely:

The Wabash Cannonball is what happens when the tuba section of the K-State Marching Band starts dancing. Even if you are too far away to hear the tune, it is important that you sway back and forth while clapping. Make certain that you are moving in opposition to the person next to you: You lean forward, they go back; you go back, they lean forward, etc. Not participating is socially unacceptable.

When the Cats get a first down, motion with your arms in the direction of play as the announcer says, "Good for another Wildcat first down!" Make certain to say "first down" as the announcer does.

When the other team is playing, be obnoxiously loud. Jingle your keys at kickoff, remembering to shout "aaaaaah, umpf!" with the emphasis on "umpf!" as the kicker makes contact with the ball.

Look for Willie at all times, especially after touchdowns. The crowd is responsible for counting out the same number of push-ups as there are points for K-State.

Never sit down, and remember to wear purple. All purple, no doubts about it.

K-State football is a wonderful thing. Enjoy it.

OUR VIEW, an editorial selected and debated by the editorial board, is written after a majority opinion is formed. The editorial board consists of Collegian editors and other staff members. OUR VIEW is the Collegian's official opinion.

EDITORIAL BOARD

EDITOR IN CHIEF
JILL JARSULIC

MANAGING EDITOR/ PRESENTATION
TODD STEWART

NEWS EDITOR
TRAVIS D. LENKNER

PHOTO EDITOR
STEVE HEBERT

CAMPUS EDITOR
KELLEE MILLER

CITY/GOVERNMENT EDITOR
MATT KREPS

SPORTS EDITOR
JEREMY KELLEY

ARTS & ENTERTAINMENT EDITOR
DIANA LEE

OPINION EDITOR
JON KURCHE

COPY CHIEF
JANET COOK

eCOLLEGIAN EDITOR
R.J. DIEPENBROCK

SPECIAL PROJECTS EDITOR
ANGELA KISTNER

OHMIGAWD! WHERE'S KENNY?

Life with South Park bunch far from complete

VIEWPOINT

TODD PACEY

As I was flipping through the channels, channel-surfing, if you will, semi-late last Friday night (I don't have a life, okay?) I found two soft-core pornos. One was 'o' porn, (a porno without the porn)where a boy ran past a girl to embrace a tiger, and the other was a musical pornos (a.k.a. rap videos).

But that is not important.

What is important is what I didn't find. Nothing was amusing me, apart from the cheesiness of the 'o.'

I said amuse me, not arouse me. I needed some of the best medicine, laughter.

Yet I digress. There is no Comedy Central on cable television in Manhattan.

One of the most talked about shows, even while "Seinfeld" was still on on the air, is not broadcast by TCI of Kansas in Manhattan. You can see it at the Union a while after it airs, but it is not the same. No Kenny, Kyle, Stan, Cartman, Chef, Garrison, not even Mr. Mackey mmkay?

A friend pointed out to me that all the great shows start with "S": "Seinfeld," "South Park," "The Simpsons," "Sesame Street," and "Silk Stalkings."

However, being the resourceful guy that I am, (although I could not defeat the entire Viet-Cong army single handedly), I found a way to get my filthy fix.

No, not porn. South Park.

I got on the Internet, surfed the web, and went to a web site. Once there, I was able to download the latest episode in its entirety. It took about two hours, but what else did I have to do?

Homework, maybe?

You can download episodes, sound bites or pictures from numerous web sites, none of which are official. So the work is pirated, but the folks at South Park and Comedy Central don't seem to mind.

Are there still artists in the entertainment world?

These people simply want their work to be seen. Don't kid yourself; they are concerned about money. Everybody is when you get down to it. But they are not that concerned.

They are probably raking in the dough with the merchandise alone. Along with the show they have two movies, "BasEketball" and "Orgazmo," and a band, "DVDA" (I am not going to explain that here), not to mention the numerous future possibilities.

The South Park creators, Trey Parker and Matt Stone, realize there are kids, like myself, stuck in a town like Manhattan whose cable company does not carry Comedy Central.

It is presumably for this reason these web sites are allowed to distribute entire episodes of South Park illegally. It might not be the only reason, but they simply want people to see their work.

Comedy Central is not totally concerned with the ratings and advertising. They even make fun of themselves in their own commercials. The commercials are set up like board meetings and have South Park playing on the television, but the creators are never present.

They realize they are now known as the South Park station, but there is much more.

I miss my "Daily Show" (Jon Stewart will be the new host), "Viva Variety," "Dr. Katz," "The Critic," "Make Me Laugh." Hell, I even miss "Absolutely Fabulous." I miss Comedy Central period. There are no web sites to broadcast the rest of these shows in their entirety.

In the words of the poet Cartman: Screw you guys; I'm going home.

Todd Pacey is a senior in electronic and print journalism. You can e-mail him at tmp7298@ksu.edu

Freshman wrongfully forced into buying basketball tickets

VIEWPOINT

JAKE PALENSKE

This weekend I was a front-row witness to what is possibly the biggest shafting of K-State students ever conceived.

I spent the better part of last Friday and Saturday at Bramlage Coliseum during football ticket sales. And I have never seen so many students in such a bad mood.

Basically, the K-State athletic department decided in order to have any chance to buy football tickets, students were going to be forced to purchase tickets to all K-State basketball games as well. The so called "combo-ticket" cost an astounding $160.

As I was witnessing this process, I began wondering why the general population ticket purchasers aren't forced into buying tickets to events that they don't necessarily want to attend. Why isn't there a first-come-first-serve "combo pack" for everyone?

Here is my proposal for next year. Instead of gouging the student population for money they don't have to attend an event that should be free to them, how about we give the general population a chance to support the entire university, instead of just the athletic department?

The "Purple Power Combo Pack" should work like this: In order to purchase season tickets to all football games, every non-student should have to purchase a seat in every production put on by the K-State Department of Speech Communication, Theatre and Dance.

Next, they have to buy a seat to every Union Program Council Kaleidoscope film. They would also be required to buy a Royal Purple yearbook, a side of beef from the meat sciences classes, and make a donation to Student Publications Inc., to help fund budding journalists on the Collegian.

Next, everyone would be required to buy tickets to every volleyball game and every baseball game. They will also be required to make a donation to the general athletic fund AND the KSU Foundation scholarship fund.

If this policy were enacted, the "big supporters" of K-State would single-handedly improve almost every aspect of K-State, both athletically and academically. The tennis team could have a nice new indoor facility, the drama department could afford new teaching materials and money for props and the championship-quality football team would have the championship-quality stadium it really deserves.

Of course, this will never happen. Alumni would threaten to pull their support, the general public would be outraged and all hell would break loose.

But students can't pull their funding, and nobody cares if we are mad. So, be prepared for next season, when an ICAT donation is required, students have to donate blood for the right to buy tickets, and there are only 2,500 student seats available.

Jake Palenske is a sophomore in mass communications. You can send him e-mail at jep6245@ksu.edu

Vanilla Ice party still jumping

VIEWPOINT

MICHAEL NEFF

P.O. Box 261117
Plano, Texas 75026-1117

Just in case that address doesn't ring a bell, I'll be a sport and clue you all in. It's the address of the Official Vanilla Ice Fan Club. I've already sent off for my membership, how about you?

Yes, you heard me right. I'm a huge Vanilla Ice fan. Call me crazy, and I bet you already are, but I've been to two Vanilla Ice concerts, traveling deep into the belly of evil, a.k.a. Lawrence, to attend one of them. Now I know everyone else went to these concerts just to say, "I saw Vanilla Ice." Not I. I had a blast.

As soon as the opening chord to "Ice, Ice, Baby" began, fights broke out, women threw their shirts onstage and the house exploded. It was invigorating.

Everyone should experience something like that.

People don't realize that his music is an art form. I have two Vanilla Ice compact discs, and I play them both every day. My roommates don't appreciate my obscure musical taste much, but then again, they both listen to banjo music. Really. Now which would you prefer? Vanilla Ice or waking up to "The Ballad of Jed Clampett" at 8 a.m.? All kidding aside, I would take the Iceman's music over Flatt and Scruggs any day of the week.

"How many TV theme songs has Vanilla Ice done?" asked my roommate in response to my repeated assault upon the said banjo music.

Well, none, but who could forget his appearance in the classic film "Teenage Mutant Ninja Turtles II?" Remember that? Admit it, of course you do. The fact that he didn't win an Academy Award for his role was an outrage.

I'm downright irate because "TMNT II" didn't make the American Film Institute's "100 Years, 100 Movies" list. It was probably number 101.

Shoot, Vanilla Ice even starred in his own movie, "Cool As Ice." I've yet to see it, but I hear it's excellent. Don't forget, he even had a brief cameo in "Austin Powers: International Man of Mystery."

I ask you to top that.

Now, being a member of the K-State Marching Band, I would one day like to perform a halftime show entitled "Vanilla Ice's Greatest Hits." Think of it, the band could march on the field wearing balloon pants and big blonde wigs and play classic renditions of "Stop That Train," "Hooked," and "Rollin' in my 5.0."

The Classy Cats could even get into the act and dress up like our Fly Girls. It could, and should, happen. After all, we did do a tribute to Billy Joel last year, and his credentials pale in comparison to the Iceman. About the only thing Joel has on him was his marriage to Christie Brinkley.

Now I realize that not all of you are going to read this and rush over to Streetside Records and purchase every copy of Vanilla Ice music they have in stock, but maybe some of you will learn to appreciate music at its finest.

If that's the case, please send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to the address above and join the party.

What the heck? Maybe, just maybe, there are others out there like me, and perhaps we can unite this deprived nation under the guidance of the Iceman's lyrics. Probably not. Times have changed and I'm forever stuck in 1989.

Odds are, none of you care, and I sympathize for you, for you will never be able to "lay down and boogie and play that funky music 'til you die."

Michael Neff is a sophomore in English. You can send him e-mail at man5976@ksu.edu

READERS WRITE

All tuition-paying students deserve KSU football tickets

Editor,

As a full-time junior at this university, I would like to express my outrage at this university's poor attempt to sell football tickets to its students. I feel that all tuition-paying students at K-State deserve the right to obtain season football tickets. We do not deserve to be tricked into buying basketball tickets solely to get football tickets.

I am extremely aggravated that, as a third-year student, I did not get football tickets merely due to the fact that I was not willing to waste my money on basketball tickets, which I would not use. I was, and am still, willing to pay the price for football tickets.

I refuse to pay for something I will not use. I realize many other devoted K-State fans were not able to obtain tickets, either. I hope many of these students might relate to my outrage. I truly love this university, although I am quite irritated at the Department of Intercollegiate Athletics' scam to force basketball ticket sales.

Obtaining football tickets should not be a huge money-making scam, but rather a way for us to support our wonderful team. We deserve better.

— Katie Praeger
junior in accounting

Premarital counseling healthy before taking walk down aisle

By JENN DAVOREN
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Some couples need a little help to make the commitment of a lifetime.

Premarital counseling can aid couples in working out important issues before the big day.

On campus, students can use University Counseling Services. There is no specific premarital program, but students can request to be seen as a couple. The first five sessions are free.

During counseling sessions, couples can take the Myers-Briggs Type Indicator tests. These personality tests can help determine what problems might arise in the future.

"Everyone has different styles and ways of acting, and these tests help build a framework for understanding your differences," said Kelly Quester, psychology intern at University Counseling Services.

Counseling is also available through the K-State Family Center, which is open to the entire Manhattan community. Fees are based on an ability-to-pay scale that is worked out with the couple.

Tony Jurich, professor of family studies and human services, helps couples determine issues in their relationship that are "negotiable and reasonable." Jurich said the biggest problem in relationships is unreasonable expectations.

"The art of marriage is the art of compromise," Jurich said. "You have to be able to say, 'There are certain things I'm willing to trade.'"

Manhattan has many therapists who have helpful, though costly, premarital programs.

Dr. Larry Peak, a marriage and family therapist, can work with couples on determining what values and beliefs are most important to them and resolving conflicts that arise in the discussions.

"Couples should ask themselves three questions — 'Are we in love? Do I trust you absolutely? Are we committed?' If there are any doubts, there might be trouble," Peak said.

For couples preferring to have counselors specific to their religions, counseling is available through many churches around Manhattan.

At St. Isidore's Catholic Student Center, Father Keith Weber counsels couples in four areas: finance, communication skills, conflict resolution and family of origin. Couples also can deal with faith issues.

"Communication is a key element to a good marriage," Weber said. "So is mutual respect, trust and support."

For a little extra help and a small fee, the church also sponsors a weekend retreat five times a year.

Many couples might not seek counseling because they do not see any problems in their relationship. However, when problems arise, issues of importance to the couple are being discussed.

"When I ask a couple what they fight about, and they say 'We don't fight,' I tell them, 'Go back home to mommy, because you're not ready for marriage,'" Jurich said.

ONCE IN A LIFETIME

MARJIE DURKES AND JAMES D. NORTON JR.

Marjie Durkes and James D. Norton Jr. wish to announce their engagement. Durkes is a junior in geography. Norton is a sophomore in accounting. Durkes is the daughter of John W. and Sharon Durkes of Eskridge, Kan. Norton is the son of James and Debbie Norton of Indore, W.Va. The couple is planning a May wedding in Manhattan.

MEGAN ELLITHORPE AND BRAD WULF

Megan Ellithorpe and Brad Wulf wish to announce their engagement. Ellithorpe is a senior in psychology. Wulf is a business and computer instructor at Manhattan High School. Ellithorpe is the daughter of Connie Hill of Kingman, Kan., and Jack Ellithorpe of Plainview, Texas. Wulf is the son of Bob and Glenna Wulf of Humboldt, Kan. The couple is planning a June 5 wedding in Manhattan.

ALSO AVAILABLE IN AN ELECTRONIC FORMAT,

collegian.ksu.edu

The Fairchild Inn
MANHATTAN, KANSAS
Honeymoon suites, cakes and catering.
Call for information.
417 North 17th St. 539-8292

Marie's
Bridal • Formalwear • Tuxedos
2011 Ft. Riley Blvd. • Manhattan • 539-5200

Confetti's

25% OFF WEDDING INVITATIONS
• Cake Tops • Server Sets
• Flower Baskets • Wedding Books
• Toasting Glasses • Candles
• Ring Pillows • Garters & More
Decorations & Lighted Balloon Sculptures
537-2002
712 N. Manhattan (in Aggieville) • 537-2002

Mr. P's Party Outlet
Wedding Invitations 30% Off
Plates, cups, printed napkins, balloons, all of your wedding and party decorations.
Individual greeting cards 50% off.
We Deliver.

Pick up your K-State tailgate supplies!
776-7547 • 318 Poyntz • Manhattan
M-W, F, S 9:30-6 p.m. • Sun. 12-5 p.m.
Thurs 9:30-8:00

Danenberg JEWELERS
Open Monday - Saturday
9:30-5:30
at 425 Poyntz Ave.
Across from the Courthouse
Downtown Manhattan, KS
785-776-7821

• extraordinary engagement ring selection
• large stock of loose diamonds
• custom design available
• friendly, knowledgeable staff
• your headquarters for officially licensed Kansas State Powercat fine jewelry
Member, American Gem Society

Religion Directory

Manhattan Mennonite Church
Sunday School 9:30 a.m., Worship 10:45 a.m.
Richard & Barbara Gehring, Co-Pastors
10th and Fremont 539-4079
Welcome Students and Staff!

FIRST LUTHERAN
10th Poyntz 537-8532
Worship
Sat. 5:30 p.m., Sun. 8:30 & 11 a.m.
Sunday School all ages 9:40 a.m.

Manhattan FRIENDS Quaker MEETING
1509 Wreath Ave.
(Manhattan Jewish Congregation)
Silent Meeting for Worship & Meditation
Sundays 7-8 p.m.
Discussion following.
539-3733 or 539-2636

St. Francis Canterbury Episcopal Church
Eucharist & Guitar in Danforth Chapel
Every Sunday at 5 p.m.
Rev. Cathy Chittenden-Bascom
532-9099
Part of world wide Anglican Communion

First Baptist Church
Sunday Worship 11 a.m.
Church School 9:45 a.m.
For free transportation within city limits, call the church.
Pastors Karen & Alan Selig
2121 Blue Hills Rd.
539-8691
An American Baptist Congregation

FIRST CHRISTIAN CHURCH (DISCIPLES OF CHRIST) 5th & Humboldt 776-8790
Sunday
8:30 a.m. - Contemporary Worship
9:45 a.m. - College/Young Adult Bible Class
10:55 a.m. - Traditional Worship
11:30 a.m. - Live Broadcast 95.3 FM
Wednesday
5:30 p.m. - Pizza and Bible Study

LIVING WATER RANCH CHURCH
An Affiliate of RHEMA Bible Church aka Kenneth Hagan Ministries
SUNDAY
Sunday Broadcast 9:05 am on 95.3 FM
School of the Bible 9:30 am
Worship Service 10:30 a.m.
Worship Service 7p.m.
Wednesday Service 7:30p.m.
STERLING HUDGINS-PASTOR
Located 12 miles north of Tuttle Creek Dam, turn off Hwy. 13 at the sign.
4150 LIVING WATER DR.
OLSBURG, KS 66520
(785)468-3615

Christ Evangelical Lutheran Church
Missouri Synod
776-2227
9 a.m. Sunday School & Bible Class
10:30 a.m. Divine Worship
KSU - DANFORTH CHAPEL

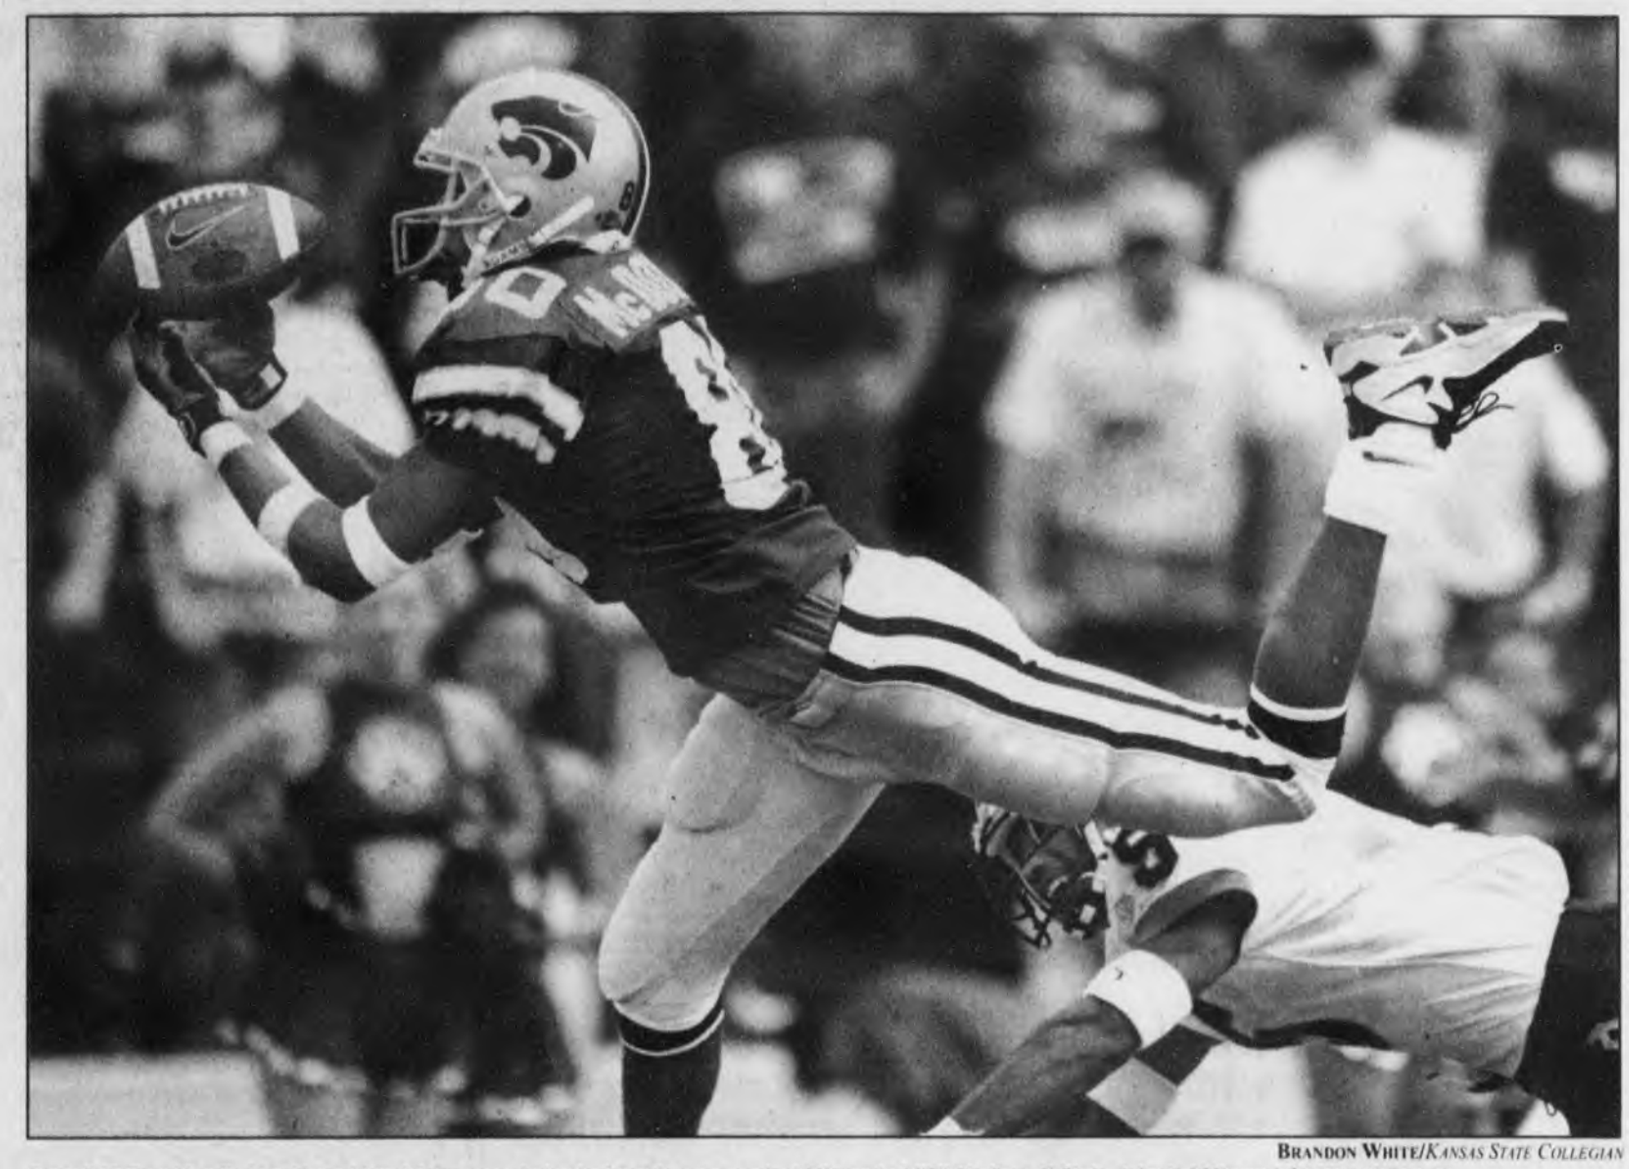
Welcome KSU students, faculty, & staff!
College Ave. United Methodist Church
Sunday School 9:30 a.m.
Worship 10:45 a.m.
1609 College Ave.
539-4191

ECM Campus Center
1021 Denison
539-4281
Sunday Supper/Fellowship
5:30 p.m.
Bible Study Thursday 8 p.m.
Worship
Community Service
David Jones
Campus Pastor
ecm@ksu.edu

First Presbyterian Church
Sunday Schedule
8:30 a.m.
Contemporary Worship
9:15 a.m.
Sunday School for all ages
10:30 a.m.
Traditional Worship
7:30 p.m.
Special Service for College Students
801 Leavenworth St. (785) 537-0518

First Congregational Church
700 Poyntz (Poyntz and Juliette) 537-7006
Sunday School and Adult Ed. Class at 9:30 a.m.
Worship at 10:45 a.m.
Sunday, Sept. 7th
Rev. Donald Longbottom

Manhattan Christian Fellowship Church
Pastor Darryl R. Martin
All Faiths Chapel
Kansas State University
Worship service: Sunday, 11 a.m.
Sunday school: Sunday, 9 a.m.
539-2214
SPONSORED BY:
Multicultural Student Organizations



Grace Baptist Church
2901 Dickens - 2 blks. E. of Seth Child)
◆ Sunday ◆
Morning Worship
8:15 & 10:45 a.m.
Bible Classes For All Ages 9:30 a.m.
Body Life or Care Cells 6 p.m.
776-0424

St. Isidore's Catholic Student Center
MASS SCHEDULE
Tuesday-Thursday 10:00 p.m.
Friday 12:10 p.m.
Saturday 5 p.m.
Sunday 9:30 a.m., 11 a.m.
Sun. 4:30 p.m., 6 p.m.
Father Keith Weber, Chaplain
711 Denison 539-7496

The Assembly Manhattan's first Assembly of God
2310 Candlewood
537-7633
Sunday School 9:30 a.m.
College Sunday School Class 9:30 a.m.
Hispanic Sunday Service at 2 p.m.
Worship Service 10:30 a.m.
Evening Praise 6 p.m.
Prayer Meeting 7 p.m.
- Youth Group
-Royal Rangers
- Missionettes
Nursery Provided For All Services

Lutheran Campus Ministry
at Luther House 1745 Anderson
Easter Evening Worship
6pm @ Danforth Chapel
www.ksu.edu/lcm-elca
Pastor Jayne Thompson
(pastorj@ksu.edu) 539-4451
— Open to All —

WESTVIEW COMMUNITY CHURCH
Contemporary Morning Worship
8:30 & 10:45 a.m.
Sunday school 9:45 a.m.
College Career Classes Offered
Wed. Evening Activities @ 7p.m.
Sunday Evening Worship 6 p.m.
One Sunday a month (as announced)
CARE CELLS (Home Groups)
6 p.m., Other Sunday evenings
www.networksplus.com/westview
3001 Ft. Riley Blvd. 537-7173

BRANDON WHITE/KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Darnell McDonald pulls in a 44-yard touchdown pass during last year's game against Missouri at KSU Stadium. K-State defeated Missouri 44-11 in the game.

'I DON'T THINK WE HAVE ANYTHING TO WORRY ABOUT'

Michael Bishop, Cats begin 1998 season at home against NCAA I-AA Indiana State Sycamores

BY SAM FELSENFELD
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Finally, after nine months of hype and expectations, K-State opens its 1998 football season Saturday against Indiana State.

On paper, the game is a mismatch. After all, the Wildcats return 18 starters from last year's 11-1 Tostitos Fiesta Bowl champion team, while the Sycamores, a Division I-AA team, finished last year at 3-8 and couldn't manage a bigger win than a 19-6 triumph over Kentucky State in week two.

In reality, though, K-State football coach Bill Snyder has his worries.

"They're not gonna kill themselves. They don't beat themselves. They can play good, solid, sound football," he said.

Snyder said his main worry with the Sycamores is when they have the ball. Offensively, Indiana State will use a triple-option attack, which concerns Snyder.

"If they take 75 snaps in this ballgame, we will have to play the option all 75 snaps. And, consequently, that stabilizes your defense and allows for some freedom with the related offense," he said.

In last season's home opener, K-State faced a similar offense against Ohio. The Cats were expected to win easily but managed only a 23-20 win and gave up 430 yards in total offense, their worst yield in a win during the regular season. During that game, the Bobcats gained 278 yards on the ground, not an unreasonable total for a triple-option attack. However, K-State had to concentrate on the option, which opened up the secondary and allowed Ohio to gain 174 yards in the air.

Those passing yards came at key times and helped Ohio climb back into the game after falling behind 23-0 at halftime.

However, Saturday will be the first time the Sycamores execute their new system, which could ease the Cats' difficulties a little.

"For the quarterback to make all the right choices, it takes a lot of experience, so there's some jeopardy to them in that regard," Snyder said.

Defending it still won't be easy.

"It's hard. There's a lot of responsibilities with it," inside linebacker Jeff Kelly said. "If one person messes up, they can capitalize on it."

In addition, Snyder said he isn't tremendously pleased with how the team has performed so far, and that he isn't sure his team is ready for the season opener.

"I'd like to have more time, but our players wouldn't stand for it. They know they have to play. They want to play," he said. "Just like every other team in this country, they're anxious to stop bangin' around on each other and get on the field and play and compete in front of a crowd and do all those things. Probably more than anything, they want to prove me wrong."

However, the players said they think they are not only ready to play but ready to perform at the level that people across the nation are expecting. The Cats enter the game ranked sixth in both the Associated Press and ESPN/USA Today polls and have a legitimate Heisman Trophy candidate in quarterback Michael Bishop.

Bishop said he's aware of the expectations.

"We know that we have to score a lot of points, because last year against Iowa State, we went in and only scored 28 points, and we dropped in the rankings," he said. "A win is a win to us, but I feel like we do need to score a lot of points."

To score points, the Cats used a powerful running attack last season, and on paper it appears they'll be able to dominate the field on Saturday. K-State's starter at left offensive tackle is undecided, but if it will be Brien Hanley, the Cats' offensive tackles will outweigh the Sycamores' defensive ends by an average of 102 pounds, while K-State's guards will outweigh Indiana State's defensive tackles by an average of 45 pounds.

Also, the Sycamores' starting linebacker's average size is only 5 feet, 11 inches, weighing 209 pounds.

As far as K-State's passing game goes, Bishop said he doesn't have any worries.

"As far as everything that's on film, I understand the defense they run. I know what the secondary's gonna do, so unless they come in with a different game plan, we shouldn't have any problems with their defense," he said.

"I don't think we have anything to worry about. The biggest thing we have to worry about is executing and turnovers. As far as their defense, we have a lot of plays that attack their secondary. Unless they come in with a different look, we should be okay."

The definition of 'OK,' to Bishop, is more than the three-point victory the Cats gained against Ohio last season.

"If we execute well, and our offense puts points on the board, and the defense creates a couple of turnovers and puts them on the board and the special teams do a great job, I feel we'll score over 50 points," he said. "If we do that, we're starting off on the right track."

When Bill Snyder says Cats 'should win,' football game must be a clear mismatch

VIEWPOINT

JOHN BERGGREN

OK, I'm going to go out on a limb here.

I'm going to go out on a limb and predict that K-State will dismantle, destroy and demolish the Sycamores Saturday evening in the Wildcats' season-opener.

Pretty sturdy limb, isn't it?

Even Coach Bill Snyder realizes that things could get ugly Saturday. Snyder, who is best known in the news media for not releasing any information about player injuries or, heaven forbid, opinions on the outcomes of games, said the Wildcats "should win" the game in this week's Big 12 teleconference.

To top it all off, in Tuesday's weekly meeting with the local press, Snyder released information about two injuries. First, junior defensive tackle Nilija McCoy will miss the entire season after suffering a blood clot in his leg during practice last week.

Secondly, and maybe more dreadful to K-State fans, junior linebacker and Butkus Award candidate Mark Simoneau will miss the first game with an abdominal muscle strain, not wanting to aggravate it.

Maybe Snyder is a changed man this season. Maybe he'll wear all of his emotions and secrets on his sleeve, but in the words of Jerry Seinfeld, "that's not bloody likely."

You can bet that if K-State was in the heart of its Big 12 season, Snyder would be living up to his close-mouthed reputation. Heck, he's not worried about losing this week.

Indiana State does, at least, pose some theoretical problems to the Wildcats. The Sycamores will bring an offense that is rarely seen in college football, the triple-option. It's an offense that is uniquely different from most college football teams. It's also an offense that gave K-State significant problems last year.

Last season against Ohio, things got a little ugly in the second half for the Wildcats when they were exploited for 20 unanswered points against the triple option of the Bobcats. The game even came down to a nail biter at the end. With 1:11 left to play in the contest and Ohio driving, Travis Ochs saved the day with an interception, and K-State barely held on, 23-20.

That means K-State will have to be on its toes this week.

"We'll have to play that option-responsible football that forces you to have great discipline in what you do," Snyder said. "It's not just playing the option itself, but all of a sudden it looks like the option, and then you've got a wide receiver or a tight end running down the field all by himself, because somebody got caught off not paying attention to what their basic keys are.

"It takes great discipline to play defense against any football team, but it gets tremendously highlighted when you go up against a wishbone team."

This week will be an excellent tune-up for the Wildcat's toughest opponents this season. Of course, Nebraska, Missouri and Oklahoma State all run at least some variation of the option. So seeing an option team in week one only will help the Cats down the road.

Granted, I probably shouldn't even mention Nebraska, Missouri and Oklahoma State in the same column as Indiana State. Other than the whole option thing, there is no comparison between the four schools.

For starters, Indiana State is Division I-AA, which automatically tells you that collectively, the talent level that will be clad in blue and white on Saturday is nowhere near any of K-State's conference opponents.

The Sycamores won't be helped by the fact that they could have a few breakdowns all on their own Saturday, breakdowns that are common when new systems are put in place. Head coach Tim McGuire is new this season, bringing in the triple option for the first time.

I do not doubt that K-State will win. I do, however, have a few questions for which I have no clear answer:

Question No. 1: Will Indiana State score against K-State's second- and third-string defense? (It did in 1996 when K-State played it last, scoring a field goal in the fourth quarter.)

Question No. 2: Will Willie the Wildcat break down a sapling on the 50-yard line just before kickoff like he did in 1996? The diving clothesline he performed to break the tree in two is about the only exciting thing that happened in that game.

John Berggren is a junior in arts and sciences. You can e-mail him at johnber@ksu.edu.

IVAN KOZAR/KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

K-State defenders jump in an attempt to knock down a pass thrown by Jayhawk quarterback Zac Wegner during last season's matchup against Kansas at KSU Stadium. K-State defeated KU 48-16.

CROSSWORD

FOR RELEASE FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 4, 1998

CROSSWORD By Eugene Sheffer

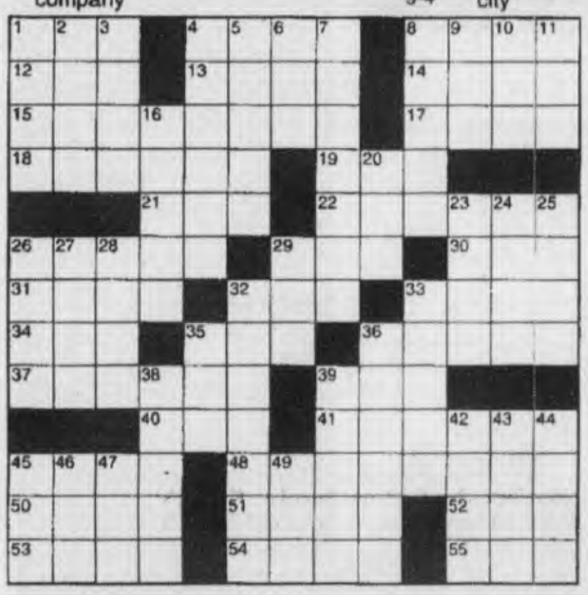
ACROSS
1 Grain spike
4 Throe
8 "— Dick" (novel)
12 Figure head? (abbr.)
13 Vicinity
14 La Scala solo
15 A famous laborer?
17 Satchmo's style
18 Threatening clause
19 "Eureka!"
21 Yet, in verse
22 Saul Bellow novel
26 Inventors' inspirations
29 Crafty one
30 Psyche component
31 Burg
32 Animation frame
33 Shoppers' mecca
34 Key, in Calais
35 Spotted
36 Whined
37 One known by the company he doesn't keep?
39 — de deux
40 Circle segment
41 Botanical bristle
45 Continuous change
48 Discoverer of Uranus
50 Burt's ex
51 Ticklish cutie
52 "All the Things You —"
53 One, on a one
54 Meg or Irene
55 Baker's shortcut



DOWN
1 Return call?
2 Mimic
3 Exceptional
4 Lingers
5 "Stormy Weather" composer
6 Born
7 Hybrid fuel
8 Primary course of study
9 Man-mouse link
10 Occupation
11 Red Sox legend, to fans
16 Spick-and-span
20 Whammy
23 Great fervor
24 Look lecherously
25 Sutter's Mill find
26 Craving
27 Loser in 1996
28 Basin accessory
29 Churchillian creditors
32 Masked man
33 Score
35 Round Table address
36 Minister
38 Aphorism
39 Cheesy city?
42 Fraud
43 Actress Garr
44 Haley or Karras
45 Not merely a cold
46 Mr. Chaney
47 Name in Burma's history
49 Nevada city

Solution time: 28 mins.

M	A	T	T		D	I	A	M		S	O	S
A	C	R	E		O	L	L	A		K	I	T
S	H	E	E	P	S	K	I	N		I	S	A
S	E	E	T	H	E			O	W	N	E	R
			H	I		W	I	R	E	D
C	U	B	E		L	A	S		B	E	A	D
A	R	E			E	T	A			E	G	O
B	I	A	S		I	C	Y		S	P	O	T
		R	A	J	A	H		A	A
P	A	S	T	E			S	L	I	M	E	S
E	L	K		S	K	I	N	F	L	I	N	T
A	M	I		T	I	N	A		O	L	D	E
R	A	N		S	M	O	G		R	E	S	T

Yesterday's answer

9-4

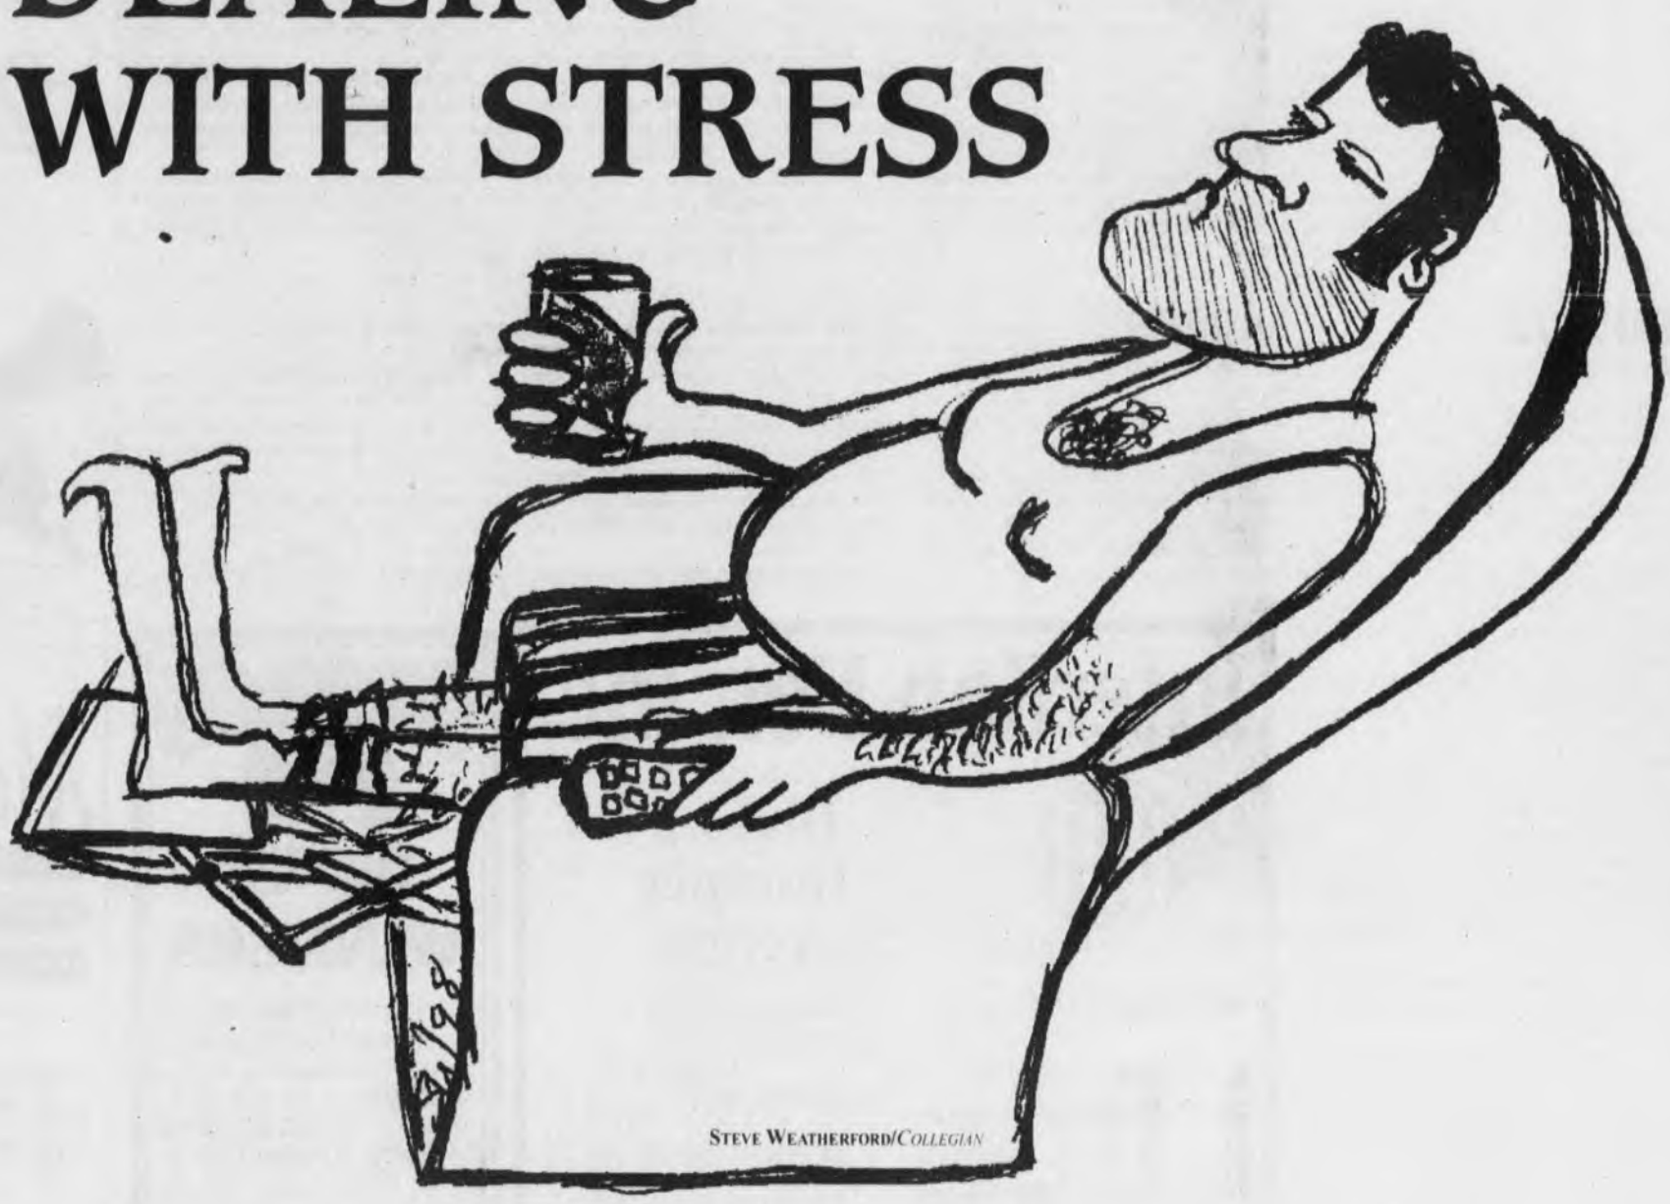
STUMPED? For answers to today's crossword, call 1-900-454-6873! 99¢ per minute, touch-tone / rotary phones. (18+ only.) A King Features service, NYC.

9-4 CRYPTOQUIP

MKBE KBT KZJT IHZTHBC HD HGTE LTZO, IKB UJHBTZUUO HKDGLKH IKB MDGUC COB.

Yesterday's Cryptoquip: I WONDER IF THIS SORCERER MIGHT BE LABELED A CHARMING FELLOW.

Today's Cryptoquip clue: L equals G



CRYPTOQUIP BOOK 2! Send $4.50 (check/m.o.) to CryptoClassics Book 2, PO Box 6411, Riverton NJ 08077.

The Cryptoquip is a substitution cipher in which one letter stands for another. If you think that X equals O, it will equal O throughout the puzzle. Single letters, short words and words using an apostrophe give you clues to locating vowels. Solution is by trial and error.

© 1998 by King Features Syndicate, Inc.

"DILBERT" AND "MANN HATTEN" WILL RETURN ON TUESDAY. HAVE A SAFE LABOR DAY WEEKEND.

DEALING WITH STRESS

STEVE WEATHERFORD/COLLEGIAN

University Counseling Services can aid students with stress management

BY KELLY LYNN
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

While a majority of college students experience stress from a wide variety of sources, many do not know there is a resource on campus that can train them to handle it more effectively.

Biofeedback, a service available at University Counseling Services, is a computerized monitoring of body responses that makes one aware of changes in physiological and emotional levels of arousal.

"Everybody has stress, and everybody will have stress throughout the course of their life," Art Rathbun, counselor and biofeedback specialist, said.

"And those people who learn the types of skills we teach will be able to deal that much more effectively and have productive, fulfilling lives."

Biofeedback helps individuals learn self-regulation and relaxation skills through weekly sessions at the Biofeedback Training Center.

Arousal is measured by skin temperature, muscle tension, sweat production, respiration, heart rate and brain-wave patterns through various equipment plugged into a computer.

Biofeedback helps students learn to maintain an appropriate level of arousal, which limits the ability to perform a task, Rathbun said.

"Appropriate levels of arousal will increase our performance in an activity," Rathbun said.

After making an appointment with University Counseling Services, a prospective client is given an assessment to make sure biofeedback can achieve the desired result.

The client then is given a demonstration of how biofeedback works.

The actual biofeedback training begins during the second appointment.

The first two appointments are free. Use of the Biofeedback Training Center thereafter costs $25 for the semester.

Depending on the client and the situation, it can take from six weeks to several months to master the self-regulation and relaxation skills utilized in biofeedback.

"As with any type of skill, people will learn at different levels," Rathbun said.

"[Biofeedback] teaches you what to do, and once you learn it, you can do it on your own," Fred Newton, University Counseling Services director, said.

While biofeedback is used most commonly to treat stress, many other symptoms such as test anxiety, concentration problems, insomnia and headaches can be eased by learning skills through biofeedback.

Although the Biofeedback Training Center is only 3-years-old, K-State was one of the first universities to offer biofeedback services on a college campus.

Last semester, University Counseling Services started a cooperative program with Recreational Services to educate students about stress management and make biofeedback services available from 4 to 6 p.m. every Thursday at the Chester E. Peters Recreation Complex.

RATINGS
"GOOD WILL HUNTING"
5 out of 5 stars
"THE WEDDING SINGER"
4 out of 5 stars
"FALLEN"
4 out of 5 stars
"TITANIC"
5 out of 5 stars
"THE BOXER"
3 out of 5 stars
"HE GOT GAME"
4 out of 5 stars

Spring, winter's hottest hits now on video

BY JEFF ELLIOTT
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Students who think the bar scene is the only thing to do in Manhattan can breathe a sigh of relief. The box-office flicks loved by moviegoers this past winter and spring are out on home video.

"Good Will Hunting," "The Wedding Singer," "Fallen," "Titanic" and "The Boxer" are available to rent in video stores.

"Good Will Hunting," starring Robin Williams and Matt Damon, was released in July.

Damon makes his starring debut as a troubled whiz-kid who works as a janitor. He is offered an opportunity to turn his life around when he crosses paths with an MIT professor who sees his potential.

The film was nominated for eight Academy Awards, including Best Picture.

Adam Sandler's latest comedy, "The Wedding Singer," is a 1980s flashback that is both hilarious and heartwarming.

Sandler stars as Robbie Hart, a New Jersey wedding singer who falls into a depression after his fiancée abandons him at the altar. Robbie's spirits are lifted when he meets Julia, a waitress, (Drew Barrymore) and becomes friends with her. After working at several weddings together, Julia and Robbie discover that more lies between them than friendship. The only problem: Julia is engaged to a womanizing junk-bond salesman with wandering eyes.

"The Wedding Singer" is a surprisingly excellent mix of romance and comedy.

"Fallen," one of the darkest movies of the year, stars Denzel Washington and John Goodman.

Reprising the role of a homicide detective ("Ricochet", 1991), Washington goes after a demonic serial killer and seeks redemption when he is blamed for the slew of murders.

Released Tuesday, "Titanic" sets out to sink home-video records.

The film is centered around a pair of lovers (Leonardo DiCaprio and Kate Winslet) who

■ See VIDEOS on PAGE 8

Family Weekend
Sept. 25-Sept. 27, 1998
From Roots to Wings
KANSAS STATE UNIVERSITY'S 1998 HONORARY FAMILY RECOGNITION
Pick up Applications in OSAS Office Ground Floor Student Union
ESSAYS DUE BY 5:00pm SEPT. 4, 1998.

GREEK Paddles & Gifts
OF BEAUTIFUL SOLID OAK and WALNUT

Assembling Paddles or Making Traditional Greek Gifts?
WE CAN HELP!
We'll arrange a party with discount prices, pizza, pop, & lots of fun with your brothers or sisters.
Ben Franklin Crafts
776-4910
Westloop Shopping Center

THE Palace Cards & Gifts
BOYD'S BEAR DAYS
SEPT. 4TH THRU 7TH ONLY!

THE QUEEN OF THE UNIVERSE
1998 SPECIAL EVENT PIECE
AVAILABLE ONLY SEPT. 4TH-7TH.
COME SEE ALL THE NEW FALL PLUSH AND RESIN FIGURINES FROM THE BOYD'S COLLECTION! IT'S ALL AT THE PALACE.
20% OFF ALL BOYD'S PLUSH SEPT. 4TH-7TH ONLY (EXCLUDES ALL RESIN.)
LAYAWAY NOW FOR CHRISTMAS!
704 N. MANHATTAN • IN AGGIEVILLE • 539-7654
MON.-FRI. 8:30-8:30, SAT. 8:30-5:30, SUN. 12:00-5:00

Aggieville businesses join forces for gamedays

BY CORY LAFFERTY
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Aggieville businesses will be host to the first Touchdown Weekend in Aggieville this weekend. The event is a group effort shared among many of the businesses.

"Traditionally, people have come and had fun down here in Aggieville. It's the place to be, for kids to 90-year-old alumni," said Steve Levin, assistant manager of Varney's Book Store. "Aggieville is, historically, the place to meet before and after games, and we hope it continues."

Students on campus said they agree the Aggieville Touchdown Weekends will be a good way to interact with the rest of Manhattan's residents.

"It will give the crowds that come for the game a place to go for pregame and post-game entertainment," said Larry Naab, sophomore in electrical engineering. "It could also add more camaraderie to all Wildcat fans."

The entertainment will include everything from a 50-foot tunnel for children to swing dancing for adults.

"There will be the Cats Kids Zone with pony rides, moon walk and caterpillar," Levin said. "The Pep Band is set tentatively to play on top of Streetside (Records), plus we will have a call-in show in Triangle Park."

The festivities will start Saturday,with a pancake feed at 8 a.m. and other events going on throughout the day. Stores in Aggieville have special sales both inside the stores and out on the streets.

Another service offered for the game this weekend will be a shuttle service.

"We will have bus stops at Aggieville Pizza Hut, Longhorns, Scoreboard, Rusty's Last Chance, and Lucky BrewGrille," said Cheryl Sieben, director of the Aggieville Business Association. "Just look for the bus shuttle signs."

Aggieville Touchdown Weekend will cater to all ages, not just the college students.

"We have all types of environments,from families to college students," Sieben said. "We would like to invite all ages to come spend time with us in Aggieville this weekend."

This won't be just a one-time event; touchdown weekends will be organized for every home game. There will be new activities, as well as different bands for each home game this season. The bands scheduled for this year's Aggieville Touchdown Weekends are Swing 39 on Saturday, Robert Mirra on Sept. 12, a disc jockey from Complete Music on Sept. 26 and the Dave Stephens Orchestra on Oct. 17.

The K-State Pep Band will perform the evening before each home game; the band possibly will have another "battle of the bands" with Texas, as was the case last year.

The Aggieville Touchdown Weekends will be used to promote Aggieville as one place, not individual stores, merchants said.

"We're doing everything collectively. It's more of a group effort than individual efforts," said Becky Ballard of Ballard's Sporting Goods.

POYNTZ

■ continued from page 1

The pep rally began at 8 p.m. with the introduction of this year's K-State volleyball team. The program also featured the Classy Cats dance team, the K-State Marching Band and the K-State Cheerleaders. Finally, Greg Sharpe, Voice of the Wildcats, introduced Coach Bill Snyder.

Snyder introduced the senior class of 25 players, the largest in his 10-year tenure at the helm of the Cats.

"This is probably the finest senior class we've had since we've been here at Kansas State University," Snyder said.

Next, each of the six captains gave his input on the season and encouragement to the fans.

"You all are definitely the best fans in the nation," Travis Ochs, senior linebacker, said. "I hope you will come out and cheer us on Saturdays in your purple."

Finally, announcer Ivan Wilkinson challenged this year's fans to do their part at the games.

"To be a top-10 team, we have to be a top-10 crowd," Wilkinson said.

As the band closed the evening, thousands of fans chanted and cheered the beginning of the season.

VIDEOS

■ continued from page 7

must deal with tragedy when an iceberg threatens to come between them.

"Titanic" is the winner of 11 Academy Awards, including Best Picture.

Quietly slugging its way into the hearts of critics is "The Boxer."

This little-known film stars Daniel Day-Lewis as a former IRA operative who is released after a 14-year prison term and finds his old flame (Emily Watson) widowed. Lewis turns to boxing to escape the problems of his past as well as win back the woman he loves. "The Boxer" was nominated for three Golden Globe Awards, including Best Picture.

Scheduled for a Sept. 15 release on home video is Spike Lee's "He Got Game."

Denzel Washington stars as a prison inmate who will be considered for early parole if he can convince his son (Ray Allen) to play basketball for the governor's alma mater.

Also coming to home video are "Wild Things" and "Primary Colors," available Sept. 8, and "City of Angels," available Sept. 15.

FIND OUT ALL THE HAPPENINGS FROM LAST NIGHT'S STUDENT SENATE MEETING ONLINE.

collegian.ksu.edu

Remnant Sale
211 S. 4th
$3.99 per sq yd while supplies last
MANHATTAN Wholesale Carpet
(785)776-7351

InterKan.Net, Inc.
www.interkan.net
All 56k/ISDN
Pick the monthly plan for you!
Unlimited Hours—$19.95
100 Hours—$12.50
30 Hours—$10.00
10 Hours—$7.50
No set-up fee with credit card payment.
Dial-up Internet Access
Contact us:
10-6 M-F
12-5 Sat
at 565-0991 or
1106 R Laramie
in Manhattan

TELEFUND KSU Foundation 20th Anniversary 1979-1999
WINNERS
Powercat Carpet
Renee' Rodriquez
Freshman
College of Arts & Sciences
Powercat Fisher Space Pen
Kelly Shaw
Junior
College of Agriculture
Telefund Coffee Mugs
Kourtney Hensley
Freshman
College of Business Admin.
350 students registered at the Telefund 1999 exhibit during Activity Day.
Telefund 1999 begins Feb. 1. Register in your dean's office.
Telefund is the world's largest all-volunteer telephone campaign for higher education and is coordinated by the KSU Foundation.

McCain
SHARPS, FLATS & ACCIDENTALS
THE FLYING KARAMAZOV BROTHERS
ORDER YOUR TICKETS TODAY!
Wednesday, September 16, 7:30 p.m.
Public: $20, 16 Seniors: $18, 14
Students/Children: $10, 8

Experience an evening in a mad, comic and musical world, where juggling can be heard and music must be seen to be believed. Challenge the Karamazovs! Bring and item from home to test Brother Ivan's skill and bet a standing ovation against a pie in the face that he can't juggle it. From musical wonders to impossible feats of levity, the show is an irresistible mix of skill and silliness, which once seen, may still prove to be beyond belief.
CALL MCCAIN AT 785-532-6428
You can charge your tickets to VISA, MasterCard, or Discover. Or stop by the box office, noon to 6 p.m. weekdays.
Presented in part by the Kansas Arts Commission, a state agency, and the National Endowment for the Arts, a federal agency. Additional funding provided by the Bell Family Endowment for the Performing Arts and the K-State Fine Arts Fee.

Claflin Books and Copies
Travel safely and have a happy Labor Day!
1814 Claflin Road 776-3771

JUST ARRIVED
Liquid Wear
as seen on MTV and VH1
Wholesale Beauty Club & Club Beauty Salon
Open 9 a.m.-8 p.m.
Mon.-Sat., 1-5 p.m. Sun.
539-5999 • 409 Poyntz
Open to the Public

9 Hole Golf Course
Monday & Tuesday Specials
2-9 hole greens fees & a cart $20
Driving Range
Buy 1 Jr. buckets get 1 FREE
exp. 10-31-98
Golf Tournament!
2 Man Scramble
Mon. Sept 7th
Call to Register
Minigolf
Volleyball
Batting cages
539-PLAY
3639 Anderson Ave.
WILDCAT CREEK sports center

Not quite the "picture" of perfect health? We can help!
Mercy Health Center's Nutrition Clinic presents:
Weight Management and Fitness
Wednesdays from Sept. 9 - Nov. 11
5:30 to 6:30 pm
Mercy Health Center on Sunset Ave.
Our weight management and fitness program, led by a licensed, registered dietitian, is a series designed to help you learn the benefits of proper eating habits, physical fitness, cardiac wellness, dealing with your stress, and changing the behaviors that contributed to your weight problem. The focus is not on your weight, but on your overall health. Class fee is $99 for the10-week course.
To register, call the Nutrition Clinic at 785-587-4296.
MERCY HEALTH CENTER OF MANHATTAN

K-State Student Union Bookstore
Great Game Day Savings!
Coupon Offer Valid Fri.-Sun. of every HOME Game Weekend Except Family Weekend.
OPEN GAME DAYS from 9 to 7
Call 1-800-KSU-CATS to receive a 98-99 Purple Possessions Catalog
"The Official KSU Bookstore"
http://union.ksun.ksu.edu/bookstor/main.htm
Wildcat Weekend Take $5 OFF every purchase of reg. priced clothing and memorabilia totaling $25.00 - $49.99
Wildcat Weekend Take $10 OFF every purchase of reg. priced clothing and memorabilia totaling $50.00-$74.99
Wildcat Weekend Take $15 OFF every purchase of reg. priced clothing and memorabilia totaling $75.00 - $100.00 or more

DEADLINES

Classified ads must be placed by noon the day before you want your ad to run. Classified display ads must be placed by 4 p.m. two working days prior to the date you want your ad to run. CALL 532-6555

CLASSIFIEDS

000 BULLETIN BOARD

010

Announcements

ADVANCED FLIGHT TRAINING from 7,500-hour ATP instructor. Private single-engine through ATP multiengine. Hugh Irvin, 539-3128 evenings.

BIG DAWG Marina has Jet skis and pontoon boats for rent. 776-3113.

DISCOVER SCUBA: Complete lessons, low cost, college credit available. Aggie Dive Shop, 539-DIVE.

FOOTBALL TICKET GIVEAWAY. To register send a self-addresses stamped envelope to: D.P. Inc. P.O. Box 857-M, Manhattan, KS 66505-0857.

FREE FOOTBALL tickets. Register at Mr. P's Party Outlet, 318 Poyntz Ave.

LEARN TO FLY! K-State Flying Club has five airplanes, lowest rates. For information call 537-8406.

SALINA CARPOOL. 539-2011, Cathy.

SCUBA learn to dive at the only PADI approved dive center in the area, full line of equipment in stock, two instructors, earn college credit. Classes forming weekly. Call Creative Travel and Scuba. 539-0531

020

Lost and Found

Found ads can be placed free for three days.

FOUND: SET of four keys in front of Calvin Hall. Call 532-6180 to identify.

LOST: A string of four keys with a red rubber key card. 770-9163, 537-4919, 770-9127.

LOST: RED female tabby shorthair, front paws declawed, white rings on tail. Lost since Saturday August 29. 565-0783.

100 HOUSING/REAL ESTATE

105

For Rent- Apts. Furnished

FOR RENT. Two-bedroom, one and one-half bath furnished apartment. Directly across from campus. No pets. Call Laura. 587-8969.

ONE-BEDROOM BASEMENT, fireplace, walk to campus. Quiet, gas and water paid. No pets, no smoking. Lease, $250 deposit, $325/ month. 537-3737

TWO-BEDROOM BASEMENT apartment, includes microwave. Close to campus, $350, all utilities paid except cable television. 776-1214.

TWO-BEDROOM FURNISHED apartment. New carpet, microwave, close to campus, $400, all utilities paid except cable television. 776-1214.

UNIVERSITY COMMONS. Available: fully furnished, individual leases, washer/ dryer in each unit, roommate matching service, pool, sand vollleyball, lighted tennis and basketball courts, monitored security, reserved parking. No appointment necessary. M-F 9a.m.- 6p.m., 10a.m.-4p.m., 539-0500.

110

For Rent- Apt. Unfurnished

A THREE-BEDROOM, spacious, one-half block to KSU, central air and heat, pets OK, $540, 776-8455.

ACROSS STREET from campus, four-bedroom, appliances, central air/heat off-street parking. 539-2632.

Now Available!
Large 2-Bedrooms
Sandstone Apts.
Cambridge Sq. Apts.
Hill Investments
537-9064

AUGUST FREE! Two-bedroom, spacious, dishwasher, $395-$425. 776-8455.

AVAILABLE NOW. Studio and one-bedrooms, some furnished. Most utilities paid. Clean and quiet, central locations, some pets accepted. 537-8389.

FOUR-BEDROOM CLOSE to campus, two bath, dishwasher, central air/heat, water/trash paid. Free laundry, good price. 537-2255 or 537-7810.

WOODWAY APARTMENTS
STOP!
DO NOT RENT AN APARTMENT UNTIL YOU CONSIDER THIS!
•Sparkling swimming pool
•Spacious decks/patios
•Avail. June 5 Aug. 6
•Kitchen Appliances include microwave and dishwasher
•On site laundry facilities
•Economical gas heat
3 BDRM, 2 BATH $714, $723
4 BDRM, 2 BATH $836, $856
Office:
2400 Kimball Ave.
at College Ave.
(Across from Bramlage)
Call Sara
at 537-7007
for an appointment.

FOUR-BEDROOM, TWO bath, close to campus, no pets, reasonable. 776-1340.

FOUR-BEDROOM, TWO bath 1300 square feet. Water/ trash paid. Discounted cable with HBO. 776-3663.

LARGE THREE-BEDROOM well lit basement, close to campus, 1729 Laramie, new stove and refrigerator, washer/ dryer hook-ups, heat/ water/ trash paid. $570. 537-2099, 539-8052.

NOW LEASING one to four-bedroom apartments/ houses. Call Alliance Property Management. 539-4357 for current list.

9 Month Lease
2 & 3 Bedroom Specials
539-2951

ONE- OR TWO-BEDROOM. No pets, smoking, drinking. 539-1554.

ONE-BEDROOM BASEMENT apartment. Refridgerator, stove, laundry. $325/ month, utilities included. 1859 Platt (one block from campus). 539-8612, 532-3742 or e-mail tar@pobox.com

ONE-BEDROOM, $290. 539-8401.

STUDIO, $280, air-conditioning, bills paid. 539-8401.

THREE-BEDROOM HOUSE, computer den, attached garage, near campus. Immediately available. (765)463-5014.

THREE-BEDROOM, $390. 539-8401.

THREE-BEDROOM, AUGUST free, washer/ dryer, huge, $540. 776-8455.

THREE-BEDROOM, TWO bath apartment available for August. Very spacious.

Chase Manhattan Apartments
1,2,3, or 4 person occupancy. Short term leases available. Water and Trash paid. Discounted cable package HBO, Encore, and Expanded Basic.
Call us Today
776-3663

Dishwasher, microwave, pool, laundry and carports. Call Sara at 537-7007.

TWO, THREE and four-bedroom apartments water/ trash paid, discounted cable with HBO. Going fast. 776-3663.

TWO-BEDROOM, $320. 539-8401.

TWO-BEDROOM, CENTRAL air, laundry hookups, dishwasher, $400. No pets. Nine month lease. 513 S. Manhattan Avenue. 539-2255.

UNIVERSITY TERRACE APARTMENTS. College Ave. Large three-bedroom apartments with washer, dryer hook-ups. 537-2096.

115

Rooms Available

CHRISTIAN FAMILY who has large home near Ramada Inn, wants female college girl to live in. Will provide board and room in exchange for chores. Write c/o Collegian, Box 3, .

120

For Rent- Houses

1106 KEARNEY- one and one-half blocks from campus. Three-bedrooms, one bath, kitchen, living room, washer and dryer hookups. Available September 1, 1998, $650/ month. Century 21 Knight Real Estate, 537-2111.

A PLEASANT house two blocks from campus. Fireplace, washer/ dryer, dishwasher. Please call 537-7848 or 776-6225.

BASEMENT APARTMENT for rent until June 1, 1999. Call 776-0726 for more information.

EXCELLENT CONDTION house. Split level design four-bedroom, two baths, two living rooms, dining room, two stall garage with automatic garage door opener, large sun deck overlooking back yard, ceiling fans, whole house fan, central air/ heat. Located three blocks from KSU football stadium at 2629 Kimball. To see call 776-4040 or (804)706-1196, available immediately.

FOR RENT three-bedroom house. $500/ month, four blocks from campus at 825 Thurston. (785) 336-2669.

FOUR-BEDROOM HOUSE for rent. Close to campus, newly remodeled, washer/ dryer central air, 539-4949.

KSU THREE BLOCKS. Three-bedroom, one bath, central air, laundry hookups, garage, small pets considered, 1517 Pipher. 539-4087, leave message.

THREE-BEDROOM, AIR-CONDITIONING, $510. 539-8401.

TWO-BEDROOM house available. Stove, refrigerator, air-conditioning. No pets. 539-1975 or (785) 396-4344.

135

For Sale- Mobile Homes

DON'T WASTE your money on rent, when you could own: 16'x70' 1986 Schult. Sunken living room, vaulted ceiling, built-in china hutch, lots of cabinet space, large kitchen, dining room, two large bedrooms, one bath, refrigerator, stove, dishwaser, 8'x8' deck, fenced yard, swing set, new paint, new shingled roof, great location, Bergman school. Must see to appreciate. Call for showing 776-3226.

145

Roommate Wanted

CHRISTIAN FEMALE roommate wanted to share two-bedroom apartment. Close to campus - September rent FREE, call 537-4441.

FEMALE ROOMMATE for three-bedroom apartment, $177/ month plus one-third utilities. 565-9074.

FEMALE ROOMMATE to share NICE two-bedroom apartment across from college. $260 a month. 776-4891.

FEMALE ROOMMATE wanted in four-bedroom apartment next to Durland, very nice. Call 587-9524 for details.

FEMALE ROOMMATE wanted, non-smoking, furnished house, private bathroom, 12 miles from KSU. Tracy 770-9489.

FEMALE ROOMMATE wanted for two-bedroom apartment close to campus and Aggieville. $175/ month, no deposit required. Call Jill, 770-9393.

FEMALE ROOMMATE wanted. Move in now, September and October rent paid for. Cambridge Square Apartments. Deposit paid, $270/ month. (316) 773-1627.

FEMALE ROOMMATE, non-smoker for two-bedroom mobile home. Furnished, $155 plus one-half KPL. 587-0157.

FEMALE, ANIMAL-FRIENDLY non-smoker to share house close to campus. $300/ month plus some utilities. Call Erika 539-5980.

MALE NEEDED for furnished basement. Washer/ dryer without meter. No smoking, drinking, or pets. Walk to class. 539-1554

MALE TO share three-bedroom house close to campus. Washer/ dryer, dishwasher and fireplace, $220/ month, one-fourth utilities. 537-4580, leave message.

NEEDED: ROOMMATE to share four-bedroom house with three girls, a cat and a dog. Close to campus and football stadium. 537-3803.

SEPTEMBER RENT reduced. Male/ female to share four-bedroom house one-half mile to campus and Aggieville. 537-5109.

200 SERVICE DIRECTORY

240

Musicians/DJs

VOCALIST/ RHYTHM player wants to start or get into a country band. Call 587-8403 ask for Scott.

300 EMPLOYMENT/OPPORTUNITIES

310

Help Wanted

($20 / HOUR, PART-TIME/ FULL-TIME). Processing mail! Free supplies, postage! Bonuses! Rush self-addressed stamped envelope: GMA/KSU P.O. Box 567443 Atlanta, GA 31156. e-mail: signup@info.info-machine.com.

ARABIAN HORSE farm looking for part-time help with stable chores and light training. Call (785) 494-8486.

BREADEAUX PIZZA. Day and night shifts, all positions, including drivers. Salary negotiable with experience. 3033 Anderson. 537-5080.

CARPENTER OR trainee needed. Local, Monday-Thursday 40 hour work schedule. Good work habits and employment references required. Borst Restoration- 776-1460.

CLEANING: FOR non-smoking student in a home adjacent to campus. Send resume to Collegian Box 4.

COMPUTER PROGRAMMER. 20 hours/ week, hours flexible. Knowledge of C/C++. Undergraduates only. Apply in Throckmorton 1011 by September 11. For more information call 532-7236 or 532-5731.

HELP WANTED: Earn up to $500 per week assembling products at home. No experience. INFO 1-504-646-1700 DEPT. KS-6438.

IMMEDIATE OPENING: Outdoor Rental/Maintenance position with Recreational Services. Responsibilities include check-out, repair and maintenance of outdoor equipment, general maintenance of grounds and tennis court complex; and minor construction projects and repairs. Position will be approximately 10 hours/week. Pay starts at $5.15/hour. Application available at Recreational Services Office from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Please apply by Friday, Sept. 4.

INTERNET SUPPORT: Networks + has openings for weekend internet support, $7/ hour. E-mail resume in MSWord or text format to morgan@networksplus.com

MCC DREDGING is looking for temporary help dredging city sewer plant immediately $8.50/ hour, flexible hours, sun-up to sundown. (316) 775-1208.

NEED A great paying part-time position? Little Caesars is looking for delivery drivers. Earn up to $9/ hour if you are a safe, courteous driver with an insured car and are at least 18. Apply today at Little Caesar's Pizza, 1150 Westloop, Manhattan, Kansas.

PART-TIME POSITION: One day per week grinding feed on farm close to Manhattan. Call evenings, (785)396-4328.

RILEY COUNTY is accepting applications for the postition of Information Systems Supervisor. Bachelor's degree in computer science, management information systems or related field preferred, but not required. Proficient knowledge of PCs and PC networks required. Experience required in systems management on network utilizing Novell, LANS WANS, TCP/IP, Internet/ Intranet access, Windows 95, Windows NT and MS DOS 16 bit applications. Experience with UNIX, mid-range computer systems, and Ethernet preferred. The salary range is $35,422.40-$49,150.40. Job description and application are available at Riley County Clerk's Office, 110 Courthouse Plaza, Manhattan, KS 66502 until position is filled. EEOE.

RILEY COUNTY POLICE DEPARTMENT. The Riley COunty Police Department, an Equal Opportunity Employer, will be accepting applications for the position of Part-Time cook beginning Thursday, Sept 3, 1998 and closing on Tuesday, September 24 at 4:00 p.m. To obtain an application, see Avie Roblyer at Riley County Police Department, 114 N. 4th, 3rd floor, between the hours of 8 a.m. and 11:30 a.m., and 1 p.m. and 4:30 p.m. Monday through Friday. The starting hourly wage is $7.71. Applicants must be: 18 years of age or older, a citizen of the United States, be able to perform all essential functions of the job description, and be available for weekends and some holidays.

Ambitious, energetic people needed for full and part-time. Apply in person at
Vista Drive In
1911 Tuttle Creek Blvd.

SPRING BREAK '99-- Sell Trips, Earn Cash & Go Free! STS is now hiring campus reps. Lowest rates to Jamaica, Mexico and Florida. Call 800-648-4849 or apply online at www.ststravel.com

STUDENT HELP needed 2a.m.- 6a.m. every other day. Apply Printing Services, 10 Kedzie.

STUDENT PC/NETWORK TECHNICIAN in Kansas State University, Office of Information Systems (20-30 hours/ week). Competitive wage. Extensive knowledge of PCs required. Preference given to candidates with knowledge of Novell networks, TCP/IP configuration issues and PC diagnostic experience. Contact Andy Applegarth at 532-6217, by electronic mail at apple-gaa@iso.ksu.edu or at 2323 Anderson Avenue, Suite 215. Application deadline: Until position is filled. Minorities, women and handicapped are encouraged to apply.

TECHNICAL SUPPORT position available for K-State undergraduate student with a variety of skills. Must have good interpersonal and problem solving skills. Experience with PC's and popular software packages such as Word Perfect, Quattro Pro and Windows applications desired. Must have understanding of MS-DOS and Windows. Summer availability necessary. Network experience preferred. Applications available/accepted through September 4, 1998 in 211 Umberger Hall. (Department of Communications, Information and Educational Technology.)

TRUCK, COMBINE and grain cart operators for fall harvest. Send resume and hours available to Rt. 1 Box 3 Wamego, KS 66547. (785) 456-2725.

TUTORING HIGH school students for K-State's Upward Bound Math and Science Program. Contact: Lynne Davy at 532-6374 for application.

WRESTLING COACH, middle/ high school, October-February, 3p.m.- 6p.m. Contact Tim Kite, Onaga High School, 500 High St, Onaga, KS 66521, (785)889-4251.

400 OPEN MARKET

410

Items for Sale

ANTIQUES, COLLECTIBLES, tools, books, furniture, estate jewelry, beer signs, thousands of curious goods. Time Machine Antique Maul and Flea Market. 4910 Skyway Dr. between Briggs and airport. 539-4684.

CABLE DESCRAMBLER kit only $14.95. See all the pay channels. 1-800-752-1389.

FOR SALE: Java software, two tents, photographer's easel. 537-2497 Russ.

GOVERNMENT SURPLUS: Camouflage clothing, G.I. boots, sleeping bags, raincoats, wool clothing, also CARHARRT WORKWEAR. Monday-Friday 9-5:30 p.m. Saturday 9-5 p.m. St. Mary's Surplus Sales, St. Mary's, KS.(785) 437-2734.

ONE BED- Queen size (one year old). One television- Panasonic (one year old). 537-6192 (night), 532-6234 (day).

RICH, FRAGRANT, therapeutic Essential Oil creations, hand-blended to enhance your unique personal style! Skin and facial oils, perfumes, bath salts, after shaves, etc. Call 776-2230, leave name and number for free brochure and 20% off coupon through September 30. Visit our web site at http://www.flint-hills.com/~keepup.

415

Furniture to Buy/Sell

NEW FULL SIZE MATTRESS SET, never used still in plastic with warranty card $140 cash, will deliver. Call 537-3076.

Have You Read Your Collegian Today?
Don't Get Left Behind!

Johnny Rocket's
THE CURE FOR THE COMMON PAYCHECK!
The home of the "original hamburger," is looking for some original personalities for our new location!
NOW HIRING
Full & Part Time
•Wait Staff (Great Tips!)
•Cooks •Bussers
•Fountain Servers
•Dish Washers
Apply in person
•Overland Park
OAK PARK MALL
Equal Opportunity Employer

It's Greek To Me is now hiring screen printing operators. Flexible hours to work around your schedule. No experience necessary. If you are a positive, hard-working, dedicated individual, we want you to be a part of our team. Competitive pay and benefits package: health insurance, 401(K), flexible spending program, employee discounts, paid leave and much more. Come by 520 McCall Rd. to complete an application. We are an equal opportunity employer.

NEW FULL-SIZE and queen-size mattress sets, still in plastic. Full - $165, Queen - $195. 776-8185.

435

Computers

ACER 200MHZ, with 32 meg RAM, 4.1GB H.D., Sony 100mx monitor and Lexmark color printer, Windows 95, Office 97, Via Voice, and much more software included, under warranty. (Over $2000 new, 1st $1000 takes it all). Bonus: four tickets to Sawyer Brown/ Toby Keith concert to buyer. 539-9564.

ATX TOWER, 15-inch Monitor, Intel PII 233 MMX, 64MB RAM, 5.3 GB, Diamond 4MB AGP, Monster 3Dfx, USR 56K V.90, 24X CD, PCI 3D wavetable with speakers, mega software/ games, $1029 or best offer, Nathan 539-8744.

HAVE YOUR inkjet cartridges professionally refilled! Low as $14. Call for information, 539-8011.

MICROSOFT OFFICE '97 Professional, full version, unopened, unregistered, $75. 1-800-416-3594.

NANAO FLEXSCAN FX2-21. 21 inch color computer monitor. This is Nanao's top of the line monitor with .26mm Dot Pinch, 1600 X 1200 resolution @ 85HZ. New in box. $1295 or best offer, 776-5999.

SEIKO PRO ColorPoint combination wax thermal and dye-sublimation color proof printer, new in box. $3995 or best offer, 776-5999.

445

Music Instruments

TWELVE CHANNEL mixing board with case. Many features, cleaned and works great, $300. Also, Master Volume/ Reverb unit, $50. 776-7506.

WELCOME TO The Music Co.! Our business is making you sound the best you can, and leaving a little gas money in your pocket. OK, we're gonna do it, the first and only Music Co. sale! Through September, Alvarez and Fernandes guitars will be on sale at ridiculous prices! Always the best deals on the planet! The Music Co., nothing typical, no pressure. 523 S. 17th Street in Manhattan. 539-1958.

450

Pets and Supplies

FOR SALE: Two year old iguana with cage and accessories. For information call Jen at 587-9625.

GENTLE IGUANA with all accessories. Call 776-8638.

TWO WHITE kittens need a home. Ten weeks old. Please call 539-6805

460

Electronic Equipment

L.A. SOUND 150 watt amp. with built in cross-over and 15" crunch sub. Selling together. Like new $200. 556-3666 or 539-7530.

STR-DE715 SONY receiver just redone by Sony, six months old, still under warranty. $400 retail, asking $325. 587-0635.

465

Tickets to Buy/Sell

FOOTBALL TICKETS vs. Northeast Louisiana for sale! Call Mike at (612)943-8113 for details.

FOR SALE: two season football tickets. No Nebraska game. Student reserve seating. Call Lisa at 539-8949, leave message.

FOUR STUDENT reserves tickets for sale for Indiana State. Best offer takes all. 776-3007.

ONE GENERAL Admission ticket set for sale to highest bidder. Call Bill at 776-4901 and leave a message.

STUDENT G.A. season football ticket (1) for sale. Call 776-1786 for more information.

TWO KSU season football tickets for sale. Taking best offer. 539-5856.

TWO RESERVE tickets: Indiana State, Northern Illinois, Northeast Louisiana, Iowa State, Texas. Best Offer. One or all games. 539-7805.

500 TRANSPORTATION

510

Automobiles

1993 FORD Ranger XLT. Extended cab, 4.0 liter V6, five-speed, 76K miles. Excellent condition. $8700 or best offer. 537-3516.

1995 KSU purple Ford Ranger, excellent condition, CD player, 31,000 miles, 5-speed. Blue Book $12,500 asking $9500. Rochelle- 776-1453, leave message.

1995 NISSAN pick-up, blue. 54,000 miles, $7,900. Contact Augy or Kara after 5:30p.m. (785)456-2740.

MUST SELL: 1993 Mazda MX-3 GS, five-speed, $6000 or best offer. Call 587-8509, 7p.m.-9p.m.

530

Motorcycles

1978 KAWASAKI 650KZ. Runs good, $800. 776-1948.

1989 KAWASAKI EX 500 red/ black. Very good condition, $1450 or best offer. 537-2289.

1993 KAWASAKI ZX6, 4K miles, asking $2800. 539-0805.

1996 KAWASAKI ZX-11 Ninja. 14,000 miles $8000 book price, will make offer. (785) 877-2830.

1996 RED Kawasaki ZX-6R with 6600 miles and three year warranty. Mint condition with muzzie exhaust. $6500. Call Eric (785) 499-5297, (785) 499-5447 or email at eab5890@ksu.edu.

A LOT CAN BE SAID ABOUT A LITTLE BIT OF SPACE:
It works
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN
532-6555

sbarro®
CHARTWELLS
K-STATE STUDENT UNION
121 K-STATE STUDENT UNION
Across from Ramada Inn on Anderson Avenue
Apply in person only.
Join the #1 growing contract food company in America. Terrific benefits and excellent opportunity for growth. Hours are Monday through Friday, 8am-4pm, $6.50 an hour.
All successful applicants must be able to maintain a high standard of sanitation within the operation; exhibit excellent personal hygiene habits, and be reliable, efficient and punctual in their work assignments. Excellent customer service skills and effective communication skills are a must.
EOE/AA

Classified RATES

1 DAY
20 words or less
$7.15
each word over 20 $.20 per word

2 DAYS
20 words or less
$8.40
each word over 20
$.25 per word

3 DAYS
20 words or less
$9.55
each word over 20
$.30 per word

4 DAYS
20 words or less
$10.60
each word over 20 $.35 per word

5 DAYS
20 words or less
$11.55
each word over 20 $.40 per word
(consecutive day rate)

HOW TO PAY
All classifieds must be paid in advance unless you have an account with Student Publications Inc. Cash, check, MasterCard or Visa are accepted. There is a $10 service charge on all returned checks. We reserve the right to edit, reject or properly classify any ad.

FREE FOUND ADS
As a service to you, we run found ads for three days free of charge.

CORRECTIONS
If you find an error in your ad, please call us. We accept responsibility only for the first wrong insertion.

CANCELLATIONS
If you sell your item before your ad has expired, we will refund you for the remaining days. You must call us before noon the day before the ad is to be published.

HEADLINES
For an extra charge, we'll put a headline above your ad to catch the reader's attention.

000 BULLETIN BOARD
100 HOUSING/REAL ESTATE
200 SERVICE DIRECTORY
300 EMPLOYMENT/OPPORTUNITIES
400 OPEN MARKET
500 TRANSPORTATION
600 TRAVEL/TRIPS

TO PLACE AN AD
Go to Kedzie 103 (across from the K-State Student Union). Office hours are Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. The office is open except on holidays.

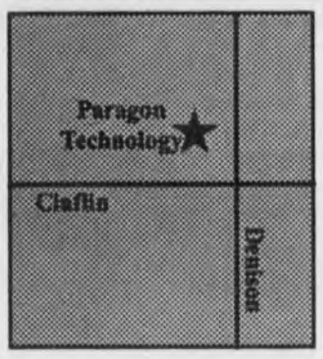
Paragon Technology Inc.

Good Luck Cats!

Athena

- Gigabyte GA6BXC Pentium II BX Chipset Motherboard
- Intel Pentium-II 400MHzOEM= (1 Year Warranty)
- High Efficient CPU FAN for Pentium II (Ball Bearing)
- 100 MHz 64MB 4x64-16 (Compatible BX ChipSet)
- Matrox Millennium G200 8MB AGP (OEM)
- QUANTUM ST6480A 6.4GB U/ATA 10ms 128k
- Creative Labs 32X IDE Internal CD-ROM Drive
- Paragon MicroScan 19P (ADI OEM) 1600x1200 75 MHz, 0.22mm
- Creative Lab Digicom 56K V90w/Voice
- Mitsumi 1.44MB Floppy
- Cambridge Sound Works SW Speakers
- Yamaha 724 Enhanced 3D PCI Card-Software Wavetable
- Logitech IntelliMouse (First Mouse+) -Combo
- Microsoft Elite Natural Keyboard
- System Assembly w/1Yr warranty
- Choice of Microsoft Windows95 or 98 Full Version (with system)
- Software Package (details included)

$1999.95



DORM RESIDENTS
Need
Network Cards
D-Link TP/BNC PCI
$23.95
ACER ALN 310 TX
$36.95

Thor

- Gigabyte GA6BXC Pentium II BX Chipset Motherboard
- Intel Pentium-II 450MHzOEM= (1 Year Warranty)
- High Efficient CPU FAN for Pentium II (Ball Bearing)
- 100 MHz 128MB 4x64-8 (Compatible BX ChipSet)
- Matrox Millennium G200 8MB AGP (OEM)
- QUANTUM ST6480A 6.4GB U/ATA 10ms 128k
- Creative Labs 32X IDE Internal CD-ROM Drive
- Paragon MicroScan 19P (ADI OEM) 1600x1200 75 MHz, 0.22mm
- Creative Lab Digicom 56K V90w/Voice
- Mitsumi 1.44MB Floppy
- Cambridge Sound Works SW Speakers
- Yamaha 724 Enhanced 3D PCI Card-Software Wavetable
- Logitech IntelliMouse (First Mouse+) -Combo
- Microsoft Elite Natural Keyboard
- System Assembly w/1Yr warranty
- Choice of Microsoft Windows95 or 98 Full Version (with system)
- Software Package (details included)

$2299.95

TURTLE BEACH
MONTEGO
is currently the best sound card on the market
game GOTTA HAVE IT!
$104.95

COLOR PRINTERS
LEXMARK 1100
$131.95
EPSON Stylus
$185.00

Hercules

- Abit LX6 (PII-ATX-440LX)
- Intel Pentium-II 266MHzOEM= (1 Year Warranty)
- High Efficient CPU FAN for Pentium II (Ball Bearing)
- SDRAM 168Pin 3.3V 10ns 32MB Unbuffered
- Matrox Millennium II 4MB AGP Upgradable
- IBM DHEA-36480 6.4GB U/AT 9.5ms 128k 5400rpm
- Teac 32X CD-ROM
- Acer ATX Mid Tower Case w/235W Power Supply
- Paragon MicroScan 15P (ADI OEM) 1024X768 85Hz, 0.24mm
- Creative Labs Digcom 56K V90 w/Voice
- Mitsumi 1.44MB Floppy
- Juster AT-95, 200 Watts
- Creative Labs Ensoniq PCI Sound Card
- LOGITECH Mouseman 3 Button - Combo
- Mitsumi 104 Key Windows Keyboard
- Lexmark 1100 Color Inkjet Printer
- System Assembly
- Choice of Microsoft Windows 95 or 98 Full Version (with system)

$1,339.95

PARAGON MONITORS
- 15" .24mm— $174.95
- 17" .22mm— $289.95
- 19" .22mm— $554.95

ATTENTION!
Architecture Students!
Pro II

- Gigabyte GA-5AX
- And K6-266
- 64MB EDO Memory
- Matrox Productiva G100 4MB AGP
- IBM 6.4
- Teac 32x CD-ROM
- Paragon Micro Scan 15" .24MM
- Creative Labs Ensong Sound Card
- Mitsumi 1.44 Floppy Drive
- Creative Labs Digicom 56k V.90w/Voice
- Lexmark 1100 Color Printer
- Juster AT-95 Speakers
- Logitech IntelliMouse
- Microsoft Windows 95 or 98 - Your Choice!
- Paragon Software Package

$1079.95

CAMBRIDGE SOUNDWORKS
SOUNDWORKS
BY HENRY KLOSS
SoundWorks®
Retail $149.99
SALE $132.95

Zeus

- Abit LX6 (PII-ATX-440LX)
- Intel Pentium-II 300MHzOEM= (1 Year Warranty)
- High Efficient CPU FAN for Pentium II (Ball Bearing)
- SDRAM 168Pin 3.3V 10ns 32MB Unbuffered
- ATI Xpert@Play 4MB SGRAM PC2TV 1600x1200 AGP
- IBM DHEA-36480 6.4GB U/AT 9.5ms 128k 5400rpm
- TEAC 32X IDE Internal CD-ROM Drive
- Acer ATX Mid Tower Case w/235W Power Supply
- Paragon MicroScan 17P+ (ADI OEM) 1280X1024, 0.22mm
- Creative Labs Digcom 56K V90 w/Voice
- SONY 1.44MB Floppy
- Benwin BW980-3Way 70W (4 pieces) Speaker System
- Sound Blaster AWE64
- LOGITECH InteliMouse (First Mouse+) - Combo
- LITE-ON SK-600 Natural Keyboard
- Lexmark 1100 Color Inkjet Printer
- System Assembly w/ 1 Yr. Warranty
- Choice of Microsoft Windows 95 or 98 Full Version (with system)

$1,849.00

Cyclops

- ABIT BX6- BX Chipset
- Intel Pentium-II 400MHzOEM= (1 Year Warranty)
- High Efficient CPU FAN for Pentium II (Ball Bearing)
- 100 MHz32MB 4x64-16 (Compatible BX ChipSet)
- DIAMOND VIPER V330 4MG AGP (OEM)
- QUANTUM ST6480A 6.4GB U/ATA 10ms 128k
- Mitsumi 32X IDE Internal CD-ROM Drive
- Paragon MicroScan 17P+(ADI OEM) 1280x1024, 0.22mm
- ACER 76C 17in, 0.27 MM
- Creative Labs Digicom 56K V90 w/Voice
- Mitsumi 1.44MB Floppy
- Benwin BW980-3Way 70W (4 pieces) Speaker System
- Sound Blaster AWE64
- LOGITECH Mouseman, Button Mice-Combo PS/2
- KEYTRONICS 3601, PS/2 104 Keyboard
- System Assembly w/ 1 Year Warranty
- Microsoft Windows 95 Version (with system)

$1,999.95

• FREE System Builds • FREE Software Package with System Build

MICROSOFT CERTIFIED IN HOUSE TECHNICIANS • Systems Components Subject To Change Due To Availability

Local Financing • 90 Days Same As Cash • 90 Days Deferred • 6 Months & 9 Months Deferred • Terms Available • System Upgrades Components Available • Zip Corporate Discount

Visit Us On our Website: http//www.paragoncomp.com

1800 Claflin, Suite 170 • First Bank Center at the Corner of Claflin & Denison,
Manhattan, Ks 66502
785-537-9999 Toll Free: 888.227.7PTI • Fax: 785-537-4141

UP CLOSE & PERSONAL

Junior Wildcats had a chance to meet K-State basketball players before Saturday's football game.

■ SEE STORY ON PAGE 3

TUESDAY
SEPTEMBER 8, 1998

KANSAS STATE UNIVERSITY, MANHATTAN, KAN.
VOLUME 103, NUMBER 11
COLLEGIAN.KSU.EDU

TODAY'S WEATHER

HIGH 81
LOW 52

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Sub. Exp. Date: 00/00
Kansas State Historical Society
Newspaper Section
PO Box 3585
Topeka KS 66601

McGwire pulls even with Maris with No. 61

St. Louis slugger's 1st-inning home run ties 37-year-old baseball record

By BEN WALKER
The Associated Press

ST. LOUIS — No. 61 flew off Mark McGwire's bat Monday, matching Roger Maris' home-run record and leaving just one question: How soon will one of baseball's most hallowed records be his alone?

History came quickly. McGwire launched Mike Morgan's pitch 430 feet to left field in the first inning, tying the mark that has stood for 37 years.

The St. Louis Cardinal immediately threw his hands in the air and then, with a fist thrust high, began his triumphant trip around the bases.

Big Mac got a high five from Chicago Cubs first baseman Mark Grace as he rounded the bag and got another high five from former St. Louis teammate Gary Gaetti as he approached third.

The 50,530 roaring fans at Busch Stadium stood all the while, except for those in the midst of a wild scramble for the ball.

Chicago's Sammy Sosa, whose 58 home runs have pushed McGwire down the stretch, joined the celebration by applauding his rival from right field.

McGwire's 10-year-old batboy son, Matt, was waiting at home plate where the Cardinals slugger ended his trek with a two-footed hop. McGwire hoisted his boy in a big hug, while groundskeepers rushed onto the field to replace the bases — no doubt headed to the Hall of Fame.

The Cardinals spilled out of the dugout to mob McGwire, and it took him a few moments to make it to the bench.

He didn't stay there long, however, springing back out to salute Sosa and the Maris family, watching from seats on the first-base side.

In a touching tribute to the man he matched, McGwire pointed his right index finger to the sky, tapping his heart three times and blowing a kiss.

"He tapped his heart, like Dad was in his heart," said Kevin Maris, a son of the former New York Yankees slugger.

McGwire homered in the Cardinals' 144th game and now has 19 left to become the home-run champion. When he does, certainly no asterisk will be needed.

Maris hit No. 61 on the last day of a 162-game schedule in 1961. Toward the end of that season, Commissioner Ford Frick said any record would have to carry a "distinctive mark" if it did not beat Babe Ruth's mark of 60 in 154 games.

In all, McGwire has homered 15 times in the last 20 days.

McGwire finished 2-for-4, adding a later single. Sosa went 1-for-5 with a single.

The landmark shot provided a nice present to McGwire's father, John. He was sitting in the stands celebrating his birthday — his 61st, naturally.

It also made it a nice day for Mike Davidson, a 28-year-old fan from St. Louis who wound up with the historic souvenir ball, which he said he planned to give to McGwire.

The Cardinals won 3-2.

The two teams play again Tuesday night, giving McGwire and Sosa another chance to highlight the greatest homer chase ever, topping even the race between Maris and Mickey Mantle in 1961.

McGwire and Sosa, who have become friends throughout their friendly rivalry, spent the early part of the morning holding a news conference together. Sitting bicep to bicep, they took turns praising each other.

"Wouldn't it be great if we just ended up tied?" McGwire said. "I think it would be beautiful."

Mann, Macklin set goals for school year

By JAIMIE HARTTER
Kansas State Collegian

After two years of learning the ropes as a student senator, Student Body President Tracey Mann is ready for the upcoming school year.

One of Mann's priorities is to approve a set of goals for his term. This will be the first time a student body president has set approved goals for a term.

"It will be a focus for us, and it will also let the students know what we are focusing on," Mann said.

Mann is the chair of the Student Advisory Committee, made up of the student body presidents from schools within the Kansas Board of Regents system. He said he will try to increase the money K-State receives from the Kansas Legislature to help pay for periodicals at Hale Library. If students had to pay for the periodicals, a dangerous precedent would be set, he said.

MANN

MACKLIN

"It's not a privilege for students to have a good library. It's a right," he said.

Mann also said he wants to improve academic advising. He is working on an advisee handbook so students know what is expected of them before talking to their advisers.

"The adviser can only know so much," Mann said.

Fall break, an issue that failed to pass the approval process for this year, is also something Mann said he wants to see put into effect for the next school year. The break would occur near the middle of October and consist of a one- or two-day break before a weekend.

■ OUR OPINION
The Collegian editorial board wonders if Tracey Mann will be able to accomplish all his goals in just one year.
See Page 4.

"I think it's really hard on students who live in western Kansas or those who live out-of-state during that long period from after Labor Day weekend to Thanksgiving," he said.

"I don't think we can move up Thanksgiving, so a good alternative would be a break during that stretch. Plus, I think it would also benefit the faculty as well as students, because students would come back refreshed and ready to learn."

Mann also spoke about having a round-table discussion with presidents of multicultural groups to allow student leaders and groups to discuss the needs of both the general student body and specific student groups.

"I want to put an emphasis on diversity, because that is one of the reasons I came to K-State. I wanted to experience something different than myself," Mann said.

Mann took an opportunity to expand his horizons on a trip to Israel this summer. Mann traveled with 11 other student body presidents. He found that some college issues go across cultural boundaries.

"Voter apathy and parking are international issues," he said.

2nd recorder might reveal details of Swissair crash

By DAVID CRARY
The Associated Press

HALIFAX, Nova Scotia — The flight-data recorder recovered by divers near the wreckage of Swissair Flight 111 contains no information from the final crucial minutes before the plane crashed, investigators said Monday.

The setback offset good news from the search operation: a Canadian navy submarine has detected a signal from the plane's other "black box" — the cockpit-voice recorder.

The chief crash investigator, Vic Gerden, said the flight-data recorder retrieved Sunday was in good condition and should provide more than 100 types of information, ranging from altitude and airspeed to whether the plane's smoke warning lights were on.

He said there was no data from at least the last six minutes before the MD-11 jumbo jet plunged into the ocean off Nova Scotia on Wednesday night, killing all 229 people aboard.

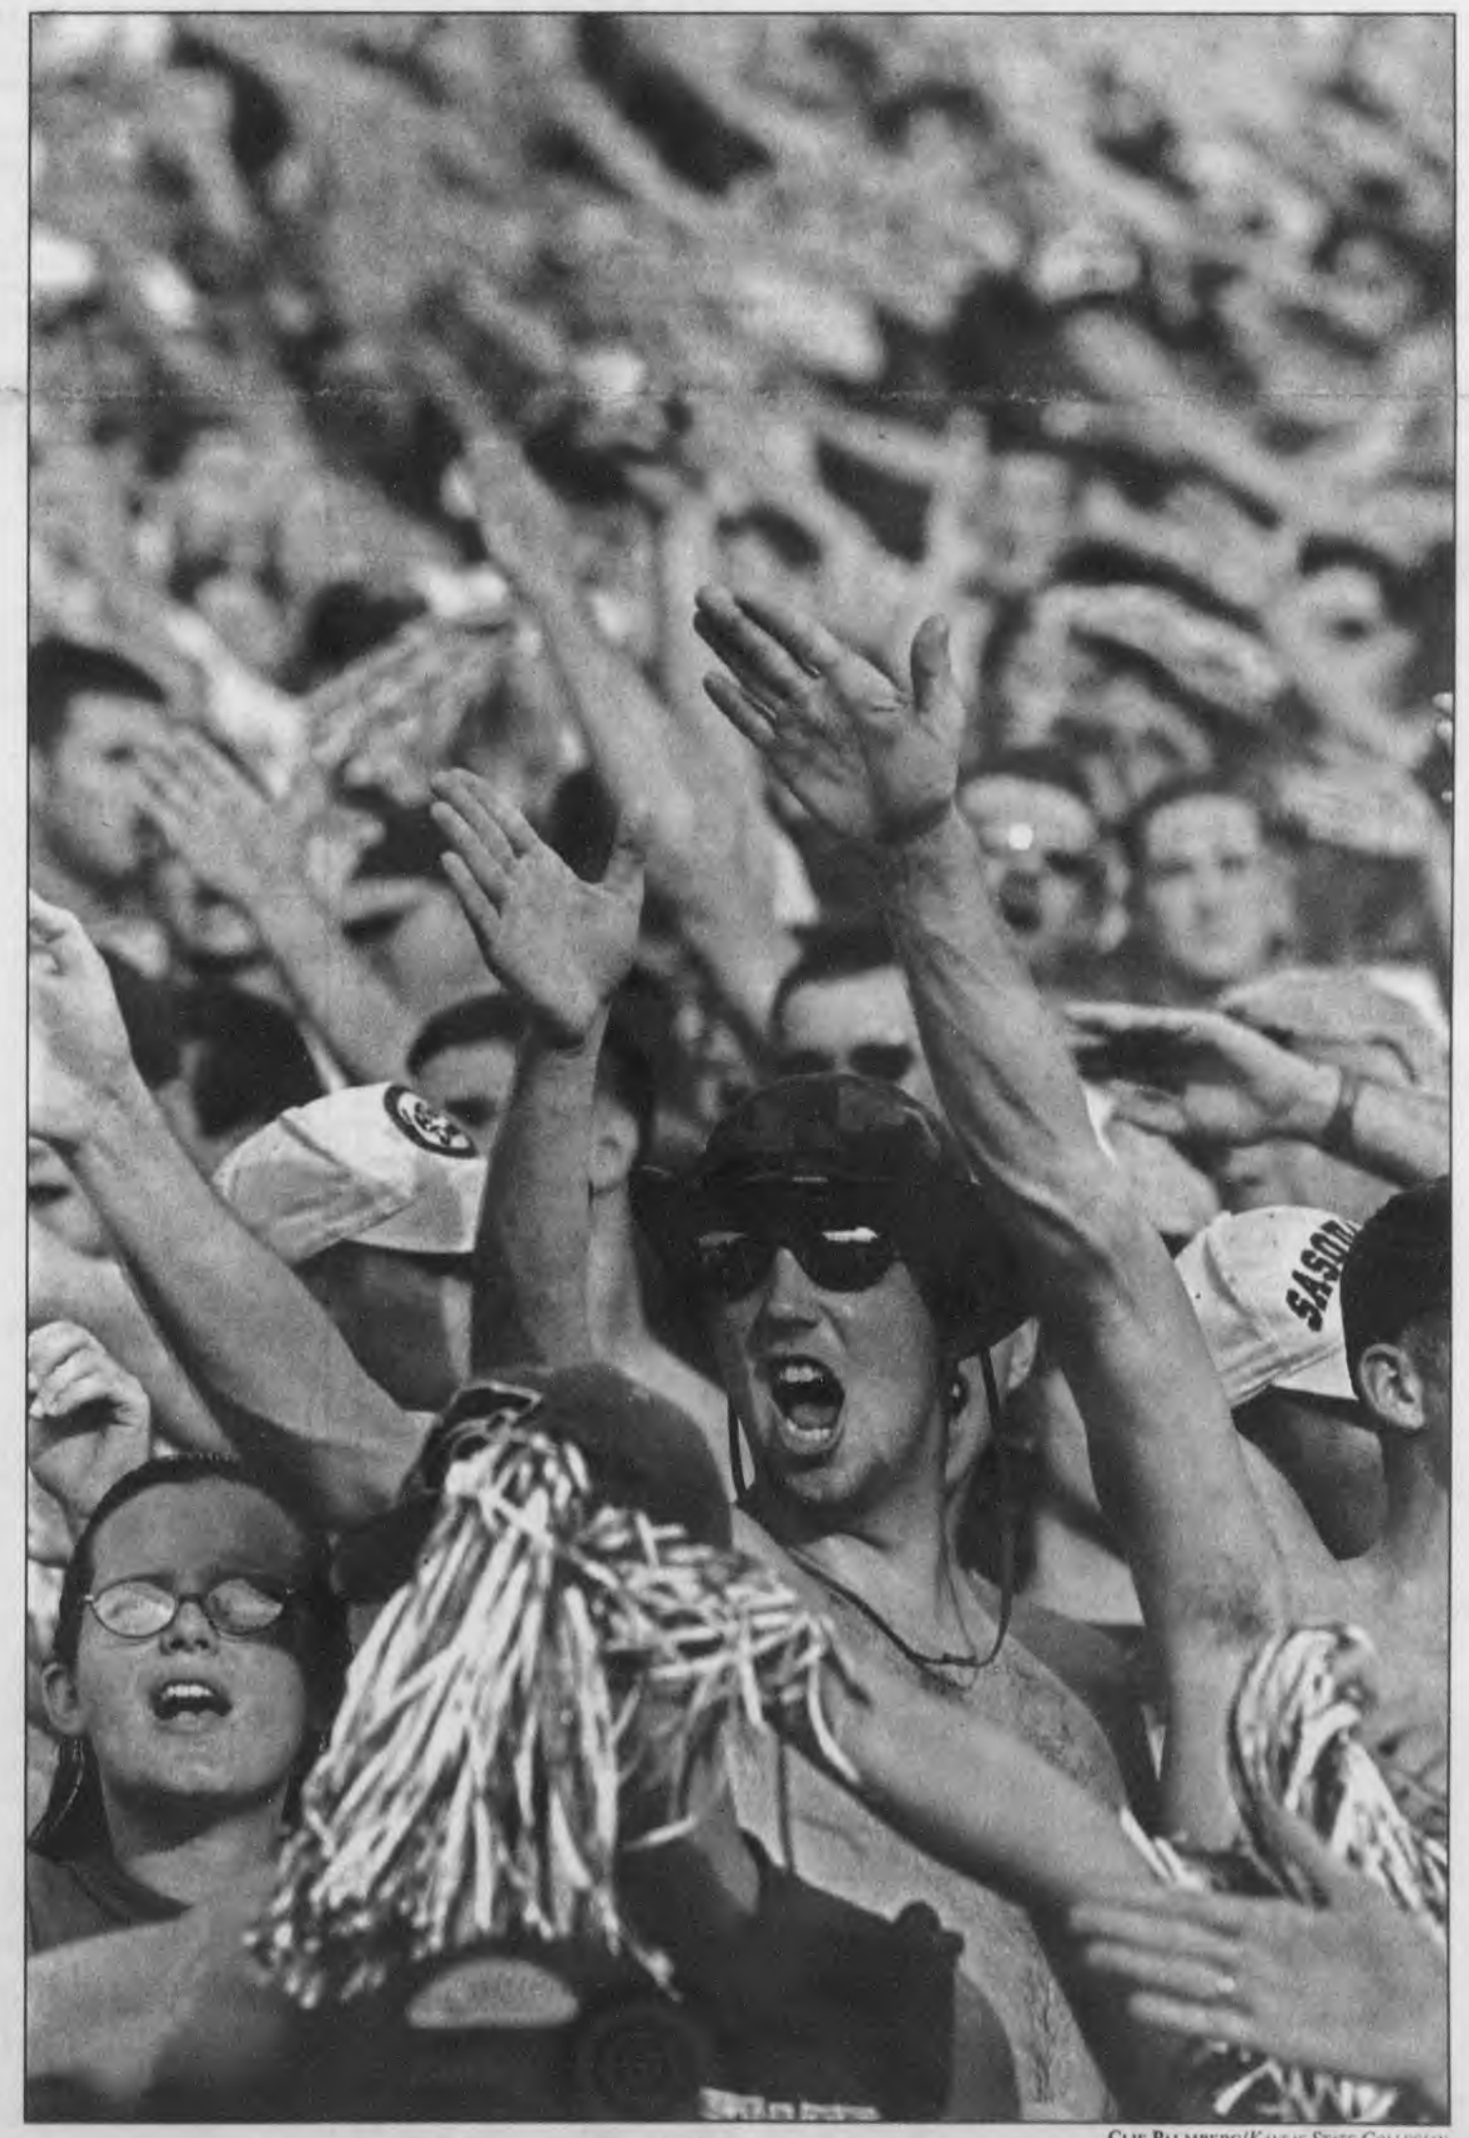
Gerden said the data recording stopped once the plane dipped below 10,000 feet. A strong possibility, he said, was that at that stage the plane lost electrical power.

Also Monday, Navy officers revealed dramatic details about Sunday's retrieval of the data recorder. Capt. Phil Webster said one of the two divers developed a leak in his suit, and the pair had to make an ascent — clutching the black box — much more rapidly than normal.

One of the divers became ill from the rapid change in pressure. Both were put in a decompression chamber, then taken to a hospital.

Both are recovering at home, Webster said.

Meanwhile, the plane's manufacturer said much of the electrical wiring aboard the plane was insulated with aromatic polyimide tape, known by the trade name Kapton, which has been banned from use in U.S. Navy planes.



Boeing Co. spokeswoman Susan Bradley said all the general-purpose wiring aboard the plane was insulated with Kapton.

The U.S. Navy banned Kapton from its aircraft because of poor performance, Air Safety Week, an industry newsletter, reported Monday.

At the crash site five miles offshore, divers equipped with hand-held sonar searched 190 feet underwater Monday for the cockpit-voice recorder.

If retrieved intact, the voice recorder would reveal other noises in the cockpit besides the pilots' conversation with controllers, portions of which were released Saturday.

GOOD FOR A WILDCAT...

CLIF PALMBERG/Kansas State Collegian

Fans in the student section of KSU Stadium signal a K-State first down Saturday evening in the first quarter against Indiana State. FOR COMPLETE COVERAGE OF K-STATE'S 66-0 VICTORY, SEE SPORTS ON PAGE 6.

CALENDAR DEADLINES

To place an item in the Calendar, stop by Kedzie 116 and fill out a form or e-mail it to bulletins@spub.ksu.edu by 11 a.m. two days before it is to run.

NEWS DIGEST

CALENDAR

Calendar is the Collegian's campus bulletin board service. Items in the calendar can be published up to three times. Items might not appear because of space constraints but are guaranteed to appear on the day of the activity.

■ Silver Key Sophomore Honorary will meet at 8:30 tonight in Union 213.

■ Golden Key National Honor Society will have an executive meeting at 8 tonight. Members should check their e-mail for the location.

■ Hispanic American Leadership Organization will meet at 6:30 tonight in Hale Library Tower Room 3.

■ Alpha Epsilon Delta will have a watermelon feed at 6:30 tonight on the east lawn of Ackert Hall.

■ K-State College Republicans will meet at 7:30 tonight in Union 207. The meeting will focus on campaign issues; business-casual attire is requested.

■ K-State Future Female Executives will have an informational meeting at 4:30 today in Calvin 18.

■ Lutheran Campus Ministry will have a supper at 6 tonight at the Baptist Campus Center, 1801 Anderson Ave.

■ Collegiate Agri-Women will meet at 6:30 tonight in Waters 137.

■ Women's Awareness and Action in Manhattan will have an organizational meeting at 5:30 today in Denison 215.

■ Career and Employment Services will have a résumé-building workshop at 5 today in Union 212.

POLICE REPORTS

Reports are taken directly from the K-State and Riley County police departments' daily logs. We do not list wheel locks or minor traffic violations because of space constraints.

K-STATE POLICE
THURSDAY, SEPT. 3

■ No reports of note were made.

FRIDAY, SEPT. 4

■ No reports of note were made.

Reports from Saturday and Sunday were not available at press time.

RILEY COUNTY POLICE
THURSDAY, SEPT. 3

■ At 1:22 a.m., Jeffrey Bell, Moore 530, was issued a notice to appear for minor in possession of alcohol.

■ At 2:40 a.m., Stephen B. Nichepor, 1520 Oxford Place, was issued a notice to appear for urinating in public.

■ At 2:46 a.m., Hendley Howard, 815 Thurston St., was arrested for DUI.

■ At 7:55 a.m., Lance W. Caruthers was arrested for failure to appear.

■ At 3:47 p.m., Jeremy Berger, 2203 Prairie Glen Place, was arrested on a Riley County warrant for indirect civil contempt. He was released on $300 bond.

■ At 9:15 p.m., Michael D. Mellon, 411 Oak St., was arrested for aggravated sexual battery. Bond was set at $5,000.

FRIDAY, SEPT. 4

■ At 12:14 a.m., Lana Ramsey, 501 Houston St., was arrested for domestic battery.

■ At 1:46 a.m., Gabriel Higgins, Mariane, Kan., was arrested for DUI. Bond was set at $500.

■ At 2:44 a.m., Molly Shane, 1420 Hartman Place, was arrested for DUI. Bond was set at $500.

■ At 6:47 a.m., Kenton Dean, 145 N. Dartmouth Drive, was arrested for DUI. Bond was set at $500.

■ At 8:34 a.m., Larry Leuthold, 2722 Brockman St., reported the theft of a Chevrolet Blazer. Loss was $6,000.

■ At 10:07 a.m., Tyson Schweiger, 1430 Watson Place, was arrested on a Riley County warrant for probation violation and failure to appear. Bond was set at $2,000.

■ At 1:14 p.m., Andrew D. Nelson was arrested on a Riley County warrant. Bond was set at $3,000.

■ At 5 p.m., Randy Shaffer Jr. was arrested on a Pottawatomie County warrant. Bond was set at $42.50.

■ At 9:45 p.m., Maurice Neal, Riley, Kan., was arrested for battery.

SATURDAY, SEPT. 5

■ At 12:32 a.m., Rodney Pratt, 1935 Crescent Dr., was arrested for a DUI.

■ At 2:05 a.m., David A. Jackson, 2319 Cheryl Terrace, was arrested for DUI. Bond was set at $500.

■ At 2:14 a.m., Len Melvin, 300 W. 12th St., was issued a notice to appear for criminal trespass.

■ At 3:58 p.m., Hudson Berry Jr., 8 Redbud Estates, was arrested for driving on a revoked license. Bond was set at $1,000.

■ At 9:08 a.m., Thomas D. O'Brien, 2125 Patricia Place, was arrested on a Riley County warrant for a worthless check. Bond was set at $150.

■ At 8:31 p.m., Jeffrey Kuck, 1113 Pomeroy St., was arrested for writing worthless checks. Bond was $150.

SUNDAY, SEPT. 6

■ At 1:56 a.m., John W. Hurt, no address given, was arrested for DUI.

■ At 2:04 a.m., Clyde Jones Jr., no address given, was arrested for DUI

■ At 3:03 p.m., Steven Fracisco, Topeka, was arrested on a Riley County warrant for driving on a suspended driver's license and minor in possession.

■ At 10:53 p.m., Rochelle Chatfield, 500 S. Manhattan Ave., was arrested for criminal trespass and theft. Bond was set at $500.

■ At 11:48 p.m., Brian S. Leitschuh was issued a notice to appear for furnishing intoxicants to a minor.

■ At 11:51 p.m., Adam R. Silva, Alma, Kan., was arrested for criminal damage to property. Bond was set at $500.

DAILY REWIND

The Daily Rewind collects the top local, state, national and world news from the past 24 hours. Briefs are compiled from wire and staff reports.

Baptist leader admits improper relationship

KANSAS CITY, Mo. — The president of the National Baptist Convention USA, charged with misusing millions of dollars of convention funds, admitted Monday to an improper relationship with the convention's director of meetings.

The Rev. Henry J. Lyons was flanked by dozens of supporters at a hotel news conference starting off the convention's annual meeting. He declined to comment on the relationship or his multicount federal indictment, saying he was under a "strict gag order."

The Rev. E.V. Hill, a convention board member, said Lyons and Brenda Harris came before the board and admitted to an improper relationship. Both Lyons and Harris apologized and asked for forgiveness, Hill said.

Harris also apologized to Lyons' wife, Deborah.

"The board's decision at this time is to forgive Dr. Lyons and Ms. Harris," Hill said.

Lyons said he will seek re-election.

Lyons, Harris and Bernice Edwards, former convention public relations director, were indicted in July with money laundering, wire and bank fraud and with extorting money from corporations that thought they were doing business with the convention.

Clinton lawyer wants first glance at report

WASHINGTON, D.C. — President Clinton's lawyers Monday asked that they be provided an advance copy of any report to Congress from Independent Counsel Kenneth Starr on the president's affair with Monica Lewinsky so they could craft a written reply that would accompany the document.

Some of the president's political advisers have argued for weeks that Clinton's legal team should prepare a separate report countering the special prosecutor's report with evidence prepared by the defense team.

David Kendall, the president's personal lawyer, made the request for an advance copy of the independent counsel's report in a letter to Starr, to ensure "elemental fairness" to the president.

A final report by Starr on his investigation into Clinton's relationship with Lewinsky, the former White house intern, and possible obstruction of justice, perjury and abuse of power could go to Congress as early as this month.

"Elemental fairness dictates that we be allowed to respond to any 'report' you send to the House simultaneously with its transmission," Kendall wrote.

Officials in Starr's office could not be reached immediately for comment late Monday.

Kendall asked that the president's legal team as well as White House lawyers be allowed to review a draft of Starr's report and be given a week "to submit a written reply" that would be submitted to the special appeals court panel overseeing the special prosecutor, and then to Congress for possible impeachment proceedings.

IRA dissidents call 'complete' cease-fire

DUBLIN, Ireland — The Irish Republican Army dissidents responsible for Northern Ireland's worst-ever terrorist atrocity called a "complete" cease-fire Tuesday but didn't apologize for their actions.

The splinter group, dubbed the Real IRA by journalists and unwilling to accept the IRA's July 1997 cease-fire, committed the Aug. 15 car bombing that killed 28 civilians and wounded more than 330 in the Northern Ireland town of Omagh. A 29th victim died of his wounds and was buried Monday.

The dissidents on Aug. 19 declared a "suspension" of what it called their "military operations," a step short of Tuesday's decision to call a formal cease-fire.

In a statement issued to the Irish state broadcasters RTE, the dissidents — calling themselves simply IRA or its traditional Gaelic sister label, or "Soldiers of Ireland" — said they had decided on "a complete cessation of all military activity."

This brings the group into line with the mainstream IRA and several other paramilitary groups that already have called cease-fires.

Russian parliament rejects prime minister

MOSCOW — Lawmakers rejected Boris Yeltsin's candidate for prime minister on Monday for a second time, throwing Russia into even deeper political turmoil as the economy hurtles out of control.

In other blows to Yeltsin on Monday, the ruble crashed again dramatically and the Central Bank chairman offered to quit. Some Russians flocked to stores to buy goods before prices shoot up any higher.

"The economic crisis is gaining momentum with catastrophic speed," acting Prime Minister Viktor Chernomyrdin warned the State Duma, the lower house of parliament, before it torpedoed his nomination 273-138.

"We are all standing on the edge and no time is left for settling scores," he said. "We must begin acting."

The vote sets the stage for a final confrontation between the president and his opponents. Yeltsin must decide whether to nominate Chernomyrdin again or find another candidate. If the Duma rejects Yeltsin's choice a third time, the constitution requires the president to dissolve parliament and call new elections within three months.

Russia has been operating with an interim government for two weeks, since Yeltsin brought Chernomyrdin back after firing him in March. Chernomyrdin's efforts to win confirmation by parliament have left him little time to devote to the worst economic crisis since the collapse of the Soviet Union.

WEATHER

HIGH 81

LOW 52

Finally! Cooler and less humid today, with a clear night in the forecast. This week — continued highs in the low- to mid-80s with no chance for rain.

CONTACT US

■ NEWSROOM 532-6556
■ ADVERTISING 532-6560
■ CLASSIFIEDS 532-6555

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN
KEDZIE 116
KANSAS STATE UNIVERSITY
MANHATTAN, KS 66506

The Kansas State Collegian (USPS 291 020), a student newspaper at Kansas State University, is published by Student Publications Inc., Kedzie 103, Manhattan, Kan. 66506. The Collegian is published weekdays during the school year and twice a week through the summer. Periodical postage is paid at Manhattan, Kan. 66502. POSTMASTER: Send address changes to Kansas State Collegian, circulation desk, Kedzie 103, Manhattan, Kan. 66506-7167.

© KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN, 1998

We've lowered the price of higher learning.

PENTIUM II SPECIAL
(all new equipment)
Pentium II 266
Loaded with
32 Meg. RAM
32X CD ROM
3.2 Gig Hard drive
56K Modem
Windows 98
14" SVGA Monitor
Color Printer
200 software programs
Lots of extras
$999.99

BACK TO SCHOOL SPECIAL
(refurbished equipment)
Various Configurations
Pentium computer
Color monitor
Color inkjet printer
Windows 95
200 Software Programs
$549.99

RESIDENCE HALL SPECIAL
3 com network card
25 ft. 10 BT cable
Cat pack disks
$49.99
(1 per student)

How to Get There

YOU'RE GONNA LOVE IT
You walk into Computer Renaissance. It's clean, bright and well organized. The people who work there really know their computers. This is no garage sale. You're glad because you're not here to buy a used shower curtain.

Computer RENAISSANCE
(Near the corner of 4th and Fort Riley)
315 Fort Riley Blvd. 785-537-4413
We buy, sell trade used and new computer equipment

WE KNOW where YOU LIVE
the 1999 royal purple yearbook — housing portrait picture schedule —
— we will be shooting on location at fraternities, sororities and residence halls —

Acacia House	Sept. 30	Moore Hall	Sept.8
Alpha Chi Omega	Sept. 8	Miscellaneous Greeks	Sept. 14
Alpha of Clovia	Sept. 23	Off Campus	Sept. 15-18
Alpha Delta Pi	Sept. 14		10-7pm, Union Alcove
Alpha Gamma Rho	Sept. 29	Phi Delta Theta	Oct. 14
Alpha Tau Omega	Sept. 28	Phi Gamma Delta	Sept. 29
Alpha Xi Delta	Sept. 15	Phi Kappa Theta	Oct. 9
Beta Sigma Psi	Oct. 2	Pi Beta Phi	Sept. 10
Beta Theta Pi	Oct. 5	Pi Kappa Alpha	Oct. 1
Boyd Hall	Sept. 21-22	Pi Kappa Phi	Oct. 13
Chi Omega	Sept. 21	Putnam Hall	Sept. 21-22
Delta Chi	Oct. 12	Salina Campus	Sept. 23
Delta Delta Delta	Sept. 18	Sigma Alpha Epsilon	Oct. 6
Delta Sigma Phi	Oct. 12	Sigma Chi	Oct. 2
Delta Tau Delta	Oct. 5	Sigma Kappa	Sept. 24
Delta Upsilon	Oct. 7	Sigma Nu	Oct. 8
Durland Hall (OFF CAMPUS)	Oct. 15	Sigma Phi Epsilon	Oct. 1
FarmHouse	Sept. 28	Sigma Sigma Sigma	Sept. 25
Ford Hall	Sept. 11	Smith House	Sept. 30
Gamma Phi Beta	Sept. 11	Smurthwaite	Sept. 16
Goodnow Hall	Sept. 25	Tau Kappa Epsilon	Oct. 6
Haymaker Hall	Sept. 9	Theta Xi	Oct. 9
Jaradine Clubhouse	Oct. 16	Van Zile Hall	Sept. 21-22
Kappa Alpha Theta	Sept. 22	Vet Med (OFF CAMPUS)	Oct. 7
Kappa Kappa Gamma	Sept. 17	Weber Hall (OFF CAMPUS)	Oct. 14
Kappa Sigma	Oct. 8	West Hall	Sept. 10
Lambda Chi Alpha	Oct. 13	Organizations	Oct. 19-22
Marlatt Hall	Sept. 24		6-10 pm, McCain 3rd floor

SEPT. 8 — 11am-7pm —
✓Moore Hall
✓Alpha Chi Omega
TODAY!!

SEPT. 9 — 11am-7pm —
○ Haymaker

SEPT. 10 — 11am-7pm —
○ West Hall
○ Pi Beta Phi

SEPT. 11 — 11am-7pm —
○ Ford Hall
○ Gamma Phi Beta

future WILDCATS

Junior Wildcat Club draws 600 people to Bramlage Coliseum

Clif Palmberg/Kansas State Collegian

Nick Allen, 5, of Wichita, hides under a table while K-State basketball player Manny Dies signs an autograph for him Saturday afternoon in Bramlage Coliseum. Children filled Bramlage before the football game to get autographs from the men's and women's basketball teams as part of Junior Wildcat Day.

By MIKE WATSON
Kansas State Collegian

Future Wildcats ages 4 to 12 crowded Bramlage Coliseum on Saturday to get involved in Wildcat athletics through the Junior Wildcat Club.

The event, sponsored by the KSU Alumni Association and Wildcat Sports Network, kicked off another year for the club. Founded in 1989 by former K-State sports broadcaster Mitch Holthus, the club drew 600 fans to Bramlage before the kickoff of K-State's football game against Indiana State.

"We have a whole bunch of kids from around the state," said Heather Lansdowne, assistant director of alumni programs. "They are the greatest fans."

Each Junior Wildcat received a T-shirt, a membership certificate signed by K-State football broadcaster Greg Sharpe and autographs from K-State basketball players.

An estimated 200 Junior Wildcats rushed the signing tables to get the signatures of basketball team members. Men's team member Chris Griffin said signing autographs never stops.

"You really don't keep up with how many autographs you give," Griffin said. "I'm a people person and I like doing things with the kids. I consider myself a big kid."

The annual event gives club members a chance to get multiple autographs from the players.

"Almost every single K-State shirt I have has at least one autograph on it," said 10-year-old Will Mauck, a five-year member from Wichita.

Men's basketball player Joe Leonard said players have to earn respect from their fans to keep the tradition of winning K-State athletics and solid academics alive.

Women's team member Morgen Finneran said the autograph session inspires players to do well on the court because fans are what the game is all about.

"When we first came out last year ,I was impressed," Finneran said. "It makes you want to do well for them because they not only follow you on the floor, but want to get to know you as a person."

The Junior Wildcat program is supported by alumni and K-State fans. Lisa and Steve Field, of Wichita, brought five children to Saturday's event and said they follow Wildcat athletics at home and away.

"We just want the kids to get involved and get into the spirit," Lisa Field said.

"We've been to every bowl game and that's a lot of fun."

Richard and Patricia Oates, of Topeka, have brought their 12-year-old son Cody to the event for the past four years.

"He enjoys the atmosphere and is excited about meeting the players," Richard Oates said.

"It's a good program. I like the way it's run. We're going to continue with the program until Cody gets too old for it."

Event organizers said the Junior Wildcat Club gets children interested in K-State at an early age.

"It's a great time to expose the kids to KSU so that when they're thinking about college, they'll think K-State," Sharpe said.

"THEY ARE THE GREATEST FANS."
– Heather Lansdowne, assistant director of alumni programs

NO BULL!

-BOTH PRICES INCLUDE-
-ANY FRAME IN STOCK WITH LENSES*!
-OVER 2,000 FRAMES ON DISPLAY!
ALWAYS THE BEST SELECTION
*For Rx limitations see our Optician or read our brochure.

PAYLESS OPTICAL
QUALITY EYEWEAR AT AFORDABLE PRICES
1316 WEST LOOP • MANHATTAN • 785-537-1574
BRING IN THIS AD FOR A GIFT WITH YOUR PURCHASE!

clip here & SAVE!

HUNAM Restaurant
1304 Westloop
539-8888 • 539-0888
One coupon per person
$1.50 off
Mon.-Thurs. Only Evening Buffet 5-8:30 p.m.
Free Delivery (minimum $9 purchase)

LULAS OUT OF BOUNDS SPORTS BAR & GRILL
537-4045 • 1129 Laramie
Bring in this coupon
Buy a sandwich or appetizer get the 2nd one 1/2 price
Not valid with any other offers

LUNCH BUFFET
Featuring enchiladas, tacos, tostadas, and much more including desserts
Mon.-Fri. 11-2 p.m.
Only $3.99
Reg. $4.95 Save $$
present coupon prior to ordering • one coupon per person please
Raoul's Escondido Mexican Restaurant
215 Seth Child Rd. Across from Seth Child Cinema
Manhattan 539-3410 exp. 10/30/98

MANHATTAN SHOE REPAIR
216 S. 4TH ◆ 776-1193
REPAIRING
Shoes ◆ Boots ◆ Purses
Backpacks ◆ Leather Coats
Luggage ◆ Leathercraft ◆ Dyeing Satin
10% DISCOUNT ON ANY PURCHASE WITH COUPON
expires 11/30/98
OPEN 8-5:30 Mon-Fri; 8-1:00 Sat

BACK TO SCHOOL SPECIAL!!
FINANCE A USED CAR AT NEW CAR RATES
1994 Thru 1998
24 Months 6.90% APR
36 Months 7.49% APR
48 Months 7.90% APR
60 Months 8.25% APR
UP TO 100% FINANCING AVAILABLE
SUBJECT TO NORMAL CREDIT POLICIES
NEW LOANS ONLY
DISCOUNTS AVAILABLE
NO ORIGINATION FEES
K-STATE Federal CREDIT UNION
1455 Anderson Ave Manhattan, KS 66502
2700 Anderson Ave Manhattan, KS 66502
785-776-3003
Visit our Web Site ksu.edu/creditunion

VOLUNTEERS NEEDED
CALL 395-SAFE
OR reach us via e-mail at wildcatwalk@ksu.edu
Hey! Do you like to help others? Do you need a Community Service Project? We can help! Volunteer to be an escort for Wildcat Walk. No minimum hours, great shifts, computer access plus study time when not on call, and flexible scheduling.
http://www.ksu.edu/wildcatwalk
Wildcat Walk

OUR VIEW

Mann's plans difficult to accomplish in 1 year

Student Body President Tracey Mann recently has made clear some of his priorities and aspirations for the coming year.

Mann plans to attack the Hale Library funding issue, a matter widely discussed last year but one that remains unresolved. He plans to use the Student Advisory Committee, a group made up of the student body presidents from each of the six Kansas Board of Regents schools, to petition the Kansas Legislature for more money.

Originally, the plan for the library had been to match student fees to legislative and administrative contributions. There was some discussion, however, over who should make the first offer of funds — the state or the students. Mann was in support of a student fee until it came to a vote in Student Senate during the week before elections last year.

Mann also wants to give the student body a fall break to cut the routine between Labor Day weekend and Thanksgiving break. The issue failed to be approved last year and already has been rejected this year by Faculty Senate. If fall break is to be implemented, it will require more work.

Although Mann has not yet finalized his goals, he has made his intentions public. Much of what Mann suggests appears to be highly ambitious, and, despite his prior experience in student government, it is apparent he will not be able to see all of his goals to fruition by the end of his term.

That isn't to say Mann's cause is not a worthy effort, nor is it to say what he does will be in vain. Rather, it is clear the issues Mann has decided to tackle need to be addressed, and, because of their scope, require the support of the student body to be successful.

EDITORIAL BOARD

EDITOR IN CHIEF
JILL JARSULIC

MANAGING EDITOR/ PRESENTATION
TODD STEWART

NEWS EDITOR
TRAVIS D. LENKNER

PHOTO EDITOR
STEVE HEBERT

CAMPUS EDITOR
KELLEE MILLER

CITY/GOVERNMENT EDITOR
MATT KREPS

SPORTS EDITOR
JEREMY KELLEY

ARTS & ENTERTAINMENT EDITOR
DIANA LEE

OPINION EDITOR
JON KURCHE

COPY CHIEF
JANET COOK

eCOLLEGIAN EDITOR
R.J. DIEPENBROCK

SPECIAL PROJECTS EDITOR
ANGELA KISTNER

OUR VIEW, an editorial selected and debated by the editorial board, is written after a majority opinion is formed. The editorial board consists of Collegian editors and other staff members. OUR VIEW is the Collegian's official opinion.

READERS WRITE

Traffic circles ineffective, provide little traffic control

Editor,

I am glad the traffic circle in John Tatarko's neighborhood is effective. I live one house down from the Eighth and Moro streets traffic circle, and I can tell you it is an ugly and ineffective means of traffic control.

No matter what City Manager Gary Greer likes to believe, the truth is the Eighth and Moro traffic circle is not "reducing accidents." In fact, the number of single-car accidents has increased substantially. Because drivers aren't calling the police department to admit they just ran over the traffic-circle sign, Greer thinks there are no accidents.

We expect to see stop signs and yield signs for instructions while driving down streets. I refuse to believe traffic circles work where stop and yield signs do not, but we'll never know this because none of the intersections that have traffic circles ever were tested first with a stop or yield sign.

If you think traffic circles are terrific, I wish you could spend one night in a home in the vicinity of Eighth and Moro. Then, you would get to hear the slamming of brakes mixed with an occasional thud and breaking glass. Incidentally, the vast majority of people who keep running into the traffic circle are not drunk, and not all are speeding.

A few weeks before this semester started, a sober 19-year-old on a motorcycle ran into the traffic circle at around 10 p.m. The impact threw him and his motorcycle into a tree. We — that's me and the 10 other neighbors who heard the crash — found him in the ditch, barely alive. It's too bad Gary Greer didn't get to frantically chant "Stay with us!" "Come on, breathe!" "Hang in there!" with us while we watched his face swell up to unimaginable proportions. I wonder if he would have enjoyed watching the blood pool from this guy's head while waiting for the ambulance. I will agree this driver was speeding, but I don't think he deserved brain damage as punishment. Who knows? Maybe he would have seen a stop sign.

I find it funny Greer would think we are on the "cutting edge of technology" when most cities are removing their circles for the reasons I just described. Many complaints are documented about the serious dangers of this particular traffic circle, so the city of Manhattan, in my opinion, is liable for the serious illness or death of the next innocent driver who, didn't see the circle at Eighth and Moro or other dangerous circles such as at 10th and Vattier streets. I, and many others, are ready to testify.

This past weekend, I moved to a different part of town. As much as I'll miss the neighborhood, I won't miss that hideous traffic circle. I look forward to not cringing every time I hear a driver put on brakes outside my door. Presently, every time I hear a motorcycle go down the street, my heart races as I wonder if the driver sees the oncoming circle. In time, this will pass. But it will be a long time before I stop thinking about how our city's leadership doesn't know how to spend our money wisely.

— D.L. Taylor
Manhattan resident

AARON FRUEHLING

i wanna be president when i grow up. you can do whatever you want! i mean, the president gets stuff on that lady's dress, and my mom & dad yell at him when he's on tv, an' he gets to take a VACATION!

A QUESTION TO ASK YOURSELF

Homophobia can rear its ugly head even at K-State

MARY VANLEEUWEN

We all know life isn't easy.

Most of us accept it shouldn't be. Life is all about change and evolution, it makes sense we should learn to take it in stride and not shelter ourselves from new ideas and concepts. We don't have to incorporate these ideas and concepts into our lifestyles, but shouldn't we at least allow them to be spoken and give them a little thought?

Upon saying this, I'd like to share with you some of my well-thought-out ideas in hopes that you'll give them a bit of thought.

You don't have to like them. Just think about it.

Last semester, a Bisexual, Gay and Lesbian Society panel member, who I had the opportunity to meet during an Introduction to Human Development recitation, said something to my class that chilled me. I've been thinking about what he said ever since, and now I'd like to share it with you. He said, "I'm not comfortable holding hands with my boyfriend when we walk through Aggieville. I'm always scared that people will come after us with bats."

It was like his honesty personally accosted me, the university I attend and the town I've grown to love. My first response was denial — "No, Manhattan isn't like that," then recognition — "Well, this is a pretty conservative community and I do hear a lot of gay bashing," and finally acceptance — "Hello, my name is Mary, and Manhattan is predominantly homophobic."

After that class, I began to question things. I questioned the people around here who don't believe that everyone deserves happiness — the homophobes.

Are you one of those who think attraction to the same sex goes against nature? Are you saying recent studies are flawed when they show homosexuality might be genetic? Gays, lesbians and bisexuals can't deny their sexuality just like I can't deny my heterosexuality.

Homophobes, like people in many of my classes, can't see homosexual students as people who have the same worries, study load, bills, etc. as heterosexual students. They couldn't see beyond the so-called evidence established against gays, this evidence being homosexuality isn't natural and is a sin against God.

Have you ever agreed with one of these pieces of evidence? If you haven't, have you ever remained silent when a friend or stranger does agree?

Today, I'd like to question your beliefs, just like homosexuals who are questioned daily and are accosted by jokes, hate words, acts of violence and acts of silence.

Are you one of those who think attraction to the same sex goes against nature? Are you saying recent studies are flawed when they show homosexuality might be genetic?

Gays, lesbians and bisexuals can't deny their sexuality, just like I can't deny my heterosexuality.

Do you think homosexuals are sinning against the Christian God? The first 18-Catholic-years of my life didn't teach me much about myself, but I did learn a little bit about the basics of Christianity. I learned that we're all different, we're all special and "God" (whomever that might be to you) loves us all. I've often wondered about the 12 apostles; they did spend a lot of time together in dark places and on boats talking of unconditional love.

Many people seem to find it easy to question homosexuality. Maybe these judges should take a minute to question their homophobia.

Here's a few questions to get you thinking about why you are or are not a homophobic: Is it OK to hate a person just because they care for someone of the same sex?

Is sexual preference worthy of so much concern when there are more important issues we should be worrying about? Is the act of not standing up to homophobes just as bad as actually being one? Is there any doubt that homophobia is among us? What do you think about homophobia? What do you think about homosexuality? Why do you think that way?

Think about it.

Mary VanLeeuwen is a junior in English. You can e-mail her at mev2383@ksu.edu

Ruling in Wendy's case appropriate, long overdue

CORBIN H. CRABLE

On Aug. 27, the United States Department of Justice ruled that the Wendy's franchise, in order to accommodate Wendy's patrons with disabilities, must either widen or remove its zig-zag lanes. In the ruling, 14 Kansas City, Kan. corporate-owned restaurants were affected specifically.

The ruling is long overdue — this much is obvious. For years, many other businesses, such as banks and movie theaters, have worked to cater to the needs of their patrons with disabilities.

It took a lawsuit, however, for Wendy's to change its ways.

I'm not sure if the big cheeseburger gurus at the district and corporate offices get out much, but hopefully they notice that yes, people with disabilities do, in fact, use their establishment, and there is a need for easier access in their eating establishments. When legal action was taken on behalf of a concerned (and rightly so) patron, the powers that be finally sat up and took notice.

The lawsuit itself involved a Wendy's in Maryland, where a woman's wheelchair got stuck in one of the metal barriers. Not only did she probably have to go through the humiliation [illegible] everyone gawking at her, but then she most likely was ushered to the front of the line, where an overly nervous manager apologized profusely and probably compensated for the embarrassment by giving the woman a lousy coupon for a free Frosty. It disappoints me to see that it takes such a drastic event, to take place before anyone takes the initiative to make a change for the better.

It shouldn't take public humiliation and an out-of-court settlement to make Wendy's management, as well as district and corporate employees, to notice their patrons with disabilities.

These patrons, all 54 million of them, have just as much a right to convenience as anyone else.

The agreement to get rid of or widen the zig-zag lanes will go into effect in 18 months. This should give management and district and corporate employees sufficient time to oversee the destruction or renovation of these barriers. I fail to see what good it would do to re-construct them; I can't think of anyone who really enjoys them or benefits from them. Even for those patrons without disabilities, the lanes are nothing but a cast-iron barrier between the customer and the front-line cashier.

I cannot speak for Wendy's patrons with disabilities, but I believe all would benefit from the complete absence of these metal monsters; after getting their food, people in wheelchairs would have plenty of room to circle around and go to their seats, without all the hassle. And besides, parents won't have their kids climbing all over the place, as the lanes act as a combination barrier/jungle gym.

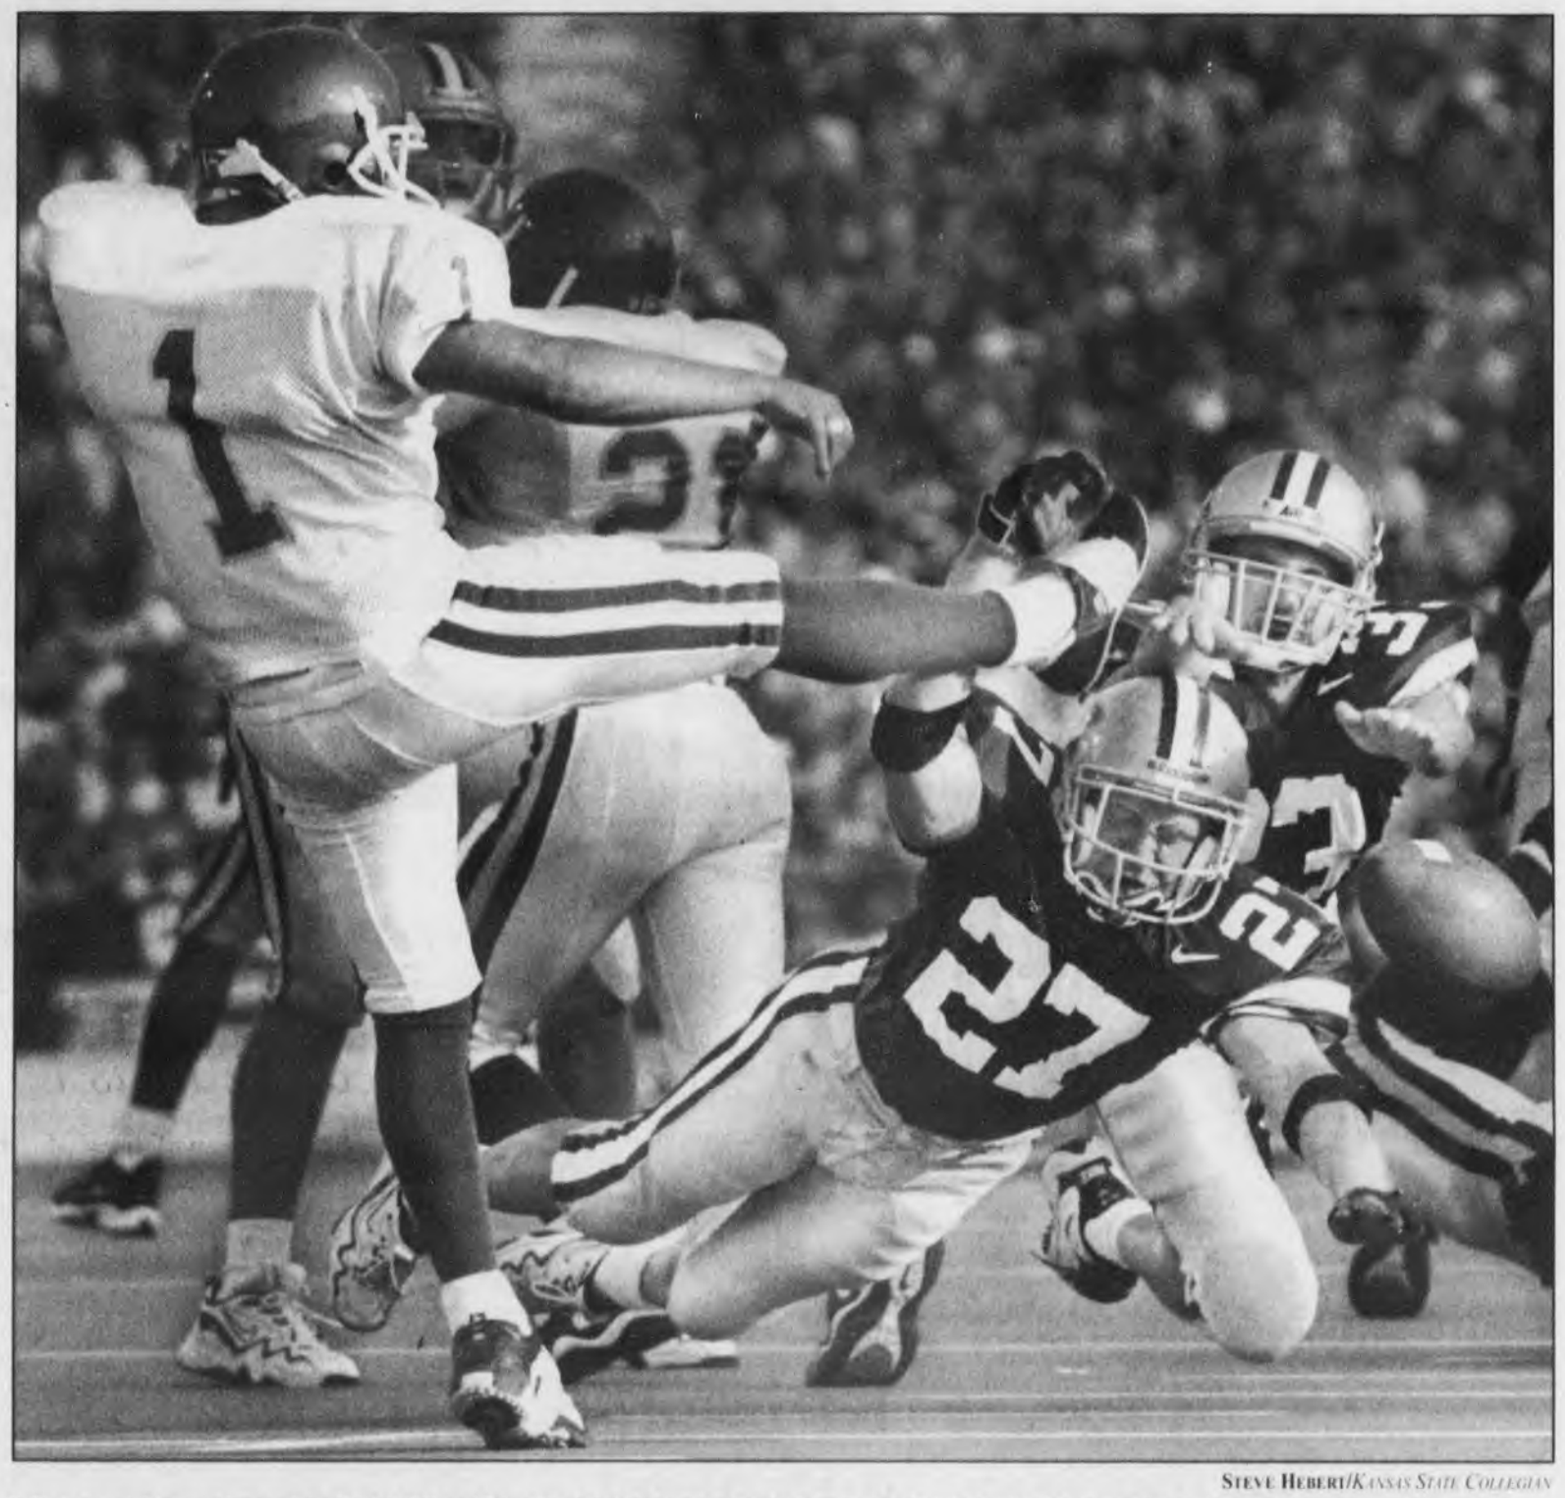
In place of the metal lanes, ropes and poles could be put up, like the ones in movie theaters. They're a lot easier to move, that's for sure. Even without any barrier at all, the worst thing that could happen are two lines merging into one during a busy shift, thus momentarily confusing some poor cashier on the front lines.

Hopefully, the Wendy's ruling will act as an example for other businesses to follow. The 54 million people with disabilities in America shouldn't have to go through public embarrassment to receive their basic rights. A landmark trial has paved the way for progress, and now the term "fast food" doesn't have to be an inclusive one.

Corbin H. Crable is a sophomore in English. You can e-mail Corbin at chc7669@ksu.edu.

BASEBALL TRYOUTS

K-State's baseball squad will hold walk-on tryouts at CiCo park from Sept. 8-1. Individual tryout times will be determined at a later date. Interested players should bring all of their own gear if possible. Call head coach Mike Clark at the K-State baseball office (532-5723) with questions.



SPORTS

66-0 K-State dominates Indiana State from start to finish

IVAN KOZAR/KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

K-State running back Eric Hickson gets tackled by Indiana State corner back DeJuan Alfonzo on Saturday evening at KSU Stadium. Hickson had 109 yards on 18 carries.

STEVE HEBERT/KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

K-State special teams players Jake Havick (27) and Brice Libel (33) block a punt by Indiana State's Phillip Aguilar (1) during first-half action Saturday evening at KSU Stadium. The blocked punt was picked up by K-State's DeAndrea Robinson and ran back for an 8-yard touchdown, the second of the game. K-State defeated Indiana State 66-0.

BY SAM FELSENFELD
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

K-State's season-opening 66-0 win over visiting Indiana State on Saturday was a good example of how dominant one football team can be over another.

Even more telling of K-State's superiority, though, was that most factors indicate the Wildcats tried to keep the score low.

"I don't think we were running up the score," K-State coach Bill Snyder said. "That wasn't our intent at all."

And who can doubt Snyder? Consider the following:

- K-State pulled its offensive starters with 7:26 remaining in the second quarter.
- The Cats threw on only 18 of 70 plays from scrimmage.
- K-State fairly caught several returnable punts.
- A third-string linebacker and a sophomore defensive end carried the ball for the Cats.
- Heck, even the coach's kid got a chance to run the ball.

Even with conservative playcalling and the backups logging more time than the starters, the Cats tied a school record with nine touchdowns and came within a point of tying the school record for single-game scoring.

"There are a few things I am concerned about, but overall I'm pleased," Snyder said.

"I was concerned that our players were going to take advantage of the game, but that didn't happen."

With the win, the Cats moved up to fifth in both the Associated Press and USA Today/ESPN polls.

"They've got a great football team, no doubt about it," Indiana State coach Tim McGuire said. "And they're going to get better."

The game was McGuire's debut as a head coach, and K-State delivered a rude welcome. Gerald Neasman returned the opening kickoff from the end zone to the 42-yard line, and from there, the Cats displayed the powerful running game that took them to an 11-1 finish last season.

K-State drove 58 yards on 14 plays — 13 rushes — and scored on a 1-yard run by quarterback Michael Bishop. During the drive, the Cats converted on three fourth-down opportunities, including the touchdown run by Bishop.

The Sycamores went three-and-out on their first possession, and K-State's Jake Havick blocked Phillip Aguilar's punt.

DeAndrea Robinson picked it up and ran it back 8 yards for the Cats' second touchdown.

On its second possession, Indiana State's offense was finished in three plays again.

"They have one of the best defenses in all of football," Sycamore defensive back DeJuan Alfonzo said. "They're gonna make plays."

After Aguilar got his second punt off, K-State came back and scored its third touchdown two plays later on a 7-yard run by running back Eric Hickson.

Only six plays had been run by McGuire's offensive unit, and he found himself down 21-0 in his first game as a head coach.

But he preferred to count the game as more of an exhibition.

"I consider next week my head-coaching debut," he said.

It's not difficult to understand why.

Before the Sycamores' final drive of the game, they had only one first down, which came on a face-mask penalty in the first quarter. Indiana State's average drive went 2.9 plays for 5.4 yards.

"I think we did pretty good based on the simple fact we did what we were supposed to do," K-State linebacker Travis Ochs said.

"We didn't give up any plays and we executed well."

Meanwhile, the Cats, who ran the ball with fourth-string fullbacks and tailbacks, racked up 485 yards in total offense.

Bishop said he sees room for improvement, though.

"We need to get better in certain situations. We did well on our fourth-down conversions, but if we had done our job, we wouldn't have been in that situation," he said. "I think we stepped up our game a little bit tonight."

Bishop completed six of 11 passes for 159 yards and a touchdown, while Adam Helm, who the Cats are relying on at the No. 2 spot so Jonathan Beasley can redshirt this season, completed five of seven for 64 yards, but threw an interception and was sacked twice.

Hickson led the Cats on ground, picking up 109 yards on 18 carries.

Despite the lopsided results, McGuire said he doesn't have any regrets about bringing his team to Manhattan.

"We're a I-AA team and they're one of the best football teams in the country, but we belonged in this football game," he said. "We came down here to play against this kind of competition and to show our players the best football. This game won't mean anything in November."

Notes:

- The win was the ninth-consecutive season-opening victory.
- K-State's 44-5-1 home record in this decade is the fifth highest in the nation.
- Kicker Martin Gramatica tied a personal-best and Big 12 record by kicking a 55-yard field goal in the second quarter. He also broke a school record with nine extra points.
- The Cats had no injuries to report. The Sycamores had only one which was wide receiver Jared Kixmiller, who will miss about three weeks with a separated shoulder.
- Hickson is now 522 yards away from breaking Mike Lawrence's K-State career rushing record of 2,265.
- K-State now has 24 consecutive wins when a rusher gains more than 100 yards.
- Gavin Peries' 58-yard touchdown reception and Marlon Charles' 39-yard touchdown run were both career bests.

Special teams shine in season-opening victory as Cats move to No. 5 in both polls

COACHES TOP 25

Rank	Record	Pts.	Last
1. Ohio St (38)	1-0	1,512	1
2. Florida St. (12)	1-0	1,471	2
3. Nebraska (8)	2-0	1,388	3
4. Florida (2)	1-0	1,384	4
5. K-STATE (1)	1-0	1,289	6
6. UCLA (1)	0-0	1,186	7
7. Tennessee	1-0	1,121	10
8. LSU	0-0	1,084	8
9. Penn State	1-0	1,026	13
10. Washington	1-0	923	17
11. Notre Dame	1-0	836	24
12. Virginia	1-0	774	19
13. Georgia	1-0	766	18
14. Michigan	0-1	673	5
15. Arizona State	0-1	524	9
16. Colorado	1-0	469	NR
17. Wisconsin	1-0	428	20
18. Syracuse	0-1	383	14
19. Texas A&M	0-1	349	15
20. West Virginia	0-1	318	12
21. Arizona	1-0	278	25
22. Texas	1-0	276	NR
23. USC	1-0	274	NR
24. North Carolina	0-1	159	11
25. Missouri	1-0	134	NR

TODD STEWART/COLLEGIAN

BY JON BALMER
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

As the old football saying goes, "Offense brings fans, defense wins championships."

However, after K-State's 66-0 victory against Indiana State on Saturday night, an amendment might need to be made to the saying.

"Special teams provide momentum."

Throughout each quarter of the Wildcats shutout, the K-State special team's squad fired on all cylinders.

"We do work awful hard on special teams," Coach Bill Snyder said. "I know they take a great deal of pride in their play. It looks like they started up where they left off last season."

Handling the role of kickoff duties this season, senior kicker Martin Gramatica had a successful introduction to his new role. Last year's Lou Groza Award winner booted six of eight kickoffs for touchbacks, sending one kick out of bounds and having the other returned to the 21 yard line.

In assessing his first performance, Gramatica said there was room for improvement.

"It was OK, but I'm not very happy about the kick that went out of bounds," Gramatica said.

Thanks in part to Gramatica's accuracy, another special teams' unit stepped up to stifle the Sycamores. Already trailing K-State 7-0 in the first quarter, Indiana State's first punt was blocked by sophomore defensive back Jake Havick, allowing senior DeAndrea Robinson to return the ball eight yards for a touchdown.

The relentless pressure supplied by the punt rush put K-State up 14-0, and perhaps more importantly, deflated Indiana State's gameplan.

"Anything positive like that's got to help the team out," Havick said. "I don't know if that deflated them or not. I'm just glad I got the ball."

With the punt rush providing the block, Robinson said he felt his contribution was mild in comparison.

"I saw Jake and Brice Libel get there first and block the punt," Robinson said. "After that, my job was easy. I just had to pick it up and run it in."

K-State's punt rush continued to pressure the Sycamores throughout the evening, allowing the Cats excellent field position. When the special teams achieved its goal, Robinson said all the hard work paid off.

"Special teams is just like offense and defense, except we've only got one opportunity to do our job," Robinson said. "When the opportunity is reached after all the preparation, it feels real good."

With the punt-rush unit supplying seven more points to the Cats, sophomore punt returner David Allen added his highlight late in the second quarter.

After receiving a punt at the K-State 37-yard line, Allen weaved his way down field, eluded would-be tacklers and outran Sycamore punter Phillip Aguilar for a 63-yard touchdown that put the Cats up 35-0.

Satisfied with his first touchdown of 1998, Allen said he was more relieved he wasn't stopped by Aguilar.

"I promised myself this year I wasn't going to be tackled by the punter," Allen said, referring to a situation that occurred last season.

When the dust had settled Saturday night, the 66 points scored by K-State were the second-most in school history. While the offensive and defensive dominance were evident in the score, the play of the special teams added heavily to the outcome.

With the success achieved against Indiana State, Allen credited the unity between the players for making the play possible.

"We take a big amount of pride in our special teams," Allen said. "Thanks to the guys up front, I can go out and play. Without them, there's no me. It's all about teamwork."

JILL JARSULIC/KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

K-State punt returner David Allen runs back a punt for a 63-yard touchdown during game against Indiana State.

AP TOP 25

Rank	Record	Pts.	Last
1. Ohio St. (39)	1-0	1,708	1
2. Florida St. (22)	1-0	1,667	2
3. Florida (4)	1-0	1,571	3
4. Nebraska (2)	2-0	1,546	4
5. K-STATE (2)	1-0	1,418	6
6. UCLA (1)	0-0	1,394	7
7. LSU	0-0	1,279	9
8. Tennessee	1-0	1,274	10
9. Penn State	1-0	1,131	13
10. Notre Dame	1-0	1,104	22
11. Washington	1-0	1,051	18
12. Virginia	1-0	963	16
13. Michigan	0-1	818	5
14. Arizona State	0-1	737	8
15. Georgia	1-0	716	19
16. Colorado	1-0	619	NR
17. Wisconsin	1-0	534	20
18. Texas A&M	0-1	487	14
19. Syracuse	0-1	470	17
20. West Virginia	0-1	445	11
21. Arizona	1-0	361	24
22. USC	1-0	287	NR
23. Texas	1-0	250	NR
24. Oregon	1-0	141	NR
25. Missouri	1-0	123	NR

TODD STEWART/COLLEGIAN

CROSSWORD

CROSSWORD By Eugene Sheffer

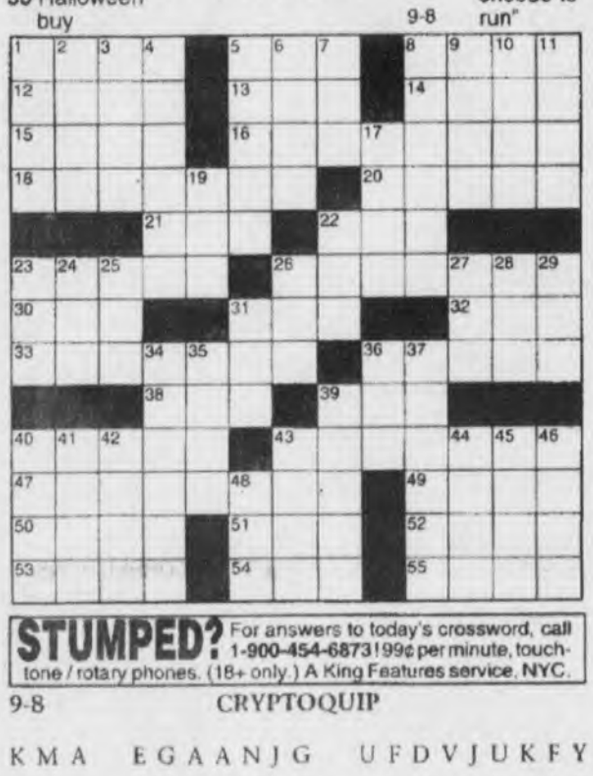
ACROSS
1 Periodicals, for short
5 Overstuffed
8 Green-peace's concern: abbr.
12 — plaisir
13 Bullring bravo
14 Vincent Lopez's theme
15 Clinton Cabinet member
16 Pothole fixers
18 Drew Carey trademark
20 Olympics emblem
21 Felon's flight
22 Bleacherite
23 Least good
26 Make an incision
30 Follower of boo or yoo
31 "Yes, Virginia" newspaper
32 — jiffy
33 Alfresco
36 Halloween buy
38 Possess
39 Memorized
40 Forbidden
43 Silly person
47 Banner
49 "Yes —?"
50 Seed coating
51 Johnny's bandleader
52 Flash Gordon foe
53 Actor's quest
54 Insepa-rable
55 Maintains meagerly



DOWN
1 Painter Chagall
2 State
3 DNA passenger
4 Gloomy looks
5 Lakers' arena
6 Oodles
7 1773 jetsam
8 California town
9 "Hee Haw" humor
10 Couturier Cassini
11 Statutes
17 "Consarn it!"
19 Garfield, e.g.
22 Enjoyment
23 Abbott's first baseman
24 "Alley —
25 Caviar
26 Mongrel
27 Wrestling victory
28 Tackle's teammate
29 Aye canceler
31 Sermon subject
34 Brain, slangily
35 Off base
36 Jam ingredient?
37 In 39 Fragment
40 "— she blows!"
41 Comb. form for "flying"
42 Scoop
43 In due time
44 Actor Estrada
45 Mrs. Shake-speare
46 Feet, jocularly
48 "— not choose to run"

Solution time: 24 mins.

S	A	N	S		R	O	D		C	A	P	S
P	L	O	T		E	K	E		A	S	I	A
E	M	I	R		A	S	S	E	S	S	E	D
C	A	R	E	S	S		I	N	S	I	D	E
			E	W	O	K		D	I	G
P	L	A	T	I	N	U	M		S	N	U	B
A	E	S		M	E	D	A	L		E	M	U
M	E	S	A		R	O	T	U	N	D	A	S
		A	T	A		S	T	A	Y
C	A	S	T	R	O		H	U	M	P	T	Y
A	S	S	E	M	B	L	E		P	E	R	E
R	E	I	N		E	E	L		H	A	I	L
S	A	N	D		Y	A	M		S	T	O	P

Yesterday's answer

9-8

STUMPED? For answers to today's crossword, call 1-900-454-6873! 99¢ per minute, touch-tone / rotary phones. (18+ only.) A King Features service, NYC.

9-8 CRYPTOQUIP

K M A E G A A N J G U F D V J U K F Y T F J G V F N K A D U I G G K M A V O D O D E U I Y I U M A T - U M A T K Y I O D .

Yesterday's Cryptoquip: I GUESS INDOLENT JUNGLE CATS ARE CONTENT JUST LION AROUND.

Today's Cryptoquip clue: T equals W

CRYPTOQUIP BOOK 2! Send $4.50 (check/m.o.) to CryptoClassics Book 2, PO Box 6411, Riverton NJ 08077.

The Cryptoquip is a substitution cipher in which one letter stands for another. If you think that X equals O, it will equal O throughout the puzzle. Single letters, short words and words using an apostrophe give you clues to locating vowels. Solution is by trial and error.

Dilbert and Mann Hatten are taking extended Labor Day vacations. Look for them in Wednesday's Collegian.

Musicians perform at the ninth-annual Cool Cats Jazz Festival on Sunday afternoon at Sunset Zoological Park. IVAN KOZAR/KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

BEATING THE HEAT

Cool Cats Jazz Festival draws 3 bands to raise money for Sunset Zoological Park

BY JENN DAVOREN
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Despite the weekend heat, the ninth-annual Cool Cats Jazz Festival at Sunset Zoological Park managed to attract a crowd.

This year's jazz festival had room for a few hundred people to watch the three bands appearing at the Sunset Zoo benefit on Sunday.

"The money from events like this go into a special Sunset Zoo fund for improvement and development," Scott Shoemaker, Sunset Zoo director said. "It funds projects like the new chimpanzee and Colobus monkey exhibits."

The Claude "Fiddler" Williams String Swing Quartet began the show. Williams is in the middle of his 90th Birthday Tour but made time to play a 45-minute set.

After getting lost on the highway, the McFadden Brothers appeared late. They entertained with their own variety of jazz and a little tap dancing.

This year's headliner was the David Basse City Light Orchestra, featuring Herman Riley. Basse and his orchestra have performed all around the world, including a set at President Clinton's 1997 Inaugural Ball.

"I've been playing this music for most of my 65 years because I love it," Riley said.

Riley is a free-lance musician who has played with many well-known musicians, including Sammy Davis Jr.

David Basse has played all around Manhattan in the past few years, including the Wareham Opera House and the K-State Student Union. Basse said he is drawn to the Midwest because of the jazz district in Kansas City.

"I remember when I first came to Kansas City and couldn't keep out of the jazz clubs," Basse said.

The Jazz Festival is usually on Labor Day, but was changed to Sunday evening this year due to the heat.

A Monday concert also meant out-of-town guests could not attend if their work schedules conflicted.

Ultimate Fakebook earns $30,000 in prize money

BY JENN DAVOREN
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

A Chicago company considers a local Manhattan band to be the best in the Midwest.

Ultimate Fakebook won the grand prize in the Disc Makers Independent Music World Series last month in Chicago, netting nearly $30,000 in prizes.

Disc Makers, a compact disc manufacturing house, had regional contests across the country and invited independent bands to compete. This search for new talent was a great opportunity for groups struggling for recognition.

"We were in Chicago about two months ago, and we saw fliers for the Midwest contest and sent in an application," guitarist Bill McShane said.

"Three weeks ago, we got a call inviting us to play."

More than 800 bands entered the contest by sending in music samples, but only six were invited to play at the Doubledoor in Chicago. Loudflower, Reverend Right Time, Dave Sletten Band, Love Candy and Sudden Change competed against the trio of McShane, Eric Melin and Nick Colby, who make up Ultimate Fakebook.

Ultimate Fakebook took home the title of World Series Champs and prizes such as 40 hours of recording time, 1,500 CDs and 500 cassettes, a mixing console, a wireless guitar system, instruments and other promotional opportunities.

They said they considered Saturday's Spirit Fest '98 in Kansas City a great excuse to show off their new gear. Ultimate Fakebook appeared on the Lazer stage, sponsored by Lawrence radio station, KLZR-FM 105.9.

"There were about 10 stages at the show, so it was a good opportunity to play for a big crowd," McShane said.

Upcoming Ultimate Fakebook appearances include shows on Sept. 10 at the Bottleneck in Lawrence; Sept. 11 at the Library in Emporia; and Sept. 12 at the Hurricane in Kansas City, Mo.

Another CD is in the works and could be out early next year, but the band's current release, "Electric Kissing Parties," is available in stores in the Manhattan area.

'Something About Mary' reaches No.1 after 8 weeks

BY MICHAEL FLEEMAN
THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

LOS ANGELES — There's something about this summer.

The popcorn movie season ended on Labor Day the way it began — with a surprise — as the sleeper hit "There's Something About Mary" became the No. 1 film for the first time after eight weeks in theaters. It crunched the only new film in wide release, Jean-Claude Van Damme's "Knock Off."

The modestly budgeted gross-out comedy starring Cameron Diaz and Ben Stiller collected an estimated $11.6 million over the four-day holiday weekend that ended Monday, bringing its total to $130.9 million.

It is believed to be the first film to rise to the top of the box office so long after release, said aul Dergarabedian, president of Exhibitor Relations Co. Inc., which tracks the box office.

"Blade" was second with $10.4 million, followed by "Saving Private Ryan" with $8.6 million, and "Knock Off" grossed $5.6 million.

The success of "Mary" capped a record-setting season at the domestic box office.

The summer set marks for ticket sales with $2.5 billion — topping last year's $2.2 billion — and for attendance.

The 560 million tickets sold topped the 526 million sold in the summer of 1994, according to Exhibitor Relations.

Audiences turned out in such large numbers since Memorial Day weekend in often-unpredictable ways: — They listened to their friends as much as, or more than, the publicity campaigns or the critics.

"There's Something About Mary" cost $25 million to produce and was released with relatively little fanfare, yet it grossed nearly as much as "Godzilla," the big-budget, heavily hyped "tentpole" film of the summer that brought in about $135.7 million, domestically.

We stay open late at Claflin Books and Copies
1814 Claflin Road 776-3771

Bates Girls Dance Studio
Do you miss your dance classes back home? Give us a call.
College classes in: Jazz Tap Ballet
731 McCall Road
537-9773

PIZZA SHUTTLE DELIVERS
776-5577
1800 Claflin Road

Family Budget Shop
730 Colorado
clothing, household goods, nicknacks
Tues.-Fri. 1-4 p.m.
Sat. 10 a.m.-1 p.m.

Need $ for Books?
Donate plasma & earn cash.
new donors:
Earn $75 in 3 donations
return donors:
Earn $15-$20
each donation
Nabi
Manhattan Biomedical Center
1130 Garden Way • Mon. & Thurs. 9 a.m. - 7 p.m., Tues. & Wed. 9 a.m. - 6:30 p.m., Fri. 9 a.m. - 5 p.m., Sat. 8 a.m. - 1 p.m. • 776-9177

FREE
McCain Tickets
McCain Auditorium is in search of community members, including K-State staff, students and faculty, who are willing to USHER in exchange for FREE TICKETS to McCain Performance Series Events such as Bela Fleck, The Chieftans, and The Vienna Choir Boys.
Join us for 1 of 2 orientation meetings in the McCain Auditorium Lobby
Thursday, September 10, at 4 and 5 p.m.
If you are unable to attend please call 532-2358 for details.

DEADLINES

Classified ads must be placed by noon the day before you want your ad to run. Classified display ads must be placed by 4 p.m. two working days prior to the date you want your ad to run. CALL 532-6555

CLASSIFIEDS

000 BULLETIN BOARD

010 Announcements

ADVANCED FLIGHT TRAINING from 7,500-hour ATP instructor. Private single-engine through ATP multiengine. Hugh Irvin, 539-3128 evenings.

BIG DAWG Marina has Jet skis and pontoon boats for rent. 776-3113.

FOOTBALL TICKET GIVEAWAY. To register send a self-addresses stamped envelope to: D.P. Inc. P.O. Box 857-M, Manhattan, KS 66505-0857.

LEARN TO FLY! K-State Flying Club has five airplanes, lowest rates. For information call 537-8406.

SALINA CARPOOL. 539-2011, Cathy.

SCUBA learn to dive at the only PADI approved dive center in the area, full line of equipment in stock, two instructors, earn college credit. Classes forming weekly. Call Creative Travel and Scuba. 539-0531.

020 Lost and Found

Found ads can be placed free for three days.

FOUND: SET of four keys in front of Calvin Hall. Call 532-6180 to identify.

LOST: RED female tabby shorthair, front paws declawed, white rings on tail. Lost since Saturday August 29. 565-0783.

100 HOUSING/REAL ESTATE

Manhattan City Ordinance 4814 assures every person equal opportunity in housing without distinction on account of race, sex, familial status, military status, disability, religion, age, color, national origin or ancestry. Violations should be reported to the Director of Human Resources at City Hall, 587-2440.

105 For Rent- Apts. Furnished

TWO-BEDROOM BASEMENT apartment, includes microwave. Close to campus, $350, all utilities paid except cable television. 776-1214.

UNIVERSITY COMMONS. Available: fully furnished, individual leases, washer/ dryer in each unit, roommate matching service, pool, sand vollleyball, lighted tennis and basketball courts, monitored security, reserved parking. No appointment necessary. M-F 9a.m.- 6p.m., 10a.m.- 4p.m., 539-0500.

110 For Rent- Apt. Unfurnished

AVAILABLE NOW. Studio and one-bedrooms, some furnished. Most utilities paid. Clean and quiet, central locations, some pets accepted. 537-8389.

FOUR- BEDROOM apartment ready NOW at 1700 N. Manhattan Ave. Special rates available. Water and trash paid. Hot tubs and laundry facilities on-site. Call MDI 776-3804.

9 Month Lease
2 & 3 Bedroom Specials
539-2951

FOUR-BEDROOM CLOSE to campus, two bath, dishwasher, central air/heat, water/trash paid. Free laundry, good price. 537-2255 or 537-7810.

FOUR-BEDROOM, TWO bath, close to campus, no pets, reasonable. 776-1340.

FOUR-BEDROOM, TWO bath 1300 square feet. Water/ trash paid. Discounted cable with HBO. 776-3663.

LARGE THREE-BEDROOM well lit basement, close to campus, 1729 Laramie, new stove and refrigerator, washer/ dryer hook-ups, heat/ water/ trash paid. $570. 537-2099, 539-8052.

NOW LEASING one to four-bedroom apartments/ houses. Call Alliance Property Management. 539-4357 for current list.

ONE AND two bedrooms, start at $380-$450. Dishwasher, deck, central air, on-site laundry, extra storage. Available now, 776-8455.

ONE- OR TWO-BEDROOM. No pets, smoking, drinking. 539-1554.

ONE-BEDROOM AVAILABLE NOW! 1854-58 Claflin, $350/ $365 per month. Water and trash paid. Laundry facilities on-site. Close to campus! Call MDI 776-3804.

ONE-BEDROOM COZY basement apartment. Walk to Aggieville and campus. Rent negotiable. 539-1722 leave message.

ONE-BEDROOM, $290. 539-8401.

Now Available!
Large 2-Bedrooms
Sandstone Apts.
Cambridge Sq. Apts.
Hill Investments
537-9064

ROOMMATE PROBLEMS? Large one-bedroom near Aggieville, $300, hardwood floors, white walls, personality. 776-4313 or 785-456-7183.

STUDIO, $280, air-conditioning, bills paid. 539-8401.

THREE-BEDROOM HOUSE, computer den, attached garage, near campus. Immediately available. (765)463-5014.

THREE-BEDROOM, $390. 539-8401.

WOODWAY APARTMENTS
STOP!
DO NOT RENT AN APARTMENT UNTIL YOU CONSIDER THIS!
•Sparkling swimming pool
•Spacious decks/patios
•Avail. June 5 Aug. 6
•Kitchen Appliances include microwave and dishwasher
•On site laundry facilities
•Economical gas heat
3 BDRM, 2 BATH $714, $723
4 BDRM, 2 BATH $836, $856
Office:
2400 Kimball Ave.
at College Ave.
(Across from Bramlage)
Call Sara
at 537-7007
for an appointment.

THREE-BEDROOM, CENTRAL air, one-half block from campus, washer/ dryer hook-ups. Available now. 776-8455.

THREE-BEDROOM, TWO bath apartment available for August. Very spacious. Dishwasher, microwave, pool, laundry and carports. Call Sara at 537-7007.

TWO, THREE and four-bedroom apartments water/ trash paid, discounted cable with HBO. Going fast. 776-3663.

TWO-BEDROOM, $320. 539-8401.

TWO-BEDROOM, CENTRAL air, laundry hook-ups, dishwasher, $400. No pets. Nine month lease. 513 S. Manhattan Avenue. 539-2255.

UNIVERSITY TERRACE APARTMENTS. Corner of College and Dickens. Large three-bedroom apartment. 537-2096.

115 Rooms Available

CHRISTIAN FAMILY who has large home near Ramada Inn, wants female college girl to live in. Will provide board and room in exchange for chores. Write c/o Collegian, Box 3, .

WE KICK ADS!
WE KICK ADS!
WE KICK ADS!

120 For Rent- Houses

1106 KEARNEY- one and one-half blocks from campus. Three-bedrooms, one bath, kitchen, living room, washer and dryer hookups. Available September 1, 1998, $650/ month. Century 21 Knight Real Estate, 537-2111.

A PLEASANT house two blocks from campus. Fireplace, washer/ dryer, dishwasher. Please call 537-7848 or 776-6225.

EXCELLENT CONDTION house. Split level design four-bedroom, two baths, two living rooms, dining room, two stall garage with automatic garage door opener, large sun deck overlooking back yard, ceiling fans, whole house fan, central air/ heat. Located three blocks from KSU football stadium at 2629 Kimball. To see call 776-4040 or (804)706-1196, available immediately.

FOUR-BEDROOM HOUSE for rent. Close to campus, newly remodeled, washer/ dryer central air, 539-4949.

KSU THREE BLOCKS. Three-bedroom, one bath, central air, laundry hook-ups, garage, small pets considered, 1517 Pipher. 539-4087, leave message.

THREE-BEDROOM, AIR-CONDITIONING, $510. 539-8401.

TWO-BEDROOM house available. Stove, refrigerator, air-conditioning. No pets. 539-1975 or (785) 396-4344.

135 For Sale- Mobile Homes

DON'T WASTE your money on rent, when you could own: 16'x70' 1986 Schult. Sunken living room, vaulted ceiling, built-in china hutch, lots of cabinet space, large kitchen, dining room, two large bedrooms, one bath, refrigerator, stove, dishwaser, 8'x8' deck, fenced yard, swing set, new paint, new shingled roof, great location, Bergman school. Must see to appreciate. Call for showing 776-3226.

145 Roommate Wanted

CHRISTIAN FEMALE roommate wanted to share two-bedroom apartment. Close to campus - September rent FREE, call 537-4441.

FEMALE ROOMMATE to share NICE two-bedroom apartment across from college. $260 a month. 776-4891.

FEMALE ROOMMATE wanted in four-bedroom apartment next to Durland, very nice. Call 587-9524 for details.

FEMALE ROOMMATE wanted, non-smoking, furnished house, private bathroom, 12 miles from KSU. Tracy 770-9489.

FEMALE ROOMMATE wanted for two-bedroom apartment close to campus and Aggieville. $175/ month, no deposit required. Call Jill, 770-9393.

FEMALE ROOMMATE wanted. Move in now, September and October rent paid for. Cambridge Square Apartments. Deposit paid, $270/ month. (316) 773-1627.

FEMALE, ANIMAL-FRIENDLY non-smoker to share house close to campus. $300/ month plus some utilities. Call Erika 539-5980.

MALE NEEDED for furnished basement. Washer/ dryer without meter. No smoking, drinking, or pets. Walk to class. 539-1554

NEEDED: ROOMMATE to share four-bedroom house with three girls, a cat and a dog. Close to campus and football stadium. 537-3803.

300 EMPLOYMENT/OPPORTUNITIES

310 Help Wanted

($20 / HOUR, PART-TIME/ FULL-TIME). Processing mail! Free supplies, postage! Bonuses! Rush self-addressed stamped envelope: GMA/KSU P.O. Box 567443 Atlanta, GA 31156. e-mail: signup@info.info-machine.com.

Manhattan City Ordinance 4814 assures every person equal opportunity in securing and holding employment in any field of work or labor for which he/ she is properly qualified regardless of race, sex, military status, disability, religion, age, color, national origin or ancestry. Violations should be reported to the Director of Human Resources at City Hall, 587-2441.

The Collegian cannot verify the financial potential of advertisements in the Employment/Career classification. Readers are advised to approach any such employment opportunity with reasonable caution. The Collegian urges our readers to contact the Better Business Bureau, 501 SE Jefferson, Topeka, KS 66607-1190. (785)232-0454.

ARABIAN HORSE farm looking for part-time help with stable chores and light training. Call (785) 494-8486.

BREADEAUX PIZZA. Day and night shifts, all positions, including drivers. Salary negotiable with experience. 3033 Anderson. 537-5080.

CARPENTER OR trainee needed. Local, Monday-

Ambitious, energetic people needed for full and part-time. Apply in person at
Vista Drive In
1911 Tuttle Creek Blvd

Thursday 40 hour work schedule. Good work habits and employment references required. Borst Restoration- 776-1460.

CLEANING: FOR non-smoking student in a home adjacent to campus. Send resume to Collegian Box 4.

COMPUTER PROGRAMMER. 20 hours/ week, hours flexible. Knowledge of C/C++. Undergraduates only. Apply in Throckmorton 1011 by September 11. For more information call 532-7236 or 532-5731.

HELP WANTED
PART-TIME
(2 days a month - 2 weeks a year)
Great pay and excellent benefits!
Truck Drivers, Mechanics, Cooks, Medical Specialists, Military Police, Supply, Administration, Aviation, Field Artillery, Armor Crewmen and Infantry, Prior military service not required, we will train. Prior military service are not required, we will train. Prior service may enter at last rank held up to E-6.
No Basic Training for Prior Service!
For more information call today!
537-4108. 537-4003
or 1-800-Go-GUARD
Kansas Army National Guard

HELP WANTED: Earn up to $500 per week assembling products at home. No experience. INFO 1-504-646-1700 DEPT. KS-6438.

INTERNET SUPPORT: Networks + has openings for weekend internet support, $7/ hour. E-mail resume in MSWord or text format to morgan@networksplus.com

MCC DREDGING is looking for temporary help dredging city sewer plant immediately $8.50/ hour, flexible hours, sun-up to sundown. (316)775-1208.

NEED A great paying part-time position? Little Caesars is looking for delivery drivers. Earn up to $9/ hour if you are a safe, courteous driver with an insured car and are at least 18. Apply today at Little Caesar's Pizza, 1150 Westloop, Manhattan, Kansas.

NIGHT STAFF position available. One year of college or two years experience required. Flexible shifts, supervising experience a plus. Apply at Manhattan Emergency Shelter, Inc., 831 Leavenworth, by Sept. 15. E.O.E.

PART-TIME POSITION: One day per week grinding feed on farm close to Manhattan. Call evenings, (785)396-4328.

RILEY COUNTY is accepting applications for the postition of Information Systems Supervisor. Bachelor's degree in computer science, management information systems or related field preferred, but not required. Proficient knowledge of PCs and PC networks required. Experience required in systems management on network utilizing Novell, LANS WANS, TCP/IP, Internet/ Intranet access, Windows 95, Windows NT and MS DOS 16 bit applications. Experience with UNIX, mid-range computer systems, and Ethernet preferred. The salary range is $35,422.40-$49,150.40. Job description and application are available at Riley County Clerk's Office, 110 Courthouse Plaza, Manhattan, KS 66502 until position is filled. EEOE.

SPRING BREAK '99-- Sell Trips, Earn Cash & Go Free! STS is now hiring campus reps. Lowest rates to Jamaica, Mexico and Florida. Call 800-648-4849 or apply online at www.ststravel.com

TACO BELL is now hiring for the following positions: Shift Leaders (Up to $7.00/ hr), Crew Members (Up to $6.00/ hr.) Taco Bell offers competitive pay, paid vacation, and benefits. Apply in person at the Manhattan Taco Bell.

TRUCK, COMBINE and grain cart operators for fall harvest. Send resume and hours available to Rt. 1 Box 3 Wamego, KS 66547. (785) 456-2725.

TUTORING HIGH school students for K-State's Upward Bound Math and Science Program. Contact: Lynne Davy at 532-6374 for application.

WRESTLING COACH, middle/ high school, October-February, 3p.m.- 6p.m. Contact Tim Kite, Onaga High School, 500 High St, Onaga, KS 66521, (785)889-4251.

WRITER. K-State News Services has an opening for a student news writer who can produce articles quickly and accurately. Work 12-15 hours per week. Flexible schedules. High school or college journalism experience required. Pick up an application in 9 Anderson Hall.

400 OPEN MARKET

410 Items for Sale

ANTIQUES, COLLECTIBLES, tools, books, furniture, estate jewelry, beer signs, thousands of curious goods. Time Machine Antique Maul and Flea Market. 4910 Skyway Dr. between Briggs and airport. 539-4684.

CABLE DESCRAMBLER kit only $14.95. See all the pay channels. 1-800-752-1389.

FOR SALE: Java software, two tents, photographer's easel. 537-2497 Russ.

GOVERNMENT SURPLUS: Camouflage clothing, G.I. boots, sleeping bags, raincoats, wool clothing, also CARHARRT WORKWEAR. Monday-Friday 9-5:30 p.m. Saturday 9-5 p.m. St. Mary's Surplus Sales, St. Mary's, KS.(785) 437-2734.

RICH, FRAGRANT, therapeutic Essential Oil creations, hand-blended to enhance your unique personal style! Skin and facial oils, perfumes, bath salts, after shaves, etc. Call 776-2230, leave name and number for free brochure and 20% off coupon through September 30. Visit our web site at http://www.flint-hills.com/~keepup.

415 Furniture to Buy/Sell

NEW FULL SIZE MATTRESS SET, never used still in plastic with warranty card $140 cash, will deliver. Call 537-3076.

NEW FULL-SIZE and queen-size mattress sets, still in plastic. Full - $165, Queen - $195. 776-8185.

435 Computers

ACER 200MHZ, with 32 meg RAM, 4.1GB H.D., Sony 100mx monitor and Lexmark color printer, Windows 95, Office 97, Via Voice, and much more software included, under warranty. (Over $2000 new, 1st $1000 takes it all). Bonus: four tickets to Sawyer Brown/Toby Keith concert to buyer.539-9564.

ATX TOWER, 15-inch Monitor, Intel PII 233 MMX, 64MB RAM, 5.3 GB, Diamond 4MB AGP, Monster 3Dfx, USR 56K V.90, 24X CD, PCI 3D wavetable with speakers, mega software/ games, $1029 or best offer, Nathan 539-8744.

HAVE YOUR inkjet cartridges professionally refilled! Low as $14. Call for information, 539-8011.

MICROSOFT OFFICE '97 Professional, full version, unopened, unregistered, $75. 1-800-416-3594.

NANAO FLEXSCAN FX2-21. 21 inch color computer monitor. This is Nanao's top of the line monitor with .26mm Dot Pinch, 1600 X 1200 resolution @ 85HZ. New in box. $1295 or best offer, 776-5999.

SEIKO PRO ColorPoint combination wax thermal and dye-sublimation color proof printer, new in box. $3995 or best offer, 776-5999.

445 Music Instruments

TWELVE CHANNEL mixing board with case. Many features, cleaned and works great, $300. Also, Master Volume/ Reverb unit, $50. 776-7506.

WELCOME TO The Music Co.! Our business is making you sound the best you can, and leaving a little gas money in your pocket. OK, we're gonna do it, the first and only Music Co. sale! Through September, Alvarez and Fernandes guitars will be on sale at ridiculous prices! Always the best deals on the planet! The Music Co., nothing typical, no pressure. 523 S. 17th Street in Manhattan. 539-1958.

450 Pets and Supplies

TWO WHITE kittens need a home. Ten weeks old. Please call 539-6805.

460 Electronic Equipment

STR-DE715 SONY receiver just redone by Sony, six months old, still under warranty. $400 retail, asking $325. 587-0635.

465 Tickets to Buy/Sell

ONE GENERAL Admission ticket set for sale to highest bidder. Call Bill at 770-9944 and leave a message.

TWO RESERVE tickets: Indiana State, Northern Illinois, Northeast Louisiana, Iowa State, Texas. Best Offer. One or all games. 539-7805.

500 TRANSPORTATION

510 Automobiles

1993 FORD Ranger XLT. Extended cab, 4.0 liter V6, five-speed, 76K miles. Excellent condition. $8700 or best offer. 537-3516.

1995 NISSAN pick-up, blue. 54,000 miles, $7,900. Contact Augy or Kara after 5:30p.m. (785)456-2740.

MUST SELL: 1993 Mazda MX-3 GS, five-speed, $6000 or best offer. Call 587-8509, 7p.m.-9p.m.

530 Motorcycles

1985 HONDA V-30 Magna, $1100 or best offer. 587-9201.

1987 KAWASAKI 305 LTD $850. Call Mike 587-0608 leave message.

1989 KAWASAKI EX 500 red/ black. Very good condition, $1450 or best offer. 537-2289.

1996 KAWASAKI ZX-11 Ninja. 14,000 miles $8000 book price, will make offer. (785) 877-2830.

1996 RED Kawasaki ZX-6R with 6600 miles and three year warranty. Mint condition with muzzie exhaust. $6500. Call (785)499-5297 or (785)499-5447. Ask for Eric or e-mail me at eab5890@ksu.edu

600 TRAVEL/TRIPS

610 Tour Packages

Make Tracks Over Winter Break!
17th Annual Colorado Classic
COLLEGIATE GOTTA SKI BREAKS
JANUARY 3-10, 1999 • 2, 3, 4, 5, 6 or 7 NIGHTS
Steamboat Breckenridge Vail/Beaver Creek Copper Mountain
$112
TOLL FREE INFORMATION AND RESERVATIONS
1•800•SUNCHASE
ski the web at www.sunchase.com
Nobody Does Ski Breaks Better!

SNAP UP CUSTOMERS
advertise in the classifieds
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN
103 KEDZIE 532-6555

collegian collegian collegian
Collegian as a resource!
Let the World see your classified ad by using the
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN
103 KEDZIE 532-6555

ClassifiedRATES

1 DAY
20 words or less $7.15
each word over 20 $.20 per word

2 DAYS
20 words or less $8.40
each word over 20 $.25 per word

3 DAYS
20 words or less $9.55
each word over 20 $.30 per word

4 DAYS
20 words or less $10.60
each word over 20 $.35 per word

5 DAYS
20 words or less $11.55
each word over 20 $.40 per word
(consecutive day rate)

HOW TO PAY
All classifieds must be paid in advance unless you have an account with Student Publications Inc. Cash, check, MasterCard or Visa are accepted. There is a $10 service charge on all returned checks. We reserve the right to edit, reject or properly classify any ad.

FREE FOUND ADS
As a service to you, we run found ads for three days free of charge.

CORRECTIONS
If you find an error in your ad, please call us. We accept responsibility only for the first wrong insertion.

CANCELLATIONS
If you sell your item before your ad has expired, we will refund you for the remaining days. You must call us before noon the day before the ad is to be published.

HEADLINES
For an extra charge, we'll put a headline above your ad to catch the reader's attention.

000 BULLETIN BOARD
100 HOUSING/REAL ESTATE
200 SERVICE DIRECTORY
300 EMPLOYMENT/OPPORTUNITIES
400 OPEN MARKET
500 TRANSPORTATION
600 TRAVEL/TRIPS

TO PLACE AN AD
Go to Kedzie 103 (across from the K-State Student Union). Office hours are Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. The office is open except on holidays.

GET YOUR GAME FACES ON.

We have ours on before every home game.

READ COLLEGIAN GAMEDAY.

Men's & Women's
Sterling Silver Bands and gemstone rings

Krystallos
$6-$25
708 N. Manhattan • Aggieville

collegian Explore it!
http://collegian.ksu.edu

5¢ Self-serve copying, 8½"x11", single side white paper
Claflin Books and Copies
1814 Claflin Road 776-3771

TACO HUT
"Where good friends get together since 1969"
Specials
Tacos 3 for $1.45 (reg. 60¢ ea.)
Chili Burrito $2.30 (reg. $3.05)
Good Through 9/12/98
Drive thru now open!
OPEN 11 A.M. - 10 P.M.
SUN., MON., TUES., WED., THURS.
11 A.M. - MIDNIGHT FRI. & SAT.
2809 CLAFLIN 539-2091

Multi-Engine Flight Training
• Twin Comanche w/HSI, RMI, GPS
• 7,500-Hour ATP Instructor
• Reasonable Rates
• Hugh Irvin

539-3128

PIZZA SHUTTLE DELIVERS
776-5577
1800 Claflin Road

Recreational Services Intramurals
Soccer Officials Clinic
Tuesday, September 8, 5p.m.
Recreation Complex
Wednesday, September 9, 5p.m.
Recreation Complex
Attendance required at both meetings.
Recreational Services Office 532-6980

50¢ TACOS
chicken or beef, hard or soft shell
4:30 p.m. - 9:30 p.m.
$1 Margaritas (Reg. or Strawberry)
$2 Coronas
Taco Tuesday
Bobby T's
$1 Draws
OPEN 11am-2am
3240 Kimball Ave 537-8383

Gambino's Pizza®
Free 6 pack of Coke with any medium or large pizza purchased at menu price
*Tuesdays Only
Open late Friday and Saturday nights.
537-9090

IMPRESSIONS
HAIR DESIGN AND NAIL STUDIO
Get Aquainted With Jamie Keeler
$5 OFF cut w/style
$5 OFF color or perm
$2 OFF men's cut

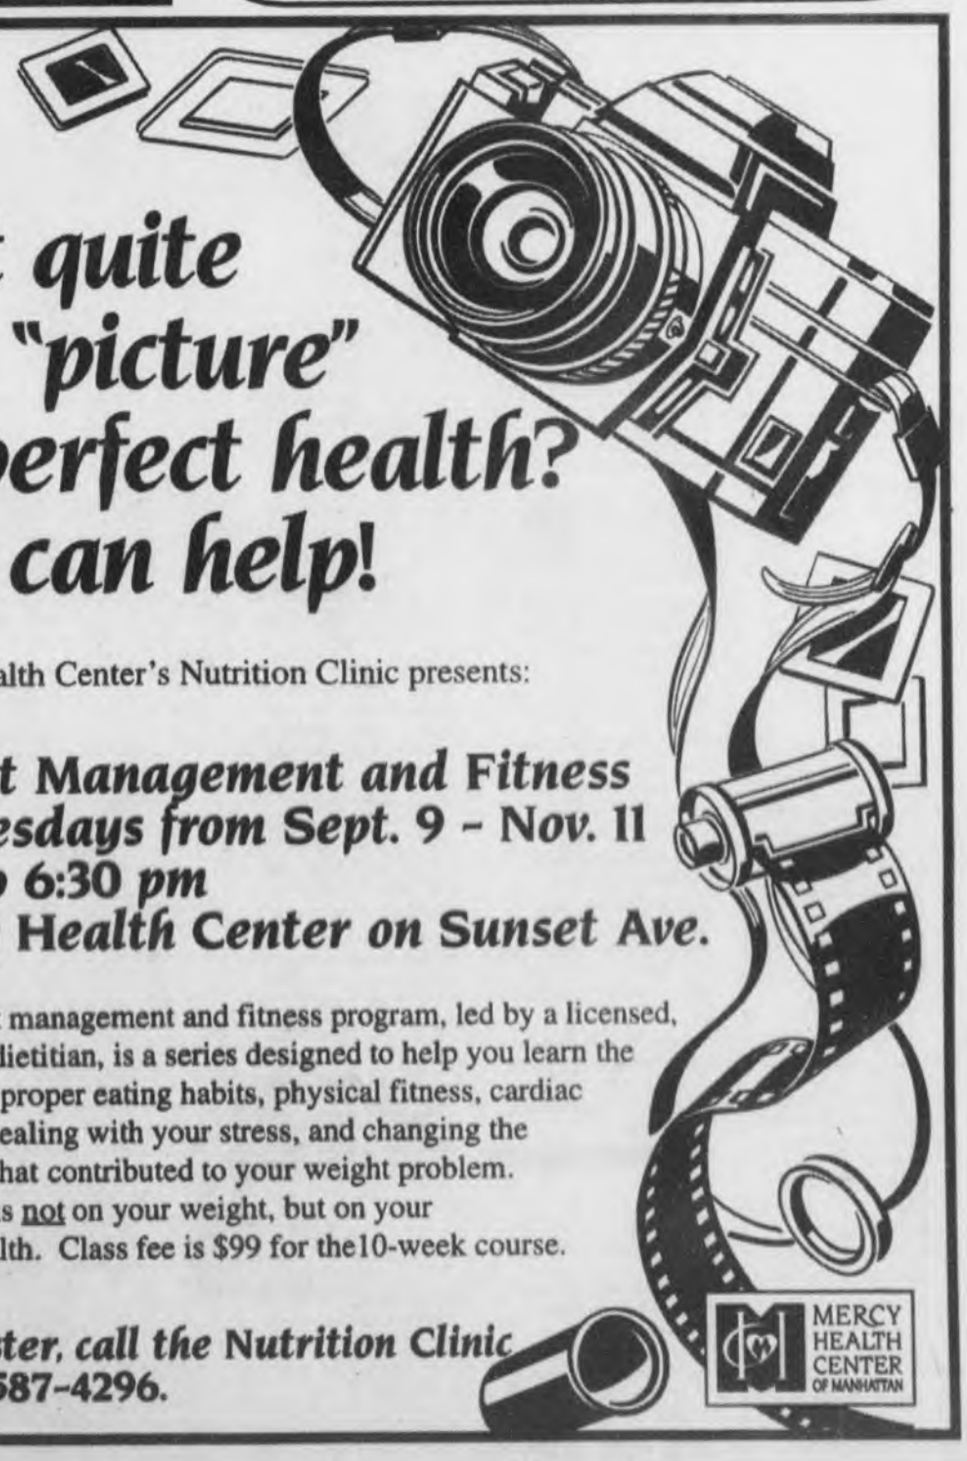
Former & New Clients Welcome 1129 Moro • 537-1332

Hair Experts Design Team
NEW CLIENT "SPECIAL" $10 OFF ANY SERVICE!

FIRST VISIT ONLY
$10 Off Any Service
NEW CLIENTS ONLY
Not valid with any other offer, children's haircuts, or waxing.
#23 Exp. 10/8/98
776-4455
AGGIEVILLE, USA

GREEK Paddles & Gifts
OF BEAUTIFUL SOLID OAK and WALNUT

Assembling Paddles or Making Traditional Greek Gifts?
WE CAN HELP!
We'll arrange a party with discount prices, pizza, pop, & lots of fun with your brothers or sisters.
Ben Franklin Crafts
776-4910
Westloop Shopping Center



American Legion
BINGO!
Sunday 2 p.m.
Tuesday 1:30 p.m.
Wednesday 7:30 p.m.
$1 per card
Up to $300 Cash Prize on Sunday & Wednesday
114 McCall Rd.

PILOTS:
GET A NEW ATTITUDE!

BROCKWAY AVIATION
• TAILWHEEL ENDORSEMENTS
• BASIC AEROBATIC TRAINING
CALL 776-6735

Pregnancy Testing Center
539-3338
•Free pregnancy testing
•Totally confidential service
•Same day results
•Call for appointment
Located across from campus in Anderson Village
Mon.-Fri. 9 a.m.-5 p.m.

Lessons That Will Last A Lifetime.
OFFICER TRAINING SCHOOL
Put that college degree to use by enrolling into the Air Force Officer Training School. Upon successful completion of the Officer Training School, you will become a commissioned Air Force officer with earned respect and benefits like – great starting pay, medical and dental care, management and travel opportunities. For more on how to qualify and get your career soaring with the Air Force Officer Training School, call 1-800-423-USAF, or visit our website at www.airforce.com
AIM HIGH
AIR FORCE
www.airforce.com

Not quite the "picture" of perfect health? We can help!
Mercy Health Center's Nutrition Clinic presents:
Weight Management and Fitness
Wednesdays from Sept. 9 - Nov. 11
5:30 to 6:30 pm
Mercy Health Center on Sunset Ave.
Our weight management and fitness program, led by a licensed, registered dietitian, is a series designed to help you learn the benefits of proper eating habits, physical fitness, cardiac wellness, dealing with your stress, and changing the behaviors that contributed to your weight problem. The focus is not on your weight, but on your overall health. Class fee is $99 for the10-week course.
To register, call the Nutrition Clinic at 785-587-4296.
MERCY HEALTH CENTER OF MANHATTAN

Does your student organization receive Student Governing Association funding? If so, you must attend a
Funding Workshop
Campus Wide Groups
Tuesday, Sept. 8th
5:30 - 7:30 pm
Little Theater, K-State Union
Wednesday, Sept. 9th
5:30 - 7:30 pm
Big 12 Room, K-State Union
College Council and College Council Groups
Thursday, September 10th
5:30 - 7:30pm
Little Theater, K-State Union
Friday, September 11th
5:30- 7:30 pm
Big 12 Room, K-State Union
Call 532-6541 for more information.

CLASS ACT

Coach Bill Snyder showed K-State his true character after Saturday's 66-0 win, sports columnist D. Scott Fritchen says

■ SEE STORY ON PAGE 6

WEDNESDAY
SEPTEMBER 9, 1998

KANSAS STATE UNIVERSITY, MANHATTAN, KAN.
VOLUME 103, NUMBER 12
COLLEGIAN.KSU.EDU

TODAY'S WEATHER

HIGH 84
LOW 57

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Sub. Exp. Date: 00/00
Kansas State Historical Society
Newspaper Section
PO Box 3585
Topeka KS 66601

Lighting still being improved at campus crosswalks

■ Pedestrians, drivers should use common sense when using crosswalks.

BY JOHN FRANSON
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

With a few precautions, students can avoid going through something similar to what Mindy Hines went through last spring.

Hines, sophomore in musical theater, was hit by a car on March 4 as she crossed Denison Avenue at night. Her leg, broken in eight places, later needed surgery, and her head required stitches. The driver of the car didn't see Hines, who was two steps away from reaching the other side of the dark crosswalk.

K-State Police Lt. David Johnson said the lighting at the crosswalk where Hines was hit was one of the last to be upgraded.

"They've got that pretty well-lit now," he said. "Most of them are, because the city has been working on upgrading the lighting at the crosswalks."

Lighting upgrades are continual because new structures or growing trees might block the light, he said.

Carla Jones, associate dean of student life, said she thought the lighting at the crosswalk where Hines was hit still needed improvement.

However, Hines, who was told by her doctor last week that she could run and jump again, said the lighting seemed to be better this year.

Hines said she thought drivers are being more careful now.

Pedestrians, however, shouldn't place too much confidence in drivers, Jones said.

■ READERS WRITE
A student asks for help in finding a hit-and-run driver from the first week of school. See Page 4.

"Make sure that the driver can see you," Jones said. "Don't take a chance on your life."

Inadequate lighting might have been partly to blame for Hines' accident, but stricter precautions taken by pedestrians and drivers could lessen the chance of an accident.

One thing students shouldn't do is step out in front of a fast-moving vehicle, Johnson said. They should make sure the driver sees them and are aware they're about to cross.

"They have to give them time to stop," he said.

Drivers, especially those new to Manhattan, should be careful in crosswalk areas, Johnson said.

"New people need to be aware of where the crosswalks are," he said.

Jones said she wished drivers would ease off the pedal.

"I think there should be some slowing down in those areas," she said.

Her advice for pedestrians included crossing the street only at crosswalks and leaving enough time when hurrying to class to prevent carelessness.

Hines had advice, too. She said to wear light-colored clothing and follow the old rule: Look both ways before crossing the street.

"Don't count on the car to stop," she said.

"Even in the daytime, it's dangerous."

Hines, Johnson and Jones all said eye contact is important. If pedestrians and drivers make eye contact, the former know the latter see them.

Starr opposes giving Clinton report early

BY LAURIE KELLMAN
THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

WASHINGTON, D.C. — The independent counsel's report on President Clinton should reach Congress this week or next, Senate Republican leader Trent Lott said Tuesday as anticipation rose on Capitol Hill. Kenneth Starr told President Clinton's lawyer he opposed letting him see the report early.

"You are mistaken in your views as to ... your right to review a report before it is transmitted to Congress," Starr wrote presidential attorney David Kendall.

CLINTON

The prosecutor, responding to Kendall's letter asking for access to the report a week early, wrote, "I suggest you address your concerns to the House of Representatives" after any report is delivered under seal there.

Democrats, meanwhile, kept blistering Clinton with criticism as harsh as the Republicans'.

"We're fed up," said Sen. Ernest "Fritz" Hollings of South Carolina. "The behavior, the dishonesty of the president is unacceptable, and we'll see with the report what course the Congress will take."

Lott said there might have been more sympathy for Kendall's argument if the White House had not shown a pattern of belated disclosure on other congressional investigations.

"Why is it fair that no one else in the world can get it, but they can?" Lott said. "I really don't think presidents should be entitled to this."

Lott commented on the likely arrival of Starr's investigative report after discussing the matter with House Speaker Newt Gingrich, who is to go over the logistics of possible hearings with Democratic leaders today.

Sen. Barbara Boxer, the California Democrat whose daughter married Hillary Rodham Clinton's younger brother at the White House in 1994, called the president's behavior wrong, indefensible and

■ See CLINTON on PAGE 8

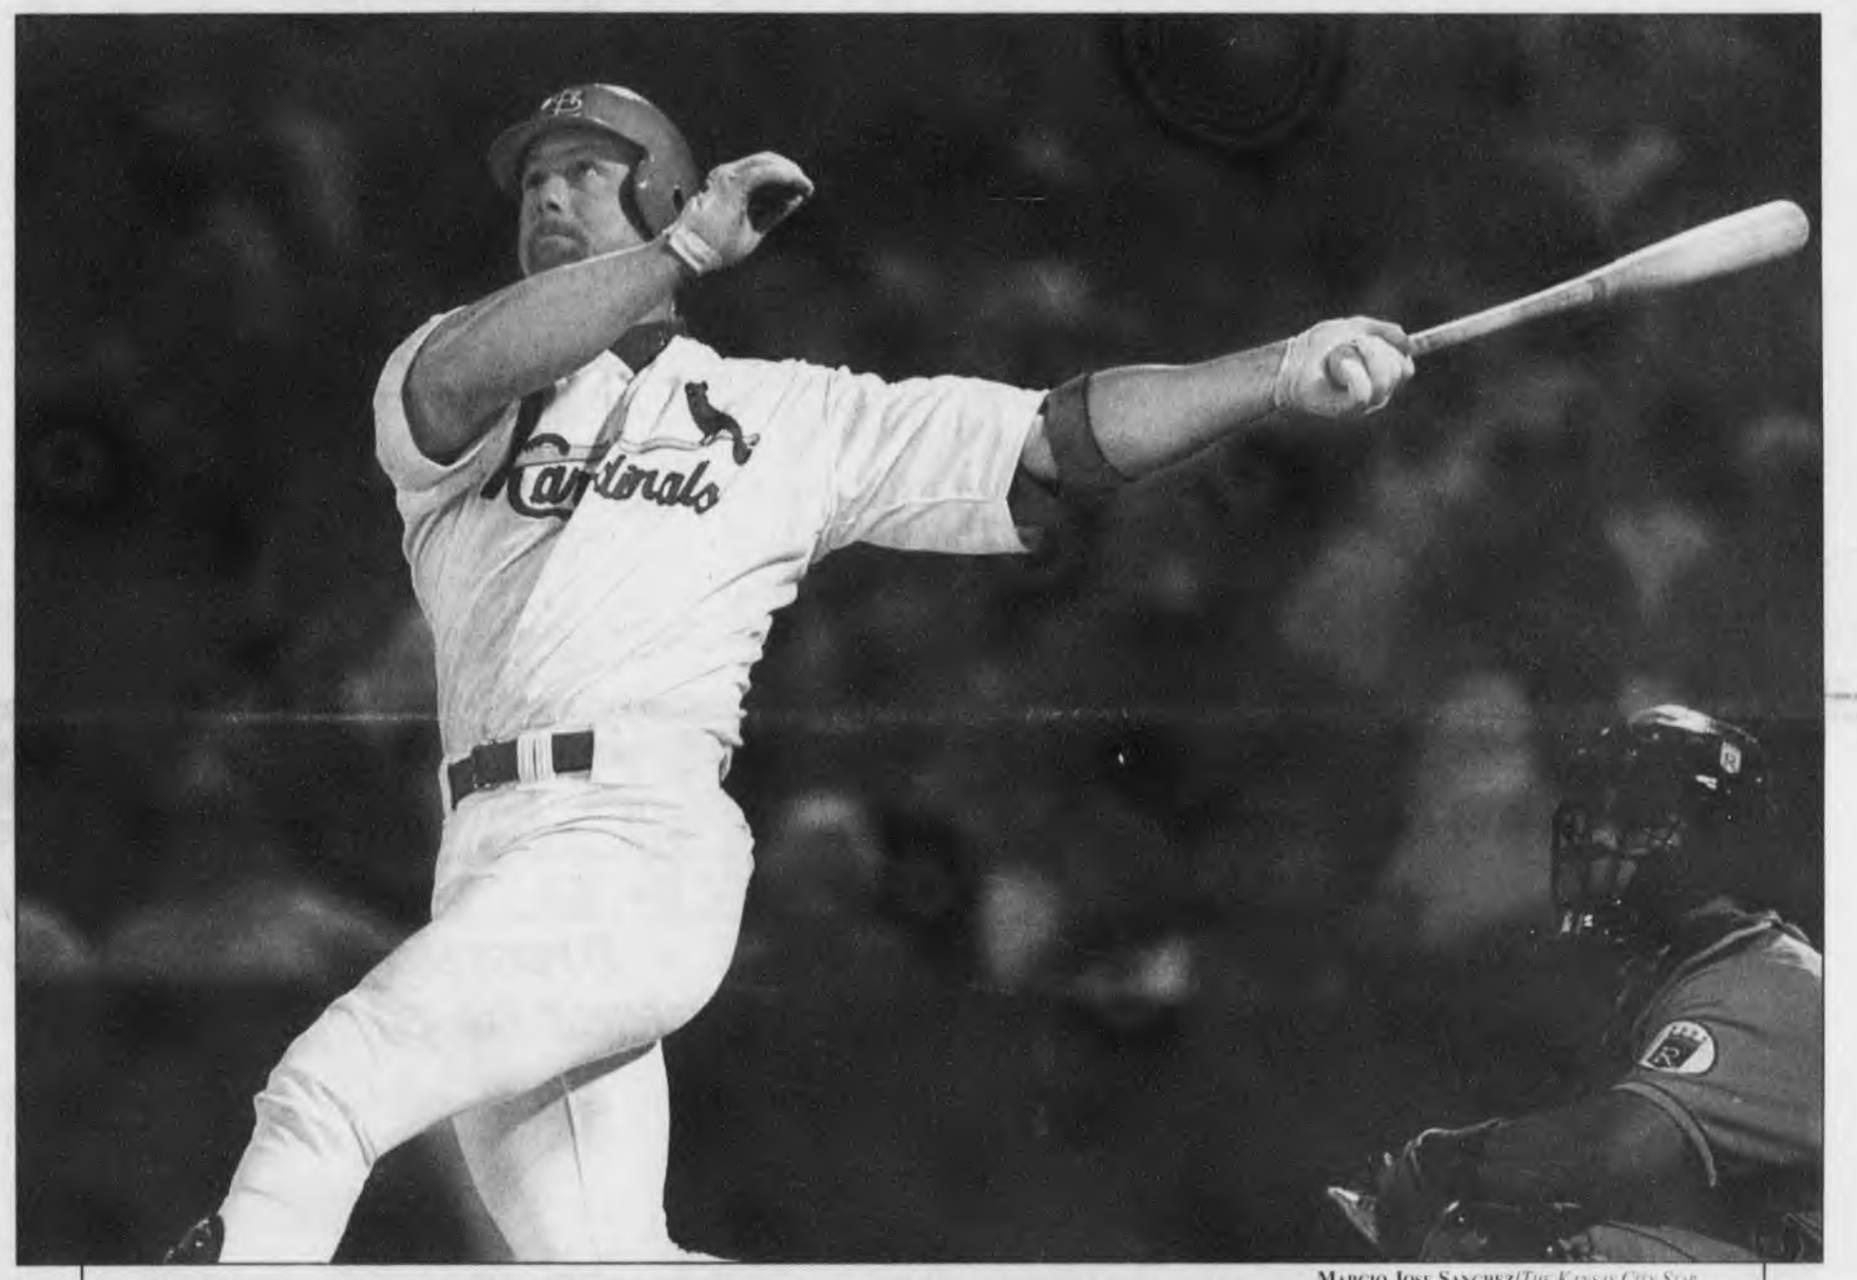
Greenspan ignites 1-day record surge for Wall Street

BY MARTIN CRUTSINGER
THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Federal Reserve Chairman Alan Greenspan, demonstrating anew the affect of his words, ignited the biggest one-day point surge in Wall Street history by suggesting he would consider cutting interest rates if America's "oasis of prosperity" is threatened further by global economic troubles.

Greenspan didn't specify any time frame for action in his speech Friday, but the mere suggestion the Fed is now considering rate cuts was all investors needed to hear.

The Dow Jones industrial average was up more than 300 points within an hour of the opening bell Tuesday and ended the day 380.53 points higher, a record single-day gain that surpassed the 337-point improvement after last October's 554-point plunge.



Wall Street's rally Tuesday was a replay of strong gains Monday in many Asian and European markets when New York markets were closed because of Labor Day.

Economists urged some caution in the midst of the euphoria, contending that investors might be letting their hopes get ahead of Greenspan's actual words.

"Greenspan was telling the world he stands ready to ease, but he hasn't made up his mind yet that such a move will be necessary," said Mark Zandi, economist at Regional Financial Associates in West Chester, Pa.

The Fed's next interest-rate setting meeting is Sept. 29. Few economists said they believe the central bank

■ See DOW on PAGE 8

MARCIO JOSE SANCHEZ/THE KANSAS CITY STAR

Mark McGwire watches his home run fly out of Royals Stadium on June 30 during the St. Louis Cardinal's game against the Kansas City Royals. Mark McGwire hit his 62nd home run of the season Tuesday night against the Chicago Cubs, surpassing the 37-year-old record of 61 home runs in a season, held by Roger Maris.

SIMPLY THE BEST

McGwire secures place in baseball history with 62nd home run

BY BEN WALKER
THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

ST. LOUIS — History wasn't made with one of his magical moonshots or majestic arcs.

Mark McGwire simply lined a laser to left — his shortest home run of the season at 341 feet — and the biggest, most glamorous record in sports was his.

Homer No. 62 came Tuesday night and barely cleared the wall, but no matter. His mighty swing won the race to break Roger Maris' 37-year-old record — without a doubt or an asterisk and with plenty of games to spare.

"I tell you what, I was so shocked because I didn't think the ball had enough to get out," McGwire said. "It's an absolutely incredible feeling. I can honestly say I did it."

McGwire connected with two outs in the fourth inning off the Chicago Cubs' Steve Trachsel for the historic homer, punctuating the chase that reinvigorated the game and captivated the nation.

McGwire was so caught up in the moment that he missed first base as he rounded the bag and had to return to touch it, pulled back by Coach Dave McKay.

From there, McGwire got handshakes from every Chicago infielder as he trotted home to history and a hug from catcher Scott Servais. Cubs right fielder Sammy Sosa, who has 58 home runs, ran in from right field to hug McGwire and give his rival a high-five.

McGwire was mobbed by his teammates at home plate, where he hoisted his 10-year-old batboy son, Matt, high into the air. McGwire then ran into the seats to hug the family of Maris, whose record he had just broken.

Before the game, which the Cardinals won 6-3, McGwire held the bat that Maris used to hit his 61st and rubbed it against his chest.

"Roger, I hope you're with me tonight," McGwire said.

He was, indeed.

As the ball cleared the left-field fence, there was no scramble to retrieve it, because it landed in an area where no fan could get it.

Tim Forneris, a ground-crew worker, picked it up and said he would give it to

■ See MCGWIRE on PAGE 8

■ OUR OPINION
The Collegian Editorial Board says Mark McGwire's pursuit of the home run record has been the greatest thing that could happen to baseball. See Page 4.

Craig Dixon, right, and David Specht, left, react after watching St. Louis Cardinal slugger Mark McGwire hit his 62nd home run on the big-screen television at Scoreboards in Aggieville on Tuesday night. McGwire surpassed Roger Maris' 37-year-old home-run record with the home run.

STEVE HEBERT/KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

NEWS DIGEST

CALENDAR DEADLINES

To place an item in the Calendar, stop by Kedzie 116 and fill out a form or e-mail it to bulletins@spub.ksu.edu by 11 a.m. two days before it is to run.

CALENDAR

Calendar is the Collegian's campus bulletin board service. Items in the planner can be published up to three times. Items might not appear because of space constraints but are guaranteed to appear on the day of the activity. To place an item, stop by Kedzie 116 and fill out a form or e-mail it to collegn@ksu.edu by 11 a.m. two days before it is to run.

■ Mortar Board Senior Honorary will be host to a university forum from noon to 1 p.m. today in the K-State Student Union Courtyard. The forum will be an open-microphone program with administrators.

■ The German Stammtisch will meet at 7 tonight at Rusty's Last Chance Restaurant & Saloon.

■ KSU Aikido Club will meet at 7 tonight in Ahearn 304.

■ The College of Arts and Sciences will conduct an LSAT preparation workshop from 10:30 a.m. to noon today in Union 203.

■ The College of Arts and Sciences will conduct a workshop for applying to law school from 3:30 to 5 p.m. Thursday in Union 203.

■ Career and Employment Services will conduct a winning-interviews workshop at 3:30 p.m. today in Union 212.

■ The State Employees Association of Kansas will have a complimentary pizza lunch at noon today in Union 213. Presentations will include information on employee issues in the upcoming legislative session, KPERS and other issues affecting state employees.

POLICE REPORTS

Reports are taken directly from the K-State and Riley County police departments' daily logs. We do not list wheel locks or minor traffic violations because of space constraints.

K-STATE POLICE
SATURDAY, SEPT. 5

■ No reports of note were made.

SUNDAY, SEPT. 6

■ No reports of note were made.

MONDAY, SEPT. 7

■ At 4:30 a.m., Max F. Koesler, Salina, Kan., was arrested for DUI. He was released on $500 bond.

RILEY COUNTY POLICE
MONDAY, SEPT. 7

■ At 12:07 a.m., Bradley K. Schultz, Ogden, Kan., was arrested for speeding and no proof of insurance. Bond was set at $500.

■ At 2:02 a.m., Tamara R. Silva, 715 Yuma St., was arrested for probation violation. Bond was set at $1,500.

Other reports from Monday were not available at press time.

DAILY REWIND

Daily Rewind collects the top local, state, national and world news from the past 48 hours. Briefs are compiled from wire and staff reports.

Course lets students see inside police force

K-State students can attend the Riley County Police Department Citizen's Academy beginning Thursday.

The academy is a 12-week course that allows Riley County citizens to learn about their local law enforcement and meet key persons involved in running the department.

"This is our third academy, and everybody has really enjoyed it," Sgt. Stanley Conkwright, coordinator of the academy, said.

Conkwright said K-State students seeking a career in law enforcement should attend the classes which are offered once during the fall semester and again in the spring.

"Our department is very unique," Conkwright said. "The benefits are that it gives knowledge of our department, and those considering a career in law enforcement learn a lot."

In addition to learning about general law enforcement, the academy teaches RCPD policies and tips for safety at home and in the workplace.

The Riley County Police Department Citizen's Academy begins Sept. 10. Anyone interested should contact Conkwright at 537-6100 or meet at 7 p.m. at the Riley County Courthouse Plaza East.

—Lauran Cowdrey

Owners align to stop thieves from profiting

WICHITA — Pawnbrokers here are cracking down on thieves who make a profit from reselling stolen property.

Chris Demitras, owner of 1st Class Pawn Shop, is spearheading an effort for pawnshops to exchange information on stolen goods via a fax network. He said he grew tired of telling burglary victims he couldn't help them find their belongings.

"Now, instead of having to stand here and say, 'There's nothing I can do,' I can write down what's missing and within six minutes have that information posted in almost every pawnshop in Wichita," said Demitras, who worked with the Wichita Pawnbrokers Association to start the network.

Demitras said nearly every pawnshop owner has one or two stories about receiving one of the network's faxes within a few minutes of someone walking in the door with the stolen merchandise.

There are no official figures on how many arrests have been aided by the fax network, but one shop owner said the network has led to two arrests in his stores.

"It helps us get a jump on some of these people," said Brodrick Jayroe, owner of Mr. B's Pawn Shop.

"We don't want crooks using us," said Bill Ryan, general manager of The Pawn Shop and president of the Wichita Pawnbrokers Association. "When we loan money on something that's stolen, and we find out about it, we have to give up the property. We're not going to be getting our money back, so this is costing us."

Court rejects appeal by Timothy McVeigh

DENVER — A federal appeals court on Tuesday upheld the conviction of Oklahoma City bomber Timothy McVeigh, who claimed testimony from victims' relatives produced a verdict and sentence based on emotion rather than reason.

The appeals court also rejected eight other avenues of appeal, including pretrial publicity, juror misconduct and barred testimony that others might have carried out the worst bombing on American soil.

McVeigh was convicted of murder, conspiracy and weapons-related charges in the April 19, 1995, bombing of the Alfred P. Murrah Federal Building and sentenced to death. The blast killed 168 people and injured hundreds more.

The emotional testimony from victims' relatives was proper, a three-judge panel of the 10th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals ruled.

"The devastating effects that the deaths of the victims had on their families and loved ones is certainly part and parcel of the circumstances of the crime properly presented," the court said.

Among the 38 witnesses who testified were Pamela Sue Whicher, who told the jurors of her children's feelings of regret about not hugging their father goodbye that day.

Diane Leonard described her vain search of hospitals for her husband. Kathleen Treanor recounted the discovery and return of her deceased daughter's hand six months after the explosion.

The panel said there was no misconduct when a juror decided McVeigh's guilt before the trial was over, and he was not deprived of a fair trial despite news media reports that he had confessed to his lawyers.

McVeigh also claimed Carol Howe should have testified about others at a religious compound in Oklahoma who could have carried out the bombing, but the appeals court said her testimony was irrelevant.

6 dead; Colorado teen in custody for crime

AURORA, Colo. — Carrying shotguns and wearing bandanas over their faces, two teen-agers allegedly killed five people in two homes a few blocks apart. Then one of the boys apparently killed the other, police said.

The surviving suspect, a 17-year-old whose name was not released by police, was booked Tuesday on six counts of first-degree murder.

All six victims and the 17-year-old boy knew each other. But police said they were unsure what triggered the killing spree, one of the worst ever in this Denver suburb.

"The motive is really the $64,000 question," police spokesman Bob Stef said. "We don't know if it was out of anger, revenge, involving someone else."

Neighbors called police Monday afternoon after hearing shots and screams at a two-story blue home with white shutters. Inside, police found the bodies of Penny Medla, a woman in her 30s; Greg Medla, believed to be her 18-year-old son; and his 16-year-old girlfriend. Penny Medla's 6-year-old girl and 9-year-old boy were not hurt.

Witnesses told officers that Michael Martinez, 18, and another teen-age boy strode down the street, walked into the home and opened fire, then walked out.

IRS strikes out tax for valuable baseballs

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Recognizing a foul call, the Internal Revenue Service announced Tuesday that baseball fans won't feel a tax squeeze if they immediately return record-setting home-run balls hit by Mark McGwire or Sammy Sosa.

Earlier IRS statements indicating the valuable baseballs might be subject to taxes even if returned to the sluggers brought derision from Capitol Hill.

"I thought it was a joke," said Rep. Bill Archer, R-Texas, chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee.

White House spokesman Mike McCurry called it "about the dumbest thing I've ever heard in my life."

To defuse the outcry, the IRS said fans wouldn't be subject to income taxes or gift taxes if the ball is returned, comparing the situation to one in which a person declines a prize or gives back unsolicited merchandise.

"Sometimes pieces of the tax code can be as hard to understand as the infield fly rule," IRS Commissioner Charles Rossotti said. "All I know is that the fan who gives back the home-run ball deserves a round of applause, not a big tax bill."

CORRECTION

A story in the Sept. 2 issue of the Collegian contained an error.

This year's theme for the Black Student Union is "United We Stand, Together We Rise."

The Collegian regrets the error.

WEATHER

HIGH 84

LOW 57

Still cooler and dry today, and the sun will be shining. The rest of the week looks dry too, with temperatures remaining in the middle 80s.

CONTACT US

■ NEWSROOM 532-6556
■ ADVERTISING 532-6560
■ CLASSIFIEDS 532-6555

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN
KEDZIE 116
KANSAS STATE UNIVERSITY
MANHATTAN, KS 66506

The Kansas State Collegian (USPS 291 020), a student newspaper at Kansas State University, is published by Student Publications Inc., Kedzie 103, Manhattan, Kan. 66506. The Collegian is published weekdays during the school year and twice a week through the summer. Periodical postage is paid at Manhattan, Kan. 66502. POSTMASTER: Send address changes to Kansas State Collegian, circulation desk, Kedzie 103, Manhattan, Kan. 66506-7167.

© KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN, 1998

GET READY!
KSU CAREER FAIR
Tuesday, Sept. 22 • Bramlage Coliseum
Use these services to prepare!

RESUME BUILDING: Learn how to inventory your experiences, write statements of result, select a format, edit and evaluate.
Tuesday Sept. 15 3:30 p.m. Student Union 212

RESUME CRITIQUE: Drop by with your resume for review and helpful advice.
Friday Sept. 11 3:30 - 5 p.m. Holtz Hall 107B
Friday Sept. 18 3:30 - 5 p.m. Holtz Hall 107B

WINNING INTERVIEWS: Plan and prepare for employment interviews.
Wednesday Sept. 9 3:30 p.m. Student Union 212

HOW TO WORK A CAREER FAIR: Learn how to network with prospective employers for internships, co-op experiences and employment.
Wednesday Sept. 16 3:30 p.m. Student Union 212
Thursday Sept. 17 5 p.m. Willard 114

EMPLOYER PANEL: Hear from recruiters in hospitality, apparel marketing, financial services and human services--what do they look for when evaluating potential employees?
Monday Sept. 21 2:30 p.m. Student Union Little Theater

FOR MORE INFORMATION: www.ksu.edu/ces ces@ksu.edu 532-1691

ABBOTT LABORATORIES
ABF FREIGHT SYSTEM INC
ADECCO
ADP (AUTOMATIC DATA PROCESSING)
AEROTEK INC
AG PROCESSING INC
ALBERMARLE
ALLIED SIGNAL
ALLIEDSIGNAL INC - FEDERAL MANUFACTURING & TECHNOLOGIES
ALTEC INDUSTRIES INC
AMERICAN AIRLINES INC
AMERICAN CYANAMID COMPANY
AMERICAN INSTITUTE OF BAKING
AMERICAN MANAGEMENT SYSTEMS
ANDERSEN CONSULTING
APPLIED COMMUNICATIONS INC
ARAMARK HEALTHCARE SUPPORT SERVICES
ARCHER DANIELS MIDLAND CO
ARMY & AIR FORCE EXCHANGE SERVICE (AAFES)
ARTHUR ANDERSEN LLP
BAIRD KURTZ & DOBSON
BANKER'S LIFE & CASUALTY
BANTA PUBLICATIONS GROUP
BARTLETT& WEST ENGINEERS INC
BAYER CORPORATION
BECKER CPA REVIEW
BFGOODRICH JCAIR TEST SYSTEMS
BLACK & DECKER/DEWALT
BLACK & VEATCH
BNIM ARCHITECTS
BOEING COMPANY
BOYS TOWN USA (FATHER FLANNAGAN'S BOYS' HOME)
BRB CONTRACTORS INC
BRUNGARDT HONOMICHL & COMPANY PA
BURNS & MCDONNELL ENGINEERING
C H ROBINSON COMPANY
CARGILL
CARTER & BURGESS INC
CATERPILLAR INC
CCH INCORPORATED
CDFM2 ARCHITECTURE INC
CELERITAS TECHNOLOGIES
CENEX LAND O'LAKES
CERNER CORPORATION
CESSNA AIRCRAFT COMPANY
CHILI'S
CHRISTENSEN FAMILY FARMS
CINTAS CORPORATION
CITGO PETROLEUM CORPORATION
COMMERCE BANK
COMPUCOM
CONOCO INC
CONSULTANTS LTD (THE)
CONTINENTAL DISC CORPORATION
CONTINENTAL GRAIN
CONTINENTAL GRAIN COMPANY
COUNTRY GENERAL
CROP-TIMIZER/COLLINGWOOD GRAIN
CROP QUEST INC
DAMARK INTERNATIONAL
DEERE & COMPANY
DELOITTE & TOUCHE LLP
DEPT OF LANDSCAPE ARCHITECTURE & REGIONAL & COMMUNITY PLANNING
DIVISION OF PERSONNEL SERVICES
DMW WORLDWIDE
DONNELLY MEINERS JORDAN KLINE
EARL MAY SEED & NURSERY LC
EATON CORPORATION
EDDIE BAUER
EDS
EDWARD JONES
ELF ATOCHEM NA
ELIASON AND KNUTH OF KANSAS CITY INC
EMPORIA STATE UNIVERSITY SCHOOL OF GRADUATE STUDIES
EMPOWER TRAINERS & CONSULTANTS
ENTERPRISE RENT-A-CAR
ERNST & YOUNG LLP
ERNST & YOUNG LLP
ESSEX GROUP INC
EXCEL COMMUNICATIONS EXCEL CORPORATION
EXXON
FARM CREDIT
FARMLAND INDUSTRIES
FASTENAL COMPANY
FBI
FEDERAL DEPOSIT INSURANCE CORPORATION (FDIC)
FEDERAL RESERVE BANK OF KANSAS CITY
FERGUSON ENTERPRISES INC
FINISH LINE(THE)
FIRST BRANDS CORP
FIRST NATIONAL BANK OF OMAHA
FISHER CONTROLS INTERNATIONAL INC
FORT WORTH INDEPENDENT SCHOOL DISTRICT
FRITO LAY INC
FURST-MCNESS COMPANY
G E ENGINE SERVICES
G E JOHNSON CONSTRUCTION COMPANY
GARGIULO INC
GARMIN INTERNATIONAL INC
GE TRANSPORTATION SYSTEMS
GENERAL SERVICES ADMINISTRATION
GEORGE BUTLER ASSOCIATES INC
GOLDEN HARVEST
GOODYEAR TIRE & RUBBER COMPANY
GOODYEAR TIRE & RUBBER COMPANY
GOULD EVANS GOODMAN ASSOCIATES
GRADUATE SCHOOL - KANSAS STATE UNIVERSITY
GRADUATE STUDIES UNIVERSITY OF NEBRASKA-LINCOLN
GRANT THORNTON LLP
GREAT BEND PACKING CO/JOHN MORRELL/SMITHFIELD FOODS
HALLIBURTON
HALLMARK CARDS INC
HALLMARK SPECIALTY RETAIL GROUP
HARMON INDUSTRIES
HARRAH'S NKC CASINO AND HOTEL
HBE CORPORATION
HERMES LANDSCAPING INC
HERSHEY CHOC USA
HOLIDAY INN
HOPKINS MANUFACTURING CORPORATION
HORMEL FOODS CORPORATION
HORST TERRILL & KARST ARCHITECTS PA
HOULIHAN'S RESTAURANT GROUP
HOWARD & HELMER ARCHITECTS PA
HWS CONSULTING GROUP INC
HY-VEE INC
HYATT REGENCY CROWN CENTER
HYATT REGENCY WICHITA
HYBRITECH US A MONSANTO COMPANY
IBM
IBP
IKON
IMC GLOBAL
INET INC
INFORMATION TECHNOLOGY INC
INFORMIX SOFTWARE INC
INPUT/OUTPUT INC
INTERCONNECT DEVICES INC
INTERVOICE INC
INVESTORS FIDUCIARY TRUST COMPANY (IFTC)
IOWA SELECT FARMS
JANSSEN PHARMACEUTICA
JCPENNEY COMPANY
JET PROGRAM
JOHN HANCOCK FINANCIAL SERVICES
JONES STORE
JPI
JPS & ASSOCIATES INC -
JUNCTION CITY FOUNDRY INC
K-STATE RESEARCH AND EXTENSION-EXTENSION OPERATIONS
KANSAS CITY WATER SERVICES DEPT & CITY OF KANSAS CITY
KANSAS DEPARTMENT OF CORRECTIONS
KANSAS DEPARTMENT OF TRANSPORTATION
KANSAS FARM BUREAU
KELLY SCIENTIFIC RESOURCES
KENNEDY AND COE LLC
KETCH
KEY STAFFING
KOCH INDUSTRIES INC
KOHL'S DEPARTMENT STORES
KPMG PEAT MARWICK LLP
KUSTOM SIGNALS INC
LA QUINTA INNS INC
LEARJET INC
LEVI RAY & SHOUP INC
LIBRARY SERVICES COMPANY
LUCENT TECHNOLOGIES
LUTRON ELECTRONICS CO INC
MAC EQUIPMENT INC
MARLEY COOLING TOWER
MARRIOTT LODGING
MARTIN K EBY CONSTRUCTION COMPANY INC
MASSMUTUAL - THE KANSAS CITY MULLINIX AGENCY
MAURICES
MAXIM GROUP
MAXIM HEALTHCARE
MAYTAG APPLIANCES
MCCARTHY CONSTRUCTION COMPANY
MENNONITE CENTRAL COMMITTEE
METLIFE & METLIFE SECURITIES INC
MICHAEL TREANOR ARCHITECTS
MICROSOFT CORPORATION
MIDWEST POULTRY CONSORTIUM INC
MISSOURI DEPARTMENT OF TRANSPORTATION
MISSOURI DIVISION OF FAMILY SERVICES-JACKSON COUNTY
MISSOURI STATE HIGHWAY PATROL
MODINE MANUFACTURING COMPANY
MOORMAN'S INC
MORTON BUILDINGS INC
MOTOROLA SSTG
MR GOODCENTS FRANCHISE SYSTEMS INC
MURPHY FAMILY FARMS
NABISCO BISCUIT COMPANY
NASH FINCH COMPANY
NATIONAL AGRICULTURAL STATISTICS SERVICE
NATIONAL PARK SERVICE
NAVY OFFICER PROGRAMS
NEW ENGLAND FINANCIAL
NEWSHAM HYBRIDS (USA) INC
NORTHWESTERN MUTUAL LIFE/BAIRD SECURITIES-THE ERTZ AGENCY
NORWEST FINANCIAL
NOVARTIS CROP PROTECTION
OKLAHOMA DEPARTMENT OF TRANSPORTATION
OKLAHOMA STATE UNIVERSITY - GRADUATE COLLEGE
OLD NAVY
OLDE DISCOUNT CORPORATION
OMAHA PUBLIC POWER DISTRICT
ONSITE COMPANIES
OPRYLAND USA
ORTHO-MCNEIL PHARMACEUTICAL
OSCO DRUG/SAV-ON DRUGS
OVERLAND PARK POLICE DEPARTMENT
PATRICK MURPHY AGENCY (THE)
PAYLESS SHOESOURCE
PETERBILT MOTORS COMPANY
PHILLIPS PETROLEUM COMPANY
PIC USA
PORK GROUP (THE) - TYSON FOODS INC
PREMIER PNEUMATICS INC
PREMIUM STANDARD FARMS
PRICE WATERHOUSE LLP
PRINCIPAL MUTUAL LIFE
PROCTER & GAMBLE
PULTE HOME CORPORATION
RAFAEL ARCHITECTS INC
RALSTON PURINA
RAYTHEON AIRCRAFT
RAYTHEON SYSTEMS COMPANY
RED LOBSTER
REGIONAL MORTGAGE CORPORATION
ROSS & BARUZZINI INC
RPS
RTKL ASSOCIATES INC
RUSSELL STOVER CANDIES INC
SABRE GROUP (THE)
SANDIA NATIONAL LABORATORIES
SAS INSTITUTE INC
SAUER-SUNDSTRAND COMPANY
SCHLUMBERGER
SEABOARD FARMS
SECURITY BENEFIT GROUP
SERVI-TECH INC
"SHAFER, KLINE & WARREN"
SHAW CONSTRUCTION
SHERWIN-WILLIAMS COMPANY (THE)
SMITH SEEKMAN REID INC
SMOOT CO
SOUTHWESTERN BELL
SPRINT
STAGE STORES INC
STATE FARM INSURANCE
STEAK N SHAKE
SUPERTEL HOSPITALITY INC
SWINE MANAGEMENT SERVICES DIV OF PURINA MILLS INC
SYMBIOS INC
TACO BELL CORPORATION
TALBOTS INC
TARGET
TECHNISOURCE INC
TEKSYSTEMS
TERRACON
TEXAS INSTRUMENTS INC
TEXAS TECH UNIVERSITY
TONY'S PIZZA SERVICE
TRACTOR SUPPLY COMPANY
TRANSCRYPT INTERNATIONAL
TRANSYSTEMS CORPORATION
TURNER CONSTRUCTION COMPANY
UNION PACIFIC
UNITED STATES ARMY
UNITED STATES MARINE CORPS OFFICER SELECTION OFFICE
UNITED STATES PEACE CORPS
USDA GRAIN MARKETING & PRODUCTION RESEARCH CENTER
USDA NATURAL RESOURCES CONSERVATION SERVICE
VANCE PUBLISHING CORPORATION
VENATOR GROUP (FORMERLY WOOLWORTH CORP)
VIAGRAFIX CORP
VILLAGE INN RESTAURANTS
VISHAY DALE ELECTRONICS
WAL-MART STORES INC
WESTERN AUTO PARTS AMERICA
WOLF CREEK NUCLEAR OPERATING CORPORATION
WORLDCOM
WYNDHAM HOTELS AND RESORTS
YELLOW FREIGHT SYSTEM INC
ZENECA PHARMACEUTICALS

KSU Career Fair is sponsored by Agriculture Ambassadors/Ag REPS, College of Agriculture; Dean's Student Advisory Council, College of Architecture, Planning and Design; Arts and Sciences Ambassadors, College of Arts and Sciences; Marketing Club, College of Business Administration; Education Student Ambassadors, College of Human Ecology; Salina Student Government Associations, College of Technology and Aviation; and Career and Employment Services.

Students help others through Crisis Center

By Amanda Levin
Kansas State Collegian

Editor's Note: Because they deal with sensitive family situations and counseling, the last names of some shelter volunteers have been withheld to protect their identity.

K-State students find valuable experience through crisis situations.

Each year, many students donate their time and effort to help the lives of others at the FONE Crisis Center and Crisis Center Inc. of Manhattan.

The on-campus FONE Center employs K-State students and handles all crisis situations. Crisis Center Inc. is located off campus and deals with domestic violence and sexual-assault cases.

The FONE Center and the Crisis Center Inc. depend on K-State students and others to volunteer to keep these non-profit organizations running.

"I recommend volunteering for the FONE Crisis Center to anybody," said Rachael Ball, senior in family life and community service and assistant coordinator for the center. "Helping others through volunteer work not only builds great résumés, but also character. It's a real eye-opener to a different world outside your own social crowd."

At the FONE Center, crisis calls vary depending on the season and the events going on at that time, Ball said.

While volunteering for the FONE Center, students gain experience but also have time for themselves.

"Volunteering at the center gives me time to help others and also time to study, watch movies or read books," said Crystal Morrison, senior in psychology and social work. "Because our main duty is to answer the calls, and many times the phones don't ring back-to-back."

Morrison said volunteering at the FONE Center gives her experience for her major. She said she has become a better listener, and it has given her a more diverse outlook on life.

Volunteers and staff members at the FONE Crisis Center recruit volunteers each semester using fliers, presentations to organizations and word-of-mouth.

The volunteers and staff at the FONE Crisis Center do not give advice or make decisions for the callers. They are there to listen, help callers seek other options and give referrals.

The FONE Crisis Center is open from 5 p.m. to 8 a.m. seven nights a week. The number to call is 537-0999 or 539-0999; every call is anonymous.

The Crisis Center also employs K-State students but has volunteers off campus.

Amber, senior in psychology and women's studies, became a volunteer for the center after taking the Introduction to Women's Studies class taught by Judy Davis, executive director of the Crisis Center.

"I found out that the little time a week I sacrificed was worth the helpful service I was providing," Amber said.

The Crisis Center has a shelter with an anonymous location for the safety of the women and children who live there. At the shelter, they provide education and group therapy, as well as a plan set up by the victim and a volunteer or staff member. The plan includes steps the victim wants to take to stop the violence against them and sometimes their children.

"The children's program provided by the Crisis Center really gave me hands-on experience, while completing required volunteer hours," said Tosha, senior in social work and family studies and human services.

Tosha has been volunteering at the center for three years and is a police response advocate. A police response advocate is someone who goes on domestic-violence calls with the police to talk to the victim.

Allison, senior in family life and community service, also entered the volunteering program at the center through a women's studies course offered on campus. She has worked there for nine months and is in a night-staff position.

"Volunteering is the best thing I have ever done for others and for myself," Allison said.

While volunteering, Allison said she received information and experience valuable to her major.

"Working with clients really broke down some stereotypes I had and also has given me an experience that will help me better work with people in the future," she said.

Davis said volunteers are an important part of the day-to-day routine.

"Every volunteer makes a difference for the center, and I think we make a difference in their lives," Davis said.

Ivan Kozar/Kansas State Collegian

REPLACING BROKEN GLASS

Harold Vays replaces broken windows at a greenhouse north of Throckmorton Hall on Denison Avenue. The windows were broken during a hail storm earlier this summer.

County replaces generator vital to community

By Elizabeth Schofield
Kansas State Collegian

County converts 20-year-old generator for use in powering 911 calls to RCPD

The Riley County Police Department back-up generator that powers services such as 911 access failed several times during summer power outages, leaving Manhattan residents with limited access to emergency service.

In May, the beginning of severe-weather season in Kansas, the 40-year-old generator had failures during power outages.

During at least two outages over the summer, the 911 system was transferred to the fire department. RCPD was forced to bring in portable generators to back up the unstable main generator.

"The problem was we have 68,000 to 70,000 people that rely on the 911 system," Emergency Management Coordinator Pat Collins said. "If there were a long-term outage, like an hour, we would lose our ability to transmit to other facilities like the fire department or ambulance services."

Although repairs kept the old generator alive, it became apparent by August that a replacement generator was necessary. The portable generators couldn't meet the demands of the department.

"Ideally, you need to have power to the whole facility," RCPD Captain Brad Schoen said.

Schoen said the portable generators could not power all the computer equipment and other necessary components of the system.

The county had a generator, 20 years old and slightly smaller, that would be more reliable. The department worked in conjunction with the county, KPL Gas Service and different vendors to supply the parts needed for the conversion.

During the conversion process, power outages were a significant threat. If a power outage were to occur, RCPD had to go to the basement, flip the breakers and then manually turn the generator on outside.

While the automatic switchover to generator power takes three seconds, it took more than 10 minutes to make the switchover manually.

"We had to scramble like mad," Schoen said.

The wiring for the old generator was underground with the generator itself, housed in a weather-proof, concrete shed. KPL re-routed the wiring from the power line to the generator.

Having the lines run overhead instead of underground is less secure, Schoen said, but it should not be a problem.

"A tornado would have to come right through here, and if that happens, we're going to have problems anyway," Schoen said.

The new generator sits on a small trailer next to the shed that houses the old one.

A fence is being built around the area this week.

Schoen said the department plans to leave the generator on the trailer until it moves to its new facility with a replacement generator next year.

UAB Registration Deadline:

Friday, September 25th

Registration forms are available in the Office of Student Activities and Services (Ground Floor, K-State Union). 532-6541

⚠ Why be registered? ⚠

Registered groups can:

1. Reserve university meeting rooms and facilities
2. Request funds from Student Governing Association
3. Obtain approval of fund-raising activities

Learn more about the benefits of being registered at the Program Planning and University Resources Workshop Tuesday, September 22nd at 7 pm in Room 212 of the K-State Student Union.

TAKE THIS JOB AND LOVE IT.

The dream of becoming an engineer is far from a universal one. Engineers are a special breed. At the Cessna Aircraft Company, our special breed of engineers have designed the world's fastest, most versatile, and most popular business jets.

How would you like to do this for a living? Stop by the Cessna booth during the September 22nd Career Fair and find out a few things that will help you answer that question.

Cessna
A Textron Company
www.cessna.textron.com

VISIT OUR BOOTH AT THE CAREER FAIR ON SEPTEMBER 22, 1998

OUR VIEW

Fans forgive history; McGwire rewrites it

Baseball is back, and thanks to Mark McGwire, the fans are back as well.

A few years ago, the sport of baseball suffered a world of hurt when America's Game was put on hold with a players' strike. There was nothing that year. No Wild Card races, no pennants, no American League Champions, no World Series, no peanuts and no Cracker Jacks.

Nothing.

The strike killed the game, and fans responded. The following year attendance plummeted, and fans were angry. A game that brought families together, united hearts and blended people of ages, race and color was killed.

Baseball was dead.

Now, a home-run chase saved it. And Tuesday night, McGwire put himself into the history books, and united fans across the country.

No. 62 officially marked the return of America's Pastime. Mark McGwire helped save baseball.

All across the world, fans were glued to the television, hoping to catch a glimpse of baseball history. From Ma and Pa Couch Potato sitting in the living room to 12 fraternity brothers hanging out in a run-down pizza joint in Chicago — the excitement was everywhere.

Everyone will remember exactly where they were the night they saw McGwire hit No. 62. History will define this moment.

Now, all of baseball is a part of it. From Chicago pitcher Mike Morgan, who gave up the 61st to Craig Wilson, a former K-Stater who was just called up to the majors last week; everyone is a part of it.

Last night, with one swing of the bat, McGwire delivered. And the fans took notice — every lucky fan in Busch Stadium and every fan glued to a TV set.

Baseball is back.

EDITORIAL BOARD

EDITOR-IN-CHIEF
JILL JARSULIC

MANAGING EDITOR/ PRESENTATION
TODD STEWART

NEWS EDITOR
TRAVIS D. LENKNER

PHOTO EDITOR
STEVE HEBERT

CAMPUS EDITOR
KELLEE MILLER

CITY/GOVERNMENT EDITOR
MATT KREPS

SPORTS EDITOR
JEREMY KELLEY

ARTS & ENTERTAINMENT EDITOR
DIANA LEE

OPINION EDITOR
JON KURCHE

COPY CHIEF
JANET COOK

eCOLLEGIAN EDITOR
R.J. DIEPENBROCK

SPECIAL PROJECTS EDITOR
ANGELA KISTNER

OUR VIEW, an editorial selected and debated by the editorial board, is written after a majority opinion is formed. The editorial board consists of Collegian editors and other staff members. OUR VIEW is the Collegian's official opinion.

READERS WRITE

Students, faculty must join in fight for improvements

Editor,

I appreciated much of your editorial concerning faculty pay at K-State in Sept. 2's Collegian. I certainly agree with you that K-State faculty deserve better. However, there's one point I wish to discuss.

You wrote in reference to last year's push for adequate library funding, "Did administrators make their case, or should we doubt their preaching abilities?" I would call that a leave-it-to-Jon attitude, and I think something better is needed.

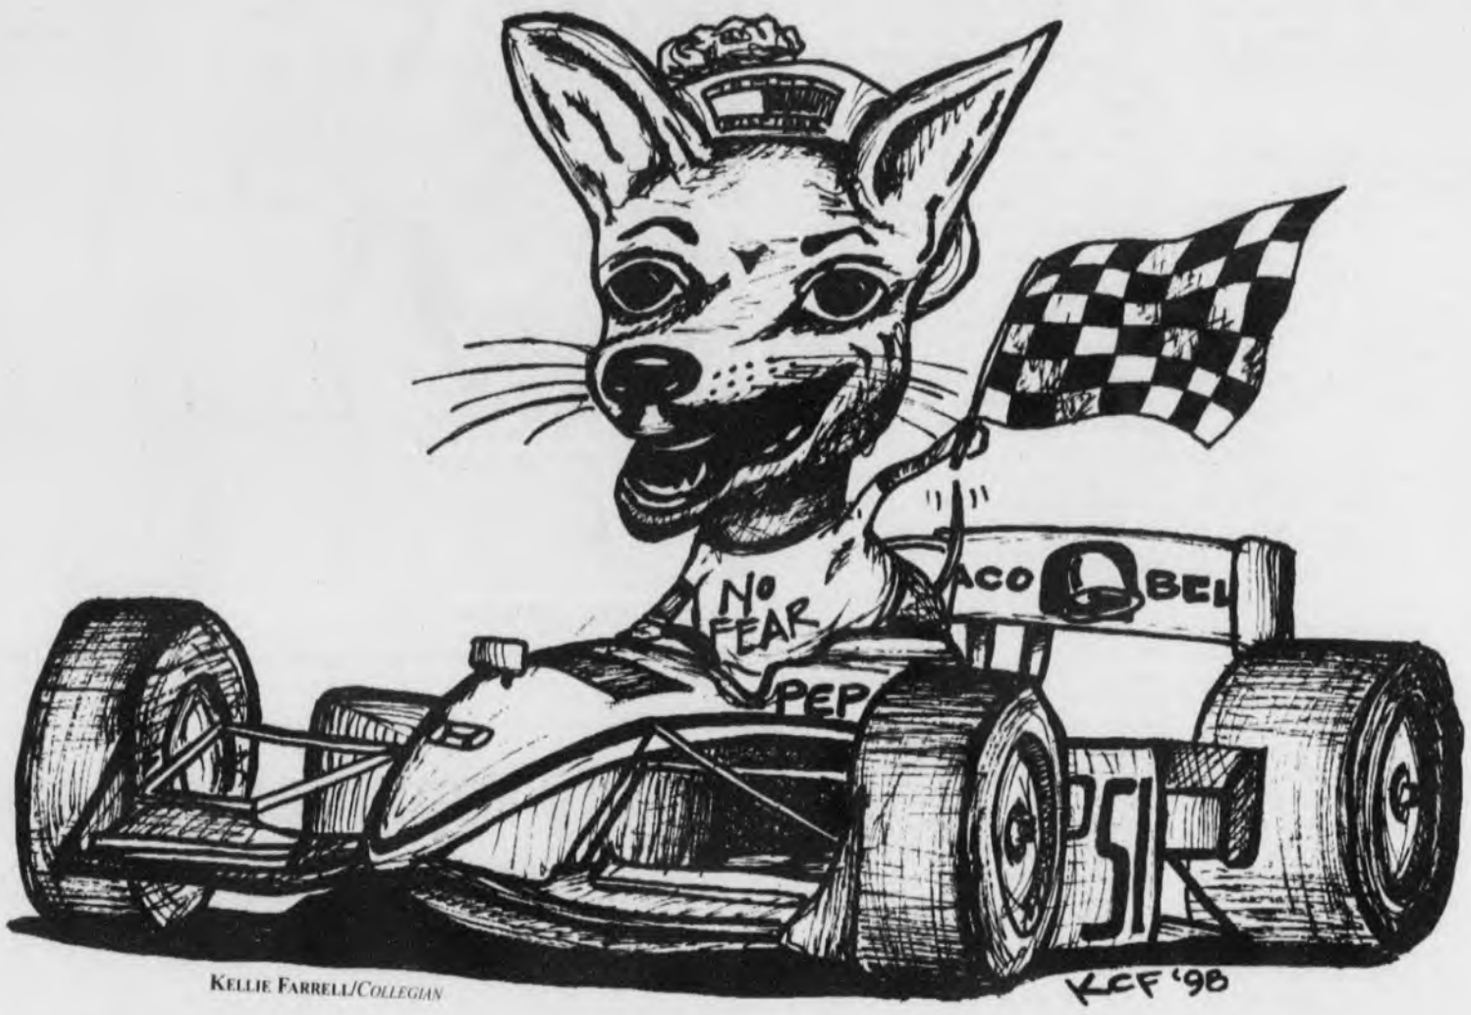
If students and faculty believe the state should fund our library adequately, we all need to help make the case. If students and faculty believe the state should pay our faculty a competitive wage so that we don't lose some of our best teachers and researchers, we all need to help make the case. If we insist on leaving it to Jon Wefald and Bill Docking, our Legislature might never believe how seriously the university and its students are being short-changed.

If students say their voices don't make a difference, I can point to two buildings on this campus, Hale Library and Nichols Hall, that wouldn't be standing if the students had not made their wishes known. I hope students, faculty, administrators and the Kansas Board of Regents can join to "make the case." That's how changes can be made.

— Jim Legg,
professor of physics

Student asking for help locating hit-and-run driver

Editor,



I am writing with the hope that someone can help me in locating a hit-and-run driver. At 10:25 a.m. on Aug. 28, I was hit by a car while using a crosswalk on Manhattan Avenue.

The car, which was heading south, was hunter green with no spoiler or personalized license plate on the back. The passenger-side mirror would have been knocked loose, and it had all the glass in it broken when it hit my stomach. There was no way the driver could not have known he or she hit me, yet he or she sped up and left me standing in shock in the middle of the street.

I was rushed to the emergency room by a driver who witnessed the incident, and I now have rubber embedded in my knee from the car's front or side bumper. I also lost plenty of skin on my leg, elbow and hand — the equivalent of third degree burns.

The police are looking out for the car, but have been unable to locate it in more than a week. As time passes, I grow worried that this person will never be found. So, I'm asking anyone who might have seen this happen or has a neighbor who saw a car with this description, to contact the police at 537-2112.

— Rita St. Romain
senior in elementary education

KELLIE FARRELL/COLLEGIAN

ADVERTISING ZOMBIES

Ability to think for one's self now a lost art form

VIEWPOINT

JASON RUCKER

A disease has swept across campus and continues to sweep the globe. Symptoms include the inability to think for oneself, gregarious behavior and mindless purchases. The disease is advertising. It seems curious that 10 years ago talk about advertising centered around the possible-evil of subliminal messages, when today the industry has the public's mind in a more vicelike grip than ever.

The most blatant example is in the fashion world. Does anyone else remember when the brand names of clothing were found on the tags? Think back to the last time you bought a shirt because it looked cool, not because of the name splashed across the front of it in obscenely large letters.

What sells today is a joke. At one time, designer labels actually produced higher-quality clothing items with unique styles and inflated prices. Today, they go to an outlet mall, buy a bunch of irregular T-shirts at $5 each, spend a few bucks for the ink to print their names on the shirt and sell them at department stores for $40 a pop.

The chumps, who buy the shirts and parade around as human billboards, are the sickest part of the whole thing. Instead of the designer having to pay an agency to do the advertising, they sell a shirt and get their advertising to boot, genius.

From fashion we move to the ad-laden world of food. Sticking to outstanding examples, the food industry's flagship of advertising debauchery is Taco Bell. I remember a time not so long ago when it most commonly was referred to as "Taco Hell" by even the poorest college students. The name was all too fitting for the quality of food served.

A few million dollars worth of advertising starring a talking rat later, Taco Bell has obliterated its competitors in the fast-Mexican-food market. Not only that, it's now a hip place to eat. It even has its own annoying nickname. Who hasn't heard an overzealous teen ask, "Hey man, we're going to the Bell, you wanna go?"

Many of these people were the same ones who popularized the old Taco Hell moniker. Now that their brains soak up several talking-rat ads a day, they've been converted to loyal consumers.

Personally, I find those ads spooky. Once again, the joke is on us. A few additions aside, the menu is basically the same, and the quality is no different than when the franchise first opened its doors. Entertaining commercials have overcome consumers' taste buds.

A few short years ago, NASCAR and professional wrestling were looked upon as entertainment for kids, rednecks and imbeciles. Today, both are hot tickets. Why? Advertising.

I can remember being into pro-wrestling back in the day when Hulk Hogan and Andre the Giant were the big attractions in the World Wrestling Federation.

We knew wrestling was choreographed, but it was fun. Then it all died away, and no one watched.

A few thousand Goldberg and Steve Austin T-shirts later, there are people who set up two televisions so they can watch "WCW Monday Nitro," and "WWF Raw is War" at the same time. Before you know it, it might challenge "Monday Night Football!"

Which brings me to NASCAR, formerly the pastime of gear-heads and rednecks. It is now a significant event that rakes in millions in merchandise from fans of all backgrounds. The shift in popularity seems to have come conveniently on the heels of a lot of advertising starring drivers.

I actually overheard this conversation in Norman, Okla., at the Kansas City Chiefs vs. Tampa Bay Buccaneers preseason game. Yelling across the stadium were two inebriated gentlemen:

"Dale Earnhardt sucks! Jeff Gordon rules!"

"Jeff Gordon sucks! Dale Earnhardt rules!"

It was like the classic Bugs Bunny and Daffy Duck rabbit season-duck season argument with both parties trying to trip up the other with word shifts, or was that just heavily slurred speech?

Advertising has taken a strangle hold on the minds of consumers. Not that advertising is an industry of malicious fiends; they're only trying to make a little cash like the rest of us. The problem is, we have made it too easy. We, as consumers, no longer demand any quality in return for our dollars as long as we are lulled by constant reassurances from celebrities and talking rats that we have made the right purchase.

Let ads inform you, but don't let them think for you.

Jason Rucker is a senior in animal science. You can e-mail him at anubis@ksu.edu.

Kansas' capital city could be worse, but not much

VIEWPOINT

RUSSELL FORTMEYER

For a capital city, you could do a lot worse than Topeka.

Say, maybe, Gem, Kan., instead.

No thanks. Topeka will do just fine.

From its deserted downtown to its decaying waterfront to its endless supply of bright strip malls on Wanamaker Road, Topeka glitters with the vitality of Kansas in a way that screams nuclear annihilation.

Maybe it's the highly dense conglomeration of intelligentsia crafting a glorious civilization from within the Statehouse. Or surely it's the hum of the Kansas Film Commission welcoming significant players to our burgeoning film industry. No, it's definitely the remnants of a Russian czar exhibition that continues to intrigue the city's artisans. Even Peter the Great, if found to be alive within his tomb with eyesight and mind intact, undoubtedly would give an approving nod to Topeka.

Topeka — a city on the grow!

Is this invigorating wave of Cold War boosterism sweeping into your living room? Just what is it that makes today's Topeka so different, so inviting?

As Gov. Bill Graves might say if he would return my calls, "I validate your excitement for our capital city. Next time you are at the Statehouse, load them high and tight and stop and see me for a prearranged photo opportunity. And remember, Son, Topeka is the state's city."

Such are the intriguing currents of thought pouring from our figurative heart. Do remember that as one progressively travels down the line of power in Topeka from governor to KDOT flagperson, the political statements get less intelligible, but usually more interesting.

"This is my flag. It's orange. I wave it. Drivers are to slow down and stuff. It's orange," a flagperson might say in a sure-fire nod to surrealist literature, which was conceived in Topeka of all places.

Although the benefits of living in such an important political center are certainly large in number, there are benefits for those of use who are forced to live in more, shall we say, backwater locales.

For instance, living in Manhattan practically guarantees that one cannot see Topeka from one's window — even as a dot on the horizon. The fact that I am not forced actually to look at Topeka or even consider its existence on a daily basis is more positive reinforcement than any overpaid analyst or wife could provide. As one who travels frequently to the Kansas City metropolitan area, which requires one to drive through Topeka on Interstate 70 for a brief spell, I've often wondered why a super-tunnel could not be dug so as to avoid this visual interruption.

Ultimately, one is forced to recognize Topeka, if only to take part in the opening of its grand theater and opera season, available on the local Public Broadcasting Service channel, and its annual exhibition of the always affable Hogswinery Days at the Capitol.

Is it really fair for Kansas to have such an important political and cultural capital when the rest of the country's states is forced to settle for bland capital cities whose only import to the state is the money bags of its legislature? Are we selfish for having a Topeka when others settle for Jefferson City, Sacramento, Carson City and Oklahoma City?

The decision of other states, but not Kansas, for locating their capitols in relatively unimportant cities is a national tradition that fortunately skipped us.

It was a way for those states to set up an autonomy between the government and the social, financial and cultural institutions that had come to rule the rest of the state.

In Kansas, Topeka acts as everything we could ever desire — a literal showplace of the best of the state. Other artistically rich cities, such as Wichita and Lawrence, are marginalized by the overwhelming cultural output of the capital, for no one seasons in Wichita.

How many of us keep second homes in Topeka, if only to take part in the endless political galas that have made the city the delight of the Midwest? Wasn't it Mark Twain who said, "I never met a Topekan I didn't like." Who doesn't anticipate an election year, such as this, in Kansas when the Capitol electrifies with intriguing gossip and discussion as the enormous shifts of concentrated power erupt before us?

These thoughts leave us with the question — will it last? Can such a Promethean flame really burn as bright so long. How much longer, dear Kansans, can our state's precious leaders continue to sustain this civitas?

Russell Fortmeyer is a fifth-year senior in architectural engineering. You can e-mail him at rmf@ksu.edu.

Game weekends make finding hotel room difficult

Few rooms remain at any hotel in town; waiting lists only option for some fans

By JOHN FRANSON
Kansas State Collegian

When it comes to finding a room on big game weekends in Manhattan, the employees of local hotels and motels all say the same thing.

It's nearly impossible.

"We've been booked up since the end of May," said Kelly Brown, front desk clerk at Best Western Continental Inn.

Other motels had openings, but only a small number.

"It will be quite impossible September 18 and 19, November 13 and 14 and October 16 and 17, and the others are filling up quickly," said Billie Piper, reservationist for Ramada Inn.

Rooms on game weekends are booked up months in advance, motel employees said. People begin reserving rooms as soon as the schedule comes out.

Melinda Peralta, front desk clerk at Hampton Inn, said people generally reserve rooms about two months before a game.

However, their rooms are not guaranteed.

"People put them on a 6 p.m. hold, and if they don't show up, we walk people in," she said.

Motel employees said cancellations always occur, allowing the accommodation of walk-ins and those on waiting lists, but most people are turned away.

"Sometimes we turn away 20 people," Brown said.

If there are no rooms in town, visitors must find lodging in cities such as Junction City, Wamego, Topeka or Abilene.

At Fairfield Inn, 34 people are on the waiting list for the Northeast Louisiana game.

Fairfield is booked up for every home game except the Northern Illinois game, said Jessica Devader, front desk associate.

Brad Everett, general manager at Fairfield, said the two new motels, Fairfield and Hampton, have increased the number of rooms in Manhattan by 30 percent.

Everett said he thought Manhattan has the right number of rooms, considering the number of vacancies during weekdays and non-game weekends.

"We have some severe peaks and valleys," he said.

Fans probably won't have much luck finding rooms at local bed and breakfasts, either.

"We book up pretty far in advance," said Kevin Peirce, co-owner of the four-room Fairchild Inn. "The Nebraska game booked up immediately. The other ones booked up three or four months in advance."

Fairchild Inn, like the motels, has a waiting list, and sometimes people cancel reservations, Peirce said.

Some motels already are tapping into their waiting lists for next weekend's game.

"We've had cancellations, and we're going to be giving people a call," Everett said.

Home away from home.....
A Guide to Manhattan Hotels

In the Country Inn
A Cozy Bed and Breakfast
Linda Roth, Innkeeper
Route 1, Box 8, Belvue, Kansas 66407
25 miles East of Manhattan
(785) 636-5409
We still have openings for football weekends!
Member of Kansas B&B Association

Ehrsam Place Bed and Breakfast
Enterprise, KS
Plan to stay with K-Staters on your next trip to Manhattan. Located just 35 miles southwest of Manhattan, you have the option of joining the hosts for a ride to the game and a tailgate party at their numbered parking place!

Just off I-70, 5 miles east of Abilene
Call today for reservations (785)263-8747
mary@worldinformall.com
www.worldinformall.com/ehrsamplace
Mary & William L Lamber, innkeepers

Hampton Inn
For A Great Night's Rest You Can Always Count On Hampton Inn®
At the new Hampton Inn you can count on a good night's rest in clean, comfortable and spacious guest rooms and king studies. Plus you'll enjoy our free breakfast selections, indoor pool, whirlpool, fitness facilities, free local phone calls, cable with HBO and on demand movies, voice mail/data port phones and in room coffee makers, irons and ironing boards. Meetings for up to 100 people can be arranged onsite at our facilities.
Even more... Hampton Inn offers a 100% Satisfaction Guarantee or your night's stay is free. When you consider the rest, you can easily see why you can count on Hampton Inn.
For reservations call:
785-539-5000
1-800-HAMPTON
Just north of East Highway 24 at 501 East Poyntz Ave. Manhattan, Kansas 66502
100% SATISFACTION GUARANTEED

WEDNESDAY
BEST DEALS IN THE VILLAGE
$1 WELLS
$1 CALLS
LIVE DJ
DANCE TO ALL TYPES OF MUSIC
NO COVER 21 & OVER
18 TO ENTER, 21 TO DRINK
THURSDAY
LADIES NIGHT
NO COVER FOR THE LADIES
BOTTLES
Manhattan 539-9250
SILVERADO SALOON

Kansas State University Transportation Analysis Public Workshop
KSU Parking Services will host a public workshop from 2:00 to 6:00 p.m. on Wednesday, September 16, 1998, in the McCain Auditorium Lobby. The consulting team from TranSystems will display and discuss data collected to date. TranSystems is also consulting with the City of Manhattan in the Manhattan Area Transportation Study. The Workshop will also provide the University an opportunity to comment on four primary focus areas:
•Does K-State need a transit system?
•...a parking garage?
•Does K-State's roadway network measure up?
•What does the consultant suggest for pedestrian travel?
Public input is needed to assist in making decisions which will impact Kansas State for many years to come.

SHOWING THIS WEEKEND
ADAM'S RIB
Friday, Sept. 11
Saturday, Sept. 12
7:00 & 9:30 P.M.
$1.75
Forum Hall
K-State Student Union
Sponsored by Kaleidoscope Films

U EVENTS P C EVENTS

UPC OPEN HOUSE PARTY
WED., SEPT. 16
9 A.M. TO 4 P.M.
3RD FLOOR K-STATE STUDENT UNION
ALL STUDENTS INVITED

STREET GANGS LECTURE BY STEVE NAWOJCZYK
Tuesday, Sept. 15, 1998
7:00 p.m.
K STATE STUDENT UNION BALLROOM
SPONSORED BY ISSUES AND IDEAS

Country Dance Lessons
Session 2: Sept. 30 - Oct. 21
7:30 - 9:00 p.m.
Sign up in the UPC Office
Sponsored by Multicultural

LIVE BAND
OPUS 12 COMPETITION
FRIDAY, SEPT. 18, 1998
K-STATE STUDENT UNION
5 p.m., PEDESTRIAN ISLAND
RAIN LOCATION - UNION STATION
THE 12TH ANNUAL OPUS BAND COMPETITION FEATURES AMATEUR (UNSIGNED) BANDS COMPETING FOR CASH PRIZES
SPONSORED BY ECLECTIC ENTERTAINMENT AND K-ROCK 101.5

A Tribute to Shel Silverstein
Poetry Reading
Thursday, Sept. 17, 8 p.m.
Java Espresso & Bakery
Sponsored by: Arts Committee and Java Espresso & Bakery

Visit Us At www.union.ksu.edu/upc/upc.htm
or Call 532-6571

Cornhuskers hope results different 2nd time around

BY TIM KORTE
THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

LINCOLN, Neb. — The last time Nebraska took a relatively inexperienced team out for its first road game of the season, it was a big disaster for the Cornhuskers.

Sept. 21, 1996: Arizona State 19, Nebraska 0.

After back-to-back national titles, Nebraska was replacing eight players taken in the NFL draft. Despite an opening victory over Michigan State, some key offensive players were new.

Fast-forward to 1998.

With four inexperienced players on the offensive line and two untested quarterbacks — sophomore Bobby Newcombe and redshirt freshman Eric Crouch — each making a start, the No. 4 Huskers (2-0) have beaten Louisiana Tech and Alabama-Birmingham.

Next up is Saturday's game at California (1-0). As he prepares for the Golden Bears, Nebraska coach Frank Solich said Tuesday he remembers what happened in Tempe, Ariz.

"We were in a situation a few years ago where we went to Arizona State on the road and did not play very well," he said. "I certainly did not want that to happen again this year."

Solich said the Huskers accepted an invitation to play Louisiana Tech in the Eddie Robinson Classic largely because the coaching staff wanted extra seasoning for a young offense.

"If we had played poorly or had too many injuries, it would not have served us well," Solich said. "It probably helped in terms of getting two home games under their belt before taking to the road."

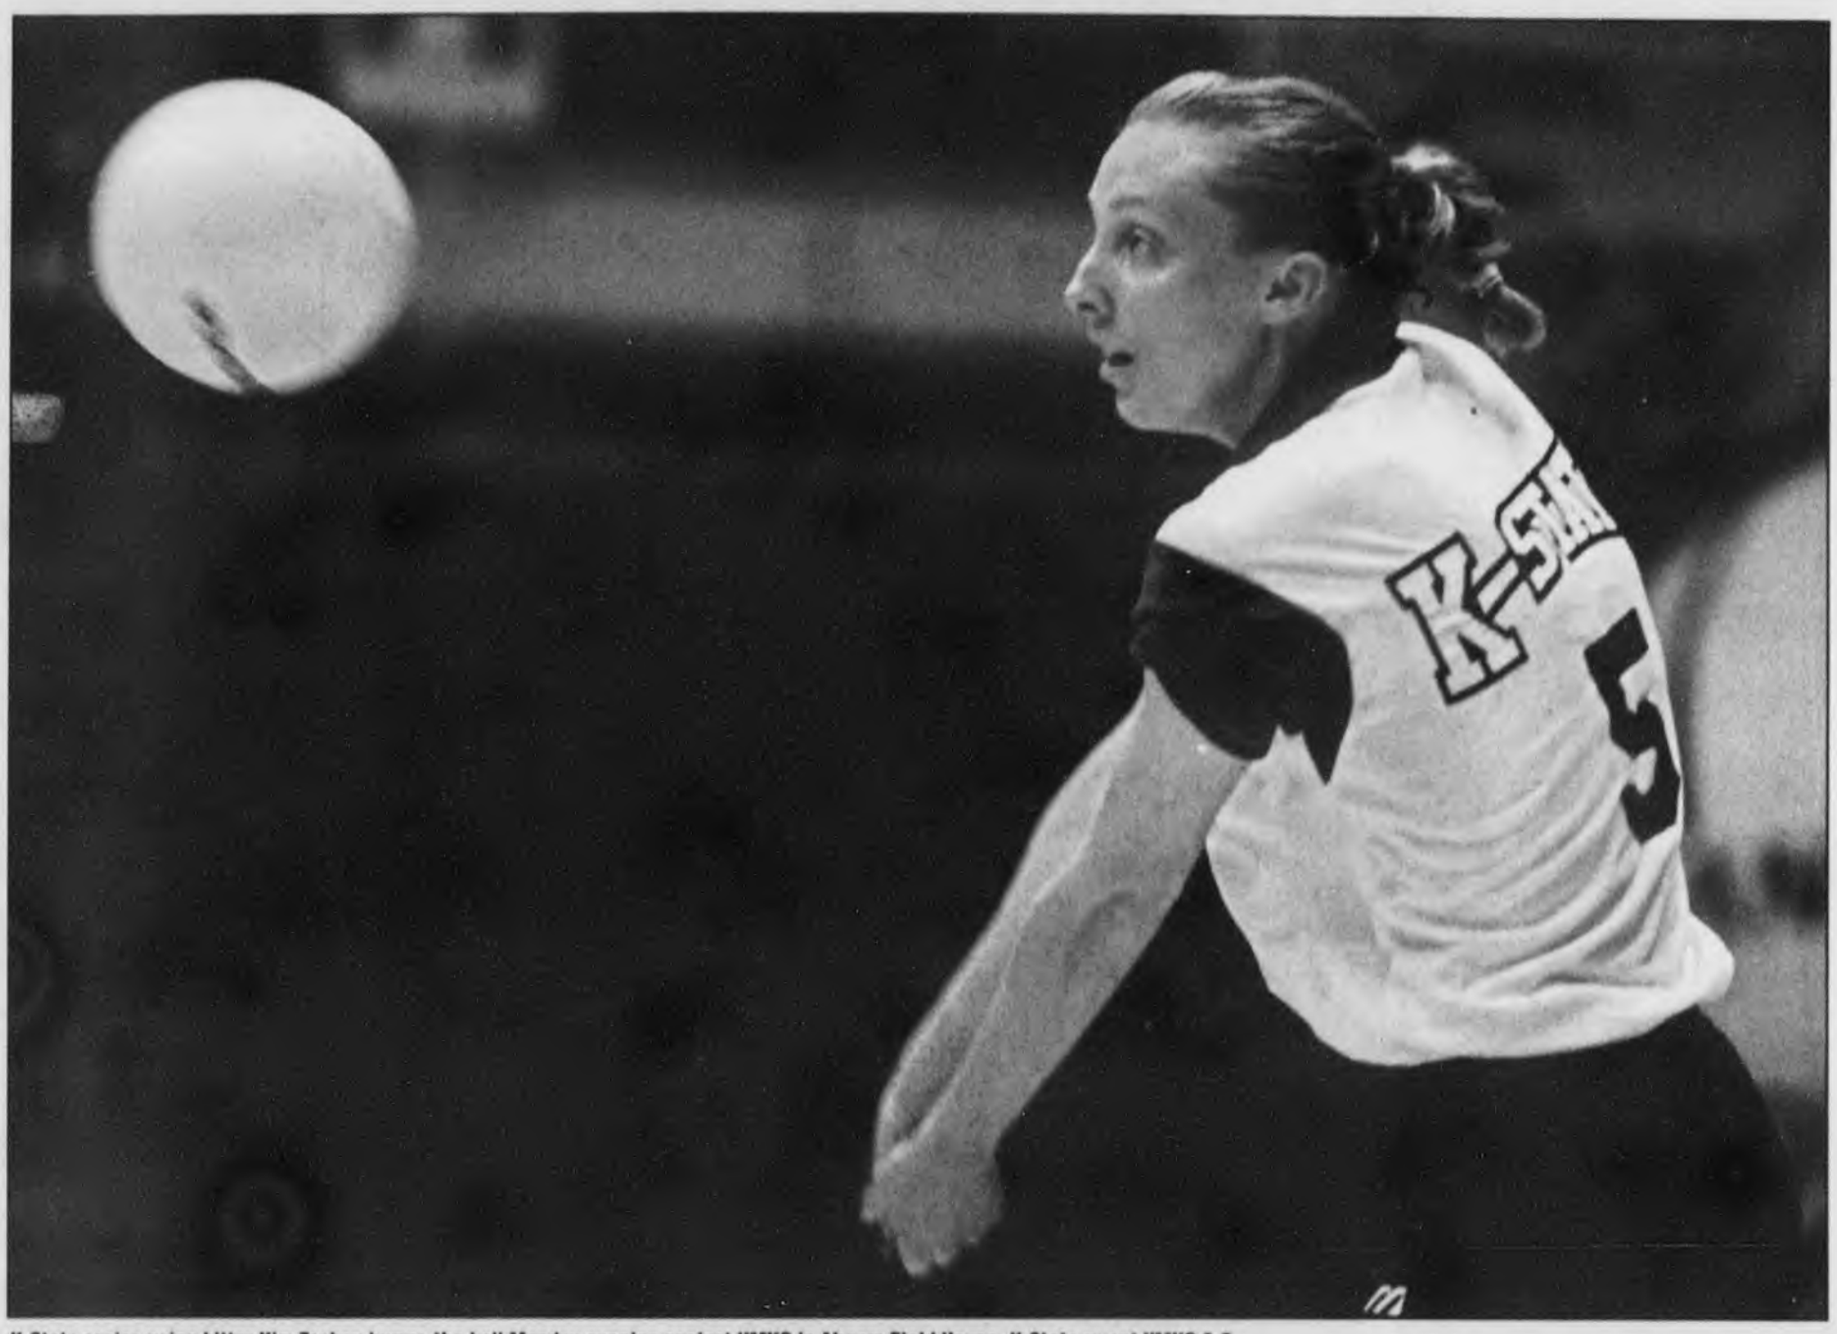
Then there was Nebraska's first road trip of 1997. After beating Akron and Central Florida in Lincoln, the Huskers won 27-14 at Washington — a game that started momentum for a national title run.

Fullback Joel Makovicka said like last year, when Nebraska was criticized for trailing Central Florida at halftime, the Huskers know there are some who weren't impressed by their wins over Louisiana Tech and UAB.

"Everybody was questioning us and questioning our defensive backs," Makovicka said. "I think there are a lot of similarities. Now, people are questioning how good a football team we are."

Although Louisiana Tech's Troy Edwards set an NCAA record with 405 receiving yards and Alabama-Birmingham was within two touchdowns after the third quarter, Solich said the Huskers learned a lot about themselves.

"If you play a very easy game and win 70-0, your flaws don't always expose themselves," he said.



Nebraska takes the nation's longest current winning streak, at 16 games, to Berkeley, Calif. Whether the streak reaches 17 games could hinge on the status of five starters who did not play last week.

Quarterback Bobby Newcombe, who slightly tore a knee ligament against Louisiana Tech and was held out of last weekend's game, is expected back at Cal. He said he's eager to return.

"That was the first game I've ever missed," Newcombe said. "It's not the greatest thing to be standing out there on the sidelines."

Running back DeAngelo Evans (knee), safety Clint Finley (knee) and defensive tackle Jason Wiltz (ankle) could practice this week but they're doubtful for Saturday. Wingback Lance Brown (foot) is out.

"WE SAVED OUR BEST FOR LAST."

K-State senior swing hitter Kim Zschau bumps the ball Monday evening against UMKC in Ahearn Field House. K-State swept UMKC 3-0.

GETTING THE JOB DONE

K-State disposes of UMKC in three straight games, 15-7, 15-10, 15-4

It sure wasn't pretty, but K-State got the job done.

The K-State volleyball team picked apart the University of Missouri-Kansas City on Monday night in three straight games, improving to 2-0 on the season.

The Cats showed improvement in several areas after their season-opening match Sept. 2.

"We clicked a lot more tonight," freshman Disney Bronnenberg said after the win Monday night. "We played a little smarter and communicated a lot better."

However, K-State struggled with its consistency the entire match — something that must change.

"It was two or three good plays, then one bad play," head coach Jim McLaughlin said. "We need to go four, five, six good plays and make our opponents earn points."

In game one, the Cats got off to a slow start and fell behind 2-0. K-State then reeled off seven straight points and never looked back, winning 15-7.

K-State jumped out of the gates quickly in the second game, taking a 14-5 lead. The Kangaroos scored five straight points before the Cats finally finished it off, 15-10.

"We just go through little lapses where we aren't as alert as we should be," McLaughlin said. "We'll play well for five points, then all of a sudden, the focus isn't there."

Game three saw the Cats show the domination the Ahearn Field House crowd had been waiting for all night. K-State made quick work of the Roos with a 15-4 victory to close out the match.

"We came out and played like K-State," senior Val Wieck said. "Overall, we pretty much redeemed ourselves."

McLaughlin said he liked what he saw, as well.

"We saved our best for last," McLaughlin said. "We played well in the last game — blocked well, passed well and hit well, so I was happy with that."

Kim Zschau led the Cats once again with her first double-double of the season. The senior recorded 14 kills and 10 digs along with two blocks.

Freshman Liz Wegner provided a nice surprise for the Cats at outside hitter.

Wegner chipped in with seven kills and three digs.

"She hit well and blocked OK, but she didn't pass really well, and we just need to keep working with her on her passing," McLaughlin said.

After a slow start, Bronnenberg showed steady improvement at the setter position, finishing the night with a career-high 38 assists.

"She was a little erratic early and wasn't locating the ball really well on the left side," McLaughlin said. "But toward the end she got better and better, so I was pretty happy with her."

Bronnenberg also took the Kangaroos by surprise by tapping the ball over the net for four kills on the match.

"None of the blockers on the other team were taking me into account for attacking," Bronnenberg said. "So if I dump it a few times, then they're going to be on me, and then the hitters will be open a little more."

The Cats have won six straight individual games to start the season.

Next up for K-State is the SunTrust Invitational in Gainesville, Fla. The Wildcats will play Pittsburgh on Friday night before returning to the court Saturday for matches against Northwestern and Florida.

STORY BY BRENT STOVER ■ PHOTOGRAPH BY CLIF PALMBERG

Snyder shares story of K-State's rise to national prominence with Sycamores

VIEWPOINT

D. Scott FRITCHEN

What immediately struck me was the confusion of it all.

A band of reporters flocked toward the visiting team's locker room outside Vanier Football Complex moments after K-State dismantled Indiana State 66-0. We all were expecting a reserved and speechless Indiana State first-year coach Tim McGuire to exit the locker-room door and reappear at the crime scene.

Instead, we got Bill Snyder.

You see, in the midst of the laughter bellowing from the student section when The Best Show In Kansas seemingly turned into a comedy, when the offense crept through the second half in neutral and still scored at will, there was a moment when the switch turned on inside Snyder's head.

Snyder's past became his present. His heart filled with compassion. Somewhere on the opposite sideline was ex-K-State defensive coordinator Tim McGuire, who didn't realize his part in The Best Show In Kansas was actually the starring role — the new coach who returns to his old battlefield to be sacrificed in front of 41,728 frenzied natives.

So, what did Snyder do? He entered Indiana State's locker room and told them a story.

"Basically, Bill talked to our football team about K-State when he first got there," McGuire said.

"Hey, they've been on that other end, too."

Around the most prolific coach in K-State history spun swirling visions of his early coaching career in the Little Apple. Although his strict daily regiment demanded progression, it was during rare times such as these, standing in front of 80 sullen, beaten-up, soured football players, that he could recognize the weekly heartbreak that once strapped itself to his players' chests.

"I've been there," Snyder said. "I've been there. I know what it's like to get bumped on pretty good, especially in a program where a first-year coach is trying to put things together."

This was the third time Snyder addressed a K-State opponent. Only once had he been denied access to the visitors' locker room, when following a 58-0 shutout against Bowling Green State last season, Coach Gary Blackney didn't even shake hands.

This time, things were different. Snyder was greeted with graciousness inside Indiana State's locker room, and football players listened attentively while Snyder gently shared his views on defeat.

Snyder knows youngsters.

He once saw some of his players' eyes stray when, following his 1989 scoreless coaching debut — a 31-0 shutout to Arizona State in Tempe, Ariz. — he announced in the visitors' locker room that K-State would eventually score. K-State would get better.

The Wildcats eventually listened. They won one game that season.

So, on Saturday, Snyder mended the seams of a fragile football team that fell victim to a national powerhouse. He rehashed the values and beliefs that McGuire instills daily into his players and aided McGuire in the difficult task of pounding words of encouragement into his team over and over again.

"I think it's just important to stick in there and try to do what we did," Snyder said. "Try to get better."

Snyder exited the locker room and swept by the wide-eyed reporters on his way to congratulate his own players on their performance. Soon after, he would watch five hours of game film and fall asleep sometime after 4 a.m. A few hours later, Snyder would close the opening chapter to 1998 and prepare for Northern Illinois.

However, McGuire won't soon forget Snyder's gesture or the encouragement offered by Snyder after his unfortunate initial coaching experience at Indiana State.

McGuire's players might forever remember the praise Snyder offered them, and Indiana State might reap results similar to K-State a decade from now.

Only time will tell.

People often cast an array of decorative bowl trophies and plaques as symbols of K-State's accomplishments and sometimes still wonder what really sparked K-State's climb to success during the early 1990s.

However, perhaps the most extraordinary aspect of K-State's rise is this long-standing fact: Only one football coach in the past 10 years has ever talked to K-State's football players following a game.

Bill Snyder.

Scott is a senior in mass communications. You can send him e-mail at dsf7477@ksu.edu

UFM to offer variety of classes for students

BY IVAN KOZAR
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

UFM classes are starting soon, and students have the opportunity to take exciting and unusual classes not found at K-State.

With more than 200 classes, UFM offers everything from Ballroom Dancing to Safe and Creative Care of Family Photos.

"Anyone and everyone can take these classes," Charlene Brownson, education coordinator at UFM, said.

Brownson said children as young as three years old have the opportunity to take Funny Fingers for Preschoolers, a class that teaches children how to make finger paintings as well as puppets.

If finger painting sounds a little messy, then the Graduate Record Exam Preparation class starting Sept. 15 might be useful. This course will help students prepare and improve their scores on the GRE, a requirement for many students applying to graduate schools.

One advantage to taking UFM classes is that they are smaller in size than those found at large universities, Brownson said.

Also, the instructors have ranged in age from 11 to 94. Brownson said the unusual topics and wide range of instructors give students good opportunities.

Prices for the classes range from about $10 for one-time classes, such as Self Defense for Women, to $235 for Fly Fishing. Prices include materials for the class.

Brownson said the low prices and interesting topics appeal to many people in the Manhattan area who teach and take classes.

"Anyone can teach, anyone can learn," she said.

Jim Gregory, PGA Golf Professional at Stagg Hill Golf Club, has taught UFM golf classes for the past 13 years.

"The low cost of the class is a good way for a person to find out if golf is what they want to play," Gregory said. He said the group setting of the class makes learning more comfortable.

Although half of the teachers volunteer their time, UFM does cooperate with K-State to offer some classes for credit.

One such class, Women and Money, helps women to make better financial decisions. This class is a one-hour-credit course.

The 1998 fall classes catalog is available on the first floor of the K-State Student Union next to the newspaper stand, at the Manhattan Public Library and at various local businesses. To register, call 539-8763 or stop at the UFM Community Learning Center at 1221 Thurston St.

Boris Yeltsin delays choice for prime minister

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

MOSCOW — Boris Yeltsin hesitated Tuesday over ramming through his unpopular choice for prime minister, while opposition and religious leaders warned that the political standoff could spark civil war in Russia.

The nation's top clergyman expressed fears of unrest, praying publicly before Russia's holiest icon for divine protection against "misfortunes, sorrows and internecine war."

Yeltsin conferred with top aides at his country home amid growing speculation that he might choose a compromise candidate to stave off a showdown with the Communist-dominated lower house of parliament, the State Duma.

Up to now, Yeltsin had insisted that acting Prime Minister Viktor Chernomyrdin was his only choice, but the Duma on Monday rejected Chernomyrdin for a second time. Yeltsin, who is known for trampling over his political opponents, has compromised before in the face of popular anger, which has been building rapidly.

The president has one more chance to win parliamentary approval for his prime ministerial pick. If the Duma refuses to confirm the candidate, Yeltsin must dissolve the legislature and call parliamentary elections within three months.

Communist Party leader Gennady Zyuganov said Tuesday that if Yeltsin continued to demand approval of Chernomyrdin, Russia's crisis would deepen.

"A mistake for the president and his team can cost the country's civic peace. This is a very high price," Zyuganov said.

He said disbanding the Duma would be tantamount to dissolving the Russian Federation, and also that: "I am afraid that would end in fighting throughout Russia's expanses."

It was typically incendiary talk from Zyuganov, who has piled all the blame for Russia's crippling economic crisis on Yeltsin and his government — and none on the Duma, which continually has blocked economic reforms that might have strengthened the economy. Among stalled measures are a radical overhaul of Russia's tax collection system, new legislation on land ownership and laws that would force businesses to declare bankruptcy sooner.

Yet, the possibility that Russia's economic and political crisis could spill over into violence — although there have been no signs of unrest up to now — was on the minds of others as well.

Alexy II, the patriarch of the Russian Orthodox Church, prayed for peace before a revered icon, Our Lady of Vladimir, in a central Moscow museum.

Internet Access
NO BUSY SIGNALS!
• 56K X2 MODEMS
• 64K ISDN
• 20MB WEB SPACE
• 16GB NEWS SERVER
• EXTENDED SUPPORT HOURS
• UNLIMITED INTERACTIVE USAGE
$14.95 per month
NETWORKS PLUS + 587-4121

McCain
SHARPS, FLATS & ACCIDENTALS
THE FLYING KARAMAZOV BROTHERS
ORDER YOUR TICKETS TODAY!
Wednesday, September 16, 7:30 p.m.
Public: $20, 16 Seniors: $18, 14
Students/Children: $10, 8
Experience an evening in a mad, comic and musical world, where juggling can be heard and music must be seen to be believed. Challenge the Karamazovs! Bring and item from home to test Brother Ivan's skill and bet a standing ovation against a pie in the face that he can't juggle it. From musical wonders to impossible feats of levity, the show is an irresistible mix of skill and silliness, which once seen, may still prove to be beyond belief.
CALL MCCAIN AT 785-532-6428
You can charge your tickets to VISA, MasterCard, or Discover. Or stop by the box office, noon to 6 p.m. weekdays.

Presented in part by the Kansas Arts Commission, a state agency, and the National Endowment for the Arts, a federal agency. Additional funding provided by the Bell Family Endowment for the Performing Arts and the K-State Fine Arts Fee.

LONGHORNS BAR & GRILL
Wednesday
Ladies Night
$1Bottles!!!!!
Be a Cowgirl for a Year!
1st Annual Cowgirl Competition
Contest Begins Tomorrow Nite!
1115 Moro 776-8770

FREE
McCain Tickets
McCain Auditorium is in search of community members, including K-State staff, students and faculty, who are willing to USHER in exchange for FREE TICKETS to McCain Performance Series Events such as Bela Fleck, The Chieftans, and The Vienna Choir Boys.
Join us for 1 of 2 orientation meetings in the McCain Auditorium Lobby
Thursday, September 10, at 4 and 5 p.m.
If you are unable to attend please call 532-2358 for details.

Hair Experts Design Team
Shampoo Sale
Liters $10.95 Reg. $17 to $20
Enough for the semester!
$5 off Any Service
Not valid with any other offer, children's haircuts or waxing.
#23 expires 10/8/98
776-4455
Aggieville, USA

WE KNOW where – and we're coming – YOU LIVE
– the royal purple yearbook will be shooting portrait pictures on location at fraternities, sororities and residence halls –
SEPT. 8 – 11am-7pm
Moore Hall
Alpha Chi Omega
SEPT. 9 – 11am-7pm
Haymaker
SEPT. 10 – 11am-7pm
West Hall
Pi Beta Phi
SEPT. 11 – 11am-7pm
Ford Hall
Gamma Phi Beta

Not quite the "picture" of perfect health? We can help!
Mercy Health Center's Nutrition Clinic presents:
Weight Management and Fitness
Wednesdays from Sept. 9 - Nov. 11
5:30 to 6:30 pm
Mercy Health Center on Sunset Ave.
Our weight management and fitness program, led by a licensed, registered dietitian, is a series designed to help you learn the benefits of proper eating habits, physical fitness, cardiac wellness, dealing with your stress, and changing the behaviors that contributed to your weight problem. The focus is not on your weight, but on your overall health. Class fee is $99 for the10-week course.
To register, call the Nutrition Clinic at 785-587-4296.
MERCY HEALTH CENTER OF MANHATTAN

Does your student organization receive Student Governing Association funding? If so, you must attend a
Funding Workshop
Campus Wide Groups
Wednesday, Sept. 9th
5:30 - 7:30 pm
Big 12 Room, K-State Union
College Council and College Council Groups
Thursday, September 10th
5:30 - 7:30pm
Little Theater, K-State Union
Friday, September 11th
5:30- 7:30 pm
Big 12 Room, K-State Union
Call 532-6541 for more information.

MCGWIRE

■ continued from page 1

McGwire.

"Right when it hit off the bat, I knew it was going out, and it went right over the sign," he said. "There was a bunch of ground-crew guys on the wall. But I was right on the edge, and I said, 'That ball is mine.'"

After McGwire finished celebrating with his teammates and the Maris family, he grabbed a microphone to address the sellout crowd of 43,688, which still was standing and cheering.

"To all my family, my son, the Cubs, Sammy Sosa. It's unbelievable," McGwire said. "Thank you, St. Louis."

McGwire, who appeared anxious in grounding out on a 3-0 pitch in the first inning, hit his solo shot on the first pitch at 8:18 p.m. CDT. It triggered an 11-minute delay, baseball's biggest midgame celebration since Cal Ripken broke Lou Gehrig's consecutive games record in 1995.

The home run, despite its short distance, surely will rank as one of the biggest in history up there with the ones hit by Bobby Thomson, Bill Mazeroski, Hank Aaron, Carlton Fisk, Kirk Gibson and Joe Carter.

The 34-year-old slugger also hit it at home, just like he wanted. The Cardinals begin a five-game road trip Wednesday, and McGwire wanted to share the moment with the fans and city he has embraced since Oakland traded him to St. Louis on July 31, 1997.

McGwire did not get an immediate chance to add to his total, which includes 15 home runs in only 21 days. His next time up, Trachsel intentionally walked him, and McGwire walked again in the eighth inning.

McGwire's race began on March 31 when he hit a grand slam on opening day, but his chase to become 1998's home-run champion is not finished.

With the Cardinals out of contention, McGwire might take off a few days over the final 18 games; the season ends Sept. 27.

He is just four homers ahead of Sosa, who figures to play every day down the stretch with the Cubs still in the NL wild-card race.

DOW

■ continued from page 1

will be ready to start lowering rates then, given that unemployment in the United States remains at 4.5 percent, near a 28-year low. Outside of factories and the Farm Belt, the real U.S. economy has felt little effect from Asia's troubles.

David Wyss, economist at Standard & Poor's DRI, said he believed the central bank will cut rates before the end of the year, but not until November, meaning stock markets likely will be extremely volatile until then.

"The market correction probably has a couple of more months to run," Wyss said. "The Fed will probably wait until November to cut rates, and that will mark the start of the rally."

Other economists said they aren't even convinced a rate reduction will come by year's end. They noted that when the Asian crisis first rattled the U.S. market last October, Greenspan said the Asian turmoil could end up having a beneficial effect on America by slowing an overheated economy to a more sustainable pace.

Greenspan also has not hidden the fact that for almost two years he has been worried about "irrational exuberance" as investors pushed stock prices to levels not justified by underlying fundamentals.

Before Friday's speech, Greenspan had been signaling that the Fed was more worried about the threat of inflation than recession, and thus, the next move likely was to be a rate increase.

On Friday, Greenspan indicated that Fed policy-makers had switched at their August meeting from leaning toward raising rates to a neutral stance. He suggested they were prepared to cut rates if U.S. economic conditions worsen.

"It is just not credible that the United States can remain an oasis of prosperity unaffected by a world that is experiencing greatly increased stress," Greenspan said.

CLINTON

■ continued from page 1

immoral in her most extensive comments on the Lewinsky matter since Clinton's Aug. 17 admission of an inappropriate relationship with the former intern.

"He should have taken responsibility earlier," she said on the Senate floor. However, she went on to praise Clinton's agenda and accomplishments.

After meeting with other Democrats, Senate Minority Leader Tom Daschle of South Dakota urged Clinton to elaborate on his recent apology, saying, "I think that it's important that he continue to find appropriate forums in which to add to the comment that he's already made."

Reaching out to lawmakers, Clinton invited House Democratic leaders to the White House today.

"There's not much that anyone could say about this that he has not said to himself," White House spokesman Mike McCurry said of the criticism from Democrats. "I think he respects and understands people who are expressing themselves on the matter."

Lott said Starr had opened no channel of communication with GOP leaders or advised them of the report's arrival time. "We don't know for sure," he said.

A White House official and a senior House Democratic aide — both of whom asked not to be named — said they, too, expected the report by the end of next week.

What happens after the report arrives is murky. House Republican leaders still are discussing procedural issues, including how much subpoena and other authority the House should grant the Judiciary Committee if senior members decide enough evidence of impeachable offenses exists for a full-blown inquiry.

House leaders also returned from their summer recess to a series of bipartisan meetings today on how much of Starr's report to make public.

"There is some feeling that, look, it's going to get out anyway," Lott told reporters.

Clinton's attorneys are concerned Starr's report will be one-sided and include extensive conclusions and legal analysis, instead of simply a listing of facts gathered in the seven-month investigation.

"Elemental fairness dictates that we be allowed to respond to any report you send to the House simultaneously with its transmission," Kendall wrote Starr on Monday.

In his letter to Kendall, Starr said, "it is for Congress, the repository of the impeachment power, to decide if and when such information should be provided to your client."

TELEFUND
KSU FOUNDATION
20th Anniversary 1979-1999
WINNERS

Powercat Carpet
Renee' Rodriquez
Freshman
College of Arts & Sciences

Powercat Fisher Space Pen
Kelly Shaw
Junior
College of Agriculture

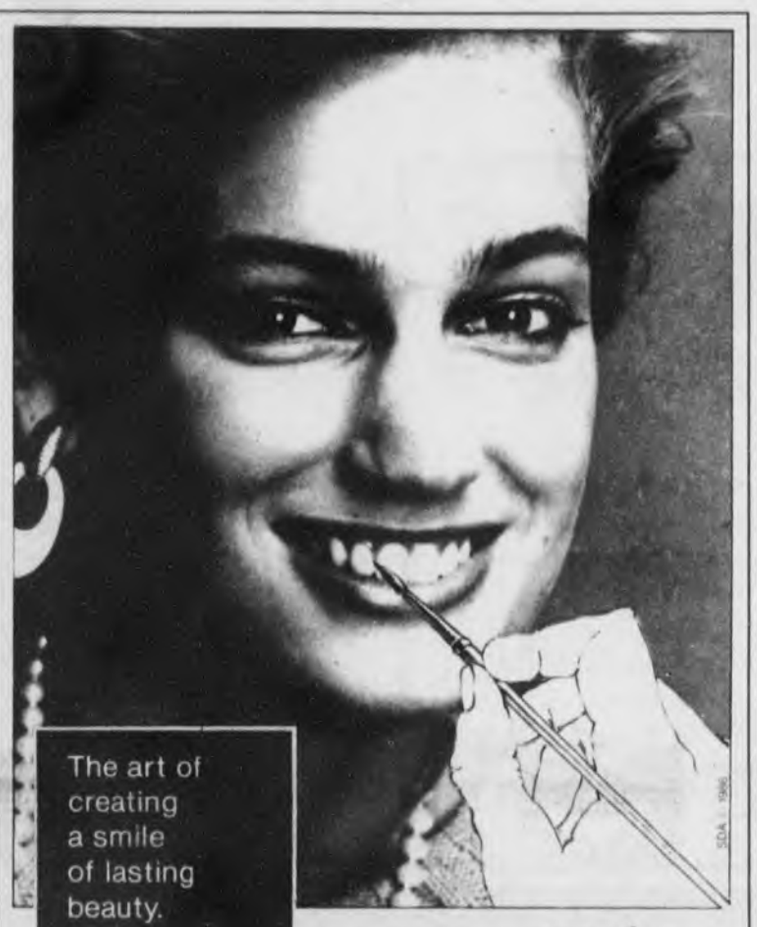
Telefund Coffee Mugs
Kourtney Hensley
Freshman
College of Business Admin.

350 students registered at the Telefund 1999 exhibit during Activity Day.

Telefund 1999 begins Feb. 1. Register in your dean's office.

Telefund is the world's largest all-volunteer telephone campaign for higher education and is coordinated by the KSU Foundation.

BOBBY T's
$2 Drink Specials
16oz. KC Strip or T-Bone $8.99
Steak Night -- 8oz. KC Strip or Sirloin -- $5.99
Vince Cook on Piano 6-8
Karaoke Contest with Nightly Prizes



KSU JUNIORS AND SENIORS.....
R YOU N?

COME FIND OUT!
KSU Student Union- 2nd Floor
September 14-16
GKNHS

See what a nickel will buy you at
5¢ Claflin Books and Copies
1814 Claflin Road 776-3771

PIZZA SHUTTLE DELIVERS
776-5577
1800 Claflin Road

Pregnancy Testing Center
539-3338
•Free pregnancy testing
•Totally confidential service
•Same day results
•Call for appointment
Located across from campus in Anderson Village
Mon.-Fri. 9 a.m.-5 p.m.

The art of creating a smile of lasting beauty.
Smile enhancement by the professionals
Ceramic Laboratory Artisans on Staff
Porcelain and Dicor® — bonding — veneers — inlays — crowns — bridges
SAGER DENTAL ASSOCIATES, P.A.
514 Humboldt Plaza Cosmetic Dentistry Department 913-537-9414
For more information, see our ad in your Sidekick! • Manhattan Southwestern Bell Yellow Pages

WALNUT VALLEY FESTIVAL
27th NATIONAL FLAT-PICKING CHAMPIONSHIPS
September 17, 18, 19, 20, 1998
Winfield, Kansas
$40,000 IN CONTEST PRIZES

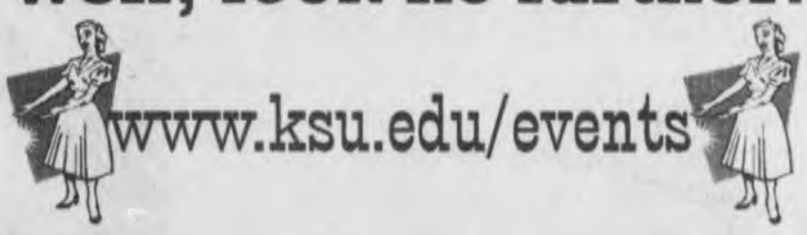
Featuring in Person:
•John McCutcheon
•Cherish the Ladies
•Mike Cross
•New Tradition
•No Strings Attached
•Dan Crary
•Crucial Smith
•Steve Kaufman
•Crow Johnson
•The Karen Mueller Trio
•Hickory Hill
•Small Potatoes
•Roz Brown
•Tom Chapin with Michael Mark
•Claire Lynch & the Front Porch String Band
•Laurie Lewis with Tom Rozum, Todd Phillips & Craig Smith
•Marley's Ghost
•New West
•Bryan Bowers
•Beppe Gambetta
•Spontaneous Combustion
•Aileen & Elkin Thomas
•Steve Gillette & Cindy Mangsen
•Cathy Barton & Dave Para with Bob Dyer
•Stephen Bennett
•Bob Franke
•Bluestem
•Live Bait the Band
•Wild & Blue
•Andy May
•The Plaid Family
•The Home Rangers
•Still on the Hill
•Bill Barwick
•Linda Tilton
•Barry Patton
•Leon Howell

Ticket Prices	Gate
Weekend (4-day)	$ 65
2-day Fri-Sat	50
Sat-Sun	40
Fri or Sat	25
Thurs (Gate Only)	25
Sun (Gate Only)	15
* Children ages 6-11	5
* Children under 6 admitted free with paid adult

NO REFUNDS

WORKSHOPS - 8 CONTESTS
Arts & Crafts Fair
4 Stages in Operation
Well Policed Grounds
No Animals,
No Beer or Alcohol, No Drugs
No Motorcycles (Due to Noise)

FESTIVAL GATE AND CAMPGROUNDS WILL OPEN THURS., SEPT. 10 AT 8 A.M. ONLY WEEKEND TICKET HOLDERS ALLOWED ON GROUNDS PRIOR TO THURS., SEPT. 17.



Visit us on our home page at: www.wvfest.com
or Email us at: wvfest @ horizon.hit.net
For more information, write or call:
walnut valley association, inc.
P.O. Box 249
918 Main Winfield ,KS 67156
Phone 316-221-3250

TICKETS ON SALE NOW AT: STREETSIDE RECORDS 1231 Moro 785 776-7373 Cash, Check, Charge or Wildcat Card Accepted

Upset that you are missing out on all the great events happening at K-State and in the Manhattan community? Are you searching for something that can keep you current on what is going on around town?

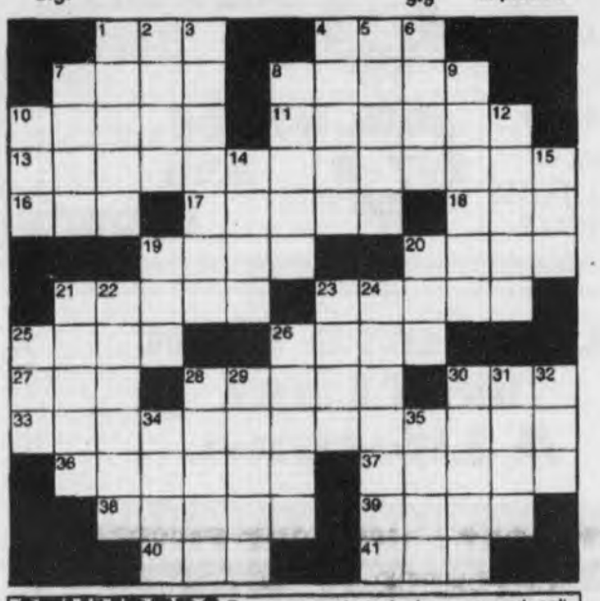
Well, look no further!

www.ksu.edu/events is your comprehensive guide to all K-State related events. You are now able to access information regarding on-campus events, including event days, dates, times, locations and admission prices. Call Office of Student Activities and Services for more information (785) 532-6541.

CROSSWORD

CROSSWORD By Eugene Sheffer

ACROSS
1 Pas' partners
4 Norm: abbr.
7 Mongolian desert
8 Secretive types
10 Sheik's retreat
11 Mexican entree
13 TV soap
16 Some movie ratings
17 Light unit
18 Compete
19 Gets stuck
20 Tennis star Sampras
21 Frighten
23 Marketplace of yore
25 Garbage barge
26 Strong as —
27 Hoff's "The — of Pooh"
28 Vermicelli, e.g.
30 Figure head? (abbr.)
33 TV soap
36 Dakotan capital
37 O. Henry's twist
38 Kilmer classic
39 Bridge position
40 Feminizing suffix
41 Rds.



DOWN
1 Traditional folkways
2 First victim
3 Not very different
4 Outpouring
5 Pumbaa's pal
6 Do casino work
7 Jets or Sharks
8 Checks
9 Sharp shard
10 Ball in a gymnasium?
12 Madonna movie
14 Noxious vapor
15 Shoe width
19 Chew the fat
20 Curse
21 Resell for a huge profit
22 "Stop!"
23 Con
24 Puck blockers
25 Depot: abbr.
26 Aftermath of 28 Down
28 Combustible heaps
29 "Green —"
30 Ill-tempered
31 Confined
32 Whatever amount
34 Unadorned
35 W.C. Fields' expletive

Solution time: 22 mins.

M	A	G	S		F	A	T		E	C	O	L
A	V	E	C		O	L	E		N	O	L	A
R	E	N	O		R	O	A	D	C	R	E	W
C	R	E	W	C	U	T		R	I	N	G	S
			L	A	M		F	A	N
W	O	R	S	T		C	U	T	O	P	E	N
H	O	O			S	U	N			I	N	A
O	P	E	N	A	I	R		C	A	N	D	Y
			O	W	N		P	A	T
T	A	B	O	O		A	I	R	H	E	A	D
H	E	A	D	L	I	N	E			O	R	N	O
A	R	I	L		D	O	C		M	I	N	G
R	O	L	E		O	N	E		E	K	E	S

Yesterday's answer

9-9

STUMPED? For answers to today's crossword, call 1-900-454-6873! 99¢ per minute, touch-tone / rotary phones. (18+ only.) A King Features service, NYC.

9-9 CRYPTOQUIP

NWD SUS PNO MGLAOL AGJGRO PW MUJS NUX AUXXUJR VWD? NO PLGVPWL SWDJ.

Yesterday's Cryptoquip: THE GLEEFUL CONDUCTOR WOULD OFTEN CALL THE DINING CAR A CHEW-CHEW TRAIN.

Today's Cryptoquip clue: R equals G

CRYPTOQUIP BOOK 2! Send $4.50 (check/m.o.) to CryptoClassics Book 2, PO Box 6411, Riverton NJ 08077.

The Cryptoquip is a substitution cipher in which one letter stands for another. If you think that X equals O, it will equal O throughout the puzzle. Single letters, short words and words using an apostrophe give you clues to locating vowels. Solution is by trial and error.

© 1998 by King Features Syndicate, Inc

Jazz Pianist thrills lunchtime crowd

"FOR ME TO COME IN AND WORK WITH COLLEGE STUDENTS JUST GETTING THEIR ACT TOGETHER IS IMPORTANT."

— GEORGE DUKE PIANIST

By RUSSELL FORTMEYER
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

There was no dimly lit, smoky atmosphere, but the performance by pianist George Duke and the K-State Jazz Quintet on Tuesday had the makings of an impromptu jazz club appearance.

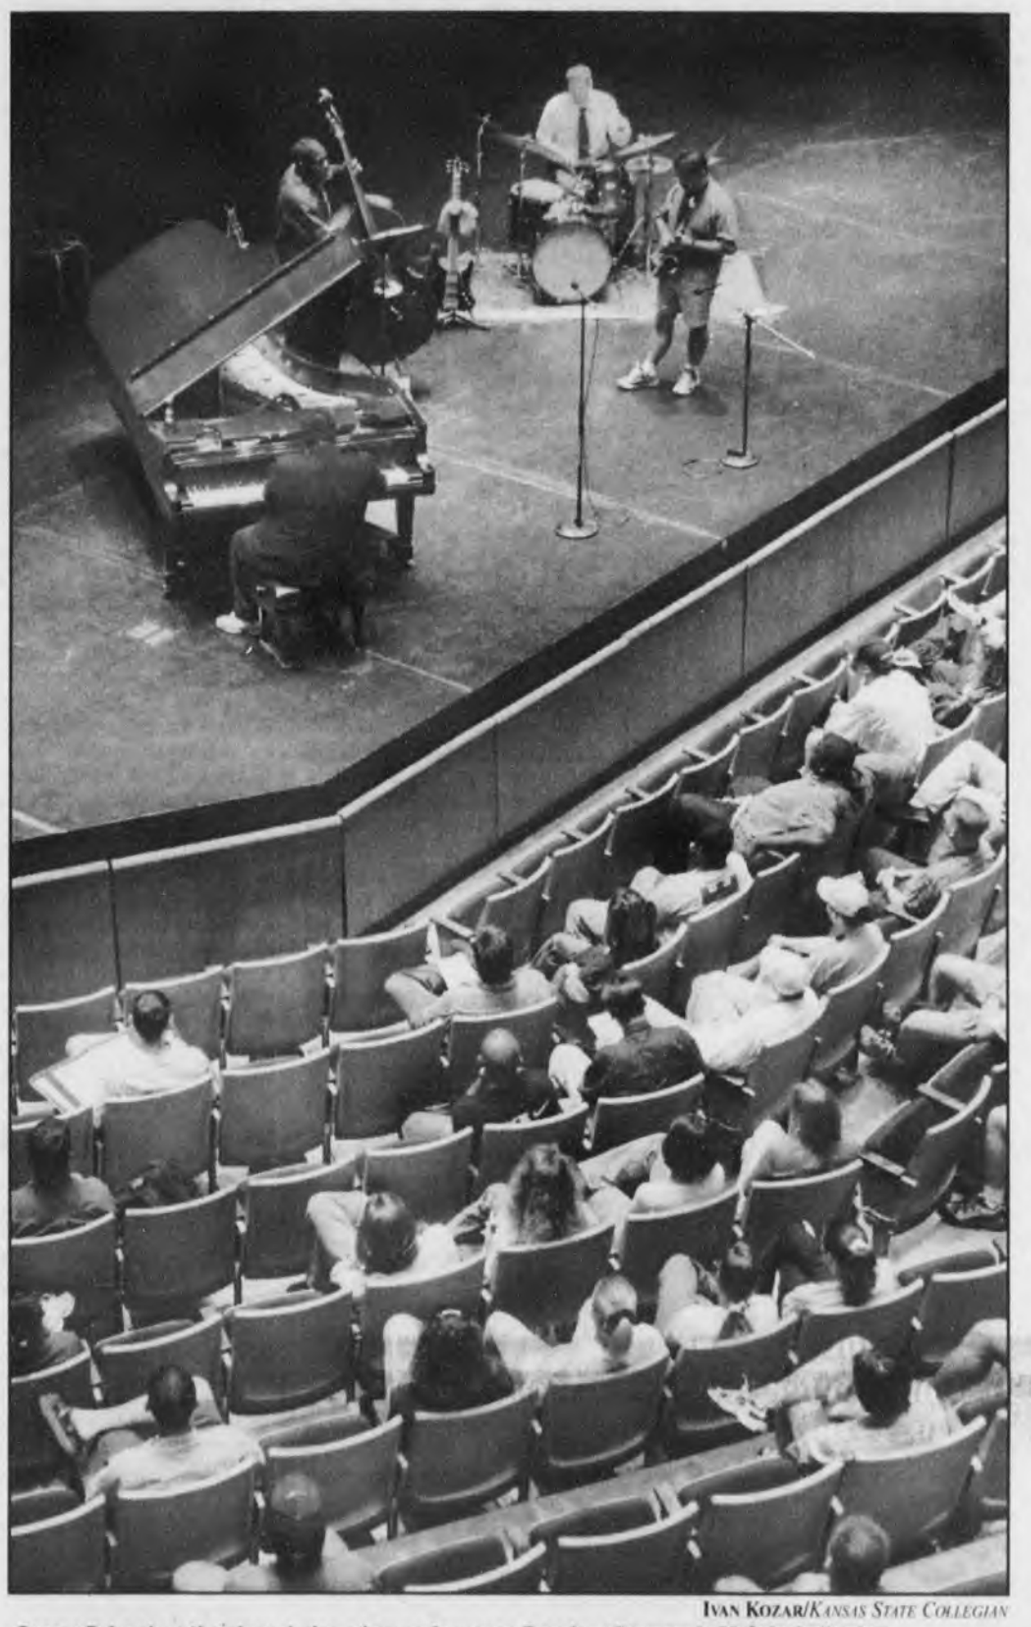
Scarcely an hour after meeting, the quintet and Duke pounced through three groups and one solo piano number before a mostly student audience of more than 200 in McCain Auditorium.

Duke is in Kansas preparing for the Kansas City Jazz Museum's second-annual gala. He will be serving as musical director to the event, which will take place Friday. He made the special visit to K-State after he was asked by Dennis Wilson, assistant dean of arts and sciences and director of jazz studies.

Duke began his career in the mid-1960s in San Francisco, playing with the likes of Frank Zappa, Al Jarreau, Dizzy Gillespie and Cannonball Adderly, and has won Grammies for producing a string of hits, including "We are the World," for various artists.

Tuesday's lunchtime concert lasted only an hour, which proved too short for such an accomplished musician. Regardless, Duke and the quintet opened with Wayne Shorter's "Footprints," which seemed to mesmerize both the audience and the quintet.

Wilson joined the group center stage for a sassy Duke Ellington classic, "In a Mellow Tone." That number was last played in McCain two years ago by the Count Basie Orchestra.



If one can judge on such a short performance, Duke is a consummate musician — shifting between jazz styles with relative ease and able to make an impromptu appearance come across as intimate and personable. Although the lion's share of the audience was students in a music-listening lab, they registered their delight with the concert with a standing ovation for Duke — high praise indeed from students and faculty on their lunch hour or in class.

Talking after the concert, Duke said he was honored to act as musical director for the jazz museum's concert for the second year in a row.

"It's wonderful to play down there in a place with so much history," Duke said.

As for playing at a university, which is something Duke rarely does, he said he hopes students at least come away with recognizing the integrity of the music, whether or not they understand it. Duke gave a lecture to music students before the lunchtime concert, which was open to the public.

"The financial situation at colleges has changed so much. The market has dried up. It's not like the days when I played with Zappa," Duke said. "For me to come in and work with college students just getting their act together is important. That way, students learn the tradition."

IVAN KOZAR/KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

George Duke plays the piano during a jazz performance Tuesday afternoon in McCain Auditorium.

Manhattan Center for the Arts offers classes

By KELLY LYNN
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Manhattan Center for the Arts offers a variety of classes such as theater, watercolor, drawing, collage creating and clay for both children and adults.

Last year, nearly 700 people enrolled in classes at the center.

This semester, the center has implemented new schedules for many classes. Some new visual-arts classes were added, and the curriculum for theater classes was revised.

"We reworked the curriculum for the theater class, so now students will be learning all aspects of a theater production and not just lines," Lisa Hayes, assistant program director, said.

At the end of the theater class session, students perform a full production at the center's theater, where Manhattan Arts Center Community Theatre and many other groups commonly perform.

Transportation to the center is available free for students in grades one through eight from local schools. Students who qualify for reduced or free lunches at their schools also receive discounted enrollment fees at the center.

A barrier-free theater and clay classes are also available for people with disabilities. Teens and adults with disabilities can learn basic performances and backstage skills in the barrier-free class. Adults with disabilities use hand building and wheel-throwing techniques in the clay class.

"WE'RE STRIVING TO BE A FACILITY WHICH PROVIDES EDUCATION AND ENTERTAINMENT TO THE MANHATTAN COMMUNITY THROUGH CLASSES, THEATER, THE GALLERIES AND CONCERTS."

— JULIE THOMAS PROGRAM DIRECTOR, MANHATTAN CENTER FOR THE ARTS

An open studio class is also available for community members who wish to use the facilities without receiving instruction.

Each year, artwork by students in the classes is displayed in one of the galleries at the center.

"We're striving to be a facility which provides education and entertainment to the Manhattan community through classes, theater, the galleries and concerts," Julie Thomas, program director, said.

Enrollment fees range from $30 to $60. Necessary materials are included in the enrollment fees, except for higher level pottery classes and open studio, which enrollment costs are determined by how much clay is used.

Classes begin in early September and November, and enrollment forms must be returned within 24 hours of the starting date of the class. It is not recommended to begin an instructed class in the middle of a session.

Renters Insurance

STATE FARM INSURANCE

LaDonna Junghans, Agent
463 E. Poyntz, Near K-Mart
776-8754
State Farm Fire and Casualty Company
Home Office: Bloomington, Illinois

PILOTS:
GET A NEW ATTITUDE!

BROCKWAY AVIATION
• TAILWHEEL ENDORSEMENTS
• BASIC AEROBATIC TRAINING
CALL 776-6735

Lose 3 Dress Sizes in 30 Days!

CALL NOW FOR FREE CONSULTATION
(785) 770-9000
Slimmer image®
WEIGHT LOSS CLINICS
Clinic Hours: Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday & Friday
8:30 a.m. to 7:00 p.m.
2316 Anderson, Manhattan
Other locations--Topeka, Lawrence & Salina

COUPON
Slimmer image®
WEIGHT LOSS CLINICS
1 FREE Body Wrap w/ purchase of a set of 4
COUPON

Pat's Blue Rib'n BarBeQue
Aggieville

NFL Sundays
•Kansas City Style Spare Ribs $9.95/slab (while they last!)
•20 oz. Blue Rib'n Bloody Mary $2.50
•Pitchers of PBR $2.50

NITRO Mondays
•All the wings you can eat $5.95/person (while they last!)
•PBR pitchers $2.50

LADIES NITE Tuesdays
•Smokey Joes 2 for 1 all day & nite (while they last!)
•$1.50 Amaretto Sours/Midori Sours/Vodka Lemonade/Margaritas

HUMP NITE Wednesdays
•1/2 chicken w/fries or chips $3.95 all day & nite (while they last!)
•$2 Captain & Coke
•32 oz. Big Beers $2 (PBR $2.50 & Coors Lt. $3)

Thursdays
•20 oz. Pat's Famous Blue Ribbons $3
•16 oz. PBR draws $1

All Specials Dine-In Only

Peace Corps wants students

BY DESIREE LAMBERSON
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

K-State students have the opportunity to continue the legacy of John F. Kennedy by volunteering their time abroad.

Kennedy started the Peace Corps in 1961 with the purpose of sending young Americans to other countries to assist in education and general development.

Today, about 7,000 Peace Corps volunteers are serving in more than 93 countries.

"It's a grassroots effort of development to learn local cultures and to let the U.S. public know what their lives are like," Julie Sinclair, Peace Corps representative, said.

Sinclair, who spent two years in Togo, West Africa, as a volunteer, said a variety of people make up the Peace Corps.

"There's a broad spectrum of people with different backgrounds," she said. "Everybody has a talent. Everybody can find something to do."

Matt Mercer, senior in animal sciences and industry, is one of those people. Mercer returned to K-State last June after serving two years in Ecuador.

"It was something new, something exciting. It was an adventure," Mercer said.

As part of the Peace Corps, Mercer worked at the Ecuadorian Ministry of Agriculture as an extentionalist for a local cattleman's association, helping them to increase productivity. Mercer also helped various women's groups with the marketing of homemade jellies or jams.

Mercer said he enjoyed working with the community.

"I liked learning the new culture and learning a new language," he said. "It was very different. Every day was something new."

Sinclair said she loved the color of West Africa.

"West Africa is very colorful. The people are active and are out in the streets. They are also very open. I liked that," she said.

Sinclair said there were drawbacks, however.

"It was hard seeing people sick and realizing that I couldn't help everybody. Here we don't see people with Leprosy or who have parasites," she said. "We see the sick in hospitals, not out on the streets. It's a real eye-opener."

As a Peace Corps representative, Sinclair said those who are interested in joining the Peace Corps must first go through an application process.

If chosen for the program, volunteers work with a recruiter to decide which country would be the best for them. Volunteers do not get to pick which country they travel to, but they do get to rank their top three choices for regions.

Peace Corps volunteers live in the country chosen for them for two years. While there, they receive a housing and living stipend, medical and dental care as needed and a $5,400 re-adjustment allowance upon their return to the United States.

Once volunteers arrive at their assignment, they then undergo a three-month training period in which they learn about the local culture, language and various other subjects.

"People should consider it. It's a good experience," Sinclair said. "People learn a lot about themselves if anything."

Mercer said he encourages anyone interested to get involved.

"It's one of the most incredible things you could do with your life," he said.

Audit questions financial relationship between community college, business

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

TOPEKA — The State Board of Education, deadlocked for almost two years over student testing, teacher certification and charter schools, finally agreed on something.

The board needs more control over customized training programs that community colleges provide for businesses, members concluded Tuesday after reviewing a legislative audit that sharply questioned a financial arrangement between one of the colleges and two meatpacking companies.

"From what I see here, it stinks," member Steve Abrams of Arkansas City said of training course funding agreements between DCCC, National Beef and Excel.

"It ought to be gone over with a sledgehammer," Abrams said, after being told the Education Department, which approves customized courses that the two-year colleges provide to businesses in several areas of the state, was studying the arrangements to determine what changes should be made.

Another board member, Scott Hill of Abilene, said he was upset that the Education Department staff didn't discover the arrangements but had to rely on a "disgruntled employee" at DCCC to bring the practice to the attention of the board and Legislature.

"I understand that there is absolutely nothing illegal," Hill said. "But we're charged with spending taxpayer dollars, and we have the responsibility to be sure they are spent wisely."

The arrangement between DCCC and the meatpackers, which Rep. John Edmonds, R-Great Bend, last month called "a sweetheart deal," called for the school to set up courses for employees at the plants.

The companies were to pay in tuition for their employees the same amount of money as the college charged the schools for using company facilities and equipment where the courses were taught.

However, in the case that caught legislators' and board members' attention, DCCC got $1.6 million in credit-hour state aid for the students taking the courses, paid $600,000 of that to the companies and kept the other $1 million for itself.

Sixteen of Kansas' 19 community colleges have set up customized courses for employers, but only five have had payback arrangements similar to DCCC.

And only DCCC used it on a large scale.

The audit report reviewed Tuesday by the board agreed the practice was legal but said it raised numerous policy issues.

The audit said the courses approved by the Education Department "appeared to us to be little more than regular on-the-job training."

Taliban will not force bin Laden to leave

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

KABUL, Afghanistan — Osama bin Laden, enemy No. 1 in the United States, has a home in Afghanistan as long as he wants it — even if his presence invites another barrage of U.S. Tomahawk missiles.

A top Taliban official, Abdul Sattar Paktis, stroked his gray-streaked beard and spoke of the man accused of masterminding bombings at U.S. embassies in Kenya and Tanzania as an old friend and honored guest.

"Let me tell you something about Osama, he didn't just come to Afghanistan; he has been here for the past 14 years off and on," Paktis, the Taliban's protocol officer, said Monday.

"He is our guest, and we will never force him out," he said.

The United States fired Tomahawk cruise missiles into Afghanistan and Sudan in retaliation for the Aug. 7 embassy bombings, which killed 258 people and wounded thousands. In Afghanistan, two alleged terrorist-training camps were hit Aug. 20, including one believed to have been operated by bin Laden. He was not harmed in the attack.

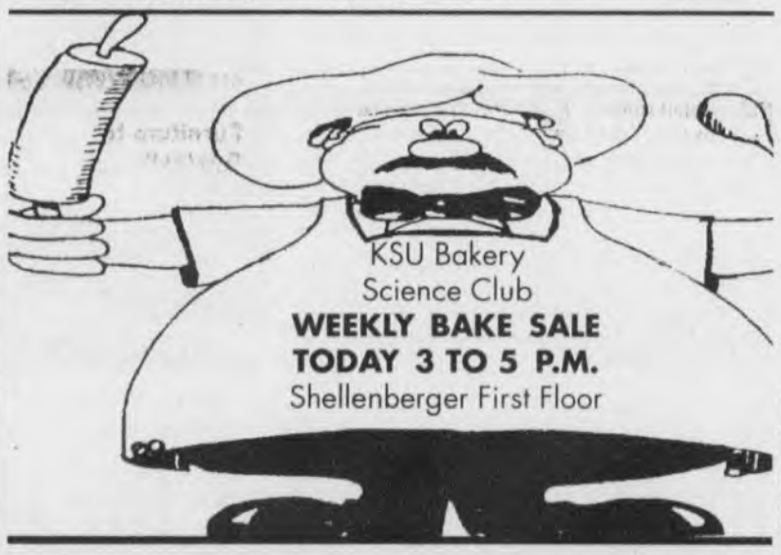
Bin Laden's threats against Americans and U.S. interests worldwide have turned American embassies and consulates in several countries, including neighboring Pakistan, into virtual fortresses.

Bin Laden, probably in his 40s, is the son of a Saudi construction magnate. Shortly after Soviet troops invaded Afghanistan in December 1979, he joined the Afghan struggle against Moscow, gaining a reputation for bravery and determination.

His hatred of America seems to stem from outrage about America's warm relations with Israel and fury over the 500,000 U.S. troops deployed in his homeland of Saudi Arabia in 1990 and 1991 to help drive Iraqi troops out of Kuwait. He considered that a desecration of his native soil.

Afghanistan's ruling Taliban religious army, already a virtual pariah in the world because of its radical interpretation of Islam, says it doesn't share bin Laden's burning hatred of the United States.

PIZZA SHUTTLE DELIVERS
776-5577
1800 Claflin Road



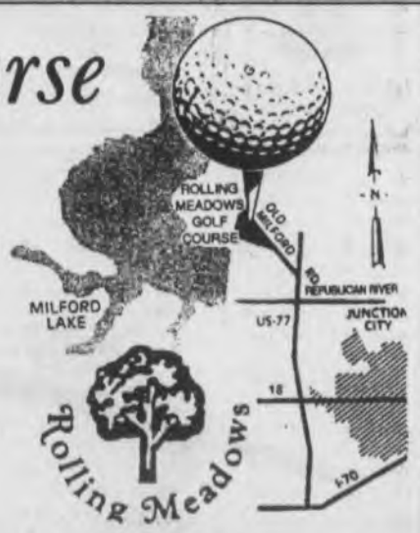
Wednesday Specials
Mon. 4PM-2AM
Tues.-Sun. 11AM-2AM
1129 Laramie
537-4045
Big Screen TV
2 FOOSBALL TABLES
1 DART BOARD
$1 Domestic Bottles
$2 Micros and Imports

Men's Breakout Group
forming from Men's Glee Club
Music styles from '50s Doo-mop to barbershop to contemporary acapella.
Pick up an application at McCain 229.
Applications due Sept. 15
Open to all male voices enrolled at K-State
For more information contact Josh Bleeker at Bleek@ksu.edu or 776-6294 or Bryan Wagner at bryancw@ksu.edu or 539-7627 ext. 147

collegian Explore it!
http://collegian.ksu.edu

Claflin Books and Copies
DEPENDABLE QUALITY SERVICE:
SELF-SERVE COPYING
1814 Claflin Rd. 776-3771

Lessons That Will Last A Lifetime.
OFFICER TRAINING SCHOOL
Put that college degree to use by enrolling into the Air Force Officer Training School. Upon successful completion of the Officer Training School, you will become a commissioned Air Force officer with earned respect and benefits like – great starting pay, medical and dental care, management and travel opportunities. For more on how to qualify and get your career soaring with the Air Force Officer Training School, call 1-800-423-USAF, or visit our website at www.airforce.com
AIM HIGH
AIR FORCE
www.airforce.com



KSU Bakery
Science Club
WEEKLY BAKE SALE
TODAY 3 TO 5 P.M.
Shellenberger First Floor

BIG BAND SOUNDS
VAUGHN BOLTON ORCHESTRA
Friday, September 11, 1998
7:30pm-11:00pm
SPECIAL GUEST
VOCALIST LINDA UTHOFF
The Columbian Theatre
521 Lincoln Avenue
Wamego, Kansas 66547
Call (800) 889-1893 or (785) 456-2029 for more information

Are You Overswamped With Bills?
Let Us Help.
Earn at least $15
each time you donate plasma
Nabi
Manhattan Biomedical Center
1130 Garden Way • Mon & Thurs 9am - 7pm, Tues & Wed 9 am-6:30 pm, Fri 9 am-5 pm, Sat 8am - 1pm • 776-9177

JOBS
Starting at $7.00 per hour
PART-TIME
Help needed to take inventory in retail stores. Average 10-12 hours on weekends. Weekday daytime hours are also available. Averaging 25+ hours.
Apply in person
Landon Room, Ramada Inn
Thursday, Sept. 10th
at 4:30 p.m. and 6:00 p.m.
Interviews start promptly.
Doors will close after 5 minutes.

BACK TO SCHOOL SPECIAL!!
FINANCE A USED CAR AT NEW CAR RATES
1994 Thru 1998
24 Months 6.90% APR
36 Months 7.49% APR
48 Months 7.90% APR
60 Months 8.25% APR
UP TO 100% FINANCING AVAILABLE
SUBJECT TO NORMAL CREDIT POLICIES
NEW LOANS ONLY
DISCOUNTS AVAILABLE
NO ORIGINATION FEES
K-STATE Federal CREDIT UNION
1455 Anderson Ave
Manhattan, KS 66502
2700 Anderson Ave
Manhattan, KS 66502
785-776-3003
Visit ourWeb Site ksu.edu/creditunion

Rolling Meadows Golf Course
Junction City, Kansas
18 Hole Championship Course
Driving Range • Lessons Available
Weekday Special
$1 off Green Fees
with this Coupon
Not to be used with other offers
Exp. Date 12/31/98
Tuesday Special
1 cart, 2 Green Fees
$29.00 for 18 Holes with this coupon
Exp. Date 12/31/98
Weekday Green Fees $11.00
Weekend Green Fees $15.00
Twilight Fee after 5 p.m. $5.00
Riding Carts $18.00
Ten-Play Card $100.00
Call Wednesday for reservations
Friday - Sunday
238-4303

Rolling Meadows Golf Course is located off I-70 exit 295, North, 5.8 miles on Hwy 77. First left after River Bridge on Old Milford Road.

CLASSIFIEDS

DEADLINES

Classified ads must be placed by noon the day before you want your ad to run. Classified display ads must be placed by 4 p.m. two working days prior to the date you want your ad to run. CALL 532-6555

000 BULLETIN BOARD

010

Announcements

ADVANCED FLIGHT TRAINING from 7,500-hour ATP instructor. Private single-engine through ATP multiengine. Hugh Irvin, 539–3128 evenings.

BIG DAWG Marina has Jet skis and pontoon boats for rent. 776-3113.

FOOTBALL TICKET GIVEAWAY. To register send a self-addresses stamped envelope to: D.P. Inc. P.O. Box 857-M, Manhattan, KS 66505-0857.

LEARN TO FLY! K-State Flying Club has five airplanes, lowest rates. For information call 537-8406.

SALINA CARPOOL. 539-2011, Cathy.

SCUBA LEARN to dive at the only PADI approved dive center in the area, full line of equipment in stock, two instructors, earn college credit. Classes forming weekly. Call Creative Travel and Scuba. 539-0531.

100 HOUSING/REAL ESTATE

105

For Rent- Apts. Furnished

Manhattan City Ordinance 4814 assures every person equal opportunity in housing without distinction on account of race, sex, familial status, military status, disability, religion, age, color, national origin or ancestry. Violations should be reported to the Director of Human Resources at City Hall, 587-2440.

TWO-BEDROOM BASEMENT apartment, includes microwave. Close to campus, $350, all utilities paid except cable television. 776–1214.

UNIVERSITY COMMONS. Available: fully furnished, individual leases, washer/ dryer in each unit, roommate matching service, pool, sand volleyball, lighted tennis and basketball courts, monitored security, reserved parking. No appointment necessary. M-F 9a.m.- 6p.m., 10a.m.-4p.m., 539-0500.

110

For Rent- Apt. Unfurnished

AVAILABLE NOW. Studio and one-bedrooms, some furnished. Most utilities paid. Clean and quiet, central locations, some pets accepted. 537-8389.

FOUR-BEDROOM CLOSE to campus, two bath, dishwasher, central air/ heat, water/ trash paid. Free laundry, good price. 537-2255 or 537-7810.

FOUR-BEDROOM, TWO bath, close to campus, no pets, reasonable. 776-1340.

FOUR-BEDROOM, TWO bath 1300 square feet. Water/ trash paid. Discounted cable with HBO. 776–3663.

Now Available!
Large 2-Bedrooms
Sandstone Apts.
Cambridge Sq. Apts.
Hill Investments
537-9064

LARGE ONE-BEDROOM basement, one-half block from university. 539–8856.

LARGE THREE-BEDROOM well lit basement, close to campus, 1729 Laramie, new stove and refrigerator, washer/ dryer hook-ups, heat/ water/ trash paid. $570. 537–2099, 539–8052.

NOW LEASING one to four-bedroom apartments/ houses. Call Alliance Property Management. 539–4357 for current list.

ONE AND two-bedrooms, start at $380-$450. Dishwasher, deck, central air, on-site laundry, extra storage. Available now, 776-8455.

ONE- OR TWO-BEDROOM. No pets, smoking, drinking. 539–1554.

ONE-BEDROOM COZY basement apartment. Walk to Aggieville and campus. Rent negotiable. 539-1722 leave message.

ONE-BEDROOM, $290. 539-8401.

ROOMMATE PROBLEMS? Large one-bedroom near Aggieville, $300, hardwood floors, white walls, personality. 776-4313 or 785-456-7183.

9 Month Lease
2 & 3 Bedroom
Specials
539-2951

STUDIO, $280, air-conditioning, bills paid. 539-8401.

THREE-BEDROOM HOUSE, computer den, attached garage, near campus. Immediately available. (765)463–5014.

THREE-BEDROOM, $390. 539-8401.

THREE-BEDROOM, CENTRAL air, one-half block from campus, washer/ dryer hook-ups. Available now. 776-8455.

THREE-BEDROOM, TWO bath apartment available for August. Very spacious. Dishwasher, microwave, pool, laundry and carports. Call Sara at 537–7007.

WOODWAY APARTMENTS

STOP!

DO NOT RENT AN APARTMENT UNTIL YOU CONSIDER THIS!

- Sparkling swimming pool
- Spacious decks/patios
- Avail. June 5 Aug. 6
- Kitchen Appliances include microwave and dishwasher
- On site laundry facilities
- Economical gas heat

3 BDRM, 2 BATH $714, $723
4 BDRM, 2 BATH $836, $856

Office:
2400 Kimball Ave.
at College Ave.
(Across from Bramlage)
Call Sara
at 537-7007
for an appointment.

TWO, THREE and four-bedroom apartments water/ trash paid, discounted cable with HBO. Going fast. 776–3663.

TWO-BEDROOM, $320. 539-8401.

TWO-BEDROOM, CENTRAL air, laundry hookups, dishwasher, $400. No pets. Nine month lease. 513 S. Manhattan Avenue. 539–2255.

UNIVERSITY TERRACE APARTMENTS. Corner of College and Dickens. Large three-bedroom apartment. 537-2096.

120

For Rent- Houses

1106 KEARNEY- one and one-half blocks from campus. Three-bedrooms, one bath, kitchen, living room, washer and dryer hookups. Available September 1, 1998, $650/ month. Century 21 Knight Real Estate, 537-2111.

A PLEASANT house two blocks from campus. Fireplace, washer/ dryer, dishwasher. Please call 537–7848 or 776-6225.

EXCELLENT CONDTION house. Split level design four-bedroom, two baths, two living rooms, dining room, two stall garage with automatic garage door opener, large sun deck overlooking back yard, ceiling fans, whole house fan, central air/ heat. Located three blocks from KSU football stadium at 2629 Kimball. To see call 776-4040 or (804)706–1196, available immediately.

FOUR-BEDROOM HOUSE for rent. Close to campus, newly remodeled, washer/ dryer central air, 539–4949.

KSU THREE BLOCKS. Three-bedroom, one bath, central air, laundry hookups, garage, small pets considered, 1517 Pipher. 539-4087, leave message.

THREE-BEDROOM, AIR-CONDITIONING, $510. 539-8401.

TWO-BEDROOM house available. Stove, refrigerator, air-conditioning. No pets. 539-1975 or (785) 396-4344.

145

Roommate Wanted

CHRISTIAN FEMALE seeks roommate to share two-bedroom apartment. Close to campus - September rent FREE, call 537-4441.

COME LIVE with three sassy girls! Fourth roommate wanted to live in awesome house five minutes from campus. Call 587-8711.

FEMALE ROOMMATE to share a nice fully furnished two-bedroom apartment with laundry facilities, located across from Ford Hall. Available January 1, 1999, $230 a month, one-half utilities. 537-8832.

FEMALE ROOMMATE to share NICE two-bedroom apartment across from college. $260 a month. 776-4891.

FEMALE ROOMMATE wanted in four-bedroom apartment next to Durland, very nice. Call 587-9524 for details.

FEMALE ROOMMATE wanted, non-smoking, furnished house, private bathroom, 12 miles from KSU, $225/ month plus one-half utilities. Tracy 770–9489.

FEMALE ROOMMATE wanted for two-bedroom apartment close to campus and Aggieville. $175/ month, no deposit required. Call Jill, 770–9393.

FEMALE ROOMMATE wanted. Move in now, September and October rent paid for. Cambridge Square Apartments. Deposit paid, $270/ month. (316) 773–1627.

FEMALE, ANIMAL-FRIENDLY non-smoker to share house close to campus. $300/ month plus some utilities. Call Erika 539-5980.

MALE NEEDED for furnished basement. Washer/ dryer without meter. No smoking, drinking, or pets. Walk to class. 539–1554

NEEDED: ROOMMATE to share four-bedroom house with three girls, a cat and a dog. Close to campus and football stadium. 537-3803.

300 EMPLOYMENT/OPPORTUNITIES

310

Help Wanted

($20 / HOUR, PART-TIME/ FULL-TIME). Processing mail! Free supplies, postage! Bonuses! Rush self-addressed stamped envelope: GMA/KSU P.O. Box 567443 Atlanta, GA 31156. e-mail: signup@info.info-machine.com.

ARABIAN HORSE farm looking for part-time help with stable chores and light training. Call (785) 494-8486.

BLUEVILLE NURSERY is accepting applications for part-time and full-time temporary employees with the following skills: Garden Store Sales, Lawn Sprinkler Installation, Landscape Installation, and Landscape Maintenance. Must be available at least 20 hours per wek in full day or full half-day blocks (8-12) or (1-5). Apply in person at Blueville Nursery, Inc., 4539 Anderson. EOE.

BREADEAUX PIZZA. Day and night shifts, all positions, including drivers. Salary negotiable with experience. 3033 Anderson. 537-5080.

CENSUS 2000: The Census Bureau is currently testing in the Manhattan area for temporary positions beginning in late October. For more information please call 776-1621. The Census Bureau is an Equal Opportunity Employer.

CLEANING: FOR non-smoking student in a home adjacent to campus. Send resume to Collegian Box 4.

Ambitious, energetic people needed for full and part-time. Apply in person at
Vista Drive In
1911 Tuttle Creek Blvd.

COMPUTER PROGRAMMER. 20 hours/ week, hours flexible. Knowledge of C/C++. Undergraduates only. Apply in Throckmorton 1011 by September 11. For more information call 532-7236 or 532-5731.

HELP WANTED: Earn up to $500 per week assembling products at home. No experience. INFO 1-504-646-1700 DEPT. KS-6438.

INTERNET SUPPORT: Networks + has openings for weekend internet support, $7/ hour. E-mail resume in MSWord or text format to morgan@net-worksplus.com

INTERNET SUPPORT: Networks + has openings for weekend internet support, $7/ hour. E-mail resume in MSWord or text format to morgan@net-worksplus.com

MCC DREDGING is looking for temporary help dredging city sewer plant immediately $8.50/ hour, flexible hours, sun-up to sun-down. (316) 775-1208.

NIGHT STAFF position available. One year of college or two years experience required. Flexible shifts, supervising experience a plus. Apply at Manhattan Emergency Shelter, Inc., 831 Leavenworth, by Sept. 15. E.O.E.

PART-TIME DELIVERY/ warehouse person at Faith Furniture. Please apply in person at 302 E. Highway 24, Manhattan.

PART-TIME POSITION: One day per week grinding feed on farm close to Manhattan. Call evenings, (785)396–4328.

JOBS
Starting at $7.00 per hour
PART TIME
Help needed to take inventory in retail stores. Average 10-12 hours on weekends. Weekday daytime hours are also available. Averaging 25+ hours.
Apply in person Landon Room, Ramada Inn
Thursday, Sept. 10th at 4:30 p.m. and 6:00 p.m.
Interviews start promptly. Doors will close after 5 minutes.

PROGRAMMER- NETWORKS Plus, the leader in providing business and government computer services has openings for both full and half-time positions. Experience in database environments required. Salary range $25,000 - $50,000 plus bonuses and benefits. E-mail resume to Morgan@net-worksplus.com in text or MS Word format.

RILEY COUNTY is accepting applications for the postition of Information Systems Supervisor. Bachelor's degree in computer science, management information systems or related field preferred, but not required. Proficient knowledge of PCs and PC networks required. Experience required in systems management on network utilizing Novell, LANS WANS, TCP/IP, Internet/ Intranet access, Windows 95, Windows NT and MS DOS 16 bit applications. Experience with UNIX, mid-range computer systems, and Ethernet preferred. The salary range is $35,422.40-$49,150.40. Job description and application are available at Riley County Clerk's Office, 110 Courthouse Plaza, Manhattan, KS 66502 until position is filled. EEOE.

STUDENT COMPUTER SPECIALIST-KSU LIBRARIES, (three positions). Seeking individuals interested in assisting with user support by setting up new PC's installing and troubleshooting microcomputer software and hardware. The Novell environment consists of 300 microcomputer/ terminals with peripherals attached. Position requires knowledge of DOS and Windows95, good communications skills and be a self-directed worker, this is a year around position for approximately 20 hours/ week. Prefer knowledge of networks and windows applications, and utilities such as word processing, database and spreadsheet software (WordPerfect, MsAccess, QuatroPro, etc.) Experience with MsAccess is a plus! Apply in room 504 Hale Library. Review of applications will begin September 16, 1998.

TACO BELL is now hiring for the following positions: Shift Leaders (Up to $7.00/ hr), Crew Members (Up to $6.00/ hr.) Taco Bell offers competitive pay, paid vacation, and benefits. Apply in person at the Manhattan Taco Bell.

A LOT CAN BE SAID ABOUT A LITTLE BIT OF SPACE:
It works
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN
532-6555

TEMPORARY POSITON. Big Lakes Developmental Center, Inc. provides programs and services for individuals with developmental disabilities. Applications will be accepted for the following positions: SUPERVISED LIVING ADVISOR I: Responsible for providing personal care, supervison and training, record keeping, transportation, and light household maintenance at a residential home. Part-time, 30 hours per week. 6:00 a.m. to 8:00 a.m. and 4:30 p.m. to 8:30 p.m. Monday through Friday. $7.35 per hour. Minimum qualifications include high school diploma or equivalent, three years driving experience, and a good driving record. Pre-employment drug screening required. Applications accepted through September 11, 1998. For rewarding and challenging opportunities and further information contact: Human Resources Director, BIG LAKES DEVELOPMENTAL CENTER, INC. 1416 Hayes Dr. Manhattan, KS 66502. 776–9201, Monday through Friday 8:00- a.m. to 4:30 p.m. EOE/AA.

TUTORING HIGH school students for K-State's Upward Bound Math and Science Program. Contact: Lynne Davy at 532-6374 for application.

WANTED: RESPONSIBLE, reliable and dependable people who are interested in Kansas State Athletics! Women's Basketball is seeking a few managers for the upcoming 1998-99 season. All interested people should call Kathy at 532-6970 to set up an appointment.

WRESTLING COACH, middle/ high school, October-February, 3p.m.- 6p.m. Contact Tim Kite, Onaga High School, 500 High St, Onaga, KS 66521, (785)889–4251.

WRITER. K-State News Services has an opening for a student news writer who can produce articles quickly and accurately. Work 12-15 hours per week. Flexible schedules. High school or college journalism experience required. Pick up an application in 9 Anderson Hall.

400 OPEN MARKET

405

Wanted to Buy

YOU NEED A NEW GAME!!
OR SOFTWARE FOR
SONY PLAYSTATION, COMPUTER CD ROM, N64, NINTENDO, ETC.
BUY SELL TRADE
VIDEO GAMES
GAME GUY
709 N. 12th
Aggieville
537-0989
www.game-guy.com

WANTED TO BUY: Looking to buy a Hewlitt Packard calculator: model 10C, 11C, 15C or 16C. Call 537–4702.

410

Items for Sale

Trying to make room for your new furniture?
The Collegian can help.
Get rid of your old furniture by using the Collegian classified ads.
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN
103 Kedzie
532-6555

ANTIQUES, COLLECTIBLES, tools, books, furniture, estate jewelry, beer signs, thousands of curious goods. Time Machine Antique Maul and Flea Market. 4910 Skyway Dr. between Briggs and airport. 539–4684.

CABLE DESCRAMBLER kit only $14.95. See all the pay channels. 1-800-752-1389.

GOVERNMENT SURPLUS: Camouflage clothing, G.I. boots, sleeping bags, raincoats, wool clothing, also CARHARRT WORKWEAR. Monday-Friday 9-5:30 p.m. Saturday 9-5 p.m. St. Mary's Surplus Sales, St. Mary's, KS.(785) 437-2734.

RICH, FRAGRANT, therapeutic Essential Oil creations, hand-blended to enhance your unique personal style! Skin and facial oils, perfumes, bath salts, after shaves, etc. Call 776-2230, leave name and number for free brochure and 20% off coupon through September 30. Visit our web site at http://www.flint-hills.com/~keepup.

VINTAGE WOOD captain chairs, large desk, two computer desks and IBM electric typewriter. 539-3936.

415

Furniture to Buy/Sell

NEW FULL SIZE MATTRESS SET, never used still in plastic with warranty card $140 cash, will deliver. Call 537-3076.

420

Garage/Yard Sales

VINTAGE CLOTHING sale. Senior center, 412 Leavenworth on both Thursday September 10, 2-4p.m. and Friday 10a.m.-4p.m.

435

Computers

ATX TOWER, 15-inch Monitor, Intel PII 233 MMX, 64MB RAM, 5.3 GB, Diamond 4MB AGP, Monster 3Dfx, USR 56K V.90, 24X CD, PCI 3D wavetable with speakers, mega software/ games, $1029 or best offer, Nathan 539–8744.

MICROSOFT OFFICE '97 Professional, full version, unopened, unregistered, $75. 1-800-416-3594.

NANAO FLEXSCAN FX2-21. 21 inch color computer monitor. This is Nanao's top of the line monitor with .26mm Dot Pinch, 1600 X 1200 resolution @ 85HZ. New in box. $1295 or best offer, 776–5999.

SEIKO PRO ColorPoint combination wax thermal and dye-sublimation color proof printer, new in box. $3995 or best offer, 776–5999.

445

Music Instruments

TWELVE CHANNEL mixing board with case. Many features, cleaned and works great, $300. Also, Master Volume/ Reverb unit, $50. 776–7506.

WELCOME TO The Music Co.! Our business is making you sound the best you can, and leaving a little gas money in your pocket. OK, we're gonna do it, the first and only Music Co. sale! Through September, Alvarez and Fernandes guitars will be on sale at ridiculous prices! Always the best deals on the planet! The Music Co., nothing typical, no pressure. 523 S. 17th Street in Manhattan. 539-1958.

450

Pets and Supplies

TWO WHITE kittens need a home. Ten weeks old. Please call 539-6805.

460

Electronic Equipment

SONY COMPACT stereo, separate 5-disc changer, speakers, remote included, great conditon, sounds great. $175 or best offer. 539-2250 ask for Jon.

STR-DE715 SONY receiver just redone by Sony, six months old, still under warranty. $400 retail, asking $325. 587-0635.

465

Tickets to Buy/Sell

FOOTBALL TICKETS vs. Northeast Louisiana for sale at cost! Call Carol at 539-2738 for details.

ONE GENERAL Admission ticket set for sale to highest bidder. Call Bill at 770–9944 and leave a message.

TWO RESERVE tickets: Indiana State, Northern Illinois, Northeast Louisiana, Iowa State, Texas. Best Offer. One or all games. 539–7805.

TWO STUDENT general admission for sale, September 12 game. Best offer. 587-8063.

WANTED- TWO student section tickets. Call Janece-395–2801.

WANTED: ICAT membership ticket to go along with already purchased season tickets. Call 539-8179.

500 TRANSPORTATION

510

Automobiles

1993 FORD Ranger XLT. Extended cab, 4.0 liter V6, five-speed, 76K miles. Excellent condition. $8700 or best offer. 537–3516.

1995 NISSAN pick-up, blue. 54,000 miles, $7900. Contact Augy or Kara after 5:30p.m. (785)456-2740.

FOR SALE: 1989 Honda Accord, 5-speed, air-conditioning, cruise, good. High miles. $2500. Call 587-8256.

MUST SELL: 1993 Mazda MX-3 GS, five-speed, $6000 or best offer. Call 587–8509, 7p.m.-9p.m.

530

Motorcycles

1985 HONDA V-30 Magna, $1100 or best offer. 587–9201.

1987 KAWASAKI 305 LTD $850. Call Mike 587-0608 leave message.

1989 KAWASAKI EX500 red/ black. Excellent condition. 11K, must sell to pay for new bike. $1400 or best offer. 537–2289.

1996 KAWASAKI ZX-11 Ninja. 14,000 miles $8000 book price, will make offer. (785) 877-2830.

1996 RED Kawasaki ZX-6R with 6600 miles and three year warranty. Mint condition with muzzie exhaust. $6500. Call (785)499–5297 or (785)499–5447. Ask for Eric or e-mail me at eab5890@ksu.edu

600 TRAVEL/TRIPS

630

Spring Break

SPRING BREAK '99-- Sell Trips, Earn Cash & Go Free! STS is now hiring campus reps. Lowest rates to Jamaica, Mexico and Florida. Call 800-648-4849 or apply online at www.ststravel.com

Make Tracks Over Winter Break!
17th Annual Colorado Classic
COLLEGIATE GOTTA SKI BREAKS
JANUARY 3-18, 1999 • 2, 3, 4, 5, 6 or 7 NIGHTS
Steamboat Breckenridge Vail/Beaver Creek Copper Mountain
$112
TOLL FREE INFORMATION AND RESERVATIONS
1•800•SUNCHASE
on the web at www.sunchase.com
Nobody Does Ski Breaks Better!

Miss the ocean? Look under Tour Packages (610) for vacation info!

ClassifiedRATES

1 DAY
20 words or less $7.15
each word over 20 $.20 per word

2 DAYS
20 words or less $8.40
each word over 20 $.25 per word

3 DAYS
20 words or less $9.55
each word over 20 $.30 per word

4 DAYS
20 words or less $10.60
each word over 20 $.35 per word

5 DAYS
20 words or less $11.55
each word over 20 $.40 per word
(consecutive day rate)

HOW TO PAY
All classifieds must be paid in advance unless you have an account with Student Publications Inc. Cash, check, MasterCard or Visa are accepted. There is a $10 service charge on all returned checks. We reserve the right to edit, reject or properly classify any ad.

FREE FOUND ADS
As a service to you, we run found ads for three days free of charge.

CORRECTIONS
If you find an error in your ad, please call us. We accept responsibility only for the first wrong insertion.

CANCELLATIONS
If you sell your item before your ad has expired, we will refund you for the remaining days. You must call us before noon the day before the ad is to be published.

HEADLINES
For an extra charge, we'll put a headline above your ad to catch the reader's attention.

000 BULLETIN BOARD
100 HOUSING/REAL ESTATE
200 SERVICE DIRECTORY
300 EMPLOYMENT/OPPORTUNITIES
400 OPEN MARKET
500 TRANSPORTATION
600 TRAVEL/TRIPS

TO PLACE AN AD
Go to Kedzie 103 (across from the K-State Student Union). Office hours are Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. The office is open except on holidays.

collegiancollegian

Collegian as a resource! Let the World see your classified ad by using the

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN
103 KEDZIE 532-6555

XSCAPE

TRACES OF MY LIPSTICK — R&B's hottest female group returns with a soulful new collection of hits including the lead-off single "The Arms Of The One Who Loves You" and "My Little Secret."

ARMAGEDDON

THE ALBUM — This summer's blockbuster soundtrack album, featuring two new Aerosmith hits including the smash "I Don't Want To Miss A Thing" plus new songs by Shawn Colvin, Chantal Kreviazuk, Journey and more.

KORN

FOLLOW THE LEADER — The ultimate statement from the band that set the standard includes "Got The Life." Welcome To The New Skool.

JERMAINE DUPRI

LIFE IN 1472 THE ORIGINAL SOUNDTRACK— The essential Hip-Hop album by superstar Producer Jermaine Dupri. Contains new music by Mariah Carey, Usher, Snoop Dogg, Jay-Z, Nas, Mase & more. Featuring "Money Ain't A Thang" & "Sweetheart."

GODZILLA®

THE ALBUM — Music Does Matter. Featuring The Wallflowers, Puff Daddy Featuring Jimmy Page, Rage Against The Machine, Jamiroquai and more.

ALLY McBEAL SOUNDTRACK

SONGS FROM ALLY McBEAL FEATURING VONDA SHEPARD — Have you found your personal theme song yet? Then pick up the Platinum companion album to TV's hottest new show. Featuring 14 songs including the series' theme "Searchin' My Soul."

MAXWELL

EMBRYA — The new album featuring the single "Luxury:Cococure" and "Matrimony." It's the follow-up to his Platinum-plus debut Maxwell's Urban Hang Suite and his acclaimed Unplugged album.

WILL SMITH

BIG WILLIE STYLE — His triple platinum solo debut album features the smash hits "Gettin' Jiggy Wit' It," a new version of the classic "Just The Two Of Us" and "Miami."

CAM'RON

CONFESSIONS OF FIRE — Hailing from the Harlem-World Camp, and ready to take the reins as the new King of Hip-Hop. His debut album includes the hits "357," "Horse & Carriage," and much more to come.

DES'REE

SUPERNATURAL — Des'ree is back, the artist who brought you "You Gotta Be" is now Supernatural. The new album features the hit single "Life" plus her duet with Babyface on the classic "Fire."

JON B.

COOL RELAX — The sophomore album "Cool Relax" from Jon B. features instantly classic grooves and sexy vocal harmonies with a butter smooth street appeal. This Platinum plus release features the smash hits "They Don't Know," "Are U Still Down," and "I Do (Whatcha Say Boo)."

STABBING WESTWARD

DARKEST DAYS — "Screams to be heard!...Beats reminiscent of Prodigy and sprawling melodies that recall Pink Floyd" — Rolling Stone Magazine. Includes "Save Yourself" and "Sometimes It Hurts."

"Columbia," "550 Music" and design, "SONY," "Epic" and [illegible] Reg. U.S. Pat. & Tm. Off. Marca Registrada. /© 1998 Sony Music Entertainment Inc.

www.epicrecords.com www.sonymusic.com www.columbiarecords.com

Available at BEST BUY®

Now That's A Great Idea!

BACK IN STRIDE

Wide receiver Everett Burnett is hoping to leave the ghosts of last season behind him.

■ SEE STORY ON PAGE 5

THURSDAY
SEPTEMBER 10, 1998

KANSAS STATE UNIVERSITY, MANHATTAN, KAN.
VOLUME 103, NUMBER 13
COLLEGIAN.KSU.EDU

TODAY'S WEATHER

HIGH 87
LOW 60

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Sub. Exp. Date: 00/00
Kansas State Historical Society
Newspaper Section
PO Box 3585
Topeka KS 66601

Starr report handed over to Congress

BY DAVID ESPO
THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Independent Counsel Kenneth Starr sent Congress 36 sealed boxes filled with "substantial and credible" evidence of wrongdoing by President Clinton on Wednesday, triggering the nation's first formal impeachment review since Watergate a quarter-century ago.

House Speaker Newt Gingrich and Democratic leader Dick Gephardt pledged before Starr acted that they would make a bipartisan effort to review the politically explosive report, delivered in the shadow of the mid-term elections. The two men then met into the evening to begin plans to make several hundred pages public within a few days — including posting it on the Internet — and to govern Congress' subsequent review.

Clinton, facing the gravest in a career of political crises, asked the nation for forgiveness in a speech in Florida.

"I let you down. I let my family down. I let this country down, but I'm trying to make it right," the president said. He did not utter the name of Monica Lewinsky, the former White House intern with whom he had — and hid — a sexual relationship.

It was Clinton's second apology of the day, the first coming in a private, emotional meeting with House Democrats before he left Washington for Florida.

Not everyone was moved. One lawmaker told the president bluntly he had surrendered the trust of the American people, temporarily at least, while a second demanded an assurance that Starr's report wouldn't disclose any new, damaging information. Clinton nodded, saying nothing.

Shortly after Clinton spoke in Orlando, Starr dispatched aides to Capitol Hill where House Sergeant-at-arms Wilson Livingood took custody of the fruits of the grand jury investigation in an unprecedented scene on the Capitol plaza.

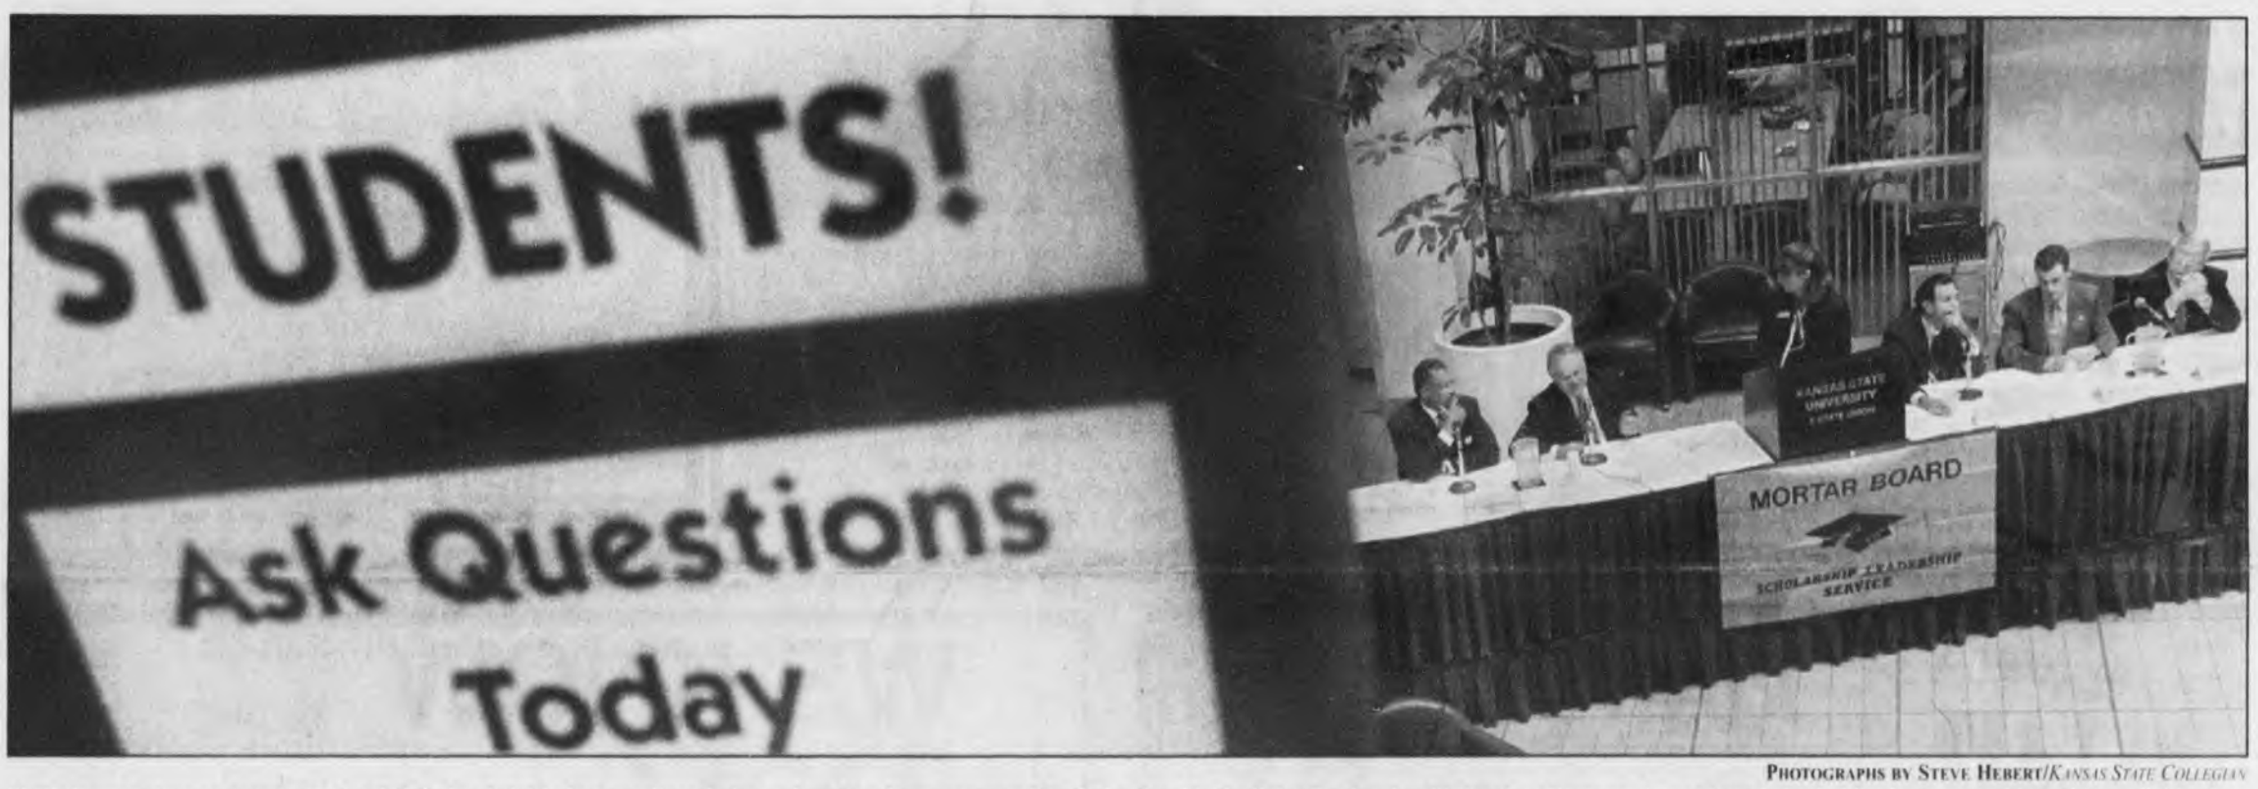
A crowd of tourists, House aides, reporters and a few lawmakers watched in brilliant sunshine as Livingood and his staff accounted for each box by turn, transferred them from Starr's vans to their own and drove away to a secured room in an office building a few blocks away.

A few moments later, Charles Bakaly, Starr's spokesman, told reporters the independent counsel had turned over "substantial and credible information that may constitute grounds for impeachment of the president of the United States."

In a fast-paced day of high drama, Clinton sought the last word by sending his private attorney, David Kendall, to the microphones outside the White House.

"There is no basis for impeachment," Kendall said.

But with the delivery of Starr's long-awaited report to Congress, that will be for the House to decide.



The report was expected to lay out evidence of possible obstruction of justice, perjury, witness tampering and abuse of power by Clinton in his effort to conceal an affair with Lewinsky and thwart the Paula Jones sexual harassment lawsuit.

In his letter to Congress, Starr also hinted the report might contain graphic details.

"Many of the supporting materials contain information of a personal nature that I respectfully urge the House to treat as confidential," he wrote.

Rep. Jerry Solomon, R-N.Y., chairman of the House Rules Committee, told reporters at an evening-news conference that Starr's office had informed congressional leaders the material included a 445-page report, buttressed by 2,000 pages of backup material and voluminous additional material that includes

■ See CLINTON on PAGE 10

PHOTOGRAPHS BY STEVE HEBERT/KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Students were given an opportunity to ask K-State administrators questions during an hour-long forum sponsored by Mortar Board in the Union Courtyard on Wednesday afternoon. Issues talked about at the forum ranged from the possibility of parking passes for the Chester E. Peters Recreation Complex to talk about the process of buying season football tickets.

LOOKING FOR FEEDBACK

Urick seeks student input on football ticket distribution

BY NANCY GRATHWOHL
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

The Department of Intercollegiate Athletics wants more student feedback about the process it used to sell season football tickets, Athletics Director Max Urick said Wednesday.

Urick and other administrators spoke at a forum in the Union Courtyard sponsored by Mortar Board.

Urick said students with seniority or who purchased combination tickets for football and basketball received priority for purchasing tickets, but he admitted the process has problems.

"Why did we let a student present three other IDs along with their one ID — to buy four tickets instead of just one? That was in response to the concern last year that some students had classes, and therefore, you should let other students buy for their friends," Urick said.

However, it was clear that students were not buying for their friends when they tried to scalp tickets right outside the door, Urick said.

David Ball, senior in marketing, asked why students were not informed of the ICAT seating expansion at the football stadium. ICAT seating increased from about 2,000 to 2,800 this season.

"The ICAT expansion was done at the last minute," Urick said. "We saw the demand for it to increase, and we just went ahead and filled in the rest of that section."

Urick assured students that there is no plan to move student seating from where it is now.

Urick said the athletic department wants students' input on ticket sales, including opinions on what days to sell tickets, the number of IDs a person can purchase tickets with and if non-students should be allowed to use student tickets.

Increasing enrollment was another student concern addressed at the forum.

Dean of Student Life Pat Bosco said this year's projected enrollment should meet or exceed last fall's enrollment of 20,300.

Bosco said more scholarship funds have helped recruiting, and this year's freshman class could be the brightest in K-State history.

"The KSU Foundation advanced our general scholarship committee an additional $1 million in general scholarships," he said.

"We were able to place those dollars on increased scholarship offers to the kind of students that make a significant contribution at K-State."

Concerns about the K-State Student Union renovation were addressed by Union Director Bernard Pitts.

The $11.5-million renovation project, which began after commencement last May, will bring the Union up to fire-code standards and add a food court, Pitts said.

"Outside of minor inconveniences, we don't see that the renovation should impact your daily lives at all," Pitts said.

Pitts said work on the food court will begin in December.

Other issues discussed at the forum included improvements to Frank Myers Field, progress of the Colbert Hills Golf Course and the possibility of parking passes for the Chester E. Peters Recreation Complex.

Mortar Board president Elizabeth Schepmann said she was pleased with how the forum ran.

"I think the amount of people who asked questions was very positive, and it showed that students are really interested in what happens at K-State," Schepmann said.

K-State Director of Intercollegiate Athletics Max Urick answers a question about the new improvements to Frank Myers Field during Wednesday's forum sponsored by Mortar Board in the Union Courtyard.

Faculty salary concerns to be discussed today at general meeting

BY MATT KREPS
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

K-State faculty members will have an opportunity to address a variety of concerns at a general-faculty meeting today from 3:30 to 5:30 in Forum Hall.

Key topics to be discussed include salary enhancements, library funding, tenure and performance standards, distance learning and faculty roles and rewards.

The discussion topics will be elements for the Faculty Senate agenda in the upcoming year, Talat Rahman, Faculty Senate president, said.

"We would like as much input as possible in shaping this agenda, because Faculty Senate has to be a representation of the faculty," she said.

The general meeting will take the place of the State of the University Address, which traditionally addressed these issues, Rahman said. This year, the address will be part of the Provost's Lecture Series and will focus on graduate education and research.

The meeting will begin with a look at the past year by past President James Legg, a look at the current status of faculty issues by Provost James Coffman and a report on issues for the current year by Rahman.

The Academic Affairs and Faculty Affairs committees as well as the Committee on University Planning also will present updated reports. In addition to the committee reports will be presentations relating to the topics on this year's Senate agenda.

A majority of the topics will affect faculty performance, evaluation and rewards.

Bradley Fenwick, professor of veterinary medicine and chairman of the faculty affairs committee, said the minimum-performance standards and post-tenure review policies set K-State apart from other universities across the nation.

"It evolved here over about 10 years," Fenwick said.

The system allows individual departments to set standards instead of establishing standards throughout the university based on salary increases, as the Kansas Board of Regents originally had suggested.

"If you make your criteria monetary, that's not really a reflection of quality," Rahman said.

She said the departmental standards better measure teaching and research performance specific to the department's expectations.

The system helps departments identify faculty who are not performing at an acceptable level and helps them address reasons why, Rahman said.

The system not only allows departments to identify faculty who need improved performance but also requires departments to find out why the performance is lacking and create a plan to help those faculty members improve.

"It leads to an open discussion between the department head and the faculty member so people do not become defensive," Rahman said.

She also said that a review process focused on finding solutions to faculty problems also increases a department's productivity for teaching and research.

The meeting also will address continuing concerns about faculty salaries and funding for Hale Library.

Rahman said distance learning also will be discussed, and that Senate needs to address how to maintain the quality of the courses, as well as find the best way to integrate them into the university system.

2 killed in wreck on Highway 24

Two people were killed at 4:45 p.m. Wednesday afternoon four miles east of Manhattan on U.S. Highway 24. One other person involved in the accident was seriously injured. Two vehicles were involved. The Pottawatomie Police Department is currently investigating the cause of the accident.

—Collegian staff reports

CALENDAR DEADLINES

To place an item in the Calendar, stop by Kedzie 116 and fill out a form or e-mail it to bulletins@spub.ksu.edu by 11 a.m. two days before it is to run.

NEWS DIGEST

CALENDAR

Calendar is the Collegian's campus bulletin board service. Items in the calendar can be published up to three times. Items might not appear because of space constraints but are guaranteed to appear on the day of the activity.

■ Horticultural Therapy Chapter will have a plant sale from 9:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. today and Friday in the Throckmorton first-floor lobby

■ New members of Alpha Kappa Psi will meet at 6 tonight in Calvin 202.

■ K-State National Education Association will have a membership drive from 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. today and Friday in the lobby of Bluemont Hall.

■ Ag Economic/Agribusiness Club will be host to a hamburger fry at 6:30 tonight at Tuttle Creek Lake State Park.

■ KSU Hillel will meet at 8:30 tonight at Java Espresso & Bakery in Aggieville.

■ K-State Women's Soccer Club will meet at 6 tonight in Memorial Stadium.

■ The College of Arts and Sciences will hold a workshop for applying to law school from 3:30 to 5 p.m. today in Union 203. A mock LSAT test will be administered from 12:30 to 5 p.m. Friday in Union 206. Students can sign up in Eisenhower 117.

■ Circle K public-service organization will meet at 6 tonight in Durland 161.

■ Dean of Engineering Tom Roberts will lead an interview workshop for engineering students at 7 tonight in Rathbone 173.

POLICE REPORTS

Reports are taken directly from the K-State and Riley County police departments' daily logs. We do not list wheel locks or minor traffic violations because of space constraints.

K-STATE POLICE
TUESDAY, SEPT. 8

■ No reports of note were made.

RILEY COUNTY POLICE
TUESDAY, SEPT. 8

■ At 10:40 a.m., Issoufou Ouattara, 1231 Ratone St., was arrested for passing a worthless check. Bond was set at $350.

■ At 2:41 p.m., James J. Wilson Jr., no address listed, was arrested for passing a worthless check. Bond was set at $200.

■ At 9:35 p.m., John D. Woofter, 5770 Elbo View Dr., was arrested on a Riley County warrant for possession of marijuana. Bond was set at $300.

DAILY REWIND

Teen girl will be tried as adult for murder

HUTCHINSON, Kan. — A 17-year-old girl could face life in prison if a jury convicts her in the strangulation and beating death of her mother.

Tracie Miles appeared before a Reno County District judge Wednesday morning for a formal reading of the first-degree murder charges against her. On Tuesday, she looked down and chewed on her thumbnail as the judge ruled that she would stand trial as an adult.

Charged as a minor, Miles cannot be held beyond her 23rd birthday, even if a jury finds her guilty of first-degree murder.

Prosecutors accuse Miles, of Hutchinson, of conspiring with her 18-year-old boyfriend, Paul Nelson, to kill her mother, Sandra Miles, 48. They say the two were angry because Sandra Miles had taken away her daughter's car and ruined their plans to run away.

The mother's body was found March 30 in her Hutchinson home. The two teen-agers were arrested April 8 in El Paso, Texas.

Family members watching from the courtroom Tuesday said it was difficult to see the girl as the defendant.

"It's hard, but I'm trying to focus on my sister because she's the one who's dead," said Pat Douglas, Sandra Miles' sister. "Tracie's ruined her own life."

Economy not changing American spending

WASHINGTON, D.C. — The stock market's gyrations are making some people more cautious with their money, but two-thirds of American adults say they have not changed their spending habits, according to an Associated Press poll.

A day after posting a record 380-point gain, the Dow Jones industrial average fell 155 points Wednesday to 7,865, slipping back below this year's starting point of 7,908.25.

More than 90 percent of those polled said they believed that a year from now, their family's financial situation will be as good as it is today or better.

"We have less money on paper, but it's not worrying us right now," said Leslie Crismon, a Phoenix homemaker and mother of five. "Our stock market investments are for our retirement. I'm not planning on touching those stocks for quite a while."

Recent financial news made 30 percent more cautious about spending, according to the survey conducted by ICR of Media, Pa.

But most people said interest rates and the job market were more important to them than the stock market. Interest rates were cited by 44 percent as the most important factor, followed by the job market at 35 percent and the stock market at 13 percent.

"I am just renting right now and have been thinking about purchasing a home of my own," said 25-year-old truck driver Wayne Nelson of New York Mills, Minn.

Unemployment and inflation rates are the best they've been in a generation, and falling interest rates have spurred a boom in housing sales. Four out of five people in the poll said their familys' financial situations were better now than they were a year ago.

"Middle Americans are still focused on the basics of life," said Astrid Adolfson, an economist with the financial advice group MCM MoneyWatch in New York. "People can get jobs, people can refinance and buy houses, they have real disposable income. Middle America is still optimistic. They don't watch the stock market directly, they watch it indirectly."

Council unanimously approves punishment

UNITED NATIONS — The Security Council voted unanimously Wednesday to adopt a resolution that punishes Iraq for halting U.N. weapons inspections — but also gives Baghdad a way out of its impasse with the United Nations over economic sanctions.

The council voted 15-0 to suspend periodic reviews of the trade sanctions that have paralyzed Iraq's economy for eight years — essentially leaving Baghdad with no way to have the measures lifted.

But in a concession to France, Russia and China, the United States and Britain agreed to conduct a comprehensive review of the overall sanctions against Iraq. Such a move could force the council to acknowledge Iraq's progress over seven years of intrusive inspections.

U.N. arms experts must certify that Iraq has destroyed its long-range missiles and chemical, biological and nuclear weapons before the council will lift sanctions, imposed after Iraqi President Saddam Hussein invaded Kuwait in 1990, sparking the Gulf War.

WEATHER

HIGH 87

LOW 60

Clear and sunny today with a south wind. Cool tonight. For the weekend: Clear and dry with highs near 90.

CONTACT US

■ NEWSROOM 532-6556
■ ADVERTISING 532-6560
■ CLASSIFIEDS 532-6555

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN
KEDZIE 116
KANSAS STATE UNIVERSITY
MANHATTAN, KS 66506

The Kansas State Collegian (USPS 291 020), a student newspaper at Kansas State University, is published by Student Publications Inc., Kedzie 103, Manhattan, Kan. 66506. The Collegian is published weekdays during the school year and twice a week through the summer. Periodical postage is paid at Manhattan, Kan. 66502. POSTMASTER: Send address changes to Kansas State Collegian, circulation desk, Kedzie 103, Manhattan, Kan. 66506-7167.

© KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN, 1998

Time is Running Out!!!

Thursday is the last day to take advantage of our "Perfect Season - Perfect Price" promotion. Remember, if the Cats go undefeated this football season, we will refund EVERY SINGLE CUSTOMER their money back for every computer system they purchase from us. You'd better hurry though, the clock is ticking!

Transcend Technologies
"Building Computers for the Next Millennium"

Located at 1108 Laramie
(East of Godfather's Pizza in Aggieville)
Call us at 539-8538
Open Mon. - Sat. 9AM - 7PM and Sun. 12PM - 6PM

Men's Breakout Group
forming from Men's Glee Club

Music styles from '50s Doo-wop to barbershop to contemporary acapella.

Pick up an application at McCain 229.

Applications due Sept. 15
Open to all male voices enrolled at K-State
For more information contact Josh Bleeker at bleek@ksu.edu or 776-6294 or Bryan Wagner at bryancw@ksu.edu or 539-7627 ext. 147

Bobby T's!!

Thursday
Calling All Musicians, Comedians & Singers to Open Mike Nite 9 p.m.-1 a.m.
Burgers & Beer
Any 6 oz. Burger, Fries, Frosty Beer or Coke
4:30-10 p.m. only $3.50

Friday
T.G.I.F Buffet 4:30-7 p.m.
All U Can Eat $2

Every Friday & Saturday
9 p.m.-1 a.m.
$1.50 Shot & Drink Specials

LIVE ENTERTAINMENT
Bobby T's • Candlewood Shopping Center • 537-8383

Rusty's LAST CHANCE SALOON

Rusty's very own Pep Rally

2 Free Live Bands
Front Bar

KSU's Official Football Headquarters

FREE T-Shirts from the roof!!

$3 Chargaritas
(KSU Powered Margaritas)
Charging to another victory!

99¢ Rusty Mugs of Purple Beer

$1 Purple Sour Ball Shots

Rusty's a bar with Tradition!!

No Cover Charge

Big Peter might even be spray painted purple
- showing off his Purple Pride!

KSU Football & Rusty's Last Chance
Both Nationally Ranked/Playboy's Picks

WE KNOW where YOU LIVE

the 1999 royal purple yearbook — housing portrait picture schedule —

— we will be shooting on location at fraternities, sororities and residence halls —

Acacia House	Sept. 30	Moore Hall	Sept.8
Alpha Chi Omega	Sept. 8	Miscellaneous Greeks	Sept. 14
Alpha of Clovia	Sept. 23	Off Campus	Sept. 15-18
Alpha Delta Pi	Sept. 14		10-7pm, Union Alcove
Alpha Gamma Rho	Sept. 29	Phi Delta Theta	Oct. 14
Alpha Tau Omega	Sept. 28	Phi Gamma Delta	Sept. 29
Alpha Xi Delta	Sept. 15	Phi Kappa Theta	Oct. 9
Beta Sigma Psi	Oct. 2	Pi Beta Phi	Sept. 10
Beta Theta Pi	Oct. 5	Pi Kappa Alpha	Oct. 1
Boyd Hall	Sept. 21-22	Pi Kappa Phi	Oct. 13
Chi Omega	Sept. 21	Putnam Hall	Sept. 21-22
Delta Chi	Oct. 12	Salina Campus	Sept. 23
Delta Delta Delta	Sept. 18	Sigma Alpha Epsilon	Oct. 6
Delta Sigma Phi	Oct. 12	Sigma Chi	Oct. 2
Delta Tau Delta	Oct. 5	Sigma Kappa	Sept. 24
Delta Upsilon	Oct. 7	Sigma Nu	Oct. 8
Durland Hall (OFF CAMPUS)	Oct. 15	Sigma Phi Epsilon	Oct. 1
FarmHouse	Sept. 28	Sigma Sigma Sigma	Sept. 25
Ford Hall	Sept. 11	Smith House	Sept. 30
Gamma Phi Beta	Sept. 11	Smurthwaite	Sept. 16
Goodnow Hall	Sept. 25	Tau Kappa Epsilon	Oct. 6
Haymaker Hall	Sept. 9	Theta Xi	Oct. 9
Jardine Clubhouse	Oct. 16	Van Zile Hall	Sept. 21-22
Kappa Alpha Theta	Sept. 22	Vet Med (OFF CAMPUS)	Oct. 7
Kappa Kappa Gamma	Sept. 17	Weber Hall (OFF CAMPUS)	Oct. 14
Kappa Sigma	Oct. 8	West Hall	Sept. 10
Lambda Chi Alpha	Oct. 13	Organizations	Oct. 19-22
Marlatt Hall	Sept. 24		6-10 pm, McCain 3rd floor

SEPT. 10 — 11am-7pm —
✓ West Hall
✓ Pi Beta Phi
TODAY!!

SEPT. 11 — 11am-7pm —
○ Ford Hall
○ Gamma Phi Beta

SEPT. 14 — 11am-7pm —
○ Alpha Delta Pi
○ *Miscellaneous Greeks
○ *Off Campus
— 10am-7pm Union Alcove —

Program hopes to curb youth use of tobacco

■ 15 Manhattan schools participating in program.

BY GABE ECKERT
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Fifteen percent of adult smokers start smoking as early as eighth grade, according to the Kansas Department of Health and Environment. A Manhattan tobacco-use-prevention program hopes to lower that statistic.

Manhattan schools have been participating in Teens as Teachers, a youth smoking-prevention program, for the past five years.

Fifteen Manhattan middle school students are chosen each year to participate in the program, which includes a one-day seminar.

"This is one of the best prevention programs we can have because older youth talk to younger youth," Mary Beth Reese, director of drug-free schools for Manhattan, said.

During the seminar, students learn about the health risks from smoking and breathing secondhand smoke. They also debate a proposed smoking-control ordinance during a mock city council meeting and analyze cigarette advertisements.

At the end of the day, students develop a smoking-prevention program to present to other students.

After the seminar, students present their program to nearly 1,250 other students in Manhattan. Their program gives students an opportunity to learn about smoking hazards and to reinforce personal beliefs against smoking, Reese said.

"I really like empowering youth to stand up for what they believe in," Reese said.

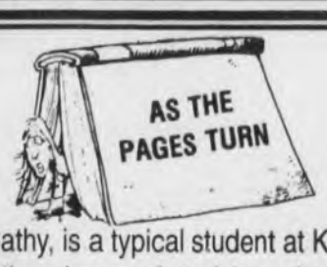
Teens as Teachers is part of the Kansas SmokeLess Kids Initiative, a larger, statewide campaign to reduce youth smoking.

The Kansas SmokeLess Kids Initiative has the goal of limiting youth access to tobacco and protecting them from secondhand smoke.

"We are an educational organization with the primary purpose of reducing the economic and physical harm from tobacco products, particularly with children," said Mary Jayne Hellebust, director of Kansas SmokeLess Kids Initiative.

The statewide program provides financial support to Teens as Teachers. The organization also provides educational resources and programs for Kansans to reduce youth smoking.

"Eighty to 90 percent of new smokers are youth," Hellebust said. "We are trying to lower that number."



Hellebust said she believes programs such as Teens as Teachers are helpful in reducing youth smoking. She said it is only a first step.

"We try to stress that tobacco use in the community has to be handled on a communitywide level," Hellebust said.

"We need involvement from everyone — civic leaders, teachers and parents — it has to be the whole community."

EYES ON FIVE

Find out what that means in this week's Gameday

Our heroine, Cathy, is a typical student at K-State. Tired of spending countless hours of studying, she has decided it is time to get involved in a meaningful activity that's enjoyable as well. Not knowing where to begin her trek, she spots an interesting ad for the Clif Diving Club of Kansas.

(Check tomorrow's exciting continuation of AS THE PAGES TURN)

call: 539-0999
sponsored by the fone crisis center

65 days until "the game."

KSU CAREER FAIR

Tuesday, Sept. 22
10:00 a.m. - 5:00 p.m.

Bramlage Coliseum
(Shuttle bus available from Union)

www.ksu.edu/ces

Claflin Books and Copies
We sell postage stamps from 1¢ stamps to $1.00 for your convenience.
184 Claflin Road 776-3771

Home of the Wildcats

PIZZA SHUTTLE DELIVERS
776-5577
1800 Claflin Road

1st Annual Cowgirl Competition
B-104.7

TONIGHT

LONGHORNS BAR & GRILL

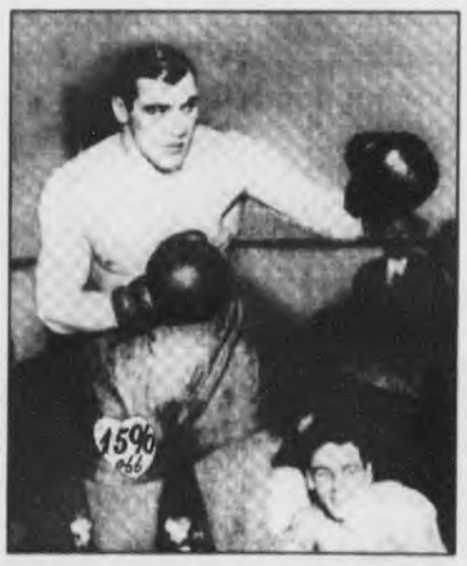
Be A Cowgirl for a year!

1115 MORO 776-8770

KSU JUNIORS AND SENIORS.....

R YOU N?

COME FIND OUT!
KSU Student Union- 2nd Floor
September 14-16
GKN18



ALPHA DELTA PI

I know we'll never forget
All those crazy days
Since three years ago we met
And now we're gone in May!
So let's go try something new (Although Emporia sure was fun)
LAS VEGAS
would be great to do
Since as ΑΔΠs, we're almost done!
So girls, keep an eye on Sunset Street
While we go see the sights
We love you so, we all agree
And we'll always be ΑΔΠs!

ΑΔΠ
Senior Sneak

M MAURICES

Heavyweight champ Primo Carnera was so enamored with saving at Maurices, he often waited until the 15th round to "discount" his opponents.

15% OFF WITH COLLEGE STUDENT ID CARD.
Manhattan Town

Not valid in conjunction with other coupons or total store discounts. Select brands excluded from this offer. Offer valid now through October 15, 1998. Must present college I.D.

Kansas State University Transportation Analysis Public Workshop

KSU Parking Services will host a public workshop from 2:00 to 6:00 p.m. on Wednesday, September 16, 1998, in the McCain Auditorium Lobby. The consulting team from TranSystems will display and discuss data collected to date. TranSystems is also consulting with the City of Manhattan in the Manhattan Area Transportation Study. The Workshop will also provide the University an opportunity to comment on four primary focus areas:

- Does K-State need a transit system?
- ...a parking garage?
- Does K-State's roadway network measure up?
- What does the consultant suggest for pedestrian travel?

Public input is needed to assist in making decisions which will impact Kansas State for many years to come.

OUR VIEW

Faculty have chance to air concerns today

Faculty, it's time to stand up and be heard.

This year, instead of the traditional State of the University Address, Faculty Senate will be host to an open meeting at 3:30 p.m. today in Forum Hall to discuss some of K-State's most pressing faculty concerns.

Issues on the table will include salary enhancement, library funding, post-tenure review, minimum performance guidelines, faculty roles and rewards, and distance learning.

Many of these subjects have made headlines in the past year, both at K-State and around the nation. All of them directly affect the quality of education and research at K-State.

Without faculty support and feedback, administrators and faculty representatives are once again fighting a lonely battle to keep K-State at the top of higher education.

The multi-year salary enhancement plan created by the Kansas Board of Regents will be on the table for discussion. It may be the best chance K-State has to bring salaries in line with those at its peer institutions.

Faculty should back the administration's efforts to lobby for fair and competitive salaries.

K-State has adopted an innovative review process, allowing departments to review their faculty by self-imposed standards. Faculty Senate is asking for feedback on how this process works and if it helps bring sub-standard faculty members up to par.

Faculty Senate also is asking for input on distance learning. While these programs offer new opportunities in education, they also need standards to make sure classes maintain high quality and serve the students who take them.

Faculty — be there.

This meeting is one of the few opportunities to hear and discuss these issues that affect all of K-State. Elected faculty representatives want feedback, and they have created an opportunity to get it. It's up to you to take advantage of that opportunity.

EDITORIAL BOARD

EDITOR IN CHIEF
JILL JARSULIC

MANAGING EDITOR/ PRESENTATION
TODD STEWART

NEWS EDITOR
TRAVIS D. LENKNER

PHOTO EDITOR
STEVE HEBERT

CAMPUS EDITOR
KELLEE MILLER

CITY/GOVERNMENT EDITOR
MATT KREPS

SPORTS EDITOR
JEREMY KELLEY

ARTS & ENTERTAINMENT EDITOR
DIANA LEE

OPINION EDITOR
JON KURCHE

COPY CHIEF
JANET COOK

eCOLLEGIAN EDITOR
R.J. DIEPENBROCK

SPECIAL PROJECTS EDITOR
ANGELA KISTNER

OUR VIEW, an editorial selected and debated by the editorial board, is written after a majority opinion is formed. The editorial board consists of Collegian editors and other staff members. OUR VIEW is the Collegian's official opinion.

TODD PETERSEN

READERS WRITE

Community service program ideal way to spend summer

Editor,

This summer I had an awesome experience, and I owe my thanks to the Collegian.

I was a member of the K-State Community Service Program's Summer Teams. It was the Collegian that first informed me about the program and the many benefits that being a participant offered. I was a freshman looking for a new summer job, and I found so much more.

The Kansas Summer Teams are a select group of K-State students from all majors who spend the summer performing community service in different Kansas towns. The type of service depends on a survey each applicant fills out. In the survey, the applicants list their strengths, talents, abilities and preferred work. If selected, the applicant is then put on a summer team depending on his or her background, experiences and preferences. Each team consists of four to five students with different interests and goals. Each team is given a host community and a project to complete during eight weeks in the summer.

There are many benefits to being part of a team. These include new friends and connections. You make friends from meeting and being involved with all the other teams, and you gain some new best friends within your own team. You gain a new family and a place to call home, thanks to your host families and the welcoming communities.

You also add many people to your list of connections for references, jobs and letters of recommendation. You make connections within the university and other communities. For those people looking for a job, this comes with a few extra perks. The program pays you $2,000 for eight weeks of work, but that is not all. In the fall you receive a $500 scholarship for participating. The time spent in the spring to prepare for your summer, the summer intercession and a fall reflection course equal four hours of college credit. Those factors alone make this a great opportunity, but the community service program still offers more. You learn to cooperate, work together and adapt to new surroundings. You grow as an individual, and you gain a summer of "real world" experiences. The greatest thing about this program is that you're leaving your host community knowing you made a difference in somebody's life and in the community as a whole.

I greatly encourage everybody to jump at this opportunity to better yourself and your world. The Community Service Program also has other opportunities, such as Kansas Reads and International Summer Teams. This year's deadline is Oct. 30, so don't hesitate to apply.

— Mellissa Vopat
sophomore in political science

CRIMEFIGHTING 101

Keeping Manhattan safe for truth, justice and top-25 football teams

VIEWPOINT

KEN WELLS

No, I still can't sleep. Maybe, if I'm lucky, I can get three consecutive hours down, but that still leaves me up in the wee hours of the morning, staring out over a gently resting city, mocking me in its slumber. So, with the help of my butler Alfred, I slink into the cave beneath my apartment, put on a rubber-and-Kevlar costume, and battle evil in the deepest shadows of Manhattan as DeathCow, champion of bovine justice.

Well, no, not really. But I'd like to. It's a hard field to get started in, though. There's no good graduate program for superheroics or dramatic stances (except at the William T. Riker School of Posing). You need quite a base of capital to start with, preferably having a cave underneath your apartment. It's hard to be a superhero in the residence halls. And sidekicks are hard to come by these days. Maybe if you're a faculty superhero, it's easy to coerce an enthusiastic and desperate graduate student to become your lackey.

"OK, I'll look over your thesis. First put on these tights." I'm sure it's been said before, just not in this context.

But what kind of sidekick should you get?

■ Kato: If you're the slightest bit squeamish about pounding people to a pulp, this is the sidekick for you. This model delivers high-speed martial-arts expertise in a low-key, understated way. Do not fail to cut your Kato a check on Friday, though; this is a sidekick you want on your good side.

■ Alfred: There's no match for his sage wisdom, dry humor and quasi-parental attention. Best for those dark, brooding heroes orphaned at gunpoint, or just those stuck in Putnam Hall. The best domestic skills of any sidekick in the bunch.

■ Robin: This is your typical protégé/leg-tackler, somewhere between Kato and a windup toy in competency. Your Robin often will be a reflection of your own ability: George Clooneys get Chris O'Donnell, and Adam Wests get Burt Ward. If your Robin keeps tripping over sidewalk cracks and constantly slips into storm sewers, take a long, hard look in the mirror without your mask and re-evaluate your thirst for justice.

■ Decoy: Grade-A bullet-stopper. You do not let the Decoy drive the Cowcar or fly the Cowplane or make finger shadows with the Cowsignal. You do not give the Decoy a Cowbelt until you're sure the Decoy will not accidentally strangle himself or herself with it. If you value your life, you will never give the Decoy a projectile weapon and turn your back. Trust is still critical with the Decoy, but you trust the Decoy to fail with religious enthusiasm. Best used to flush out a nest of villains.

"Decoy, scout ahead for me." Follow the screams.

You need to select a genre of crime-fighting as well. Will you be a four-color cliche-spouting über-Republican or a dark, gritty, brooding avenger of the night? Work around your schedule. Some are forced by restrictive classes to don costumes as "champions of late mornings on Thursday and from 2:30 to 3:30 on Friday." It's also not a good idea to steal across town in the dead of night wearing pastels and Day-Glo orange biker shorts.

Most of you will need powers. Many superheroes rely on their natural-born agility, strength and streetwise intuition. They're the superheroes you see on milk cartons. For quick, no-frills superpowers (or severe radiation poisoning and lingering death), lurk around the nuclear reactor in Ward Hall. Imagine emerging with the ability to find your adviser from anywhere on campus, or to reset parking meters with a blink. Watch Manhattan tremble under the fury of someone capable of turning electrical energy into cheese, or absorbing beer and converting it to strength. So you can't blow up the city. Start small.

I'll leave your superheroic nomenclature to your imagination. Just remember, criminals are a cowardly, superstitious lot. Pick an image that will strike fear into their hearts. Like a Holstein. ... What, can you come up with something better?

Ken Wells is a graduate student in English. You can e-mail him at sigma7@ksu.edu.

Answer to questions of racism not easily found

VIEWPOINT

SAM SACKETT

I must admit when composing this week's article, I struggled with exactly how and where to begin a discussion of racial tension. I had predetermined to explain basic ethnic and racial problems under a conservative lens. I thought I would clarify misunderstandings that tend to arise whenever discussing such topics as skin color and cultural heritage, but I was wrong.

The answers are not that simple.

Don't read this article and expect me to reiterate something you've already heard 27 times. Because I, like many of you, am frustrated about hearing discussions on racial problems and their solutions. I am low on tolerance when I hear talk of speaking and writing so as to not offend anyone of a different race. And when peers discuss cultural issues, I say to myself, "Here we go again."

I don't know of a person who hasn't heard the do's and don'ts of racial etiquette. So why, you may ask, do I devote an article to this topic?

Because I still experience disquietude when a racially sensitive subject is discussed in the presence of a minority. I still wonder how that person sitting next to me feels while classmates debate what is politically correct. I think, "Are they offended? Are they uneasy? Would they rather this whole thing not be brought up?"

These are the reasons.

I believe myself to be devoid of frustration and displeasure toward anyone for racial reasons. I certainly don't hold anger or malice toward anyone because of his or her skin color. I don't remember ever thinking such thoughts. I like or dislike a person of another race for the same reasons that I would like or dislike a person of my race.

I don't consider myself needing help to understand a problem that I don't feel I have. However, many feel that racially motivated words are being spoken in anger, and racially driven acts are being committed in malice.

Either the tension is fabricated, or I have closed my eyes and failed to expose myself to the world around me.

A combination of the two? Maybe.

There are several components involved in the uprooting of race-related problems — two that I think deserve consideration.

The first is the classification of a particular race into a single category.

The labeling of a group of people is unnecessary in most instances. And I mean even to the point of thinking about it — having to decide if something is acceptable by all races. This is bad, because we are deciding if a word or phrase is acceptable and politically correct because of skin color. The alternative (and right) thing to do is to accept something because it is good-spirited and edifying.

Because a person has fair skin does not attribute any value, positive or negative, to that person. We all know this, but because of liberal generalizations, we fail to personalize and intimately relate what it means to be an individual apart from the color of skin.

The second critical component needing examination is taking pride in one's race.

I can be happy for things like my parents living in the United States when I was born. But my happiness is unrelated to pride. I can wish that injustices had not been committed before me, but I cannot be ashamed of them — again, because I had nothing to do with it. I wasn't even born.

Once again I am forced to conclude the real problems existing in the everyday world often require difficult solutions. The stuff that works is the stuff that requires us to change from the inside — this is quite arduous. And the most practical advice continues to be fulfilled by loving your neighbor as yourself.

Sam Sackett is a junior in public relations. You can e-mail him at sjs8645@ksu.edu.

ON THE REBOUND

Senior wide receiver Everett Burnett looking for redemption on the field

At this time a year ago, when K-State was preparing to play Northern Illinois, Wildcat wide receiver Everett Burnett was ready to step up and replace Kevin Lockett.

Lockett, the Cats' all-time leading receiver, finished his K-State career in 1996 before being drafted by the Kansas City Chiefs in the second round of the 1997 NFL draft.

Replacing Lockett, K-State's go-to guy, would be no easy task, and to make things tougher, Burnett drew attention because he wore an 83 on his back, Lockett's old jersey number.

With the big numbers he posted at Kemper (Mo.) Military and his dominance in the 1997 spring game, though, the junior-college transfer seemed ready to be the man. And he swore he was ready.

"I'm used to being a big-time receiver. I was looked at as the go-to receiver in high school as well as in junior college," Burnett said in July 1997. "I'm just going to go out there and give up an all-out effort and play up to my abilities, which I know will make me successful."

However, a year later, as the Cats prepare to play Northern Illinois again, Burnett is just trying to step up and make a comeback after a disappointing junior season.

"I'm just trying to boost my confidence up from last year," Burnett said. "I came off a struggling season, and I'm just trying to get back on track and help my team in the most ways I can."

Through two-a-days and fall practice last season, Burnett appeared to be on the right track, earning a starting spot in the season opener at Northern Illinois. However, he dropped two passes at Nebraska and couldn't hold on to what would have been a touchdown two weeks later against Texas A&M.

After that, he fell from the graces of his coaches and became one of only a few disappointments of K-State's 11-1 season.

"From that point on in the season, he struggled a little bit," Coach Bill Snyder said.

In fact, from that point on he struggled so badly he didn't play in the Fiesta Bowl, didn't make a catch in K-State's final five games, and finished the year with only seven receptions — one fewer than Lockett had in his final regular season game with the Wildcats.

Now, after another strong spring, Burnett goes into K-State's second game not only as a starter, but as the team's leading receiver, too.

He caught four passes for 75 yards against Indiana State last Saturday, including the Wildcats' first completion of the season, a 39-yarder that set up their second score.

"This last game showed his effort, how he's been committed to making an improvement. I hope he keeps going and gets better each day," K-State quarterback Michael Bishop said. "This year is his last season, and I think he wants to continue to play football after this level, so he's making strides and he's getting better every day."

Burnett said his problems catching the ball last year came from his mind — not his hands.

"They say that football is 80 percent mental and 20 percent physical," he said.

Once he started dropping passes and losing confidence, everything fell apart for him.

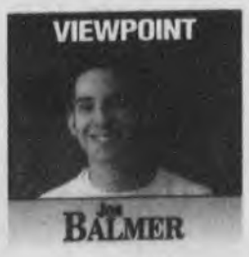
"I was so worried about dropping it instead of just going out there and doing the things I can do, the things I've been doing all my life — that's just catching the ball and making plays," he said.

Last season one of his goals was improving his strength, which he did by improving his squat to 700 pounds. The added leg strength helped his explosion off the line and dropped his time in the 40-yard dash to 4.52 seconds.

He said the K-State coaches helped him learn how to improve the use of his strength on the field, benefiting his blocking, tackle-breaking and effectiveness in bump-and-run coverage.

As for the drops, he credits his family with helping him break out of that rut. Burnett was at an emotional low at the end of last season when he went home to St. Louis to spend some quality time with his family. He cleared his mind and came back focused in the spring.

"Everett has gotten a lot better," said Burnett's roommate, K-State free safety Lamar Chapman. "I think he's more focused on catching the ball than last year. Last year, I don't think he had the year he wanted to have. But I think he's got it all straightened out. This is his senior year, and he wants to go out with a bang."



Wide receivers Gavin Peries and Everett Burnett met downfield last season against Ohio to help bail quarterback Michael Bishop out of trouble. The long pass was eventually hauled in by Peries.

STORY BY SAM FELSENFELD ■ PHOTOGRAPHS BY IVAN KOZAR

Long-lost classic sports hero makes triumphant return during Labor Day weekend

A revelation came to me late Monday night.

No, I'm not talking about the solution to on-campus parking or the means to mending all the toes stepped on in the dreaded K-State ticket rush of '98.

What I realized around the time when Monday hands the keys over to Tuesday was this: The classic sports hero, long since left in a pile of knee-high socks and polyester warm-ups, returned with a vengeance this past Labor Day weekend.

You might think this is yet another "Ode to Mark McGwire" column. To this, I say jump back, jack. Money Mark deserves his praise, but this column concerns the original icons of childhood.

Before I can go any deeper, it's necessary to start from the source of my discovery. No matter how trivial it sounds, pro-wrestling prompted my revelation.

At this time, I'll brace for the laughter that's sure to follow. OK, now that that's over with, I'll continue.

Pro-wrestling never can be admitted into the select circle of "professional sporting events." While this may be so, I ask you to suspend your beliefs for a moment and think back to your childhood.

Back in the days of Alf and Atari, who wasn't fascinated with pro-wrestling at one time or another? To those still in denial, I call you out of the closet. You know who Andre the Giant was. Admit it.

With these old school days in mind, imagine my shock at discovering these ancient icons back in action early Tuesday morning. With one click of the channel changer, the spandex legends of childhood reappeared.

Sure enough, there was "Rowdy" Roddy Piper, still entering to the tune of bagpipes, and still wrestling like the crazed Scotsman he was in the 80s.

Not to be outdone, my dive into nostalgia was capped off by the return of The Ultimate Warrior, still decked out in the face paint and arm tassels that made him legendary nearly a decade ago.

Struck with this blast from the past, a moment of clarity came upon me as I realized the first weekend of football also had featured past heroes, more specifically quarterbacks, renewing their roles as superstars.

As I pondered the past Sunday of much needed NFL action, I suddenly remembered why the first week of pro-football had seemed like a rerun.

Up in Philadelphia, quarterback Warren Moon, all 41 years of him, stepped into Seattle's starting lineup and proceeded to hammer the Eagles 38-0.

Throughout a performance that included 13 for 21 on passing and three touchdowns, Moon never resembled the fossil he should be at this time.

With his magical arm still intact, Moon taught the new school that age can be deadly.

The only thing that could have saved Philly from the Moon massacre Sunday was Randall Cunningham, the scrambling assassin and former Eagle who serves as a backup in Minnesota these days.

Regardless of Randall's failure to reappear, there were plenty of other gridiron greats returning for a cameo. Under the hot sun of San Diego, Doug Flutie, the man behind the miracle pass that helped Boston College upset Miami in the 80s, returned to the NFL after a long stint in the Canadian Football League and nearly led Buffalo to an opening-day victory.

Flutie, at 35 years of age, came off the bench late and almost added another comeback victory to his résumé. Tossing two touchdown passes and running like a rookie, Flutie took the Bills deep into Charger territory before Steve Christie missed a 39-yard field-goal attempt that cost Buffalo the game.

Regardless of the outcome, Flutie displayed the skills I remember seeing on display at Boston College.

To complete the circle of events, even the Jets have brought back the past, to a certain degree. Their "new" uniforms are replicas of the ones worn during the Broadway Joe Nameth era. While I can't say I enjoyed the team when they first wore the uniforms, it's nice to see Bill Parcells display a touch of class for once.

While this past weekend contained many old-time heroes renewing their roles, who's to say week two won't feature the return of another?

Heck, Mike Ditka makes a case for it every time he steps onto the field. So, as I salute the beautiful spectacle of pro-wrestling for awakening me to the classic sports hero, one question remains in my heart:

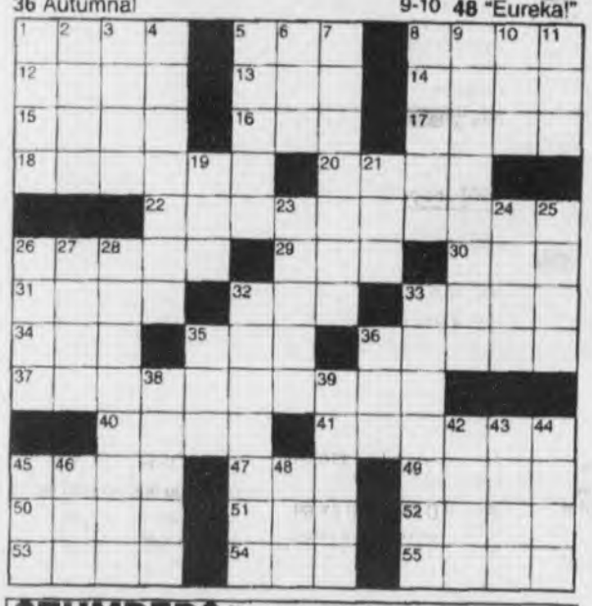
Where have you gone, Christian Okoye?

Jon Balmer is a junior in mass communications. You can send him e-mail at jkb2004@ksu.edu

CROSSWORD

CROSSWORD By Eugene Sheffer

ACROSS
1 Parsley, sage, rosemary or thyme
5 Get all the gravy
8 Highlander
12 Mimic
13 1940s event
14 "The Caine Mutiny" author
15 Leslie Caron role
16 — out a living
17 Division word
18 Mowing tool
20 Huge amounts
22 Nee Mary Elizabeth Aitcheson
26 Carried on
29 CSA VIP
30 Bill, eventually
31 Vivacity
32 Rather or Manno
33 The elder Dumas
34 U.S. uncle
35 Shriner's chapeau
36 Autumnal quaff
37 Wabash feeder
40 Hawkeye State
41 Courtyard, perhaps
45 Mike Motley's neighbor
47 "Platoon" locale
49 Parks or Bonheur
50 Arduous journey
51 Title start, often
52 Lolla-palooza
53 Hacienda
54 Despondent
55 Chore



DOWN
1 "Laughing Cavalier" artist
2 Grand-scale
3 Hinge (on)
4 "Billy Budd" composer
5 Win every game
6 Erstwhile acorn
7 No older than 12
8 Benny Goodman's style
9 Offered a shoulder
10 Chic no more
11 Ring decision
19 Stashed
21 Raw rock
23 Shopping center
24 Exceptional
25 Basin accessory
26 Unwind
27 Jai follower
28 Buffy's victims
32 Pours
33 French pantomime character
35 "...owed to so —" (Churchill)
36 Barracks bed
38 Welk specialty
39 Designated
42 New Rochelle school
43 Puts to work
44 100 pfennigs
45 List-ending abbr.
46 Coach Parseghian
48 "Eureka!"

Solution time: 23 mins.

		M	A	S			S	T	D
G	O	B	I			S	P	I	E	S
H	A	R	E	M		T	A	M	A	L	E
O	N	E	L	I	F	E	T	O	L	I	V	E
P	G	S		L	U	M	E	N		V	I	E
			J	A	M	S			P	E	T	E
	S	C	A	R	E		A	G	O	R	A
S	C	O	W			A	N	O	X
T	A	O		P	A	S	T	A		C	P	A
A	L	L	M	Y	C	H	I	L	D	R	E	N
	P	I	E	R	R	E		I	R	O	N	Y
		T	R	E	E	S		E	A	S	T
			E	S	S			S	T	S

Yesterday's answer

9-10

STUMPED? For answers to today's crossword, call 1-900-454-6873 99¢ per minute, touch-tone / rotary phones. (18+ only.) A King Features service, NYC.

9-10 CRYPTOQUIP

HR RHG XRBQT TGHM LDNL LDG ZHOBZCZLZSG XDZQT VNC KGNQQM OBZLG N QZSG VDMGK.

Yesterday's Cryptoquip: HOW DID THE FARMER MANAGE TO FIND HIS MISSING COW? HE TRACTOR DOWN.

Today's Cryptoquip clue: Q equals L

CRYPTOQUIP BOOK 2! Send $4.50 (check/m.o.) to CryptoClassics Book 2, PO Box 6411, Riverton NJ 08077.

The Cryptoquip is a substitution cipher in which one letter stands for another. If you think that X equals O, it will equal O throughout the puzzle. Single letters, short words and words using an apostrophe give you clues to locating vowels. Solution is by trial and error.

HAPPINESS TODAY

BRAD GOOD AND TYLER LANSDOWN

STEVE HEBERT/KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

People who volunteer for a McCain Auditorium performance, like "The King and I" seen here, see the show they work at for free, and they can earn complimentary tickets for future shows. "The King and I" showed on August 26th at McCain Auditorium.

Best seat in the house

Volunteering at McCain earns free tickets to shows

BY AMY MILLER
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Want to see Bela Fleck next month? Don't want to pay $20?

People who volunteer for a McCain Auditorium performance see the show they work at for free, and they earn complimentary tickets for future shows.

WANT FREE TICKETS?
For more information about volunteering call McCain at 532-6425

"For every three times they usher, they get a free ticket," said Beth Hochberg, McCain house manager and graduate student in music. "And they get the best available seats."

She said there isn't a limit on the number of tickets volunteers can earn.

"They can keep accruing and have ten credits," she said. "Usher six times and bring a date."

Hochberg said she needs workers not only for shows in the McCain Performance Series, but for all McCain events through May 1999, including K-State performances, lectures and graduation.

She said shows that draw a large audience, like "The King and I," require up to 30 people.

The volunteers can choose whether they want to be parking attendants, ticket-takers or ushers. Ushers are retained on a first-come, first-serve basis, and seasoned ushers will show up an hour early to work in the orchestra section for a better view of the show, she said.

Signe Balch, second-year veterinary student, said volunteering was a good way for her to see performances she would have otherwise missed.

"It's a good way to see student events, like the orchestra," she said. "I don't hear about a lot of them, so I'm glad I get to see them."

She said the hardest part of volunteering is dealing with audience members who don't understand McCain's policies.

She said latecomers usually want to be let in right away, even if ushers are instructed to have them wait.

Balch, who has ushered for about four years, said she liked getting to know the audience members who return show after show.

"They start to know you," she said. "They'll say 'Hi' and chat."

Francis Russell, K-State alumna and Sigma Chi housemother, said she has worked at two McCain events this season — "The King and I" and "Greek 101" — and she was signing up to work about 20 more.

"You can choose what shows you want to do," she said. "It's so easy."

Russell, who learned about the opportunity from another housemother, said working at McCain gives her more K-State interaction.

"I love being around the students," she said. "I've always just enjoyed campus life."

Hochberg said no training is needed, but volunteers should be able to work well with a mix of people.

"It's like working retail, in a way," she said. "We're trying to please students and please patrons."

Anyone interested should fill out a schedule at the McCain Box Office, or just show up before an event wearing a white shirt and black skirt or pants.

"Come with a smile and positive attitude," Hochberg said.

UPC, local coffeehouse sponsor poetry readings

BY KELLY LYNN
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Union Program Council is presenting themed poetry readings at Java Espresso & Bakery in Aggieville all semester, beginning with "A Tribute to Shel Silverstein" at 8 p.m. next Thursday. The event is open to the community.

MORE INFO?
WHEN?
8:00 p.m. Thursday, Sept. 17
WHERE?
JavaEspresso & Bakery 1219 Moro St.

Those interested in reading poetry are welcome to bring their Silverstein works, a piece by someone else, or poems of their own. Everyone is encouraged to come and listen.

"People come to listen, also," Bronwyn Rounds, UPC Arts chair, said. "They don't have to read."

Poetry readings last from a half-hour to an hour, depending on the response to the theme.

Other themes this semester will include "Interactive Poetry" on Oct. 8, "Ode to POE-try" on Oct. 29, and "Things that Piss Me Off Poetry" on Nov. 19. All readings will take place at 8 p.m. at Java.

This is the second semester that UPC will have the readings at Java. Last year's themes included musical lyrics, beatnik poetry and Dr. Seuss.

Dr. Seuss drew a large student population as well as many younger children, said Chris Heeley, Kaleidoscope Films chair and arts committee member.

Heeley said he hopes the Silverstein theme will produce a response similar to the Dr. Seuss theme last year.

"I wouldn't say it's only a K-State thing, and because it's off campus, it's not just college students," Heeley said.

UPC encourages people of all ages to attend the free readings.

'80s fever: College students still crave movies they grew up with

BY JEFF ELLIOTT
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Despite the fact that most K-State students born in the 1970s are now 20-something, they still love the shows they saw as youngsters.

The '80s not only gave these students most of their early memories, but they offered some of the best movies ever made.

Movie Review

Should you want to relive those days, here are some rental suggestions for making the perfect '80s movie night.

"Weird Science," an all-time '80s classic featuring our favorite geeks Gary (Anthony Michael Hall) and Wyatt (Ilan Mitchell-Smith). Their lives are forever changed when they create Lisa (Kelly LeBrock) on Wyatt's computer.

"National Lampoon's Vacation" is the first installment of the Griswold family saga. Chevy Chase stars as Clark Griswold, who takes his family to Walley World in pursuit of the ideal family vacation. Classic quote: "Why aren't we flying? Because getting there is half the fun!"

Five students — a weirdo, a nerd, a criminal, a prom queen and a jock — are forced to spend the day together in Saturday detention. The result: "The Breakfast Club." This film stars classic '80s actors Hall, Emilio Estevez, Judd Nelson, Molly Ringwald and Ally Sheedy.

"Poltergeist," starring Craig T. Nelson, is a tale about a family terrorized by demonic spirits in its home. The spirits are harmless at first, but turn nasty when they "kidnap" the youngest daughter (Heather O'Rourke). Classic quote: "They're heeeere."

No '80s movie tribute is complete without the infamous "Ferris Bueller's Day Off." Matthew Broderick stars as Ferris Bueller, a notorious kind-hearted slacker who fulfills his need to let loose. Bueller trucks around the city in pursuit of fun and mischief and drags his girlfriend Sloane (Mia Sara) and his best friend Cameron (Alan Ruck) along.

Classic quote: "The question isn't what are we going to do, the question is what aren't we going to do?"

Everyone has personal favorites, but these are merely suggestions to get you on your way to retro-movie heaven.

How they rate...

WEIRD SCIENCE
★★★★★

NATIONAL LAMPOON'S VACATION
★★★★★

THE BREAKFAST CLUB
★★★★

POLTERGEIST
★★★★

FERRIS BUELLER'S DAY OFF
★★★★

out of five stars

DILBERT

MANN HATTEN

AARON FRUEHLING

DEADLINES

Classified ads must be placed by noon the day before you want your ad to run. Classified display ads must be placed by 4 p.m. two working days prior to the date you want your ad to run. CALL 532-6555

CLASSIFIEDS

000 BULLETIN BOARD

010

Announcements

ADVANCED FLIGHT TRAINING from 7,500-hour ATP instructor. Private single-engine through ATP multiengine. Hugh Irvin, 539–3128 evenings.

BIG DAWG Marina has Jet skis and pontoon boats for rent. 776-3113.

COME AND play Bingo at the Eagle Lodge. 312 S 4th. Monday and Friday evenings at 7:30 p.m.

FOOTBALL TICKET GIVEAWAY. To register send a self-addresses stamped envelope to: D.P. Inc. P.O. Box 857-M, Manhattan, KS 66505-0857.

FREE!!! PHONECARD. One per household. Minimum $25 activation. Send self-addressed stamped envelope: Brenda Horton, d/c, P.O. Box 83461, Los Angeles, CA 90083.

LEARN TO FLY! K-State Flying Club has five airplanes, lowest rates. For information call 537-8406.

SALINA CARPOOL. 539-2011, Cathy.

SCUBA LEARN to dive at the only PADI approved dive center in the area, full line of equipment in stock, two instructors, earn college credit. Classes forming weekly. Call Creative Travel and Scuba. 539-0531.

020

Lost and Found

Found ads can be placed free for three days.

030

Personals

We require a form of picture ID (KSU, driver's license or other) when placing a personal.

100 HOUSING/REAL ESTATE

Manhattan City Ordinance 4814 assures every person equal opportunity in housing without distinction on account of race, sex, familial status, military status, disability, religion, age, color, national origin or ancestry. Violations should be reported to the Director of Human Resources at City Hall, 587–2440.

105

For Rent- Apts. Furnished

TWO-BEDROOM BASEMENT apartment, includes microwave. Close to campus, $350, all utilities paid except cable television. 776–1214.

UNIVERSITY COMMONS. Available: fully furnished, individual leases, washer/ dryer in each unit, roommate matching service, pool, sand volleyball, lighted tennis and basketball courts, monitored security, reserved parking. No appointment necessary. M-F 9a.m.- 6p.m., 10a.m.- 4p.m., 539-0500.

110

For Rent- Apt. Unfurnished

AVAILABLE NOW. Studio and one-bedrooms, some furnished. Most utilities paid. Clean and quiet, central locations, some pets accepted. 537-8389.

Now Available!
Large 2-Bedrooms
Sandstone Apts.
Cambridge Sq. Apts.
Hill Investments
537–9064

FOUR-BEDROOM CLOSE to campus, two bath, dishwasher, central air/ heat, water/ trash paid. Free laundry, good price. 537-2255 or 537-7810.

FOUR-BEDROOM, TWO bath, close to campus, no pets, reasonable. 776-1340.

FOUR-BEDROOM, TWO bath 1300 square feet. Water/ trash paid. Discounted cable with HBO. 776–3663.

LARGE ONE-BEDROOM basement, one-half block from university. 539–8856.

9 Month Lease
2 & 3 Bedroom
Specials
539-2951

LARGE THREE-BEDROOM well lit basement, close to campus, 1729 Laramie, new stove and refrigerator, washer/ dryer hook-ups, heat/ water/ trash paid. $570. 537–2099, 539–8052.

NOW LEASING one to four-bedroom apartments/ houses. Call Alliance Property Management. 539–4357 for current list.

ONE AND two-bedrooms, start at $380-$450. Dishwasher, deck, central air, on-site laundry, extra storage. Available now, 776-8455.

WOODWAY APARTMENTS
STOP!
DO NOT RENT AN APARTMENT UNTIL YOU CONSIDER THIS!
•Sparkling swimming pool
•Spacious decks/patios
•Avail. June 5 Aug. 6
•Kitchen Appliances include microwave and dishwasher
•On site laundry facilities
•Economical gas heat
3 BDRM, 2 BATH $714, $723
4 BDRM, 2 BATH $836, $856
Office:
2400 Kimball Ave.
at College Ave.
(Across from Bramlage)
Call Sara
at 537-7007
for an appointment.

ONE- OR TWO-BEDROOM. No pets, smoking, drinking. 539–1554.

ONE-BEDROOM COZY basement apartment. Walk to Aggieville and campus. Rent negotiable. 539-1722 leave message.

ONE-BEDROOM, $290. 539-8401.

ROOMMATE PROBLEMS? Large one-bedroom near Aggieville, $300, hardwood floors, white walls, personality. 776-4313 or 785-456-7183.

STUDIO, $280, air-conditioning, bills paid. 539-8401.

THREE-BEDROOM HOUSE, computer den, attached garage, near campus. Immediately available. (765)463–5014.

THREE-BEDROOM, $390. 539-8401.

THREE-BEDROOM, CENTRAL air, one-half block from campus, washer/ dryer hook-ups. Available now. 776-8455.

THREE-BEDROOM, TWO bath apartment available for August. Very spacious. Dishwasher, microwave, pool, laundry and carports. Call Sara at 537–7007.

TWO, THREE and four-bedroom apartments water/ trash paid, discounted cable with HBO. Going fast. 776–3663.

TWO-BEDROOM, $320. 539-8401.

TWO-BEDROOM, CENTRAL air, laundry hookups, dishwasher, $400. No pets. Nine month lease. 513 S. Manhattan Avenue. 539–2255.

UNIVERSITY TERRACE APARTMENTS. Corner of College and Dickens. Large three-bedroom apartment. 537-2096.

120

For Rent- Houses

1106 KEARNEY- one and one-half blocks from campus. Three-bedrooms, one bath, kitchen, living room, washer and dryer hookups. Available September 1, 1998, $650/ month. Century 21 Knight Real Estate, 537-2111.

CUTE THREE-PLUS bedroom, one and one-half bath house, close to campus, pets negotiable. $550/ month. Available October 1, 1998. 776-6494 or 1-800-249-1740 ext 6040.

FOUR-BEDROOM HOUSE for rent. Close to campus, newly remodeled, washer/ dryer central air, 539–4949.

KSU THREE BLOCKS. Three-bedroom, one bath, central air, laundry hookups, garage, small pets considered, 1517 Pipher. 539-4087, leave message.

THREE-BEDROOM, AIR-CONDITIONING, $510. 539-8401.

TWO-BEDROOM house available. Stove, refrigerator, air-conditioning. No pets. 539-1975 or (785) 396-4344.

135

For Sale- Mobile Homes

DON'T WASTE your money on rent, when you could own: 16'x70' 1986 Schult. Sunken living room, vaulted ceiling, built-in china hutch, lots of cabinet space, large kitchen, dining room, two large bedrooms, one bath, refrigerator, stove, dishwaser, 8'x8' deck, fenced yard, swing set, new paint, new shingled roof, great location, Bergman school. Must see to appreciate. Call for showing 776–3226.

145

Roommate Wanted

CHRISTIAN FEMALE seeks roommate to share two-bedroom apartment. Close to campus - September rent FREE, call 537-4441.

COME LIVE with three sassy girls! Fourth roommate wanted to live in awesome house five minutes from campus. Call 587–8711.

FEMALE ROOMMATE to share a nice fully furnished two-bedroom apartment with laundry facilities, located across from Ford Hall. Available January 1, 1999, $230 a month, one-half utilities. 537-8832.

FEMALE ROOMMATE to share NICE two-bedroom apartment across from college. $260 a month. 776-4891.

FEMALE ROOMMATE wanted in four-bedroom apartment next to Durland, very nice. Call 587-9524 for details.

FEMALE ROOMMATE wanted for two-bedroom apartment close to campus and Aggieville. $175/ month, no deposit required. Call Jill, 770–9393.

FEMALE, ANIMAL-FRIENDLY non-smoker to share house close to campus. $300/ month plus some utilities. Call Erika 539-5980.

MALE NEEDED for furnished basement. Washer/ dryer without meter. No smoking, drinking, or pets. Walk to class. 539–1554

300 EMPLOYMENT/OPPORTUNITIES

310

Help Wanted

Manhattan City Ordinance 4814 assures every person equal opportunity in securing and holding employment in any field of work or labor for which he/ she is properly qualified regardless of race, sex, military status, disability, religion, age, color, national origin or ancestry. Violations should be reported to the Director of Human Resources at City Hall, 587–2441.

The Collegian cannot verify the financial potential of advertisements in the Employment/Career classification. Readers are advised to approach any such employment opportunity with reasonable caution. The Collegian urges our readers to contact the Better Business Bureau, 501 SE Jefferson, Topeka, KS 66607-1190. (785)232–0454.

($20 / HOUR, PART-TIME/ FULL-TIME). Processing mail! Free supplies, postage! Bonuses! Rush self-addressed stamped envelope: GMA/KSU P.O. Box 567443 Atlanta, GA 31156. e-mail: signup@info.info-machine.com.

Ambitious, energetic people needed for full and part-time. Apply in person at
Vista Drive In
1911 Tuttle Creek Blvd.

ARABIAN HORSE farm looking for part-time help with stable chores and light training. Call (785) 494-8486.

BLUEVILLE NURSERY is accepting applications for part-time and full-time temporary employees with the following skills: Garden Store Sales, Lawn Sprinkler Installation, Landscape Installation, and Landscape Maintenance. Must be available at least 20 hours per week in full day or full half-day blocks (8- 12) or (1- 5). Apply in person at Blueville Nursery, Inc., 4539 Anderson. EOE.

BREADEAUX PIZZA. Day and night shifts, all positions, including drivers. Salary negotiable with experience. 3033 Anderson. 537-5080.

CENSUS 2000: The Census Bureau is currently testing in the Manhattan area for temporary positions beginning in late October. For more information please call 776-1621. The Census Bureau is an Equal Opportunity Employer.

CLEANING: FOR non-smoking student in a home adjacent to campus. Send resume to Collegian Box 4.

COMPUTER PROGRAMMER. 20 hours/ week, hours flexible. Knowledge of C/C++. Undergraduates only. Apply in Throckmorton 1011 by September 11. For more information call 532-7236 or 532-5731.

GRAPHIC ARTIST- SCREEN MACHINE SPORTS seeks a full time graphic artist. This position requires excellent communication skills and ability to work well with the public. Salary - determined on qualifications. Send resume and references to Matt Westerhaus, Screen Machine Sports, 115 East 7th St., Junction City, KS 66441.

MCC DREDGING is looking for temporary help dredging city sewer plant immediately $8.50/ hour, flexible hours, sun-up to sun-down. (316) 775-1208.

JOBS
Starting at $7.00 per hour
PART TIME
Help needed to take inventory in retail stores. Average 10-12 hours on weekends. Weekday daytime hours are also available. Averaging 25+ hours.
Apply in person Landon Room, Ramada Inn
Thursday, Sept. 10th at 4:30 p.m. and 6:00 p.m.
Interviews start promptly. Doors will close after 5 minutes.

MOTHER'S HELPER. Person needed to assist family with care of handicapped child and variety of other chores after-school and weekends. Call 537-7991.

NIGHT STAFF position available. One year of college or two years experience required. Flexible shifts, supervising experience. a plus. Apply at Manhattan Emergency Shelter, Inc., 831 Leavenworth, by Sept. 15. E.O.E.

PART-TIME DELIVERY/ warehouse person at Faith Furniture. Please apply in person at 302 E. Highway 24, Manhattan.

PART-TIME POSITION: One day per week grinding feed on farm close to Manhattan. Call evenings, (785)396–4328.

TACO BELL is now hiring for the following positions: Shift Leaders (Up to $7.00/ hour), Crew Members (Up to $6.00/ hour.) Taco Bell offers competitive pay, paid vacation, and benefits. Apply in person at the Manhattan Taco Bell.

TEMPORARY POSITON. Big Lakes Developmental Center, Inc. provides programs and services for individuals with developmental disabilities. Applications will be accepted for the following positions: SUPERVISED LIVING ADVISOR I: Responsible for providing personal care, supervison and training, record keeping, transportation, and light household maintenance at a residential home. Part-time, 30 hours per week, 6:00 a.m. to 8:00 a.m. and 4:30 p.m. to 8:30 p.m. Monday through Friday. $7.35 per hour. Minimum qualifications include high school diploma or equivalent, three years driving experience, and a good driving record. Pre-employment drug screening required. Applications accepted through September 11, 1998. For rewarding and challenging opportunities and further information contact: Human Resources Director, BIG LAKES DEVELOPMENTAL CENTER, INC. 1416 Hayes Dr. Manhattan, KS 66502. 776–9201, Monday through Friday 8:00- a.m. to 4:30 p.m. EOE/AA.

TUTORING HIGH school students for K-State's Upward Bound Math and Science Program. Contact: Lynne Davy at 532-6374 for application.

WANTED: RESPONSIBLE, reliable and dependable people who are interested in Kansas State Athletics! Women's Basketball is seeking a few managers for the upcoming 1998-99 season. All interested people should call Kathy at 532–6970 to set up an appointment.

WRESTLING COACH, middle/ high school, October-February, 3p.m.- 6p.m.

Contact Tim Kite, Onaga High School, 500 High St, Onaga, KS 66521, (785)889–4251.

330

Business Opportunities

The Collegian cannot verify the financial potential of advertisements in the Employment/Career classification. Readers are advised to approach any such business opportunity with reasonable caution. The Collegian urges our readers to contact the Better Business Bureau, 501 SE Jefferson, Topeka, KS 66607-1190. (785)232–0454.

400 OPEN MARKET

405

Wanted to Buy

WANTED TO BUY: Looking to buy a Hewlitt Packard calculator: model 10C, 11C, 15C or 16C. Call 537–4702.

Video Games
BUY SELL TRADE
www.game-guy.com
Save Your GPA!
Bring me your old games.
Sony Playstation
N64
Nintendo
CD ROM AND MORE
GAME GUY
709 N. 12th Aggieville
537-0989

410

Items for Sale

ANTIQUES, COLLECTIBLES, tools, books, furniture, estate jewelry, beer signs, thousands of curious goods. Time Machine Antique Maul and Flea Market. 4910 Skyway Dr. between Briggs and airport. 539–4684.

CABLE DESCRAMBLER kit only $14.95. See all the pay channels. 1-800-752-1389.

DRAFTING TABLE and chair for sale, $50. Call 539-1584.

GOVERNMENT SURPLUS: Camouflage clothing, G.I. boots, sleeping bags, raincoats, wool clothing, also CARHARRT WORKWEAR. Monday-Friday 9-5:30 p.m. Saturday 9-5 p.m. St. Mary's Surplus Sales, St. Mary's, KS.(785) 437-2734.

RICH, FRAGRANT, therapeutic Essential Oil creations, hand-blended to enhance your unique personal style! Skin and facial oils, perfumes, bath salts, after shaves, etc. Call 776-2230, leave name and number for free brochure and 20% off coupon through September 30. Visit our web site at http://www.flint-hills.com/~keepup.

VINTAGE WOOD captain chairs, large desk, two computer desks and IBM electric typewriter. 539-3936.

420

Garage/Yard Sales

VINTAGE CLOTHING sale. Senior center, 412 Leavenworth on both Thursday September 10, 2- 4p.m. and Friday 10a.m.- 4p.m.

435

Computers

ATX TOWER, 15-inch Monitor, Intel PII 233 MMX, 64MB RAM, 5.3 GB, Diamond 4MB AGP, Monster 3Dfx, USR 56K V.90, 24X CD, PCI 3D wavetable with speakers, mega software/ games, $1029 or best offer, Nathan 539–8744.

MICROSOFT OFFICE '97 Professional, full version, unopened, unregistered, $75. 1-800-416-3594.

NANAO FLEXSCAN FX2-21. 21 inch color computer monitor. This is Nanao's top of the line monitor with .26mm Dot Pinch, 1600 X 1200 resolution @ 85HZ. New in box. $1295 or best offer, 776–5999.

SEIKO PRO ColorPoint combination wax thermal and dye-sublimation color proof printer, new in box. $3995 or best offer, 776–5999.

445

Music Instruments

TWELVE CHANNEL mixing board with case. Many features, cleaned and works great, $300. Also, Master Volume/ Reverb unit, $50. 776–7506.

WELCOME TO The Music Co.! Our business is making you sound the best you can, and leaving a little gas money in your pocket. OK, we're gonna do it, the first and only Music Co. sale! Through September, Alvarez and Fernandes guitars will be on sale at ridiculous prices! Always the best deals on the planet! The Music Co., nothing typical, no pressure. 523 S. 17th Street in Manhattan. 539-1958.

450

Pets and Supplies

FREE KITTEN, litter box trained. 537-6247.

LOVEBIRD PLUS parakeet in designer cage on wrought iron stand. Very friendly and beautiful. $60 or best offer. 539-7731.

460

Electronic Equipment

SONY COMPACT stereo, separate five-disc changer, speakers, remote included, great conditon, sounds great. $175 or best offer. 539-2250 ask for Jon.

465

Tickets to Buy/Sell

ALL GENERAL admission football tickets for sale. Call Traci 537-9795.

FOOTBALL TICKETS vs. Northeast Louisiana for sale at cost! Call Carol at 539-2738 for details.

MUST SELL!! Two reserve tickets to the Sept. 12 game. 539-5261.

ONE GENERAL admission ticket for sale for game this Saturday. Call 776-6604 ask for Michael, leave message if not home.

ONE GENERAL admission ticket for the rest of season games. Best offer for one or all remaining games. 537-8325.

ONE GENERAL Admission ticket set for sale to highest bidder. Call Bill at 770–9944 and leave a message.

TWO STUDENT general admission for sale, September 12 game. Best offer. 587-8063.

WANTED- TWO student section tickets. Call Janece-395–2801.

WANTED: ICAT membership ticket to go along with already purchased season tickets. Call 539-8179.

500 TRANSPORTATION

510

Automobiles

1991 TOYOTA Pick-up, 5-speed, 60K miles. Excellent condition. Must see to appreciate. Call Dustin at 587-9663.

1992 FORD T-Bird. 92K, excellent condition, air-conditioning, snow-tires and thule roofrack. $6700, 539-7805.

1993 FORD Ranger XLT. Extended cab, 4.0 liter V6, five-speed, 76K miles. Excellent condition. $8700 or best offer. 537–3516.

1995 CHEVY Cavalier, purple coupe, automatic transmission, air-conditioning, AM/FM cassette. $6000 or best offer. Call Becky 539-7571 ext. 30.

FOR SALE: 1989 Honda Accord, 5-speed, air-conditioning, cruise, good. High miles. $2500. Call 587–8256.

520

Bicycles

DIAMONDBACK 18-SPEED mountain bike, $125. Spyder custom paint-ball gun and accessories, $325. 537-8586 ask for Chris or leave message.

530

Motorcycles

1985 HONDA V-30 Magna, $1100 or best offer. 587–9201.

1987 KAWASAKI 305 LTD $850. Call Mike 587-0608 leave message.

1989 KAWASAKI EX500 red/ black. Excellent condition. 11K, must sell to pay for new bike. $1400 or best offer. 537–2289.

1996 RED Kawasaki ZX-6R with 6600 miles and three year warranty. Mint condition with muzzie exhaust. $6500. Call (785)499–5297 or (785)499–5447. Ask for Eric or e-mail me at eab5890@ksu.edu

600 TRAVEL/TRIPS

630

Spring Break

SPRING BREAK '99-- Sell Trips, Earn Cash & Go Free! STS is now hiring campus reps. Lowest rates to Jamaica, Mexico and Florida. Call 800-648-4849 or apply online at www.ststravel.com

SNAP UP CUSTOMERS
advertise in the classifieds
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN
103 KEDZIE 532-6555

Classes starting to get you down?

Don't sweat it! Find a tutor in the Collegian's Classifieds.
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN
103 KEDZIE 532-6555

Meet your match.
Want to meet that cute guy in your anatomy class?
Advertise in the Collegian personals. You'll meet your match in no time.
Kansas State Collegian
103 Kedzie (east of the Union) 532-6555

ClassifiedRATES

1 DAY
20 words or less
$7.15
each word over 20 $.20 per word

2 DAYS
20 words or less
$8.40
each word over 20
$.25 per word

3 DAYS
20 words or less
$9.55
each word over 20
$.30 per word

4 DAYS
20 words or less
$10.60
each word over 20 $.35 per word

5 DAYS
20 words or less
$11.55
each word over 20 $.40 per word
(consecutive day rate)

HOW TO PAY

All classifieds must be paid in advance unless you have an account with Student Publications Inc. Cash, check, MasterCard or Visa are accepted. There is a $10 service charge on all returned checks. We reserve the right to edit, reject or properly classify any ad.

FREE FOUND ADS

As a service to you, we run found ads for three days free of charge.

CORRECTIONS

If you find an error in your ad, please call us. We accept responsibility only for the first wrong insertion.

CANCELLATIONS

If you sell your item before your ad has expired, we will refund you for the remaining days. You must call us before noon the day before the ad is to be published.

HEADLINES

For an extra charge, we'll put a headline above your ad to catch the reader's attention.

000 BULLETIN BOARD
100 HOUSING/REAL ESTATE
200 SERVICE DIRECTORY
300 EMPLOYMENT/OPPORTUNITIES
400 OPEN MARKET
500 TRANSPORTATION
600 TRAVEL/TRIPS

TO PLACE AN AD

Go to Kedzie 103 (across from the K-State Student Union). Office hours are Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. The office is open except on holidays.

CLINTON

■ continued from page 1

grand-jury transcripts.

The 445-page report likely will be made public on Friday, Solomon said. He said Starr's office had told congressional officials that the report includes a 25-page introduction, a 280-page narrative and a 140-page description of grounds for impeachment.

Solomon also said he expects the Judiciary Committee and the full House to decide by year's end whether Starr's report warrants a full-scale impeachment inquiry.

Only one president — Andrew Johnson in 1868 — has been impeached by the House, and he was acquitted by a single vote in a Senate trial. A quarter-century ago, Richard Nixon stood on the brink of impeachment over Watergate, but he resigned before any votes were taken by the full House.

Watergate has cropped up frequently in recent weeks as House lawyers studied precedents in anticipation of Starr's report. And in a speech in the Senate, Sen. Robert C. Byrd, D-W. Va., accused Clinton of handling the current scandal as ineptly as Nixon did his.

"We seem to be living history over again," said Byrd, who long served as his party's leader in the Senate. "Time seems to be turning backward in its flight, and many of the mistakes that President Nixon made are being made all over again."

Clinton made a speech to the nation on Aug. 17 about his relationship with Lewinsky. He described the relationship as wrong and inappropriate but devoted half of his brief remarks to an attack on Starr.

Since then, Democrats have expressed fury at having been deceived personally by the president, and several have urged him to show more contrition and apologize to the nation.

Gingrich and Gephardt both pledged bipartisanship at their morning meeting with House Majority Leader Dick Armey and leaders of the Judiciary Committee. Aides said Gingrich was preparing a speech to be delivered on the House floor today urging lawmakers of both parties to demonstrate civility in their handling of the issue.

Several sources said at the meeting, Gephardt briefly had raised the White House request that Kendall be given time to respond to the report before it was made public. That is unlikely, several Republicans said as the day wore on.

JOBS

Starting at $7.00 per hour

PART-TIME

Help needed to take inventory in retail stores. Average 10-12 hours on weekends. Weekday daytime hours are also available. Averaging 25+ hours.

Apply in person
Landon Room, Ramada Inn
Thursday, Sept. 10th
at 4:30 p.m. and 6:00 p.m.
Interviews start promptly.
Doors will close after 5 minutes.

Pregnancy Testing Center
539-3338
•Free pregnancy testing
•Totally confidential service
•Same day results
•Call for appointment
Located across from campus in Anderson Village
Mon.-Fri. 9 a.m.-5 p.m.

HAIRY — WE TAME THE TOUGH ONES
Life is Hairy Enough. Break Loose. Give Us a Call.
539-TAME (8263)
Walk Ins Welcome
Mon.-Sat., Tues. & Thurs. night till 8 p.m.
Full Service Salon 2026 Tuttle Creek Blvd.

LULA'S OUT OF BOUNDS SPORTS BAR & GRILL
Mon. 4p.m.-2a.m.
Tues.-Sun. 11a.m.-2a.m.
1129 Laramie
537-4045
THURSDAY 5-9 p.m.
10¢ wings
$2 Captain Morgans (Captain Silver, Parrot Bay)
$1.50 pounders
•PRIZES •CHANCE TO WIN TAILGATE COUCH
FRIDAY DJ MIRO @ 10:00
Come support your local Bud Man for Bud Night!

BACK TO SCHOOL SPECIAL!!
FINANCE A USED CAR AT NEW CAR RATES
1994 Thru 1998

24 Months 6.90% APR
36 Months 7.49% APR
48 Months 7.90% APR
60 Months 8.25% APR

UP TO 100% FINANCING AVAILABLE
SUBJECT TO NORMAL CREDIT POLICIES
NEW LOANS ONLY
DISCOUNTS AVAILABLE
NO ORIGINATION FEES

K-STATE Federal CREDIT UNION
1455 Anderson Ave, Manhattan, KS 66502
2700 Anderson Ave, Manhattan, KS 66502
785-776-3003
Visit ourWeb Site ksu.edu/creditunion

The Faculty Senate's Report to the University at the GENERAL FACULTY MEETING
Thurs., Sept. 10
3:30-5:30 p.m.
Forum Hall, K-State Union

Faculty Senate Leadership & Provost Coffman will address the following issues impacting KSU faculty:
•Multi-Year Salary Enhancement Plan
•Library Funding
•Post-Tenure Review
•Tenure & Promotion Guidelines
•Minimum Performance Standards
•Faculty Roles & Rewards
•Impact of Distance Learning
There will be plenty of interchange and discussion.
Come help shape Faculty Senate's agenda for the coming year!

5¢ Self-serve copying, 8½"x11", single side white paper
Claflin Books and Copies
1814 Claflin Road 776-3771

PIZZA SHUTTLE DELIVERS
776-5577
1800 Claflin Road

TELEFUND
KSU FOUNDATION 20th Anniversary 1979-1999
WINNERS
Powercat Carpet
Renee' Rodriquez
Freshman
College of Arts & Sciences
Powercat Fisher Space Pen
Kelly Shaw
Junior
College of Agriculture
Telefund Coffee Mugs
Kourtney Hensley
Freshman
College of Business Admin.
350 students registered at the Telefund 1999 exhibit during Activity Day.
Telefund 1999 begins Feb. 1. Register in your dean's office.
Telefund is the world's largest all-volunteer telephone campaign for higher education and is coordinated by the KSU Foundation.

When something is too extreme for words, it's to the Nth degree. And that's the level of technology you'll experience at Raytheon.

Raytheon has formed a new technological superpower–Raytheon Systems Company, composed of four major technological giants: Raytheon Electronic Systems, Raytheon E-Systems, Raytheon TI Systems and Hughes Aircraft. The new Raytheon Systems Company is driving technology to the limit. And we're looking for engineers who want to push the envelope. Break new ground. Make their mark.

At Raytheon, you'll take technology–and your career–to the highest possible level. You'll take it to the Nth.

We have a lot to tell you about the new Raytheon Systems Company and the exciting opportunities we have available. Plan on visiting our booth at your college career fair. If you are unable to attend the fair then check out our website at www.rayjobs.com and please send your resume to: Raytheon Resume Processing Center, P.O. Box 660246, MS-201, Dallas, TX 75266.

Internet: www.rayjobs.com • E-mail: resume@rayjobs.com
U.S. citizenship may be required. We are an equal opportunity employer.

Raytheon

NETTERS TO FLORIDA

The K-State volleyball team travels to Florida this weekend to compete in the Sunburst Invitational.

■ SEE STORY ON PAGE 6

FRIDAY
SEPTEMBER 11, 1998

KANSAS STATE UNIVERSITY, MANHATTAN, KAN.
VOLUME 103, NUMBER 14
COLLEGIAN.KSU.EDU

TODAY'S WEATHER

HIGH 90
LOW 60

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Sub. Exp. Date: 00/00
Kansas State Historical Society
Newspaper Section
PO Box 3585
Topeka KS 66601

Report reveals damaging details, source says

BY PETE YOST
THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Independent Counsel Kenneth Starr's referral to Congress accuses President Clinton of perjury and obstruction of justice and provides a damaging portrayal of his contacts with Monica Lewinsky and Oval Office secretary Betty Currie, legal sources said.

Starr's report accuses Clinton of lying in portions of his Aug. 17 grand-jury testimony as well as his Jan. 17 sworn testimony in the Paula Jones lawsuit, the sources said, speaking only on condition of anonymity during a day of nervous anticipation at the White House and on Capital Hill.

The referral Starr sent on Wednesday lays out detailed evidence that prosecutors contend shows 11 impeachable offenses by Clinton, including perjury, obstruction of justice, witness tampering and abuse of power, the sources said.

CLINTON

"The report is a straight narrative", and it alleges that "the president continued to lie and lie and lie," one source said.

White House spokesman Joe Lockhart declined comment Thursday except to refer to Clinton lawyer David Kendall's statement Wednesday. Kendall said the report represents only the prosecutors' allegations and that there was no basis for impeachment.

The report, which lawmakers expect to make public Friday, will cite specific contacts the president had with Currie last December and January and with Lewinsky in July 1997 — both during critical periods in the Jones lawsuit — as evidence of efforts to thwart the litigation, the sources said.

The report details what prosecutors assert was a pattern of lying by Clinton and an effort to sustain such lies by using government employees and resources after Starr's criminal investigation expanded to the Lewinsky matter in January. The evidence ranges from a false statement Clinton approved for his press secretary to put out on the morning the Lewinsky story broke Jan. 21 to the legal battles he allowed his aides to fight to block access to witnesses, the sources said.

The report will also argue that Clinton lied to aides, knowing they then would provide the false information in their grand-jury testimony, the legal sources said.

Sources said the report will detail Clinton summoning Currie to the Oval Office the day after he gave his sworn deposition in the Jones case last January, testimony in which he denied sexual relations with Lewinsky and said she visited the White House frequently to see Currie.

The White House originally dismissed the Currie meeting as an effort by the president to "refresh his recollection" about Lewinsky's visits. Now that the president has admitted he did have a sexual relationship with Lewinsky, however, prosecutors portray the meeting as part of an effort to influence Currie as a potential witness, the sources said.

Starr's report also points to a nighttime Oval Office meeting on July 14, 1997, between Clinton and Lewinsky as an early event in a month-long pattern of trying to derail the Jones sexual-harassment lawsuit, the sources said.

The meeting occurred around the time there were growing signs that Jones' lawyers were about to expand their case to other women, including former White House volunteer Kathleen Willey.

Willey would later go public with

■ See CLINTON on PAGE 8

Camouflaged reflection

K-State ROTC Ranger Cadet Tim Young, junior in history, examines his face in a mirror in an attempt to find out if he applied his camouflage paint correctly during a Thursday afternoon training exercise behind the Chester E. Peters Recreation Complex. The Rangers were in a camouflage class that taught them the best way to apply camouflage paint in order to be more concealed.

K-State ROTC Ranger Cadet Jeff Redmond, senior in construction science, aims his gun down range while other cadets in the background make their moves to better positions during a "buddy rush" drill during a Thursday afternoon training exercise behind the Chester E. Peters Recreation Complex. The cadets were participating in Individual Movement Technique drills. The drills consisted of high and low crawling, buddy rushes and a grenade course. The ROTC Ranger Company meets on Thursdays for extra training to prepare the cadets for summer advance camps.

Steve Hebert
Kansas State Collegian

Managing golf courses isn't chasing squirrels

BY JESSE MCCURRY
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

If you think learning to run a golf course means classes in building small rodent-shaped plastic explosives like Bill Murray did in "Caddyshack," think again.

"We don't chase ground squirrels around or anything, even though we hear that a lot," Jim Goodrich, junior in golf course management, said.

Golf is one of the fastest growing industries in the United States with an $18 billion estimated effect on the economy each year. Superintendent-level positions at a prestigious course can command up to $130,000 a year in salary.

K-State's new golf course management program prepares students to take advantage of these opportunities, said Jack Fry, associate professor of horticulture and adviser for the new program.

"The unique thing about K-State's program is that it puts greater emphasis on business, communications, personnel management and hotel/restaurant management. It is the first of its kind in the nation," Fry said.

Judy Miller, professor and head of hotel, restaurant, institution management and dietetics, said the scope of the program is what makes it unique.

"It enables the golf course superintendent to have upward mobility beyond just landscaping — they can manage the entire facility," Miller said. "They can rise to a different level, because their course work has balanced different needs."

Students must complete 59 hours of communication, social science, business and hospitality courses in addition to the traditional turf management-related courses.

Two internships are also required — one must be completed at Colbert Hills golf course, which is scheduled for 1999-2000 completion outside Manhattan, and the second must be in business management or food service/hospitality operations at a Tournament Players Club or other select course.

Colbert Hills, the first PGA Tour-managed collegiate course in the nation, also will be the site for a skills-based youth academy and research facility to study the environmental effect of golf courses.

Fry said exposure to other facets of the golf course operation will make graduates more competitive.

"Finding entry-level jobs with this degree won't be a problem. It also opens students up to lots of opportunities beyond managing the grounds," Fry said. "For example, they also get a business minor, which can help move them into management positions."

Bob Krause, vice president for institutional advancement, said he supports the program.

"We already have 35 students involved, even with minimal advertising. It's very cost-effective," Krause said.

Some students are involved for different reasons.

"I started it because my girlfriend was on the golf team. I'm just a mow boy. I like the landscaping part of it," Brett Robinson, junior in golf course management, said.

Robinson has mowing ambitions.

"One of the hardest things to do is to mow in a straight line. Maybe someday I could be mowing Augusta National, the site of the Masters. If I could land a job there, I could show them what I could do at a top-notch golf course."

KSU telephone service unwanted, residents say

JOE HURLA
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Residents of Jardine Terrace Apartments are being pressured into accepting a telecommunications package they don't want, members of the Jardine Resident's Council said Thursday.

Members of the council met at the Thomas J. Frith Community Center to discuss several issues, but the meeting focused on what they called an unwanted offer from K-State Telecommunications.

"We went door-to-door last year and asked residents if they liked the proposal," Valerie Christopher, senior in elementary education, said. "Most of them said they didn't like it."

Telecommunications is offering Jardine residents a package similar to what students living in residence halls have. They would use K-State's long distance service, and cable and ethernet would be offered by the same provider.

Christopher said Jardine residents have voted down similar proposals twice, but Telecommunications continues to push the proposal.

"They said they weren't going to bring it back until their rates were comparable," Christopher said. "This year, the pot is a little bit sweeter since they've thrown in the ethernet and cable, but it's still the same thing."

Fred Damkroger, director of K-State Telecommunications, said earlier Thursday that Jardine residents are not being forced into switching to the service.

"THEY SAID THEY WEREN'T GOING TO BRING IT BACK UNTIL THEIR RATES WERE COMPARABLE."

— VALERIE CHRISTOPHER JARDINE RESIDENT

"What we have done is provide them the opportunity," Damkroger said.

The council unanimously disapproved of the proposal, but its vote is not final.

Although members of the council said the opportunity to have all three services together was lucrative, they saw the telephone-service package as very dangerous to them financially.

"Right now, we have the liberty to switch to the company with the lowest rate," said Noaman Kayani, graduate student in economics. "Right now their rates are low, but if we switch, watch what happens. In five months, the rates will go up."

Banu Pagadala, Jardine resident, said the cost increase would be greatest for international students living in the apartments.

"Most of our calls are abroad, and these rates they're offering us are very high," said Pagadala.

All of the council members in attendance said switching to K-State's service would cost them more, but Damkroger said that was not necessarily the case.

"We're trying to provide a service, and we think we've got some pretty good rates," Damkroger said.

No representatives were present at the meeting from K-State Telecommunications, but the council plans to make contact with a representative soon

Faculty members meet to discuss issues, ways to improve salaries, library funding

MIKE WATSON
KANAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Faculty Senate members met Thursday to discuss proposals for the year. Tenure, the library, guidelines for promotion, faculty salaries and exploring future options were the focus of the meeting.

A threat facing tenure is the growing number of positions not tenure-tracked. There are 900 classes with professors not tenure-tracked. There are 700 underclassified staff members and 295 members not tenure-tracked.

Provost James Coffman said he estimates that in the next five to seven years, there might be 22,000 to 23,000 students. The challenge will be to meet tenure-tracked positions to future expectations.

Secondly, the university is in the midst of finding a solution for the library. It has been a heated conversation that is still left unsolved, Vladimir Krstic, associate professor of architecture, said.

"The library is still an open wound, and we don't know how we are going to heal it," Krstic said.

The Kansas Board of Regents has been asked for one percent of funding to go directly to the library. If not approved, it's back to square one, which will be detrimental to campus, Krstic said.

Faculty members said that the proposed solution to library funding with little improvement value is a waste of time.

"If we spent time getting faculty salaries up, it would be time much better spent," David Darling, professor of agricultural economics, said.

The Multi-year Faculty Enhancement Plan, which was introduced last year only to be withdrawn, is in the works once again. The present draft is set to appear before the adoption committee in October.

■ See SENATE on PAGE 8

CALENDAR DEADLINES

To place an item in the Calendar, stop by Kedzie 116 and fill out a form or e-mail it to bulletins@spub.ksu.edu by 11 a.m. two days before it is to run.

NEWS DIGEST

NEWS EDITOR: TRAVIS D. LENKNER
collegn@ksu.edu

CALENDAR

Calendar is the Collegian's campus bulletin board service. Items in the Calendar can be published up to three times. Items might not appear because of space constraints but are guaranteed to appear on the day of the activity.

■ Horticultural Therapy Chapter will have a plant sale from 9:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. today in the Throckmorton first-floor lobby.

■ K-State National Education Association will have a membership drive from 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. today in the Bluemont Hall lobby.

■ FONE Crisis Center will have a volunteer training session from 7:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. Saturday and from 1:30 to 4:30 p.m. Sunday.

■ The College of Arts and Sciences will administer a mock LSAT test from 12:30 to 5 p.m. today in Union 206. Students can sign up in Eisenhower 117.

■ The Graduate School announces the final oral defense of the doctoral dissertation of Husain Ibraheem at 2:30 p.m. today in Nichols 236.

■ Lutheran Campus Ministry Worship service will be at 7:15 p.m. Sunday in Danforth Chapel.

POLICE REPORTS

Reports are taken directly from the K-State and Riley County police departments' daily logs. We do not list wheel locks or minor traffic violations because of space constraints.

K-STATE POLICE
WEDNESDAY, SEPT. 9

■ No reports of note were made.

RILEY COUNTY POLICE
WEDNESDAY, SEPT. 9

■ At 2:29 p.m., Noah Hartford, no address available, was arrested for possession of marijuana, possession of drug paraphernalia, criminal possession of a firearm and minor in possession. Bond was set at $500.

■ At 5:37 p.m., Michelle Anne Miller, Ogden, Kan., was arrested for failure to appear in court. Bond was set at $270.52.

■ At 10:06 p.m., Melissa Posey, 1648 Leavenworth St., reported an incident of battery.

■ At 10:58 p.m., Matthew Holloman, 613 Laramie St., reported a stolen men's Huffy 10-speed mountain bike. Loss was $60.

■ At 11:23 p.m., police did a welfare check on Eric Hardesty, 1524 McCain Lane, who had been locked in a room for the last three days.

THURSDAY, SEPT. 10

■ At 12:18 a.m., Mark Atwood Jr., Ogden, Kan., was arrested for DUI. Bond was set at $500.

■ At 1:14 a.m., Phil Anderson, 1718 Fairchild Ave., reported loud music.

■ At 1:33 a.m., Timothy Donohoue, 421 Warner Park Road, was arrested for DUI. Bond was set at $500.

■ At 3:58 a.m., Jamie Adcock, 3305 Valley Dale Drive, was arrested for DUI. Bond was set at $500.

■ At 11:31 a.m., Sarah Steging, 920 Leavenworth St., reported an incident of aggravated assault.

DAILY REWIND

Daily Rewind collects the top local, state, national and world news from the past 48 hours. Briefs are compiled from wire and staff reports.

12 satellites burn up shortly after launch

MOSCOW — Twelve U.S. commercial satellites and the rocket that carried them partially burned up in the atmosphere Thursday when the Russian-organized launch failed minutes after blastoff.

The Zenit-2 booster was launched by Russia's space agency from the Baikonur cosmodrome, which Russia rents from the former Soviet republic of Kazakstan.

The rocket's control system failed in its fifth minute of flight, shutting down the engines. The Ukrainian manufacturer said it was probably a computer malfunction.

Fragments of the rocket and the Globalstar satellites fell in a sparsely populated area in southern Siberia, the Russian Space Agency told the ITAR-Tass news agency.

The satellites were built by Space Systems Loral, a subsidiary of Loral Space and Communications Ltd. of New York. The satellites were going to be used as part of a $2.6-billion global hand-held mobile satellite phone system, company spokesman David Benton said.

The lost satellites cost $190 million and were covered by insurance, Benton said.

Globalstar plans to launch its next four satellites in November and plans to have 32 satellites in orbit by late next year, he said.

The Russian Space Agency blamed Yuzhnoye, the Ukrainian government-owned rocket design and production center, for the failure, ITAR-Tass reported.

"The launching was considered Ukraine's responsibility — the Russian side exercised only general coordination of the work," space agency spokesman Vyacheslav Mikhailichenko said.

Yuzhnoye officials said the cause most likely was a malfunction in the rocket's computer, which controlled its engines. The computer was produced by an institute in Moscow, Interfax said.

Yuzhnoye said upcoming launches should not be affected by Thursday's failure.

Thursday's launch was the eighth failure of the two-stage Zenit-2 out of a total of 31. The same rocket is to be used in the Sea Launch international project to carry out commercial launches from ocean platforms.

Residents brace for Frances, shore up

HARLINGEN, Texas — Tropical Storm Frances brought at least 10 inches of rain, gusty winds and high tides to the Gulf Coast on Thursday, stranding fishermen, swallowing beaches and prompting evacuations.

In Port Mansfield, a small fishing community in southern Texas, residents had their boats secured and their plywood cut, waiting for whatever Frances might bring.

"It's one of these been there, done that kind of communities when it comes to storms," Walt Kittelberger, a fishing guide, said. "We're used to being very self-sufficient when it comes to such matters."

The storm was expected to begin moving slowly to the northwest and reach land along the southern Texas coast by Friday night. Tropical storm warnings were issued for the coasts of Louisiana, Texas and into Mexico.

Tides were 5 feet above normal, prompting communities near Galveston to brace for a surge of water. Nearly a dozen people, including some sport fishermen, were stranded on Texas City Dike, a 5-mile strip of land at Galveston Bay, as the rising tide swamped the area.

"There's no more beach here," said Ken Maltby, city manager of Freeport, about 60 miles south of Houston. "It's like one ocean out here."

Flooding also was reported from Corpus Christi to the Galveston area, and several communities in Texas and Louisiana urged people to clear out.

Results could provide new method in fight against AIDS virus

Molecular biologists might have discovered how AIDS suddenly can erupt into a catastrophic illness after lurking for years as a low-grade infection.

New research by a nationwide team of scientists suggests the human immunodeficiency virus eventually attacks a class of disease-fighting cells produced by the immune system that were thought to be impervious to attack by the virus.

The results, which have been limited so far to test-tube experiments, could provide drug makers with a new target for drugs designed to keep the virus in check, as well as vaccines aimed at preventing infection.

Researchers said the attack on this different group of immune cells, known as CD8 T cells, triggers an explosion of cell death that exhausts the immune system and leaves the body vulnerable to pneumonia and other secondary infections that typically kill most AIDS patients.

The new study was published in the latest issue of the journal Nature.

Exactly how AIDS affects the CD8 cells remains unclear, though.

Researchers said one possibility is that the virus reduces the immune system's social control over its own powerful cells. The disruption to this precise chemical balance triggers a potentially fatal domino effect that not only leaves the body vulnerable to infection, but also might contribute to the loss of brain cells that causes AIDS-related dementia and other debilitating side effects.

"Because CD8 T cells are professional killers, they may do serious harm if they end up in the wrong place," said French AIDS researcher Jean Claude Ameisen of the Hospital Bichat in Paris.

For several years, scientists have known that HIV readily infects one type of immune cell known as the CD4, or helper T cell, by locking onto a protein on its surface and breaching its cell wall.

The CD8 cells were thought to have better protection. Yet in the latter stages of AIDS, CD8 cells start dwindling rapidly, too.

Researchers said their experiments showed that a strain of HIV that usually evolves late in the course of infection latches onto a particular surface protein of the CD8 cell known as CXCR4.

Unlike in CD4 cells, the virus does not actually take over its cellular machinery.

Instead, they report when the virus latches onto the CXCR4 protein. The CD8 cell sees the change as a kind of a death signal and commits suicide.

The cell death process is complex and involves an array of other cell types that soon might subvert the entire immune system and lead to full-blown AIDS symptoms, said lead author Georges Herbein of the Picower Institute for Medical Research in Manhasset, N.Y.

"Because CD8 cells are thought to limit the spread of the infection, the failure of CD8 function could contribute to the development of AIDS," he said.

Juveniles will be tried as adults in shooting

WICHITA — Three boys, ages 15, 16 and 17, will be tried as adults for a drive-by shooting that left an 8-year-old dead.

The little boy, Antonio Galvan, was playing in his front yard July 21 when a car loaded with teen-agers approached his house. It slowed, then squealed its tires as one of the occupants stuck a gun out the window and fired. The bullet struck Galvan in the head, killing him.

According to testimony at a hearing Tuesday and Wednesday in Sedgwick County District Court, seven teen-age boys and a 20-year-old woman had gone out in the car with the goal of "getting" rival gang members.

They saw Galvan's 14-year-old brother and a 14-year-old friend and began shooting. The boys ducked, but Galvan was in the line of fire.

Everett McGinnis, 15; Issac Saiz, 16; and Daniel Medrano Chavez, 17, are charged with first-degree murder, attempted murder and shooting at an occupied building.

WEATHER

HIGH 90

LOW 60

It's warming up again, put those jeans away for a few more days. Dress lightly for the game tomorrow, it'll be hot in the stands — high around 90.

CONTACT US

■ NEWSROOM 532-6556
■ ADVERTISING 532-6560
■ CLASSIFIEDS 532-6555

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN
KEDZIE 116
KANSAS STATE UNIVERSITY
MANHATTAN, KS 66506

The Kansas State Collegian (USPS 291 020), a student newspaper at Kansas State University, is published by Student Publications Inc., Kedzie 103, Manhattan, Kan. 66506. The Collegian is published weekdays during the school year and twice a week through the summer. Periodical postage is paid at Manhattan, Kan. 66502. POSTMASTER: Send address changes to Kansas State Collegian, circulation desk, Kedzie 103, Manhattan, Kan. 66506-7167.

© KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN, 1998

No
I don't need money

Call home just to say "hi."

Wanna really surprise your parents? Why not flip your Wildcat Card over and follow the easy calling card instructions and call home just for the fun of it? And when they hear your sweet voice NOT asking for money, maybe they'll finally realize you're not the "irresponsible teenager" they once thought you were.

What a concept. Why worry about carrying cash or checks when there's an easier, safer way to make purchases on campus. The Wildcat Card is the one card to carry for nearly all of your everyday needs. Use it to access your account for books and supplies, for food and as a library card. Laser printer stations and campus vending machines are accepting chip now. This card also allows access to your financial aid surplus. Transactions are debited directly from your account and detailed on one simple monthly statement.

That's not all. The Wildcat Card also works at many participating merchants off-campus and acts as a universal ATM card, giving you 24-hour access to your account in Manhattan and around the world. (And be sure to let your parents know that, with the Wildcat Card, they can deposit money directly into your account from their hometown bank, free of charge.)

It's that easy. So take the hassle-free way to get things done on- and off- campus—take advantage of the Wildcat Card. For more information call Commerce on Campus 532-3500 or the Campus Card Office at 532-6399.

Commerce Bank

DESIGNED BY KANSAS STUDENTS for KANSAS STUDENTS

Stop by these Wildcat Card participating merchants:

Aggie Bike Station • Appleseed Art & Frame • Ballard's Sporting Goods • Dr. Paul Bullock, Optometrist • Candlewood Veterinary Clinic • Cat's Closet Children's Book Shop • Christian Books & Gifts • Cortner Chiropractic Clinic • Crimper's Power Design Team • Crum's Beauty College • Domino's Pizza G. Thomas Jewelers • Gold Fork Restaurant • Harry's Uptown • Hibachi Hut • Hunam's Restaurant • It's Greek To Me • Kansas Vet. Ed. Supply Kistner's Flowers & Greenhouse • Little Apple Toyota/Honda • Olson Shoe Source • Orthopaedic Sports Medicine • The Palace • The People's Grocery Pit Stop Automotive • Rod's Hallmark • Scoreboard • Streetside Records • Texas Star Cafe • Varney's Bookstore • Eric Wisdom, DDS, PA Westside Veterinary Clinic • Wildcat Creek Sports Center • Yen Ching Chinese Restaurant

Engineering equipment fee seems smaller, but it's not

BY JAMI STUMP
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

The $100 equipment fee for engineering students has a new look this year.

Engineering students might think the fee has been lowered to $85, but the fee remains the same due to a new Kansas Board of Regents equipment fee that has been assessed for students in all majors this year.

All undergraduate and graduate students enrolled in engineering and carrying more than seven hours this semester were charged an $85 fee. Students with less than seven-credit hours were required to pay a part-time fee of $42.50.

The fee reduction for engineering students is the result of a $1 per-credit-hour fee that is assessed to all students at K-State for campus equipment.

Douglas Ackley, assistant controller of cashiering and student loans, said that after the regents set the equipment fee, something had to be done not to charge students in engineering twice.

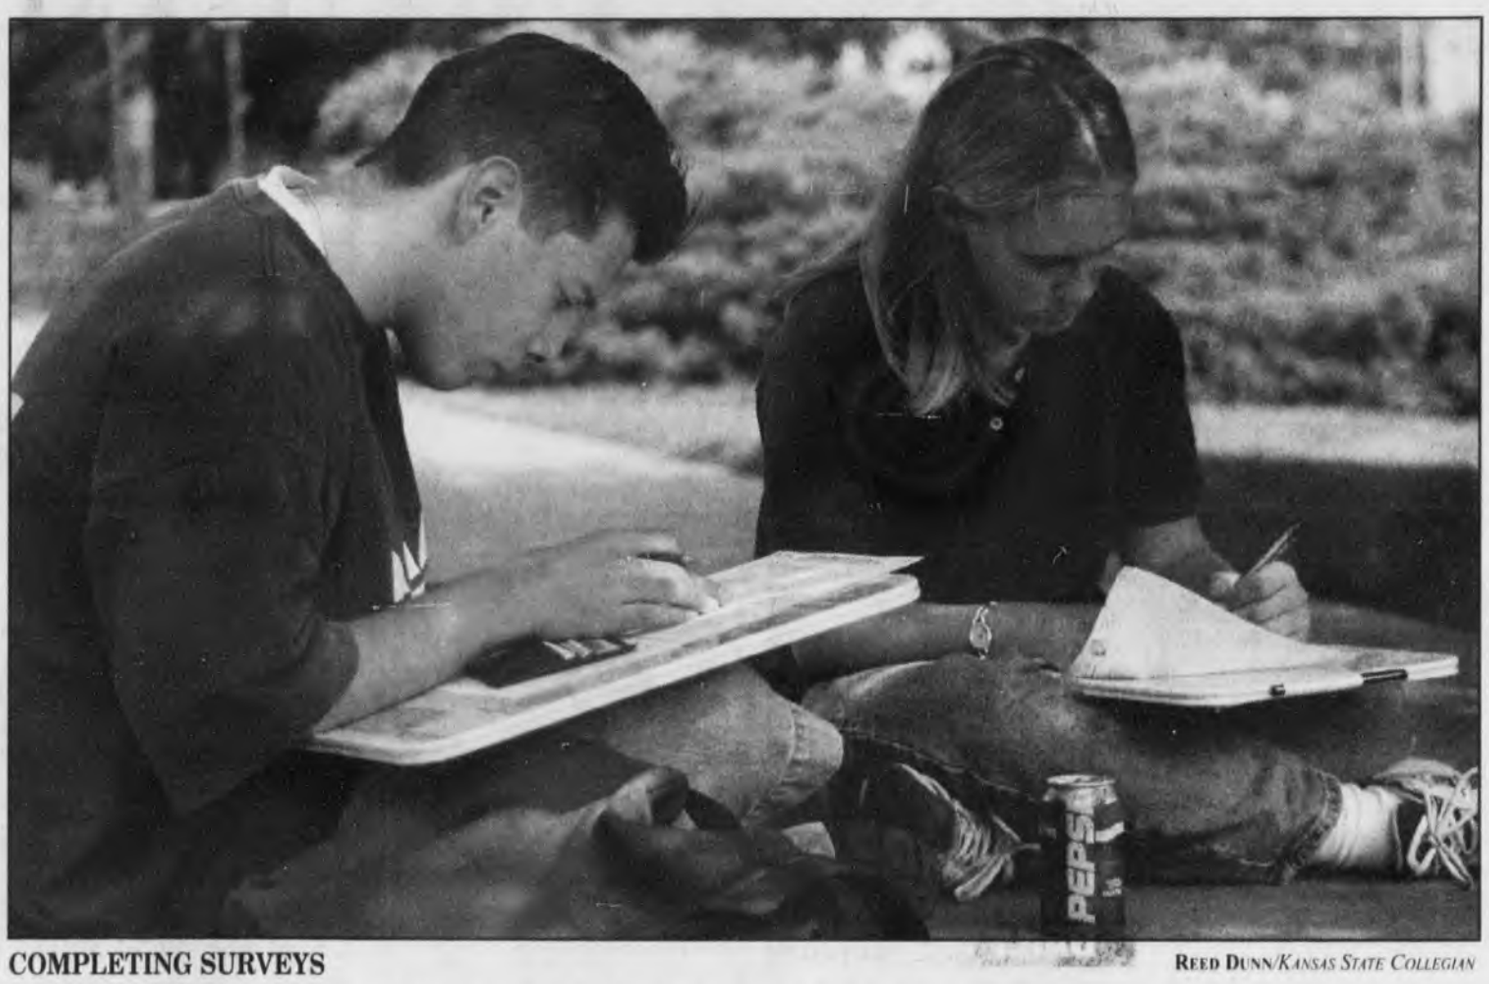
"Instead of feeing engineering students twice, once through the College of Engineering special fee of $100 and then with the new fee, we lowered the fee to $85," Ackley said.

"Fifteen dollars was subtracted because an average student's course load is 15 hours," Ackley said.

Once the equipment fee money is in the hands of the engineering college, it will be divided among the departments.

"We want the departments in engineering to have more of the money," said Linda Streeter, administrative assistant in the dean's office of the College of Engineering. "Most of it will be media-classroom support upgrades and improvements in PC labs."

Streeter is receiving information on how the equipment-fee money was used last year from a department standpoint.



"After I get all of the information on how the money was spent, we will have it available on the Web," Streeter said.

Streeter said she hopes to have the information on how the equipment fee money was used during the last fiscal year available by the end of this semester.

Most of the changes in equipment happen over semester breaks, Streeter said.

"I can see improvements, and I am happy with the changes that are being made," Dusty Deboer, sophomore in engineering, said.

Deboer said he is pleased with the equipment the college has available. He said it is more advanced than the equipment used by some companies.

COMPLETING SURVEYS

REED DUNN/KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Carlos Londono, freshman in international business, and Katie Schiller, freshman in architecture, take time to fill out a market-research survey in front of Seaton Hall on Wednesday afternoon. Members of Alpha Gamma Rho were offering a free dry-erase board to anyone who completed the survey.

Entertainment may ease waiting in line for dinner

BY JENN DAVOREN
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

William Shakespeare once called the whole world a stage.

Now, that includes the lobby of Derby Food Center.

Mark Edwards, unit director for Derby, is looking for acts to entertain students while they wait for their meals.

"We get huge crowds for dinner, especially on Monday and Tuesday nights, and the lines get pretty long," Edwards said. "Performers in the lobby would hopefully make the wait seem like part of the fun."

Edwards said he is looking for musical groups, actors or improvisational performers.

Students involved in K-State theater productions could use the opportunity to rehearse their lines.

"This would be a great venue for people to try out their acts," Edwards said.

Performers would have a large space in the lobby for their acts, and they would perform for about an hour and a half during peak-dinner times, he said.

Derby's budget, through the Department of Housing and Dining Services, does not allow for cash payments for performers at the moment, but requests have been made.

However, Edwards said there definitely would be enough food to go around, and the retail bakery would be open to the performers willing to sing for their suppers.

"We can't pay a huge amount for acts, but I am working on some form of financial reward," Edwards said.

Archer uncovers dinosaur tracks from Jurassic period

BY NANCY GRATHWOHL
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Dinosaur tracks were a big find for Allen Archer.

Archer, associate professor of geology, returns to Shell, Wyo., in September to resume his work on dinosaur tracks that had been undiscovered for 165 million years.

Archer and Erik Kvale, a geologist at Indiana University, found the tracks from the Jurassic period in May 1997. The tracks were found pressed into older rocks, which is unusual for dinosaur remains.

"What is important is that these tracks are in a rock called limestone," Archer said. "Typically, limestone forms in an ocean, so it is unique to have dinosaur tracks in them."

This finding is exciting, because it is the largest tracksite in Wyoming. There also are very few Middle Jurassic Period tracksites in the world, which is why dinosaurs from this period aren't understood very well, Archer said.

At the Red Gulch Tracksite, there are several hundred tracks on the surface of the limestone, with the biggest track being less than one foot in length. The tracks are believed to be from a two-legged dinosaur.

However, they are still unsure about the kind of dinosaur that made the tracks, Archer said.

"These tracks are very much like what one might see produced by a big bird such as an ostrich or emu," Archer said.

Some scientists believe birds and dinosaurs are closely related, and these tracks support their theory, Archer said.

Dinosaur tracks provide scientists with different information than they can find from dinosaur bones, Archer said.

"Bones just tell us what the animal looked like," Archer said. "We can figure out how fast they moved and if they kept together in groups from their tracks."

This set of tracks has different size footprints, which leads scientists to believe they traveled in family groups, Archer said.

This is a team-based research project.

There are a number of people working on it who are specialists in different areas.

Archer will be working as an invertebrate paleontologist. He said he is responsible for looking at fossils from invertebrates such as clams and shrimp.

"Our team will try to figure out what the ancient environment was like," Archer said. "We will put the whole setting in perspective."

His team will take samples of the rock to look at under microscopes and try to find out how those rocks were formed, Archer said.

Marie Commisso, first-year graduate student in geology, will be doing work similar to Archer's at the Bay of Fundy in Nova Scotia, Canada. She will be looking at sediment deposits for a project funded by NASA.

The deposits from the Bay of Fundy samples will be compared to other ancient environments like the one in Shell, Wyo., Commisso said.

She said she hopes to discover how tidal cycles relate to the orientation of the moon.

"NASA is interested in getting better models of the orbit," Commisso said. "It is really interesting, because it is not practical to the everyday person."

FOR the EDUCATION and RESEARCH COMMUNITY

OVER ONE MILLION OF THE BEST MINDS IN AMERICA HAVE ALREADY CHOSEN THE BEST RETIREMENT SYSTEM.

TIAA-CREF.

When it comes to planning a comfortable future, America's best and brightest turn to the expert: TIAA-CREF. With over $230 billion in assets under management, we're the world's largest retirement system, the nation's leader in customer satisfaction,* and the overwhelming choice of people in education, research, and related fields.

Expertise You Can Count On

For 80 years, TIAA-CREF has introduced intelligent solutions to America's long-term planning needs. We pioneered the portable pension, invented the variable annuity, and popularized the very concept of stock investing for retirement. In fact, we manage the largest stock account in the world (based on assets under management).

Today, TIAA-CREF can help you achieve even more of your financial goals. From tax-deferred annuities and IRAs to mutual funds, you'll find the flexibility and choice you need, backed by a proven history of performance, remarkably low expenses, and peerless commitment to personal service.

Find Out For Yourself

To learn more about the world's premier retirement organization, talk to one of our retirement planning experts at 1 800 842-2776. Or better still, speak to one of your colleagues. Find out why, when it comes to planning for tomorrow, great minds think alike.

Visit us on the Internet at www.tiaa-cref.org

TIAA CREF Ensuring the future for those who shape it.℠

*DALBAR, Inc., 1997 Defined Contribution Excellence Ratings. Past performance is no guarantee of future results. CREF certificates and interests in the TIAA Real Estate Account are distributed by TIAA-CREF Individual and Institutional Services. For more complete information, including charges and expenses, call 1 800 842-2733, extension 5509, for the prospectuses. Read them carefully before you invest or send money. 8/98

©1998 TIAA-CREF, 730 Third Avenue, New York, NY

WE KNOW where YOU LIVE

the 1999 royal purple yearbook — housing portrait picture schedule —

— we will be shooting on location at fraternities, sororities and residence halls —

Acacia House	Sept. 30	Moore Hall	Sept.8
Alpha Chi Omega	Sept. 8	Miscellaneous Greeks	Sept. 14
Alpha of Clovia	Sept. 23	Off Campus	Sept. 15-18
Alpha Delta Pi	Sept. 14		10-7pm, Union Alcove
Alpha Gamma Rho	Sept. 29	Phi Delta Theta	Oct. 14
Alpha Tau Omega	Sept. 28	Phi Gamma Delta	Sept. 29
Alpha Xi Delta	Sept. 15	Phi Kappa Theta	Oct. 9
Beta Sigma Psi	Oct. 2	Pi Beta Phi	Sept. 10
Beta Theta Pi	Oct. 5	Pi Kappa Alpha	Oct. 1
Boyd Hall	Sept. 21-22	Pi Kappa Phi	Oct. 13
Chi Omega	Sept. 21	Putnam Hall	Sept. 21-22
Delta Chi	Oct. 12	Salina Campus	Sept. 23
Delta Delta Delta	Sept. 18	Sigma Alpha Epsilon	Oct. 6
Delta Sigma Phi	Oct. 12	Sigma Chi	Oct. 2
Delta Tau Delta	Oct. 5	Sigma Kappa	Sept. 24
Delta Upsilon	Oct. 7	Sigma Nu	Oct. 8
Durland Hall (OFF CAMPUS)	Oct. 15	Sigma Phi Epsilon	Oct. 1
FarmHouse	Sept. 28	Sigma Sigma Sigma	Sept. 25
Ford Hall	Sept. 11	Smith House	Sept. 30
Gamma Phi Beta	Sept. 11	Smurthwaite	Sept. 16
Goodnow Hall	Sept. 25	Tau Kappa Epsilon	Oct. 6
Haymaker Hall	Sept. 9	Theta Xi	Oct. 9
Jardine Clubhouse	Oct. 16	Van Zile Hall	Sept. 21-22
Kappa Alpha Theta	Sept. 22	Vet Med (OFF CAMPUS)	Oct. 7
Kappa Kappa Gamma	Sept. 17	Weber Hall (OFF CAMPUS)	Oct. 14
Kappa Sigma	Oct. 8	West Hall	Sept. 10
Lambda Chi Alpha	Oct. 13	Organizations	Oct. 19-22
Marlatt Hall	Sept. 24		6-10 pm, McCain 3rd floor

SEPT. 11 — 11am-7pm —
✓ Ford Hall
✓ Gamma Phi Beta
TODAY!!

SEPT. 14 — 11am-7pm —
○ Alpha Delta Pi
○ *Miscellaneous Greeks
○ *Off Campus
— 10am-7pm Union Alcove —

PORTRAITS BY Blaker STUDIO ROYAL

OUR VIEW

Responsibility required with new technologies

Babies are born all the time.

Some of them are now made to order.

According to an article in the September issue of the journal of Human Reproduction, researchers have found a new way to separate male-sperm cells from female-sperm cells. They are in the process of giving parents the right to decide which gender they want their child to be.

Different processes for separating living male and female sperm from one another have been around for several years. Their most positive effect comes from preventing gender-specific genetic diseases. Now, however, researchers at the Fairfax Institute have given parents the right to decide the gender of their child arbitrarily. Several of these children already have been born; the oldest is 2 1/2 years old.

The parents seem to have gone through the process to provide gender-balance to their families instead of having a homogeneous brood. Their reasoning is that if they went to the trouble of getting the procedure, they must love the child all the more.

It begs the question of whether they still would have loved the child if the procedure had failed.

The Collegian Editorial Board takes issue with the practice of selecting genders for children on the basis of esthetics.

Ultimately, gender balancing within one family can come from no other motivation. Selecting genders for children without a legitimate health reason to do so sets a bad precedent for a world in which the whole scope of reproduction becomes a sterile, planned process.

EDITORIAL BOARD

EDITOR IN CHIEF
JILL JARSULIC

MANAGING EDITOR/ PRESENTATION
TODD STEWART

NEWS EDITOR
TRAVIS D. LENKNER

PHOTO EDITOR
STEVE HEBERT

CAMPUS EDITOR
KELLEE MILLER

CITY/GOVERNMENT EDITOR
MATT KREPS

SPORTS EDITOR
JEREMY KELLEY

ARTS & ENTERTAINMENT EDITOR
DIANA LEE

OPINION EDITOR
JON KURCHE

COPY CHIEF
JANET COOK

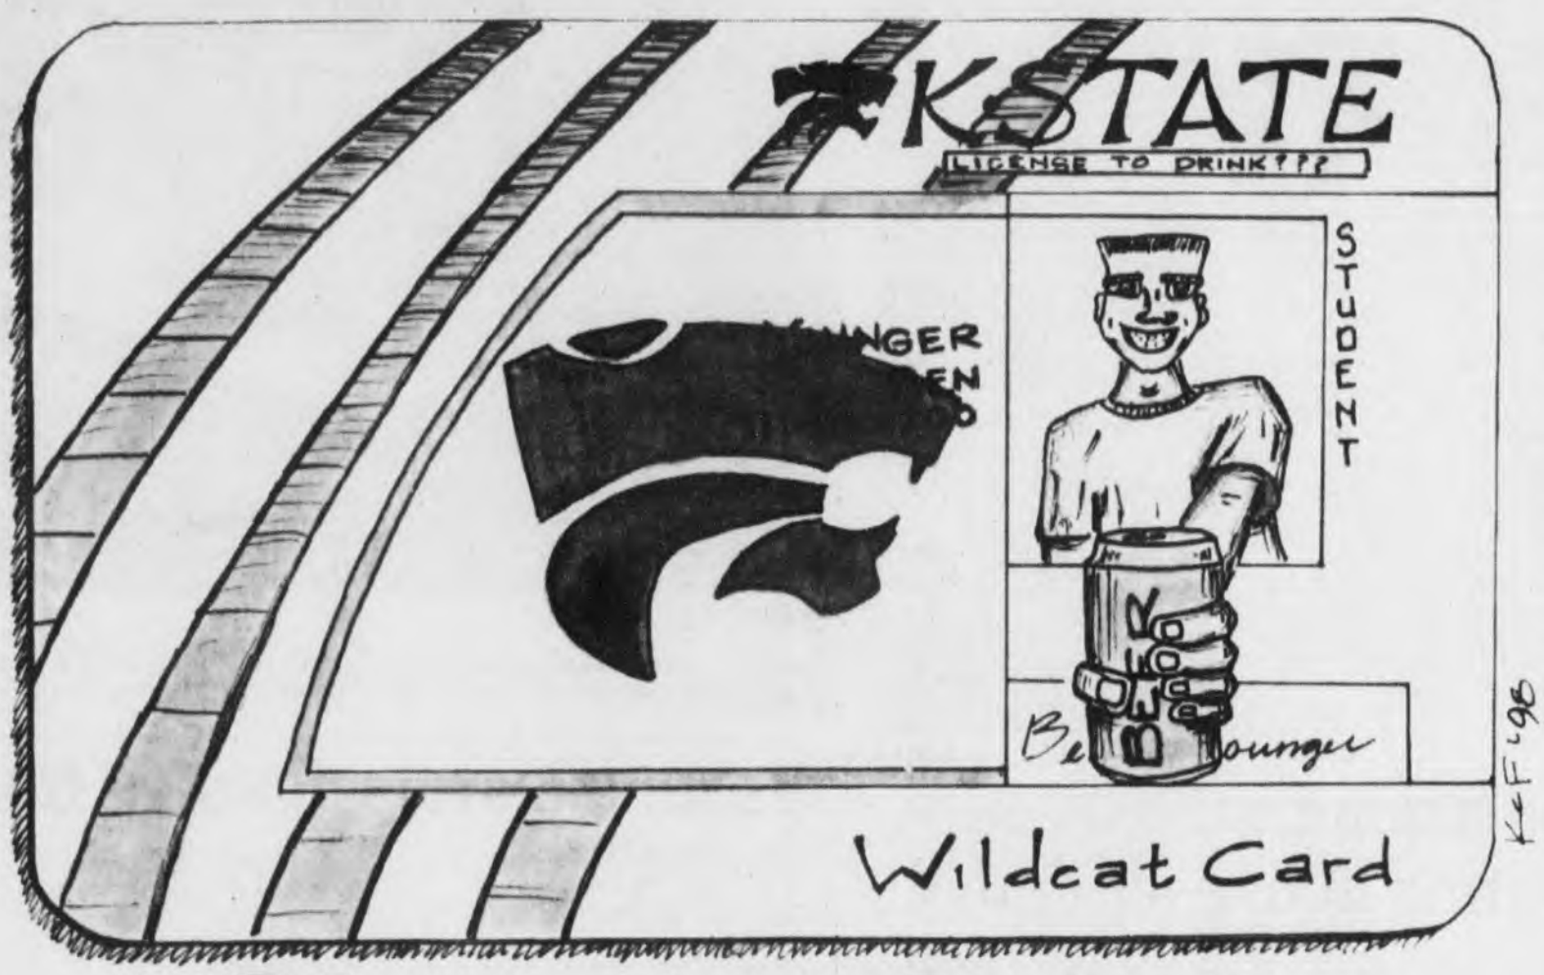
eCOLLEGIAN EDITOR
R.J. DIEPENBROCK

SPECIAL PROJECTS EDITOR
ANGELA KISTNER

As ethics specialist Rev. Philip Keane points out, planning children in this manner takes the mystery away from childbirth. It effectively kills the dignity of the child. As a manufactured product, the uniqueness of each of us, on the basis of random genetic variation, is lost.

It's events like these that remind us of stories like "Brave New World," by Aldous Huxley, and Andrew Niccol's "Gattaca." They depict worlds in which genetic predisposition becomes obsolete. Physical limitation becomes obsolete. Read a slip of paper at the time you are born, and doctors can tell you from which genetic disease you will likely die. The world is lost in an übermensch homogeneity.

We do not advocate the suppression of technology. We do not support a standpoint of fear of technology. We feel that at this point in time, the human race is not responsible enough to eliminate any and all random genetic variation from its gene pool. The only effect the researchers at Fairfax seem to have taken into consideration is the unbalancing of sex ratios in families on a global scale. We would agree that people in this country would not likely pick one gender significantly over the other, but we would choose to remind those researchers that in countries like China, Iran and India, where much of society is based on caste and gender roles, parents invariably would pick males because of their later economic viability.



This, of course, doesn't even address the question of what would happen if, say, the Chinese government — already strapped with the troubles of a population that has outgrown its land's carrying capacity — decided to pick genders for parents.

Existence of an option doesn't necessitate its use. We don't favor doing things simply because we have the ability. We have the freedom to use this technology, but we must exercise an equal degree of responsibility. Too often, our technological maturity has beaten our ethical maturity.

We do not believe that the human race has evolved enough to use this technology responsibly. The choosing of genders to balance families should be evidence of that.

In a country where we elect a president who can't own up to his mistakes, where the population doesn't have enough motivation to vote for themselves, where we believe in freedom and equality but violate any country's sovereignity in favor of oil — are we ready to be playing God with our children?

OUR VIEW, an editorial selected and debated by the editorial board, is written after a majority opinion is formed. The editorial board consists of Collegian editors and other staff members. OUR VIEW is the Collegian's official opinion.

Gimme a Drink

18-year-olds should be able to drink with college ID

VIEWPOINT

TODD PACEY

Now this has just gotten silly.

Last week after getting over the initial shock of waking up before noon, I was even more shocked by the news that the Kansas Department of Transportation will allot an additional $360,000 to combat underage drinking.

That should work almost as well as the war on drugs.

When will they learn they are focusing on the wrong things? Similar to doing drugs, people under the age of 21 are still going to break the law. People are going to do what they want to do, especially if it involves substances that alter their state of mind. You cannot stop them.

At least they're not going to stop me from drinking.

So, being the journalist that I think I am, I called up the Riley County Sheriff's Office to get some more information. Enter Sgt. Larry Freeby of the Riley County Police Department.

Freeby has been with the RCPD for 25 years. When he first joined the force, the legal-drinking age was 18.

It's a good thing Congress saw fit to pressure states into raising the legal-drinking age to 21.

I must ask it again: Is Congress the opposite of progress?

When I was in high school, I laughed at those who were drinking. I thought it was dumb, mainly because they would go to a field or a lake or someplace to drink, but they had a curfew, and they had to drive home.

Those were the cool kids.

Once I got to college, things changed. I did not have a curfew, and if I was not able to drive, I knew someone who could, or I could walk. I would not have to explain to my parents why I made it home, but my car did not.

That said, here's my idea.

Allow those who are at least 18 years of age and have a college identification to drink. There has to be some use for that ID besides my discounts back home at the movie theaters.

Let's call it collegiate immunity. Think of it as a reward for pursuing a higher education. Some people may see this as discrimination, but how would this be different from getting a discount at the movie theaters? It is not breaking the law if this plan becomes the law.

This way, we don't allow those cool high school kids to drink, but we still reward the college students. The only question I have is whether those with college IDs should be allowed to purchase alcohol at a liquor store or simply at a bar.

Now, I know that this whole idea is silly, so don't write to tell me this. However, as the old adage goes, one silly act deserves another in response. Plus, I don't see anyone else, besides Sam Pierron at the University of Kansas, doing anything.

Pierron's intentions are noble, but I cannot say that I totally agree with his plan to lower the drinking age to 18. I believe if the drinking age was lowered to 18, more underage high school students would start drinking. If we reserved this right to those who are at least 18 and in college, there would not be as great of a problem.

Don't get the wrong idea. No matter what happens or doesn't happen, there will always be someone breaking the law. This does not automatically warrant a change in the law, but this, to me, is a victimless crime.

None of this really matters, it's just the ramblings of a 20-year-old college student.

Todd Pacey is a senior in electronic and print journalism. You can e-mail him at tmp7298@ksu.edu.

Neff tackles 11 problems

VIEWPOINT

MICHAEL NEFF

Let's face it, ladies and gentlemen. The world definitely has its share of problems, but who knows how to fix them all? Honestly, nobody, but I have a few ideas that might just remedy some of them. Here we go.

1. The Kansas State Football Ticket Problem – Let's start with some problems we all can relate to. Now, I guess we have some unhappy students, because there are amazingly more students who want tickets than student tickets. Well, how about we place all the tickets in a giant piñata in the shape of Athletics Director Max Urick's head, pile everybody who wants tickets into Bramlage Coliseum and take turns beating the piñata into submission. Then when the piñata is broken, there is a mad dash for the coveted tickets. It is a little theory called survival of the fittest, perhaps you've heard of it. I'd rather get a few nicks and bruises, maybe some broken ribs, than wait in line for hours.

2. Stupid People – I don't mean stupid as in that you aren't very bright educationally speaking. What I am referring to is child abusers, adulterers, rapists, mean people, etc. They are stupid because they are hurting our country. So, what should we do to people who hurt our country? Kick them out. I say we deport them to Canada. Now, I have nothing against Canada, it's just they have so much space, and we have so many stupid people. Plus, in Canada, they could find peace within themselves, become ice fishermen, and perhaps reform themselves in a way that they would be a benefit to society. However, there would be one noticeable problem with this issue. Do you think Bill Clinton would sign a bill effectively deporting himself?

3. Terrorism – Hold on a minute. What do we have all these missiles for anyway? Let's not take this one sitting down. I don't like being threatened by anybody.

4. Hanson – See #3

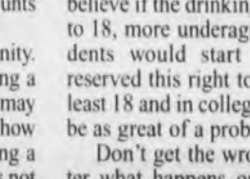
5. The Depletion of the Ozone Layer– What we need here is a troop of Boy Scouts, some duct tape and some WD-40.

6. Pollution – In seventh-grade biology, I learned that you could run a car engine on alcohol. Not only is it more efficient, but it burns a lot cleaner than gasoline. Imagine getting 90 miles to the gallon in your '79 Bonneville. Also, it would be a lot more fun to siphon.

7. Ryan O'Halloran – That's no way to speak about your alma mater. The K-State Marching Band rocks. Pack your bags, big guy, your flight to Canada leaves soon.

8. Book Banning – All right, now how anal can we get? For God's sake, "Alice in Wonderland" is banned? "Hansel and Gretel" is banned? We allow the Ku Klux Klan to hold rallies due to the First Amendment, but I couldn't read "Catch-22" in high school. The KKK and the book banning activists should all check on hotel space in Canada.

9. Road Construction – Dirt roads. That is what we need. Face it, you won't see new construction on it every two weeks, and they are a lot more fun to drive on. Downside? The rainy season would cost me a fortune in car-wash bills.



10. World Hunger – My roommates and I have the world's largest collection of ramen noodles, they only cost ten cents each. If any starving children notify me, I would gladly send them a crate.

11. Campus Parking – I have no idea whatsoever. The future looks bleak for this one. How about a gigantic underground-parking garage beneath campus?

Michael Neff is a sophomore in English. You can e-mail him at man5976@ksu.edu.

Stealth stuns student; driver gives admirer a reality check

VIEWPOINT

JAKE PALENSKE

Earlier this week, I made the mistake of admiring someone's car.

As I was sitting at an intersection, a gorgeous Dodge Stealth pulled up next to me. I have always liked these cars and turned my head to admire the particularly nice example that was sitting beside me.

As I was admiring how shiny the chrome wheels were, the passenger-side window of the car rolled down, and the driver yelled something at me.

"What the @% are you lookin' at?"

I was stunned.

I had just been verbally assaulted for admiring a car, which was built solely for the purpose of being stared at.

As I drove away, I began thinking about what had just happened, and it really bothered me.

I have come to the realization today's society forces people to be unfriendly and distant. This same society now seems to take offense tatsomething as small as looking at someone, even if it is only for a split second.

There have been instances of people being shot because they look at someone wrong.

This has to be the dumbest, most juvenile mentality ever adopted by Americans.

When I was growing up, I was taught by my parents to stand up straight, look ahead and pay attention to the people around me. In order to pay attention, you have to look at them. I was always told that people who slouched and looked at the floor were anti-social.

If I were to follow the advice of my parents today, I could run the risk of being cursed at, beaten up or even shot at simply for acknowledging someone's presence.

Not everyone in America has bought into this ideology.

Mark McGwire didn't try to beat up everyone at Busch Stadium when he hit the record-breaking home run Tuesday night. Cindy Crawford doesn't verbally assault everyone who looks at her when she is out in public, and if President Clinton had everyone shot who "looked" at him, there would be a lot of dead interns at the White House.

I am looking forward to the day when I can be social with people, even strangers, without having to worry about offending them. I could greet people on campus who look familiar without them thinking I was being disrespectful. If I saw a familiar face in the mall, I could say hello without risking being shot.

So, if you see someone at an intersection looking at you, try this. Roll down your window and smile. Try asking if you can help them with something. If they start making comments about how ugly your mother is or how your sister is a whore, then you can get mad. But, chances are good they are either staring off into space or admiring your car.

Jacob Palenske is a sophomore in mass communications. You can e-mail him at jep6245@ksu.edu.

READERS WRITE

Alumnus says students should support all sports

Editor,

I am responding to a letter and a column in the Sept. 4 Collegian. My comments are directed primarily toward two individuals who would gain more by opening a book instead of their mouths.

First off, the combo-ticket plan is not a way to "trick" or "force" students into buying football tickets. Anyone who buys combo tickets has priority over football-only ticket purchasers. This process applies to alumni, faculty, community members and students.

Secondly, nobody "deserves" season tickets. You either support K-State athletics, or you don't.

It takes a lot of money to develop and maintain a successful football program. You should be grateful that the Department of Intercollegiate Athletics allocates tickets to students at a substantially discounted rate. Do you realize that season tickets for non-students cost a minimum of $322 for combo tickets, compared to the student price of $160? Students also receive priority seating compared to the general public. The student-athletic department agreement calls for only 7500 student seats, but students are allowed more than 9000. You couldn't ask for better treatment. Here's a thought: if students wanted more seats, maybe the student body should have voted to help fund the stadium expansion last year.

A devoted K-State fan would never see it as wasting money on basketball. If you were the devoted fan you speak of in your letter, you would support other teams as well. I think it is pretty ironic that you complain of football tickets when our football team is doing so well. I guess we will see your attitude change when our basketball team makes it to the Sweet Sixteen.

It is unfortunate that not everyone who wanted tickets got them. Tough! So, Katie Praeger, Jake Palenske and everyone else who feels cheated, instead of whining and complaining, try supporting the Cats and get tickets to other events. Pride for your school and your teams comes from the heart, not the price of a ticket.

— Eric Weber
K-State alumnus

Reader applauds columnist's reflections on homosexuality

Editor,

I would like to express my appreciation to Mary VanLeeuwen for her thoughtful editorial on homophobia. As a member of the Bisexual, Gay and Lesbian Society panels, I can say it is exactly that type of thoughtful reflection we try to trigger in our fellow students.

BGLS does these panels every semester for any interested class or student group. When I began doing them several years ago, we would do four or five a semester. However, this is a subject more and more faculty and staff feel deserves open communication and education, and for that, we are grateful.

In the past couple of semesters, we've done more than 30 panels, speaking at classes, residence halls and church groups. We try to cover many different issues concerning non-heterosexual life, and we tailor each presentation to the needs of each particular group. Anyone who is interested in scheduling a BGLS panel for their group just needs to e-mail bgls@ksu.edu.

So, I would like to personally and publicly express my appreciation not only to VanLeeuwen, but also to all the faculty and staff who provide the opportunity for these panels to happen and to all the students who have attended the panels. Even if just one person in each class thinks about things like VanLeeuwen, I consider the panel a success.

— Paul Donovan,
graduate student in student affairs

Sackett off-base in column about Clinton, reader says

Editor,

I am glad Sam Sackett's god is in the business of "removing" people from his presence. I've never found any reference in Christian texts that his god thought of that as one of his job descriptions. You know, Sam, I wonder whether it is a bigger crime for the president to have a private life or for you to abuse what I believe you feel is your contract with your god, whom you believe is in the business of "removing" people from your righteous presence.

— Jared K. Becker
junior in English

Communication survey lacks correct grammar

Editor,

Here's a small quiz:

1. Are the following expressions statements? "Speaks too rapidly." "Expresses ideas and thoughts clearly." "Understands student questions or comments." "Uses too advanced a vocabulary."
2. Is the following a grammatically felicitous phrase employing the indefinite article in the correct position for greatest clarity? "Uses too advanced a vocabulary."
3. Is the expression "communicative skills" an appropriate substitute for "communication skills?"
4. Are the following expressions questions? "I have attended class regularly." "I made a good effort to be attentive in this class."

If you answered "no" to each of the above, you were right.

You are probably also among those embarrassed by a recent survey of graduate students conducted at K-State to determine if their communication skills are adequate to the task of teaching in a large university. The survey form I refer to contains each of the above mistakes in grammar or in meaning.

Let us be clear. K-State used a survey "instrument" that is itself replete with grammatical solecisms in order to make a determination about the language and communication skills of its graduate teaching assistants. Hmm…

A little beyond the half-way point, the survey asks the students to respond candidly to the remaining questions. Here, the survey implies those surveyed might not have been responding candidly so far. Feel insulted yet? Just wait.

We come to survey question 10: "I answered the previous nine questions as fairly as I could." Presumably, we want to know if you were lying on the first nine questions, answering out of prejudice or responding out of some bizarre or questionable mental state.

What are you going to say, "Yes?" Don't make me laugh.

It gets worse. The graduate students whose skills are being rated are insulted even more directly by question 13: "The instructor's lack of communicative [sic] skills is seriously hampering my learning in this course." OK, suppose you answer "yes" to this one; that's pretty straightforward.

As one colleague has pointed out to me, in a courtroom, that question would have been disallowed, because it leads the witness. Some measure of how prejudicial the question is in its present form, he said, can be gained by imagining the question re-written to present a corresponding positive version. It would go like this: "The instructor's abundance of communication skills enhances my learning in this course."

Now, if you were to "strongly disagree" with this, it would mean you were lazy, dull or stupid. (We would never phrase a question that way, would we?)

Incorrect grammar and other lacks in communication skills can even undermine intended meaning. So if we are going to presume to judge whether someone else's communication skills are adequate, ours had better be.

— James R. Hamilton, head of the Department of Philosophy

Religion Directory

Your Church Could Be Here

Contact Stephanie or David at 532-6560

Manhattan Mennonite Church
Sunday School 9:30 a.m., Worship 10:45 a.m.
Richard & Barbara Gehring, Co-Pastors
10th and Fremont 539-4079
Welcome Students and Staff!

FIRST LUTHERAN
10th Poyntz 537-8532
Worship
Sat. 5:30 p.m., Sun. 8:30 & 11 a.m.
Sunday School all ages 9:40 a.m.

St. Francis Canterbury Episcopal Church
Eucharist & Guitar in Danforth Chapel Every Sunday at 5 p.m.
Rev. Cathy Chittenden-Bascom
532-9099
Part of world wide Anglican Communion

LIVING WATER RANCH CHURCH
An Affiliate of RHEMA Bible Church aka Kenneth Hagan Ministries
SUNDAY
Sunday Broadcast 9:05 am on 95.3 FM
School of the Bible 9:30 am
Worship Service 10:30 a.m.
Worship Service 7p.m.
Wednesday Service 7:30p.m.
STERLING HUDGINS-PASTOR
Located 12 miles north of Tuttle Creek Dam, turn off Hwy. 13 at the sign.
4150 LIVING WATER DR. OLSBURG, KS 66520
(785)468-3615

ECM Campus Center
1021 Denison
539-4281
Sunday Supper/Fellowship
5:30 p.m.
Bible Study Thursday 8 p.m.
Worship
Community Service
David Jones
Campus Pastor
ecm@ksu.edu

FIRST UNITED METHODIST CHURCH
612 Poyntz • 776-8821
Worship 8:30 & 11 a.m.
Church School all ages 9:45 a.m.
Nursery-Elevator
Pastors: Jim Reed, Frank Pritz fumc@flinthills.com
www.flinthills.com/~fumc

Manhattan Christian Fellowship Church
Pastor Darryl R. Martin
All Faiths Chapel
Kansas State University
Worship service: Sunday, 11 a.m.
Sunday school: Sunday, 9 a.m.
539-2214
SPONSORED BY:
Multicultural Student Organizations

Students, Faculty & Staff:
Please join us for our FREE Ice Cream Social!
Sunday, Sept. 13
Keats Park at 4p.m.
Sunday School • 9:30
Worship • 10:45
College Avenue United Methodist Church
1609 College Avenue
539-4191

First Baptist Church
Sunday Worship 11 a.m.
Church School 9:45 a.m.
For free transportation within city limits, call the church.
Pastors Karen & Alan Selig
2121 Blue Hills Rd.
539-8691
An American Baptist Congregation

Grace Baptist Church
2901 Dickens - 2 blks. E. of Seth Child)
Sunday ◆
Morning Worship
8:15 & 10:45 a.m.
Bible Classes For All Ages 9:30 a.m.
Body Life or Care Cells 6 p.m.
776-0424

Manhattan FRIENDS Meeting
1509 Wreath Ave.
(Manhattan Jewish Congregation)
Silent Meeting for Worship & Meditation
Sundays 7-8 p.m.
Discussion following.
539-3733 or 539-2636

FIRST CHRISTIAN CHURCH (Disciples of Christ)
5th & Humboldt
776-8790
Sunday
8:30 a.m. - Contemporary Worship
9:45 a.m. - College/Young Adult Bible Class
10:55 a.m. - Traditional Worship
11:30 a.m. - Live Broadcast 95.3 FM
Wednesday
5:30 p.m. - Pizza and Bible Study

WESTVIEW COMMUNITY CHURCH
Contemporary Morning Worship
8:30 & 10:45 a.m.
Sunday school 9:45 a.m.
College Career Classes Offered
Wed. Evening Activities @ 7p.m.
Sunday Evening Worship 6 p.m.
One Sunday a month (as announced)
CARE CELLS (Home Groups)
6 p.m., Other Sunday evenings
www.networksplus.com/westview
3001 Ft. Riley Blvd. 537-7173

The Assembly
Manhattan's First Assembly of God
2310 Candlewood
537-7633
Sunday School 9:30 a.m.
College Sunday School Class 9:30 a.m.
Hispanic Sunday Service at 2 p.m.
Worship Service 10:30 a.m.
Evening Praise 6 p.m.
Prayer Meeting 7 p.m.
- Youth Group
-Royal Rangers
- Missionettes
Nursery Provided For All Services

Sunday Evening Worship Service for KSU Students

First Presbyterian Church
8th and Leavenworth
Great music, stimulating message!

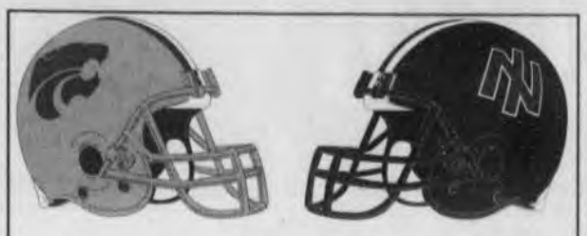
Directions from the old football field:
East on Anderson to 11th street, turn right.
Go to Leavenworth and turn left.
Church on corner of 8th and Leavenworth.

Christ Evangelical Lutheran Church
Missouri Synod
776-2227
9 a.m. Sunday School & Bible Class
10:30 a.m. Divine Worship
KSU - DANFORTH CHAPEL

First Presbyterian Church
Sunday Schedule
8:30 a.m.
Contemporary Worship
9:15 a.m.
Sunday School for all ages
10:30 a.m.
Traditional Worship
7:30 p.m.
Special Service for College Students
801 Leavenworth St. (785) 537-0518

Lutheran Campus Ministry
at Luther House 1745 Anderson
Easter Evening Worship
6pm @ Danforth Chapel
www.ksu.edu/lcm-elca
Pastor Jayne Thompson
(pastorj@ksu.edu) 539-4451
— Open to All —

First Congregational Church
700 Poyntz (Poyntz and Juliette) 537-7006
Sunday School and Adult Ed. Class at 9:30 a.m.
Worship at 10:45 a.m.
Sunday, Sept. 7th
Rev. Donald Longbottom



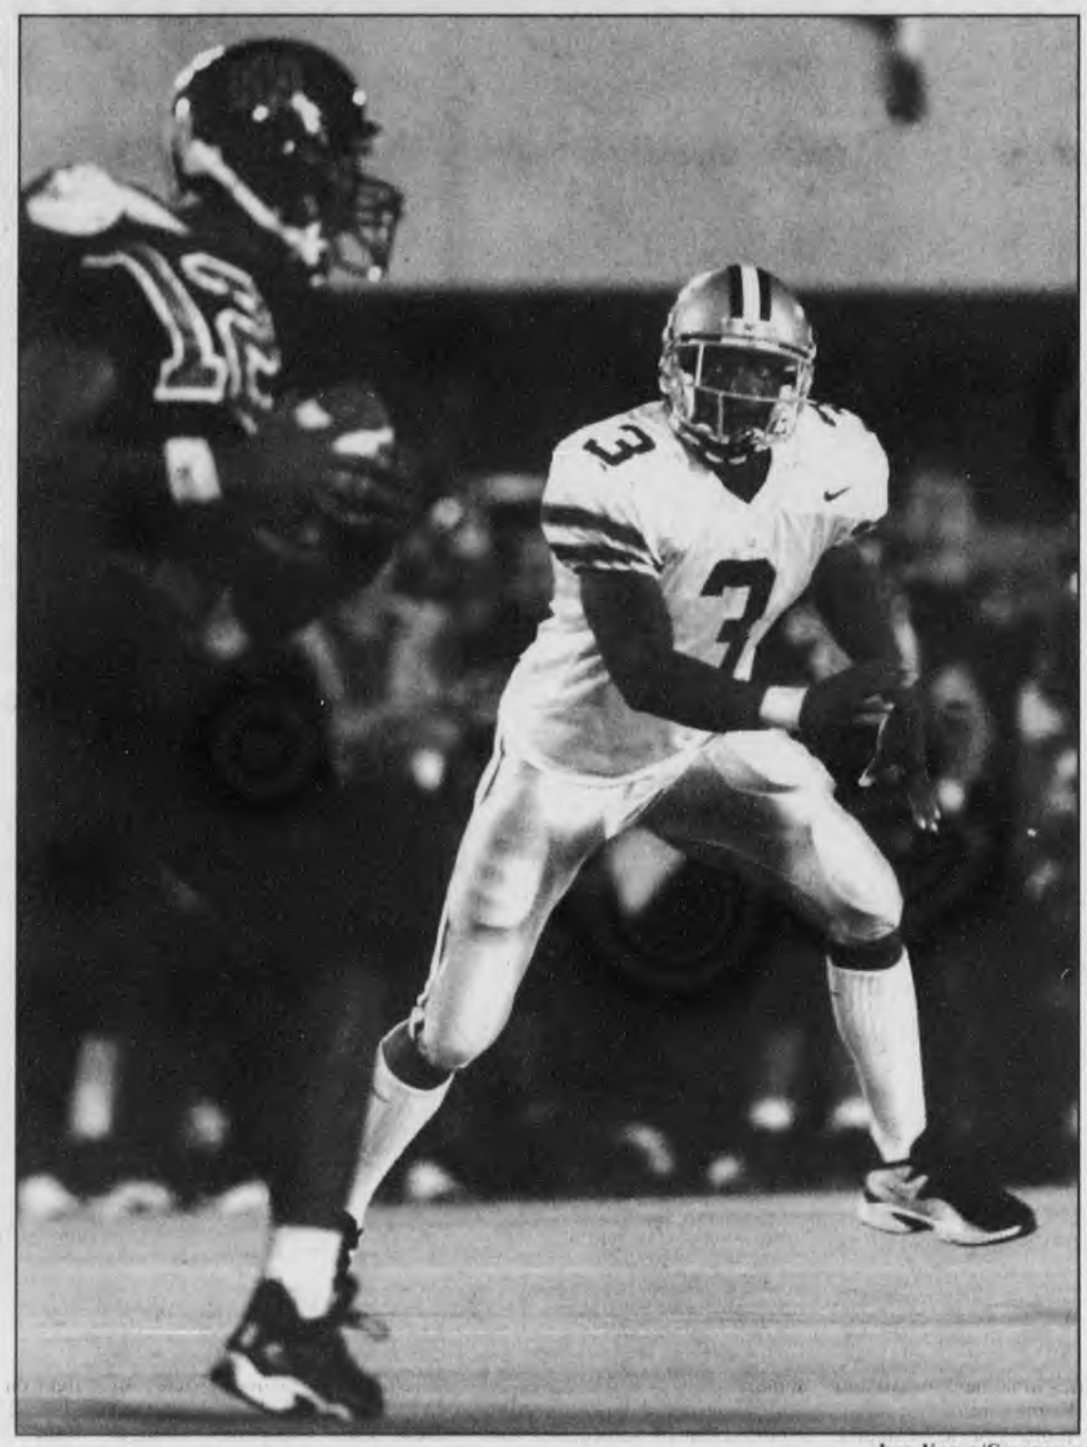
St. Isidore's Catholic Student Center
MASS SCHEDULE
Tuesday-Thursday 10:00 p.m.
Friday 12:10 p.m.
Saturday 5 p.m.
Sunday 9:30 a.m., 11 a.m.
Sun. 4:30 p.m., 6 p.m.
Father Keith Weber, Chaplain
711 Denison 539-7496

LONG JOHN SILVER'S
GRAB & GO SANDWICHES
(FISH OR CHICKEN)
99¢
GO CATS!
721 N. 3rd Street at Tuttle Creek Blvd., Manhattan

WITH COUPON
ADD 3 SHRIMP 99¢
$3.99
Fish & More® Combo
2-Piece Batter-Dipped Fish, Crispy Fries,™ Slaw, 2 Hushpuppies and Medium Drink
Expires: 10/11/98. Good at participating locations. Not valid with any other discount. Sales tax not included.

WITH COUPON
$2.99
LJS Sampler
1-Piece Batter-Dipped Fish, 1-Piece Batter-Dipped Chicken, 3-Piece Batter-Dipped Shrimp, Crispy Fries,™ Slaw, and 2 Hushpuppies
Expires: 10/11/98. Good at participating locations. Not valid with any other discount. Sales tax not included.

WITH COUPON
$9.99
Meal Deal-Feeds 4
Choose One: 8 Pc. Batter-Dipped Fish or 10-Pc. Batter-Dipped Chicken or 5-Pc. Batter-Dipped Chicken & 4-Pc. Batter-Dipped Fish Includes Family Size Crispy Fries,™ Cole Slaw and 8 Hushpuppies
Expires: 10/11/98. Good at participating locations. Not valid with any other discount. Sales tax not included.



Last 25 games: KSU: 21-4; NIU: 1-25
The last time: KSU 41, NIU 7
The last 2 meetings: KSU 91, NIU 7
Last week:
KSU 66-0 vs. Indiana State W;
NIU 23-37 vs. W. Michigan L
The line: KSU by 49
NIU's last win vs. KSU: 1990, 42-35

MAC Attack

Cats ready for improved Huskies team story by sam felsenfeld

IVAN KOZAR/COLLEGIAN

K-State defensive back Cephus Scott (3) attempts to run down the Northern Illinois quarterback during last year's game in Dekalb, Ill. K-State won the game 47-7.

Same story, different week.

K-State's football team takes on an opponent Saturday that it should beat rather easily.

Last time, it was Indiana State. This time, it's Northern Illinois.

Last week, the Wildcats won 66-0. This time, they're favored by 49 points.

Just like last week, though, K-State's coaches and players say they have concerns.

Last week, the Cats were worried about the Sycamores' triple-option attack. After all, Ohio ran the same wishbone-type system and came within three points of beating heavily favored K-State.

When the game finally rolled around, though, K-State gave up only one first down before Indiana State's final drive and that came via a face-mask penalty.

So what is this week's concern? Apparently, Northern Illinois has taken tremendous strides since it fell 47-7 to the Cats in last year's season-opener for both teams.

"I think they're much better. I wouldn't anticipate it would be the same type of game that it was last year," K-State coach Bill Snyder said. "They play very solid football, very sound football. They've vastly improved their defense, and I think their offense is expanded a little bit and has become a more productive offense as well."

However, while Snyder talks about the Huskies' improvement, the numbers speak otherwise. Last week, against Western Michigan, that improved defense gave up 37 points and 502 yards in total offense.

Husky quarterback Frisman Jackson did complete 24 of 43 passes for 271 yards and three touchdowns, an improvement from his four-of-10 for 67 yards and one score against the Cats last year. However, he also threw two interceptions, and the Western Michigan secondary wasn't as tough on his receivers as K-State's likely will be.

Still, Cat defenders won't take the Huskies lightly.

"Shoulda, coulda, woulda — that doesn't mean anything. They have a tough team. They have a great quarterback. Last year, he was a freshman — this year he looks 10 times better than he did last year," K-State linebacker Jeff Kelly said. "They're a lot better than last year. The game's not going to be like last year. It's going to be a lot harder."

It's tough to determine where, though. Western Michigan completed 63 percent of its passes. The Huskies allowed 23 first downs and 6.8 yards per play. Northern Illinois managed only 65 yards on the ground. The Huskies also have 19 consecutive losses and have been outscored 91-7 in their last two meetings with the Cats.

In the 1997 game, K-State's starters jumped out to a 42-7 halftime lead before giving way to the reserves. Despite those results and the 502 yards given up by the Huskies last week, the Cats say they're in for a good fight.

"They're much better on defense than they were last year. They seem to have a much faster, stronger defense this year," K-State wide receiver Everett Burnett said. "They have a nice amount of athletes, and we're looking for a nice, good competition this week."

While Snyder tells his players of Northern Illinois' improvement, he also said he's truthful when he tells them just how much the Huskies have improved.

"We've been very honest with our players. We're forthright with them, and so consequently, if it's going to be an extremely hard ballgame, we'll say so," Snyder said.

"If we're in an underdog role, we're gonna say so. Based on our perception of it, if it's a ballgame like this last week, which we thought we should handily win, we'll say so."

So what did Snyder tell the players?

"He's told us that we should beat them, and if we don't, it's going to be embarrassing to us," punt returner/running back David Allen said.

Volleyball team set for tough opponents in Florida stories by Brent Stover

The K-State volleyball team will sharpen its pencils and take its first true test of the season this weekend.

K-State will travel to Gainesville, Fla., for the SunTrust Volleyball Invitational, where the team will play three matches in two days.

"We're getting into a part of the schedule where we're going to get tested," Coach Jim McLaughlin said, "and now we get to see how we play under a little bit of pressure."

The Cats will open the tournament at 8 tonight against Pittsburgh University.

The Panthers return all six of their starters from a team that finished fifth in the Big East Conference last season.

"They like to set certain hitters in certain situations," McLaughlin said. "If we know those situations ahead of time, we can stop them."

Saturday, the competition for the Cats steps up another couple of notches. At noon, K-State will battle the Northwestern Wildcats.

Like Pittsburgh, the Northwestern team returns all of its starters. Though it finished just 4-16 in the Big 10 last year, McLaughlin said he expects Northwestern to be much improved.

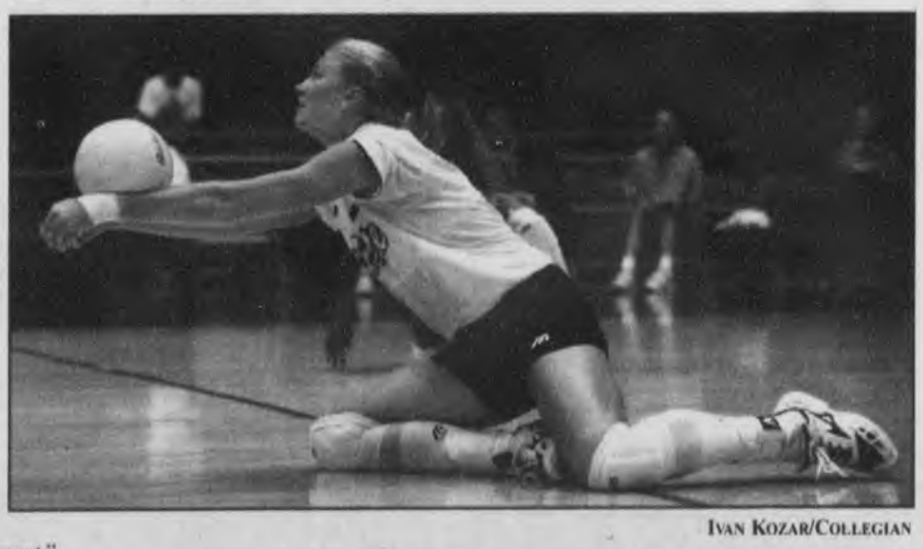
"They're going to keep the ball in play," McLaughlin said. "We're going to keep seeing the ball coming back, and we just need to stay aggressive and keep hitting the ball back at them."

At 4 p.m. Saturday, the Cats will play one of the toughest opponents they'll see all season when they meet the host team, Florida.

The Gators finished 34-4 last year, went undefeated in Southeastern Conference play and made it all the way to the NCAA Final Four.

This season, Florida is off to a 2-1 start, after an upset loss to Ohio State in the first match of the Hawaiian Airlines Wahine Classic last weekend.

Even with wins over UCLA and Hawaii to close out the tournament, the Gators dropped from sixth to 11th in the latest national rankings.



Florida is led by right-side hitter Jenny Manz. The junior recorded 35 kills in the Hawaii match, tying a single-season school record.

The preseason All-American now has 73 kills in three matches and is hitting at a .406 clip for the season.

"They've just got major weapons," McLaughlin said. "We get to play them at their place in the feature match, so we're on TV, and it's going to be a great environment."

This weekend provides K-State with a tune-up for Big 12 play, which is just two weeks away.

"We find out where we are right now, and where we need to go," McLaughlin said.

IVAN KOZAR/COLLEGIAN

Heather Lindell bumps the volleyball during a game against Texas Christian University last year in Ahearn Field House. The K-State volleyball team travels to Florida this week for three matches.

Junior volleyball player starts season off on the wrong foot; surgery leaves Luther in pain

Sometimes in sports, a good athlete gets dealt a bad hand.

Sometimes that athlete has no choice but to work through the pain.

This is the case for Wildcat volleyball player Linsey Luther.

Heading into this season, the junior from Grand Island, Neb., was expected to be the heir-apparent to K-State's all-time assists leader, Devon Ryning, at the setter position.

However, because of off-season foot surgery gone bad, Luther has been relegated to a back-up role.

"It's frustrating, because I've worked really hard on improving the quickness of my feet and my location of sets," Luther said. "But as an athlete, I have to continually keep positive."

LUTHER

The problem started last winter when Luther began experiencing pain in her feet due to warts.

The pain became worse and worse until she finally decided to have the warts removed through laser surgery in the middle of March.

At the time, Luther was told by doctors that the surgery would correct the problem and she would be back on the volleyball court within two weeks.

Little did she know that five months later, the symptom would not be corrected, and she would continue to fight pain in her feet.

"We were told ten days, and she would be back on her training," Wildcat coach Jim McLaughlin said. "Now, it's been months, and they're still not better.

"It's not life threatening, but it is painful, and the pain is in her feet. The feet are the most important part of setting."

Because of the pain, Luther was forced to sit out the summer of training before what was supposed to be

■ See FLORIDA on PAGE 8

Columnist and pal divulge thoughts on college football

If I would have caught it, I would have sold it. Say what you want about being a good guy or morally sound — I think Mark McGwire is wonderful for America, and I also think $1 million would be even more wonderful for my future.

That's a whole lot of money — more than Michael Jordan makes in two games!

Anyway, back to the mission at hand. I'm still trying to prove that I know a little something about football. I've made some pretty embarrassing mistakes covering the game, so this semester I'm trying to prove that I'm worthy of spouting off an opinion about the sport.

I'm picking games against the spread, going head-to-head against a guest challenger. If I wind up with a better overall record than my guest pickers at the end of the season, I think I'll be redeemed for the boneheaded mistakes I've made. If not, I'll buy a yet-to-be-determined prize for the contestant who beats me by the largest margin and then I'll just go away.

Actually, I'm finally graduating after 6 1/2 years of college, so I'll go away whether I win or lose. Through one week of this, I'm 7-3. My guest picker went 6-4.

This week's guest picker is Brian Smoller. Brian is the unofficial radio guy of the K-State student body. He had a sports talk show on KSDB-FM 91.9 last semester and invited me on to talk about football because I was the Collegian sports editor. Well, that big microphone and the switchboard full of lights scared the daylights out of me, so now I'm going to try and get him back in the paper by beating him soundly.

If you want to challenge me in a future week, e-mail me or call the Collegian.

Now, without any further buildup, here are this week's games we're picking:

1. Northern Illinois +49 at K-State. K-State's coaches and players all said this year's Northern Illinois team is vastly improved from the one the Cats beat 47-7 last year. I don't care. I've played the Cats against the Huskies several times on Sony PlayStation's NCAA Football '99, and a 50-point win is easy — even without Frank Murphy. My pick: K-State to cover. Guest pick: K-State to cover.

2. Iowa State +28 at Iowa. A Big 12 win in a non-conference game would be great for the Cats. It's not going to happen here, though. It won't even be close. My pick: Iowa to cover. Guest pick: Iowa to cover.

3. Fresno State +21.5 at Colorado. If Colorado can beat Colorado State by 28, the Buffaloes should be able to beat Fresno State by, oh, say 29. Go Big 12. My pick: Colorado to cover. Guest pick: Colorado to cover.

4. Syracuse +10.5 at Michigan. An Orange win here legitimizes K-State's Tostitos Fiesta Bowl win and is horrible for the Big 10. Last Saturday, Michigan proved that Nebraska should have been the undisputed national champion last year. My pick: Syracuse to cover. Guest pick: Syracuse to cover.

5. Kansas +16 at Missouri. Three things are certain in this world: death, taxes and I'll never pick Kansas. My pick: Missouri to cover. Guest pick: Kansas to cover.

6. Texas +10 at UCLA. I grew up in Southern California where you either like USC or UCLA. As for me? Well, I think O.J. is innocent. I'll never pick the Bruins. Talk about a dilemma: UCLA played Kansas in the 1995 Aloha Bowl. I was rooting for a worldwide TV blackout. It didn't happen, though. Chickenhawks rolled. I'd love to see the Longhorns do the same this Saturday. My pick: Texas to cover. Guest pick: Texas to cover.

7. Northeast Louisiana +44 at Florida. Just because Northeast Louisiana is on K-State's schedule doesn't mean it's a horrible team. Heck, it's better than The Citadel, which stayed within 39 of the Gators last weekend. My pick: Northeast Louisiana to cover. Guest pick: Florida to cover.

8. Notre Dame -7 at Michigan State. If the Irish win, rack up another Big 10 non-conference loss. If the Spartans win, what does that say about Notre Dame's blowout win over Michigan last week? Yes, it's a no-win situation for the Big 10. Gotta love it! Might as well root for the Irish to lose. My pick: Michigan State to cover. Guest pick: Notre Dame to cover.

9. Oklahoma State -9 at Tulsa. If the Cowboys can beat Kansas by 10 points, you'd figure they could beat Tulsa by the same. My pick: Oklahoma State to cover. Guest pick: Oklahoma State to cover.

10. Oklahoma -6 at TCU. I hate Oklahoma. I don't care if my hatred costs me a losing pick in this game. My pick: TCU to cover. Guest pick: Oklahoma to cover.

11. Texas Tech -22 at North Texas. Couldn't Indiana State beat North Texas by 22? If Oklahoma can beat North Texas by 28, the Red Raiders should be able to do the same. My pick: Texas Tech to cover. Guest pick: Texas Tech to cover.

12. Louisiana Tech +22.5 at Texas A&M. Tech quarterback Tim Rattay is well on the way to something like 12,000 yards passing this season. I'm not so sure he'll be able to knock off the Aggies, but he'll be able to put some points on the board. My pick: Louisiana Tech to cover. Guest pick: Louisiana Tech to cover.

Large lecture classes provoke friendships

BY LAUREN POSLADEK
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Lecture classes can be scary.

Most K-State students know how it feels to walk into a room with 200 people on the first day of class.

Everyone handles it differently. For some it's an opportunity to voice their ideas to a large audience. Others find a few buddies from high school and stick together.

For the majority of students, however, the size of lecture classes is intimidating. They find it hard to meet people in a room packed with strangers.

Judy Lynch, director of the KSU Academic Assistance Center, said many friendships can be formed in classroom settings, even in lecture halls.

Lynch gave four suggestions to forming lecture-class friends:

■ Go to class every day and go early. The best time to visit is before class begins, because no one is in a hurry to go anywhere.

■ Switch seats. Give yourself a chance to see new faces and for others to see you by moving around.

■ Initiate discussion about the lecture. Everyone in the room has one thing in common: the class you are taking. Use that as a conversation starter.

■ Form study groups. Smaller settings help you know both the people in your class and the material better.

Lynch said that breaking the ice with another student often is difficult.

"It's a risk, but it's well worth the trouble to try," Lynch said.

Several students had tips as well.

Jill Strandmark, sophomore in elementary education, said the recitations for her lecture classes make it easier to get to know people.

"Recitations are smaller, so it's easier to talk to people. I find people in my recitations to be in my study groups, and I usually end up seeing them during the lectures too," Strandmark said.

Teachers also can help students by making them introduce themselves to others around them.

"In my engineering class, our professor made us get phone numbers from at least three people. It made it easier for me to say hi to them later, and it was a good pick-up line for the guys in my class," Lindsay Bose, sophomore in architectural engineering, said.

STEVE DEARINGER/KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

AFTERNOON SLEEPER

Mark Neely, sophomore in park resource management, grabs some shut-eye outside Kedzie Hall before his Fundamentals of Public Relations class Thursday afternoon.

Scientists, ethicists question morality of sperm segregation procedure

■ OUR OPINION
The Collegian Editorial Board urges caution with this new technology. Get the opinion of the board on page 4.

BY DALE HOPPER
THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

FAIRFAX, Va. — Monique Collins really wanted a baby girl.

The 33-year-old mother hoped her third child would turn out to be a little sister for her two bouncing baby sons.

Collins didn't just wait around for the inevitable.

She went to a group of fertility researchers who say they have found a way to segregate sperm cells that produce boys from those that produce girls.

The result was little Jessica Collins, who just turned 2.

"That's what technology is here for today, so we can make these choices," Collins said. "It just goes to show how much she's loved, that mommy and daddy went to a lot of effort to have her."

Some scientists and ethicists said they are unconvinced and worried about the moral and medical implications of fiddling with the practice of artificial insemination.

The Rev. Philip Keane, a medical ethics specialist at St. Mary's Seminary in Baltimore, said using technology to choose the gender of a child without a medical reason is immoral.

"More and more, we're beginning to construe our children as products to be planned rather than as mysteries to be held in awe and wonder," Keane said.

"The more you technologize the process, the more you lose the radical and mysterious dignity of the child," he said.

The debate stems from a study in the September issue of the journal Human Reproduction, which reported that researchers have found a technique to separate sperm cells that carry the Y chromosome, which produces males from those carrying the female-producing X chromosome.

Researchers were able to produce samples in which 85 percent of the sperm cells had an X chromosome.

If they targeted Y-bearing sperm, the result reportedly was a sperm sample in which 65 percent of the cells contained a Y chromosome.

In human trials, the institute reported that 29 women who wanted to have girls became pregnant. So far, nine of those women have given birth to 11 healthy baby girls, including two sets of twins, the institute said. The oldest girl is 2 1/2 years old.

Seven of the women had miscarriages, and one of the women, still pregnant, is carrying a boy, Dr. Edward Fugger, the lead researcher, said.

Results of a study of couples wanting boys were not as successful. Exact results will be released later.

The results of the human trials, which included Collins were met with skepticism by some scientists, who said the data from the Fairfax institute was not conclusive.

Dr. Jamie Grifo, director of reproductive endocrinology at New York University Medical School, said she is apprehensive about the way the institute is using the sperm-sorting method.

Grifo, who has been using a different technique since 1992 to determine the gender of an embryo, said NYU applies the technology only to prevent gender-based diseases such as hemophilia and Duchenne muscular dystrophy, which afflict only males.

"They're doing very important research, but it's a matter of what they're using it for that worries me," Grifo said. "I don't think we should be doing sex selection," Grifo said.

The technique involves staining sperm cells' DNA with a fluorescent dye and then shining laser light on the cells to make the dye glow. The amount of fluorescent light produced indicates the amount of DNA present in each cell.

Ychromosome sperm cells contain about 2.8 percent less genetic material.

Fugger was unapologetic about giving families the option of choosing their child's gender.

"It tends to balance sex ratios in families," Fugger said. "There shouldn't be an ethical issue with skewing ratios or anything like that."

Still, Dr. Robert Stillman, medical director of Shady Grove Fertility Centers, in Washington, D.C., said the institute's research sample is too small to declare success.

"It's really a series of anecdotes," said Stillman, a board member of the American Society for Reproductive Medicine.

"A bigger study might put this in the wastebasket where many other attempts at sex selection have gone."

See what a nickel will buy you at 5¢ Claflin Books and Copies
1804 Claflin Road 776-3771

Pregnancy Testing Center
539-3338
•Free pregnancy testing
•Totally confidential service
•Same day results
•Call for appointment
Located across from campus in Anderson Village
Mon.-Fri. 9 a.m.-5 p.m.

SORORITY SALE!
1807 Todd Road, across from Throckmorton
TODAY! 3:30-?
Furniture...clothing... odds & ends....

PIZZA SHUTTLE DELIVERS
776-5577
1800 Claflin Road

THE PURPLE PIG
EST. 1886
The Purple Pig
Manhattan's Beer Tavern
Flying Monkey Microbrew on tap
Also Gambino's by the slice Saturday Game Days!
539-7444
424 Houston St. - Downtown
OPEN 4 P.M. TILL MIDNIGHT, MON.-SAT.

K-State Student Union Bookstore
Get a Taste of Wildcat Country!
Exclusive Taste Sampling
Saturday, Sept. 12 from 9:30am-10:30am.
OPEN GAME DAYS from 9 to 7
"The Official KSU Bookstore"
WILDCAT CHIPS & SALSA & a variety of WILDCAT JELLIES
Call 1-800-KSU-CATS to receive a 98-99 Purple Possessions Catalog
Great Game Day Specials!
Coupon Offer Valid Fri.-Sun. of every HOME Game Weekend Except Family Weekend.
Wildcat Weekend $5 OFF every purchase of reg. priced clothing and memorabilia totaling $25.00 - $49.99
Wildcat Weekend $10 OFF every purchase of reg. priced clothing and memorabilia totaling $50.00-$74.99
Wildcat Weekend $15 OFF every purchase of reg. priced clothing and memorabilia totaling $75.00 - $100.00 or more

Don't Forget Today is the...
Last Day for Textbook Returns
&
Last Day to use your ECAP Account!
We are OPEN until 6:00pm on Friday!
K-State Student Union Bookstore
"The Official KSU Bookstore" 532-6583
http://union.ksun.ksu.edu/bookstor/main.htm

Non-residential development approved

RUSSELL FORTMEYER
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Non-residential development along Kansas Highway 18 got a nod of approval Thursday night from the Manhattan Urban Area Planning Board.

The board passed 5-0 the rezoning of 12.9 acres of the Miller Ranch development from what was zoned both as a residential-planned unit development, or PUD, and a general agricultural unit to the new designation of I-5, or a business park district. The acreage lies at the corner of Fort Riley Boulevard and Miller Parkway.

Kert Rabe, developer of the 800-acre Miller Ranch, said the original plan of building houses on the acreage is not economically viable. He said he hoped either to sell the land so others can build or to build ranch-style office buildings himself, with pitched roofs and walk-out basements. He said the buildings would range in size from 10,000 to 20,000 square feet.

Brad Fenwick, board member, said he was apprehensive about rezoning to I-5 instead of keeping the land zoned PUD, which allows the board to oversee issues like building-site placement and certain aesthetic considerations.

The I-5 designation removes the board from involvement in anything other than zoning. A PUD requires a developer to approach the board with a development design for approval. If the board does not pass the design proposal, the developer then would have to redesign the project to meet the board's approval.

While both board members and residents expressed concern over an increase in traffic at the intersection of Fort Riley Boulevard and Miller Parkway, one Miller Ranch resident spoke out against the rezoning.

Mark Kinnaman, who is one of two residents in finished homes in the Miller development, said he moved to Miller Ranch because of the natural beauty surrounding it.

"I'm concerned this new development will affect the appeal of Miller Ranch and the value of my home," Kinnaman said. "There are not people clamoring for homes in Miller Ranch."

Kinnaman said he also would like to see a traffic light at the intersection of Fort Riley Boulevard and Miller Parkway.

After further explanation from Rabe, board members closed the public hearing on the issue and moved toward discussion.

Carol Peak, board member, said she was initially apprehensive about making changes to what is a prominent entrance to the city and indicated she saw the rezoning as a possible transition zone between residential and further commercial developments west on state Highway 18.

"For the record, I would like to say that I'm opposed to any kind of further commercial development down the way," Peak said.

Developer Russell Johnson, of Junction City, has recently revealed he plans to build a large retail center north of state Highway 18 on 100 acres near the Eureka Valley Schoolhouse. This lies just down the hill west from Rabe's proposed business park.

Toward the close of discussion, board member Mike Hill said he would like to see some attempt to revise the PUD process or offer a similar alternative.

"The PUD process is such a nightmare, and a lot of developers don't want to do that," Hill said.

Signs of change on Seth Childs

The days of sky-high pole signs advertising businesses along Seth Childs Road may be numbered.

At Thursday night's Manhattan Urban Area Planning Board meeting, members voted against a plan by the owner of Mead Lumber Do It Center to install a 45-foot pole sign in front of its store. The board did pass, however, Mead's request to expand the retail store and modify parking and landscaping.

Since the store is in a planned-unit development, or PUD, board members can hold the proposed project to their demands. If the store were on commercially-zoned land, the board would have to follow sign requirements.

Brad Fenwick, board member, said he wasn't concerned the lack of a pole sign would hurt business.

"There are a whole lot of pole signs there, and I would say regrettably," Fenwick said, addressing the board and the audience, which included two representatives from the Nebraska-based Mead Lumber Company.

"Sometimes you have to change course," Fenwick said. "Go without a pole sign. If in time it becomes evident that it won't work for business, come back and present a better case."

LUTHER

■ continued from page 6

most important season of her volleyball career.

She was unable to challenge freshman Disney Bronnenberg for the setter position, a spot where one player normally wins the job and rarely sits out during the course of a match.

"The number one thing a setter has to do is run the offense, allow us to play at our highest level and organize the floor," McLaughlin said.

"SHE'S ONE OF THE TOUGHEST PEOPLE I'VE EVER COACHED. SHE'S A BIG-TIME PERSON."

— JIM MCLAUGHLIN K-STATE VOLLEYBALL COACH

A week and a half into preseason, Luther sat down with the coach to discuss her situation.

She told him that her feet were still quite sore, and that she couldn't do the things that she wanted to do.

McLaughlin was left with no choice but to get Bronnenberg ready to run the Wildcat offense.

"At that point, I had to make up my mind that I wanted the best for the team, so I told him that I'd do anything he needed me to do," Luther said.

Now, instead of being the starting setter, she has taken over the role of helping Bronnenberg in practice.

"I'm a team player, and I want the best for my team, so I work hard every day," Luther said. "In practice, if I wasn't there, there would be nobody on the other side to set."

McLaughlin still hopes that Luther can contribute during game action at some point this season.

"She's one of the toughest people I've ever coached," McLaughlin said. "She's a big-time person."

For now, Luther is simply making the most of her situation.

"I've always just hated not doing my best," Luther said. "Nobody can take that away from me."

Get the scoop on Student Senate.
collegian.ksu.edu

CLINTON

■ continued from page 1

allegations that the president made an unwanted sexual advance in the Oval Office. She was subpoenaed by Jones' lawyers two weeks after Clinton met with Lewinsky.

In the July 14 meeting, about 9:30 p.m., Clinton initiated a discussion with Lewinsky about reaching out to her friend Linda Tripp, to whom Willey had confided the alleged episode, sources familiar with the meeting said.

The two noted that Tripp had been trying to reach presidential confidant Bruce Lindsey for some time to tell him a reporter was inquiring about Willey. Clinton suggested Lewinsky persuade Tripp to get in touch with Lindsey again, and over the next several days, he made several follow-up phone calls to see where matters stood, the sources said.

About the same time, Clinton also acted on a long-standing request by Lewinsky that he help her get a job back at the White House. She had been transferred to the Pentagon in 1996 by aides suspicious of her behavior, and Clinton finally asked presidential-personnel aide Marsha Scott in summer 1997 to see if she could find a job for the former intern, the sources said.

Lewinsky was never brought back to the White House, though.

The White House scoffed at any suggestions that the contacts had anything to do with obstructing justice.

Lewinsky responded eagerly to Clinton's suggestion about reaching out to her friend, and Tripp paged Lindsey on July 29, 1997, the sources said.

Prosecutors have evidence that Lindsey urged Tripp to contact Clinton's lawyer Robert Bennett; a step, they say, Tripp resisted.

Lindsey had another conversation with Tripp, with deputy White House counsel Cheryl Mills present. The White House has surrendered notes taken during the conversation, the sources said.

When Tripp backed out of meeting with Bennett and Willey's allegations became public in August 1997, Bennett attacked Tripp's credibility.

Additional contact occurred between Clinton and Lewinsky during this period as the Jones' case heated up, including a July 24 encounter in which Lewinsky stopped by the White House to give Clinton a present, a rare book, the sources said.

News organizations prepared to publish excerpts or text of the Starr report and fretted that some of the content could be graphic and objectionable.

Indeed, legal sources said that to bolster their belief that Clinton committed perjury during questioning under oath from Paula Jones' attorneys, the Starr report will provide embarrassing allegations of intimate episodes that Lewinsky alleges she engaged in with the president. Clinton said in his Aug. 17 TV address that he had been "legally accurate" in denying "sexual relations" with Lewinsky when questioned under oath by Jones' attorneys.

The sources said the Starr referral includes information obtained from Lewinsky in which she told prosecutors of an episode with the president where they used an unlit cigar during a sex act. The report also will include allegations that the two engaged in oral sex and fondling in the White House, the sources said.

SENATE

■ continued from page 1

K-State is last in the Big 12 and is ranked 42 of 50 of all state institutions in faculty salaries. The new protocol to raise faculty salaries is a potential remedy to allow K-State to catch up to other state institutions.

Regents are seeking ways to persuade the governor and the Kansas Legislature to promote an increase in funding.

"WE ARE GOING TO BE IGNORED BECAUSE THE BOARD SAYS, 'WE'LL TRY OUR BEST.' WE NEED TO STRIVE FOR EXCELLENCE."

— TONY JURICH FAMILY STUDIES PROFESSOR

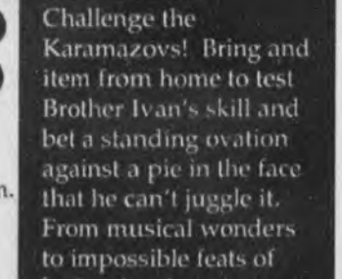
Legg said K-State can overcome the salary deficit in three years. Increasing funding for salaries by four percent for the first and second years of enactment will help attain desired salaries, beginning with those who need it most. During the third year of enactment, the money will be based on which state institution is trailing. K-State is trailing behind the University of Kansas, leaving an opportunity for a 12-percent increase.

Faculty members could be part of the solution rather than contributing to the problem, said Tony Jurich, professor of family studies and human services.

"The main thing here is the problem that we are sitting here talking, seeking to be average," Jurich said. "We are going to be ignored because the board says, 'We'll try our best.' We need to strive for excellence."

Not only is more representation needed by faculty, but an outside force is a possible option as well. K-State and Fort Hays State University both are considering using a labor union to help in their struggles.

"I don't know why we should ever not look into possibilities of representation," said James Dubbis, associate professor of interior architecture. "I think we should seriously consider options."



Want football?

Want more sports coverage than the daily Collegian?

Get all you dare to handle in the Collegian Gameday.

Fridays at a dropoff near you.

Go Cats!

Claflin Books and Copies
25% Off New York Times bestsellers in stock
1814 Claflin Road 776-3771

collegian Explore it!
http://collegian.ksu.edu

Fone Crisis Center
we're all EARS
539-0999

American Legion
BINGO!
Sunday 2 p.m.
Tuesday 1:30 p.m.
Wednesday 7:30 p.m.
$1 per card
Up to $300 Cash Prize on Sunday & Wednesday
114 McCall Rd

New Donors can earn $100 in 4 donations within 2 weeks
You can earn up to $200 in the month of September
CALL FOR AN APPOINTMENT
Nabi Manhattan Biomedical Center
1130 Garden Way • Mon & Thurs 9am-7pm, Tues & Wed 9am-6:30pm, Fri 9am-5pm, Sat 8am-1pm • 776-9177
Earn cash by donating your life-saving plasma

CITY COMMISSION MEETING for the consideration of:
Transportation Enhancement Programs
•Pedestrian/Bicycle Path for N. Manhattan/ Kimball Ave.
•Tuttle Creek Blvd. Beautification Enhancement Program
7 p.m. Tues., Sept. 15, 1998
Fire Station Lecture Hall
2000 Denison Ave.
•The public encouraged to attend•

BACK TO SCHOOL SPECIAL!!
FINANCE A USED CAR AT NEW CAR RATES
1994 Thru 1998
24 Months 6.90% APR
36 Months 7.49% APR
48 Months 7.90% APR
60 Months 8.25% APR
UP TO 100% FINANCING AVAILABLE
SUBJECT TO NORMAL CREDIT POLICIES
NEW LOANS ONLY
DISCOUNTS AVAILABLE
NO ORIGINATION FEES
K-STATE Federal CREDIT UNION
1455 Anderson Ave Manhattan, KS 66502
2700 Anderson Ave Manhattan, KS 66502
785-776-3003
Visit ourWeb Site ksu.edu/creditunion

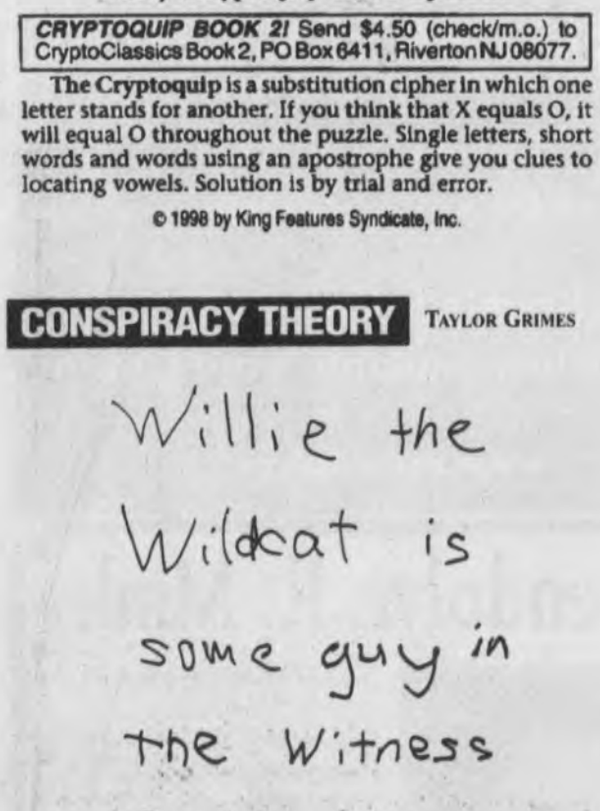
Got a Sweet Tooth?
The Arch Cafe' At the Beach Museum of Art is now
OPEN WEEKENDS SERVING DESSERTS AND BEVERAGES!
Saturdays and Sundays 1-4pm
Get a dessert and beverage for just $1.50
thru 9/30/98
Cream pies, fruit pie, cakes, cookies, mmmm.....
BEACH MUSEUM OF ART

McCain
SHARPS, FLATS & ACCIDENTALS
THE FLYING KARAMAZOV BROTHERS
ORDER YOUR TICKETS TODAY!
Wednesday, September 16, 7:30 p.m.
Public: $20, 16 Seniors: $18, 14
Students/Children: $10, 8
Experience an evening in a mad, comic and musical world, where juggling can be heard and music must be seen to be believed. Challenge the Karamazovs! Bring and item from home to test Brother Ivan's skill and bet a standing ovation against a pie in the face that he can't juggle it. From musical wonders to impossible feats of levity, the show is an irresistible mix of skill and silliness, which once seen, may still prove to be beyond belief.
CALL MCCAIN AT 785-532-6428
You can charge your tickets to VISA, MasterCard, or Discover. Or stop by the box office, noon to 6 p.m. weekdays.
Presented in part by the Kansas Arts Commission, a state agency and the National Endowment for the Arts, a federal agency. Additional funding provided by the Bell Family Endowment for the Performing Arts and the K-State Fine Arts Fee

CROSSWORD

CROSSWORD By Eugene Sheffer

ACROSS
1 — de deux
4 Ran in the wash
8 Return call?
12 Kyoto sash
13 Fad
14 Pound
15 Crested songbirds
17 Incite
18 Prepared to drive
19 X-rated vocabulary
20 More bashful
22 Hair line?
24 Walrus feature
25 Yellowy legumes
29 Yalie
30 Helen's captor
31 Pick up the check
32 Tussaud's place
34 "Wheel of Fortune" option
35 Greek vowel
36 Voters' milieu
37 Con man's associate
40 Helper
41 Blue hue
42 Sandwich wrap
46 Jason's craft
47 Between jobs
48 George's brother
49 Forehead
50 Active one
51 Nosh



DOWN
1 "Wham!"
2 "The — Daba Honeymoon"
3 Route of song
4 Tobacco pipe material
5 Crow's-nest cry
6 Phalarope, formerly
7 — Moines
8 Be a matchmaker?
9 Abrupt
10 Lofty
11 Praiseful pieces
16 Calendar row
19 Spheres
20 Leftovers concoction
21 Shake in the grass?
22 Anorak
23 W.W.II losers
25 Imperfection
26 Treat from Mom's kitchen
27 Apprehend
28 Roget's wds.
30 Combine resources
33 Cricket bat material
34 Pop
36 Hamelin employee
37 Impale
38 Munich mister
39 Othello's foe
40 Wheelbase terminus
42 Peruke
43 Commotion
44 Geologic period
45 Snitch

Solution time: 26 mins.

H	E	R	B		S	O	P		S	C	O	T
A	P	E	R		W	A	R		W	O	U	K
L	I	L	I		E	K	E		I	N	T	O
S	C	Y	T	H	E		T	O	N	S
			T	I	P	P	E	R	G	O	R	E
R	A	V	E	D		L	E	E		L	A	W
E	L	A	N		D	A	N		P	E	R	E
S	A	M		F	E	Z		C	I	D	E	R
T	I	P	P	E	C	A	N	O	E
		I	O	W	A		A	T	R	I	U	M
E	A	R	L		N	A	M		R	O	S	A
T	R	E	K		T	H	E		O	N	E	R
C	A	S	A		S	A	D		T	A	S	K

Yesterday's answer

9-11

STUMPED? For answers to today's crossword, call 1-900-454-6873 | 99¢ per minute, touch-tone / rotary phones. (18+ only.) A King Features service, NYC.

9-11

CRYPTOQUIP

QOP BMDGHYMW GDHVNGQ KVBXSM'Q PIPM WYIP OPH KHPQDOPS GSLYHPH G QBLNXP.

Yesterday's Cryptoquip: NO ONE COULD DENY THAT THE INQUISITIVE CHILD WAS REALLY QUITE A LIVE WHYER.

Today's Cryptoquip clue: L equals M

CRYPTOQUIP BOOK 2! Send $4.50 (check/m.o.) to CryptoClassics Book 2, PO Box 6411, Riverton NJ 08077.

The Cryptoquip is a substitution cipher in which one letter stands for another. If you think that X equals O, it will equal O throughout the puzzle. Single letters, short words and words using an apostrophe give you clues to locating vowels. Solution is by trial and error.

© 1998 by King Features Syndicate, Inc.

CONSPIRACY THEORY

TAYLOR GRIMES

BirdHouse season to kick off Saturday

IVAN KOZAR/KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Ann Hills performs at the Manhattan Center for the Arts last semester as part of the BirdHouse concert series.

Guitarist Paul Reisler to perform at series

BY JENN DAVOREN
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

After a stressful third week of work and classes, the soothing sounds of BirdHouse Productions are here to help the public unwind.

BirdHouse is an organization created to bring a little of the acoustical music scene to Manhattan. The trio of David Kamerer, Steve Martini and Gretchen Holden formed the non-profit organization for people like themselves who love the music but don't want to travel to hear it live.

"To hear this kind of music, you'd normally have to drive to Lawrence," Kamerer said.

Martini, Holden and Kamerer, assistant professor of journalism and mass communications, began making connections with people involved in the acoustic/folk scene in 1995, and BirdHouse was born. Kamerer started booking artists, and he began mailing lists.

After a rocky start with performances in crowded bars and noisy coffee shops, the BirdHouse found a home at the Manhattan Center for the Arts.

"We wanted a place where the audience could sit and listen, rather than eat and drink and yell," said Martini, associate director of Recreational Services. "We wanted to do right by the musician."

BirdHouse's new season begins tomorrow at Grosh Performance Hall in the arts center. Saturday's performance features Paul Reisler, a world famous guitarist and hammered dulcimer player. Reisler's musical group, Trapezoid, has been credited with helping invent the category of new-age music and giving new life to Celtic music.

Joining Reisler for the concert is Alisa Fineman, an alto singer and songwriter from California. Fineman is a former Kerrville New Folk Award winner who has worked with artists in many genres of music.

Tickets for the Reisler show are $8 for students and seniors and $10 for regular admission. Anyone interested in buying season tickets can do so for $32. Students can buy their tickets at the door or at the Dusty Bookshelf in Aggieville.

The next performer slated for the BirdHouse is Christine Lavin. Lavin, who will perform Oct. 10, is known for her mixture of satire and song.

Loveline visit to K-State canceled

BY CORBIN H. CRABLE
KANSAS STATE UNIVERSITY

For those K-State students with burning questions about the mysteries of love, dating and sex, your questions will have to wait for another day — or episode.

"Loveline," the popular MTV talk show about romance and sex, was scheduled to make a stop Oct. 2 in the Little Apple. However, representatives of Adam Carolla and Dr. Drew Pinsky, the show's hosts, canceled the visit. The show was to be sponsored by the Union Program Council's Issues and Ideas Committee.

Last spring, UPC set a date for a "Loveline" appearance at K-State, Karen Schlabach, UPC president, said. When UPC called "Loveline" to verify the date, however, representatives of Adam and Dr. Drew said the date wouldn't work into their schedule, because "Loveline" episodes were being filmed for the next season.

UPC set a new date of Nov. 16, and the show was slated to be presented in McCain Auditorium. When UPC called to verify the Nov. 16 date, the representatives canceled for no apparent reason, Schlabach said.

The cancellation came at an opportune time, said Becky Wilson, UPC Issues and Ideas Committee chairwoman. At the time of the cancellation, UPC was in the initial stages of promoting the event.

"We found out the day we received our posters for 'Loveline' back from the Copy Center," Wilson said.

Wilson said it was fortunate the event had not been widely publicized, with only a small article in the Collegian last spring.

"If it would have been 24 hours later, a lot more people would've known," Wilson said.

Schlabach said she was relieved when she heard of the cancellation.

"With all of this confusion and mess, we're glad it's over," she said.

UPC had been planning the "Loveline" event since last October.

Schlabach also said she doesn't see "Loveline" making a trip to K-State anytime soon, mainly because of UPC's budget.

"We got a really cheap price for 'Loveline,' but we could barely afford it," she said. "Next year, the price will probably be even more, so that would have an effect on our budget."

"Loveline," however, will visit the University of Kansas in Lawrence this semester. Tickets already have sold out for the event.

Wilson and Schlabach said they were optimistic about what will be presented this season in place of "Loveline." Because "Loveline" cost so much as a single event, UPC will replace it with three smaller events, Wilson said.

The three events tentatively will be a presentation by Barry Drake, a rock'n'roll historian; Benjamin Jacobs, a Holocaust survivor; and Ronald Loomis, who will present a speech about cults in America. No dates have been released for these events.

Schlabach and Wilson said that while UPC is disappointed with the cancellation, they will not let it affect what they have lined up for this semester.

"We were all disappointed and a little angry at first, but we've still got plenty of quality programs for the semester," Wilson said.

Local H: beyond copacetic

Band's 3rd release picks up where last album left off

BY JEFF ELLIOTT
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Local H front man Scott Lucas doesn't waste any time getting down to business. On his latest project, "Pack Up The Cats," he digs right in.

The first track, "All-Right (Oh, Yeah)," is a completely different approach than 1996's "As Good As Dead" and its slow-moving opening statement, "Manifest Destiny."

This time around, Local H begins with a rocked-out theme that carries itself throughout the rest of the album.

On "Hit The Skids," Lucas produces an aching, distortion-filled groove while kicking out lyrics such as, "I'm in love with rock'n'roll/but that will change eventually." He then wails, "I'm all alone!" repeatedly in the chorus.

Lucas slows it down and taps back into his "relationship gone bad" style of writing with the power-pop fused "Fine and Good," which is one of the album's highlights.

The current single, "All The Kids Are Right," is definitely the catchiest song on the record. Lucas rants about the self-esteem destroying experience of having your fans walk out on you.

"As Good As Dead" is Local H's best album, but "Pack Up The Cats" comes in at a close second.

DILBERT

SCOTT ADAMS

MANN HATTEN

AARON FRUEHLING

Academic honor code underway for KSU

By ANDY D. WIMMER
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

A code to curb academic dishonesty at K-State has been under consideration since 1994, when 87 students were caught cheating in a Principles of Biology course.

This year, the code will become reality.

Mitchell Strauss, professor in textiles and apparel design, said events such as that forced the university to look at how it dealt with academic dishonesty, and the Provost's Task Force on Academic Honesty was created.

MANN

Student Body President Tracey Mann said he was eager to help get the honor code and honor council off the ground.

"What we want to create is an attitude on campus," Mann said. "We want to create an atmosphere where cheating and academic dishonesty is socially unacceptable. It's going to make K-State special."

Strauss, who is part of the Provost's Task Force on Academic Honesty, said K-State is going to be on the cutting edge with the honor code.

"We are going to be the first in Kansas to try this," he said.

Strauss said the goal of the honor system should be to create a community of trust.

"It's going to work because the expectations of students are explicitly stated," he said.

Strauss said he was proud of the way that students have embraced the idea of an honor code.

"A lot of students graduate from here and take positions as professionals," he said. "They need to be confident in their abilities and know that someone is not always going to be fluttering around them making sure they do what they are supposed to."

Mann said that it will be every student's responsibility to uphold the honor code.

"Students should not look at it as being a tattletale," Mann said. "If they know that someone gave or received help on a test, then it's going to be their responsibility to report them."

Strauss said current events shed light on why K-State needs an honor code.

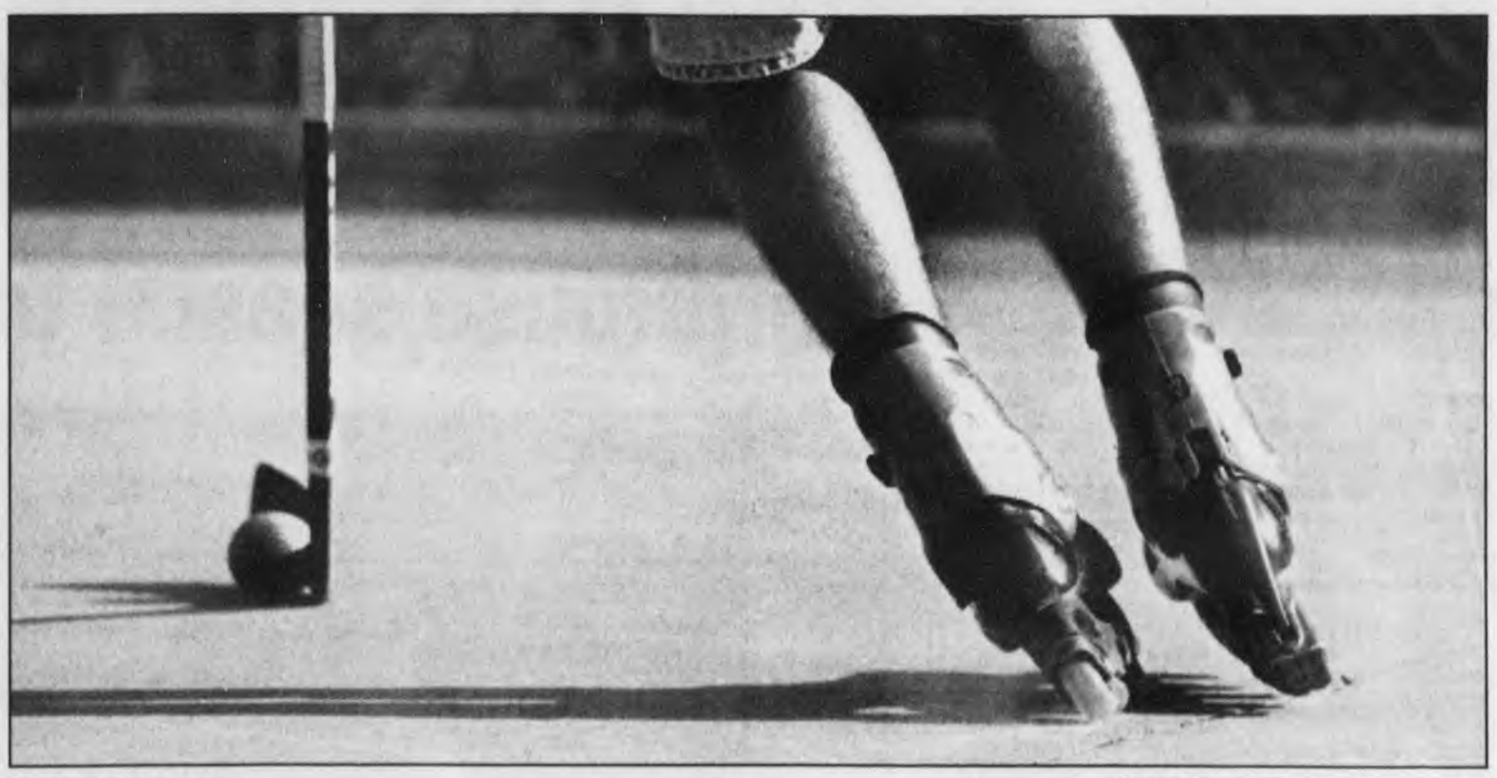
"We need the truth to be a part of our culture," he said. "There is no excuse for a liar."

Strauss said without the honor code, the faculty has to go to great lengths to curb cheating.

"What we have now is a proctor system," he said. "Professors pass out versions of the exam and keep a watchful eye over the students. With an honor system, the responsibility and duty falls on the students not to cheat."

Strauss cited an example of a University of Virginia graduate who had an opportunity to use inside information on the stock market. The graduate turned down the opportunity to use the information for personal gain because of the honor code at the university.

"He grew up in a system where honor meant something, and he could not participate," Strauss said. "The honor code at Virginia has left lifelong impressions on its students."



The Honor Council will consist of 25 students and 25 faculty members. This year, half of the members will serve a one-year term, and the others will serve a two-year term.

Beginning next year, all new members will serve two-year terms. Members will investigate allegations of dishonesty.

"It's really a great way for students to get involved in student government," Mann said.

Strauss said student involvement at other institutions helped honor-code systems to succeed.

"At Virginia, the honor code is all about the students," Strauss said. "They are the judge, jury and ambassadors. They really embrace it."

ROLLER HOCKEY STEVEN DEARINGER/KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Nick Engstrom, sophomore in architectural engineering, plays roller hockey outside Kramer Dining Center on Tuesday afternoon.

Dow plunges despite promising rally earlier in week

By BRUCE MEYERSON
THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

NEW YORK — The Dow industrials fell more than 345 points Thursday as the glimmer of hope that energized the stock market just days ago was swept away by another wave of anxiety over the crisis in Washington, D.C., and the global economy.

Bargain hunters moved in just as the market neared the low point of last week's plunge, providing a late bounce. The Dow Jones industrial average finished 249.48 points lower at 7,615.54, more than 1,700 points, or 18.4 percent, below the July 17 record of 9,337.97.

The drop, combined with Wednesday's 155-point loss, more than wiped out the record 380 points that the Dow gained on Tuesday amid hopes the Federal Reserve might intervene in the battle against economic distress spreading around the world.

It was the fifth time in just 10 sessions that the Dow has whipsawed more than 300 points in a day, including the 512-plunge on Aug. 31.

"It was an emotional day and a pretty ugly day, and there's no question that negative psychology is in play," said Robert Freedman, chief-investment officer for the John Hancock Funds in Boston, discounting the effect of any particular development as the cause of Thursday's slide.

In fact, although the threat of impeachment proceedings against President Clinton seemed to heighten with news that House Republicans will release 445 pages of Independent Counsel Kenneth Starr's report on Friday, not all of Thursday's news was discouraging.

In Russia, the ruble and stock market rebounded as a political crisis neared resolution with President Boris Yeltsin's decision to nominate a compromise candidate for prime minister, who is expected to win easy approval in parliament.

"I don't think the main reason for the selling today was the Starr report, but it didn't help," Freedman said.

"The main concern is still earnings for U.S. companies, especially since the recession overseas seems to be spreading to Latin America, which we do more business with than the Far East and Russia," Freedman said.

Broader stock indexes also tumbled Thursday, joining in yet another global selloff highlighted by two trading halts in Brazil, where the main stock index plunged 15 percent. In Europe, Frankfurt's DAX index fell 5.8 percent, London's FT-SE 100 fell 3.3 percent, and the CAC-40 in Paris fell 4.6 percent.

While few sectors were spared from the barrage of sell orders, investors again singled out financial companies for their heavy loan exposure to several of the most troubled regions abroad.

American Express fell $7.19 to $69.50 as the weakest of the Dow's 30 components, while Citicorp fell $4.81 to $88.25.

Merrill Lynch, which sank nearly 7 points on Wednesday after warning about heavy losses in emerging markets, fell $3.75 to $55.50 on Thursday. Procter & Gamble fell $2.94 to $68.94; it slid nearly 8 points on Wednesday, the Dow's biggest decliner after the consumer-products giant made a disappointing profit forecast.

Among other leading indexes, the Standard & Poor's 500 fell 26.01 to 980.19, and the technology-heavy Nasdaq composite index fell 39.22 to 1,585.33.

Declining issues outnumbered advancers by a 3-to-1 margin on the New York Stock Exchange, where composite volume came to a blistering 1.032 billion shares, up sharply from Wednesday's tally of 919.69 million.

Ft. Riley brings apple pie, cavalry to annual Apple Day celebration

By SHANDA PARKER
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

This weekend, the smell of apple pie will waft through Fort Riley as the post celebrates life on the plains in the 1800s.

Fort Riley will be host to its annual Apple Day celebration Saturday from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. at the Cavalry Parade Field.

"It's a good time as a community to come together and celebrate our frontier heritage," said Karen Kryschtal, Fort Riley Historical and Archaeological Society senior adviser.

The big attraction for Apple Day is the apple pie, Kryschtal said. More than 1,000 apple pies will be sold.

Proceeds from the pie sales are given to the community through a post-wide scholarship, projects for the Custer House, memorials and school activities.

"The apple pies are very good, and everybody should try it," Deb Skidmore, public-information officer, said.

Volunteers on the post start making the pies a week before the celebration. They form an assembly line and divide up the task of making the pies.

"Forty people each shift … it is really a lot of fun," Kryschtal said.

Pie ingredients include 7,500 apples, 184 pounds of margarine, 250 pounds of flour, 460 pounds of sugar and 1,500 teaspoons of cinnamon. Pies are sold whole or by the slice. Whole pies cost $7, and slices are $1.50 each. Pie slices á la mode are $2.

Apple pie isn't the only tradition at Apple Day. The festivities also include a variety of activities portraying life in the 1800s. Dr. Lang Perdue from Topeka will portray a physician from the 1860s. The Artillery Half Section will demonstrate firing a period-artillery piece, and the Commanding General's Mounted Color Guard will perform cavalry charges and riding demonstrations throughout the day.

The Criminal Investigation Division Family Support Group also will participate in the events. Actors will be dressed in period costumes and will operate an 1880s jail. For a small fee, people can be arrested and released from jail.

"The jail is brand new this year, and it will be a lot of fun," Kryschtal said.

Kryschtal said the celebration is a great community fall festival, with lots of entertainment and good apple pie. Apple Day events are free and open to the public.

"It's not just for Fort Riley but for surrounding communities. It is good wholesome fun," Kryschtal said.

Surveys say college binge drinking still a problem

By ROBIN ESTRIN
THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

BOSTON — More than half the nation's college students drank to get drunk last year, and the number of binge drinkers was virtually unchanged from four years ago, according to research released Thursday.

The survey of 14,521 students by the Harvard School of Public Health followed up on an analysis of 15,103 students in 1993. Both surveys queried students randomly at 130 colleges across the country.

The report published in this month's issue of the Journal of American College Health shows more students were drinking to get drunk — 39 percent in 1993, compared with 52 percent in 1997.

The number of students who were drunk three or more times in the month prior to answering the survey jumped by 22 percent.

In both reports, fraternity and sorority members were the biggest alcohol guzzlers. Four out of five of these students qualified as "binge" drinkers — defined as five drinks in a row for men and four drinks in a row for women.

"I think fraternities are so mired in alcohol — they're so into it that they can't give it up," said Henry Wechsler, who oversaw both studies.

Overall, 42.7 percent of students surveyed were considered binge drinkers in 1997, a slight decrease from the 44.1 percent in 1993. Wechsler said the drop is attributed mostly to an increase in students who do not drink at all.

Nineteen percent of students surveyed said they hadn't touched a drink in a year, up from 15.6 percent in the earlier study.

Why students were abstaining more is difficult to gauge, but Wechsler said he doubted it was due to lack of access to booze. More likely, he said, those students had listened to the warnings of school administrators — or were repelled by their peers' drinking.

PIZZA SHUTTLE DELIVERS
776-5577
1800 Claflin Road

RECREATIONAL SERVICES Intramurals Miniature Golf
Intramural Entry Deadline
Friday, Sept. 11 at 5 p.m. in the Business Office
Recreational Services Office 532-6980

KSU CAREER FAIR
Tuesday, Sept. 22
10:00 a.m. - 5:00 p.m.
Bramlage Coliseum
(Shuttle bus available from Union)
www.ksu.edu/ces

Bud NIGHT
$1.50 Bottles
$1.25 Draws 16 oz.
$2.25 Big Draws
Applies to Bud Products only
1129 Laramie
537-4045
Free Pizza 7:30-8:30 p.m. Live Remote 7:30-9:30 p.m.

Yesterday, our heroine, Cathy, looking for a way to get involved, joined the Cliff Diving Club of Kansas. Soon discouraged by the lack of cliffs in our fair state, Cathy asks friends what she should do. Among such ideas as the ever popular underwater basket weaving and composing classical music, only one sounded both exciting and challenging—doing volunteer work. After researching a variety of agencies, she chose the Fone Crisis Center. At the Fone, she can help others through their tough times, and by doing so, she is helping to increase her own morale. If you'd like to join Cathy, please call 539-0999 immediately. Training begins September 12.
sponsored by the fone crisis center

AVEDA
THE ART AND SCIENCE OF PURE FLOWER AND PLANT ESSENCES™

Get A Head Start.>>
Be among the first to discover new talent. Book an appointment with our stylists. An Aveda professional who knows all the trends and techniques. The cuts and styles. And all the ways to make you shine. This kind of expertise is available only at an Aveda Concept Salon™. So hurry and schedule an appointment today — before everyone else does.
Hair Care | Skin Care | Makeup | Pure-Fume™ | Body Care
GAIA
108 S. 4th St. • 539-2622
© 1998 Aveda Corporation. All rights reserved.

Gwendolyn R. Mink

Author of Welfare's End (1998), The Reader's Comapnion to U.S. Women's History (1998), and The Wages of Motherhood: Inequality in the Welfare State (1995) and Professor of Politics at the University of California at Santa Cruz. Dr. Mink has lectured widely about race, class, and gender dynamics of law, social policy, and social movements.
"Feminists and Poor Single Mothers: Work, Welfare, and Women's Equality" Lecture, Sept.15 at 7:30 p.m.
in the K-State Union Forum Hall
Book Signing, Sept.15 in the K-State Union
Little Theater, 12:20-1:30 p.m.

DEADLINES

Classified ads must be placed by noon the day before you want your ad to run. Classified display ads must be placed by 4 p.m. two working days prior to the date you want your ad to run. CALL 532-6555

CLASSIFIEDS

000 BULLETIN BOARD

010

Announcements

ADVANCED FLIGHT TRAINING from 7,500-hour ATP instructor. Private single-engine through ATP multiengine. Hugh Irvin, 539–3128 evenings.

BIG DAWG Marina has Jet skis and pontoon boats for rent. 776-3113.

COME AND play Bingo at the Eagle Lodge. 312 S 4th. Monday and Friday evenings at 7:30 p.m.

FREE CASH Grants! College, Scholarships, Business, Medical Bills. Never Repay. Toll Free 1-800-218-9000 Ext. G-1915.

FREE!!! PHONECARD. One per household. Minimum $25 activation. Send self-addressed stamped envelope: Brenda Horton, d/c, P.O. Box 83461, Los Angeles, CA 90083.

GREY CHEVY pick-up. We met in your mirror Wednesday afternoon on Anderson. Call 556-4674.

LEARN TO FLY! K-State Flying Club has five airplanes, lowest rates. For information call 537-8406.

SALINA CARPOOL. 539-2011, Cathy.

SCUBA LEARN to dive at the only PADI approved dive center in the area, full line of equipment in stock, two instructors, earn college credit. Classes forming weekly. Call Creative Travel and Scuba. 539-0531.

020

Lost and Found

Found ads can be placed free for three days.

FOUND: MOTORCYCLE helmet in Bluemont Hall, claim in room 492.

Manhattan City Ordinance 4814 assures every person equal opportunity in housing without distinction on account of race, sex, familial status, military status, disability, religion, age, color, national origin or ancestry. Violations should be reported to the Director of Human Resources at City Hall, 587–2440.

100 HOUSING/REAL ESTATE

105

For Rent- Apts. Furnished

TWO-BEDROOM BASEMENT apartment, includes microwave. Close to campus, $350, all utilities paid except cable television. 776–1214.

UNIVERSITY COMMONS. Available: fully furnished, individual leases, washer/ dryer in each unit, roommate matching service, pool, sand volleyball, lighted tennis and basketball courts, monitored security, reserved parking. No appointment necessary. M-F 9a.m.- 6p.m., 10a.m.- 4p.m., 539-0500.

110

For Rent- Apts. Unfurnished

AVAILABLE NOW. Studio and one-bedrooms, some furnished. Most utilities paid. Clean and quiet, central locations, some pets accepted. 537-8389.

FOUR-BEDROOM CLOSE to campus, two bath, dishwasher, central air/ heat, water/ trash paid. Free laundry, good price. 537-2255 or 537-7810.

FOUR-BEDROOM, TWO bath, close to campus, no pets, reasonable. 776-1340.

FOUR-BEDROOM, TWO bath 1300 square feet. Water/ trash paid. Discounted cable with HBO. 776–3663.

LARGE ONE-BEDROOM basement, one-half block from university. 539–8856.

LARGE THREE-BEDROOM well lit basement, close to campus, 1729 Laramie, new stove and refrigerator, washer/ dryer hook-ups, heat/ water/ trash paid. $570. 537–2099, 539–8052.

NOW LEASING one to four-bedroom apartments/ houses. Call Alliance Property Management. 539–4357 for current list.

Now Available!
Large 2-Bedrooms
Sandstone Apts.
Cambridge Sq. Apts.
Hill Investments
537–9064

ONE AND two-bedrooms, start at $380-$450. Dishwasher, deck, central air, on-site laundry, extra storage. Available now, 776-8455.

ONE- OR TWO-BEDROOM. No pets, smoking, drinking. 539–1554.

ONE-BEDROOM COZY basement apartment. Walk to Aggieville and campus. Rent negotiable. 539-1722 leave message.

ONE-BEDROOM, $290. 539-8401.

ROOMMATE PROBLEMS? Large one-bedroom near Aggieville, $300, hardwood floors, white walls, personality. 776-4313 or 785-456-7183.

STUDIO, $280, air-conditioning, bills paid. 539-8401.

THREE-BEDROOM HOUSE, computer den, attached garage, near campus. Immediately available. (765)463–5014.

THREE-BEDROOM, $390. 539-8401.

Chase Manhattan Apartments
1,2,3, or 4 person occupancy. Short term leases available. Water and Trash paid. Discounted cable package HBO, Encore, and Expanded Basic.
Call us Today
776-3663

THREE-BEDROOM, CENTRAL air, one-half block from campus, washer/ dryer hook-ups. Available now. 776-8455.

THREE-BEDROOM, TWO bath apartment available for August. Very spacious. Dishwasher, microwave, pool, laundry and carports. Call Sara at 537–7007.

TWO, THREE and four-bedroom apartments water/ trash paid, discounted cable with HBO. Going fast. 776–3663.

TWO-BEDROOM, $320. 539-8401.

9 Month Lease
2 & 3 Bedroom
Specials
539-2951

TWO-BEDROOM, CENTRAL air, laundry hook-ups, dishwasher, $400. No pets. Nine month lease. 513 S. Manhattan Avenue. 539–2255.

UNIVERSITY TERRACE APARTMENTS. Corner of College and Dickens. Large three-bedroom apartment. 537-2096.

120

For Rent- Houses

1106 KEARNEY- one and one-half blocks from campus. Three-bedrooms, one bath, kitchen, living room, washer and dryer hookups. Available September 1, 1998, $650/ month. Century 21 Knight Real Estate, 537-2111.

CUTE THREE-PLUS bedroom, one and one-half bath house, close to campus, pets negotiable. $550/ month. Available October 1, 1998. 776-6494 or 1-800-249-1740 ext 6040.

KSU THREE BLOCKS. Three-bedroom, one bath, central air, laundry hook-ups, garage, small pets considered, 1517 Pipher. 539-4087, leave message.

THREE-BEDROOM, AIR-CONDITIONING, $510. 539-8401.

TWO-BEDROOM house available. Stove, refrigerator, air-conditioning. No pets. 539-1975 or (785) 396-4344.

Have you read your Collegian today?
Don't Get Left Behind!

WOODWAY APARTMENTS
STOP!
DO NOT RENT AN APARTMENT UNTIL YOU CONSIDER THIS!
- Sparkling swimming pool
- Spacious decks/patios
- Avail. June 5 Aug. 6
- Kitchen Appliances include microwave and dishwasher
- On site laundry facilities
- Economical gas heat

3 BDRM, 2 BATH $714, $723
4 BDRM, 2 BATH $836, $856

Office:
2400 Kimball Ave.
at College Ave.
(Across from Bramlage)
Call Sara
at 537-7007
for an appointment.

125

For Sale- Houses

GOV'T FORECLOSED homes from pennies on $1.

Delinquent Tax, Repo's. REO's. Your Area. Toll Free (1) 800-218-9000 Ext. H-1915 for current listings.

135

For Sale- Mobile Homes

DON'T WASTE your money on rent, when you could own: 16'x70' 1986 Schult. Sunken living room, vaulted ceiling, built-in china hutch, lots of cabinet space, large kitchen, dining room, two large bedrooms, one bath, refrigerator, stove, dishwaser, 8'x8' deck, fenced yard, swing set, new paint, new shingled roof, great location, Bergman school. Must see to appreciate. Call for showing 776–3226.

145

Roommate Wanted

COME LIVE with three sassy girls! Fourth roommate wanted to live in awesome house five minutes from campus. Call 587–8711.

FEMALE ROOMMATE to share a nice fully furnished two-bedroom apartment with laundry facilities, located across from Ford Hall. Available January 1, 1999, $230 a month, one-half utilities. 537-8832.

FEMALE ROOMMATE to share NICE two-bedroom apartment across from college. $260 a month. 776-4891.

FEMALE ROOMMATE wanted for two-bedroom apartment close to campus and Aggieville. $175/ month, no deposit required. Call Jill, 770–9393.

MALE NEEDED for furnished basement. Washer/ dryer without meter. No smoking, drinking, or pets. Walk to class. 539–1554

PRE-VET STUDENT looking for female roommate. $212.50/ month plus KPL and phone. Some pets allowed. Call 537-7808.

Manhattan City Ordinance 4814 assures every person equal opportunity in securing and holding employment in any field of work or labor for which he/ she is properly qualified regardless of race, sex, military status, disability, religion, age, color, national origin or ancestry.
The Collegian cannot verify the financial potential of advertisements in the Employment/Career classification. Readers are advised to approach any such employment opportunity with reasonable caution. The Collegian urges our readers to contact the Better Business Bureau, 501 SE Jefferson, Topeka, KS 66607-1190. (785)232–0454.

300 EMPLOYMENT/OPPORTUNITIES

310

Help Wanted

$1000's Possible Typing Part time at home. Toll free (1) 800-218-9000 Ext. T-1915 for listings.

($20 / HOUR, PART-TIME/ FULL-TIME). Processing mail! Free supplies, postage! Bonuses! Rush self-addressed stamped envelope: GMA/KSU P.O. Box 567443 Atlanta, GA 31156. e-mail: signup@info.info-machine.com.

CENSUS 2000: The Census Bureau is currently testing in the Manhattan area for temporary positions beginning in late October. For more information please call 776-1621. The Census Bureau is an Equal Opportunity Employer.

CLEANING: FOR non-smoking student in a home adjacent to campus. Send resume to Collegian Box 4.

COMPUTER PROGRAMMER. 20 hours/ week, hours flexible. Knowledge of C/C++. Undergraduates only. Apply in Throckmorton 1011 by September 11. For more information call 532-7236 or 532-5731.

DJ WANTED Silverado Saloon. Apply in person Wednesday- Saturday after 6 p.m.

Ambitious, energetic people needed for full and part-time. Apply in person at
Vista Drive In
1911 Tuttle Creek Blvd.

EXOTIC FEMALE Dancers wanted to dance for surprise birthday. All names confidential. Write Dance, Box 1, Collegian.

GRAPHIC ARTIST- SCREEN MACHINE SPORTS seeks a full time graphic artist. This position requires excellent communication skills and ability to work well with the public. Salary - determined on qualifications. Send resume and references to Matt Westerhaus, Screen Machine Sports, 115 East 7th St., Junction City, KS 66441.

GRAPHIC DESIGNER wanted for full-time t-shirt design. Mac Freehand/ Illustrator, Photoshop skills a MUST. Cartooning a strong plus. Apply at Ballard's 1218 Moro by 5 p.m. September 18.

HELP WANTED, apply at Mr. P's Party Outlet, 318 Poyntz.

MORNING/ LUNCH wait staff needed 8 a.m.- 4 p.m. Apply in person. Manhattan Country Club. 1531 N 10th. Monday through Friday.

MOTHER'S HELPER. Person needed to assist family with care of handicapped child and variety of other chores after-school and weekends. Call 537-7991.

NIGHT STAFF position available. One year of college or two years experience required. Flexible shifts, supervising experience a plus. Apply at Manhattan Emergency Shelter, Inc., 831 Leavenworth, by Sept. 15. E.O.E.

PART-TIME POSITION: One day per week grinding feed on farm close to Manhattan. Call evenings, (785)396–4328.

TACO BELL is now hiring for the following positions: Shift Leaders (Up to $7.00/ hour), Crew Members (Up to $6.00/ hour.) Taco Bell offers competitive pay, paid vacation, and benefits. Apply in person at the Manhattan Taco Bell.

TUTORING HIGH school students for K-State's Upward Bound Math and Science Program. Contact: Lynne Davy at 532-6374 for application.

WANTED: RESPONSIBLE, reliable and dependable people who are interested in Kansas State Athletics! Women's Basketball is seeking a few managers for the upcoming 1998-99 season. All interested people should call Kathy at 532–6970 to set up an appointment.

WRESTLING COACH, middle/ high school, October-February, 3p.m.- 6p.m. Contact Tim Kite, Onaga High School, 500 High St, Onaga, KS 66521, (785)889–4251.

330

Business Opportunities

The Collegian cannot verify the financial potential of advertisements in the Employment/Career classification. Readers are advised to approach any such business opportunity with reasonable caution. The Collegian urges our readers to contact the Better Business Bureau, 501 SE Jefferson, Topeka, KS 66607-1190. (785)232–0454.

IN SEARCH of a hungry entrepreneur with marketing savvy for distribution of new licensed sports products. Contact Millennium Products, 3434 W. Harry, Wichita, KS 67213. (316) 945-5560.

400 OPEN MARKET

405

Wanted to Buy

WANTED TO BUY: Looking to buy a Hewlitt Packard calculator: model 10C, 11C, 15C or 16C. Call 537–4702.

410

Items for Sale

ANTIQUES, COLLECTIBLES, tools, books, furniture, estate jewelry, beer signs, thousands of curious goods. Time Machine Antique Maul and Flea Market. 4910 Skyway Dr. between Briggs and airport. 539–4684.

CABLE DESCRAMBLER kit only $14.95. See all the pay channels. 1-800-752-1389.

SALE!
All clothes 1/2 price!
Furniture, lamps, pots & pans, dishes, nick-nacks, military items, collectibles
All 15% off
Books - 25% off
Albums - 5 for Dollar
Tapes - 2 for Dollar
Movies - $4 each
CDs - $3.50 each
Friday & Saturday
10 a.m. until 6 p.m.
Grandma's Trunk Thrift Shop
1304 Pillbury Dr
537-2273

DRAFTING TABLE and chair for sale, $50. Call 539-1584.

GOVERNMENT SURPLUS: Camouflage clothing, G.I. boots, sleeping bags, raincoats, wool clothing, also CARHARRT WORKWEAR. Monday-Friday 9-5:30 p.m. Saturday 9-5 p.m. St. Mary's Surplus Sales, St. Mary's, KS.(785) 437-2734.

RICH, FRAGRANT, therapeutic Essential Oil creations, hand-blended to enhance your unique personal style! Skin and facial oils, perfumes, bath salts, after shaves, etc. Call 776-2230, leave name and number for free brochure and 20% off coupon through September 30. Visit our web site at http://www.flint-hills.com/~keepup.

VINTAGE WOOD captain chairs, large desk, two computer desks and IBM electric typewriter. 539-3936.

415

Furniture to Buy/Sell

DAYBED, METAL frame, good mattresses, 539-9469.

420

Garage/Yard Sales

HUGE INDOOR/ Outdoor Yard Sale. New and used furniture, appliances, VCR's, TV's, beds, futons, knick-knacks, computers, and much more. Saturday and Sunday 8 a.m. - 8 p.m. Hollywood's Flea Market, 431 S. 5th Street. (785) 537-0589.

VINTAGE CLOTHING sale. Senior center, 412 Leavenworth on both Thursday September 10, 2- 4p.m. and Friday 10a.m.- 4p.m.

435

Computers

MICROSOFT OFFICE '97 Professional, full version, unopened, unregistered, $75. 1-800-416-3594.

NANAO FLEXSCAN FX2-21. 21 inch color computer monitor. This is Nanao's top of the line monitor with .26mm Dot Pinch, 1600 X 1200 resolution @ 85HZ. New in box. $1295 or best offer, 776–5999. SEIKO PRO ColorPoint combination wax thermal and dye-sublimation color proof printer, new in box. $3995 or best offer, 776–5999.

445

Music Instruments

TWELVE CHANNEL mixing board with case. Many features, cleaned and works great, $300. Also, Master Volume/ Reverb unit, $50. 776–7506.

WELCOME TO The Music Co.! Our business is making you sound the best you can, and leaving a little gas money in your pocket. OK, we're gonna do it, the first and only Music Co. sale! Through September, Alvarez and Fernandes guitars will be on sale at ridiculous prices! Always the best deals on the planet! The Music Co., nothing typical, no pressure. 523 S. 17th Street in Manhattan. 539-1958.

450

Pets and Supplies

FREE KITTEN, litter box trained. 537-6247.

LOVEBIRD PLUS parakeet in designer cage on wrought iron stand. Very friendly and beautiful. $60 or best offer. 539-7731.

460

Electronic Equipment

SONY COMPACT stereo, separate five-disc changer, speakers, remote included, great conditon, sounds great. $175 or best offer. 539-2250 ask for Jon.

465

Tickets to Buy/Sell

ALL GENERAL admission football tickets for sale. Call Traci 537-9795.

FOOTBALL TICKETS vs. Northeast Louisiana for sale at cost! Call Carol at 539-2738 for details.

MUST SELL!! Two reserve tickets to the Sept. 12 game. 539-5261.

ONE FOOTBALL ticket, Sept. 12, accepting offers, 539-6225.

ONE GENERAL admission ticket for sale for game this Saturday. Call 776-6604 ask for Michael, leave message if not home.

ONE GENERAL admission ticket for the rest of season games. Best offer for one or all remaining games. 537-8325.

ONE GENERAL Admission ticket set for sale to highest bidder. Call Bill at 770–9944 and leave a message.

STUDENT SECTION ticket for sale to September 12 game. Price negotiable. Call 537-8853 or e-mail jamesb@flinthills.com.

TWO STUDENT general admission for sale, September 12 game. Best offer. 587-8063.

WANTED KSU- OSU tickets. Call Rick (913) 651-0437 or (913) 682-2265 ext 205.

WANTED-TWO student section tickets. Call Janece-395–2801.

WANTED: ICAT membership ticket to go along with already purchased season tickets. Call 539-8179.

510

Automobiles

1966 GALAXY 500, 4-door, 289 engine, power-steering, air-conditioning, radio, one owner. 86,300 original miles. $1100 or best offer. 537-7729.

1991 TOYOTA Pick-up, 5-speed, 60K miles. Excellent condition. Must see to appreciate. Call Dustin at 587-9663.

1992 FORD T-Bird. 92K, excellent condition, air-conditioning, snow-tires and thule roofrack. $6700, 539-7805.

1995 CHEVY Cavalier, purple coupe, automatic transmission, air-conditioning, AM/FM cassette. $6000 or best offer. Call Becky 539-7571 ext. 30.

1995 FORD Thunderbird. 28K miles, loaded, $12,000 or best offer. 539-5619.

FOR SALE: 1989 Honda Accord, 5-speed, air-conditioning, cruise, good. High miles. $2500. Call 587–8256.

SEIZED CARS from $175. Porsches, Cadillacs, Chevys, BMW's, Corvettes. Also Jeeps, 4WD's. Your Area. Toll Free 1-800-218-9000 Ext. A-1915 for current listings.

520

Bicycles

DIAMONDBACK 18-SPEED mountain bike, $125. Spyder custom paint-ball gun and accessories, $325. 537-8586 ask for Chris or leave message.

530

Motorcycles

1985 HONDA V-30 Magna, $1100 or best offer. 587–9201.

1987 KAWASAKI 305 LTD $850. Call Mike 587-0608 leave message.

1989 KAWASAKI EX500 red/ black. Excellent condition. 11K, must sell to pay for new bike. $1400 or best offer. 537–2289.

1996 RED Kawasaki ZX-6R with 6600 miles and three year warranty. Mint condition with muzzie exhaust. $6500. Call (785)499–5297 or (785)499–5447. Ask for Eric or e-mail me at eab5890@ksu.edu

600 TRAVEL/TRIPS

630

Spring Break

MAKE EASY MONEY! GO ON SPRING BREAK FOR FREE! USA Spring Break offers Cancun, Bahamas, Jamaica and Florida packages and is currently accepting applications for campus sales representatives. Call 1-888-SPRING-BREAK.

SPRING BREAK '99-- Sell Trips, Earn Cash & Go Free! STS is now hiring campus reps. Lowest rates to Jamaica, Mexico & Florida. Call 800-648-4849 or apply online at www.ststravel.com

GO CATS

Meet your match.

Want to meet that cute guy in your anatomy class?
Advertise in the Collegian personals.
You'll meet your match in no time.

Kansas State Collegian
103 Kedzie (east of the Union) 532-6555

collegian collegian

Let the World see your classified ad by using the Collegian as a resource!

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN
103 KEDZIE 532-6555

Classified RATES

1 DAY
20 words or less $7.15
each word over 20 $.20 per word

2 DAYS
20 words or less $8.40
each word over 20 $.25 per word

3 DAYS
20 words or less $9.55
each word over 20 $.30 per word

4 DAYS
20 words or less $10.60
each word over 20 $.35 per word

5 DAYS
20 words or less $11.55
each word over 20 $.40 per word
(consecutive day rate)

HOW TO PAY
All classifieds must be paid in advance unless you have an account with Student Publications Inc. Cash, check, MasterCard or Visa are accepted. There is a $10 service charge on all returned checks. We reserve the right to edit, reject or properly classify any ad.

FREE FOUND ADS
As a service to you, we run found ads for three days free of charge.

CORRECTIONS
If you find an error in your ad, please call us. We accept responsibility only for the first wrong insertion.

CANCELLATIONS
If you sell your item before your ad has expired, we will refund you for the remaining days. You must call us before noon the day before the ad is to be published.

HEADLINES
For an extra charge, we'll put a headline above your ad to catch the reader's attention.

000 BULLETIN BOARD
100 HOUSING/REAL ESTATE
200 SERVICE DIRECTORY
300 EMPLOYMENT/OPPORTUNITIES
400 OPEN MARKET
500 TRANSPORTATION
600 TRAVEL/TRIPS

TO PLACE AN AD
Go to Kedzie 103 (across from the K-State Student Union). Office hours are Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. The office is open except on holidays.

Jump on the Bandwagon at it's first stop on Friday night, as we kick off...

Don't forget to get your Gameday Edition of the Collegian

Touchdown Weekends in Aggieville!

Friday, 6 p.m.

- Get your official Bandwagon Membership Card for $1 - proceeds go to the K-State Marching Band
- Card entitles you to discounts & special offers from participating Aggieville merchants (such as Ballard's & Varney's Bookstore!)
- And don't miss the Pep Rally featuring...

Willie ▪ Pep Band
Cheerleaders
Ivan Wilkerson

On the Road...

...to the Fiesta Bowl!

Get pumped for Saturday's match-up with No. Illinois!

Gameday, 8 a.m.

- Purple Powercat Feed at Lucky BrewGrille
- Listen to Powercat Gameday Show featuring Tim Fitzgerald, from Powercat Illustrated at 8:30 a.m.
- Free Bus Shuttles to game start at 9:30 a.m.
- After the game from 4-6 p.m., The Remember Then Lounge Act will perform
- Don't miss the KSU Jazzkatz performing live jazz from 6-7 p.m.

BALLARDS
Say's Purple Get Ready To Roll!!
GAME DAY HEADQUARTERS
T-SHIRTS-SWEATSHIRTS-HATS-JACKETS
CAR FLAGS-DOOR MAGNETS-GLASSWARE
GAME JERSEYS-NIKE T-SHIRTS KIDS CLOTHING-MEMORABILIA
ITS ALL AT BALLARDS
Ballard's

Hair Experts Design Team
We Style K.SU!

$5 off any service
Not valid with any other offers or children's haircut.
expires 10/8/98 #23
776-4455
Aggieville, USA

OUT OF BOUNDS SPORTS BAR & GRILL
1129 Laramie
537-4045
Saturday
Wildcat Tea
$3.00
Come watch the game on the BIG Screen.
Sunday
Bucket of Beer
$12.00
(7 bottles for the price of 6)

THE Palace Cards & Gifts
Cards & Gifts for All Occasions!
K-State Giftware & Apparel
• Boyd's Bears • 1999 Calendars
• Winnie the Pooh • Scrapbooks
"A K-State Tradition Since 1929"
704 N. MANHATTAN • IN AGGIEVILLE • 539-7654
MON.-FRI. 8:30-8:30, SAT. 8:30-5:30, SUN. 12:00-5:00

GAMEDAY PAYDAY

During our "GAMEDAY PAYDAY" promotion, we would like to offer you a chance to cash in on K-State's success this football season. For every point the Cats score, we'll take a dollar off of any computer system you purchase from us. Plus, we'll deduct an additional $25 if the defense holds Northern Illinois scoreless. Stop by the store for full details.
YOU'LL SAVE EVEN MORE EVERY TIME THE CATS SCORE!
Transcend Technologies
"Building Computers for the Next Millennium"
Located at 1108 Laramie
Call us at 539-8538
Open Mon.-Sat. 9AM-7PM and Sun. 12PM-6PM

GO CATS!!
Friday $4 Pitchers
Watch the game on our BIG Screen!
Catch the FREE shuttle here!
LONGHORNS
1115 Moro 18 to enter 776-8770

Varney's Game Day Special
Shop Varney's Book Store and Varney's K-State Place Sept. 12 and sign-up to win 2 tickets and airfare to the K-State vs. Colorado game October 10, 1998.
Provide by Timeout Sportswear and Varney's Book Store.
Must be 18 or older.

BIRKENSTOCK®
The original comfort shoe.

Aggieville's
Olson Shoe Repair
• Certified Pedorthist
• Orthopedic Prescriptions Filled
1214 -B Moro
Toll Free 888-788-1145 539-8571

JANDI'S
Gifts and Ceramics
Ceramic K-State Football and Helmet lights--with cut-out powercat design that glows purple
Footballs Helmets
Exclusive design by JANDI'S
Open Mon.-Fri. 9-6, Sat. 9-5
715 N. 12th Aggieville
CALL
776-0840 or 1-800-645-0840

Men's & Women's
Sterling Silver Bands and gemstone rings

Krystallos
$6-$25
708 N. Manhattan • Aggieville

kjs DANCE CLUB
Live DJ nightly 9 p.m.
Come Experience Aggieville's Ultimate Dance Party!

WILDCAT SPIRIT
Wildcat Spirit
776-5461
716 N. Manhattan Ave.
(In Aggieville)
Hours:
Mon.-Sat. 9:30 a.m.-5:30 p.m.
Thurs. 'til 8, Sun. 12to 5 p.m.
Buy ONE!

Get ONE FREE!
On Specially Marked KSU T-Shirts and Sweat Shirts

SHOW YOUR TEAM SPIRIT
Rad-A-Tat TATTOO & BODY PIERCING
776-9418
711 N 12TH

POLLSTERS DIFFER ON CATS
The coaches poll puts K-State at No. 4, while the Wildcats remain at No. 5 in the Associated Press poll.
■ SEE STORY ON PAGE 6

103 years of service

MONDAY
SEPTEMBER 14, 1998

KANSAS STATE UNIVERSITY, MANHATTAN, KAN.
VOLUME 103, NUMBER 15
COLLEGIAN.KSU.EDU

TODAY'S WEATHER

HIGH 79
LOW 60

Sub. Exp. Date: 00/00
Kansas State Historical Society
Newspaper Section
PO Box 3585
Topeka KS 66601

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Sources say impeachment inquiry likely

CLINTON

■ OUR OPINION
The Collegian editorial board is disheartened by Clinton's unwillingness to come forward with the truth. See Page 4.

BY DAVID ESPO
THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

WASHINGTON, D.C. — The House of Representatives is increasingly likely to vote for a formal impeachment inquiry in the next few weeks, congressional officials said Sunday, a step that could ratchet up the political jeopardy confronting President Clinton. Judiciary Chairman Henry Hyde said he believed hearings were warranted.

"I must say I do, but I want to hear from everyone on the committee," said Hyde, R-Ill., whose panel is in charge of the case.

Officials in both parties, speaking on condition of anonymity, said lawmakers and key advisers had been examining the report of Independent Counsel Kenneth Starr over the weekend and concluded Sunday that it appeared likely the House would vote on an impeachment inquiry before the election.

The prospect for partisan conflict was evident. Key Republicans, speaking on condition of anonymity, said if the House votes a formal impeachment inquiry, it would not necessarily limit the scope to Starr's review of Clinton's sexual relationship with Monica Lewinsky and his attempts to deny it under oath.

Instead, these officials said, the Judiciary Committee might be empowered to range over numerous other issues from Whitewater to Clinton's involvement in questionable campaign fund raising in 1996.

Democrats would vigorously oppose any expansion beyond Starr's report, one aide said Sunday night.

Attorney General Janet Reno has steadfastly refused to appoint an independent counsel to review campaign fund raising, but the Justice Department has been conducting its own investigation, and Republican committees in Congress have investigated the issue for more than a year.

Several Democrats, joined by a top Republican senator, talked publicly during the day about a punishment short of impeachment for Clinton and demanded his lawyers end "legal hairsplitting" as they rebut Starr's report.

"There's going to be some sort of sanction here," said Sen. Orrin Hatch, chairman of the Senate Judiciary Committee. "The question is what — from impeachment to censure to rebuke to condemnation or what," the Utah Republican said.

Rep. David Bonior of Michigan, the second-ranking House Democrat said, "I think in the days and months ahead you will find people talking about the middle option, that of a public rebuke for his personal behavior."

One lawmaker, Rep. Vic Fazio, D-Calif., addressed the issue of a formal impeachment inquiry during the day in an appearance on ABC. "Ultimately, if the president and the Congress want to have the due process that they are both allowed in this instance, we may end up going to that next level," said the California Democrat, third-ranking member of his party in the House.

"It would be very hard to avoid an impeachment inquiry with the seriousness of the allegations and the review that we're going through now," Rep. Asa Hutchinson, R-Ark., a member of the Judiciary Committee, said.

Such a vote, if it occurs in the next few weeks, would take place in the shadow of the mid-term elections. As a result, it would leave Democrats in the position of having to choose between a deeper investigation of Clinton on the one hand or laying themselves open to campaign charges of attempting to cover up his alleged wrongdoings on the other.

Clinton skipped church services during the day, remaining out of the public eye in the White House.

But with his presidency clearly in peril, his lawyers and aides fanned out across the Sunday TV-talk shows to declare that whatever his transgressions, Clinton committed no impeachable offenses.

Starr's report, released Friday, cites 11 potentially impeachable offenses, all stemming from Clinton's sexual rela-

■ See CLINTON on PAGE 10

Access to Starr Report delights K-State students

BY LAUREN POSLADEK
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

K-State students think it's great that Independent Counsel Kenneth Starr's report on the investigation of President Clinton was released to the public, but most of them don't want to read what's in it.

The House of Representatives released Starr's findings in detail Friday afternoon, two days after Starr delivered his report to Congress. The report included complete accounts of sexual encounters between Clinton and former White House intern Monica Lewinsky; it also included 11 possible grounds for impeachment.

The report was available to the public immediately on the Internet and in several newspapers on Saturday afternoon.

Most students said they felt the report should be available to the public despite its graphic content.

"I'm glad that it was available on the Internet,"

■ See STUDENTS on PAGE 10

High school football player dies on field

BY AMY MILLER
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

RILEY, Kan. — Riley County High School senior Dan Will died Saturday as a result of head injuries suffered during a football game.

Riley County School Superintendent Craig Neuenswander said Will walked away from a fourth-quarter tackle in the game against St. Mary, Kan., but then he stumbled. A game official, noticing Will was having trouble breathing, stopped the game immediately.

Will collapsed on the field and never regained consciousness.

He was taken to Mercy Health Center on College Avenue in Manhattan, where an MRI showed bleeding inside his skull. Will was transported to Stormont-Vail Healthcare in Topeka, where he underwent surgery to try to stop the bleeding and remove blood clots on his brain.

Will was removed from life support and declared dead Saturday afternoon, Neuenswander said.

Principal Jim Hardy said the school formed a crisis

■ See PLAYER on PAGE 10

62

THE WICHITA EAGLE

Sosa meets Big Mac in baseball history

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

CHICAGO — Sammy Sosa of the Chicago Cubs hit his 61st and 62nd home runs of the season Sunday to pass Roger Maris and pull into a tie with Mark McGwire for the most homers in a single baseball season.

With his 61st homer, Sosa moved ahead of Babe Ruth, who hit 60 in 1927 for the New York Yankees. Maris had 61 in 1961, also for the Yankees.

The homers gave Sosa four in three games — bringing the slugger back into the chase with McGwire to end the season with one of baseball's most treasured records.

Sosa hit No. 62 in the ninth inning off Milwaukee Brewers relief pitcher Eric Plunk. The Cubs won the game 11-10 in 10 innings.

Crying as he sat in the dugout after his triumphant tour around the bases, Sosa came out for three emotional curtain calls as fans littered the field while standing and chanting "Sam-mee! Sam-mee!" The

■ See SOSA on PAGE 10

MAKING UP FOR LOST TIME

STEVE HEBERT/KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Judy Speer, left, gave up her daughter Christine Weixelman for adoption after she became pregnant in 1968. After 23 years, she received a letter from her birth daughter, and today they share a close relationship.

Mother reunites with child 23 years after giving her up for adoption

BY ANGELA KISTNER
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Judy Speer became pregnant in 1968. A teenager without many options, Speer had to make a decision that would affect the rest of her life.

"Back then, we didn't have a whole lot of choices. I didn't believe in abortion because I heard too many scary things."

Speer said she wasn't sure what she was going to do with her baby.

"It took me nine months to decide," she said.

Her final decision was made when her husband-to-be said he probably would use the child against her and say "the kid's not mine."

So, Speer decided to give her baby up for adoption.

She said things would've been different if she had been pregnant today, but she doesn't regret her decision.

"The way that my life went, I don't regret it, because things just got worse," Speer said.

Speer said she chose marriage over a baby because she didn't think it would be a good environment for her child.

Her decision also was based on money.

"I didn't know about welfare. I didn't know that was an option," she said. "Just a young couple starting out — didn't know what your future was going to bring."

Even as Speer made her decision to place her child up for adoption, she said she went back and forth on whether the decision was right or not.

"Until you find them (the birth child), you really don't know. Even then you still don't know. Even now I wonder," she said. "I don't think it's ever really anything you stop thinking about. Every time I was left alone. Every time I saw a baby. Every time I had a baby. Every day. All the time."

Speer had even more to think about when a letter arrived from her birth daughter 23 years after she was born.

"I tore myself up that weekend," she said.

But, she said she knew in her heart that she wanted to meet her daughter.

"I wouldn't have held anything against her if she would've slapped me the first day that we met and said, 'I never want to see you again,'" she said.

However, that was not her birth daughter's intention.

"I just started getting curious. I wanted to know more about me," Christine Weixelman said. "You just feel like there's something else. You just feel like you've lost something."

Weixelman said she always knew she was adopted, but she never was mad at her birth mother.

"I think I was more just hurt. I wondered what was wrong with me," she said.

Before Weixelman received a response back from her letter, she drove by her birth mother's house several times.

"I don't know if I expected to see a big sign on the porch that said 'No, I don't want to see you. Go away,'" she said.

Speer said she had a feeling that her daughter was driving by and spent a lot more time on her porch.

Finally, the time arrived when mother and daughter met.

"It was just bizarre. It was like looking in a mirror. I kept looking at her. We have the same nose," Weixelman said. "When we first had lunch together, we both ordered the same dessert and ate it the same way. It's kind of scary sometimes."

The similarities between Speer and Weixelman are endless.

"We both hate the smell of vanilla," Weixelman said.

The friendship that has formed in the seven years Speer and Weixelman have known each other is unique.

"It's more than friends, but it's not quite a mother," Speer said.

"It's more like a twin, an older twin," Weixelman said. "It's like we're not even two separate people. We can't even fight."

Speer said she didn't want to come between Weixelman and her adoptive

■ See ADOPT on PAGE 10

"THE WAY MY LIFE WENT, I DON'T REGRET IT, BECAUSE THINGS JUST GOT WORSE."
— JUDY SPEER, ON GIVING HER DAUGHTER UP FOR ADOPTION IN 1968

NEWS DIGEST

CALENDAR DEADLINES

To place an item in the Calendar, stop by Kedzie 116 and fill out a form or e-mail it to bulletins@spub.ksu.edu by 11 a.m. two days before it is to run.

CALENDAR

Calendar is the Collegian's campus bulletin board service. Items in the Calendar can be published up to three times. Items might not appear because of space constraints but are guaranteed to appear on the day of the activity.

■ Beginning a Promising Profession (BAPP) will have an ice cream social at 4:30 today in Calvin 306.

■ Young Democrats will meet at 9 tonight in Union 204.

■ Engineering Ambassadors will meet at 7:15 tonight in Forum Hall.

■ Golden Key National Honor Society will have an information table for Campus Awareness Week from 9 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. today on the first floor of the K-State Student Union.

■ KSU Students for the Right to Life will meet at 7 tonight in Union 202.

■ Finance Club will meet at 7 tonight in Union 212.

■ Kansas Student National Education Association will meet at 7 tonight in Bluemont 15.

■ KSU Water Ski Team will meet at 9 tonight in Union 207.

■ KSU Aikido Club will meet at 7 tonight in Ahearn 304.

■ Apparel and Textile Marketing Interest Group will meet at 8 tonight in Justin 341. New members are welcome.

POLICE REPORTS

Reports are taken directly from the K-State and Riley County police departments' daily logs. We do not list wheel locks or minor traffic violations because of space constraints.

K-STATE POLICE
THURSDAY, SEPT. 10

■ No reports of note were made.

FRIDAY, SEPT. 11

■ No reports of note were made.

RILEY COUNTY POLICE

■ Reports from Friday and Saturday were not available at press time.

DAILY REWIND

Daily Rewind collects the top local, state, national and world news from the past 48 hours. Briefs are compiled from wire and staff reports.

Appetite suppressant thought to be cause of teen's heart attack

MANHATTAN — Nobody thought 16-year-old Ginger Burd was overweight.

Nobody, that is, except Ginger herself.

At 5 feet, 7 inches and 117 pounds, Ginger apparently was obsessed with her weight. So she took over-the-counter diet pills — pills that doctors believe led to a heart attack in July and will leave her in a hospital bed on her 17th birthday, Friday as she tries to recover from the brain damage she suffered.

"She thought she was fat, and she didn't think she was pretty at all," her mother, Gail Burd, said. "I don't know where she got the idea."

Ginger was stricken July 19 after she ran up a flight of stairs at her home to answer the door. She suffered brain damage in the 12 minutes it took emergency crews to get her breathing again.

Doctors believe the diet pills that Ginger had been taking for several months caused the attack, said Dr. Adam Schwarz, a pediatric critical-care specialist at the University of Kansas Medical Center.

Ginger apparently had been taking pills that included the drug phenylpropanolamine, widely used as a decongestant. Ginger had a problem with decongestants — her heart started pounding when she took one when she was 10 — and she stayed away from them.

She might not have known that phenylpropanolamine also is used widely in diet drugs.

"It's efficacy as a diet aid is very questionable," Schwarz said. "You have to almost overdose on it to get appetite-suppressant effects."

Although her mother knew she was taking the pills, Ginger apparently did not confide in others.

"It isn't something a lot of students would share with us," Terry Taylor, her school counselor, said. "To me, she wouldn't have needed diet pills. But perhaps in her mind, she did."

Medicines that contain phenylpropanolamine carry warning labels about potential side effects. Most of the side effects are trivial, but the heart could be affected in a stressed body or when the drug is taken in excessive doses.

Gail Burd said she hopes other girls her daughter's age will learn from her situation.

"I would tell them that, according to what I've heard and seen, diet pills are extremely dangerous," she said. "I would tell them that if they think they're overweight, to get a doctor's statement before trying to do anything about it."

For now, Ginger is recovering at the Ottawa County Hospital in Minneapolis, Kan., wishing only for cards for her birthday, but doctors said they are unsure if she will be able to read them.

She recognizes some people, can say some words and is able to sit up for a time.

Unattended candle ignites TV cabinet

A Manhattan resident's entertainment center provided an entire neighborhood with some entertainment Sunday night.

Neighbors gathered at the home of Doug Cuttings, 1423 Hillcrest, at about 9:40 Sunday night to watch as firefighters rushed into his home to deal with a small fire that destroyed Cuttings' entertainment center.

"We left a candle lit, and when we got home, the entertainment center was on fire," Cuttings said.

The Manhattan Fire Department was called in, but their services were not needed.

"They had it out when we got here," Pete Heptig, battalion chief for the Manhattan Fire Department, said. "It was a small fire, and they just put it out with some water."

Although the fire had been put out, firefighters still made several trips into the house, providing onlookers some excitement.

"We're just going to get the smoke out, then we'll turn it back over to the residents," Heptig said.

Cuttings said the fire appeared worse than it really was.

"There was just a lot of smoke," Cuttings said.

Cuttings said the fire had been very contained and did not spread beyond the entertainment center.

City celebrates revival of historic music scene

KANSAS CITY, Mo. — The old Gem Theater was all aglitter, and sweet melody filled the air as the city celebrated one year of struggling to revive its historic 18th and Vine district.

The district, anchored by the Kansas City Jazz Museum and the Negro League Baseball Museum, has failed to meet attendance projections during the past year, largely because of fears of crime and a lack of restaurants and housing in what can be a hard-to-find area on the East Side.

However, the district got a boost Friday when Academy of Recording Arts and Sciences president Michael Greene said the group was trying to bring a branch office to the area.

The struggle to bring back the wide-open days of the '30s was not a worry for those who walked up piano keys painted on Vine Street to sample fine food and drink in what turned into a tribute to the 99th birthday of Duke Ellington this weekend.

"This destination says everything about the triumphs and our efforts to preserve and honor our history," entertainer Harry Belafonte said. "And we have a lineup that speaks volumes about the state of jazz today."

Ray Charles, George Benson, Mike Metheny, Manhattan Transfer, Ahmad Alaadeen, Oleta Adams and Bobby Watson were on hand.

Singer Patti Austin took the stage promising to "serve up a little of Mr. Ellington's magic" and turned out a medley that included "Take the A Train" and "Solitude."

Austin and singer James Ingram then launched into their award-winning "How Do You Keep the Music Playing."

"We're honoring a special place, a place that fills us with pride and optimism," Mayor Emanuel Cleaver said.

Clyde McQueen didn't get into the Gem but said he was happy with his seat outside and the view from a big-screen TV.

"It's smooth," said McQueen. "It's entertaining, and it feels good."

Best Actress Emmy goes to Helen Hunt

LOS ANGELES — Six months after winning an Oscar for "As Good As It Gets," it got even better for Helen Hunt when she was named best actress in a comedy series for "Mad About You" at Sunday's Emmy Awards.

"I'm the president of 'I was not expecting this,'" said Hunt, who in March won best actress at the Academy Awards for her film role opposite Jack Nicholson.

"Frasier" star Kelsey Grammer won his fourth Emmy as best lead actor in a comedy series for his portrayal of a smooth-talking therapist with a rocky personal life. Co-star David Hyde Pierce took supporting actor in the category.

Awards for outstanding lead performances in drama series went to Christine Lahti of "Chicago Hope" and Andre Braugher of "Homicide: Life on the Street."

The epic, "From the Earth to the Moon," produced by actor Tom Hanks was named outstanding mini-series. HBO's 12-part story was the most-nominated entry overall with 17 bids.

"We were able to dramatize a period piece about 40,000 people in every state of the Union working for one common goal, achieving the impossible," Hanks said.

Camryn Manheim, who plays a tough attorney on "The Practice," accepted the trophy for best-supporting actress in a drama series.

"This is for all the fat girls," said the actress, who held up a small autograph book and invited all the stars on hand to sign it.

Gordon Clapp, who plays good-hearted Detective Greg Medavoy on "NYPD Blue," was honored as best-supporting actor in a drama series.

"Somebody asked me what my favorite television moment was ... and I think it just changed," Clapp said as he picked up his trophy.

In the competitive late-night arena, David Letterman triumphed over Jay Leno as "Late Show With David Letterman" was named best variety, music or comedy series. It was the second victory for the CBS show, which also won in 1994.

Lisa Kudrow, who plays the ditzy Phoebe in NBC's "Friends," won best-supporting actress in a comedy series.

WEATHER

HIGH 79

LOW 60

There's a 50 percent chance of rain today — hope you brought an umbrella to campus. The sun'll come out tomorrow, and the high will be around 80.

CONTACT US

■ NEWSROOM 532-6556
■ ADVERTISING 532-6560
■ CLASSIFIEDS 532-6555

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN
KEDZIE 116
KANSAS STATE UNIVERSITY
MANHATTAN, KS 66506

The Kansas State Collegian (USPS 291 020), a student newspaper at Kansas State University, is published by Student Publications Inc., Kedzie 103, Manhattan, Kan. 66506. The Collegian is published weekdays during the school year and twice a week through the summer. Periodical postage is paid at Manhattan, Kan. 66502. POSTMASTER: Send address changes to Kansas State Collegian, circulation desk, Kedzie 103, Manhattan, Kan. 66506-7167.

© KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN, 1998

MONUMENTAL SAVINGS

OUR BIGGEST SALE OF THE YEAR

SAVE UP TO $200 ON COLLEGE RINGS

ARTCARVED COLLEGE JEWELRY

K-STATE STUDENT UNION

Sept. 14-18
10 a.m.-4 p.m.

©ACCR 1997

WE KNOW where YOU LIVE

the 1999 royal purple yearbook —housing portrait schedule—

Acacia House	Sept. 30	Moore Hall	Sept.8
Alpha Chi Omega	Sept. 8	Miscellaneous Greeks	Sept. 14
Alpha of Clovia	Sept. 23	Off Campus	Sept. 15-18
Alpha Delta Pi	Sept. 14		10-7pm, Union Alcove
Alpha Gamma Rho	Sept. 29	Phi Delta Theta	Oct. 14
Alpha Tau Omega	Sept. 28	Phi Gamma Delta	Sept. 29
Alpha Xi Delta	Sept. 15	Phi Kappa Theta	Oct. 9
Beta Sigma Psi	Oct. 2	Pi Beta Phi	Sept. 10
Beta Theta Pi	Oct. 5	Pi Kappa Alpha	Oct. 1
Boyd Hall	Sept. 21-22	Pi Kappa Phi	Oct. 13
Chi Omega	Sept. 21	Putnam Hall	Sept. 21-22
Delta Chi	Oct. 12	Salina Campus	Sept. 23
Delta Delta Delta	Sept. 18	Sigma Alpha Epsilon	Oct. 6
Delta Sigma Phi	Oct. 12	Sigma Chi	Oct. 2
Delta Tau Delta	Oct. 5	Sigma Kappa	Sept. 24
Delta Upsilon	Oct. 7	Sigma Nu	Oct. 8
Durland Hall (Off Campus)	Oct. 15	Sigma Phi Epsilon	Oct. 1
FarmHouse	Sept. 28	Sigma Sigma Sigma	Sept. 25
Ford Hall	Sept. 11	Smith House	Sept. 30
Gamma Phi Beta	Sept. 11	Smurthwaite	Sept. 16
Goodnow Hall	Sept. 25	Tau Kappa Epsilon	Oct. 6
Haymaker Hall	Sept. 9	Theta Xi	Oct. 9
Jardine Clubhouse	Oct. 16	Van Zile Hall	Sept. 21-22
Kappa Alpha Theta	Sept. 22	Vet Med (Off Campus)	Oct. 7
Kappa Kappa Gamma	Sept. 17	Weber Hall (Off Campus)	Oct. 14
Kappa Sigma	Oct. 8	West Hall	Sept. 10
Lambda Chi Alpha	Oct. 13	Organizations	Oct. 19-22
Marlatt Hall	Sept. 24		6-10 pm, McCain 3rd floor

—we will be shooting on location at fraternities, sororities and residence halls—

SEPT. 14 — 11am-7pm —
✓ Alpha Delta Pi
✓ *Miscellaneous Greeks
✓ *Off Campus
TODAY!!
*10am-7pm Union Alcove

SEPT. 15 — 11am-7pm —
○ Alpha Xi Delta
○ *Miscellaneous Greeks
○ *Off Campus
*10am-7pm Union Alcove

Blakey STUDIO ROYAL PORTRAITS BY

Meet your dean

Interaction with students top priority for business administration head

BY SUZANNE WILSON
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Yar M. Ebadi, dean of the College of Business Administration, is a man who treats his students like customers.

"In the business environment, the customer is the focus, and here I use the same terminology," Ebadi said. "We are here because the students are here."

EBADI

Student involvement is just one aspect of the many things that Ebadi tries to accomplish. However, that seems to be the most important one.

Lindsay Grudem, president of the finance club, said Ebadi can be found roaming the hallway in Calvin Hall. She said he likes to interact with the students.

"(My parents) were really impressed that he could actually pick out their daughter from other students," Grudem said.

Ebadi meets monthly with the presidents of the different business clubs to talk about their issues and goals. Grudem said he really wants to help out in any way he can.

"The whole thing is for the students," Ebadi said. "It's an open-door policy for whenever they want to come see me."

Ebadi also spends a lot of his time in faculty development and recruitment, as well as finding ways to improve facilities for students.

This semester, he'll spend a large part of his time preparing the school to get re-accredited by the International Association for Management Education.

Ebadi said the programs offered in the College of Business Administration must meet a certain standard of quality to keep the college's accreditation. He said that only 20 percent of the business colleges nationwide are accredited.

"We need teachers who are committed to teaching, nurturing and caring for our students, who set aside time in the classroom and outside the classroom," Ebadi said. "We will not compromise on quality."

Jeff Katz, assistant professor in management, said Ebadi encourages a team approach in many aspects of the faculty's work and that he gives them a lot of support.

Ebadi has been working in the business college for more than 15 years. He was appointed dean of the college in 1996.

Ebadi said he enjoys his work.

"It's exciting, because you work with the future leaders," he said.

JEFF COOPER/KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

GETTIN' DOWN AND DIRTY

Sigma Nu and Tau Kappa Epsilon fraternities compete in the Mud Bowl on Sunday morning at Tuttle Creek State Park Area. The Mud Bowl was sponsored by Sigma Kappa and Phi Kappa Theta in a philanthropy for Alzheimer's disease research. Twenty teams participated in the Mud Bowl's fourth year.

Groundbreaking for new Riley County law-enforcement center to begin in October

BY TIM RICHARDSON
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

A new law-enforcement center soon will end a decade-long separation of the Riley County Police Department.

Ground breaking for the center, to be located at the junction of Seth Childs Road and Kansas Highway 18, will be next month. The center will unify the patrol and records department, the investigations department and the county jail.

"We will all be in one location, which will be much more efficient and much more effective," RCPD Capt. Dana Kyle said.

The jail, built in 1938 and intended to hold 19 inmates, is overcrowded.

"We need it because our census in the current facility that was built for 19 holds close to 30," County Commissioner Russ Frey said.

Kyle said the jail has a daily average of 25 to 34 inmates. The RCPD has contracts with surrounding counties to place inmates in cells out of town. All female inmates are in Geary County Jail at Junction City.

The Riley County jail isn't equipped for female prisoners.

"The size of the confinement area is very small," Kyle said. "It's been outgrown."

Cindy Derrick, RCPD jail administrator, said the county pays Geary County about $40 a day for each female inmate housed in the county's jail. She said that along with the larger jail facility, having all employees in one location will allow for easier communication.

"It will locate everyone in one building," she said. "It will be very accessible."

The project will cost $10.8 million and will be financed through a half-cent sales tax increase to begin Jan. 1. The sales tax will replace the current half-cent sales tax for economic development.

Frey said there ultimately might be a quarter-cent sales tax increase if the city's current proposal for economic development passes in November. It also would begin Jan. 1.

The public approved the half-cent sales tax to finance the center in November 1996.

"It will be a state-of-the-art building and will allow them to interact a lot better than they have in the past," Frey said.

In 1986, the county contracted with a Chicago company to conduct a study of the county's need for a larger jail. The study concluded that the county needed a larger facility.

Kyle said the new jail will allow the RCPD to place criminals in classifications such as violent and non-violent offenders.

The RCPD also will hire 16 additional employees, in addition to those who will be moved to the new location. Ten corrections officers, four corrections supervisors and two communication dispatchers will be hired on a staggered system because of training needs.

The new employees will be trained when the center opens next year, Kyle said.

"We anticipate we will be turning the key of the building in late October or November," Kyle said.

The County Commission had nearly 20 sites to review for the location of the center. The site at Seth Childs and K-18 was chosen in part because of Manhattan's growth patterns.

He said that with the city's growth to the west, the new center will put law enforcement in the center of the community.

"It's well-positioned because if we look 25 years out, how much more west will the city be?" he said.

Hair Experts Design Team
Shampoo Sale
Liters $10.95 Reg. $17 to $20
Enough for the semester!
$5 off Any Service
Not valid with any other offer, children's haircuts or waxing.
#23 expires 10/15/98
776-4455
Aggieville, USA

KANSAS STATE
Orchestra
Pops/Light Classical Concert
William Tell Overture
Invitation to the Dance
As Summer Was Just Beginning (Song for James Dean)
"Three Tenors" arias sung by Reg Pittman
Titanic, Dances With Wolves
James Bond
Tuesday, Sept. 15
8:00 p.m. Free
McCain Auditorium

Don't go back to scool without spellcheck.
Computer RENAISSANCE
785-537-4413
315 Fort Riley Blvd.
(near the corner of 4th & Fort Riley)
PENTIUM II SPECIAL
(all new equipment)
Pentium II 266
Loaded with 32 Meg. RAM
32X CD ROM
3.2 Gig Hard drive
56K Modem
Windows 98
14" SVGA Monitor
Color Printer
200 software programs
Lots of extras
$999.99
How to Get There
4th 3rd mall 177 Ft. Riley Blvd.
BACK TO SCHOOL SPECIAL
(refurbished equipment)
Various Configurations
Pentium computer
Color monitor
Color inkjet printer
Windows 95
200 Software Programs
$549.99
We buy, sell, trade used and new computer equipment.

OUR VIEW

Eye-glueing CNN coverage test of Clinton's character

Friday was a monumental day.

Not because of the release of the Office of the Independent Counsel's report, mind you, but because of the incredible hullabaloo it caused. For the first time since police chased O.J. Simpson down the freeway, students across campus were forced to stop watching their soap operas and begin watching CNN. Equally impressive was the fact that nobody seemed to mind; CNN was more entertaining.

The Monica Lewinsky affair has captivated the public, flooding news networks with breaking stories, prompting commentaries like this in news magazines, and causing millions to search the Internet and to keep their Sunday papers in order to peruse Kenneth Starr's report. This is democracy at its finest — the foremost example of what freedom of the press entitles us.

Inhabitants of other countries found our disclosure incomprehensible, yet many in this country embraced it with voyeuristic abandon.

Many also rejected it, choosing to ignore the opportunity to find out in detail the reasons why our president is in trouble. However, as annoying as all of the news media coverage has been, we can now decide for ourselves whether President Clinton is guilty. We do not need to rely on hearsay.

When The Washington Post uncovered the Watergate scandal in the 1970s, it was too confusing and intricate for many Americans to comprehend fully. Even today, many of the records used during the Nixon investigation aren't public record.

Lewinskygate, on the other hand, has been provided in its entirety for the American public to view. The populace won't have any trouble understanding the crimes committed and how they were perpetrated by the president. There is no question about who was involved directly.

EDITORIAL BOARD

EDITOR IN CHIEF
JILL JARSULIC

MANAGING EDITOR/ PRESENTATION
TODD V. STEWART

NEWS EDITOR
TRAVIS LENKNER

PHOTO EDITOR
STEVE HEBERT

CAMPUS EDITOR
KELLEE MILLER

CITY/GOVERNMENT EDITOR
MATT KREPS

SPORTS EDITOR
JEREMY KELLEY

ARTS & ENTERTAINMENT EDITOR
DIANA LEE

OPINION EDITOR
JON KURCHE

COPY CHIEF
JANET COOK

eCOLLEGIAN EDITOR
R.J. DIEPENBROCK

SPECIAL PROJECTS EDITOR
ANGELA KISTNER

The defense that Clinton presents is that he did not commit sexual acts with Lewinsky, but that Lewinsky committed sexual acts with him. That is the sort of immature semantics typical of 5-year-olds and narcissists.

In lying, Clinton not only deceived the American people, but he also deceived his family. This does not make it a private matter; rather, it deepens the rift between him and us. A man who can lie to his wife and daughter in this manner never could be a good leader, despite any actions he is part of while in office.

This sort of behavior never would be tolerated by anyone else. Clarence Thomas nearly wasn't confirmed to the Supreme Court because of sexual-harassment allegations. Sen. Bob Packwood resigned from Congress for the same reason.

Clinton could have saved the American public a lot of time and money if he simply would have admitted his improprieties in the beginning. Obviously, the President isn't the only person who has committed adultery, but using the power of his office, legalese and executive privilege in an attempt to squirm out of trouble is absolutely reprehensible.

Americans should realize that character is an important part of leadership. The American president has been called the leader of the free world. If Americans can't believe him, what does the rest of the world think?

If Clinton's advisers didn't respect and listen to him, he wouldn't be running the country — they would. Thus, they must be able to believe what he says. When foreign diplomats lose respect for our president, they lose respect for all of us, and Americans won't have any voice in the international arena.

A person without character is not a person we would hold in high esteem. Why would we elect one to office?

Clinton should be held accountable for his peccadilloes. The man is too self-centered for remorse. Perhaps perjury in front of a grand jury and in civil court for the Paula Jones case doesn't amount to a high crime. Perhaps obstructing justice and wasting taxpayers' money by refusing to testify is neither an abuse of power nor a misdemeanor. Executive privilege just doesn't go that far.

The Starr report is our opportunity to formulate educated opinions about the foremost issue facing our country right now. Despite the fact that the entire sordid affair has been printed for all to see, White House lawyers continue to use calculated denials to the supposed 11 impeachable offenses.

Clinton's political accomplishments have been lauded, but when does the personal arena eclipse his political savvy?

OUR VIEW, an editorial selected and debated by the editorial board, is written after a majority opinion is formed. The editorial board consists of Collegian editors and other staff members. OUR VIEW is the Collegian's official opinion.

AARON FRUEHLING/COLLEGIAN

BEING MY OWN WOMAN

Life as a housewife really isn't all that terrible

VIEWPOINT

MARY RENEE SMITH

Women of our generation have more opportunities than our mothers and grandmothers could have dreamed. Any one of us could be an astronaut, a carpenter, a doctor or an owner of our own fish hatchery.

We are the women who are supposed to crash through the glass ceiling. Equal pay for equal work has become our battle cry.

We read articles about how to say "no" to unwanted advances and respect our bodies in magazines wrapped in photos of half-naked, heroin-thin models.

We are pushed to strive for a better life, a life our mothers didn't have. No longer are we confined to our homes, bound for life to a man, darning socks and baking cookies.

But I like baking cookies. I can't darn a sock to save my life, but I make a mean peanut-butter cookie. I do plan on spending the rest of my life with one man. I am a bit of a homebody. Where does that leave me in the scheme of the modern woman?

After nearly working myself to death while going to school the past three years, I decided to be a stay-at-home mom, sort of. I quit my three other jobs, and now I just go to class and write columns.

I am home when my children come home from school. I do my homework in the morning before I go to class, so I have time in the evening to help them with school projects, ride bicycles through the neighborhood and watch Cartoon Network.

We eat real dinners now at the dining-room table. Before, it was difficult to see the table under unopened mail and unfolded clothes.

Don't get me wrong, I'm not wearing pearls and an apron while vacuuming, but I am mostly a full-time housewife now.

I am proud of what I do. I wouldn't trade my new less-hectic home lifestyle for all the money and prestige in the world. Then why do I feel like I am letting down the entire feminist movement?

I could blame it on the media. Television moms these days rarely are stay-at-home moms. They work a full-time job, keep the house clean, cook low-fat nutritious meals, take the children to piano lessons, coach the softball team, log in volunteer hours with their favorite charity and still have time to have a great relationship with 10 friends, their husbands and their mother.

I do know real-life women who can and do live that life. I could choose to live it, too. But just because you can do something doesn't mean you should or have to.

I count my lucky stars that I have the choice of whether to work outside the home. My husband's job and financial aid provide our family with enough income to eat, to keep us from being naked and to have cable. Not all families have these luxuries; for those women, the choice of staying home or working has been made.

Women who work outside the home have fought a long, hard battle to be able to have that choice. I would never want to take away from those accomplishments. I just wonder if somewhere along the way we haven't shot ourselves in the foot.

I'm not convinced we are always looking out for the best interest of our children, not that we haven't tried to make it appear that way.

The studies depicting lonely, endangered latchkey children have given way to the praises of self-reliant youngsters who are proud of their successful parents. Even with the positive studies, we moms still have to assuage our guilt with elaborate birthday parties and soccer teams.

I stand in awe of women who can do it all. I respect their choices and wish them the best of luck in their endeavors.

I am thankful for the media portrayals of successful women. I just wish there were a few modern-day housewives out there, too.

Mary Renee Smith is a junior in speech. You can send her e-mail at mojo@ksu.edu.

Americans should take advantage of their freedoms

VIEWPOINT

KELLIE KORB

There are two really great things about the country in which we are so fortunate to live.

One is freedom of speech. Freedom of speech allows me to have this column. Freedom of speech allows me to say pretty much whatever I want in this column. Freedom of speech allows you to write letters to the editor when you disagree with what I say. Freedom of speech is something we utilize every day and rarely realize.

You use it when you call your professor a bag of hot air that only likes to hear himself talk. The media use it constantly; if not for freedom of speech, we never might have found out that our president is a lying sack of scum (See! Freedom of speech right there.) I love freedom of speech.

The second great thing about our country is freedom of religion. I could get down on my knees and pay homage to the purple monkey, king of all Hostess snack treats, if I ever were inclined to do so. However, freedom of religion is, sadly, one blessing that so many of us fail to use to our advantage.

Please do not stop reading! I am not going to go on a tirade about how those of you, who do not go to church or do not believe in God, are condemned to rot in hell. Your soul and where it is going after you die is between you and God. I simply am saying that one of our fundamental rights is grossly overlooked and seriously neglected.

I have so many friends that have been on mission trips to Mexico, India, Saudi Arabia, China, Thailand — all over the world — to take the gospel of Jesus Christ to people that do not have access to it. A close friend of mine smuggled Bibles into China a few years ago. Unthinkable things could have happened to her, had she been caught. Death surely would have been the punishment for those to whom she delivered the Bibles. Death, folks. Death, because the people of that country wanted to read and learn about the Lord. Those people were, and are, willing to risk their lives, go against their government and take a stand for what they believe. They are willing to die, because they were not so fortunate to have freedom of religion.

I think that my favorite thing about freedom of religion is the conflict it causes. Sounds sick, I know, but hear me out. Conflict causes discussion and revelation, and it causes people to question and to seek the truth, which is out there.

I love it that I have a friend who is an atheist. Note, I do not love the fact that she is an atheist. That breaks my heart, but what I love is that both of us are able to express our points of view. I can tell her why I think that Christ is the savior of the world, and she can tell me why she thinks I am wasting my time by reading the Bible. My friend and I can get into a heated discussion in the middle of Oak Park Mall, but nobody is going to kill her for her beliefs or beat the ever-loving snot out of me for mine. I learn from her, she learns from me. Keep in mind that freedom of religion enables us to have such a discussion.

My point is this: There are people all over this world who would be willing, quite literally, to give their lives for a taste of what we have. Yet, day after day, we cavalierly ignore this fact. I am just as guilty of it as the next person. Until I venture out of my comfort zone of Christian friends and out of my bubble of safety into a country that is dramatically different from the United States, I will not be able to grasp firmly the gift and good fortune that has been bestowed mercifully, not only upon me, but the rest of us as well.

So, here is my suggestion: Find a friend and ask if you can join them at church next Sunday (if they do not subscribe to the Christian belief, their day of worship). If you are not big on leaving campus, try one of the on-campus ministries. They post times and meeting places via fliers and sidewalk chalk; just look down while going to class, and you're bound to catch some information. If you do not like that idea, strike up a conversation with somebody. Another pretty nifty thing about religion is that everybody has an opinion on it, so finding someone to talk to would not be too difficult. My e-mail address is somewhere on this column, and I am obviously open to discussion.

Bottom line: Take advantage of your freedom and appreciate it. Realize that it is something that is precious and should not be taken for granted. Your decision to do so conceivably could be the best thing you ever have done.

Kellie Korb is a sophomore in theater. You can e-mail her at krk7756@ksu.edu.

SERVING OTHERS

K-State students spend summer doing community-service projects

MORE INFO? Students interested in the program can visit the Community Service Program in Edwards Hall or call 532-5701.

BY LYNETTE ABITZ
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Instead of a summer at home playing in the sun, several K-State students dedicated their vacations to serving others.

Traveling to communities in Kansas as well as other countries, these students took part in community-service projects while enhancing their leadership, communication and conflict-management skills. They did this as part of the Community Service Program at K-State.

Groups of four students were members of Kansas teams. They traveled to Paola, Ellis, Liberal, Garden City, and Lincoln and Chautauqua counties. Activities ranged from downtown development and beautification to developing a community-wide youth program.

Marla Sherrill, senior in art education, learned about the program from a class she was taking. She was part of the team that traveled to Chautauqua County. It developed a community-youth program for the towns of Sedan and Cedarville using themes such as the environment, fun and community service for each week. Team members developed a program that was both educational and fun.

They also enlisted the help of area high school students who would continue the program after the K-State students left.

Sherrill said the program was a great learning experience. She learned about discipline, organization and relating to children.

"I learned people are different, and you have to respect everybody and how they grew up," she said.

Sherrill said she also felt the program was beneficial to children. She said students' varied backgrounds showed the children that things exist outside their small communities, and they will have to adjust to different lifestyles in the future.

While Sherrill and other K-State students were developing programs in Kansas communities, other students were working in different countries. K-State sent teams to Michoacan, Mexico; Izamal, Mexico; El Papaturro, El Salvador; Los Chavalitos, Nicaragua; Amman, Jordan; and Piribebuy, Paraguay.

Students focused on the environment, medicine, developing small businesses and teaching English. These trips lasted up to 10 weeks.

Cara Knutson, senior in family studies and community service, traveled to Jordan with three other students.

Their jobs were to teach English to women and children and evaluating the existing microenterprise efforts.

Knutson said it was a good cultural experience.

"I was amazed at how hospitable the people were," she said. " They really opened their homes and their lives to us."

Knutson said there were occasional difficulties with the language barrier and working with teammates who may have different personalities.

"I am a lot more open-minded to all kinds of people now," she said.

Studying abroad was a goal for Emily Morrison, senior in psychology and a member of the El Salvador team.

She learned about the international teams from a professor and decided to apply.

Morrison's team brought medicines such as Tylenol and cough syrup and translated the directions to people in the community. They also tried to find a market for jewelry made by area women.

Morrison said the people affected her the most.

While Sherrill and other K-State students were developing programs in Kansas communities, other students were working in different countries. K-State sent teams to Michoacan, Mexico; Izamal, Mexico; El Papaturro, El Salvador; Los Chavalitos, Nicaragua; Amman, Jordan; and Piribebuy, Paraguay.

"They have an amazing spirit and vision for the future," she said.

The community Morrison worked in had developed its own water system and agricultural corporation, and it banned alcohol.

Students from the Kansas and international teams are required to take a one-hour reflection course in the fall semester following their trips.

This gives them a chance to share their experiences. They also receive a $500 scholarship for the fall semester.

Golden Key Honor Society to recruit new members

BY JENNI LATZKE
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Are you in?

The K-State chapter of Golden Key National Honor Society is asking students that question this week as it kicks off its campus-awareness campaign.

Beginning today on the first floor of the K-State Student Union, members of Golden Key will staff an informational booth to recruit new members from 9 a.m. to 3:30 p.m.

Chapter historian Meleah Gearon, senior in advertising and marketing, said the campaign was designed to create curiosity about the group and attract students to the booth.

Chapter vice president James Lehman, senior in biology and premedicine, said the group is expecting a favorable turnout.

"We're putting in a lot of work," he said. "There will be a video of the international convention playing continuously, posters and pictures of Golden Key's work last year, and brochures telling about the benefits of joining."

Golden Key is an honorary for juniors and seniors in the top-15 percent of their classes. Most students who are eligible for membership might have gotten a letter of invitation last spring, Gearon said.

She said students who think they would like to join but haven't yet received an invitation should stop by the booth, where they can be cross-referenced in a database of possible members.

Gearon said that more than 600 students were invited. Membership applications are due Sept. 30.

Golden Key performs many community-service projects in the Manhattan area. In addition, the group sponsors the Graduate Teaching Assistant of the Year award. Applications are accepted from all of the colleges, and the winner is guest of honor at a spring banquet.

Members also are encouraged to attend regional, national and international conventions, where they learn leadership skills. K-State was selected to serve as host of the Golden Key Central Regional Convention in April, which will bring together members from 29 chapters in several states.

Golden Key is a worldwide honorary that has more than 270 chapters in such countries as Australia, Brazil and Canada.

An informational meeting for interested students will be at 6:30 p.m. Thursday in the Union Little Theatre.

Improvements to dance studios to be completed this month

BY AMANDA EWING
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

A $250,000 renovation of four new dance and theater studios in Nichols Hall will be completed by the middle of September.

The remodeling process was started in June, but the need for the upgrades had existed for years.

David Procter, director of the speech communication, theater and dance department, said the original studios in Ahearn Field House were never quite right.

"The original studios were built on top of wrestling areas in the early '70s," Procter said. "The ceilings are not high enough, and there's not good climate control."

The need for the studios also came from a lack of safe facilities in Ahearn. Since the studios are on the third floor of Ahearn, certain Americans with Disabilities Act codes could not be met. The single entrance to the third floor also was not acceptable to the fire marshal.

The new studios, some of which were remodeled from the old Computing and Network Services offices, are a step up both in terms of safety and technology, Procter said.

"These are state-of-the-art studios," Procter said. "They have a super sound system, the floors are top of the line, and the climate control is much better."

The new floors are sprung-wood floors that give more than concrete floors. This helps prevent dance-related injuries.

"The professors literally jumped on lots of floors to see what kind they wanted," Catherine Ostroe, fifth-year senior in dance, said.

The new sound system also is a vast improvement over the system in Ahearn.

"The sound system is excellent," Procter said. "It's like moving from eight tracks to the best CD player you can get."

The improvements didn't come cheaply, and the department was responsible for raising nearly half of the needed funds. K-State contributed $150,000.

"We are about $15,000 short," Grace Hwang, dance development board member, said. "We have a plan as to how to get the rest."

The fund-raising effort was started a year and a half ago by local dance patrons Jacquie Brewer and Bill Durkee. Ruth Ann Wefald, wife of President Jon Wefald and Barbara Wilson, Manhattan resident, were also active in the initial efforts.

"They were largely instrumental in getting donations by getting names and making phone calls," Hwang said.

The main fund-raising event included performed selections from Spring Dance and a new piece that was choreographed by dance faculty member Joyce Yagerline. The piece was performed with the Missouri State Ballet.

Janusz Jaworski, senior in secondary speech and theater education and dance, said being able to thank donors personally at the gala was rewarding.

"It was nice because there was no way we could have done this without people giving us their money," Jaworski said.

Private donations from local residents and elsewhere added to the amount raised.

"It was a real effort on the part of a lot of people who love dance and the performing arts," Hwang said.

With their completion, the new studios will allow dance and theater students to continue to produce quality performances.

"We can do more real lifting, jumping and aerial work," Jaworski said. "You'll see some new things that come out of the studios."

The improved studios and increased spaces also will benefit theater and musical productions.

"They will double our space for rehearsal purposes and classroom space," Lew Shelton, associate professor of theater, said. "They give us the space to rehearse that is nearly the same size as the space where we perform in McCain."

The four studios are named after people who have been of significant importance to the dance program over the years. The new studios are the Ruth Ann Wefald Theater Movement Studio, the Roni Mahler Ballet Studio, the Luke Kahlich Studio and the Jacquie Brewer and William Durkee Studio.

SHOP at WEST LOOP

Westloop, Manhattan 539-3333

NO BULL!

-BOTH PRICES INCLUDE-
-ANY FRAME IN STOCK WITH LENSES*!
-OVER 2,000 FRAMES ON DISPLAY!
ALWAYS THE BEST SELECTION
*For Rx limitations see our Optician or read our brochure.

PAYLESS OPTICAL
QUALITY EYEWEAR AT AFORDABLE PRICES

1316 WEST LOOP • MANHATTAN • 785-537-1574

BRING IN THIS AD FOR A GIFT WITH YOUR PURCHASE!

the LOOP with Molly Brammer 532-6560

BEAT THE CLOCK MONDAYS
Beat the Clock after 6:30 and receive a Large Single Topping Pizza at a price equal to the time on the clock.
(Regular Rotation Only)
Gambino's Pizza®
Starting at 6 p.m.
Open Late Fri. & Sat.
537-9090

AVEDA
THE ART AND SCIENCE OF PURE FLOWER AND PLANT ESSENCES™

Get A Head Start.>>
Be among the first to discover new talent. Book an appointment with our stylists. An Aveda professional who knows all the trends and techniques. The cuts and styles. And all the ways to make you shine. This kind of expertise is available only at an Aveda Concept Salon™. So hurry and schedule an appointment today — before everyone else does.
Hair Care | Skin Care | Makeup | Plant Perfume™ | Body Care
GAÏA
108 S. 4th St. • 539-2622
© 1998 Aveda Corporation. All rights reserved.

Claflin Books and Copies
DEPENDABLE QUALITY SERVICE:
WORD PROCESSING
1814 Claflin Rd 776-3771

PIZZA SHUTTLE DELIVERS
776-5577
1800 Claflin Road

Kansas State University Transportation Analysis Public Workshop

KSU Parking Services will host a public workshop from 2:00 to 6:00 p.m. on Wednesday, September 16, 1998, in the McCain Auditorium Lobby. The consulting team from TranSystems will display and discuss data collected to date. TranSystems is also consulting with the City of Manhattan in the Manhattan Area Transportation Study. The Workshop will also provide the University an opportunity to comment on four primary focus areas:

- Does K-State need a transit system?
- ...a parking garage?
- Does K-State's roadway network measure up?
- What does the consultant suggest for pedestrian travel?

Public input is needed to assist in making decisions which will impact Kansas State for many years to come.

EMPLOYMENT OPPORTUNITIES

Big Lakes Developmental Center, Inc., provides programs and services for individuals with developmental disabilities. Excellent opportunities for students or just as a second job. Applications will be accepted for following positions:

SUPERVISED LIVING ADVISOR: Multiple positions responsible for providing personal care, supervision and training, record keeping, transportation, and light household maintenance at a residential home. Part-time positions, 18.5 hours on alternate weekends to 25 hours per week. $7.35 per hour. Pre-employment drug screening required. COMMUNITY LIVING ADVISOR: Responsibilities include training, record keeping, transporting, and providing support services to persons in semi-independent living. Part-time position, 9:00 a.m.-9:00 p.m., Saturday and Sunday. Alternate weekends. $7.35 per hour. SUBSTITUTE FOR SUPPORTED LIVING: Responsibilities include providing training, record keeping, transportation, and light household maintenance. Evening, early morning, and/or weekend hours. $7.35 per hour. Occasional hours.

Minimum qualifications include high school diploma or equivalent, three years driving experience, and a good driving record. Applications accepted through September 18, 1998. For rewarding and challenging opportunities and further information contact:

Human Resources Director
BIG LAKES DEVELOPMENTAL CENTER, INC.
1416 Hayes Dr. Manhattan, KS 66502
785/776-9201 (M-F 8:00 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.)
EOE/AA

VOLLEYBALL COVERAGE

See Tuesday's Collegian for the complete wrap-up of weekend volleyball action.

IVAN KOZAR/KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

K-State running back David Allen leaps into the end zone for a touchdown Saturday afternoon against Northern Illinois.

Hitting on all

CYLINDERS

STEVE HEBERT/KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

K-State's Monty Beisel (44) celebrates with football in hand after the Wildcats recover a kickoff in the first half of play against Northern Illinois on Saturday at KSU Stadium.

Cats set school record for points in victory against Huskies

AP TOP 25

Rank	Record	Pts.	Last
1. Ohio St. (57)	2-0	1,733	1
2. Florida (9)	2-0	1,625	3
3. Nebraska (1)	3-0	1,582	4
4. UCLA (1)	1-0	1,527	6
5. K-STATE (2)	2-0	1,466	5
6. Tennessee	1-0	1,353	8
7. LSU	1-0	1,348	7
8. Penn State	2-0	1,283	9
9. Washington	1-0	1,157	11
10. Virginia	2-0	1,074	12
11. Florida State	1-1	987	2
12. Georgia	2-0	919	15
13. Syracuse	1-1	874	19
14. Wisconsin	2-0	771	17
15. Colorado	2-0	722	16
16. Arizona	2-0	608	21
17. Texas A&M	1-1	562	18
18. USC	2-0	520	22
19. West Virginia	0-1	456	20
20. N.C. State	2-0	434	NR
21. Missouri	2-0	330	25
22. Oregon	2-0	245	24
23. Notre Dame	1-1	199	10
24. Alabama	2-0	163	NR
25. Mississippi State	2-0	110	NR

By SAM FELSENFELD
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

K-State's football team did it all in its 73-7 win over visiting Northern Illinois on Saturday: three interceptions, nine touchdowns, a fumble recovery, a punt return for a touchdown, a kickoff recovered 40 yards downfield and 59 first-half points.

But it was a field goal that stole the show in the Wildcats' record-breaking win.

K-State place-kicker Martin Gramatica set personal, school and Big 12 records with a 65-yard field goal at the close of the first half.

"I still can't believe it," he said after the game. "I just closed my eyes and visualized it going through. I knew I could get the distance, and if I could keep it straight, it would go through."

The kick gave the Cats a 59-7 lead at the break, a school record for points in a half.

"I had no doubt that he could and would hit that," K-State coach Bill Snyder said.

The ball didn't travel too far past the uprights, but that didn't concern Gramatica.

"I don't care," he said. "Sixty-five is good enough for me."

However, his teammates, who celebrated as if they'd just won a bowl game, said they felt otherwise.

"I wish we could have backed it up a little bit," K-State quarterback Michael Bishop said. "I think it could've gone 70 yards."

Gramatica's pregame range is usually around 65 yards, but before Saturday, he'd never had the chance to attempt anything longer than 55. Snyder had said he'd like to give Gramatica the chance to try from beyond the 50, but that he was afraid of the consequences of giving the ball to an opponent in that area of the field in case of a miss.

Saturday's game presented the perfect opportunity for the record-breaking attempt, because the first half ended as the ball soared through the air, eliminating the opportunity for Northern Illinois to capitalize on a potential miss.

While Gramatica stole the show on the day the Cats set a school record with 73 points, surpassing the 67 points K-State scored against Akron on Sept. 23, 1995, he said making the kick added pressure for him to perform throughout the rest of the season.

"Now if I miss anything under that I'll be mad at myself, because I know I can make it from there," he said.

The field goal was his third of the game, and it increased his total to four-of-five on the season.

He also kicked seven extra points on the day, the first coming after K-State started the scoring, driving 66 yards on 12 plays after the opening kickoff. Sophomore running back David Allen, who entered the game with six career rushes for 37 yards, carried the ball nine times for 54 yards and the score on the drive.

Following the Cats' first defensive series, in which they gave the Huskies only two yards on three plays, Allen returned Kent Baker's punt 69 yards for a touchdown, his second return for a touchdown this season.

Allen finished the game with three returns for 111 yards, giving him 624 career return yards, one short of Mitch Running's school record.

After Allen's two touchdowns to open the scoring, six different Cats scored the final seven touchdowns.

Strong safety Jarrod Cooper scored the Cats' third touchdown from 15 yards out after receiving a lateral from defensive back Gerald Neasman, who intercepted a pass at the Northern Illinois 21-yard line. Bishop ran for a pair of two-yard touchdown runs, running back Marlon Charles carried one in from four yards out and quarterback Adam Helm had a five-yard run for a score.

The passing game also contributed a pair of scores. Running back Eric Hickson took a screen pass from Bishop

■ See ROUT on PAGE 10

IVAN KOZAR/KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

K-State wide receiver Darnell McDonald catches a pass over the outstretched arms of Northern Illinois's Buster Sampson for a touchdown during the third quarter of Saturday's game. K-State defeated Northern Illinois 73-7.

COACHES TOP 25

Rank	Record	Pts.	Last
1. Ohio St (52)	2-0	1,537	1
2. Florida (1)	2-0	1,432	4
3. Nebraska (7)	3-0	1,425	3
4. K-STATE	2-0	1,324	5
5. UCLA	1-0	1,289	6
6. Tennessee	1-0	1,171	7
7. LSU	1-0	1,170	8
8. Penn State	2-0	1,134	9
9. Washington	1-0	1,020	10
10. Virginia	2-0	952	12
11. Florida State	1-1	901	2
12. Georgia	2-0	879	13
13. Syracuse	1-1	683	18
14. Wisconsin	2-0	680	17
15. Colorado	2-0	661	16
16. USC	2-0	495	23
17. Arizona	2-0	490	21
18. Texas A&M	1-1	424	19
19. Missouri	2-0	342	25
20. West Virginia	0-1	333	20
21. Virginia Tech	2-0	245	NR
22. Alabama	2-0	207	NR
23. Oregon	2-0	165	NR
24. N.C. State	2-0	159	NR
25. Notre Dame	1-1	156	11

CROSSWORD

CROSSWORD By Eugene Sheffer

ACROSS
1 Too confident
5 Listening device
8 "Pygmalion" writer
12 Gilbert & Sullivan work
14 Body of laws
15 Country-wide
16 Santa's runway
17 Teachers' org.
18 In the thick of 20 Ship of the desert
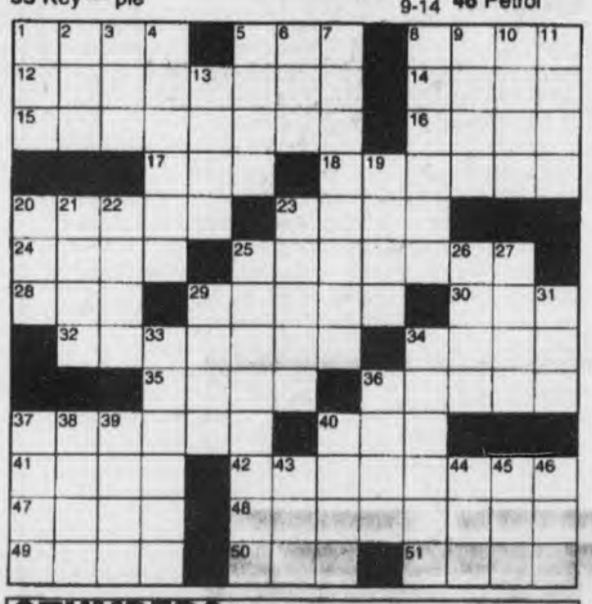
23 Attempt
24 Mil. sch.
25 Popular takeout cuisine
28 Oz bigwig, for short
29 Out-fielder's need
30 Ms. Lindstrom
32 Strip (of)
34 Avon calling
35 Key — pie
36 Pondered
37 Party outfit?
40 110 in the shade
41 Greatly
42 Meeting on the sly
47 Inlet
48 Great happiness
49 Golf gadgets
50 Witness
51 Siestas



DOWN
1 Misdeed
2 Extinct New Zealander
3 Last: abbr.
4 Profited
5 Sicilian spouter
6 "Caught ya!"
7 Comparative
8 Writer
9 Boyz' home?
10 Commotions
11 Warp crossing
13 Year-end refrain
19 Horse's neck hair
20 Cornfield comment
21 What A.G. Bell spilled
22 Lab rat's challenge
23 Push hard
25 Prevailing conditions
26 Resorts
27 Hibernia
29 Sinister
31 Put together
33 Chinaware
34 Campaign souvenir
36 Slam-dance
37 Treaty
38 Bum aid
39 Jupiter's alias
40 Over-blown publicity
43 Wish undone
44 Nest-egg acct.
45 Chill in the air
46 Petrol

Solution time: 25 min.

O	L	G	A		L	I	D	O		I	M	P
K	O	O	L		I	O	W	A		R	E	L
R	O	L	L		S	T	A	R		A	N	E
A	N	D	Y		T	A	R		A	Q	U	A
			S	H	E		F	U	L
W	A	S	H	E	R		S	P	L	I	C	E
A	L	I	E	N				P	Y	L	O	N
D	E	T	E	C	T		C	E	M	E	N	T
			D	E	E		A	R	C
Z	A	N	Y		M	R	S		B	R	A	N
A	G	E		S	P	O	T		E	I	R	E
P	E	W		A	L	S	O		A	P	E	X
S	E	T		D	E	E	R		L	E	S	T

Saturday's answer

9-14

STUMPED? For answers to today's crossword, call 1-900-454-6873 99¢ per minute, touch-tone / rotary phones. (18+ only.) A King Features service, NYC.

9-14 CRYPTOQUIP

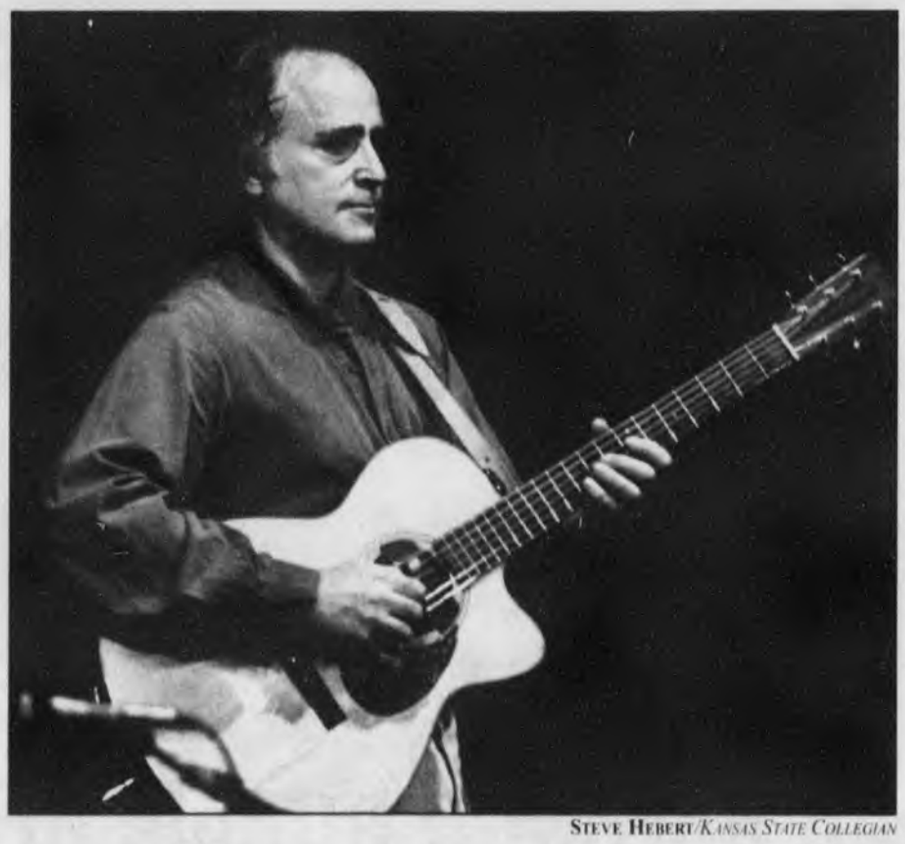
V K M V P Y U T U L Y D M D W N V K H E R F N Y Q W T M L E M D Y Q V I K H I R T E F H E V K T K T E I N I W Y U T P H M .

Saturday's Cryptoquip: THE GROUCH WHO OWNED THE LEMON GROVE WAS VERY SIMPLY CONSIDERED A SOURPUSS.

Today's Cryptoquip clue: I equals C

CRYPTOQUIP BOOK 2! Send $4.50 (check/m.o.) to CryptoClassics Book 2, PO Box 6411, Riverton NJ 08077.



The Cryptoquip is a substitution cipher in which one letter stands for another. If you think that X equals O, it will equal O throughout the puzzle. Single letters, short words and words using an apostrophe give you clues to locating vowels. Solution is by trial and error.

CONSPIRACY THEORY

TAYLOR GRIMES

Barefoot but enticing; 1st show a smash

STEVE HEBERT/KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Guitarist Paul Reisler entertains a full house of nearly 100 audience members during a Saturday night show at the Manhattan Center for the Arts. The concert was a BirdHouse Productions show, the first for this fall.

BY AMY MILLER
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Saturday's BirdHouse Productions show, the first in its fall series, was more like a gathering of talented friends than a formal concert.

Maybe it was the fact that the Manhattan Center for the Arts' Grosh Performance Hall seats little more than 100 people. Maybe it was the stage's living-room set, in place for a play next weekend. Or maybe it was all the bare feet on stage — only one of the four performers wore shoes.

Despite the informal mood, musician Paul Reisler proved that Manhattan's acoustic-music lovers should run out and buy tickets for the rest of the season's shows.

Reisler's guitar and hammered-dulcimer solos blended essences of Spanish, Slavic, Celtic and Nepalese music.

He said he wrote "Elegy: The Dry Leaves of Autumn" for a friend's memorial. Reisler said he had stayed with the friend during the final three months of his fatal illness. Heavy chimes underneath the chorus sounded like a grandfather clock. Then the chimes slowed, and the melody changed to haunting, drawn-out tones, like a cold wind.

For "This Road," written by Reisler and John McCutcheon, he brought singer-songwriter Alisa Fineman onstage, because, as Reisler said, "I'm sort of singing-impaired." This was their fifth show together, he said.

"This Road" was both a fond memory of watching a few travelers come and go along a rural avenue and a lament for its busy future, when the cars will run two abreast and people will move eagerly with the times.

Reisler and Fineman were joined for a few songs by vocalist Robin Harrell and guitarist Peter Lainson, both of Hastings, Neb. Reisler said that although he has been a member of the new-age group Trapezoid for more than 20 years, he enjoyed the opportunity to perform alone and with guest artists.

The quartet performed "The Weaver and the Web," about a spider becoming tangled in its web. The song became a metaphor for people who become captive in the webs of their mistakes: "Round and round we go, till we no longer know. Will it ever end? The weaver and the web."

The four also performed Reisler's "Peace of Wild Things," about finding solace from the strains of daily life in the solitude of pine trees and soaring eagles.

"This is my favorite song I've ever written," he said. "I finally released it on a CD, because I was tired of taping it for people."

Fineman, who opened the show with three solos, said she was enjoying her first visit to Kansas.

"This is one of the advantages of being a performer," she said. "You get to see the country's nooks and crannies."

She said her idea of wealth differed from other people's. Her grandfather could not understand why she chose to live in an old cabin without heat, she said, because he wanted her to have more money and more possessions. In her song "Ask for More," Fineman described some of the happy moments from her life that have made her wealthy, such as laughing hysterically when a failed dance step sent her flying across the room.

She also sang "Corridor," about the indiscriminant destruction of fires, floods and earthquakes in her native California: "It doesn't matter if you're rich. It doesn't matter if you're poor. 'Cause everyone is small on this corridor."

Only a few seats were empty Saturday at the arts center. When the audience begged for an encore with stomps and cheers, Reisler, from rural Virginia, said he was glad to see Kansas again.

"I haven't been out to the Midwest for about eight years," he said, "and I don't know why."

2 Skinnee J's brings mixture of hip-hop, rock

BY JEFF ELLIOTT
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

The 2 Skinnee J's are a unique band with a combination of styles.

Take Chuck D of Public Enemy and toss him in with the comical lyrics and musical taste of the Bloodhound Gang, and you get the 2 Skinnee J's experience.

MORE INFO?
The 2 Skinnee J's will appear in Manhattan with The Urge and Paw on Tuesday Sept. 15 at the Wareham Opera House.

Mixing hip-hop with rock, the group's music has been compared to that of the Beastie Boys and 311.

What sets the 2 Skinnee J's apart is the band's unorthodox lineup.

The 2 Skinnee J's are front man "Curious" J. Guevara and supporting vocalist/rapper "Special J." The duo is backed by an entourage of rappers, guitarists, DJs and musicians.

"¡Super! Mercado," the group's big-label debut, delivers a quick fix of tongue-in-cheek lyrics and delicious guitar riffs.

The first track, "Pluto," is a catchy song about the last planet in our solar system.

The song has no apparent point or relevancy, but after listening to it a couple of times, it's hard not to sing along with the repeated chorus, "Pluto . . . is a planet!"

The current single, and the best song on the album, is "718." The track's flowing lyrics and rocked-out guitar rhythms display the true power of the 2 Skinnee J's sound.

"¡Super! Mercado" is a justifiable purchase. However, the band fails to deliver a broad portfolio of songs, which will cause a listener to grow weary after 12 tracks of the redundant sound.

Music Review

"¡Super Mercado"
★★★
out of 5 stars

Beach Museum without director; job not easy position to fill

BY RUSSELL FORTMEYER
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

The Marianna Kistler Beach Museum of Art has been operating without a permanent director since spring.

For an art museum, that's not too unusual.

The Association of Art Museum Directors says that there are nearly 20 major museums in the country operating without a director. Those museums, among the most prestigious in the country, range from the Kimbell Art Museum in Fort Worth, Texas, to the Whitney Museum in New York City.

Millicent Gaudieri, executive director of the Art Directors' Association, said it is not uncommon for so many jobs to be open at a time.

"Six months is a short time to find a director for a museum," Gaudieri said. "It takes nine months to a year to find a director."

She said the evolving nature of a director's job makes it a difficult position to fill.

"The director used to be the art historian as well as the director," Gaudieri said. "Over the years, the director has come to spend more time overseeing fund raising more than the works of art."

Beach Museum director Nelson Britt resigned last March to pursue other opportunities. At the time, he said he would stay until Aug. 30 but left weeks after his announcement.

Britt, who has been doing some private museum consulting this summer, said that he has helped the museum with its transition to interim director Charles Reagan. Reagan already serves as executive assistant to President Jon Wefald and as chairman of the museum's advisory board.

"This was six years of my life," said Britt, who joined the museum in 1992 when it was just a collection and orchestrated the construction of its building on the campus' southeast corner. "I needed to put my own house in order, and this gave me a chance. I have not turned my back on the museum."

However, a show of regional artists for the fall season to be curated by Britt was canceled because of his resignation. Britt said that it was for the best, because he didn't want to be popping in and out of the museum all summer working on a show.

Although Britt said the museum is in good hands for the future, he said he would have liked to have worked more on garnering financial support for the museum's programming.

"Art museums are asking way too much of their directors," Britt said. "Directors need assistants as development officers. I think the boards are finally getting light of this."

There are museums who have both directors, who mainly handle arts-related responsibilities, and development officers, who concentrate on financial matters. However, the director usually sits at the top of the administrative chain.

Alice Thorson, art critic for the Kansas City Star, said she wonders whether the AIDS epidemic hasn't decimated a generation of potential arts leaders.

However, she said the director's job can be extremely political, driving away some candidates. Although Manhattan might not be subject to the intense behind-the-scenes wrangling of a larger arts area like New York City, many local arts advocates anonymously will agree that the political nature of a university-art museum director's job can be trying.

"I do think directors are responsible to the trustees, and trustees tend to be people with a lot of money and egos and ideas of what a museum can be," Thorson said. "You need a board that lets the professional do his job."

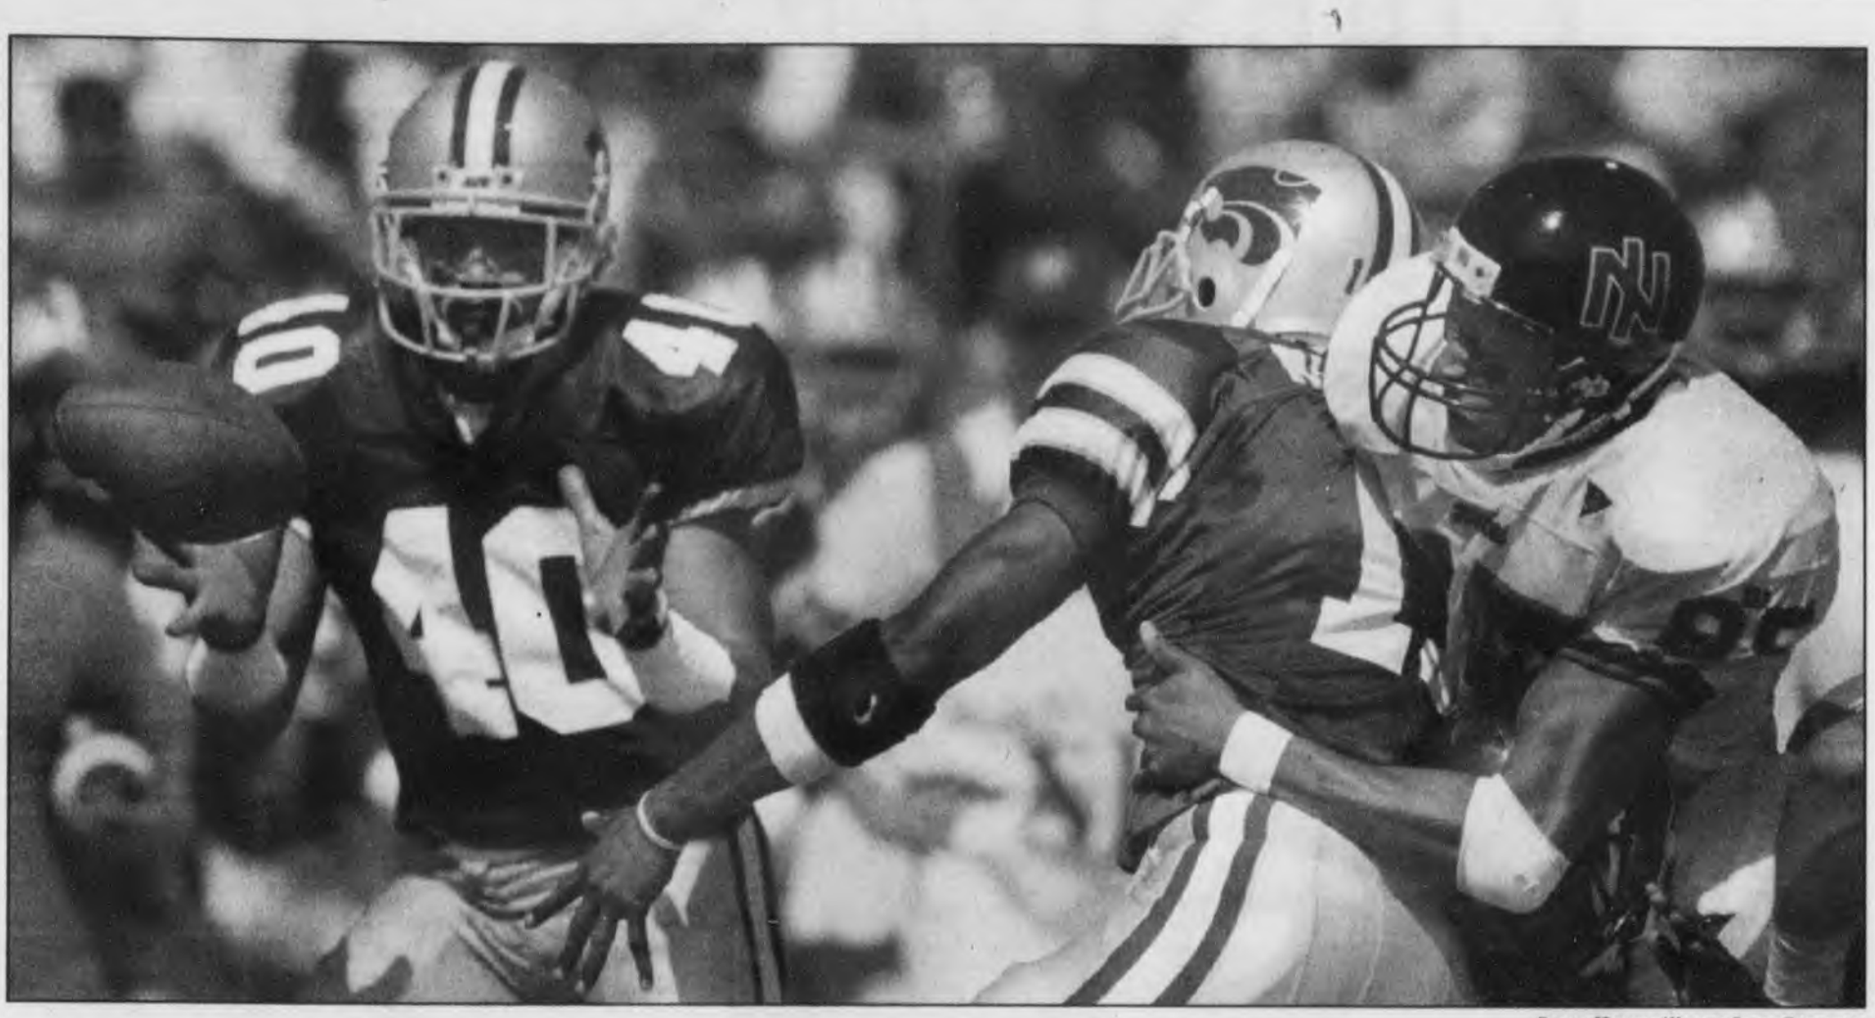
Since taking over, Reagan has installed a new bookkeeping method and a management system for the approximately 1,500 works in the museum's permanent art collection. He also oversaw a director-search committee over the summer that netted some applicants but no one the museum board agreed to hire.

The board since has hired a consulting firm to search for a director. It plans to interview finalists in November and to have a new director installed by January.

Reagan said the museum is looking for someone as director who perhaps is associated with a larger museum but who wants the challenge of a director's job.

"The new director needs to explore finding new donors and patrons, lead the museum to accreditation with the American Association of Museums and expand the exhibition schedule," Reagan said.

"There's probably no job that requires more skills or political savvy than a museum director."



DILBERT

MANN HATTEN

AARON FRUEHLING

STEVE HEBERT/KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Before being tackled by Northern Illinois's Justin McCareins (right), K-State defensive back Gerald Neasman (middle) laterals the football to teammate Jarrod Cooper (40) after Neasman intercepted a pass during the first half of Saturday's game at KSU Stadium. Cooper ran the football into the end zone from 15 yards out for a touchdown.

Defense shuts down Northern Illinois offense

BY JOHN BERGGREN
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

K-State's defense turned the Wildcats matchup against Northern Illinois into a 73-7 slaughter on Saturday.

The Wildcat 'D' forced the Huskies into four turnovers — one fumble and three interceptions — and allowed only 170 yards of total offense. However, those aren't the stats that stick out most in the minds of the K-State defenders.

No, they were more concerned with the seven points they said they felt like they gave to the Huskies — and give it to them is exactly what the Wildcats did.

After shutting down NIU in its first series four plays and out, K-State broke down in its second showing, allowing the Huskies to drive 80 yards for a touchdown, marking the only points the Wildcats have given up this season through two games.

Things went sour on the Huskies' second possession immediately. K-State's pass protection broke down on the first play of the drive to give up a 12-yard play. K-State then had the opportunity to end the drive with a third-and-two situation, but a face-masking penalty gave the Huskies an automatic first down, moving the ball to the K-State 44-yard line. The Wildcats then gave up another pass play for 19 yards and moved the ball to their own 15. Another penalty killed the Cats from there; this time it was a personal foul that gave the ball to the Huskies on the Wildcat's 4-yard line. NIU eventually scored on a 1-yard run by Bill Andrews.

SIMONEAU

The K-State defense was in shock at how it had self-destructed.

"We were like, 'What's going on?'" linebacker Jeff Kelly said. "At that point in the game it was 15-0, and they made it a game. When they scored the touchdown, they made it a close game."

Linebacker Mark Simoneau, who saw his first action of the season after missing the opener against Indiana State with an abdominal strain, said that for some reason, K-State lost its focus with the early lead.

"We just didn't come out and play on that drive," Simoneau said. "Once things get going on you, it just kind of snowballs, and that's what happened on that drive.

"I think the guys just weren't getting to where they were supposed to be. When we don't do that, we have breakdowns."

K-State knows it can't have breakdowns like the ones that occurred on the Huskies' scoring drive next week against Texas. With Heisman candidate Ricky Williams at running back, there will be no room for mistakes.

"We're going to be in a lot of trouble if we play like that against the Longhorns and Ricky Williams," linebacker Travis Ochs said. "Ricky Williams alone will make us pay for it if we have any letdowns.

"He's so big and strong and fast that he can do so many different things. I'm amazed with his speed," Ochs said.

"He can bust it outside, and if he's got a block, then he's gone. He's not one of those guys you can just run down if you make a mistake."

ROUT

■ continued from page 6

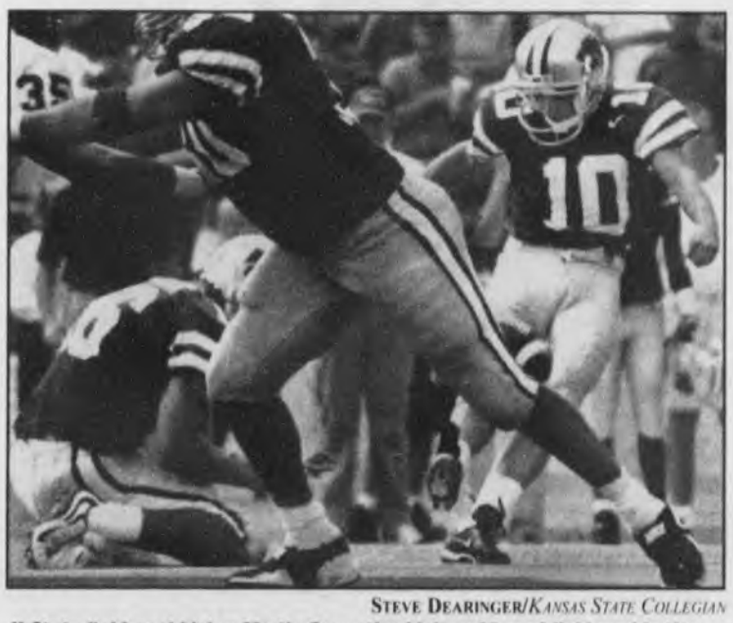
36 yards upfield for a score, and wide receiver Darnell McDonald caught a 27-yard touchdown pass from Bishop.

Bishop finished the day six-of-13 for 130 yards and two touchdowns. Helm and Jeremy Milne combined to go four-of-five for 26 yards.

Allen led the Cats on the ground with 55 yards, while Charles gained 54 and Bishop added 46.

Defensively, K-State's Lynch Mob held the Huskies to 170 yards on 61 plays. The Cats also intercepted three passes, bringing their total number of picks on the season to four. They intercepted only five all of last season.

Penalties plagued the Cats — they were flagged 14 times for 107 yards. The Huskies' only score came on their second drive, which went 13 plays for 80 yards and was extended twice by penalties — once on a face-mask penalty against defensive tackle Damion McIntosh and also on a pass interference call against Cooper in the end zone. K-State also was called for a personal foul and an offsides during the drive.



BISHOP

"Penalties are what hurt our team," Snyder said. "That was a big concern for me. Some of it was a lack of focus, part of it was not paying attention."

Aside from that drive, though, the Cats held Northern Illinois to 124 yards on 50 plays. While the Huskies weren't expected to win — they entered the game as 49-point underdogs — Northern Illinois coach Joe Novak said he had hoped for a stronger showing.

"I didn't quite expect this," he said. "We made so many mistakes in the first half — the interceptions, the punt return, the kickoff they recovered. Those things just aren't good football. I hoped to make it a lot more competitive than that."

STEVE DEARINGER/KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

K-State field-goal kicker Martin Gramatica kicks a 65-yard field goal in the final seconds of the first half of Saturday's game against Northern Illinois. It was Gramatica's longest career field goal.

Martin Gramatica's 65 reasons to celebrate

K-State kicker puts name in record books with Big-12 record field goal

BY JON BALMER
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

For a man who celebrates every field goal and extra point with uncontrolled enthusiasm, K-State placekicker Martin Gramatica provided a reason for everybody at Saturday's game to get down and celebrate.

After connecting on a 65-yard field-goal attempt as time expired in the first half, Gramatica was joined in his exuberance by his teammates and nearly all of the fans who witnessed K-State clobber Northern Illinois, 73-7.

With his long-distance connection, Gramatica shattered numerous records, including the longest field goal in K-State and Big 12 Conference history, the longest field goal in the NCAA without a kicking tee (which was removed in 1989) and tied for the fourth-longest field goal of all time in the NCAA.

Still caught up in the moment, Gramatica said the reality of his record-breaking kick had yet to sink in.

"I'm trying to close my eyes and visualize it," Gramatica said. "I really can't explain it now. It happened so fast, I don't know how to put it into words."

After Gramatica displayed his strength and accuracy by connecting on attempts from 65 and 70 yards in practice, head coach Bill Snyder said he had no doubt Gramatica would connect if the situation were right.

"I've said since day one that Martin could hit a 70-yard field goal under the right circumstances," Snyder said.

"I have always had confidence in his abilities. I wouldn't have put him out to try something if I didn't believe he could hit it."

This confidence, which Snyder said he believes is so important to the team, spread to the entire field-goal unit. According to punter James Garcia, who serves as Gramatica's holder, the bond formed among the unit's members resulted in trust.

"We work with each other day-in and day-out and really come together as one," Garcia said. "I think the big thing is that we all have confidence in each other."

With Saturday's field goal entering the record books, Gramatica said he could be satisfied without attempting one from 70 yards. However, he welcomed the opportunity.

"We'll see," Gramatica said. "If Coach Snyder lines me up again, I'll try."

While the circumstances will be difficult to achieve for a 70-yard field goal attempt, the possibility remains with nine opponents still on the schedule.

If the opportunity does arise, Garcia said there's no reason to doubt another celebration sparked by Gramatica's long bombs.

"I don't know if he'll get the shot, but he's definitely got the leg for it," Garcia said.

PIZZA SHUTTLE DELIVERS
776-5577
1800 Claflin Road

Pregnancy Testing Center
539-3338
•Free pregnancy testing
•Totally confidential service
•Same day results
•Call for appointment
Located across from campus in Anderson Village
Mon.-Fri. 9 a.m.-5 p.m.

DRIVER SUBSTITUTE: Responsibilities include transporting consumers to and from vocational training center in minibus, material handing, and operating a forklift. Must have a good driving record and posses a valid CDL. Occasional hours. Applications accepted through September 18, 1998. For rewarding and challenging opportunities and further information contact:
Human Resources Director
BIG LAKES DEVELOPMENTAL CENTER, INC.
1416 Hayes Dr.
Manhattan, KS 66502
(785) 776-9201
Monday through Friday
8:00 a.m. - 4:30 p.m.
EOE/AA

Lessons That Will Last A Lifetime.
OFFICER TRAINING SCHOOL
Put that college degree to use by enrolling into the Air Force Officer Training School. Upon successful completion of the Officer Training School, you will become a commissioned Air Force officer with earned respect and benefits like – great starting pay, medical and dental care, management and travel opportunities. For more on how to qualify and get your career soaring with the Air Force Officer Training School, call 1-800-423-USAF, or visit our website at www.airforce.com
AIM HIGH
AIR FORCE
www.airforce.com

Taco Busters
TACO TUESDAY
Corn Shell & Ground Beef Tacos, Tostados & Taco Burgers
99¢
Raoul's Escondido Mexican Restaurant
215 Seth Child Rd.
Across from Seth Child Cinema
Manhattan 539-3410

KSU CAREER FAIR
Tuesday, Sept. 22
10:00 a.m. - 5:00 p.m.
Bramlage Coliseum
(Shuttle bus available from Union)
www.ksu.edu/ces

Men's Breakout Group
forming from Men's Glee Club
Music styles from '50s Doo-wop to barbershop to contemporary acapella.
Pick up an application at McCain 229.
Applications due Sept. 15
Open to all male voices enrolled at K-State
For more information contact Josh Bleeker at bleek@ksu.edu or 776-6294 or Bryan Wagner at bryancw@ksu.edu or 539-7627 ext. 147

DEADLINES

Classified ads must be placed by noon the day before you want your ad to run. Classified display ads must be placed by 4 p.m. two working days prior to the date you want your ad to run. CALL 532-6555

CLASSIFIEDS

010

Announcements

ADVANCED FLIGHT TRAINING from 7,500-hour ATP instructor. Private single-engine through ATP multiengine. Hugh Irvin, 539–3128 evenings.

BIG DAWG Marina has Jet skis and pontoon boats for rent. 776-3113.

COME AND play Bingo at the Eagle Lodge. 312 S 4th. Monday and Friday evenings at 7:30 p.m.

FREE!!! PHONECARD. One per household. Minimum $25 activation. Send self-addressed stamped envelope: Brenda Horton, d/c, P.O. Box 83461, Los Angeles, CA 90083.

KSU GRAIN SCIENCE CLUB FLOUR SALES every Wednesday, 12:00 - 4:30 p.m. beginning September 16, back dock of Shellenberger Hall.

LEARN TO FLY! K-State Flying Club has five airplanes, lowest rates. For information call 537-8406.

SCUBA LEARN to dive at the only PADI approved dive center in the area, full line of equipment in stock, two instructors, earn college credit. Classes forming weekly. Call Creative Travel and Scuba. 539-0531.

START YOUR own fraternity! Zeta Beta Tau is looking for men to start a new chapter. If you are interested in academic success, a chance to network and an opportunity to make friends in a non-pledging brotherhood, e-mail: zbt@zbtnational.org or call Mike Simon at (317) 334-1898.

020

Lost and Found

Found ads can be placed free for three days.

FOUND: MOTORCYCLE helmet in Bluemont Hall, claim in room 492.

Manhattan City Ordinance 4814 assures every person equal opportunity in housing without distinction on account of race, sex, familial status, military status, disability, religion, age, color, national origin or ancestry. Violations should be reported to the Director of Human Resources at City Hall, 587–2440.

105

For Rent- Apts. Furnished

TWO-BEDROOM BASEMENT apartment, includes microwave. Close to campus, $350, all utilities paid except cable television. 776–1214.

UNIVERSITY COMMONS. Available: fully furnished, individual leases, washer/ dryer in each unit, roommate matching service, pool, sand volleyball, lighted tennis and basketball courts, monitored security, reserved parking. No appointment necessary. M-F 9a.m.- 6p.m., 10a.m.- 4p.m., 539-0500.

110

For Rent- Apt. Unfurnished

AVAILABLE NOW. Studio and one-bedrooms, some furnished. Most utilities paid. Clean and quiet, central locations, some pets accepted. 537-8389.

FOUR-BEDROOM CLOSE to campus, two bath, dishwasher, central air/ heat, water/ trash paid. Free laundry, good price. 537-2255 or 537-7810.

9 Month Lease
2 & 3 Bedroom
Specials
539-2951

FOUR-BEDROOM, TWO bath, close to campus, no pets, reasonable. 776-1340.

FOUR-BEDROOM, TWO bath 1300 square feet. Water/ trash paid. Discounted cable with HBO. 776–3663.

LARGE THREE-BEDROOM well lit basement, close to campus, 1729 Laramie, new stove and refrigerator, washer/ dryer hook-ups, heat/ water/ trash paid. $570. 537–2099, 539–8052.

Chase Manhattan Apartments
1,2,3, or 4 person occupancy. Short term leases available. Water and Trash paid. Discounted cable package HBO, Encore, and Expanded Basic.
Call us Today
776-3663

NOW LEASING one to four-bedroom apartments/ houses. Call Alliance Property Management. 539–4357 for current list.

ONE AND two-bedrooms, start at $380-$450. Dishwasher, deck, central air, on-site laundry, extra storage. Available now, 776-8455.

Now Available!
Large 2-Bedrooms
Sandstone Apts.
Cambridge Sq. Apts.
Hill Investments
537-9064

ONE- OR TWO-BEDROOM. No pets, smoking, drinking. 539–1554.

ONE-BEDROOM AVAILABLE NOW! 1854-58 Claflin, $350/ $365 per month. Water and trash paid. Laundry facilities on-site. Close to campus! Call MDI 776–3804.

ONE-BEDROOM COZY basement apartment. Walk to Aggieville and campus. Rent negotiable. 539-1722 leave message.

ONE-BEDROOM, $290. 539-8401.

ROOMMATE PROBLEMS? Large one-bedroom near Aggieville, $300, hardwood floors, white walls, personality. 776-4313 or 785-456-7183.

STUDIO, $280, air-conditioning, bills paid. 539-8401.

THREE-BEDROOM, $390. 539-8401.

THREE-BEDROOM, CENTRAL air, one-half block from campus, washer/ dryer hook-ups. Available now. 776-8455.

THREE-BEDROOM, TWO bath apartment available for August. Very spacious. Dishwasher, microwave, pool, laundry and carports. Call Sara at 537–7007.

TWO, THREE and four-bedroom apartments water/ trash paid, discounted cable with HBO. Going fast. 776–3663.

TWO-BEDROOM, $320. 539-8401.

UNIVERSITY TERRACE APARTMENTS. Corner of College and Dickens. Large three-bedroom apartment. 537-2096.

WOODWAY APARTMENTS
STOP!
DO NOT RENT AN APARTMENT UNTIL YOU CONSIDER THIS!
•Sparkling swimming pool
•Spacious decks/patios
•Avail. June 5 Aug. 6
•Kitchen Appliances include microwave and dishwasher
•On site laundry facilities
•Economical gas heat
3 BDRM, 2 BATH $714, $723
4 BDRM, 2 BATH $836, $856
Office:
2400 Kimball Ave.
at College Ave.
(Across from Bramlage)
Call Sara
at 537-7007
for an appointment.

115

Rooms Available

CHRISTIAN FAMILY who has large home near Ramada Inn, wants female college girl to live in. Will provide board and room in exchange for chores. Write c/o Collegian, Box 3, .

120

For Rent- Houses

1106 KEARNEY- one and one-half blocks from campus. Three-bedrooms, one bath, kitchen, living room, washer and dryer hookups. Available September 1, 1998, $650/ month. Century 21 Knight Real Estate, 537-2111.

CUTE THREE-PLUS bedroom, one and one-half bath house, close to campus, pets negotiable. $550/ month. Available October 1, 1998. 776-6494 or 1-800-249-1740 ext 6040.

KSU THREE BLOCKS. Three-bedroom, one bath, central air, laundry hookups, garage, small pets considered, 1517 Pipher. 539-4087, leave message.

THREE-BEDROOM, AIR-CONDITIONING, $510. 539-8401.

TWO-BEDROOM house available. Stove, refrigerator, air-conditioning. No pets. 539-1975 or (785) 396-4344.

135

For Sale- Mobile Homes

DON'T WASTE your money on rent, when you could own: 16'x70' 1986 Schult. Sunken living room, vaulted ceiling, built-in china hutch, lots of cabinet space, large kitchen, dining room, two large bedrooms, one bath, refrigerator, stove, dishwasher, 8'x8' deck, fenced yard, swing set, new paint, new shingled roof, great location, Bergman school. Must see to appreciate. Call for showing 776–3226.

145

Roommate Wanted

COME LIVE with three sassy girls! Fourth roommate wanted to live in awesome house five minutes from campus. Call 587–8711.

FEMALE ROOMMATE to share a nice fully furnished two-bedroom apartment with laundry facilities, located across from Ford Hall. Available January 1, 1999, $230 a month, one-half utilities. 537-8832.

FEMALE ROOMMATE to share NICE two-bedroom apartment across from college. $260 a month. 776-4891.

FEMALE ROOMMATE wanted for two-bedroom apartment close to campus and Aggieville. $175/ month, no deposit required. Call Jill, 770–9393.

MALE NEEDED for furnished basement. Washer/ dryer without meter. No smoking, drinking, or pets. Walk to class. 539–1554

PRE-VET STUDENT looking for female roommate. $212.50/ month plus KPL and phone. Some pets allowed. Call 537-7808.

310

Help Wanted

Manhattan City Ordinance 4814 assures every person equal opportunity in securing and holding employment in any field of work or labor for which he/ she is properly qualified regardless of race, sex, military status, disability, religion, age, color, national origin or ancestry. Violations should be reported to the Director of Human Resources at City Hall, 587–2441.

The Collegian cannot verify the financial potential of advertisements in the Employment/Career classification. Readers are advised to approach any such employment opportunity with reasonable caution. The Collegian urges our readers to contact the Better Business Bureau, 501 SE Jefferson, Topeka, KS 66607-1190. (785)232–0454.

($20 / HOUR, PART-TIME/ FULL-TIME). Processing mail! Free supplies, postage! Bonuses! Rush self-addressed stamped envelope: GMA/KSU P.O. Box 567443 Atlanta, GA 31156. e-mail: signup@info.info-machine.com.

DJ WANTED Silverado Saloon. Apply in person Wednesday- Saturday after 6 p.m.

EXOTIC FEMALE Dancers wanted to dance for surprise birthday. All names confidential. Write Dance, Box 1, Collegian.

GRAPHIC ARTIST- SCREEN MACHINE SPORTS seeks a full time graphic artist. This position requires excellent communication skills and ability to work well with the public. Salary - determined on qualifications. Send resume and references to Matt Westerhaus, Screen Machine Sports, 115 East 7th St., Junction City, KS 66441.

HELP WANTED
PART-TIME
(2 days a month - 2 weeks a year)
Great pay and excellent benefits!
Truck Drivers, Mechanics, Cooks, Medical Specialists, Military Police, Supply, Administration, Aviation, Field Artillery, Armor Crewmen and Infantry, Prior military service not required, we will train. Prior military service are not required, we will train. Prior service may enter at last rank held up to E-6.
No Basic Training for Prior Service!
For more information call today!
537-4108. 537-4003 or 1-800-Go-GUARD
Kansas Army National Guard

GRAPHIC DESIGNER wanted for full-time t-shirt design. Mac Freehand/ Illustrator, Photoshop skills a MUST. Cartooning a strong plus. Apply at Ballard's 1218 Moro by 5 p.m. September 18.

HELP WANTED, apply at Mr. P's Party Outlet, 318 Poyntz.

LUNAR TUNES is looking for energetic DJ's and photographers. Experience preferred but not required. Will train the right person. Call 776-9140 for interview.

MORNING/ LUNCH wait staff needed 8 a.m.- 4 p.m. Apply in person. Manhattan Country Club. 1531 N 10th. Monday through Friday.

MOTHER'S HELPER. Person needed to assist family with care of handicapped child and variety of other chores after-school and weekends. Call 537-7991.

PART-TIME POSITION: One day per week grinding feed on farm close to Manhattan. Call evenings, (785)396–4328.

SALES POSITION/TECH POSITION. Send or submit resume to The Computer Shop, 404 Poyntz, Suite #F, Manhattan, KS 66502. Full-time: $6.50/ hour, part-time: minimum to $6.00/ hour. Full-time benefits include 401K and health.

STUDENT COMPUTER SPECIALIST-KSU LIBRARIES, (three positions). Seeking individuals interested in assisting with user support by setting up new PC's installing and troubleshooting microcomputer software and hardware. The Novell environment consists of 300 microcomputer/ terminals with peripherals attached. Position requires knowledge of DOS and Windows95, good communications skills and be a self-directed worker, this is a year around position for approximately 20 hours/ week. Prefer knowledge of networks and windows applications, and utilities such as word processing, database and spreadsheet software (WordPerfect, Ms-Access, QuatroPro, etc.) Experience with MsAccess is a plus! Apply in room 504 Hale Library. Review of applications will begin September 16, 1998.

TACO BELL is now hiring for the following positions: Shift Leaders (Up to $7.00/ hour), Crew Members (Up to $6.00/ hour.) Taco Bell offers competitive pay, paid vacation, and benefits. Apply in person at the Manhattan Taco Bell.

TUTORING HIGH school students for K-State's Upward Bound Math and Science Program. Contact: Lynne Davy at 532-6374 for application.

WANTED: A Middle Eastern dance instructor. Rates and times negotiable, several students. Contact Denise at 587-8423 or e-mail at dmd8055@ksu.edu.

WANTED: FAST-PITCH softball pitchers to volunteer to help with a traveling team of 13-year-olds. Call Pat Bosco: 532-6237 or 539-2854.

WANTED: RESPONSIBLE, reliable and dependable people who are interested in Kansas State Athletics! Women's Basketball is seeking a few managers for the upcoming 1998-99 season. All interested people should call Kathy at 532–6970 to set up an appointment.

WRESTLING COACH, middle/ high school, October-February, 3p.m.- 6p.m. Contact Tim Kite, Onaga High School, 500 High St, Onaga, KS 66521, (785)889–4251.

330

Business Opportunities

The Collegian cannot verify the financial potential of advertisements in the Employment/Career classification. Readers are advised to approach any such business opportunity with reasonable caution. The Collegian urges our readers to contact the Better Business Bureau, 501 SE Jefferson, Topeka, KS 66607-1190. (785)232–0454.

IN SEARCH of a hungry entrepreneur with marketing savvy for distribution of new licensed sports products. Contact Millennium Products, 3434 W. Harry, Wichita, KS 67213. (316) 945–5560

410

Items for Sale

ANTIQUES, COLLECTIBLES, tools, books, furniture, estate jewelry, beer signs, thousands of curious goods. Time Machine Antique Maul and Flea Market. 4910 Skyway Dr. between Briggs and airport. 539–4684.

CABLE DESCRAMBLER kit only $14.95. See all the pay channels. 1-800-752-1389.

DRAFTING TABLE and chair for sale, $50. Call 539-1584.

GOVERNMENT SURPLUS: Camouflage clothing, G.I. boots, sleeping bags, raincoats, wool clothing, also CARHARRT WORKWEAR. Monday-Friday 9-5:30 p.m. Saturday 9-5 p.m. St. Mary's Surplus Sales, St. Mary's, KS.(785) 437-2734.

RICH, FRAGRANT, therapeutic Essential Oil creations, hand-blended to enhance your unique personal style! Skin and facial oils, perfumes, bath salts, after shaves, etc. Call 776-2230, leave name and number for free brochure and 20% off coupon through September 30. Visit our web site at http://www.flint-hills.com/~keepup.

VINTAGE WOOD captain chairs, large desk, two computer desks and IBM electric typewriter. 539-3936.

415

Furniture to Buy/Sell

DAYBED, METAL frame, good mattresses, 539-9469.

435

Computers

MICROSOFT OFFICE '97 Professional, full version, unopened, unregistered, $75. 1-800-416-3594.

NANAO FLEXSCAN FX2-21. 21 inch color computer monitor. This is Nanao's top of the line monitor with .26mm Dot Pinch, 1600 X 1200 resolution @ 85HZ. New in box. $1295 or best offer, 776–5999.

SEIKO PRO ColorPoint combination wax thermal and dye-sublimation color proof printer, new in box. $3995 or best offer, 776–5999.

445

Music Instruments

WELCOME TO The Music Co.! Our business is making you sound the best you can, and leaving a little gas money in your pocket. OK, we're gonna do it, the first and only Music Co. sale! Through September, Alvarez and Fernandes guitars will be on sale at ridiculous prices! Always the best deals on the planet! The Music Co., nothing typical, no pressure. 523 S. 17th Street in Manhattan. 539-1958.

450

Pets and Supplies

LOVEBIRD PLUS parakeet in designer cage on wrought iron stand. Very friendly and beautiful. $60 or best offer. 539-7731.

465

Tickets to Buy/Sell

ALL GENERAL admission football tickets for sale. Call Traci 537-9795.

KSU SEASON tickets, (316) 382-2716.

ONE GENERAL admission ticket for the rest of season games. Best offer for one or all remaining games. 537-8325.

WANTED KSU- OSU tickets. Call Rick (913) 651-0437 or (913) 682-2265 ext 205.

510

Automobiles

1966 GALAXY 500, 4-door, 289 engine, power-steering, air-conditioning, radio, one owner, 86,300 original miles. $1100 or best offer. 537-7729.

1991 TOYOTA Pick-up, 5-speed, 60K miles. Excellent condition. Must see to appreciate. Call Dustin at 587–9663.

1992 FORD T-Bird. 92K, excellent condition, air-conditioning, snow-tires and thule roofrack. $6700, 539-7805.

1995 CHEVY Cavalier, purple coupe, automatic transmission, air-conditioning, AM/FM cassette. $6000 or best offer. Call Becky 539–7571 ext. 30.

1995 FORD Thunderbird. 28K miles, loaded, $12,000 or best offer. 539-5619.

FOR SALE: 1989 Honda Accord, 5-speed, air-conditioning, cruise, good. High miles, $2500. Call 587–8256.

520

Bicycles

DIAMONDBACK 18-SPEED mountain bike, $125. Spyder custom paint-ball gun and accessories, $325. 537-8586 ask for Chris or leave message.

530

Motorcycles

1987 KAWASAKI 305 LTD $850. Call Mike 587-0608 leave message.

1989 KAWASAKI EX500 red/ black. Excellent condition. 11K, must sell to pay for new bike. $1400 or best offer. 537–2289.

630

Spring Break

MAKE EASY MONEY! GO ON SPRING BREAK FOR FREE! USA Spring Break offers Cancun, Bahamas, Jamaica and Florida packages and is currently accepting applications for campus sales representatives. Call 1-888-SPRING-BREAK.

SPRING BREAK '99-- Sell Trips, Earn Cash & Go Free! STS is now hiring campus reps. Lowest rates to Jamaica, Mexico and Florida. Call 800-648-4849 or apply online at www.ststravel.com

Make Tracks Over Winter Break!
17th Annual Colorado Classic
COLLEGIATE GOTTA SKI BREAKS
JANUARY 3-18, 1999 • 2, 3, 4, 5, 6 or 7 NIGHTS
Steamboat Breckenridge Vail/Beaver Creek Copper Mountain
$112
TOLL FREE INFORMATION AND RESERVATIONS
1•800•SUNCHASE
ski the web at www.sunchase.com
Nobody Does Ski Breaks Better!

PLUNGE INTO THE CLASSIFIEDS
Kansas State Collegian
103 Kedzie
532-6555

ClassifiedRATES

1 DAY
20 words or less $7.15
each word over 20 $.20 per word

2 DAYS
20 words or less $8.40
each word over 20 $.25 per word

3 DAYS
20 words or less $9.55
each word over 20 $.30 per word

4 DAYS
20 words or less $10.60
each word over 20 $.35 per word

5 DAYS
20 words or less $11.55
each word over 20 $.40 per word
(consecutive day rate)

HOW TO PAY
All classifieds must be paid in advance unless you have an account with Student Publications Inc. Cash, check, MasterCard or Visa are accepted. There is a $10 service charge on all returned checks. We reserve the right to edit, reject or properly classify any ad.

FREE FOUND ADS
As a service to you, we run found ads for three days free of charge.

CORRECTIONS
If you find an error in your ad, please call us. We accept responsibility only for the first wrong insertion.

CANCELLATIONS
If you sell your item before your ad has expired, we will refund you for the remaining days. You must call us before noon the day before the ad is to be published.

HEADLINES
For an extra charge, we'll put a headline above your ad to catch the reader's attention.

TO PLACE AN AD
Go to Kedzie 103 (across from the K-State Student Union). Office hours are Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. The office is open except on holidays.

COLLEGIAN CLASSIFIEDS – THERE IS A DIFFERENCE

CLINTON

■ continued from page 1

tionship with former intern Monica Lewinsky — described in explicit detail — and his later denials under oath.

The White House issued a blistering rebuttal Saturday that accused Starr of a "hit-and-run smear campaign" without legal merit.

Clinton's lead attorney, David Kendall, argued in the same vein in an appearance on ABC's "This Week" program: "The president did not commit perjury. Starr's report is full of graphic and unnecessarily salacious material. It is not relevant."

That type of defense drew dismissive reaction from Sen. Bob Kerrey, D-Neb.

"The president's going to lose if they continue to do that," Kerrey said, appearing alongside Hatch on CBS' "Face the Nation."

"He is being very badly served with this legal hairsplitting," Hatch said. "I think the president has a chance of getting through this, if he'll quit splitting legal hairs, if he'll quit playing this legal game."

At the same time, the White House's counterattack against Starr was achieving success among the public. A CBS poll, taken Saturday, found 60 percent of those responding believed Starr included numerous lurid sexual details in his report to embarrass the president. Only 33 percent believed it was to prove perjury.

Clinton's political fate will begin to come into clearer focus at the beginning of the week when lawmakers return to Washington from a weekend of campaigning and testing public opinion in their home districts.

Even before Judiciary Committee members have a chance to complete their review of Starr's evidence, officials expressed a growing belief that the House is likely to take the next step and vote a formal-impeachment inquiry.

It would be up to the panel to recommend such a step, and the entire House would have to approve it.

It is not clear whether such a vote would be preceded by a public hearing. Republicans have talked for months about the possibility of convening a hearing, possibly to permit Starr to lay out his evidence and for a representative of the president to offer a rebuttal.

Still, the Judiciary Committee would presumably be free to call any witness it chooses — ranging from Starr to Kendall to Lewinsky to Linda Tripp, the woman who tape-recorded her conversations with Lewinsky and later notified Starr's office of the existence of such recordings.

A Judiciary Committee aide said no decision about a hearing has been made.

STUDENTS

■ continued from page 1

Kristina Bono, freshman in open-option, said. "People have the right to know, but the report was really graphic. After reading just one page, I was grossed out."

Peter Kaiser, former graduate student in history, said he was glad specific information was available on the Internet. He said sometimes the news media's abridged versions can be misleading, so it was helpful to get information from the source.

"It was good to know firsthand what really happened," Matt Anderson, freshman in construction science, said. "I think that the public should know what our president's doing."

Other students said an edited version would have been more appropriate to release to the public.

Ben Hemmen, sophomore in business and pre-law, said the report should have been edited. Hemmen said much of the content centered around Clinton's private life, and the president should be protected, not exposed.

"I thought the report was too graphic," Chris Linklater, sophomore in engineering, said. "It was more than I wanted to know."

Still others thought the public had no business reading about Clinton's sex life.

Lee Grimes, graduate student in political science, said she wouldn't read the report.

"I boycotted all reports on this investigation because I think that the nation should have more compassion for our president," Grimes said. "I don't endorse the president's lies, but I can understand why he did it.

"Everyone has something to lie about, especially when it comes to protecting their families," she said.

Jessica McPeake, junior in management information systems, said grand-jury testimony should be read only by a limited number of people. She said she felt the report should be kept confidential, because it was damaging for other nations to read about the president's private life.

Student Body President Tracey Mann said it was sad that Clinton is doing things "that children can't read about." He said Clinton's private actions affect his public office.

"It would be nice, but it is impossible to separate private life and public office," Mann said. "The president is a role model whether he likes it or not."

After reading the report, some said they found it hard to imagine that everything presented by Starr was true.

"The whole thing is like a soap opera or a big novel," Anderson said. "It's something that you wouldn't think is true, but somehow it happened."

SOSA

■ continued from page 1

delay lasted six minutes.

"I have to say what I did is for the people of Chicago, for America, for my mother, for my wife, my kids and the people I have around me. My team," Sosa said. "It was an emotional moment."

In the fifth inning, Sosa hit No. 61 off reliever Bronswell Patrick 480 feet into the street behind the left-field fence at Wrigley Field.

Sosa rounded the bases, pumping his fists as a sellout crowd at Wrigley went wild.

Once he reached home plate, Sosa got a 15-second embrace from teammate Mark Grace.

Sosa went into the corner of the dugout, hugging his teammates along the way, and then turned to TV cameras and made his trademark salute — thumping his heart, blowing kisses and making a "V" sign. He then mouthed "I love you, mama," to a TV camera.

The game was being broadcast live in his native Dominican Republic.

After a mad scramble, home-run ball No. 62 ended up in the hands of a man in his mid-20s whose identity was not immediately known. Police officers surrounded him and took him to the closest station for his own protection.

"We got him out of there because we thought he was going to get his behind kicked," Sgt. Mary O'Toole said.

The man's plans for the ball were not immediately known. The fan and groundskeeper in St. Louis who got McGwire's home-run balls Nos. 61 and 62 gave them to the slugger, who gave them to the Hall of Fame.

Sosa's 61st homer was retrieved by John Witt of Dixon, who stuffed it in his pocket and promised to negotiate with Sosa after the game. Witt was sitting in a van outside the stadium, watching the game on a small television when he saw Sosa swing.

The ball landed at his feet.

"I didn't think I had a chance," he said. "It's an unbelievable feeling. How do you know how much it's worth?"

McGwire, the first baseman for the St. Louis Cardinals, broke Maris' record Tuesday against the Cubs.

The Cardinals played Sunday night at Houston.

PLAYER

■ continued from page 1

team to deal with the emergency situation.

The team, made up of school administrators and counselors, met Sunday to discuss how other students have been affected by Will's death.

"It's pretty traumatic for the students to see a friend die in front of them," Hardy said.

Bob Lewis, athletics director for the school, said students have been stunned by Will's death.

"The kids here are hurting," Lewis said.

"He was a well-liked guy. He was a quiet, laid-back kid, and the people who knew him liked him."

Neuenswander said classes will resume Monday to provide students and teachers a chance to deal with their grief.

"You want to have as close to a routine as possible," he said, "to provide support for everyone together."

Neuenswander said two memorial services have been planned. A memorial for students and family will be at 7 p.m. Tuesday at the school.

The funeral will be at 2 p.m. Wednesday at St. Thomas More Catholic church in Manhattan.

Hardy said he thought Will's parents were handling their son's death fairly well, despite their grief.

"His mom and dad are just champs," Hardy said.

"They're handling it about as well as anyone could.

"It's the most painful thing a person could go through, losing a child," he said.

ADOPT

■ continued from page 1

mother, Betty Weixelman.

"I never ever expected her to think of me motherly. I never intended to take Betty's place. That's a bond there."

Even if Weixelman had never sent her birth mother a letter, the two were destined to meet.

In the 23 years before they finally met, they had come in close contact with one another either directly or indirectly.

One of Speer's other children attended the same grade school as Weixelman, and one of her children sold Girl Scout cookies to Weixelman.

Weixelman babysat for Speer's supervisor at work. Speer said the supervisor even had commented on how much his babysitter and Speer looked alike.

As the two women sit at a booth in a restaurant, anyone walking by probably can guess they're mother and daughter by their similar facial features and mannerisms, but many would be surprised to know that the two women had only met seven years ago.

As the two tell their story, the bond between them is obvious as they share tears, laughter and many hugs.

TACO HUT
"Where good friends get together since 1969"
Specials
Taco Burgers 2 for $1.85 (reg. $1.40 ea.)
Burrito Dinner $3.40 (reg. $4.50)
Good Through 9/19/98
Drive thru now open!
OPEN 11 A.M. - 10 P.M.
SUN., MON., TUES., WED., THURS.
11 A.M. - MIDNIGHT FRI. & SAT.
2809 CLAFLIN 539-2091

Fun for the whole family!
LITTLE APPLE FESTIVAL 1998
Entertainment throughout both days!
Folklife Exhibition & Demonstrators
Craft Vendors
Children's Area
Variety of Food
Juried Art Show
City Park - Manhattan, Kansas
September 26 9 am-6 pm
September 27 10 am-5 pm

Hey, Juniors & Seniors!
Know how to make an extra extra $10,000 for your education?
Come find out!
Golden Key National Honor Society
Campus Awareness Week
Sept. 14-16, 9 a.m.-3:30 p.m.
1st floor, KSU Union

$$$$$$ Hey, want to make some cash? $$$$$$
Good, because Alpha Chi Omega needs a houseboy!
Hours are MWF 12:30-2 p.m. and Wed. night 4:30-8 p.m.
Give Edna Rush a call at (785) 539-5018 between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m.

New Donors can earn $100 in 4 donations within 2 weeks
Earn cash by donating your life-saving plasma
You can earn up to $200 in the month of September
CALL FOR AN APPOINTMENT
Nabi
Manhattan Biomedical Center
1130 Garden Way • Mon & Thurs 9am-7pm, Tues & Wed 9am-6:30pm, Fri 9am-5pm, Sat 8am-1pm • 776-9177

BACK TO SCHOOL SPECIAL!!
FINANCE A USED CAR AT NEW CAR RATES 1994 Thru 1998
24 Months 6.90% APR
36 Months 7.49% APR
48 Months 7.90% APR
60 Months 8.25% APR
UP TO 100% FINANCING AVAILABLE
SUBJECT TO NORMAL CREDIT POLICIES
NEW LOANS ONLY
DISCOUNTS AVAILABLE
NO ORIGINATION FEES
K-STATE Federal CREDIT UNION
1455 Anderson Ave Manhattan, KS 66502
2700 Anderson Ave Manhattan, KS 66502
785-776-3003
Visit our Web Site ksu.edu/creditunion

K-STATE STUDY ABROAD FAIR
Wed., Sept. 16, 1998
10 a.m.-3:30 p.m.
Student Union, 1st Floor
Several Universities will be available to answer questions about study abroad opportunities. K-State students who have participated in study abroad programs will also be available to answer questions.

McCain
THE FLYING KARAMAZOV BROTHERS
BOLCOM & MORRIS
ORDER YOUR TICKETS TODAY!
Experience an evening in a mad, comic and musical world, where juggling can be heard and music must be seen to be believed. Challenge the Karamazovs! Bring an item from home to test Brother Ivan's skill and bet a standing ovation against a pie in the face that he can't juggle it. From musical wonders to impossible feats of levity, the show is an irresistible mix of skill and silliness, which once seen, may still prove to be beyond belief.
The Flying Karamazov Brothers
Wednesday, September 16, 7:30 p.m.
Public: $20, 16 Seniors: $18, 14
Students/Children: $10, 8
Working with your spouse isn't always easy but the husband and wife team of William Bolcom and Joan Morris have done better that just prove it possible– proclaimed by the Boston Globe as "one of the great musical collaborations of our time." Their spirited performances have been captured on 18 albums and this year's tour takes them to New York, Boston, Toronto and Washington, D.C. Join them for such songs as "Fascinating Rhythm," "Someone to Watch Over Me," "More Than You Know," and "Great Day."
Bolcom and Morris
Nice Work If You Can Get It
Songs to Celebrate the 100th Birthday of George Gershwin and Vincent Youmans
Saturday, September 26, 8 p.m.
Public: $18 Seniors: $16
Students/Children: $9
Both of these events are presented in part by the Kansas Arts Commission, a state agency, and the National Endowment for the Arts, a federal agency. The Flying Karamazov Brothers are presented with support from the Bell Family Endowment for the Performing Arts. Bolcom and Morris presented with support from the Jeanne Wells Durkee Memorial Fund. Additional funding provided by the K-State Fine Arts Fee.
BOLCOM and MORRIS
CALL MCCAIN AT 785-532-6428
You can charge your tickets to VISA, MasterCard, or Discover. Or stop by the box office, noon to 6 p.m. weekdays.

BACK IN THE SWING

The women's golf team began play Monday at the Chip 'n Club Invite in Lincoln, Neb.

■ SEE STORY ON PAGE 6

TUESDAY
SEPTEMBER 15, 1998

KANSAS STATE UNIVERSITY, MANHATTAN, KAN.
VOLUME 103, NUMBER 16
COLLEGIAN.KSU.EDU

TODAY'S WEATHER

HIGH 85
LOW 55

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Sub. Exp. Date: 00/00
Kansas State Historical Society
Newspaper Section
PO Box 3585
Topeka KS 66601

Shortage of space serious concern for animal shelter

■ OUR OPINION
The Collegian editorial board says action needs to be taken to expand the animal shelter. See Page 4.

BY SCOTT ALDIS-WILSON
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

It was too small from the day it opened.

Officials, citizens and employees involved with the T. Russell Reitz Animal Shelter might have different ideas about what the facility's fees should be, but they all agree that what it needs most is expansion.

At the Sept. 1 Manhattan City Commission meeting, a proposal for increases in adoption fees and neutering deposits at the shelter by Dr. Dan Upson, Riley County-Manhattan Board of Health vice president, caused many attending citizens to speak out against the proposal. The commission approved the first reading of the ordinance for an adoption-fee increase from $15 to $25 but left the neutering deposit at $25. The meeting for the second reading is tonight. Passage of a second reading would make the changes official.

Madalyn Schumacher, euthanasia technician for the shelter, spoke against the fee increases at the meeting. After the meeting, Schumacher said she could understand the adoption-fee increase, the shelter's first in 10 years, and that she was pleased to see the neutering deposit left at the present rate.

"If I had to settle for something, I'd settle for something that would offset the cost of caring for the animals. Our concerns were if the deposit was raised to fifty dollars, a lot of people wouldn't pay that. They'd get a dog or cat for free," Schumacher said.

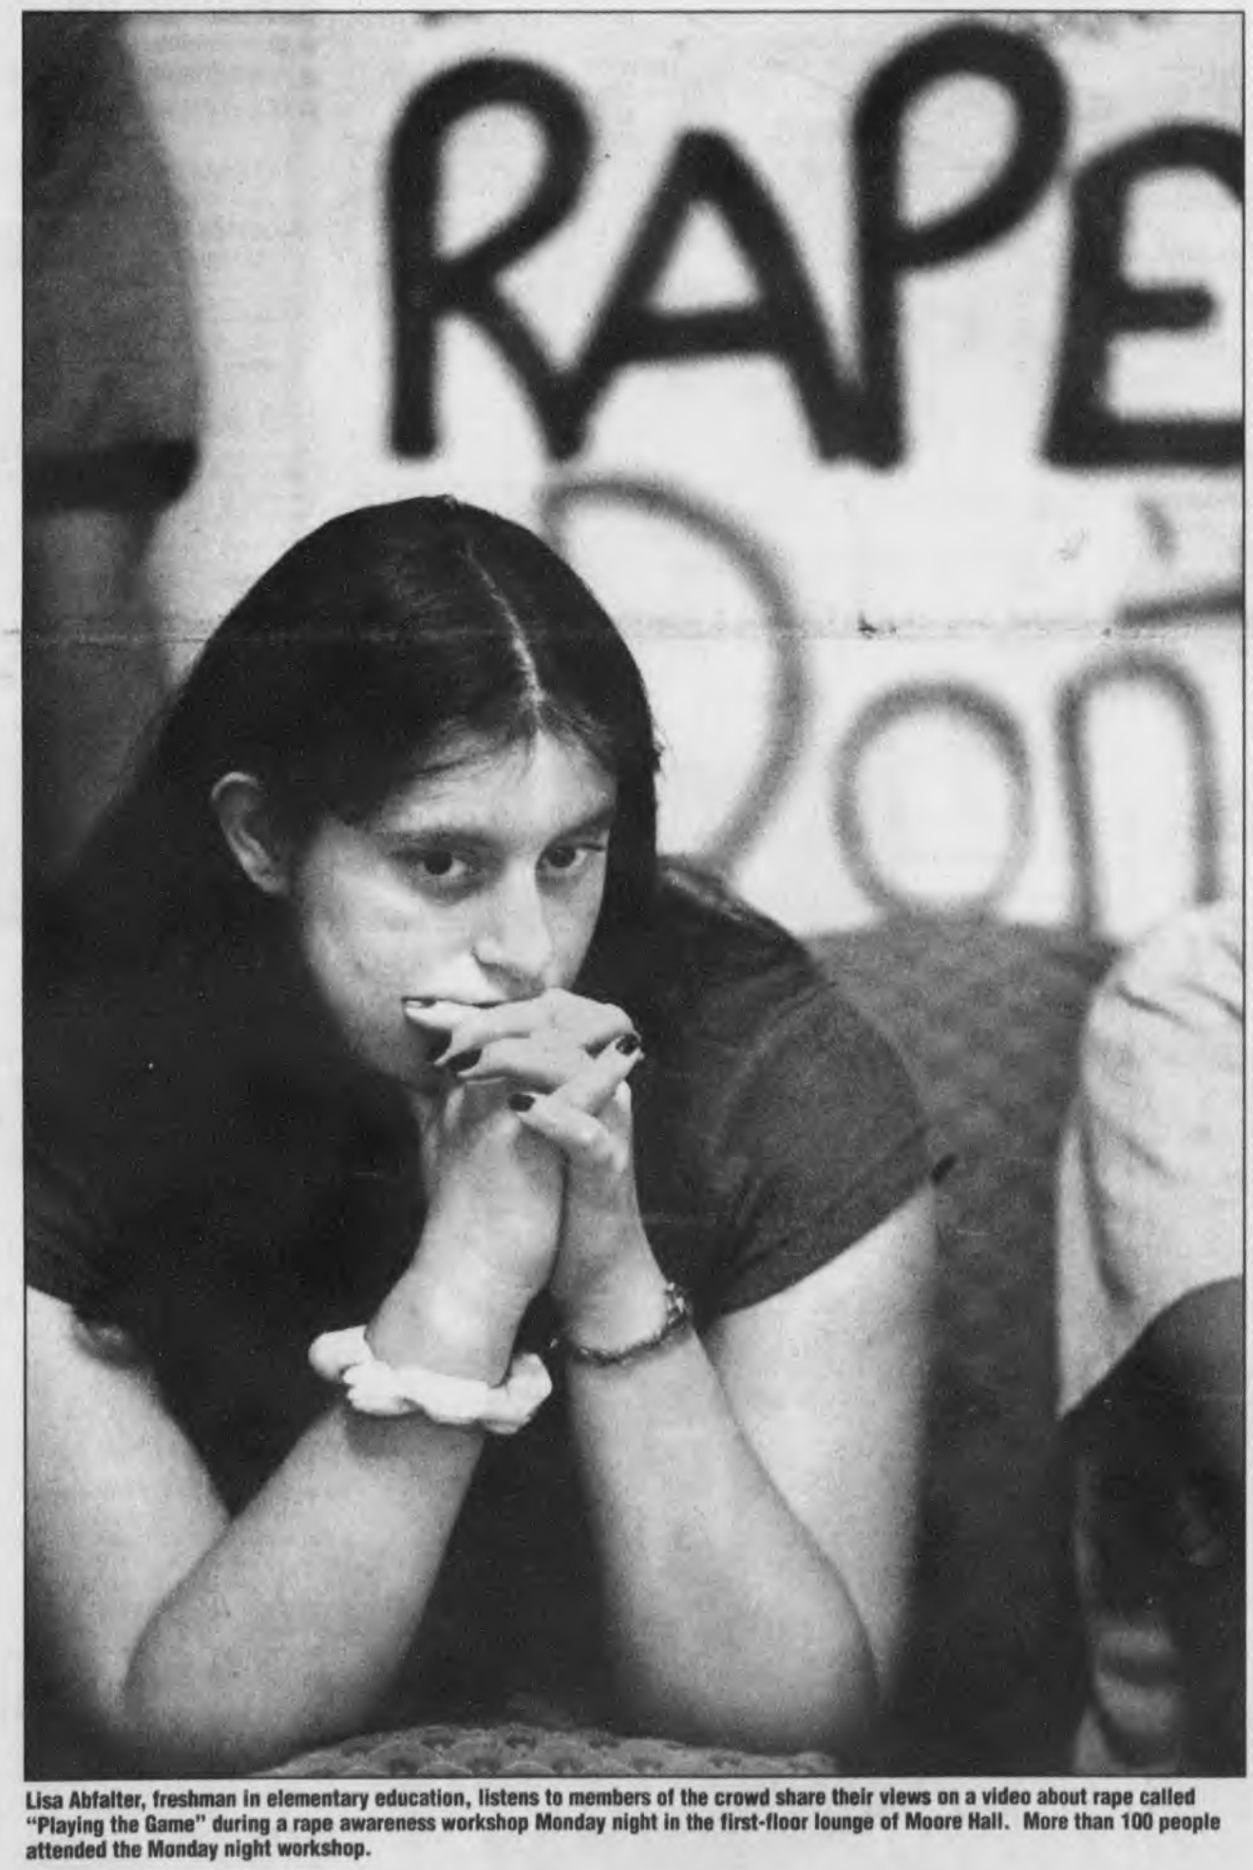
As people would acquire animals through "free to good home" ads, they would be less likely to neuter or spay their pets and only add to the problem, she said.

"They (the board) talk like we're the only source for companion animals. I think that's shortsighted," she said.

Although Upson said the deposit increase was designed to convince more owners to have their pets neutered to get the $50 deposit back, Schumacher said she would prefer the shelter have the right simply to turn away persons who say they do not plan to spay or neuter when adopting dogs or cats.

Chuck Murphy, director of the Riley County-Manhattan Health Department, said the increased neutering deposit is part of the answer to lower euthanasia rates in the future. The present neutering rate is 80 percent.

"People are saying, 'Hey, we have an 80-percent compliance rate.' I say, 'What about the other 20 percent?' I want us to have 100 percent of the animals leaving the shelter to be neutered," Murphy said.



A QUESTION OF SPACE

Both Schumacher and Murphy, however, said they agree the greatest danger to animals in the shelter now is a lack of space. Schumacher said the shelter now has 24 cat cages and 20 dog cages. Some cages can hold a litter of six to eight puppies or kittens, but, in most cases, it's only one adult animal per cage.

When the one to 30 animals dropped off or found each day need cages and none are available, animals are put to sleep to make room, Schumacher said.

Certain animals, being held for court cases since late April and mid-May, take up a required four cage spaces until the legal proceedings are completed and are not eligible for euthanizing, she said.

■ See SHELTER on PAGE 5

Lisa Abfalter, freshman in elementary education, listens to members of the crowd share their views on a video about rape called "Playing the Game" during a rape awareness workshop Monday night in the first-floor lounge of Moore Hall. More than 100 people attended the Monday night workshop.

Elizabeth Crain, assistant director of women's advocacy at the Women's Center, talks about the "date-rape drugs" Rohypnol and GHB, during Monday night's Rape Awareness Workshop in the first-floor lounge of Moore Hall.

TEACHING Awareness

"I am here to scare men and women to prevent date rape from happening."

"Rape Happens" was the message resident assistants of Moore Hall wore on their T-shirts Monday night at their Rape Awareness Workshop.

This was the message that guest speakers Elizabeth Crain, assistant director of women's advocacy; Joyce Woodford, counselor at University Counseling Services; and Paul English, president of Men Against Rape Society (M.A.R.S.), were trying to get across to the students.

Crain said the only way to stop rape at K-State is through fear.

"I am here to scare men and women to prevent date rape from happening," Crain said. "Cure the symptoms, not the problem. This is when rape stops."

Woodford said it is important to set guidelines before a person goes on a date. She said clarification can prevent future misunderstandings from occurring.

"Communicate, know what the word sex means to your date, because everyone has a different definition as to what the word means," Woodford said.

The speakers also shared information about Gamma-Hydroxybutyrate, or GHB, and Rohypnol, or Roofies, the "rape drugs" that are available on the market today.

Crain said students should not leave their drinks unattended and should be aware of everyone, including bartenders, because these drugs cannot be seen, tasted or smelled.

Crain said GHB has been found in the Manhattan area. Cases have been reported where bar customers said they felt the effects of GHB and believed their bottled beverages might have been contaminated by bartenders, she said.

English said rape is about power.

"The person who rapes has lost their power and control of their life and wants to take control of another person," English said.

English also shared statistics about men being raped in our society and what men can do to help speak out to stop it.

The rape laws in Kansas state that a vagina has to be involved for the act to be considered rape, Crain said. The offense against men technically isn't considered rape in Kansas, but it is considered forced sodomy.

English said one man in every 100 men never report that they have been raped, but one man in six will experience rape.

STORY BY ANGELA MOMON
PHOTOGRAPHS BY STEVE HEBERT

KANSAS STATE ALUMNI ASSOCIATION

Complaints spur change in center entrance

New Alumni Center moves front door from Anderson Avenue to 17th Street

BY RUSSELL FORTMEYER
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

After a summer of redesign, the proposed Alumni Center has moved its front door from Anderson Avenue to 17th Street.

The move was made after outcry last spring that the proposed center did not address the campus, was surrounded by a sea of parking and did not contribute to the campus' wish for a strong gateway at the 17th Street entrance. Most of that criticism came from faculty and students of the College of Architecture, Planning and Design who attended a public meeting on March 19.

The $7 million, 48,000-square foot Alumni Center is planned to be built on the southwest corner of campus, south of Memorial Stadium. The original cost estimate was $6 million. The project is being developed by the private KSU Alumni Association, which is currently housed in the KSU Foundation building, and will be built entirely with private funds.

The center is being designed by the Wichita firm of Gossen Livingston Associates.

Bill Livingston, principal architect, said his firm is getting geared up to finish the final design. He said his firm began design work again on the center in August after stopping with the initial presentation of the center's conceptual design in February.

"We responded to the comments about making this a campus building," Livingston said.

He said the entrance driveway off 17th will appear more as a public plaza than an asphalt roadway.

"It's a more people-friendly site than it was before," Livingston said.

Parking also was addressed by bringing the initial proposal of 54 spaces down to only 34, with most of those on the west side of the building. A few spaces for visitors will remain on the east-side entrance.

Livingston said the entire building has been

■ See CENTER on PAGE 5

NEWS DIGEST

NEWS EDITOR: TRAVIS D. LENKNER
collegn@ksu.edu

CALENDAR DEADLINES

To place an item in the Calendar, stop by Kedzie 116 and fill out a form or e-mail it to bulletins@spub.ksu.edu by 11 a.m. two days before it is to run.

CALENDAR

Calendar is the Collegian's campus bulletin board service. Items in the planner can be published up to three times. Items might not appear because of space constraints but are guaranteed to appear on the day of the activity.

■ K-State Political Science Club will meet at 8 tonight in 226 Waters. Members will discuss local and state campaign issues.

■ Asian American Student Union will meet at 7 tonight at Pizza Hut in Aggieville.

■ Feed Science Club will meet at 6:30 tonight in Shellenberger 301.

■ Institute of Electrical and Electronics Engineers will meet at 5:30 tonight in Rathbone 173.

■ Lutheran Campus Ministry will be host to a supper at 6 tonight at the Baptist Campus Center, 1801 Anderson Ave.

■ The American Red Cross will meet at 5:15 p.m. today in Union 212 to discuss the fall blood drive.

■ Golden Key National Honor Society will have an information table from 9 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. today on the first floor of the K-State Student Union.

■ Block & Bridle will be host to a meeting and hamburger fry at 6 tonight in City Park.

■ Hispanic American Leadership Organization will meet at 6:30 tonight in Hale Library Tower Room 3.

■ Career and Employment Services will conduct a résumé-building workshop at 3:30 p.m. today in Union 212.

■ Powercat Master ToastMasters will meet at 4:30 p.m. today in Durland 129.

■ K-State Amateur Radio Club will meet at 7 tonight in Rathbone 274.

■ Habitat for Humanity will meet at 9 tonight in the Union Big 12 Room.

POLICE REPORTS

Reports are taken directly from the K-State and Riley County police departments' daily logs. We do not list wheel locks or minor traffic violations because of space constraints.

K-STATE POLICE
SATURDAY, SEPT. 12

■ No reports of note were made.

SUNDAY, SEPT. 13

■ No reports of note were made.

RILEY COUNTY POLICE
FRIDAY, SEPT. 11

■ At 12:22 a.m., Vanessa R. Cushenbery, 1126 B. Fremont St., was issued a notice to appear for unlawful use of an ID card.

■ At 2:18 a.m., William H. Hughes, 2314 Indian Mound Lane, was arrested for DUI.

■ At 8:25 a.m., Susan J. Roediger, Junction City, was arrested on a Riley County warrant for a worthless check. Bond was set at $300.

■ At 1:10 p.m., Kai Jonat, Haymaker 314, was arrested for two countsof habitual violator, two counts of criminal deprivation of property, one count of theft and leaving the scene of an accident. Bond was set at $50,000.

■ At 2:39 p.m., Evelyn L. Pritchett, 1115 Colorado St., reported theft of stereos and other electronic equipment. Total loss is $3,000.

■ At 3:05 p.m., Daniel Duvalier, Topeka, was arrested on a Riley County warrant for probation violation. Bond was set at $2,500.

■ At 3:17 p.m., Kai Jonat, Haymaker 314, was arrested on two Sumner County warrants for probation violation. Bond was set at $35,000.

■ At 4:04 p.m., Allen Larson, 1829 Ranser Road, was arrested on a Riley County warrant for burglary and theft. Bond was set at $1,000.

■ At 9:49 p.m., Melissa D. Meyerhoff, 1012 Fremont St., was issued a notice to appear for minor in possession.

■ At 9:49 p.m., April Wiemers, 1012 Fremont St., was issued a notice to appear for minor in possession of a malt cereal beverage.

■ At 11:02 p.m., William J. Michaud, Ogden, Kan., was arrested on a communications warrant for probation violation. Bond was set at $1,000.

SATURDAY, SEPT. 12

■ At 12:33 a.m., Erin Janis, 1430 Watson Place, was issued a notice to appear for minor in possession of alcohol in a drinking establishment.

■ At 7:31 p.m., Andrew Beihl was arrested on a Riley County warrant for worthless checks.

■ At 9:29 p.m., Billy Crozier, Clay Center, Kan., was arrested for making a false report and theft. Bond was set at $5,000.

SUNDAY, SEPT. 13

■ At 12:09 a.m., Travis Morris, Overland Park, Kan., was issued a notice to appear for minor in possession of alcoholic liquor.

■ At 12:26 a.m., Christopher Rodgers, Lenexa, Kan., was issued a notice to appear for attempted use of a suspended Kansas driver's license.

■ At 1:23 a.m., Jeff J. Lumpkon, Fort Riley, was arrested for DUI. Bond was set at $500.

■ At 3:23 a.m., Shannon R. Loomis, Emporia, Kan., was arrested for DUI. Bond was set at $1,000.

SUNDAY, SEPT. 13

■ At 12:47 p.m., Kenneth E. Lee, 3028 Kimball Ave., was arrested for battery. Bond was set at $500.

■ At 6:35 p.m., Anthony W. Smith, 1225 Ratone St., was arrested for passing a worthless check.

■ At 11:25 p.m., Donald J. Barrett, 3261 Stagg Hill Road, was arrested for DUI. Bond was set at $500.

DAILY REWIND

Daily Rewind collects the top local, state, national and world news from the past 48 hours. Briefs are compiled from wire and staff reports.

Vet-med students assist with birthing

Visitors to the Kansas State Fair who stop by the Birthing Center can experience more than just carnival rides and cotton candy — they might see the birth of a farm animal.

K-State College of Veterinary Medicine students assist the animals during the birthing process. This gives them the opportunity to learn medical and surgical techniques and "barnside manner," or how to communicate with people, Mark Schwarm, Kansas State Fair veterinarian, said.

The Birthing Center, which is located between the dairy-judging pavilion and the dairy-stalling barn, houses cows, pigs, sheep and chickens that hopefully will give birth at some time during the fair.

While a birth is in progress, the veterinary-medical students answer questions and tell the public what they are doing to assist with the birth, said Michelle Ravnsborg, fourth-year student in veterinary medicine.

"It is amazing how receptive everyone is to this booth," Ravnsborg said. "We have people come back five or six times to see how they are doing."

Ken Huggins, a member of the Kansas Veterinary Medical Association, said their objective is to provide information to various questions.

"You can watch the birth of anything on TV. But to be here and truly experience it in real life is a big event," Huggins said.

Nearly 360,000 people visit the fair, and at one time or another, almost all of them come to the Birthing Center, Schwarm said.

"The center is the most popular exhibit at the fair because most people are two or three generations removed from the farm," Schwarm said.

—Nancy Grathwohl

Suspicious house fire kills Wichita toddler

WICHITA — A 2-year-old boy was killed and his parents injured Monday in a suspicious house fire, a fire official said.

Firefighters were tipped off about the fire at 2:42 a.m. by a private security alarm, Deputy Fire Chief Mike Rudd said.

By the time crews got to the house, a 28-year-old man was lying in the front yard. He told firefighters his wife and small child were inside.

Firefighters immediately went in and found the baby first, Rudd said. He was not breathing.

The 27-year-old woman was found seconds later, also not breathing.

Rescue workers revived the woman en route to the hospital, but the toddler never regained consciousness.

The woman was listed in critical condition and the man in serious condition at a Wichita hospital.

Rudd said the fire is being investigated as suspicious.

Lt. Mark Perez of the Wichita Fire Department said it is standard procedure whenever there is a fire fatality to list it as suspicious until a cause is found, but that no specific evidence has been found at this point to indicate foul play.

"Due to the nature of life loss, we keep all possibilities open," he said.

Police detectives as well as fire investigators were on the scene.

"They will continue to seek out the probable area of origin, determine cause and, in some cases, our investigators will continue to do the normal investigative activity, including arrests," Fire Marshall Ron Blackwell said.

It was Wichita's 11th fire fatality of the year.

Conviction overturned in talk-show slaying

DETROIT — A state appeals court has overturned the murder conviction of a man who shot a gay admirer for revealing a secret crush on him during a 1995 taping of "The Jenny Jones Show."

Jonathan Schmitz faced up to 50 years in prison for the murder of Scott Amedure in a case that focused attention on "ambush television" and the tactics TV producers use to bring guests onto daytime talk shows.

In its ruling released Monday, the Michigan Court of Appeals said a lower court judge should have let Schmitz's lawyers remove a juror before the trial began.

The error was harmful enough to overturn the second-degree murder conviction, the court ruled.

Schmitz, who is heterosexual, said he was humiliated when Amedure, 32, told him he had a secret crush on him during a March 1995 taping of the Chicago-based talk show, which never aired.

When the two returned to Michigan, police said Schmitz shot and killed Amedure at his Orion Township mobile home. He later told police he was humiliated by the surprise on-camera announcement.

He was convicted in 1996 of second-degree murder and was sentenced to 25 to 50 years.

Jury selection prior to the trial took three days. On the final day, Schmitz's lawyers asked the judge to remove a juror. Oakland County prosecutors objected, saying that because the defense had not made any objections to the juror the day before, they could not remove the juror then.

Judge Francis X. O'Brien sided with the prosecution.

CORRECTION

Due to an editor's error, there was a mistake in the story "Making up for lost time" in Monday's paper. Bettie Rogers was incorrectly identified as Betty Weixelman. The Collegian regrets the error.

WEATHER

HIGH 85

LOW 55

Partly cloudy today, with a 30-percent chance for rain, clearing by mid-afternoon. More of the same for the rest of the week.

CONTACT US

■ NEWSROOM 532-6556
■ ADVERTISING 532-6560
■ CLASSIFIEDS 532-6555

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN
KEDZIE 116
KANSAS STATE UNIVERSITY
MANHATTAN, KS 66506

The Kansas State Collegian (USPS 291 020), a student newspaper at Kansas State University, is published by Student Publications Inc., Kedzie 103, Manhattan, Kan. 66506. The Collegian is published weekdays during the school year and twice a week through the summer. Periodical postage is paid at Manhattan, Kan. 66502. POSTMASTER: Send address changes to Kansas State Collegian, circulation desk, Kedzie 103, Manhattan, Kan. 66506-7167.

© KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN, 1998

WE KNOW where YOU LIVE

the 1999 royal purple yearbook
—housing portrait schedule—

Acacia House	Sept. 30	Moore Hall	Sept.8
Alpha Chi Omega	Sept. 8	Miscellaneous Greeks	Sept. 14
Alpha of Clovia	Sept. 23	Off Campus	Sept. 15-18
Alpha Delta Pi	Sept. 14		10-7pm, Union Alcove
Alpha Gamma Rho	Sept. 29	Phi Delta Theta	Oct. 14
Alpha Tau Omega	Sept. 28	Phi Gamma Delta	Sept. 29
Alpha Xi Delta	Sept. 15	Phi Kappa Theta	Oct. 9
Beta Sigma Psi	Oct. 2	Pi Beta Phi	Sept. 10
Beta Theta Pi	Oct. 5	Pi Kappa Alpha	Oct. 1
Boyd Hall	Sept. 21-22	Pi Kappa Phi	Oct. 13
Chi Omega	Sept. 21	Putnam Hall	Sept. 21-22
Delta Chi	Oct. 12	Salina Campus	Sept. 23
Delta Delta Delta	Sept. 18	Sigma Alpha Epsilon	Oct. 6
Delta Sigma Phi	Oct. 12	Sigma Chi	Oct. 2
Delta Tau Delta	Oct. 5	Sigma Kappa	Sept. 24
Delta Upsilon	Oct. 7	Sigma Nu	Oct. 8
Durland Hall (Off Campus)	Oct. 15	Sigma Phi Epsilon	Oct. 1
FarmHouse	Sept. 28	Sigma Sigma Sigma	Sept. 25
Ford Hall	Sept. 11	Smith House	Sept. 30
Gamma Phi Beta	Sept. 11	Smurthwaite	Sept. 16
Goodnow Hall	Sept. 25	Tau Kappa Epsilon	Oct. 6
Haymaker Hall	Sept. 9	Theta Xi	Oct. 9
Jardine Clubhouse	Oct. 16	Van Zile Hall	Sept. 21-22
Kappa Alpha Theta	Sept. 22	Vet Med (Off Campus)	Oct. 7
Kappa Kappa Gamma	Sept. 17	Weber Hall (Off Campus)	Oct. 14
Kappa Sigma	Oct. 8	West Hall	Sept. 10
Lambda Chi Alpha	Oct. 13	Organizations	Oct. 19-22
Marlatt Hall	Sept. 24		6-10 pm, McCain 3rd floor

—we will be shooting on location at fraternities, sororities and residence halls—

SEPT. 15 — 11am-7pm —
✓ Alpha Xi Delta
✓ *Miscellaneous Greeks
✓ *Off Campus
TODAY!!
*10am-7pm Union Alcove

SEPT. 16
○ Smurthwaite 4pm-8pm
○ *Miscellaneous Greeks
○ *Off Campus
*10am-7pm Union Alcove

Blakey STUDIO ROYAL
PORTRAITS BY

Tells you when your term paper is due.
(Now if you could only find the time to do it.)

The Palm III™ connected organizer keeps track of what's due and other important stuff, like your cute lab partner's phone number and Saturday's parties. Touch the HotSync® button to exchange and back up info with your PC (even download e-mail you haven't read yet). About the only thing it can't do to make your life easier is write that paper. Organizers from Palm Computing start as low as $299*. For an authorized Palm III retailer or campus computer store, call 1-800-242-9005 or visit www.palmcampus.com.

Palm III
Connected Organizer

Meet your dean

New dean wants more private funding to improve College of Human Ecology

By Nick Bratkovic
Kansas State Collegian

Former Wildcat Carol Kellett has come home.

Kellett was hired this July as K-State's new Dean of Human Ecology. She graduated from K-State in 1969. She returns with a doctorate in home economics education, and Kellett said she was impressed with the college she will be leading.

KELLETT

"The College of Human Ecology is one of the best-recognized colleges in the country," Kellett said. "My goal is taking one of the best and making it even better."

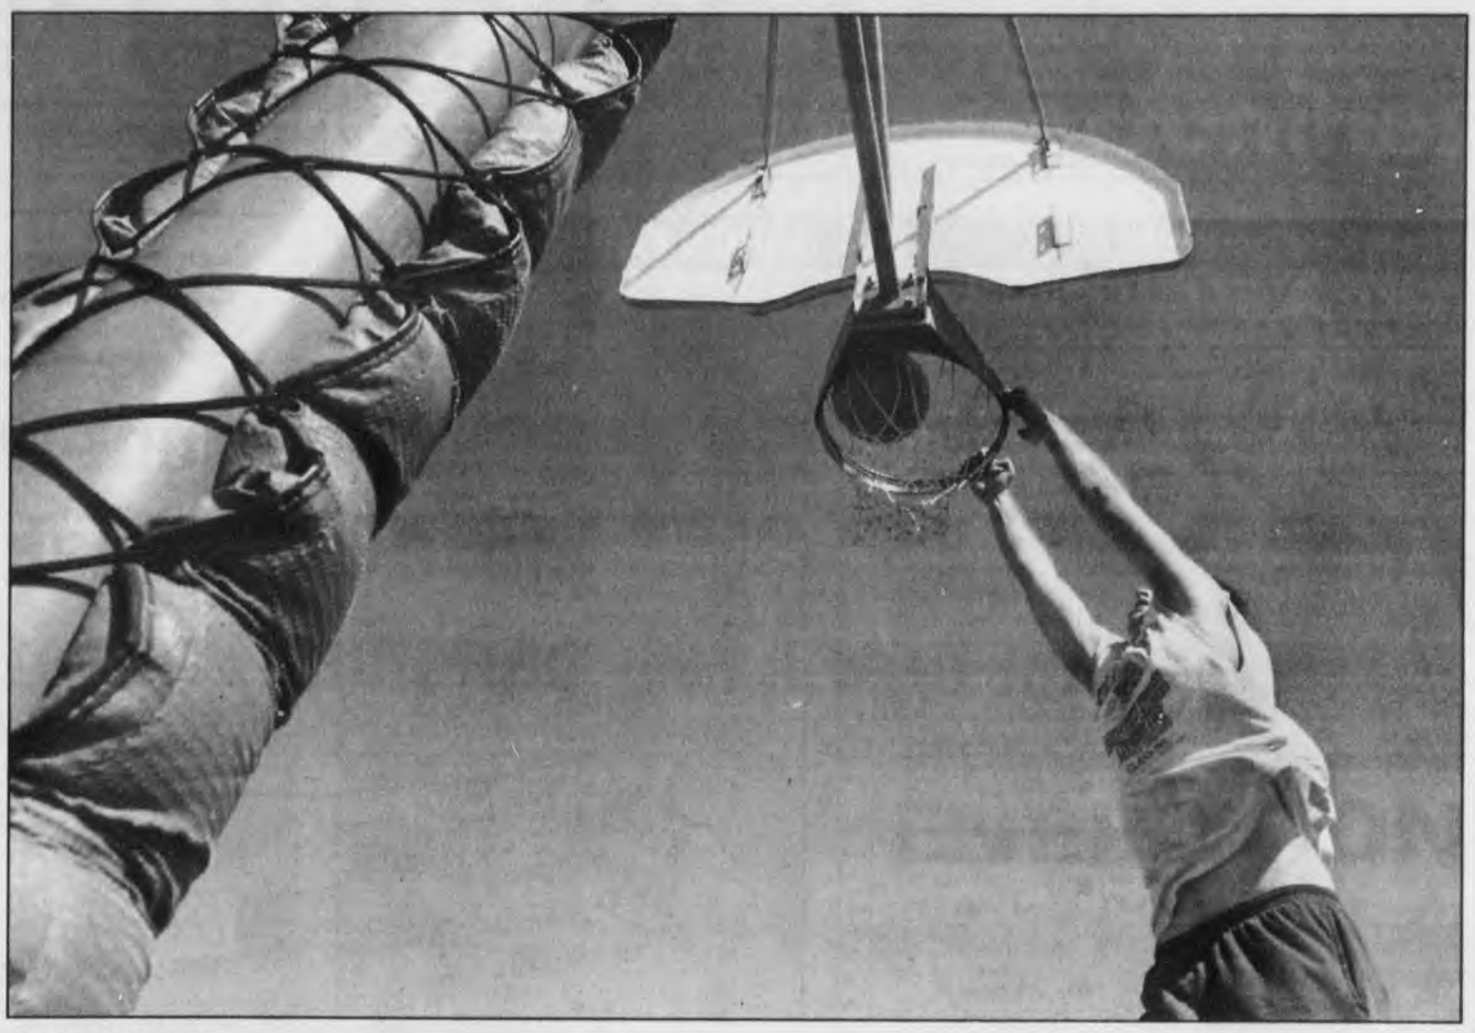
Kellett, whose last job was in California, said it was difficult leaving the coast, where she lived three blocks from the beach. The fact that K-State was her alma mater made the decision easier, though.

"I have been able to be successful because of my background at K-State," Kellett said. "I am very proud to be a part of the faculty and teaching."

One of the challenges Kellett said she faces in making the department better is that state funding for colleges in all states, including Kansas, is down.

"To do the things to really have a margin of excellence, we have to have private funding," Kellett said. "We are really going to make a concerted effort to get more private funding."

As a K-State graduate, Kellett said she feels teachers and the university really care about students. Kellett said that's one of the things she remembers fondly about K-State.



"I did well in my first two chemistry classes and had trouble when I came to organic chemistry," Kellett said. "I remember the professor calling me in, telling me to audit it that semester and then re-enroll that next semester to be successful."

Erin Ebert, senior in apparel and textile marketing, served on the search committee to find the new dean and said Kellett wants to be there for students.

"She knows that her time is limited, but she is willing to do what she can," Ebert said.

Kellett said human ecology studies help people learn how a particular field of study affects people and gives students valuable life skills.

"Human ecology has excellent career opportunities, with a knowledge base that helps in day-to-day living," Kellett said.

SLAM DUNKER Ivan Kozar/Kansas State Collegian

Craig McKim, junior in finance, takes advantage of the cool weather on Monday afternoon by practicing slam dunks at the Chester E. Peters Recreation Complex. Today's temperature is expected to reach 80 degrees.

Whose ball is it? Chicago fans become violent in retrieval of Sosa's ball

By Eric Fidler
Associated Press Writer

CHICAGO — Remember how calmly the guys who caught Mark McGwire's 61st and 62nd home runs handed them over?

Well, that was St. Louis. This is Chicago.

When Sammy Sosa launched his 62nd home run onto Waveland Avenue on Sunday, Chicago Cubs fans bit, kicked and punched one another until one guy emerged with the baseball and had to be whisked away by police for his protection.

"Usually, somebody gets a ball, the struggle stops. But in this situation, I think there were dollar signs," said one of those in the crowd, Bob Milkovich. "This was the biggest home-run ball you'd ever catch."

Three people now claim to be the rightful owner. But police said Monday that possession is 10-tenths of the law in this case, and whoever has the ball now can keep it.

"Only in Chicago," said Officer Cindy Lance, a police spokeswoman, who said the affair is no longer a police matter.

As Sosa closed in on the home-run record broken by McGwire last week, the crowd outside Wrigley Field had swelled to the hundreds.

Among those in the crowd outside when Sosa hit No. 62 Sunday was Milkovich, who left behind his 8 1/2-months-pregnant wife and brought a pager, a cellular phone, a tiny TV set and a camera with a telephoto lens.

Fans crowded around Milkovich's 2-by-2-inch TV screen when Sosa hit the ninth-inning blast.

"It looked like we had the winner," Milkovich said. "So I'm running to my left with the TV in my hand and everybody following me. The ball just kind of streamed over, and when it hits the alley there's just a sea of people."

The battle continued until one man emerged with the ball hidden under his shirt and took off.

"As he's running away from me, 500 people took off after him," Milkovich said. "It was pretty scary."

The man found some police officers a half-mile or more from the park.

One man who claimed he was the first to grab the ball showed up at a police station to report a robbery. Police at the station said he had been bitten and kicked and appeared to have a broken hand.

Police took a report but said there is no way of getting to the bottom of what happened.

Witnesses said the man who went to the police station was Gary "Moe" Mullins, who has caught thousands of balls in the 40 years or so he has been a game-day fixture on the sidewalks outside Wrigley Field.

Neither Mullins nor a man who claimed to have the ball and was identified on television Sunday night as Brendan Cunningham could be located Monday.

There might be no real way to prove who has No. 62. After McGwire broke the record, major-league baseball stopped putting a secret code on balls pitched to him and Sosa.

COLLEGIAN
Don't miss the big news, pick up the

Claflin Books and Copies
We have the best selection of Architecture books in town.
1814 Claflin Road
776-5771

Kansas State University Transportation Analysis Public Workshop

KSU Parking Services will host a public workshop from 2:00 to 6:00 p.m. on Wednesday, September 16, 1998, in the McCain Auditorium Lobby. The consulting team from TranSystems will display and discuss data collected to date. TranSystems is also consulting with the City of Manhattan in the Manhattan Area Transportation Study. The Workshop will also provide the University an opportunity to comment on four primary focus areas:

- Does K-State need a transit system?
- ...a parking garage?
- Does K-State's roadway network measure up?
- What does the consultant suggest for pedestrian travel?

Public input is needed to assist in making decisions which will impact Kansas State for many years to come.

EMPLOYMENT Opportunities

Big Lakes Developmental Center, Inc., provides programs and services for individuals with developmental disabilities. Excellent opportunities for students or just as a second job. Applications will be accepted for following positions:
SUPERVISED LIVING ADVISOR: Multiple positions responsible for providing personal care, supervision and training, record keeping, transportation and light household maintenance at a residential home. Part-time positions. 18.5 hours on alternate weekends to 25 hours per week. $7.35 per hour. Pre-employment drug screening required. COMMUNITY LIVING ADVISOR: Responsibilities include training, record keeping, transporting and providing support services to persons in semi-independent living. Part-time position, 9 a.m.-9 p.m., Saturday and Sunday. Alternate weekends. $7.35 per hour. SUBSTITUTE FOR SUPPORTED LIVING: Responsibilities include providing training, record keeping, transportation and light household maintenance. Evening, early morning and/or weekend hours. $7.35 per hour. Occasional hours.

Minimum qualifications include high school diploma or equivalent, three years driving experience and a good driving record. Applications accepted through September 18, 1998. For rewarding and challenging opportunities and further information contact:
Human Resources Director
BIG LAKES DEVELOPMENTAL CENTER, INC.
1416 Hayes Dr. Manhattan, KS 66502
785/776-9201 (M-F 8:00 a.m. to 4:30 p.m._
EOE/AA

Rustys LAST CHANCE SALOON
LIVE MUSIC NIGHT
2 FREE Live Bands
starting at 10 p.m.
$1.50 CORONAS
$1 TEQUILLA SHOTS
$2.50 CAPTAINS
$4 ALL YOU CAN EAT TACO BAR
5 TILL 7
DON'T MISS All You Can Eat
Fried Chicken Buffet
Wednesday 5-7 only $2.99

DEVELOP THE NEXT GENERATION OF TECHNOLOGY
Please Join Us At Our KANSAS STATE CAREER FAIR
September 21 & 22

Input/Output is the world's leading designer and manufacturer of seismic data acquisition equipment, systems and related products. Our company is the only independent supplier of seismic acquisition systems for use in every exploration environment: marine, land and transition zone (marshes, swamps and tidal zones).*

- APPLICATIONS ENGINEER - BS/MSEE
- TEST ENGINEERS - BS/MSEE
- SOFTWARE DEVELOPERS - BSEE/CS
- MECHANICAL ENGINEERS - BS/MSME

Input/Output is headquartered in Stafford, Texas with domestic locations at Alvin, Austin, Dallas, Texas and Boulder, Colorado. We invite qualified candidates to mail or fax your resume to: Input/Output, Inc., Attn: Human Resources, 11104 W. Airport, Suite 143, Stafford, Texas, 77477; Fax: (281) 879-2060. Visit our web page for additional positions at: http://www.i-o.com. EOE: M/F/D/V

INPUT/OUTPUT, INC.

OPINION

OUR VIEW

Animals euthanized; shelter needs space

Look around Manhattan and signs of growth are everywhere. A four-lane road now welcomes travelers from Exit 313 of Interstate 70. Road construction is a constant, and more large-scale commercial developments are on the table.

But something is being neglected.

The T. Russell Reitz Animal Shelter is in desperate need of expansion. Animals are being shuffled out of the shelter almost immediately upon their arrival because the shelter is sorely overcrowded.

These animals leave the animal shelter in body bags when they should be leaving the shelter in a smiling child's arms.

The animal shelter is an important community service that many times is ignored when issues like road construction and commercial-corridor expansion are talked about. Expanding the shelter needs to become a priority in the city of Manhattan.

In addition, Manhattan needs to look at cooperating with other municipalities that house animals in the shelter, because it is a city- and county-cooperative facility.

Granted, expanding the local animal shelter might not be something the Chamber of Commerce would expect to bring more people to the city, but it must happen.

The animal shelter houses the animals on a space-available basis. This sounds OK until one considers that the Manhattan shelter, at an estimated 2,000 square feet, is one-fifth the size of Lawrence's shelter. Lawrence and Salina, Kan., typically are used as comparisons to Manhattan, yet our shelter is tiny compared with the other two.

Not only do the city and county governments need to take a hard look at this issue, but local citizens and even K-State students can do their part. If you're looking for a cat or dog to love, start at the Reitz Animal Shelter. Sure, they might not be tiny puppies or kittens, but the animals will love you just the same.

It's also a heck of a lot cheaper to adopt an animal than to purchase through a pet store or breeder.

Once you get Spot or Fluffy, spay or neuter your new friend. If you already own a pet that isn't spayed or neutered, do what Bob Barker says. The animal population needs to be controlled. It's much more humane to spay or neuter an animal than to have to euthanize one who can no longer stay in a shelter.

Animals being held in criminal investigations are housed in four cages at the Reitz Animal Shelter. These are cages that could be used to house strays, so the space is further limited. Animals brought in by owners for adoption have no legal waiting period.

If there's no space, the animals are exterminated immediately.

They don't even have a chance.

The shelter needs to be shoved to the forefront of local consciousness. As with any issue, an educated public is the first step to improvement. Midge Grinstead, executive director of the Lawrence Humane Society Inc. Shelter, said publicity was a great help to establishing more citizen participation with their shelter.

Our animal shelter needs help. The animals need help. Looking at ways to expand the Reitz Animal Shelter should be on the top of the city's agenda.

OUR VIEW, an editorial selected and debated by the editorial board, is written after a majority opinion is formed. The editorial board consists of Collegian editors and other staff members. OUR VIEW is the Collegian's official opinion.

EDITORIAL BOARD

EDITOR IN CHIEF JILL JARSULIC

MANAGING EDITOR/ PRESENTATION TODD STEWART

NEWS EDITOR TRAVIS D. LENKNER

PHOTO EDITOR STEVE HEBERT

CAMPUS EDITOR KELLEE MILLER

CITY/GOVERNMENT EDITOR MATT KREPS

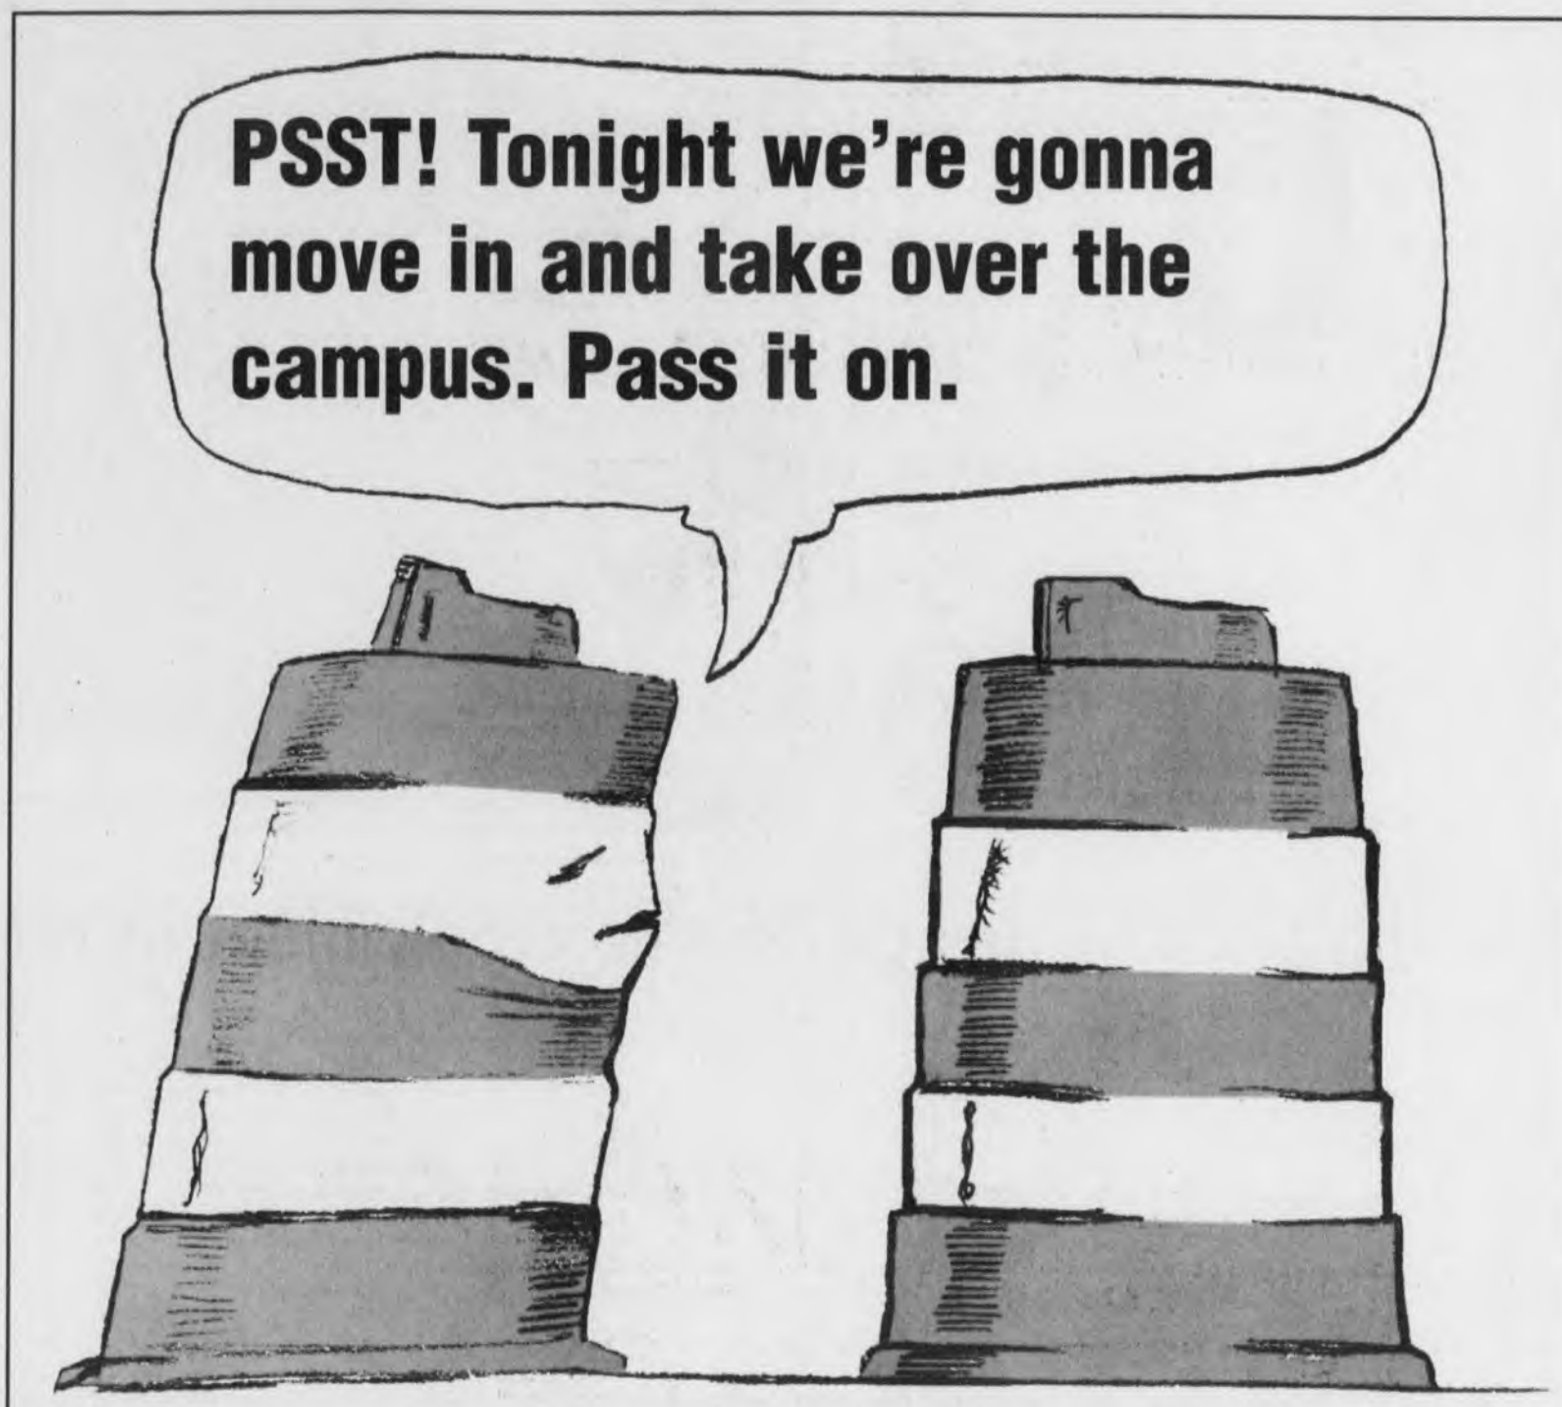
SPORTS EDITOR JEREMY KELLEY

ARTS & ENTERTAINMENT EDITOR DIANA LEE

OPINION EDITOR JON KURCHE

COPY CHIEF JANET COOK

eCOLLEGIAN EDITOR R.J. DIEPENBROCK



SPECIAL PROJECTS EDITOR ANGELA KISTNER

READERS WRITE

SEND YOUR LETTERS TO THE EDITOR TO

letters@spub.ksu.edu

AARON FRUEHLING

Friend's wedding brings joy, enlightenment

VIEWPOINT

MARY VANLEEUWEN

I had an epiphany this weekend. It wasn't brought on by the wine, the cake, the pickles, the hokie-pokie or the Macarena. The epiphany I had last Saturday was inspired by my ex-roommate and close friend's wedding.

I've never been to a wedding of someone I am really close to, so I really never understood what they were all about. I now see weddings not as ridiculously expensive rituals but as wonderful chances to witness the beauty of choice, to share in the celebration of the incredible love and to reflect on what marriage really means.

I hope you've all had a chance to experience a wedding like I just did. There wasn't one tiny part of the whole crazy and wonderful eight-hour time frame that didn't make me happy. I swear it wasn't the wine.

As I watched Liz walk down the aisle looking like a princess, it really hit me that one of my closest friends was about to become a wife. Twenty minutes later, after promising to love, honor and cherish until death; she walked back up the aisle, husband in tow, her eyes full of tears. I couldn't remember the last time I had seen her cry not out of frustration or anger or sadness but out of pure, unadulterated happiness.

Surprisingly enough, I got as much out of the reception as I did from the wedding. Such wonderful energy traveled through the room, and I knew that everyone was as happy as I was. It was like we all knew we had just witnessed something absolutely beautiful and sacred, and now was a time of celebration. Oh, did we celebrate.

Every crazy or normal thing seemed absolutely wonderful. The happy reception was all about savoring the taste of pickles; having tiny children you do not know attach themselves to you; dancing with cute old men who haven't danced in ten years; taking crazy pictures; watching adults act like children and children act like adults; listening to Elvis fans dedicate songs to the happy couple; looking at how happy the newlyweds are; paying a dollar to dance with the groom and telling him that he'd better take good care of "Our Girl"; getting dipped on the dance floor; drinking wine and wedding punch; watching new love bloom; enjoying the time with friends from afar; reminiscing the last two years and the romance we saw begin; meeting new people; and loving everyone.

However, with all this celebration, it took me one hug with the bride to realize that this day wasn't just about love, it was also about a bittersweet loss. The bride had chosen to begin a wonderful life away from college, away from Manhattan, away from all of her friends. She was starting a new life with Nathan, with a new focus and we (her friends and family) were all losing part of her to someone else — her husband who she'll spend the rest of her life with. I wasn't angry or jealous, just sad that I was losing a good friend and that I would lose many more in the same way in the future.

C'est la vie. We all grow up and watch our lives unfold in different ways and at different times. I realized that it's all open option, and there's no appropriate time to do any particular option, and there's no specific order that your life has to follow. You could go to school, find a career, move away, keep in touch, leave things behind, get married, stay single, have children, get a dog, etc., etc. Who really decides? Do parents, friends or society decide when it's the right time to make a personal choice or do we?

My epiphany was this: every option that we choose is magical and wonderful and should be celebrated. The options Liz and Nathan chose were the best for them, and that's why their wedding was such an incredibly joyous celebration.

Mary VanLeeuwen is a junior in English. You can e-mail her at mev2383@ksu.edu.

Money for 'Titanic' merchandise better spent elsewhere

VIEWPOINT

CHRIS PIATT

Everybody is broke.

I don't know any college students who have money. We take out emergency-student loans. We hock our compact discs. We sell plasma. We'll do anything for a buck.

Despite this universal bankruptcy, however, I don't know anyone who didn't slap down $6 to see "Titanic" last winter. Five or six times.

I don't want to beat a dead horse. Actually, America finally put this one to rest over the summer. In the wake of such a terrible tragedy, a tragedy we seem to have forgotten happened more than 80 years ago, we somehow managed to pull ourselves together and move on.

Until Sept. 1.

I promised myself I would remain calm during the video-release hoopla. I tried to take the moral high ground and keep my mouth shut. Then, the "Titanic" blimp floated over my hometown.

This is war.

To commemorate the coveted video release of the movie that chronicles the disastrous demise of a huge vessel, Blockbuster Video sent another huge vessel, a blimp promoting "Titanic," across the country. Unfortunately, this one completed its voyage, infiltrating the privacy of the unsuspecting good people of Victoria, Kan., in the process.

In addition, a follow-up CD to the original soundtrack is grossing millions.

I have considered leaving the country, but several friends who have traveled abroad this year have told me that this fever is global. Looks like I'll have to stay on American soil and face the music.

So I'm waging a boycott of everything for which the movie stands. From now on, I will travel only on ships that don't sink. Also, I will never become engaged to a filthy-rich society rat who knocks over breakfast tables. No matter how strongly she pressures me, I will never borrow a tuxedo from Kathy Bates. It only can lead to trouble.

I urge you to do the same.

"Titanic" has raked in more than $400 million domestically. In light of all the unrest in the world, I am asking that the film's distributors fork over the money and contribute it to the greater good. That's what the movie was all about anyway, right?

Here is my proposed breakdown:

$250 million should be distributed among the underclass to buy food, clothing and a few pickaxes, in case they ever should be trapped in the gallows of a sinking ship.

$100 million should be given to the victims' families and Linda Hamilton, whose relationship with director James Cameron ended shortly after the movie won 11 Oscars.

$40 million should be used for an elaborate attempt to place Leonardo DiCaprio in the Witness Relocation Program.

The poor guy can't even go out to buy a cup of coffee and an issue of Penthouse without being mobbed by swooning teen-agers.

$10 million should be allocated to K-State for new library journals, more student-football seating, new trees along the beautifully renovated Anderson Avenue and, of course, the inevitable destruction of Anderson Hall.

